ASSEMBLY CLEARS DECKS FOR TWO WEEKS' RECESS

Members of the 1955 General Assembly, hollow-eyed after an all-night session that cleared the decks for a two-week recess, quit Dover at dawn Saturday with general satisfaction as the results of their last-minute efforts.

Approved and on their way to Gov. J. Caleb Boggs were bills that would:

- Create a state correctional system, an objective that has been sought for the past 12 years.
- Authorize new Delaware Memorial Bridge revenue bonds that could be used to pay for express highways, other roads and additional river crossings.
- Permit dog racing in New Castle County.
- Create the office of state medical examiner.
- Clear the way for a slum clearance program in Wilmington.
- Authorize a $10,000,000 bond issue to pay for hard-surfacing all remaining dirt roads in the state.

The assemblymen also put the first "leg" on a proposed constitutional amendment that would clear the way for bingo games to be sponsored by certain non-profit organizations.

And they voted to set up a special committee to look into legislative controls on bingo before the amendment goes before the 1957 General Assembly for final passage.

Also approved were "money" bills, authorizing the state to carry a $27,637,900 share in a school construction program for the next two years; to spend $14,000,000 on new highways, and an additional $7,095,983.56 on various other capital improvements.

These programs would be financed out of bond issues authorized in the bills.

On the other hand, a supplemental appropriation bill that would have added $1,287,488 to the funds available to state agencies during the current biennium, ran off the track and will apparently have to wait till after the recess for passage.

The Senate turned down a House amendment that would have added $765,000 in school funds to make up for cuts in the confinement bill, and the House refused to pass the bill in its original form.

Other bills which were "hot" in the hours just before recess but wound up out in the cold were the FEPC and State Department of Labor proposals, and a bill that would have set aside two per cent of the state's motor fuel tax receipts for maintenance of Wilmington streets.

Also missing in the ranks of passed bills was a second gambling amendment, a proposal that Senator Elwood F. Melson Jr. (R-Claymont) pushed through the upper chamber. It never reached a vote in the House.

In their final push for a two-week vacation, both houses started working about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The Senate finally adjourned at 5:34 a.m., the House at 6:23.

Both House and Senate have scheduled skeleton sessions every weekday during the two-week respite. No calendars will be printed and no major business transacted. But the assemblymen want to be sure somebody's there to receive the vetoes that are expected to roll back from Gov. J. Caleb Boggs.

EDUCATIONAL FILM NOW AVAILABLE

United States Senator J. Allen Frear Jr. announced today that a new 30-minute film entitled "Headquater's U.S.A." which is in the nature of a pictorial tour of Washington's most famous landmarks, will soon be available for showing to club and school groups and other organizations in Delaware.

Arrangements to obtain the film for showings can be made by writing to Senator Frear at the Senate Office Building in Washington. The senator emphasized that there would be no charge or expense in connection with the loaning of the film to Delaware groups.

Frederica Clings To Slight Lead In Mar-Del Baseball League With 6-3 Win

Mar-Del League Standings table with columns for Team, W, L, Pct. Frederica leads with 8 wins and 3 losses.

Frederica was still in front of a close Mar-Del League baseball race this week, after beating one of its closest challengers. The league leaders triumphed over third-place Wyoming Sunday, 6-3, to remain a half-game in front.

Dick Greenfield tamed Wyoming with four hits, walking seven but striking out 10. The winners stroked Don Olliver for 10 hits, including a three-run homer by Harry Fisher in the fourth and a double and two singles by Marvin Brown.

Second place Milton kept pace with a 9-1 conquest of Milford as Bob Millman collected four hits and scored three runs. Gil Darby, spacing seven hits, was the pitching victor.

Buck Thompson's home run with one on and two out in the bottom of the ninth broke a 7-7 tie and gave Farmington a 9-7 decision over Felton, putting the losers in last place. Len Outten went the route to best three Felton pitchers. Ray Vincent's three bingles led the Farmington offensive.

Adios Harry Matches Record With 1:55 Mile

Horsemen predicted this week the fastest time ever turned in by a trotter or pacer will be in the books before many weeks, now that Adios Harry has matched Billy Direct's 17-year-old world pacing record of 1:55 for a mile.

The time turned in by the four-year-old son of Adios, Saturday night over Vernon Downs' six-furlong track, actually was a better performance than Billy Direct registered over Lexington's mile oval in 1938.

Billy Direct did his against a watch in a time trial. Adios Harry's performance was in a race and lowered his own competitive mark from the 1:55 2/5 he hung up only a week ago at Vernon Downs.

In the speed ratings of the U.S. Trotting Association, the Vernon Downs track, which has a chute, is classed the same as a mile course.

Adios Harry, owned by J. Howard Lyons of Greenwood, and driven by Luther Lyons, also came close to his own two-heat mark when he paced the second mile of the $26,000 American Pacing Derby in 1:57. His combined times of 3:52 compared to the mark of 3:51 3/5 he hung up a week earlier, when he added a 1:56 1/5 mile to his 1:55 2/5.

SPRAY PROTECTS FRUITS FROM JAP BEETLE

If the beautiful, but destructive, Japanese beetle is present in your vicinity this summer, you will need to provide some protection for any ripening fruit or berries on your land. A spray prepared with five ounces of derris (containing four per cent rotenone) to 10 gallons of water, will drive Japanese beetles away from ripening apples, peaches, plums, cherries, grapes and berries, according to Dr. L. A. Stearns, head of the department of entomology at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Stearns says the active ingredient in this spray—rotenone—is comparatively non-poisonous to human beings, but it is both poisonous and distasteful to the beetles. The spray should be repeated at seven-day intervals for as long as necessary.

Plants which are not being eaten can be protected from Japanese beetles by spraying with three ounces of 50 per cent wettable DDT or five ounces of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor in 10 gallons of water. This spray, or one containing equivalent amounts of emulsifiable liquid DDT or methoxychlor, should be repeated as needed to maintain a protective coating on the plants until the beetles disappear.

DDT and methoxychlor are poisonous and should be handled strictly in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions, with the usual precautions to protect children and pets.

Brazil has doubled the import tax by which it raises funds for social security.

In the speed ratings of the U.S. Trotting Association, the Vernon Downs track, which has a chute, is classed the same as a mile course.

SEN. FREAR REVIEWS HIGHLIGHTS OF ACTIVITIES IN U. S. SENATE

The sudden and most unfortunate illness of the distinguished majority leader, Senator Johnson, left the Senate momentarily without the dramatic and highly successful direction with which its legislative activities had been guided during the past six months.

However, when it was determined that Senator Johnson would not be able to resume his position until January, the able colleague from Kentucky, Sen. Earle Clements, who holds the position of majority whip, took over as acting leader.

Delawareans will remember Sen. Clements well. He has visited our state on a number of occasions and in 1952 addressed the Democratic State Convention.

By virtue of the time and effort spent earlier on important legislative matters by Sen. Johnson prior to his illness, the Senate appears able to go forward rapidly with the remainder of its program and thus can anticipate adjournment by approximately July 13.

