

KENT OFFICIALS TAKE OFFICE

Henry T. Price, Smyrna, was elected president of the new Kent County Levy Court at its organization meeting Tuesday. Meanwhile Kent County officials elected at the November election were administered their oaths of office by Judge Charles L. Terry, Jr., Tuesday morning prior to the swearing in of the new state officials.

Mr. Price was elected to the Kent County Levy Court for his second term at the last election.

The other members of the court are: John T. Loder, who succeeds Fred B. Greenly, and Emory N. Lynch, who succeeds Edward Kelly, a two-term commissioner, who was president of the outgoing court. All three members of the new court, as was the situation in the retiring court are Democrats.

Max Terry was reelected attorney for the court, Dr. George R. Spong was reappointed physician for the Kent County Jail, and Earle E. James was reappointed office manager for the jail. Mr. James has held his position for the past six years.

The new county officials who took the oath of office are: Walter A. Handsberry, Leipsic, clerk of the peace, succeeding W. Frank Hazel, Smyrna, Roy L. Honey, Dover, recorder of deeds, succeeding Robert A. Sausbury, Harrington; Grafton R. Heather, Hartley, register in chancery and clerk of the Orphans Court, reelected; Allen J. Cook, Kenton, sheriff, succeeding Robert Pippin, Dover, and Roland P. Trader, Dover, succeeding William Fleischer, Jr., Farmington.

Both the new officials and their immediate predecessors are Democrats.

The members of the new Levy Court were also sworn in by Judge Terry: Henry T. Price, reelected; John T. Loder, succeeding Fred B. Greenly, and Emory N. Lynch, succeeding Edward Kelly, all Democrats.

Thomas C. Robbins, near Milford, who was elected in November as county treasurer and receiver of taxes, will not, under the law, assume office until June 1.

Appointees sworn in Tuesday included: Mrs. Pauline H. Kuppy, deputy clerk of the peace; Mrs. Myrtle E. Honey, deputy recorder of deeds; Kenneth T. Meredith, deputy sheriff; Mrs. Gladys Thompson, deputy register in chancery and clerk of the Orphans Court.

Another one to take his oath of office Tuesday was retiring Sheriff Pippin who assumed his duties as warden of the Kent County Jail, succeeding Norris B. Garrison.

The 1953-55 Levy Court ended its term Tuesday morning with a perfunctory wind-up meeting at which sine die adjournment was taken and the affairs of the county handed over to the incoming Levy Court members.

During its tenure, the old court had the responsibility of buying 45 voting machines and renting ten in compliance with the law passed by the 1953 State Legislature adopting the voting machine system for general elections in the state. The machines are to be paid for over a period of years.

It also installed a photographic system of recording legal instruments in the recorder of deeds office, a system which is carried on more economically with a smaller staff of clerks than under the former handwriting system of recording.

In addition to making extensive improvements to the Superior Court room and improvements to other parts of the Court House, the Levy Court acquired a portrait of Louis McLane, by gift of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and a sketch of John Bassett Moore, by loan from the board of the John Bassett Moore High School in Smyrna.

The likeness of McLane hangs in the attorneys' lounge of the Superior Court room and the sketched likeness of Moore hangs in the conference room of the Superior Court.

McLane was a member of the Kent County Bar Association, U. S. minister to England, secretary of the treasury of the U. S. 1831-33, secretary of state of the U. S. 1833-34, and one-time president of the B. & O. Railroad and Wells Fargo.

Judge Moore, who was a resident of Kent County, served as judge of the World Court at The Hague.

The outgoing Levy Court commissioners also participated in suburban road projects which

Railroad News

January, designated "Railroad Month," by the Boy Scout movement, will be recognized locally by the Cub Master Harry Darby and the three Den Mothers, Betty Jane Knox, Anna Lee Taylor and Doris Fry.

Their immediate program calls for an auto trip tomorrow morning to Dover railroad station where they will be shown the assembly room of the Board of Directors for the Delaware Railroad since 1910. They will then board the southbound train at 10:10 a. m., arriving in Harrington at 10:28 a. m. where they will then be shown through a caboose.

We railroad boys can best appreciate the efforts of these faithful servants who put forth so much to make the world better, by letting our minds drift back to the time when we were at the same mile post these cubs are today. Our superintendent has instructed us to cooperate in every way possible to help the leaders of such a worthy cause. Our sentiments can best be summed up in this little poem composed by a railroad man back in 1928. This man moved up the ladder but never forgot who was primarily responsible for him getting there.

