

PACKAGE STORE BURGLARIZED; GROCERY WINDOW BROKEN

A thin burglar stole an undetermined amount of whiskey from Marshall's Package Store early Wednesday morning, at which time a window was broken in Welch's Grocery Store nearby.

The burglar broke a rear window at Marshall's, squeezed through horizontal bars, and took the whiskey and went out a rear door.

At the Welch establishment, someone pushed a five-foot piece of timber, 4 inches by 4 inches, thru a side window, but did not enter the place. The timber was found next morning by the proprietor, Woodrow Welch.

Lawrence Porter, liquor inspector, and Patrolman Walter Voss are working on the Marshall case.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Enroute to Buffalo:
This is certainly going to be different this week. Someone sent me this poem and I'm going to pass it on for you to read. And I quote —

Now Melancholy Molly,
As a foal was fat and jolly,
Till the day she hurt her leg from knee to hoof.
The farm boss was so foolish,
So stubborn and so muleish,
That he acted like an addle-pated goat.

Said he, "It's downright silly
To pamper this here filly
Just because she's comes up with a limp."
The poor fool didn't know it,
And Molly didn't show it,
Lack of treatment would some day make a gimp.

As a yearling they forsook her,
To the auction sale they took her,
And an unsuspecting horseman got the bid.
She was given careful training,
In track knowledge she was gaining,
And her trainer proudly told of all she did.

When at two she started racing,
Never showing she needed bracing,
And she won her first three races
in a breeze;
Of the fourth race, out people talk,
Molly slowed down to a mere walk
And wound up with a swelling in her knee.

Her trainer said, "Retire her."
The boss-man said, "We'll fire her."
And in a year she'll be just as good as new.
So the Vet, he did his duty,
Punished this crying cutie,
And her legs burnt just like they'd been in a stew.

To the boss-man's farm was taken
Our poor Molly, legs were still achin'.
For a year she reamed the pasture
far and wide;
That she grew strong and pretty,
She thought it was a pity
That her ever-flowing tears she could not hide.

Back to racing, they did take her,
Low and lower, they did place her,
Till in a thousand dollar claimer,
she came in;
A new boss-man got our Molly,
The boss-man said it was folly,
Yet he knew, on class alone, that she did win.

This new boss-man was no dumb-bell.
Of a discovery, he had heard tell,
So he used it, per directions, for a week.
Our Molly started winning,
Stopped her crying, started grinning,
And her boss-man, better races he did seek.

Hiss thrill will ne'er diminish,
Molly led from start to finish,
In the biggest classic stake of all the year;
And because of the boss-man's trick
Of continued use of whip or stick,
She kept on winning, you need have no fear.
So ends the story, on Melancholy
Molly.

I waited all week to see Nelson
Eddy in the "Desert Song" and then ended up missing it. I'm a great fan of his. I never tire of him, and I happen to like all of Romberg's music. That's about all Dave ever plays on the record player. But I like a variety. A little hill-billy and what have you.

Gosh, before I left, Mrs. War-ington sure had the most beautiful outdoor furniture, sitting out

Sen. Frear Asks For Comment On Controversial Bill

One of last year's most controversial pieces of legislation is again receiving the attention of Congress and, according to United States Senator J. Allen Frear, the division of public opinion over its merits is just as strong as ever.

The issue referred to by the Delaware senator is Senate Joint Resolution No. 1, otherwise known as the Bricker Amendment. This bill, offered as an amendment to the Constitution, is designed to protect the nation against possible adverse effects from international treaties or executive agreements.

Last year the Bricker Amendment was defeated by the narrow margin of one vote. It actually received the support of 60 members of the Senate, while 31 others voted against it. However, since a two-thirds majority was required to pass the measure, it failed to carry by a single tally.

In his weekly statement, Senator Frear discussed the views of those opposing the measure, who fear that it will hamper the President's conduct of foreign affairs. At the same time, he indicated his personal concern lest any executive agreement be concluded which might directly or by implication supersede the Federal Constitution as the supreme law of the land.

The Delaware senator gave assurances that he will welcome all expressions of opinion both for and against the Bricker Amendment and accord them the benefit of sympathetic review.

International Gavel Presented To Rotary Club

At the meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club on Tuesday, May 10, Past-President Fulton Downing concluded an international project which he began in Feb. 1954. At that time he wrote to 12 Rotary clubs scattered in various parts of the world, asking for pieces of wood native to the countries in which the clubs were located.

Beginning with the letter he had received from Caen, France, which told of the mailing of a piece of wood from the forest in Normandy, Rotarian Fulton gave the story of his project. When the package from Caen arrived, the piece of wood had been lost and was never located. Two other pieces of wood which were mailed failed to arrive.

From five other clubs, pieces of wood arrived safely. Four of these were glued together by Fulton Downing and then made by him into the head of a gavel. Two of these are light in color: a piece of wavy birch from Finland, and a piece of ash from Switzerland. The other two are dark in color: a piece of walnut from Switzerland, and a piece of very unusually grained kiat wood from Johannesburg, South Africa. Letters were read from these clubs telling the importance or significance of the types of wood which had been sent.

In order that the gavel might be of special interest to the members of the Harrington Rotary Club, the handle was made by first gluing three pieces of wood together. The central piece of the handle is of oak from Switzerland, one is from an old apple tree under which the late Walter J. Paskey Sr. spent many happy hours, and the remaining piece came from an old oak table used by the late Ernest Raughley in his activities as an architect and artist. Letters were read from Mrs. Theresa Paskey Horleman and Mrs. Ernest Raughley, which told of the significance of the pieces of wood. For many years these two men were active in the affairs of the Harrington Rotary Club, and of the community.

When he had given the story of the making of the gavel, Fulton Downing called for the president, Robert E. VanCleaf, to accept the gavel for the Harrington Rotary Club. The president expressed the thanks of the club for the fine gift and used the gavel for the first time to dismiss the meeting.

Three guests were present: Mrs. Samuel Williams, Mr. Evans and Mr. William B. Super.

During the business session an interesting letter was read from Mr. Joseph C. Laws, who now lives in Aguadilla, Porto Rico, a former member of the Harrington Rotary Club.

Rotary Beauty Contest Nears

The stage is all set for the fifth annual Rotary Club beauty contest, to be held at Reese Theatre Thursday night, May 26.

The girls are scheduled to hold their first practice the first of next week. The Rotarians are madly planning their comedy skit, and the gifts for all of the girls have been bought and set aside. In general, things are hopping. It is planned to have Miss Patricia Viens, formerly of Felton, and winner of last year's contest, crown this year's queen. She will be assisted by the winners of the previous contests.

Reserve seat tickets for the contest are rapidly becoming scarce due to the work of the Rotarians and the co-operation of The Harrington Journal and Chamberlin's Pharmacy. Both the Rotarians and Chamberlin's Pharmacy still have some reserve seats and plenty of unreserved seats to sell.

The first, second and third prizes will be on display in the window of Reese Theater the first of next week. Also there will be photographs of last year's contest.

V.F.W. Post To Hold Flag Sale

The Adams-Simpler-Ware Post 6009, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in Felton, are planning to conduct a flag sale as a means to raise money and also to enliven patriotism in the town of Felton and community.