As a matter of fact, the Senate in its consideration of legislation is now farther along than the House of Representatives. Usually the situation is just reverse, with the lower chamber being well advanced in its program, while the Senate lags behind.

A quick glance at work already completed by Congress may provide an indication of the scope and significance of its record.

In matters of national defense and internal security, Congress has authorized the President to use armed forces in the defense of Formosa; extended to July 1, 1959, the Selective Service Act; authorized a 2 1/3 billion dollar program of construction at domestic and foreign bases of the armed forces, including additional military family housing that has been badly needed.

The Senate and the House have also passed and sent to the President a 237 million dollar program for projects of the Atomic Energy Commission.

In the field of government reorganization Congress has approved legislation to increase the salaries of post office employees and other government workers as well as federal judges, district attorneys and its own membership.

It has also approved a bill to raise the standards and improve the quality of personnel for the important Foreign Service Division of the Department of State.

In the field of international affairs legislative action has been completed and the President has signed the bill extending our reciprocal trade agreements act.

An authorization of over three billion dollars for foreign economic and military aid has also been approved, although some of us have strong reservations as to the necessity for such a large amount of money for this project.

A significant concurrent resolution which reaffirms the desire of the people of the United States for an honorable and lasting peace and which invites people of the world to join in an effort to obtain it, has also been adopted by the Congress.

Important and far-reaching treaties have been ratified by the Senate. They include among others the mutual defense treaty of Southeast Asia, the agreement between the United States and Germany, the treaty for mutual defense between the United States and the Republic of China, and the treaty for re-establishment of an independent and democratic Austria.

In the matters affecting the national economy, action has been completed on legislation extending the corporate income tax and the existing excise tax schedule.

Many of us are hopeful and desirous of achieving a reduction in taxes before the 84th Congress finally adjourns next year. The Renegotiation Act has been extended for two years by Congress and a temporary increase in the debt limit has been approved.

The Senate has voted to raise the minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 and the House action is expected shortly. Legislation is still pending in the House to revise and expand the program of federal aid for highways. This is quite a controversial subject and there is presently some doubt as to whether a workable bill will be finally approved this year.

The needs of veterans and service men have also received sympathetic congressional attention. Among bills acted upon are those which: continue the accrual of educational benefits of individuals in the armed forces, an incentive pay increase for members of the armed forces, an extension of the provision of the Dependence Assistance Act, the authorization of loans to veterans for farm homes under the same terms as for residential housing, the establishment of a permanent privilege for free importation of gifts from members of the armed services abroad, and the extension for another year of the law authorizing continued pay for service personnel missing or captured in Korea.

In the field of agriculture at least eight measures have been enacted into law so far this year. They relate to such subjects as acreage allotments, emergency and disaster loans, soil conservation and others.

Natural resources have been covered in the work of Congress through bills which authorize funds for protection and repair of flood control works; the establishment of a research program for the development and use of saline waters and a series of reclamation projects of importance to the middle western and western states.

Finally in the category of Social Security, health and welfare, action has been completed on an important bill to increase the authority of the Federal Housing Administration to insure mortgages.

In this connection, an overall omnibus housing bill, providing for a continuation of public housing, has been approved by the Senate and is now before the House of Representatives. Action is still incomplete on legislation providing for federal aid to states for the construction of new schools.

I should like to cover also the status of Appropriation bills, but time does not permit. May I emphasize, however, that funds have been approved by the Senate for a number of important public works projects in Delaware, including one to begin the design of a new summit bridge across the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

This brief resume of Congressional affairs, though far from complete, may give some indication of what the Senate and House of Representatives have been doing since January.

It can be expected that additional important legislation will be completed in the remaining weeks before adjournment.

Air-Conditioned Broilers Tested At Substation

Poultry flocks raised in air-conditioned rooms will be shown to the public Aug. 3 during the annual Farm Field Day at the Agricultural Research Substation on the Georgetown-Laurel Road.

Four rooms of broilers are now under test at the substation to determine the best temperature and humidity for raising broilers most economically. The work is conducted by the University of Delaware.

The four rooms are sealed and insulated. You can set the temperature at any level between 60 and 90 degrees F. Humidity can be controlled anywhere from 40 to 100 per cent. Artificial lights are the only light source. A fifth room raises birds under regular conditions as a "control room" for comparison.

"By the use of these rooms we hope to learn the ideal conditions for raising broilers to maximum weight with minimum feed consumption," says Dr. E. F. Waller, chairman of the department of animal and poultry industry at the University of Delaware.

The five rooms are 12x12 ft., with 150 chicks in each room. The chicks are all started under the same conditions, in batteries or floor pens. They are moved to the experimental rooms at four weeks of age. All chicks are fed the same ration throughout the growing period and all rooms are equipped with automatic waterers.

Recording instruments keep a continuous record of humidity and temperature. Periodic chemical analysis checks the amount of ammonia in the air.

This research is part of a regional project in poultry housing in cooperation with the 13 northeastern states. Most of the other 12 states are concerned with laying house construction and management.

Visitors attending Field Day Aug. 3 will also see flocks growing under the fifth broiler strain test. Ten broiler breeds or crosses are under study with 800 chicks from each breed. The fifth flock was started July 13.

The poultry disease diagnostic laboratory, operated by the State Board of Agriculture, will demonstrate diagnostic tests and procedures.

Added Benefits for Non-Group Unit

Non-group members of Blue Cross—those members who pay their dues individually to the Blue Cross office instead of through groups—have their annual opportunity to add Blue Shield surgical-medical coverage this month.

This was announced by Robert C. Denzier, assistant managing director of Group Hospital Service, Inc.

The non-group Blue Cross members who desire to do so may request an application for Blue Shield coverage by calling or writing the Blue Cross at Dover, Milford, Seaford or Wilmington, before August 1.

Blue Shield surgical-medical coverage is already taken by a high proportion of Delaware's Blue Cross members—who number about two-thirds of all the people in the state. The extra coverage of the Blue Shield Plan is available at extra cost, but non-group members have the opportunity to add it to their Blue Cross hospital coverage only once a year. All Blue Cross members 65 years of age or under may arrange for the Blue Shield coverage.

Lamb Prices Drop In Retail Stores; Chops Remain High

Lamb prices have declined in most stores this week under the pressure of slack summer demand. Leg of lamb and shoulder cuts are among the best choices. Pork prices are up slightly on chops as more people turn to meats that can be cooked without using the oven.

Shrimp prices are at a new high for the year. Less expensive seafood items include scallops, frozen fish sticks and fresh flounder, cod, whitefish, whiting, bluefish and mackerel. Frozen fillets of perch, cod and haddock also are good buys.

Many fresh vegetables are selling at seasonally low prices. There are several opportunities to save money by home canning and freezing. Snap beans, lima beans, potatoes, green corn, peppers and cucumbers all are quite low in price and easy to prepare for current use or storage.

Canned goods stocks are low for many seasonal items, and some prices are strengthening. Corn prices have moved up slightly on at least one brand. Pea prices are expected to rise due to poor growing conditions in major producing areas.

Salad vegetables among the week's best buys include tomatoes, celery, radishes, carrots and green onions. Lettuce prices are stronger but prices still are reasonable.