Our Faculty
Oft in the golden years ahead,
Some critic sage should shake his head,
In acquiescence of some part,
Accomplished in the world of art,
Or if the earth should ring with praise,
Of what some man of letters says,
Be not among the tardy few,
Give honor where there's honor due,
And whilst ye land, look deeper, yea,
To those who showed these men the way,
To those who taught and tutored them,
To try to make them better men,
Who gave the best of wisdom's store,
Grieved only that they might not give more,
Then in the years ahead might we,
Remember long, our Faculty.

Frear Points To West Point, Annapolis Exams

Senator J. Allen Frear today announced that January seventeenth has been designated as the date his competitive examination, which is conducted periodically for the purpose of selecting candidates for nomination to the United States Naval Academy and the United States Military Academy. The examination will be held to fill vacancies at West Point and Annapolis for the class beginning July first.

"It is customary," said Senator Frear, "to appoint one principal and three alternates for each vacancy since applicants are sometimes disqualified for failure to meet rigid mental and physical standards required by the Service Academies."

Mr. Frear indicated that those young Delawareans who have previously expressed a desire to pursue a career as professional officers in our Armed Services through attendance at one of the Academies, are being notified individually, as promptly as possible.

The Senator also expressed the hope that any other eligible young men interested in the programs offered at these institutions who have not yet contacted his office will do so immediately. "Every effort," continued Mr. Frear, "will be made to afford all qualified men the opportunity of participating in the forthcoming examination."

Prospective candidates from Kent and Sussex County will take the test in the Dover Post Office and those from New Castle County in the Wilmington Post Office.

Before the school district's new field house can be connected to the sewer mains, they will have to be extended, it was revealed Tuesday evening when the Board of Education appeared before the City Council.

It appears that the original plans for the building failed to take into account the fact that the main on Center Street, between Dorman and West Streets, would have to be extended 124 feet before they could connect with the field house now under construction.

The Council voted to get sealed bids to lay 124 feet of terra cotta pipe, but made no decision as to who was to pay for it.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS TODAY AND TUESDAY

Citizens of Harrington will vote in a special election this afternoon on a new water tower, and will vote Tuesday to elect a mayor and two councilmen. The candidates will be named at a citizen's meeting at the Firehouse at 7:30 o'clock.

The election this afternoon, from noon until 4 o'clock, is on a bond issue to provide $60,000 for a sorely needed water tower to hold 20,000 gallons. Persons eligible to vote must be citizens who have paid up their taxes. Every eligible voter shall have one vote for every dollar and fractional part of a dollar of tax paid by him or her during the year preceding the election. Every owner of property, whether individual, partnership, or corporation, shall have one vote for every dollar or part of dollar of tax paid by said owner or owners during the year preceding the election.

The Council appointed Mrs. Margaret Masten and Mrs. Kathryn Simpson judges at the municipal election to be held Tuesday, Jan 11 when a mayor and two councilmen will be elected. The Mayor also informed the Council that Alderman L.

Gooden Callaway was still available. He was also a magistrate, a state position, until his term of office expired last week. A new magistrate has not been chosen. At tonight's meeting there will be a nomination-at-large for a mayor for a term of two years, and a councilman from the Second and Fourth Wards. Indications are that Mayor Ernest Killen will be nominated, though he has not openly taken a stand. Councilman George Graham, of the Fourth Ward, and Councilman Charles Peck, Sr., of the Second Ward, are expected to run again.

House Adjourns Until Monday

The 118th General Assembly adjourned Tuesday afternoon until Monday at 1 p. m.

This was a brand new departure in Delaware legislative proceedings since the members of the House and the Senate generally want to work together for a couple of days before they sanction their first recess.

In the interim it is expected that the leaders of the two houses will come to some conclusion about their committees.

Make haste slowly was the rule in the House of Representatives as the assemblymen accomplished the unanimous selection of a speaker, Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle), but little else.

The election of Mr. Quigley was the highlight, but there was a secondary matter, that of the seating of Rep. Raymond M. Lank (R-Milton).

Mr. Lank's seat is contested and this fact brought about one of the unusual situations in the history of the General Assembly when a motion was put early in the day by a non-member which would have had the effect of delaying the seating of Mr. Lank.