"So many of our citizens have forgotten the real meaning of patriotism to our country, we are going to try to revive patriotism by selling these flags, so everyone in the community can remember to be patriotic to our great country and its heroes in a time when Communism is threatening the world," spoke William F. Haldeman, newly-elected commander of the post.

The flag set consists of a 3x5 ft. flag on an 8 ft. jointed pole and a socket, which may be left in the lawn, to hold the flagpole. Already a shipment has arrived and the first sale was made to William Myers, president of the Town Council, who urges the sale of these flags to every family in Felton and community.

The VFW would like to get as many as possible sold before Memorial Day, but it will be impossible to contact everyone before then. However, if you wish to place an order, you may do so by calling L. Lawrence Kates, who is chairman of the flag sale or anyone else in the post. Let's all fly our flags on the national holidays. A native of Foochow, China, Miss Chou worked there with the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Dennis and expects to join with them in their work in Borneo in July of this year. She told of her country under Communism. She said that peace is what the world needs, but that it cannot be achieved overnight. It must be earned quietly, persistently, slowly. Her advice to her hearers was: cultivate Christian attitudes; do away with criticisms; understand other peoples and other cultures; remember we are much more alike than we are different; be patient but persistent; remember that peace is the presence of God, not His absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kates entertained at a turkey dinner Sunday. Present were Mrs. Grace Jones, Dover, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Jones and daughters, Phyllis and Lynda, of Felton.

GREENWOOD, VERNON FARMERS PLOW AND PLANT LAND FOR INJURED MAN, NOW IN HOSPITAL

Greenwood and Vernon farmers plowed the land of an injured farmer Friday and, it was rumored, planted his corn late Friday and Saturday.

The Samaritans came to the rescue after Willard Kauffman, of near Vernon, backed into a saw and had to go to the hospital.

The drive was sparked, it was reported, by members of the Greenwood Mennonite Church, of which Mr. Kauffman was a member. The number of tractors involved in the project was reported anywhere from 25 to 28.

Difficulty was encountered in ascertaining the names of the Greenwood farmers in the project, but those from the Vernon area included Clayton Layton, Jim Wilson, Harry Legates, Robert Nelson, Sam Eilers, George Sullivan, Frank Tharp, Franklin Hanson and George Eilers. Hanson had a Taylor & Messick rig. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Greenwood church.

SPORTS

Harrington 9 Wins Over Greensboro In 6-5 Contest

Harrington won a trying 6-5 verdict over visiting Greensboro, Md. High, as Wayne Brown pitched no-hit ball for six innings then suffered through a six-hit, five-run Greensboro rally that tied the score in the top half of the final inning. Then Brown scored the winning run after getting on base via an infield error. He stole second and third and raced across home plate on another infield miscue.

Smyrna Downs Caesar Rodney
A near-perfect pitching performance by Paul Loder carried Smyrna High to its sixth victory in seven starts at Camden Monday, as the Eagles nosed out Caesar Rodney 1-0. Only John M. Clayton High and Lewes, both 5-0, sport better baseball records than the Eagles in the Kent-Sussex Counties race.

Loder gave up but one hit, a scratch single by Dick Papan in the fourth inning, and walked Pat Dyer in the seventh. They were the only runners.

Smyrna collected only four hits off Wayne Cox, but bunched three of them in the second inning for the lone tally. Karl Gebhardt's single that followed similar pokes by Jim Orvis and Jim Cassell, produced the marker.

Dover Hammers Milford
At Dover, the Senators' Ronnie King scattered eight hits to ease through a 10-2 decision over Milford. Joe Miller, with a two-run homer and two singles, and King, with three singled, led the attack.

Frederica, Milton Nines Win Mar-Del League Opener

Frederica's defending Mar-Del Baseball League champions got off to a flying start in the loop's inaugural program Sunday, defeating Felton at home, 9-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Lou Hobbs. Franny Powell, former Caesar Rodney High star, poked out four singles to pace the winners' 11-hit attack.

Milton debuted with a 4-2 triumph over Wyoming on the Milton diamond, with Gil Darby besting Don Olliver for the mound verdict. Henry Mitchell made three of Milton's nine hits, while Harry Barrett's homer was the big blow among the six safeties collected by Wyoming.

Len Outen hurled steady five-hit ball for Farmington as it won an easy 10-1 decision over Milford on the latter's diamond. He also shared batting honors with player-manager Buck Thompson and Bert Tucker, each polling two hits.

DROP IN POULTRY PRICES SEEN; SHAD A GOOD BUY IN STATE NOW

Meats and Poultry: Broiler and fryer supplies are expected to rise above 1954 levels this week and more favorable prices are featured in many stores. These young chickens are a treat any time, but they offer exciting new menu possibilities during warm weather. Chicken salad and sandwiches are favorite picnic foods and barbecued chicken has a special appeal during early summer. You may write to me at Box 150, Newark.

Maritime Day To Be Observed Sunday, May 22

National Maritime Day will be marked nationally and in the State of Delaware on Sunday, May 22, it was announced this week by Governor J. Caleb Boggs. In a proclamation issued at his Dover office, Governor Boggs pointed out that it is fitting that the people of the nation recognize and honor the American men and women, afloat and ashore, who have contributed to the nation's position as a leading maritime power.

Governor Boggs also calls attention to the fact that this date commemorates the sailing of the "Savannah" from Savannah, Ga., on the first successful Atlantic ocean crossing under steam propulsion.

"The American Merchant Marine," said Governor Boggs, "has long established itself as a vital factor in our national defense and economy and is becoming increasingly important to our specific Delaware area."

The proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States of America, on May 20, 1933, designated May 22 as National Maritime Day and requested the President to issue annually a proclamation calling on the people of the United States of America to observe that day; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting that we so recognize and honor the American men and women, afloat and ashore, who have contributed to the nation's position as a leading maritime power; and

WHEREAS, this date also commemorates the sailing of the American steamship "Savannah" from Savannah, Ga., in 1819 on the first successful crossing of the Atlantic Ocean under steam propulsion; and

WHEREAS, the American Merchant Marine has long established itself as a vital factor in our national defense and economy and is becoming increasingly important to our specific Delaware area;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, by virtue of authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby designate and proclaim Sunday, May 22, 1955, as NATIONAL MARITIME DAY in Delaware and urge that the people of Delaware recognize the traditions and development of our great Merchant Marine by display of the flags of our state and nation.

for a free booklet showing just how you can have a chicken barbecue for your family or for a large crowd.

Other economical meats this week are shoulder cuts of lamb, leg of lamb, pork loin roasts, picnic shoulder of pork, shoulder cuts of veal, ground beef, chuck roasts and beef veal and lamb stew meat.

Dairy Products: Seasonal increases in milk supplies mean that a big sales drive is being conducted on all dairy products. Look for special promotions on cottage cheese, so popular for warm weather salads, and take advantage of promotional price reductions as they appear on butter, cheese and other products. Do not expect large price changes, however, because milk production is down slightly from 1954 and consumption is higher.

Seafood: Shad is still the most thrifty fresh fish in Delaware stores. Best buys in frozen seafood include cod, haddock, ocean perch, pollock, cod and perch fish sticks. Canned tuna prices are expected to strengthen as warmer weather approaches, although current prices are reasonable.