Pesticide Law Effective Today
July 22, 1955 is the date that all farmers would do well to note, according to the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. This is the date that the so-called "Miller Bill" becomes effective.
An amendment to the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, this bill is designed to protect the public from harmful residues on agricultural food products. It applies to all raw fruits, vegetables, grains, nuts, eggs, meat, raw milk and similar produce moving in interstate commerce.

Gov. Boggs Is Host At Incorporation of State Industrial Development Group checks issued. The full committee will meet on a quarterly basis, according to the by-laws adopted, with the next session scheduled in October. The executive committee will function in the interim between full-scale meetings, with power to act for the whole group, it was pointed out. Committee plans are to raise through subscription a minimum sum of $28,000 for the first year's effort in industrial promotion work. The program includes national advertising, billboard advertising within the state and printing and distribution of a brochure listing the state's potential to new industries or those planning expansion programs. The purposes of the committee as described in the certificate of incorporation are as follows: "To cause the industrial advantages possessed by Delaware to become more widely known and recognized. Lt. Gov. John W. Rollins Sr., who served as chairman of the old committee, was named president; Lloyd R. Leslie, Delaware Power and Light Co., first vice-president; Ford Warrington, Sussex Trust Co., Laurel, second vice-president; Miles L. Frederick, Development Department director, secretary, and Ernest W. Keith, Dover attorney, treasurer. Under the by-laws adopted by the organization, an executive committee will be named, and Mr. Rollins said he would appoint those members some time this week. A five-man fund raising committee to begin its duties immediately, will also be appointed, Mr. Rollins declared. The new committee member introduced at Monday's session was Edward P. Neilan, Equitable-Security Trust Co., Wilmington, who replaced Eluthere I. duPont. The treasurer was instructed to open a bank account in which to deposit committee funds, and signatures of any two of three officers, the president, secretary and treasurer will be required on all children, to get them to a summer camp. And there's Mr. Wheeler's Park. All those things are wonderful for those that can't get away from home. I have told everyone up here about his park. And all seemed so interested. And what have you done, Dorothy Price, about your chicken business? Do you remember telling me about it in the Acme store? I could eat some of that fried chicken right now. You know that I am counting the days till races are over. Dave says they are just starting. I can dream, can't I? So long till next week. 3 Lesters Billed As Comedy Plus Acrobatic Skill

The Marx Brothers won't be billed on the program, but grandstand patrons at the Kent and Sussex Fair will see them every night from July 25 to July 30 when the Three Lesters bounce onto the stage.

With a new switch on a standard act, these outstanding trampoline artists, dressed as the famous Chico, Harpo and Groucho, will keep audiences in stitches with their hilarious routines on the bounding bedsprings. Comedy and acrobatic skill combine to make the Three Lesters one of the finest of the new acts appearing in the east this year. Complete with smoking cigar and perpetual leer, the performer dressed as Groucho does a rib-tickling series of somersaults and turns without losing either his equilibrium or his cigar. The trio combines in a fast-paced riot of hectic maneuvers ending in a smashing surprise climax that cannot be revealed here if the reader is to appreciate these irrepressible clowns to the utmost.

An outstanding success in Europe for many years, the Three Lesters are making their first tour of the United States this season under contract to George A. Hamid and Son of New York City. Grandstand patrons are in for a real treat when they see the comedy find of the year, the Three Lesters.

France's passenger car output is up around 57,000 a month this year.

Typical Pacing Scene at County Fair

Spread across the track and charging down the homestretch comes this field of pacers in a typical race scene to be witnessed this season at county fair tracks across the nation. Harness racing sessions at more than 500 tracks are scheduled including over 400 county fair locations.

LEWES DRIVER SCORES IN FEATURE AT GEORGETOWN

For the first time this season, it was Johnny Martin night at the Georgetown Speedway last Saturday night. Martin, popular stock car jockey from Lewes, scored victories in the second qualifying heat and then made a repeat performance in the 25-lap feature contest. His win record for the current season at the Georgetown oval stands at five heats, two consolation and five features, out of the seven main attractions that have been presented. As usual, he drove his Brown No. 39, which is owned by Melvin Prettyman and Doug Morgan, with the motor by Hudson B-os.

Last week's main 25-lap battle was strongly contested several times starting in the 10th round. Eighteen starters took the go signal, with Windy Bailey jumping to the front of the pack out of the pole position. Bailey hung on until the 10th lap, when Norris

Reed went by on the outside to become No. 1 man. Reed led for one lap until he tangled with Bud Harrington on the second turn, losing three positions in the process. As Reed was losing ground, Bailey went back to the front, and held until the 13th lap, when Martin, who had worked his way up from 15th starting slot, took charge. On the next turn of the half-mile oval, Paul Walker went into second place, where he worked steadily toward the lead car until at the checkered flag, to the cheering delight of the standing crowd, he was only half a car length in back of Martin, to finish a disheartening second. Walker drove the White 4-D of the Niblett Bros. Bailey, who drove most of the race in first spot, and never less than third, had to drop out in the final lap with motor trouble to finish in 10th place.

A special event, which has been lined up by the management of the Georgetown Speedway for next Saturday night, should prove of much interest to the Georgetown fans. Scheduled is a grudge race to be run with five cars, including Johnny Martin, Paul Walker, Horace Williams, Lawrence Tucker and Lou Johnson. This will be another added attraction for the same admission price.

American tourists now reaching Fiji expect a dollar's worth for a dollar, travel agents in Suva report. They have taught the South Pacific that the only American millionaires who throw money around are those who were in the armed services, 1942-45.

Auto Racing Thrills Await Fairgoers

Speed fans attending the Harrington Fair will see more auto racing thrills next week than ever provided in the long history of the fair.

Through arrangements with Sam Nunis of Sam Nunis Speedways, the fair will provide two days of championship auto races for the first time in its history, on Friday afternoon, July 29, and Saturday afternoon, July 30. Prior to this year horse racing has been run on Friday.

Britt Holloway, Exposition manager, heralded a combination passenger car and midget race card on Friday as one of the greatest thrill innovations ever brought to the fair.

On the second racing day, Saturday, the annual sprint races for regulation AAA big cars will be staged.

Disting out a variety of thrills on Friday, headline midget race pilots will battle in two eight-lap heat races and a 20-lap championship feature. Outstanding passenger stock car drivers—in cars just like the public drives on the highway—will get the toughest workout of the afternoon in two 10-lap heat races and a 20-lap championship sweepstakes.

Fans will see a full afternoon of high-speed action starting at 1:30 o'clock when both the midgets and passenger cars get into an exciting warm-up session. Races both days start at 2:30.

The slick half-mile track is one of the most difficult to negotiate with any type racing machine.

The AAA big car program on Saturday will include time trials at 1 p.m., three eight-ap heat races, an eight-lap consolation and a 20 lap Harrington Fair Championship Sweepstakes.

Greater comfort for the fans will be provided in the new, all-steel grandstand which seats 4,000. Tons of calcium chloride will be worked into the track surface to make a record-breaking, dustless course.