As it turned out, Mr. Lank was sworn in with the other nine representatives from Sussex County.

But his status remains a question. His seat is challenged by James W. Smith, a Democrat of Lewes, whose claim is based on the absentee ballots counted in the Nov. 2 election.

What would happen to the seating of Mr. Lank and what attaches were to be approved for inclusion in the resolution naming these aides combined to keep the progress of the House slow for the first day.

Ordinarily, the first few days are spent in organization and committee appointments. It is thought essential, for example, that the printing committee of the lower chamber should be named so that the printing bids can be publicly opened.

That merely makes it possible for the chief clerk to obtain the supplies he needs and for the members to get their first calendars.

But as the House session finished Tuesday night at 5:42 o'clock these things had not been done.

Meantime the Republicans, led by Rep. Robert P. Maclary, the minority leader, of Newport Pike, had seized upon an opportunity to fight for Mr. Lank's seating, arguing that the fact that he had been sworn in was as good as any fact could be.

Reba Stafford Honored by Party

A surprise party was given for Mrs. Reba Stafford in honor of her 66th birthday anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. James Stafford at their home Sunday evening.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Clayton A. Stafford, Joan, Joyce, Debbie and Jimmy; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton H. Stafford, Spencer Hawkins and Leonard Allen, Wilmington; Mrs. Laura Myers, Smyrna; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stafford, Easton; Mr. and Mrs. Anstine Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Collision and Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilson and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hopkins and Sharon, and Mrs. Lelia Hopkins.

Engaged
The credentials were reviewed by Senators John E. Reilly (D-Wilmington) and William O. Covey, Jr., named to the job by Lieutenant Governor Rollins.

They found no fault with the documents, and the 10 legislators, eight new ones and two who had been re-elected—were sworn in a few minutes later.

Senator Moore was nominated by Senator Lamot and his election as president pro tem was unanimous. Then, after consuming a bare 20 minutes, the first day's Senate session of the 118th General Assembly went into recess for lunch.

Although it had been scheduled to reconvene at 1 p. m., Lieutenant Governor Rollins found only a handful of legislators on hand at the time and the Senate wasn't gavelled to order again until 1:42. At that time Senator Moore was sworn in. Mr. Lamot handed up a third resolution which named these 11 attaches: Wilson E. Campbell, of near Dagsboro, secretary of the Senate;

Robert H. Wahl and Samuel R. Russell of Georgetown, attorneys; E. Hobson Davis of Gwinhurst, secretary of committees; the Rev. Robert Van Cleef, pastor of the Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington, chaplain; Mrs. Louise Staats of Smyrna and Mrs. Claudia Jenkins, Little Creek, reading clerks; Frank Webb, Greenwood, telephone messenger; Matthew Donahue of Wilmington and Reynolds Gooden, Frederica, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Catherine Palmer, Dover, secretary to the president pro tem.

Attaches Sworn In
The resolution won unanimous approval. With the exception of Mr. Wahl, who was forced to return to Wilmington because of a death in the family, the attaches were sworn in.

The Senate then went into recess until 4:04 p. m., while Democrats huddled to thrash out their attack proposals.

Mr. Lamot handed up a second resolution which listed 25 more attaches. It was approved without dissent. The appointees are:

William Poore, of Smyrna, C. Rodney Comegys of Wyoming, and Albert L. McCullough of New Castle, sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Anna Fox of Leipsic, supply clerk; Clarence Reilm of Middletown, bill clerk; John Bellere, of Bear, mail clerk; John Holloway of Harrington, assistant mail clerk; James Simpson, of Harrington, Ellwood Roy of Newark; Lewis McKnatt of Townsend, and Harry G. McCallister of near Laurel, pages.

Mrs. Beatrice Hubbard of Dover, typist; Thomas Gray of Dover and Joseph B. Jackson of Wilmington, telephone messengers; Mrs. Grace Kearney of New Castle, attorney's secretary; Mrs. Monica Brown of Delaware City and Bernard P. Yeatman of Wilmington, attorney's messengers; Mrs. May B. Reese, Wilmington, secretary to the majority leader; Edwin Hutchinson, Wilmington, and George Levi Everett, Kenton, multiunit operators; Mrs. W. McBride, Wilmington, document clerk; Patricia Fitzpatrick of Wilmington; stenographer, Paris Kirby, of Milford, reading clerk, and Ollie H. Murray of Gumboro, cloak room attendant.