Fruits and Vegetables: Apple stocks are running over 30 per cent above last year. Prices on Stayman and Rome Apples from nearby states are low, although most of these eastern apples have been discolored somewhat by scald, a disorder usually confined to the skin. Western Winesap apples are only moderately priced. Strawberries are still rather high in price even though shipments now are coming from points as close as Virginia. Rhubarb is in peak supply, selling a very attractive price and permitting thrifty rhubarb pies, stews and sauces.

Yellow sweet corn prices have declined further. All types of green leafy vegetables are inexpensive on this week's market. Other good buys in vegetables include Texas onions, scallions, radishes, carrots and mushrooms. Early watermelons are arriving on the market at premium prices.

Greenwood F.F.A. and 4-H News

4-H Highlights

The Greenwood Hi-Flier 4-H Club met Monday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in the Greenwood Fire Hall. The president, John Blackiston, opened the meeting with the 4-H pledge and flag salute. Roll call was taken by Jean McDowell, secretary. There was no old business to discuss at this time. The new business discussed was the annual Demonstration Day, to be held May 14 at Georgetown. James McDowell and Richard Revell will be the Greenwood representatives in the demonstration team contest. Richard Revell will represent Greenwood in the public speaking contest.

After the above discussion, the president asked questions on flowers. The meeting adjourned and the girls served refreshments.

Ten delegates and alternates from the Greenwood Firemen's Ladies' Auxiliary attended the Del-Mar-Va convention held in Seaford Wednesday, May 11. At the last regular meeting of the auxiliary, the refreshment committee for May was appointed. Chairman, Lurietta Draper; also on the committee, Mabel Farrow, Ethel Hubbard and Esther Hynson.

The Firemen's Ladies' Auxiliary of Sussex County will meet in Bridgeville on Wednesday, May 18. At this time a memorial service will be held for deceased members of Sussex County. Members on this committee are: Mrs. Mary Uhler, chairman; Mrs. Jeanette Smith, Milton; Mrs. Minnie Kytte, Laurel; Mrs. Jennie Wilcox, Selbyville, and Mrs. Madge Brittingham, Millsboro.

F.F.A. Highlights

At the May 3 meeting, Mr. Moulds, state supervisor, was the guest. He spoke about the F.F.A. Foundation and how we could improve it. This week the F.F.A. boys have set up picnic tables on the front lawn.

Special News: William Lord Jr. was elected president of the Delaware F. F. Foundation at Caesar Rodney, Thursday, April 28. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lord Sr., of near Greenwood.

William is a sophomore at the University of Delaware, where he is majoring in poultry husbandry in the field of agriculture. William's background was his best campaign manager. It shows a fine record of leadership. He is the president of his sophomore class. In 1954 he was the Sussex County vice-president of the Delaware F.F.A. Foundation. In 1954 he was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity and lacrosse team. Gov. Boggs appointed William to a four-year term on the Commission on Children and Youth program in 1953. His first state F.F.A. office was secretary in 1953.

At the conclusion of his senior year in high school, William had completed four years on Greenwood judging teams. He was Delaware's outstanding young poultryman. Along with this he won the Best Project Books contest two years. He received his Diamond Farmer's Degree for outstanding achievement in 1953 also. During his four years of vocational agriculture his projects were field crops and broilers. In 1953 he received his five-letter award sweater for sportsmanship. He was president of Greenwood's Student Council in his senior year. He was Greenwood's representative to Boys' State for two years.

These are some of the qualifications that made William a successful candidate for the office he now holds. The Greenwood Luther Burbank Chapter of Future Farmers of America would like to pay tribute to William for his leadership and co-operation and wish him success in the coming year.

Our Dog, Prince
By James W. Jones
Prince is a pretty gray and white dog. He is a good watchdog and always barks when strangers come around. Every morning he walks out to the school bus with us. Each afternoon, he is watching for us to come home. Prince likes to play with my sisters, my brothers, and me. He is a faithful companion; without him we would be very lonesome.

Trucks, by George P.
A truck plays an important part on the farm. The farmer uses his truck to haul his crops. It saves him money when he has to haul them a long way. He also uses the truck to haul his crops from the field to the house.

Flowers, by Connie Biddle
There are many kinds of flowers. The ones I like best are chrysanthemums and yellow and white roses. Some flowers grow by themselves. Others you have to plant. Wild flowers, like violets, daisies, dandelions and dogwood, grow without anyone planting them.

Going to the Fair

Going to the fair is a lot of fun. There you get juice, popcorn, and rides and meet your friends. You watch the men and women with pets and see the clowns do tricks. That is what I like about the fair.

Pennsylvania Youth Wins Essay Contest

A Pennsylvania youth, enrolled in the Agricultural School, University of Delaware, won the top award in the essay contest sponsored by the Delaware State Highway Commission to determine the contribution of Delaware Memorial Bridge and the highway system to the state's agricultural economy.

The winner was Ralph A. Baker, Leraysville, Pa., who received a check for $170 at Honors Day exercises last week.

The Highway Commission, working in co-operation with Charles T. Gallagher Jr., general manager of Memorial Bridge, appropriated $440 to be spread out in five awards for the essays. The other four winners and the amounts of their checks, are as follows: George R. Glading, 2410 Maple Avenue, Wilmington, $120; H. Wallace Cook Jr., Elkton, Md., $75; Raymond J. Wright, Newark, $50; and Ralph I. England, North-east, Md., $25.

Harry Salmon, Memorial Bridge superintendent, represented Mr. Gallagher at the Honors Day exercises and congratulated the winners.

In his 14-page article, Baker particularly points out the value of bridges to the State of Delaware and the farm economy. His study of highway records revealed that there are 385 such spans in the state which have more than a 20-foot span.

"Without the three bridges over the Chesapeake-Delaware Canal," he wrote, "travel between the northern and southern parts of the state would be impossible. The importance of the bridges was demonstrated a few years ago when the St. Georges Bridge was destroyed by collision of a freighter."

Baker's study also came up with the following observations on Delaware Memorial Bridge particularly: "While aiding in the solution of many of Delaware's (traffic) problems, the bridge has created some new ones. There has been a tremendous increase in the volume of traffic in northern Delaware so that the present roads will not handle traffic efficiently. To build the adequate approach roads, which are essential to the bridge, will be very costly.

"As the law exists, none of the excess money from the bridge tolls can be used on the roads. At the present rate the bridge will be paid for by 1960, after which the state will be responsible for maintaining the bridge. With the proper state and federal legislation, it would be possible to continue the toll charge at the bridge in order to finance the construction of costly approach roads. In pressing such legislation, Delaware would not be setting a precedent.

The Port Authority of Philadelphia and New Jersey obtained authorization to continue tolls on the Delaware River bridge at Philadelphia in order to finance the construction of an additional bridge. If the proper legislation was passed, allowing this additional source of income to be used for building approach roads, then Delaware's taxable income could be devoted to the state highways. That would mean a greater amount of money would be available for roads in Kent and Sussex Counties."

Baker further pointed out that a good agricultural economy is dependent upon a thriving industry.

"The most versatile... the finest in the field." That's the kind of talk you'll hear from users of the popular Planet Jr. BP-1 Tractor! You'll find the 1 1/2 H.P. engine supplies ample power for the full line of Planet Jr. Attachments for plowing, harrowing, seeding, cultivating, field mowing, snow plowing. In every season—month after month—you'll find practical uses for your Planet Jr. Tractor... save money and man-hours doing many jobs better. Now is the time to arrange for early delivery.