Holloway urged fair patrons to order tickets in advance for the Friday auto racing opener since advance sales and inquiries indicate a sell-out crowd.

58,148 Chest X-Rays Made by Mobile Unit

A total of 58,148 chest x-rays have been taken throughout the state by the Delaware State Board of Health Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit since its current program was inaugurated last September. This program is co-sponsored by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Of this total, 19,733 students and school personnel in colleges and high schools were x-rayed; 9,823 workers in industries were serviced, as were 3,121 people in state institutions.

The Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit will be available to visitors at the Kent-Sussex Fair. It will take only a minute to have your free annual chest x-ray on Monday, July 25; Tuesday, July 26; Wednesday, July 27, and Friday, July 29, from 1 to 6 p.m. On Thursday, July 28, the unit will operate from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

Elbert Saunders Had Idea Which Started Fair

Elbert Saunders was the daddy-longlegs of the Kent and Sussex Fair and he was the prime mover in its establishment. Thus says W. W. Sharp, one of the fair's stockholders and a man well-versed in the history of Harrington.

Saunders, who lives at Ridgely, Md., was a prominent trainer of harness horses. He participated in races at numerous fairs, particularly in Pennsylvania, and when he said, "What you people need is a fair," he found responsive ears in Ora Sapp, William S. Smith, A. C. Creadick and Charles Murphy. Mr. Sharp remembers seeing the group, with Mr. Saunders, meet in the wooden firehouse that stood on the site of the present edifice.

Mr. Sapp was the first president of the fair when it opened in July, 1919. But let us go back to events that foreshadowed the fair. The harness racing industry, indirectly, was responsible for the fair.

Track On Milby Street
A racetrack once stood at the end of Milby Street and it antedated 1890. On it Benaiah Fleming raced a black trotter. John Sheldrake, who lived on Weiner Avenue, had a fast pair named Colonel, and J. Will Powell, the father of Fred Powell, had a trotter.

A track was later built on the Klump land, now the site of Harrington Manor on U.S. 13. It operated in the '90s.

Later Creadick, Joshua Smith, W. S. Smith and others bought 30 acres from one Compton and built a track and a small grandstand on the present site of the fairgrounds. The track held matinee races. Peter Q. and Bedelia were two horses that raced there.

Getting back to the fair, as it grew the association bought the Albert Thistlewood farm to the south, the Moses Harrington property to the west, the Harry Tharp property (known as Tharp's Park) to the east along U.S. 13, a house and lot in the northeast corner of what is now the present ground and the site of the farm machinery exhibit and six acres from Fount Billings. Today the grounds cover an estimated 100 acres.

Other presidents of the fair association, after Mr. Sapp, were Charles Murphy, B. I. (Pete) Shaw and Jacob O. Williams.

The Early Days
The early days of the fair were tough ones. The event, at first, took six days, but was cut down to five. The blinds on the merry-go-round were usually down until noon except on Governor's Day. Patrons parked their cars next to the racetrack, for a price, but this had to be discontinued when boorish spectators insisted on standing on top of them to see the races.

There were no grandstand concessions and boys from the various confectionery stands vied for sales in the grandstand. The editor of this newspaper has sold many a bottle of warm pop and many a melting ice cream bar. The boys worked at 10 cents on the dollar. Sometimes unscrupulous employers would not pay the full commission.

Ernest Raughey, the Spark Plug. Ernest Raughey, late secretary of the fair association, was a spark plug in setting the fair "a-going." As Mr. Sharp put it, "He was a man of vision; he brought in the big shows." When he first proposed to spend $500 to $600 for shows in front of the grandstand, the directors threw up their hands in horror. Time has proved that Mr. Raughey knew what he was talking about. Today the Kent and Sussex Fair has entertainment right from Broadway.

The stockholders have had faith in their fair. They receive no dividends, all earnings going to improve the fair.

It has something for everybody—farm exhibits, midway shows, grandstand shows, fireworks, harness racing, automobile racing, firemen's parade, calf scramble.

Greenwood

If there is not much news from the Greenwood area, it must be because our citizens are busy mopping their perspiring brows. Many of them are away on vacation and many more slip away to the nearby seashore whenever possible in an effort to escape the terrific heat. The farmers are worried about their corn and soy beans and hope for a storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Downes entertained on Thursday evening in honor of three birthdays. The birthday guests were: Mrs. Arthur Laughrey, whose birthday came on the 12th; Mrs. Nelson Milloway, with a birthday on the 14th, and the host, Clayton Downes, also on the 14th. Those present besides the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Laughrey, Harold, Peggy and Ronald Case, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Milloway, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vincent and daughters, Deborah and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Tucker Jr. and Leonard Outten. The guests played badminton, after which home-made ice cream and cake were served and gifts exchanged.

PAINTINGS OF 14 PROMINENT EASTERN ARTISTS TO FEATURE REHOBOTH COTTAGE TOUR

Representative paintings of 14 prominent eastern artists will be featured in the sixth annual Rehoboth Cottage Tour of Art, to be held in Rehoboth Beach, Aug. 3 and 4. The carefully selected paintings will be displayed as an integral part of the furnishings in each of the distinguished cottages which are being opened for the tour.

Besides the paintings, one of the 14 homes will be used as a photographic salon, with prize photographs exhibited by members of the Rehoboth Camera Club.

Artists include such local favorites as Jack Lewis, of Bridgeville; Mrs. J. Townsend Tubbs, of Rehoboth, and Howard Schroeder, of Pilot Town Road, Lewes. Featured for the first time, will be such nationally known figures as Charlotte Sternberg, of Darien, Conn., whose egg tempera paintings are in great demand; Chen Chi, famous Chinese water colorist, whose work was recently honored as "The Watercolor of the Year," and Jackson Vander Bogart, of Allen, Maryland, specializing in wood mantel and wall panels.

Mrs. Montgomery R. Budd, chairman of the 1955 Cottage Tour, points out that this is probably the finest opportunity for summer residents to see contemporary art in home settings. "The high caliber of the artists who have agreed to show their work, plus the outstanding homes and cottages being opened for the tour, surpasses all expectations. People with only a cursory interest in art and home decoration will be amply repaid for the tour, while more serious students of art will be pleased at the fine array of talent obtained, and by the splendid decor of the homes and cottages opened," Mrs. Budd said.

Following is a brief summary of the careers of the artists exhibiting:

Gwen (Mrs. John G.) Anderson began doing watercolors during the war. She painted on the Bahama Islands, Haiti, Cuba, on several trips, and then spent three months in Europe doing a series of some 65 paintings. She has won awards in Florida, Illinois, Washington, D. C., and Virginia shows. Her style is purely realistic and always architectural. Once having studied architecture, its influence has never left her. Georgetown and Alexandria are treasure chests for her. Her paintings include such diverse scenes as a market in Spain; tower bridge in London; Spanish steps in Rome; interior of a fishing shack on the Chicago River; a market in Nassau, and Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris.

Jackson Vander Bogart of Allen, Md., has utilized wood to develop an entirely new type of dimensional picture. Specializing in mantels and wall panels, he has executed commissions for the houses of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Black, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nichols, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt in Baltimore. His work also is in the homes of prominent sportsmen in Connecticut and on Long Island. Surrounded by water and marshes, he has established a wildfowl sanctuary which furnishes him the models he loves to carve and paint.