After this batch of attaches was sworn in, Mr. Lamot steered through a series of resolutions providing money for postage, stationery and other office supplies.

SENATE ORGANIZES AS LEGISLATURE GETS UNDERWAY

The State Senate went about its organization methodically Tuesday, but prospective jobholders gave members of the Democratic majority a hectic day behind the scenes.

After hours of working on lists of prospective attaches, the 12 Democratic senators' wound up naming 36 to jobs as aides in the upper house.

Business on the floor was short and to the point. The Senate elected Charles G. (Kelly) Moore (D-Hartly) president pro tem, adopted the same rules as governed the 1952 session, and informed Gov. J. Caleb Boggs it was organized and ready to hear his budget and legislative proposals.

He sent word back that he would address a joint session Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Lamot Steers Senate
Senator Eugene Lamot (D-Wilmington), a freshman legislator, steered the Senate through the series of resolutions which completed its organization. Republicans, under the leadership of Senator Thomas L. Johnson of Rehoboth Beach, the former president pro tem offered no argument to any of the resolutions, although none of them provided for the one attaché Republicans had been assured they would get.

A surprise of Tuesday maneuvering was the bid of Mrs. Vera G. Davis, Dover Republican, for a post as parliamentary officer of the Senate. A resolution proposing her for the job was in hand Tuesday, but nobody ever submitted it.

There were indications that the resolution wasn't dead, but that supporters were waiting until they were sure of winning before submitting it.

Mrs. Davis was majority leader in the House two years ago, and president pro tem of the Senate in 1950.

Some Democrats seemed to feel that the Republicans should accept Mrs. Davis as their lone Senate attaché, but the Republican leadership was reluctant to agree. GOP senators feel that they need a secretary for their caucus, while Democrats need the parliamentary just as badly, if not worse, than they do. They hoped the Democrats would agree to a Republican caucus secretary and a parliamentarian as well.

Lt. Gov. John W. Rollins presided throughout Tuesday's session, which was adjourned until 1 p. m. Monday. At various times he was joined on the dais by former Lt. Gov. Alexis I. Dupont Bayard, former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, and Senator Moore.

Senator Moore said the 1 p. m. starting time will probably be standard throughout the session, thereby easing the need for prolonged lunch hours which the legislators seem to feel necessary when they start at 11 a. m.

The first part of the session saw approval for a resolution establishing the same Senate rules as two years ago.

Committee Rules Adopted
Among other things, these rules set the committee membership division at 3-2 in favor of the majority party. Their acceptance for this session eased Republican fears that Democrats would use their 125 majority in the upper House to tighten control on the various committees.

A second resolution named the Superior Court judges of the various counties, in their capacities as board of canvass, that the Senate was ready to receive the credentials of members elected or reelected last November.

The credentials were reviewed by Senators John E. Reilly (D-Wilmington) and William O. Covey, Jr., named to the job by Lieutenant Governor Rollins.

They found no fault with the documents, and the 10 legislators, eight new ones and two who had been re-elected—were sworn in a few minutes later.

Basketball Season is Here Again

Well, basketball season is here again last year when the word basketball was mentioned most Harringtonians literally hung their heads. The popular saying among the Harrington High dribblers, after every game last year was, "Wait Till Next Year."

Next year is here and we feel sure that most of the games that were lost last year will be avenged. Coach Leon Hart has done a fine job with the boys this year. In two practice games earlier, the team made good showing against Greensboro and Sudlersville. Support is an important factor in keeping up the morale of a team and the boys certainly feel much better if they hear cheers instead of criticism. So, please everyone, come out and support your High School Team.

And What Is A 'Buzz Session'?

"Buzz Session" a form of meeting to acquaint leaders with their duties and responsibilities of their offices has been planned for Jan. 10 at the Caesar Rodney School at 7:30 p. m. The program is designed for members of home demonstration clubs, 4-H clubs, and farm groups, but the general public is invited to participate, since the principles will apply to all group activities.

The meetings are sponsored by the agricultural extension service and will emphasize how groups can meet to carry on a successful program of activities. The program will stress how individuals can learn to cooperate to work together. Reference manuals are being prepared for distribution at the meetings.