Taylor's Hardware Phone 63 Harrington

trial economy. "There is good distribution," he said, "of agriculture and industry in Delaware. New Castle County is considered to be mainly industrial, but there are a good many farms there also. Sussex County is classified as agricultural, but is also the site of some large manufacturing plants. In 1953 Delaware had an increase in cash farm income of about two per cent compared with a decrease of four per cent for the nation."

Attention was also called to the fact that fluid milk production requires good roads. The road is a prime factor in transporting milk from farm to central collection point, in shipment of quantities to distant markets, and in local house-to-house distribution. With the coming practice of tank truck collection of milk at the farms, the farm roads must be able to sustain these trucks and their loads throughout the entire year.

In summarizing his findings, which tend to prove that the state highway system is generally good and improving each day, Baker had this to say:

"Good roads give the people of the state a feeling of unity and well being. The city Delawarean may travel through the state and look upon the farmland with pride as he realizes the basic importance of agriculture. With good roads the farm family is able to travel some distance where a renowned speaker or a concert is appearing. These contributions of the highways are present every day in addition to the more common task of making possible the movement of supplies to the farm and the farm products to the markets."

Mother's Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Melvin Sr. were Mrs. Louisa Giffin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giffin Jr., of Hockessin; Marion Melvin, of Milford; Thomas Melvin Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, of Harrington; Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Melvin and children, Karen and Kirk, of Greenwood; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Melvin and Johnny, of Delmar, Md., and Mrs. Berdie Gray and grandson, Richard, of Cambridge, Md. Mrs. Melvin received many lovely gifts.

A survey made by the Crop Reporting Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicates that approximately 238.3 million pounds of vegetable seeds will be produced this year. This would be the largest crop since 1947 and would exceed last year's production by 11 per cent and the 1949-53 average by 20 per cent.

Farmers paid 174 million dollars in principal and interest in 1954 on Federal Land Bank loans obtained through national farm loan associations. This compares with 161 million in 1953. In 1954 farmers obtained 50,500 loans for 306 million. This was the largest amount of loans obtained by farmers in any year since 1934.

Social Security Law Allows Disabled "Frozen" Earnings

Seriously disabled people who used to work in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law, should get in touch with the Wilmington social security office by June 30 and find out about having their earnings record "frozen," Myron Milbourn, social security district manager, announced today.

Milbourn believes that many people in Delaware will be helped by the disability freeze provision in the 1954 social security amendments. This part of the law is designed to aid workers who become totally disabled after having worked for a certain number of years in employment or self-employment covered by social security. It provides that their social security rights will not decrease during the period of disability.

"Many disabled people now getting retirement payments," Milbourn pointed out, "can qualify under this provision for a larger benefit amount as of July. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors' payments, but only if he had applied for it before his death," he added.

Active military service in World War II and post-war periods and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work.

Although the law does not provide for the payment of cash social security retirement benefits before the worker reaches 65, it is nevertheless important that a disabled individual get in touch promptly with the Social Security Administration and establish the fact of his disability.

The law provides that the worker's earnings record may be "frozen" during the period of his disability. When this is done, his social security rights are protected in two ways:

His right to benefits will not expire as time goes by, and the amount of the payments he and his family will get when he is 65, and the amount his family will get in case of his death, will not be reduced.

"Before the wage record of a disabled worker can be protected under the law, it is necessary for him to make an application, establish that he is disabled, and to meet the other requirements of the law," the local manager stated. "We are glad to give full information to disabled workers who believe that they may be qualified, and to help them make application to have their social security records frozen."

The law permits freezing the wage records of workers who: Worked in employment or self-employment covered by social security for five years out of the 10 years before their disability started and for 1 1/2 years out of the three years before the disability started, and those who have been totally disabled for at least six months with a disability so severe that they are unable to do any substantial gainful work and will be disabled for a long and indefinite period.

Active military service after Sept. 15, 1940 and before July 1, 1955, and work in the railroad industry can be counted toward the required period of work. The law applies to people who were disabled before reaching 65, no matter how old they are now," Milbourn said.

The address of the Delaware social security office is 813 West Street, Wilmington. If a disabled worker is unable to call at the office, some other member of his family should inquire for him.

For the convenience of local residents, a representative of the Wilmington office is at the City Office Building, Milford, the first, second and third Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

How to Have Hair for a Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist Offers Written Guarantee WICHITA FALLS (Special) — R. Blaine Dixon, director of Merrill, Inc. Hair and Scalp Consultants, exploded the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview. "Baldness is unnecessary, costly, and a plague to mankind," says Dixon. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Merrill method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness — can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair — can make you look youthful again." Demonstration To Be Held in Harrington, Delaware This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Harrington, Delaware, Tuesday ONLY, May 17, at the Swains Hotel. Trichologist Paul Williams will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:00 P.M. on Tuesday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and no need for appointment. Reason For Baldness "There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and, yes, women, too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament — hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!" Hereditarily Not Involved Trichologist Dixon dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness — hereditary. "Mankind's unrealistic belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of

LONG-TERM HEALTH AND HOSPITALIZATION INSURANCE IS NEEDED

Long-term health and hospitalization insurance is a must. If reputable, private companies do not put this assurance on the market, then we are bound to have socialized medicine . . . period.

The high-cost of hospitalization, the exorbitant charge for surgery, could break the average man in a year and wipe out the savings of a life-time.

The result of these outrages tends to cause individuals to say, "Why save for sickness? We'll just let the Levy Court pay the bill or go to the veterans' hospital.

A reasonably priced, comprehensive health and hospitalization insurance policy, one which would provide for the patient continuously to death or survival, is a must.

We believe socialized medicine is on the way, regardless of how the medical profession looks at it.

It's rugged to have your savings wiped out in a year's time, but we have seen a sick man with substantial savings and hospitalization insurance, lose all in less than a year.

ONE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Most Americans believe in protecting their families with insurance. The home is protected by fire and burglary policies. Protection against premature loss of family income generally is provided by life insurance with disability benefits. Family health is safeguarded by hospitalization and surgical policy plans.

But there is a type of personal insurance based on the principle of "saving life instead of financially compensating for sickness, disability, or death.

Cancer—the nation's No. 2 killer—took an estimated death toll of 230,000 Americans last year. It threatens to invade most of our homes by attacking approximately one out of every four of the nation's people at some time in life.

How can we guard against the ravages of this pitiless family enemy?

American Cancer Society statistics show that the average cancer victim has a 50 per cent chance of recovery—but that can be "insured" only if the patient is treated in an early stage of the disease.

Early treatment of course depends on early diagnosis. Some types of cancer are revealed by easily recognizable early symptoms. Others, known as "silent cancers," can be detected in an initial form only by a doctor.

To insure against these enemies that lie in ambush for humans, every adult should have a yearly physical check-up. Men over 45 also should have twice-yearly chest x-ray and women over 35 a semi-annual pelvic examination.

The ACS is underwriting a three-point, nation-wide program to present cancer facts to physicians and public; to give needed service to patients; and to give financial support to cancer research—the long-range solution for this menace.