Margaret H. Callahan, born in Chicago, and influenced by the Art Institute there, has lived for over 20 years in Wilmington. She is a member of the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts, and a charter member of the Studio Group, and has exhibited at both places. Her studies at the Pennsylvania Academy Summer School, Wilmington Art Academy, and at the Studio Group culminated with most intensive work in London, where she worked two seasons at the Heatherley School.

Chen Chi of New York, is one of America's and China's most honored artists. Since arriving from China he has won numerous awards and gold medals. This year the American Watercolor Society awarded him a special prize of $1,000 and honored his painting as "The watercolor of the year." He has held one-man exhibitions at museums and galleries throughout the United States and abroad; also his work has been shown at annual exhibitions—National Academy of Design, Whitney Museum, Corcoran Gallery, Pennsylvania Academy, etc., as well as in special exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum, New York. He is an associate member of the National Academy of Design and a member of the American Watercolor Society, Audubon Artists, Allied Artists, and the Philadelphia Watercolor Club. He has served on a number of juries of selection and awards for annual exhibitions.

Thelma Herrick, of Middleburg, Va., is a graduate of the Art Students' League in New York, where she won the prize for portraiture. She studied one year in Paris, and also studied under Louis Boisa, Howard Trofton and Jerry Farnsworth. She specializes in race horse pictures, "The Thoroughbred Record," "The Chronicle," and "The Blood Horse" often use her pictures on their covers.

James Iams, of Towson, Md., a Korean War veteran, is a graduate in art education from Indiana State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa. At present he is art teacher at Towson Senior High School. His honors include first prize, two consecutive years, at Towson Art Show; first prize in Baltimore Watercolor Show at Maryland Institute this year, and first prize in Penn State Art Show, August, 1944. He was a member of the jury for the Baltimore Watercolor Show at the Museum of Art in 1955.

Irene K. (Mrs. Samuel Lenher), of Wilmington, received her art education at the Slade School of Art, London, and at the Grande Chaumiere in Paris. Following four years of art school, she taught art at the Rhodean School for Girls, Johannesburg, South Africa, returning to the U.S.A. in 1929 and joined the Studio Group when it was first formed in Wilmington. She has been successful with puppetry. Since rejoining the Studio Group three years ago, she has been busy with both watercolors and oils.

Jack Lewis of Bridgeville is a familiar figure around the Delaware Peninsula. He was educated at Rutgers University and took graduate work in art education at New York University. As a free-lance painter and writer, he produced "The Delaware Scene," watercolors and writings describing quaint and picturesque places in Delaware. As a member of the Armed Forces in the Southwest Pacific during World War II, he painted a series of watercolors which was published in 1950 under the title "Pacific Odyssey." His last book is concerned with the country and people of the Chesapeake Bay, entitled "The Chesapeake Bay Scene," published in 1953. For the past six years he has been in Bridgeville Consolidated School as art instructor. He won honors, concurred in by all three judges, at the Delaware Spring Show at Wilmington Fine Arts.

Dorothy Mallan of Alexandria, Va., who refers to herself as "Grandmother" Mallan, is an Army wife who finds time for youthful desire to paint. She is a member of the Canal Zone branch of the National League of American Pen Women. She was the winner of the 1954 portrait class there, and her work has been exhibited at the Museum of Natural History in Washington.

Howard S. Schroeder of Lewes majored in art at Syracuse University and was a prize winner his first year. After free-lance work in and about New York City for several years, he joined the Army in World War II and was stationed at Fort Miles in Lewes. Inspired by nearness to the ocean and feeling the charm of southern Delaware, he decided to make his home here. Winner of honors in a national competition staged by Life magazine, and at the Delaware Art Center, he has since been teaching art in surrounding towns. He exhibits frequently and has won a number of "popular vote" prizes, including the Katz prize in 1955 at the Baltimore Museum of Art. His watercolor's have been purchased by discriminating collectors and are prized possessions over a wide area. He has been an instructor at Rehoboth Art League since 1946.

Lewis A. Staats is a Wilmington artist whose specialty is sporting scenes. Although active in business, he finds time to paint seascapes, landscapes, hunting, horse racing and other sporting scenes in his favorite medium: water color. He has received several commissions from prominent Delawareans. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware with an art major. He also studied under Frank Schoonover, Gayle Hoskins and others in the Wilmington Academy of Art. His work was awarded a prize at the last Wilmington Watercolor Show.

Walt Stan, of Wilmington, versatile artist of known ability, is a fine art painter, illustrator, cartoonist and advertising designer. As an artist, his exhibits at the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts have been awarded several prizes. He also has exhibited at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and at many other shows throughout the country. He is a member of the Philadelphia Watercolor Club, due recognition for his artistic skill. His formal art studies began at the Philadelphia Museum School of Art.

Charlotte Joan Sternberg, of Darien, Conn., is a practicing painter, exhibiting mostly in New England shows. In addition to her paintings of New England life and landscapes, she has done portraits of prominent citizens, and is active in the commercial field.

She is a member of the Society of Illustrators in New York, the Connecticut Academy, and Hartford Society of Women Painters. Miss Sternberg specializes in egg tempera, an early Renaissance medium which she has brilliantly adapted to modern usage. She is also proficient in the use of oils, water colors, gouache, scratchboard and other mediums. Miss Sternberg was born in Meriden, Conn., and was graduated from the Yale School of Fine Arts with a BFA degree. Since then she has done a series of covers for Collier's, and numerous other national magazines. She won the first gold medal award at the Chicago Art Directors Show for her Container Corporation ad representing Connecticut.

Teddie (Mrs. J. Townsend) Tubbs, Rehoboth resident, formerly from Albany, N. Y., studied art at St. Agnes Episcopal School and Briarcliff Junior College. She renewed her interest in art through activities of the Rehoboth Art League and for the past four winters attended watercolor classes of Laura Cowell in Lewes. Local scenes, waterfowl and flowers are depicted with a touch of the whimsical and with vivid imagination. She has exhibited recently in Wilmington and lower Delaware, and in 1954 was winner of two popular vote prizes at Rehoboth Art League.

Rehoboth Camera Club is the cottage on the tour designated for photographic exhibition containing photographic prints made by members of the Rehoboth Camera Club, which is affiliated with the Art League. Also included are several others made by members of the Associated Delmarva Camera Club, of which the Rehoboth Camera Club is a member.

A Michigan autoist lost his arm when his elbow, extended from the car window, came in contact with the tread of a steam shovel being hauled past his car on a flat-bed trailer.

We have observed many one-armed drivers lately, sometimes in three cars in a row. These drivers usually have their hands out of the window and on top of their cars. Then there is another type—he who lets his arm hang outside the window. He holds up traffic while the car behind him tries to determine if the car is going to make a turn.

GUARANTEED WAGES BUT NO GUARANTEED PROFIT

The guaranteed-wage pact, recently signed by the automobile industry, and sought in other industries, is going to hurt labor. How can an employer guarantee annual wages when there is no guarantee of profits?