Essentially a "buzz session" consists of small groups of people working on common problems. Each group discusses its activities, such as "What are the best traits of a successful club president or secretary or reporter?" The main points are listed and then reviewed for the whole group. Strangely enough, the experiences of a number of people toward a new job often presents the best picture or approach to that job. In most cases, very little of major importance is omitted using this procedure. The buzz session technique encourages individual participation and minimizes the importance of a lecturer-teacher. It is a method which farm and home leaders can well adopt.

At this writing the boys and girls have identical records having dropped the opener to Rock Hall and won over Ridgely. Although the Green Devils lost all but one of their varsity squad of last year, Coach Kerns is building a team composed largely of under classmen which is improving rapidly and promises to give a good account of itself. The girls team coached by Miss Margaret Taylor did not lose by graduation and should be stronger than in recent years.

At their last meeting, Felton Chapter, Future Farmers of America initiated Hugh Wilson into the organization. Hugh recently moved into the district from Chester, Pennsylvania.

testing. The service is to be free. Farmers are urged to call for sampling instructions since improper sampling especially of soil and milk can cause unreliable test results.

The F.F.A. steer project under the management of Norman Tribbett is coming along nicely. The animal, a grade Angus, is gaining weight rapidly and it is estimated that he would tip the scales at eleven hundred fifty pounds.

Boggs Proclaims 'March of Dimes Month' in January

Governor J. Caleb Boggs has proclaimed the month of January "March of Dimes Month" and called for the "enlightened generosity of every citizen, so that a worthwhile cause may be continued and a great humanitarian victory hastened."

Gov. Boggs told Mrs. Jesse Lovan, a member of the March of Dimes State Committee, that since the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is "morally obligated to continue its aid to polio victims of previous years and to those unnumbered thousands who will be stricken in the future," that he was happy to lend his support to the annual drive.

In his proclamation Gov. Boggs points out that "this humanitarian program is now undertaking the task of protecting healthy Delaware children as well as providing care for the polio-stricken here and across the nation."

The full proclamation follows: WHEREAS, the March of Dimes is facing a bigger task in 1955, even as the prospect of freedom from polio's threat looms brighter than ever before, and WHEREAS, this humanitarian program is now undertaking the task of protecting healthy Delaware children as well as providing care for the polio-stricken here and across the nation, and

WHEREAS, the most hopeful aspect of this bold program is the purchase of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis of 9,000,000 doses of polio vaccine now being manufactured, and WHEREAS, the added cost of this vaccine, in addition to the millions needed for patient aid, for scientific research and for professional education financed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis amounts to $64,000,000, and

WHEREAS, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is morally obligated to continue its aid to polio victims of previous years and to those unnumbered thousands who will be stricken in the future because any vaccine will come too late for them, THEREFORE, I, J. CALLEG BOGGS, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby proclaim the month of January

MARCH OF DIMES MONTH and ask for the enlightened generosity of every citizen, so that a worthwhile cause may be continued and a great humanitarian victory hastened.

MARCH OF DIMES MONTH and ask for the enlightened generosity of every citizen, so that a worthwhile cause may be continued and a great humanitarian victory hastened.

Dickinson Called First National Hero Of Colonies, at Delaware Day Rites

John Dickinson, famous as "The Penman of the Revolutionary War" also was the first national hero of the American colonies, Andrew D. Christie, director of the Delaware Legislative Reference Bureau, said today in an address in Valley Forge Memorial Chapel.

It was Delaware Day in Valley Forge and several hundred Delawareans including members of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution made their annual pilgrimage to this famous shrine where Washington and his troops spent their severest winter.

Mr. Christie, a Wilmington attorney, also pointed out that Dickinson, through his fourteen "Letters of a Farmer" aroused public opinion to the point where open rebellion against the world's greatest military power was possible, "even in the face of the dreadful hardships involved."

However, the speaker pointed out, John Dickinson was an early advocate of what today would be termed "peaceful co-existence," for he believed there was a remedy in several forms of reconciliation and that British as well as American interests would be best served by peaceful settlement of their differences.

Mr. Christie went on to say that controversy over taxation of the American colonies by British Parliament had already been raging for several years before the "Farmer" letters appeared. Most Americans, he declared, "resented and bitterly opposed the various taxes but logical and unemotional arguments against them had not appeared."