To make certain that that life-saving program will continue without interruption, you owe it to yourself to contribute generously to the cancer-control fund-raising campaign here. It will pay dividends in lives saved, and one of them may be your own.

Use Insecticides With Caution, Scientist Advises

Insecticides are essential to modern farming. Yet a word of caution concerning their use on vegetable crops is offered by V. R. Boswell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service. He bases his advice upon research done at a number of state experiment stations aimed at learning the effects of over-dosages of insecticidal material on flavor, aroma and texture of food products.

According to Boswell, research has disclosed no particular problem when insecticides are used strictly in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations. Undesirable effects may develop, however, if growers yield to the temptation to put on an extra amount "for good measure," or if they use an insecticide on a crop for which it is not recommended.

At the New Jersey State Experiment Station, it was found that soil treatments with 2 to 16 pounds of chlordane per acre and 25 to 50 pounds of toxaphene cause definite off-flavor in potatoes. These higher rates are considerably above normal. Chlordane also affected potato quality in studies by the Maine Experiment Station.

Louisiana-grown sweet potatoes from plots treated with chlordane at 26 pounds per acre were poorly textured and stringy. When the plant foliage was repeatedly dusted with heavy applications of 20 per cent toxaphene, the sweet potatoes lacked sweetness and flavor.

At the Irrigation Experiment Station, Prosser, Wash., there was variable impairment of quality by high rates of DDT or chlordane. Aldrin at 60 pounds per acre (the normal dose is three pounds) caused poor flavor in sweet corn and potatoes.

Since wide use of organic insecticides is new and experimental results vary with weather and soil conditions, it may take many years to get reliable information on all the materials now in use. Meanwhile, Boswell advises growers to use insecticides only when they are needed and then only at the recommended rates.

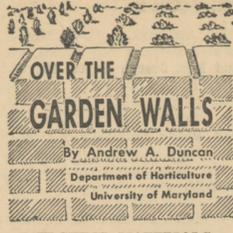

STOCKMAN CAN PROTECT SELVES AGAINST WEIGHT ERRORS

Some practical suggestions that livestock producers might follow in marking their livestock were pointed out at the recent fifth annual conference of the Maryland Weighs and Measures Association, held in Baltimore.

Giving the suggestions was R. D. Thompson, supervisor of scales and weighing, Livestock Division, Packers and Stockyards Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He said stockmen can protect themselves against errors or possible fraud by:

1. Dealing only at markets in which they have confidence.
2. If possible, going to the market and see the livestock weighed and sold and ask for a re-weigh if there is reason to believe they have not received an accurate weight.
3. Following market news reports and have a pretty good idea of the value of livestock before marketing.
4. Making sure the scale ticket and the account of the sale from the market agree.
5. Giving the State Department of Markets the support it needs in order to procure proper scale testing facilities and in the event of a weight controversy, reporting the facts to the Department of Markets.
6. In case of doubt or contro-

MULCHING MATERIALS

A mulch may be defined as any protective covering of the soil. The purpose of the mulch may be to control weeds, maintain more constant soil temperature or moisture or to keep the vegetables clean.

There are many inexpensive mulching materials available to home gardeners, including leaves, pine needles, grass clippings, straw, peanut hulls, ground corn-cobs, peat moss, sawdust, shavings, wood chips, newspaper, mulching paper, cardboard and aluminum foil.

Loose organic materials such as straw, leaves, sawdust, etc., may best be applied after the plants are established. Gardeners should use only the amount of loose mulch needed to control weeds. Too heavy an application of these water-holding mulches may be detrimental.

All of these loose woody mulching materials break down rather slowly, and nitrogen is needed in the early stages of decomposition. Usually 1/2 pound of nitrate of soda to a bushel is enough. If nitrate of soda is not available, 1 1/2 pounds of a 5-10-5 fertilizer or 1/2 pound of cyanamide may be substituted. Broadcast the loose mulching material as evenly as possible, using from three to five bushels per 100 square feet. Scatter the fertilizer uniformly on top of the mulch.

Heavy soils are loosened by these organic mulches and they help sandy soils hold water and fertilizer.

Do not be afraid the woody materials will make your soil too acid—any acidity can be corrected by the application of a little lime.

The paper materials such as newspaper, aluminum foil and mulching paper may be spread out before planting. Squares may be used for each plant or an entire row may be covered at once. Cross slits can then be cut in the paper at regular intervals and the plants or seeds placed through the slits into the soil.

Some gardeners prefer to put the paper down after planting, because in some cases it is easier to firm the soil around the plant roots.

In all cases paper mulches must be held down. Soil around the edges or laths over the top will keep them in place.

Try modifying paper mulches to meet the particular needs of your garden. You may find that a combination of paper and woody mulch gives best weed control and crop-plant growth under your conditions. One suggestion is to use paper over the row and loose woody mulch between the rows. This keeps moist organic material from close contact with stems and leaves of plants and thereby decreases the likelihood of disease.

If skillfully handled, mulches can greatly reduce laborious garden weeding and vastly increase vegetable yields and quality.

Use a mulch this summer and when you return from your vacation you will find your vegetable garden still in good condition.

Use a Starter Solution

A starter solution is a high analysis soluble fertilizer which is mixed with water and applied at planting time to tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, cabbage and other transplanted crops.

Several special formulations are available commercially, all of them are good. If used according to the manufacturer's directions, the starter solution will provide just the right amounts and kinds of plant foods in readily available form. Dissolved fertilizer in the root zone enables plants to recover quickly from transplanting, gives them a better chance for survival and makes them less susceptible to infection.

Should you be unable to find a special starter solution, you may make your own by mixing one level tablespoonful of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer with one gallon of water. Put one cup of the solution on each plant as you transplant them to the garden.

Fertilizer in this liquid form may also be used in hotbeds and cold frames or in greenhouses when plants do not seem to be growing properly or are off color.

Use care so as not to get the fertilizer solution on the leaves.

To see the striking difference a starter solution makes, use only plain water on some of your transplants.

Veterans News And Answers To Questions

Q—I am planning to attend a tax-supported state college under the Korean GI Bill. The school charges no tuition to residents of the state. As a Korean GI student, will I be required to pay anything?

A—The law gives the school the right to charge you an amount not in excess of the cost of teaching personnel and instructional supplies, up to a maximum of $10 a month for a full-time course.

Q—I entered the armed forces after Feb. 1, 1955, so, following my discharge, I will be considered a "peacetime veteran." If I am disabled in service, would it be possible for me, as a "peacetime veteran," to get disability compensation at a wartime rate?

A—Normally, peacetime veterans receive disability compensation at peacetime rates, which are 80 per cent of the wartime scale. However, if your disability were to result from extra-hazardous service, such as simulated warfare, you might be entitled to wartime rates.

Q—A friend of mine reported for active military duty as a result of a draft call. Within 20 days he was released from service because of personal hardship. Would he have 120-day free insurance coverage, even though he didn't serve 31 days or more? And would he be eligible to take out GI term insurance within the 120-day period.

A—So long as he was ordered to active duty for a period of 31 days or more, he would be entitled to the 120-day free coverage and to the GI term insurance. In his case, it would not be necessary for him actually to have served 31 days or more.

Q—I have a GI endowment policy, on which my dividends have been left on deposit, at interest. When the policy matures, I will want regular monthly payments rather than all the money in a lump sum. May I receive my dividends in regular monthly payments, too?