The employer then, has this recourse. He hires only when it is absolutely necessary. Rather than hire a man and guarantee him an annual wage, despite business conditions, he will get along on less business. To avoid hiring extra help, he employer may run his business more efficiently; he may get in labor-saving machinery. In the auto industry, and in many others, it is customary to have some parts made by other firms. To see that its own employees are kept busy, the major company, for example, the automobile company, may decide to make the parts it heretofore bought.

Labor and prices are continuing to rise. There is a limit and when we reach it we will have a depression.

ARE YOU RUMPLED AND WRINKLED ON SUMMER VACATIONS?

Summer means a vacation, and a vacation means packing a suitcase. Does packing a suitcase mean rumpled clothes to you, or can you unpack your clothes ready to wear, free from wrinkles?

It's usually the homemaker's duty to pack for her family, and she finds that half the secret is to choose clothes appropriate for travel and easily packed; still another part of that secret is the method of packing.

Choosing clothes appropriate for travel, according to Lavonia Hilbert, Extension clothing specialist, University of Maryland, involves:

1. Materials that are wrinkle-resistant that do not soil easily.
 2. Lingerie that can be washed and dried in a jiffy.
 3. Changeable weather clothes such as jacket, umbrella.
 4. Special occasion garments, if necessary.
- The way to pack is very important, the specialist continues. She adds these suggestions:
1. Make a list of apparel need-

- ed and lay everything out.
2. Put bulky articles on bottom of suitcase.
 3. Fill shoes, corners of suitcase, with wrinkle-proof articles.
 4. Use tissue paper between folds of garments, avoiding creases in center front and center back. A clothes brush, mending kit and travel iron will help keep clothes looking their best while you are traveling. Miss Hilbert concludes, "You can make your trip a pleasant one if you pack right and travel light."

'Ole Man River and It's Branches Natural Home of Big, Blue Catfish

BLUE CATFISH
 ©1954 National Wildlife Federation

(Ictalurus furcatus)

The Mississippi River and its tributaries is the natural home of the blue catfish. While it has been introduced into the streams of Colorado, it has not definitely established itself there.

Young fishermen who thrill at the capture of a bullhead a few inches long would find themselves in difficulty should they hook onto one of these giant relatives of the bullhead. Blue catfish weighing to 180 pounds and measuring in excess of five feet have been taken but animals of this size are most unusual. It is not too uncommon in suitable waters, however, to take these fish weighing to 50 pounds.

The blue catfish might possibly excruciatingly be confused with the better known channel catfish. Each has a deeply forked tail. In the blue catfish, the anal fin that lies to the rear along the under side of the body has from 32 to 35 rays, while in the channel catfish this fin has from 25 to 30 rays. The free end of this fin in the channel catfish is rounded, not pointed. The eye of the blue catfish is nearer the under margin of the head than to the upper, while in the channel catfish this is reversed. The eyes, too, are smaller in the blue catfish than in the channel catfish.

Large male, breeding channel catfish closely resemble blue catfish. As the name implies, the blue catfish is blue to slate-colored above changing to silvery and to white beneath. The edges of the fins, particularly of the anal fins are frequently darker than the other portions.

Blue catfish breed in June or July when the water reaches a temperature of 70 to 75 degrees F. A nest is made in an excavation under a protecting shelf of some sort. The eggs appear in gelatinous masses and a fish weighing two pounds may lay about 5,000 eggs. In from 6 to 10 days, the eggs hatch. By the end of the first summer, the young fish may be to four inches long, but sexual maturity is not reached until about four years, when the fish may have a length of 12 to 15 inches. Young fish may be spotted.

The food of blue catfish is highly varied. It includes mollusks, insects and their larvae, worms, crustaceans, fish, frogs and carrion. In fact, they eat almost anything that might be considered as edible. The blue catfish is somewhat migratory in its habits and its abundance at any one spot may vary considerably during the year.

Blue catfish are commonly taken on trot lines, by jugging, or on baited lines. Hook sizes 2/0 to 4/0 may be baited with large night crawlers or with minnows, particularly large chubs. Trot lines in Iowa are usually used with 25 to 100 hooks and are set at right angles to the shore, usually just downstream from islands. Commercial fishermen may take these superior catfish in seines. The flesh is excellent and finds a ready market in the cities within range of the fish. This catfish is considered by some as the most valuable fish in the Mississippi River system.

It is the hope of the National Wildlife Federation that practices affecting this fish may be such that the supply may continue indefinitely and that its abundance may increase rather than decrease.

WCSO SUMMER CAMP SESSIONS ATTENDED BY LARGE GROUP

The Woman's Society of Christian Service School of Missions and Christian Service for Girls of the Peninsula Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, which was held at Camp Pecometh on the Chester River, June 27 to July 2, had 118 campers, with 12 counselors and teachers. Twenty-five girls who registered for the school could not be accommodated.

Mrs. Bernice N. Lloyd of Hebron, Md., served as dean of the school. Miss Genevieve Poppe, director of the Riddle Memorial Deaconess Home and of the Mary Todd Gambrell Neighborhood House in Wilmington, taught a course on Indian Americans. The Rev. William Hemphill Jr., minister of the Sudlersville Methodist Church and Easton District Missionary secretary, taught a course on the Christian Mission in a Revolutionary World.

A highlight of the week was a tribal meeting around a camp fire one evening when each tribe challenged another tribe to outdo it in some indicated feat.

On July 2, 18 girls who had attended the School of Missions for three years, were graduated: the Misses Amy Dunkle, Nancy Feucht, Joyce Hall, Susan Hayman, Ruth Hummer, Nancy James, Gail Johnson, Ellen Kemmerer, Pat Kennedy, Lois Medfore, Joyce Moore, Jeanette Riley, Nancy Spicer, Pat Taylor, Jo Ann Timmons, Leonore Timmons, Wanda Tingle, Mary Janet Williams.

Houston

There were about 32 of the young people of Houston who went on a picnic to Riverview Beach Saturday and reported having had a wonderful time.

It was decided Sunday morning that the Houston Sunday School and all others who wish to go, will attend the annual picnic at Trappe Pond Wednesday, July 20.

Those from our town and vicinity who are in Milford Memorial Hospital: Mrs. Jennie Armour, who was taken to the hospital Saturday. She was stricken with pneumonia. At this time her condition is somewhat improved. Lester Wilson is much better, after undergoing an operation and expects to come home Wednesday. Fred Hayes' condition remains about the same. We trust they will all make a speedy recovery and return to their homes.

We are sorry to report Arthur Armour had the misfortune to fall. The Misses Hazel and Lydia Johnson of Houston, and Mrs. Agatha Farrow of Felton, returned Friday night from a 10 days' trip. Their first stop was in Charleston, S. C., where they visited friends; from there to Augusta, Ga., to see Mrs. Farrow's son, Gilmore, who is in the service of Uncle Sam, and they spent the 4th of July at Savannah Beach, Ga. They had a most enjoyable trip.