"These letters supplied the rallying point which drew the colonists together. The fourteen Farmer letters which appeared in quick succession swept through the colonies. They were a comprehensive survey of the colonies' political relations with the mother country, and in the various plans which were proposed to remedy evils. Mr. Dickinson struck the true key-not of the American cause."

The letters proved the author was a firm believer in the tradition of English liberty and that English law rightly interpreted was the basis of the free political condition to that date devised. Then he took up one by one the various grievances of the colonists and endeavored to show in each case these stemmed from violations of the English law.

"There was no emotional outburst based on vague rights," Mr. Christie continued, "or those of fancied injustices. Rather with a knack possessed by few great legal minds he reduced the complex political and legal problems of his day to simple terms understood by all. And yet with all, he took a bold new approach by proving the acts of Parliament unconstitutional rather than merely obnoxious."

"It was skillfully brought out that much English wealth rested on the restrictive colonial trade policies to which the colonies had peacefully submitted prior to the legal taxation. Finally, as the last extreme to which free men may be forced, the revolutionary possibility of armed resistance was mentioned."

Mr. Christie said that overnight an already popular position had become logically justifiable in the minds of the colonists. The agreements contained in the Letters found their way into great speeches in the British Parliament and assisted the sympathetic Whigs in obtaining modification of some of the acts of which the colonists complained.

"A loyal British subject, a conservative by training and nature, Dickinson has exposed the illegality of acts, offered a remedy and hinted at the terrible alternative. In so doing he became one of the few men known throughout the colonies and the acknowledged leader of those seeking a peaceful solution of the differences."

The speaker pointed out, however, that like all great men who try to serve with justice, by 1776 Dickinson had become as unpopular as he had previously been popular, although his theories continued to be the major intellectual justification of the rebellion.

"He himself objected to the timing of the Declaration of Independence rather than the result thereof, and he immediately sought to serve in the Continental Army. The temporary hate of his countrymen soon subsided and he was the man who drafted the Articles of Confederation which tided the infant Republic over its first difficult years and paved the way for the Federal Constitution as we now have it."

"John Dickinson was an intellectual giant in those fortunate days when American politics commanded the active participation of most of the best minds. Of all his great accomplishments his "Letters from a Farmer" rank high. They made a direct contribution to the bravery in Valley Forge by giving purpose to the suffering."

"They made an indirect contribution to the revolutionary effort by forcing the colonies to try patiently for peace before an all-out war was waged. The remarkable support which the risks of revolution received from most of the leaders in the middle and southern colonies would have been difficult to obtain without first taking the conservative approach of John Dickinson," Mr. Christie concluded.

DELAWARE POWER & LIGHT CO.

MORE ELECTRIC POWER AVAILABLE TO BOWERS

Henceforth the town of North and South Bowers will be served with 7200 volts pressure by Delaware Power & Light Company.

One day last week electric company customers had a 45-minute interruption in their electric service so that the changeover from 2400 to 7200 volts could be completed.

We believe the increased capacity will take care of the area adequately for some years to come," said A. B. Parsons, division manager for the company.

At least 17 new transformers have been installed to handle the increased capacity. During the interruption of service, 21 men from Harrington, Georgetown and Millsboro districts were assigned to the job of disconnecting lead-in wires from old transformers and hooking up new lead-ins to new transformers. Thus the job was completed in the shortest possible time and inconvenience to customers kept to a minimum.

"Formerly a heavy cable under Murderkill river carried electric power between Bowers and South Bowers," noted Mr. Parsons. We have done away with that now and for purposes of efficient service and maintenance, the cable is strung on two towering 80-foot poles which is out of the way of navigation."

INCOME TAX BULLETIN AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS

Farmers can get the latest information on changes in the income tax law from a new bulletin just off the press.

Put out by the University of Delaware, "Farmers' 1954 Income Tax" can be picked up free at the county agent's office. Or it is available by writing to the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Farmers who file an estimate of tax due and pay this amount before Jan. 15 have one month longer to prepare their final statement. The deadline for the final return now is April 15 instead of March 15. Farmers who do not file an estimate must complete their return by Jan. 31.

Children under 19 can earn more than $600 and still be claimed as dependents if their parents provide more than half their support. The same holds true if the children are 19 or over and full-time students for at least five months of the year.