A—No. Your accrued dividends may be paid in a lump sum only.

HOG POPULATION UP

The world hog population hit a new high in 1954, according to the latest information available to the Foreign Agricultural Service. There were 319 million head, or six per cent more than a year earlier, nine per cent above the 1936-40 average, and about 30 per cent above the low level of 1946-50.

COFFEE NO. 1 IMPORT

In terms of dollar value, coffee still leads United States imports of all agricultural commodities despite a marked decline in volume of coffee imports since 1953. Rubber, which had held second place in value of agricultural imports during the pre-war period, 1935-39 and for the year 1952, yielded second place to sugar in both 1953 and 1954.

Kent Home Doings

By CHARLOTTE SWANSON
Kent County Home Demonstration Agent

The state Home Demonstration meeting on Tuesday, May 3, was a great success. Perhaps we should give special credit to the Kent County homemakers who helped to make it so. Mrs. Francis Raughley, Dover, was a member of the committee which made the plans. Luncheon was served by the WSCS of Wesley Methodist Church, and arrangements were made by Mrs. John S. Farrow, Magnolia. The Oak Grove Club acted as the hostess committee, and the Cee-W-Dee Club as the decorations committee.

Mrs. Arthur Short, Smyrna, president of the Kent County Home Demonstration Council, welcomed the group. Mrs. William Sterling, Dover, and Mrs. Duane Lynn, Milford, gave reports in the morning program.

Homemakers Short Course
Have you marked June 15 to 18 on your calendar? Those are the dates for the homemakers' short course at the University of Delaware. The program should be one of the best ever. You will hear about the details as soon as they are complete. We are planning to include many of the usual features, such as a square dance and tour.

Those who attend will be living in a college dormitory and eating in one of the college dining halls for the three-day short course. The cost will probably be $12.

Brownie News

April was a very busy month for our Harrington Brownies. Troop 21 made boxes and filled them with cream candies covered with tinted cocoanut that they had made in one meeting. These were given to their mothers for Easter. April 19 they hiked to the home of Sharon Walls in town. Mrs. Walls welcomed them and served them lemonade and home-made cookies. The girls had a wonderful time playing records, singing and dancing. Returning they found a robin's egg that had fallen from the nest. They are busy now making "sit-upons" from old newspapers.

Troop 131 has made their "sit-upons" and are collecting their birthday money for the Juliette Lowe Fund, which will be used to restore Mrs. Lowe's home in Georgia and to further Girl Scouting all over the world. These Brownies made pot-holders for their Mother's Day gift. Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. McNally donated the materials. Many of the girls had never used a needle before, but pretty pot-holders were the result.

Troop 127 made "sit-upons" and pot-holders, too. Great plans were made for a Brownie holiday, April 30 and May 1. The girls met at Mrs. Hopkins' home Saturday morning and Mrs. Cox took them to Petersburg Recreation Center in her bus. What a thrill, many of the girls had not ridden in a bus before. Lunch was carried, but the girls made lemonade on arrival. Mrs. Ray Cox and Mrs. Robert Smith spent some time with the girls, helping to get settled. After lunch Mrs. Hopkins laid a trail and the girls found at the end a pretty man-made pond, full of tadpoles, and circles of wild rose bushes. After a rest, the girls laid a trail for Mrs. Hopkins to a clearing where they wanted to cook their supper. At the end of the trail, the girls had broken sticks to print a neat "Here you are." Many lessons were learned while cooking a one-pot meal outside, including "start sooner when the pot is big and full." The evening was spent square dancing and toasting marshmallows. Then to bed, with each child on a cot in front of the fireplace. What a lot of giggling and whispering. Carol Smith was the first girl awakes Sunday morning at the hour of 6, but Mrs. Hopkins was already up. Breakfast was cooked on the wood stove with each girl ordering and serving her own. Then Mr. McNally and Mr. Hopkins took the girls on a hike through the woods.

It was an interesting nature hike. They saw wild flowers they had never seen and several kinds of wild animal tracks and even a rabbit. When they returned to the center, four men had brought their horses out in trailers and the horses were put through their paces while the girls watched. The girls enjoyed this very much. The girls then roasted hot dogs in the fireplace.

Those staying overnight were: Jan Cox, Gene Graham, Dawn Hopkins, Lyn Layton, Carol Smith, Carol McNally, Claudia Neaman, Janice Ralph, Jean Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNally and Chuck, Mr. and Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins and Kathy. At noon Sunday the girls' families came with a covered dish, and after dinner all returned home—to rest.

Friday evening, May 20, the Girl Scouts will hold a mother and daughter banquet at the Legion Home. We hope to make this an annual affair. Don't forget the District Girl Scout Rally to be held at the Moose Lodge grounds Saturday, May 21, at 10 a.m. The theme will be, "Believe, Build and Belong." Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Girl Scouts from Felton, Milford, Greenwood and Harrington will attend. Each girl is asked to bring her lunch, sit-upons, five cents for drink and five cents for registration and to be in uniform. Each troop should bring their Juliette Lowe contribution for presentation at this time. A full day of fun is planned for all. If it should be raining at 8:30 a.m., May 21, the rally will be held May 28.

ENTERTAINS WSCS

Esther Circle of the Women's Society for Christian Service, at Asbury Methodist Church, was entertained by Mrs. Edgar Dill, its leader, at her house Monday evening. Refreshments were served. The circle plans to have a children's fashion show as its fund-raising project for the year. The next meeting will be in August.

Melons and Lumber Strawn Over Highway

Watermelons and lumber were strewn over Route 13 early Monday in the rear-end collision of two trucks and tied up traffic for more than half an hour at Harrington.

Damage to the melons, lumber and the trucks was approximately $1,500.

State police at Bridgeville said Arthur Lee White, 26, of English-town, N. J., driver of the watermelon truck, owned by Sidney Gellman, Freehold, N. J., had stopped for a traffic light when a truck driven by Arthur Randolph Farlow, 30, Salisbury, Md., owned by the Shore Lumber Co., Fruitland, Md., struck the left rear corner of the truck.

Farlow was arrested on a charge of exceeding a safe speed with a truck. A hearing is pending.

The Mississippi Valley flood of 1927 took 313 lives and the Ohio River flood of 1913 killed 467 people.

ST. STEPHEN'S EPISCOPAL

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's gave a surprise shower for Mrs. Walter Winkler, at the home of Mrs. Robert McNally. The living room was decorated with spring flowers—iris, tulips and spirea. On the table a large stork with flowers surrounding it and tall candles at each side, formed the centerpiece. Refreshments, served buffet style, consisted of punch, angel food and chocolate cake, nuts and mints. The favors were tiny booties, pink and blue, filled with candies. The honoree was presented with a bathinette, which was also filled with gifts from individual members of the auxiliary.

Besides the hostess and honor guest, those present included Mesdames Frank Winkler, John Dodenhoff, Robert E. Baynard, Alfred Sharp, Granville Hill, Augustus Raughley Jr., Robert L. Nelson, Edwin C. Brown Sr., George Thompson and Miss Florence Emory.

The beautiful white flowers on the altar Sunday were in memory of Mrs. Amy L. Stone's mother and sister.