Visitors' Day At U. of Md. During 4-H Club Week

Mom and dad are not being forgotten in all the hustle and bustle of State 4-H Club Week plans for the week of August 8-13 on the University of Maryland campus. Along with friends and other family members, parents of 4-H'ers are invited to see 4-H in action on the last day of the week, August 12.

This day has been chosen for Visitors' Day as it will climax the week's activities with such special events as a dress review, a pageant, a talent show and an evening consecration service for the new members of the 4-H all-stars.

Of interest is the pageant, "The Important 4-H Day," written and directed by Mrs. Merle L. Howes, Adelphi, Prince Georges County. Centered around the theme, "Today is the Most Important Day in a Person's Life," the pageant depicts a typical 4-H family and their work in county, state and national activities throughout the four seasons of the year. An appropriate musical background will be provided by different groups. Family characters include: Father, John Scarborough, Churchville, Harford County; mother, Jane Ringgold, Ridgely, Caroline County; daughter, Ruth Ann Payne, Route 2, Gaithersburg, Montgomery County, and son, yet to be named.

Again this year the always-popular dress review will be a feature of the afternoon program, and county blue ribbon dress review winners will have an opportunity to model the garments they have made. The entries (around 60) will be judged on such basis as construction, becomingness to the girl, choice of fabric, fit, value for money spent, etc.

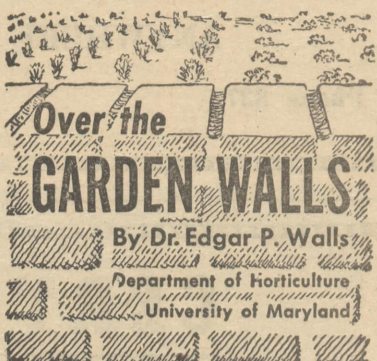

The winner of this contest will compete in the national dress review held during National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next fall. Garment classes include outfits for school, sports and dress. Also, classes for party dresses and tailored outfits.

Chairman of the state dress review is Betsy J. Lovington, assistant home demonstration agent, Frederick, Frederick County. Layonia Hilbert, Extension clothing specialist, University of Maryland, is consultant. They will work with agents, older youth and local leaders.

Dramatic abilities, musicianship and other qualities of the gifted 4-H'er from the majority of the counties will be displayed in the evening when the group has their annual talent show. Each county has the opportunity to enter the show with their county representative. Some of the counties have had shows of their own, and they plan to enter their winner. The winner of the state show, chosen on ability and variety on the program, will be eligible for consideration by the national 4-H committee to enter a national contest next fall.

In a quiet, reverent atmosphere, the impressive consecration service for all-stars climaxes the day's activities. Every year at this time the new all-star members are tapped and taken into the all-star circle during a special candle-lighting ceremony. All-stars are known in 4-H as the honorary organization of outstanding 4-H'ers.

Plant Late Potatoes Now

July is the month for making a late planting of white potatoes. If by any chance you missed the St. Patrick's Day planting (the traditional time for planting early Irish potatoes), then now is the time to start a crop for fall storage.

Try the varieties Kathadin, Kennebec, or Sebago. Get the best possible seed stock. Cut seed potatoes into 1 1/2 to 2 ounce seed pieces having two or three eyes. Cover seed pieces with a damp cloth for a day or two before planting. Holding the seed pieces in a warm humid atmosphere gives the cut surfaces time to heal or callous over before planting.

Plant the seed pieces three to four inches deep; 12 inches apart, in rows two feet apart. Make a shallow trench three to four inches deep and three inches off to each side of the potato row. Put complete fertilizer in the shallow trenches. Use 10 pounds of 5-10-10 to 100 feet of row, putting five pounds on each side of the row.

With a rake pull soil over the potato row to form a low ridge. When the potato sprouts begin to emerge, gently rake the low ridge down level. This will be the first cultivation and should cover all weeds.

During the growing season rake a little soil toward the plants to form a low ridge. This insures that the potatoes will be protected from the sunlight as they form. Make all cultivations as shallow as possible so as not to injure the shallow root system.

Control insects with DDT sprays or dusts. Begin the insect control program as soon as the sprouts emerge. Begin harvesting potatoes from the garden any time after they reach usable size.

Veterans News And Answers To Questions

Q—Are there any conditions at all under which a Korea veteran could draw GI unemployment pay and GI training allowances at the same time? I understand that normally the dual payments are prohibited by law.

A—There are two exceptions to the law barring simultaneous receipt of both payments. Korea veterans taking GI correspondence course, as well as those in school less than half time, may be eligible for GI unemployment allowances at the same time as they are drawing GI training allowances.

Q—I want to apply for disability compensation but, since I do not live near a VA office, I cannot pick up an application form. Could I apply merely by writing VA a letter and describing all the facts in my case?

A—Yes. Your letter will be considered as an "informal claim." VA will send you a formal application which you must fill out and return. The date of your filing will be the date of your original letter, so long as VA receives the formal application within one year.

Q—I am planning to buy a house with a GI loan. Is it absolutely necessary to have the property appraised?

A—Yes. Appraisal is required by law, in order to protect you. The law requires that the purchase price be no more than the "reasonable value" as determined by proper appraisal made by an appraiser designated by the VA.

Q—I am going to college under the Korean GI Bill. Will I receive my GI training allowances during the summer vacation months, when I am not in school?

A—No. The GI training allowances will not be paid during the summer vacation months when you are not actually in training.

A big new shopping center near Lima, Peru, will have a super-market and 15 stores.

STATE PLAGUED BY MOSQUITOES

"Never saw mosquitoes so bad," is the general complaint these days when folks aren't grumbling about the heat. This is especially true in the Lewes-Rehoboth-Belmont localities where the State Highway Department's control operations usually reduce these pests below the annoyance point.

Don't blame that agency. The June rains, which did so much for Delaware's crops, are directly responsible for your discomfort. June was the wettest month of this year and one of the wettest in the record—almost seven inches of rainfall in the northern section and almost six in the central and southern sections of the state. Breeding situations were everywhere plentiful, and all of our 38 kinds of mosquitoes took advantage of this opportunity.

How can you help in alleviating this nuisance, now and in the future? Collectively, home owners can do a lot, since the problem is often a local one. Look for standing water on your property and eliminate it wherever possible. Thereby, you can get rid of the common "house mosquito," a species almost as domesticated as farmers' livestock. Contact the University of Delaware, Department of Entomology, for information on sprays and repellents.

Most of your trouble, however, is due to "salt-marsh mosquitoes," which originate, as the name indicates, in the marshlands of eastern Kent and Sussex and which have a long flight range.

The State Highway Department control program, based on university research and recommendations, is designed to kill these pests at their source. Have confidence in and support this undertaking; its objective is the protection of Delawareans from mosquito attack, without harmful effects on wildlife.

Unique Summer School Conducted At U. of Delaware

Alison Hall, home of the School of Education at the University of Delaware, is the scene of an unusual program of instruction this summer which can best be described as "a school within a school."

This unique instructional feature is the Reading Clinic Laboratory School where trained specialists seek to assist youngsters to improve their reading.