Medical and dental expenses over 3 per cent of the adjusted gross income can be deducted—if the expenses are listed. The previous figure was 5 per cent.

Income from livestock sold, exchanged, or destroyed because of disease need not be listed for payment of tax—if the amount is re-invested in similar livestock within a year. An example would be the indemnities under the TB program.

Other important changes such as new methods determining depreciation rates and costs incurred in soil conservation and land improvement are discussed in the new bulletin.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Eggs lead the list of best buys in food this week. More eggs will be available this month than in any other January in history! Record annual output of nearly 6 billion dozen, or nearly 34 dozen for every man, woman and child in the country, has prompted the Department of Agriculture to designate this as January Egg Month.

"Know the Eggs You Buy" is a convenient illustrated guide to consumer purchasing of eggs. Request your free copy today by writing: Extension Marketing Dept., Box 150, Newark, Del.

Other plentiful, economically priced foods is Delaware this week are:

Meats and Poultry: Pork and pork products, including loins, shoulders, hams and lard merit attention as "best buys." Pork supplies are remaining high with correspondingly lower prices for consumers. Young Delaware chicken for broiling and frying continues to be low priced even though production this month may fall below the figure for a January 1954.

Seafood: Whiting and porgies are least expensive among fresh fish this week. Frozen ocean perch, halibut, and haddock are likewise low with heavy supplies.

Fresh Fruits: Tangerines are in peak supply right now, and with a crop of 4 per cent above last year, excellent prices can be found. There are more oranges than a year ago and prices of Florida oranges, especially the small sizes, are down. Even the relatively costly Temple oranges and California navel are retailing at prices below a year ago. Grapefruit supplies are barely steady but prices at retail are slipping under the level of last season.

Fresh Vegetables: Lettuce supplies, 14 per cent above normal with quality good, will permit tasty, budget salads this week. Sweet potatoes from nearby states are still low, and much more economical than southern yams.

Mushroom prices at wholesale are 30 per cent under last year and retail prices offer a savings almost as large. Since mushrooms are highly perishable and store displays are not always of desirable quality, be sure to select or request mushrooms which are not wilted in appearance and which are free from excessive bruises and blemishes.

Also keep in mind these other good vegetable buys this week: beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, peppers, old crop cabbage, and brussel sprouts.

Prosperous Colorado Colorado owes its prosperity to its unparalleled supply of minerals and livestock.

Crop Allotment Regulations Noted By ASC Chairman

Delaware farmers want to know how the dropping of cross-compliance requirements for price support eligibility, announced recently by the Department of Agriculture, will affect their particular operations.

"If you expect to put your 1955 corn crop under price support loan, you will need to stay within your corn acreage allotment," says Paul W. Mitchell, state chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

"The same is true of any other allotment crop for which you might want a Commodity Credit Corporation loan and purchase agreement," Mitchell adds. "But don't worry about cross-compliance between allotment crops. You will not need to comply with all allotments for your farm in order to get a loan on any one crop."

If a marketing quota has been voted into effect—as it was last year for wheat, cotton, peanuts, and major types of tobacco—quota penalties will also apply if allotted acreage for a crop is exceeded.

The regulation establishing quota penalties, as well as the one prohibiting price support for any individual crop on which the farm acreage allotment is exceeded, is provided for by law and cannot be changed by the Department of Agriculture, Mitchell explains.

Another regulation established by law applies to Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing. Compliance will all crop allotments which apply to a farm is a requirement for eligibility for ACP assistance in carrying out conservation measures. Therefore, if you want ACP assistance in carrying out a conservation plan for your farm, you will need to stay within acreage allotments for all crops on your farm.

MARKETING COSTS SOMEWHAT HIGHER

The farmer's share of each dollar the consumer will spend for food in 1955 is expected to be lower. In 1954, farmers received 44c of each dollar spent by consumers for food. In 1955, this is expected to drop to 43c. The widening spread between farm and consumer prices is due mainly to increased service costs and larger investments of firms engaged in marketing farm products.

Exciting When Fluffy
Hard sauce is exciting when it's fluffy. Just make the hard sauce in the usual manner and then fold in one stiffly beaten egg white.

Shower or Shine
Shower or shine coats give you the perfect casual fashion that looks smart in any weather. You might choose a small checked fashion of a fitted and belted corduroy.