On Wednesday, May 11, several members of St. Stephen's will attend the 170th annual convention of the Diocese of Delaware at Middletown.

Broiler Growers Qualify For Producing Honors

Broiler growers who have qualified for Delaware's "Broiler Producers of the Month" Club are Elmer Cooper, Selbyville; Mrs. Florence Lecates, Laurel; Warren McGee, Greenwood; Clifton Brasure, Dagsboro; Fred Sturgis, Milton; Mrs. Flora King, Laurel, and William Pettyjohn, Milton.

All of these growers were nominated by their feed dealers as the top producer for last month on the basis of feed efficiency. The average weight of these flocks was 3.63 pounds, with a 3.0 feed efficiency and 3 per cent mortality. Birds were sold and moved off the farm at an average age of 11 weeks.

Good management was the most important factor in obtaining these results, according to Silas McHenry, assistant poultry specialist. All kinds of feed and breeds of chicks were represented. Under this program, each dealer is permitted to nominate one producer each month. At the annual DPIA banquet next year, the top producers will be awarded certificates in recognition of their ability to raise a superior flock of broilers.

At least three-fourths square foot of floor space per chick was allowed in each of these flocks. Elmer Cooper had 9/10 sq. ft. per chick in the house where he got the best results. "I used to put 6,000 chicks in this house," he said; "now I start 3600 chicks and sell as many pounds of meat as I did with the 6000." All broiler growers in the state are now allowing much more room than they did a few years ago.

Small pens are becoming more popular. "It's a little more work to take care of the chicks in small pens, but it seems to pay off," one grower remarked. Most of the above growers had only two or three stoves in each pen, and 300-400 chicks per stove. Coal, gas and oil stoves are the most popular.

One-gallon glass jars (one per 100 chicks) was used for 16 days to two weeks. Four-foot automatic water troughs (three to six per pen of 1,000 chicks) were connected up when the chicks were a few days old. Water fountains were cleaned once or twice a day.

Nearly all growers started feeding on box lids. Some changed to a small three- or four-foot metal feeder when chicks were about one week old; others waited till chicks were two to three weeks old and then started using the five-foot metal broiler feeder. Number of feeders averaged 16 per 1,000 chicks; the largest number used was 25 per 1,000.

All of the chicks were debarked, either at one day of age in the hatchery, or later on in the poultry house. About half of the above growers vaccinated once for New Castle at 10 days of age; the others vaccinated twice—at four to seven days of age and repeated at four to five weeks of age. Part of them vaccinated for tracheitis at four to five weeks of age.

More pellets are being fed.

Some of these flocks were fed mash for three weeks, then pellets for the rest of the growing period. All of the growers fill the feeders less than half full, to prevent feed wastage by "bill-ing." Part of the flocks were fed only twice a day; some were fed four to five times a day. Most of the flocks were fed a low-level caccidiostat.

All of these growers clean and wash down their houses between flocks, scrub the equipment, and put in new litter. They all start their brooder stoves a day or two ahead of time to make sure they are operating properly, and set up the equipment in advance. Ventilation is checked constantly, and the birds given good care.

As part of this "Grow Better Broilers Program," all growers nominated for the "Broiler Producer of the Month" Club are visited by the county agricultural agent and extension poultryman. Dealers who are interested in nominating one of their growers should contact their county agent: New Castle County, Edward Schabinger or Ralph Barwick, Box 150, Newark; Kent County, George Vapaa, Post Office Building, Dover; Sussex County, William Henderson or Ray Lloyd, Post Office Building, Georgetown.

Ticks and Termites Can Be Controlled

Ticks, termites and tree trouble (boxwood leaf miner), if you have these problems right now, can be controlled. Here are some suggestions from the University of Delaware.

May, June and July are the so-called "tick season" in Delaware. The common American tick attaches itself to both man and animals and may transmit Rocky Mountain spotted fever. The brown dog tick is scarce and occurs only on dogs—it's a kennel and household problem.

Keep your dogs away from infested areas as much as possible. Examine your dogs and yourself daily for ticks. Remove the ticks with tweezers, not with the fingers. Put iodine on the point of a tick.

Another good suggestion is to protect your dogs with DDT. You can use two tablespoons of 10 per cent DDT dust rubbed into the hair, or a dip using one-half pound of 50 per cent wettable powder in three gallons of water.

A third control method is to dust tick-infested areas at four-week intervals with one of the following: Five per cent chlordane or toxaphene (one pound per 1000 square feet or 50 pounds per acre), or 10 per cent DDT (two pounds per 1000 square feet or 30 pounds per acre). The same rates are effective for chigger-infested areas.

Do I Have Termites?
As for termites, it's a 50-50 chance you do have them, according to Dr. L. A. Stearns, head of the entomology department at the University of Delaware. He says termites can be confused with winged ants. However, termites have a thick waistline and long, white opaque wings of equal size, while winged ants have a pinched-in waist and transparent wings of unequal size.

"Termite control is never an emergency," he adds. "Reliable exterminator companies operating in Delaware will not attempt to stampede the home-owner into immediate action."

If you have termites, request a copy of Bulletin 1911 from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark. You can often handle the termite situation yourself, Dr. Stearns points out.

Boxwood Leaf Miner
This pest of tree box or American box is quite common. The larvae are small yellowish maggots which work within the leaves and produce oval blisters. Heavy infestations cause shedding of foliage and weaken plants seriously.

Orange-colored, gnat-like flies (adult stage of the boxwood leaf miner) emerge between May 7 and May 15. Spray the boxwood with DDT and repeat the application in 10 days. Use three tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder in three gallons of water. To control mites add Aramite at the rate stated on the package.

COWS RESPOND TO EXTRA CARE BEFORE FRESHENING

Results of proper fitting of dry cows can be surprising, says County Agent George Vapaa.

One of the tests proving this was made at the Indiana Agricultural Experiment Station. Cows properly fitted before freshening averaged 25 per cent or more in milk production in their following lactation than cows that were poorly fitted, Vapaa says.

The rest period for a cow should be six to eight weeks, he continues, reminding dairymen that two-thirds of the growth of the unborn calf is made during the last two months of pregnancy.

Well-fitted cows usually have their calves easier and produce healthier offspring.

No cow should be permitted to dry off in poor flesh. Any cow with such a tendency should be fed at greater than the normal rate in the last two or three months of lactation. Stored-up fat is available for use right after freshening and makes possible a normal increase in milk yield before it is advisable to feed grain heavily.

The county agent says that more dairymen are finding it pays to give first calf heifers a little longer dry period than older cows or to make sure that ample roughage and good quality grain are fed for at least two months. For a heavy milking two-year-old, there is little chance for growth. Theudder of such a heifer needs rest for further development.

Market For Corn Cobs Reported Growing

More than a million tons of corn cobs were used last year in factory operations and industrial products. They returned 10 million dollars to farmers and rural cob grinders, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Owing largely to research carried out by the USDA and private industry, use of corn cobs in industry has been increasing sharply—80 per cent in the past five years.

The department estimates that total production of corn cobs runs to about 15 million tons a year, with more than half of this in Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Indiana and Minnesota. Most of this tremendous supply is still burned or otherwise disposed of as waste.

Here are some of the many things for which corn cobs are now used: About half the total collected and sold goes into production of the chemical furfural, which is required for making nylon, synthetic rubber, pharmaceuticals and resins, for petroleum refining, and as an industrial solvent. The remaining half million tons is used in a great variety of ways—for incorporation into livestock feeds; in cleaners and polishes for metal, glass, plastic and molded rubber items; for airblast cleaning of engine parts and large electric motor and generator installations; as a carrier for insecticides, and as a constituent of plastics and tread stock for automobile snow tires.

Thousands of tons of cobs—either whole or coarsely ground—are used for poultry litter, livestock bedding, garden mulch, and for filling lowland areas, preventing erosion. Many farmers return crushed or ground cobs to fields to loosen heavy soils and maintain humus.

With the door now open to practical uses for this important farm residue, further expansion of cob collection and utilization can be expected.

Study Shows Dairy Farmers Get More For Bulk Milk

A recent study by the Farmer Cooperative Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that producers receive an average of slightly over 12 cents per hundredweight more for milk collected from refrigerated tanks than the average in their area for milk collected in conventional cans.

John P. Dietrich, University of Maryland Extension dairyman, says that some of this extra income is gained in the form of premiums offered by milk plants for bulk milk, and may represent a subsidy from the plant to speed transition to the new system rather than actual economies thus far due to the changeover.

"Nevertheless," Dietrich points out, "the FCS concluded that bulk milk handling offers considerable promise of eventually increasing returns to the producer, the hauler and the plant through lower costs, better milk quality, and expanded markets."

The study showed that benefits are more quickly realized when the change-over is rapid and well-integrated among producers, haulers and plants.

The bulk tank system of collecting milk first appeared among large dairy farms in California about 15 years ago. Since then it has gradually spread to other parts of the country. In mid-1953 approximately 275 milk-receiving plants in 30 states were obtaining deliveries from more than 600 farm tank trucks serving about 6,200 farms equipped with bulk milk tanks. This represents roughly about one per cent of all milk plants and commercial dairy farms in the United States.

Dietrich estimates there are about 465 bulk tanks on Maryland dairy farms. About 15 plants in Maryland and the District of Columbia are receiving milk by the bulk method.

The FCS survey indicated that bulk milk handling, like most other farm mechanization, lends considerably greater economic advantage to larger volume operations. Among plants included in the FCS survey, bulk shippers averaged 1,015 pounds per day, grade A can shippers averaged 525 pounds, and ungraded can shippers averaged 210 pounds. A 300-gallon bulk tank was the most common-sized unit in use on the farms surveyed. One of the difficulties for the small producer is the large cash investment required to install a refrigerated farm tank for bulk collection.

June 1 Deadline For Entries In Jr. Broiler Program

Entries are now being accepted for the 1955 Delaware Junior Broiler program. The deadline for turning in entry cards is June 1. The program gets under way officially July 6, when contestants will receive their 50 wing-banded chicks.

Any boy or girl between 10 and 19 years of age is eligible to participate in the contest, which is sponsored by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association and Agricultural Extension Service. Entry cards must be signed by a parent and either a vo-aga teacher or 4-H club agent.

Contestants are encouraged to get their own chicks from a nearby source, keeping in mind that they want meat-type birds from a pullorum-typhoid clean source. Delaware hatcherymen are donating some chicks for contestants who are unable to purchase their own. Those obtaining free chicks must give them good care, and feed a commercial mash.

Boys and girls participating in the project will receive help and supervision from their advisors through a series of mimeographed information letters and by training meetings.

Each contestant will select six cockerels for dressing, judging and displaying at the close of the project, and will be responsible for delivering them to a place to be designated at a later date. These six birds will become the property of the committee, to be used to help cover expenses.

These prizes will be awarded to contestants raising the best birds: First, $25, plus a trophy; second, $20; third, $15; fourth, $10; fifth through 10th place, $7.50 each, and 11th through 20th, $5 each. Certificates of merit also will be precent of all bulk milk shippers surveyed were equipped with milking parlors and pipeline milking systems. The great majority had adapted their bulk tanks to conventional stanchion-type barns and machine-bucket milkers.

About 75 per cent of all plants surveyed indicated that average farm-to-plant bulk hauling rates were lower than average can hauling rates. The savings ranged from 2 to 20 cents per hundredweight, the most common figure being five cents. These hauling-rate savings, combined with plant premiums, brought the average direct-cash benefits to producers to slightly over 12 cents per hundredweight of milk.

sent to winners of the first four places.

An awards banquet will be held at the close of the project. At this time the dressed birds will be on display and prizes will be awarded.

McDowell Bill Favors Excluding Silage Corn

Congressman Harris B. McDowell Jr. announced that he introduced Tuesday, H.R. 6107 pertaining to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, having to do with the acreage allotments of corn.

This legislation will provide for the elimination of that acreage planted in silage corn from the regular corn allotments under the Agriculture Administration. At this time all corn, whether it be for commercial or for silage, is counted in the maximum corn allowed to be grown on those farms which are signed up under the parity support program.

The enactment of this legislation should give encouragement to more efficient production methods for dairy farmers and livestock feeders. It will also encourage larger acreages to be planted in silage corn, thus reducing the surplus of the commercial crop.

Junior-Senior Band Dinner

Last Friday evening the members of the Junior and Senior Bands, together with their parents and families, enjoyed a delicious dinner of baked ham and everything that goes with it. Each family brought a covered dish and from the little that was left, everyone must have enjoyed what they ate.

Miss Hazel Johnson and her sister, Miss Lydia Johnson, served and arranged the settings, and they reported an attendance of 140 persons as being present.

After the dinner, Mr. Brobst, assisted by the president of the Band Booster Club, Mrs. Frank Sharp, under whose sponsorship the dinner was held, presented a surprise program. A picture of each junior and senior class member present was shown on the screen. The picture was of one taken when the member was aged 6 or younger. There was one picture of Mr. Brobst at the age of 5, and the one of Mr. Messner was taken during his first year of marriage, when he was sporting a mustache. These pictures were secured secretly from parents, and none of the members knew that they would be presented.

The final activity of the evening was the presentation of awards. Each Junior Band member received a pin, 8th grade members in the Senior Band also received pins, 9th graders received felt letters, and the juniors received chenille letters with a bar for each year of band membership. Gifts were given to each senior.

It is hoped that this event will be held annually.

MAKING MORE ROOM IN BATH IS NOT COSTLY

Set your sights high and you're bound to keep on improving. This holds for bathroom planning, too. If you're remodeling, don't avoid looking over luxurious bathroom designs. They may give you fresh ideas that can be adapted to your more limited budget.

Extra storage space, a vanity table around the wash basin, ceramic tile from floor to ceiling are not costly ideas impossible to realize. They're worth saving and planning for because they pay off in convenience, health and comfort.

PROTECT FROM WIND

When you hang a coat on the line to air or to be brushed, put two coat hangers in it, going the opposition direction. This way, the wind will not blow the coat off.

CANCER FUND DRIVE NOTES

The American Cancer Society fund drive in Harrington, which is sponsored by the Harrington New Century Club, will end May 21.

The committee members will be unable to call at each home for donations, and they are requesting that you deposit your contribution with the Peoples Bank of Harrington, payable to the American Cancer Society. Mr. Howard Wagner is acting as treasurer of the fund. Your deposit slip will be your receipt.