The development of reading clinics in America is comparatively recent. One of the first was established by Marion Monroe at the University of Pittsburgh in the early 1930's. The University of Delaware clinic, under the direction of Dr. Russell G. Stauffer, began its operation five years ago.

Not only does the reading clinic serve elementary-grade youngsters in its laboratory school, but it also provides corrective classes for college students, courses for teachers and, for the first time this summer, a program for high school students.

The high school classes are the first to be offered on a preventive basis and are planned to assist students to improve their reading before they are faced with the demands of a college program. All other courses are designed to correct deficiencies which students have already experienced. Thirty-six students from Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, most of whom plan to enter college in the fall, are taking the course this summer.

The college program serves almost twice this number during the regular academic year. From 50 to 60 students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, enroll to improve their thinking-study skills involving the use of textbooks and other printed materials. They also are aided in spelling and composition.

"This program has proved from 90 to 100 per cent successful," Dr. Stauffer asserted. "Last year only one student failed to pass who participated in the college study program and several improved to such an extent that they made the dean's list. All of the students find that their reading improvement is reflected in better grades and increased efficiency."

The course which Dr. Stauffer is offering this summer is designed to show how children can be trained to think and set reading goals which they strive to realize. Seventy-six interested teachers and parents of retarded readers are observing the training methods employed by the reading clinic instructors.

"Our goal is to make reading clinic work almost entirely preventive instead of corrective," Dr. Stauffer explained. "Teachers who are prepared to prevent problems and who have assisted us in helping retarded students are always the most successful in achieving results."

In addition to his work in the clinic at the university, Dr. Stauffer has worked as a consultant at Newark, Claymont, New Castle, Rehoboth and Milford and in Queen Anne, Kent, Caroline and Harford Counties, Maryland.

There are many reasons for reading difficulties among students. Crowded classrooms and limited supplies in many of today's schools cause inadequate teaching. Students, whose parents have moved about frequently during their early school years often become confused by differences in teaching methods. Emotional and neurological difficulties, vision, and hearing deficiencies often contribute to the problem. Another factor is dyslexia, a failure to associate the printed word with the object it represents. The child may be able to name the letters in the word, but still be unable to recall its meaning.

The laboratory school instructors are now training about 25 students. Six corrective classes are being held for mildly retarded readers and special instruction is being provided for those children with extreme difficulties.

A typical case was that of Stephen Bristow, a 12-year-old student, enrolled in the sixth grade of the Gilpin Manor School of nearby Elkton, Md. A well-adjusted lad with many friends and a normal capacity for success in school work, Steve made a slow start in reading and did not receive special help during his early school years. He attended three different schools before being enrolled in the fourth grade at the Gilpin Manor School and by this time needed special help which could not be provided in the normal teaching program. Because of his problems in lack of word recognition and his inability to break down words structurally or phonetically, he became convinced that he would never read well.

In November, 1954, he was tested and admitted to the Reading Clinic, where he studied one hour each day from November through May, under the direction of Joan Hurst and Anne Herbst. Steve's test results indicated that he needed instruction in word recognition, for he was only 85 per cent accurate at the primer level.

By the close of May, he was not only successful in first and second grade word recognition, but 100 per cent accurate at the third grade level. In the same period his reading ability improved from first to third level and although he had received no special instruction in spelling, his test scores showed over a 20 per cent improvement at second and third levels. Now entering the seventh grade, Steve and his parents, who have been especially interested in his progress, realize that it is only a matter of time before he will attain his maximum reading performance.

"We can never take the full credit in cases such as this one," Dr. Stauffer declared. "The cooperation of the boy's parents, of his principal and his teachers was of the utmost importance. With such cooperation, we almost always can succeed."

DAIRY PRODUCTS IMPORTANT AID TO TEEN-AGE DIET

Do you feel as though you spend the summer wondering what to give your teen-agers in answer to the never-ending question, "I'm hungry—what's there to eat?"

Milk and dairy products can help you a lot. They're favorites with teen-agers. They're important, too! Dairy products are especially rich sources of the protein, minerals and vitamins needed by boys and girls during the years when they're growing so rapidly. (Even though June Dairy Month posters and placards have come down, milk and other dairy products are among the best year-round foods.)

A French-toasted cheese sandwich hits the spot as a late evening snack.

Simply put a slice of American cheese between two slices of plain or wholewheat bread, dip entire sandwich into a mixture of beaten eggs, milk, salt and pepper, and brown in butter in skillet. With a glass of good cold milk, this would make a perfect ending to an evening of record playing and dancing.

For something sweet, try this

Put ½ pint vanilla ice cream into a large bowl and let soften a little. Add to the ice cream one can frozen concentrated orange juice and two cups cold water. Beat with rotary egg beater or electric mixer until fluffy. Pour at once into tall glasses and top with the remaining ½ pint of ice cream. For party refreshments, add a half-slice of orange and a sprig of mint. Six servings.

Thick milkshakes can be made quickly with your electric mixer, or a rotary egg beater. Just put slightly softened ice cream, milk and flavoring into mixing bowl, and beat until fluffy.

SAFETY SIGNPOSTS FOR FARM FAMILIES

"Your safety is in your hands" is the theme for National Farm Safety Week (July 24-30), reminds Guy W. Gienger, secretary for the Maryland Farm Safety Committee.

"Regardless of national and group safety activities, the ultimate responsibility for each farm resident's safety is himself," Gienger added.

National Farm Safety Week is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The council suggests the following program of activities for observing the week:

Sunday—Have reverence for life. Take time to take cars. Plan to avoid an overcrowded schedule.

Monday—Home safety. Keep your farm home in order. Emphasize the need for eliminating unsafe practices in the home. Have a place for everything. Be a good housekeeper in your home and on your farm.

Tuesday—Livestock. Animals account for one out of four farm work accidents. Check and repair livestock equipment. Keep small children away from animals.

Wednesday—Falls. Repair or discard broken, unsafe ladders.

Place guards at hazardous places.

Thursday—Highway traffic. Be courteous on the highway. Highlight rules of safe driving and walking on highways to help reduce the toll of 6,000 farm residents killed in traffic mishaps. Remove trees and shrubs near farm driveway entrances.

Friday—Machinery. Don't depend on luck. Make sure your equipment is in safe operating condition. Make sure all guards and safety devices are in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.

Saturday—Review day. Check on any farm and farm home hazards that might have been overlooked. Take safety seriously.

"My Blue Cross Identification card...better than having money"

"How on earth a person can rest at night without having Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection I cannot understand. My membership gives me wonderful peace of mind. The first time I used Blue Cross was in April, 1954, when my son, now seven years of age, had a tonsillectomy. Then, in June of the same year, my wife was in the hospital as a pregnancy case. The next month, I was in the hospital, and in August I was back again with blood poisoning. I've never been kept waiting or asked a lot of questions. My Blue Cross identification card has always been better than having money. I know that if I were a millionaire I could not have received better treatment. It seems that as soon as the hospital knows you're a Blue Cross member, they welcome you and you get excellent attention. If I live to be a hundred, I'll never be able to pay back in dues what Blue Cross has done for me and my family. I am sure there isn't a company who can ever compete with Blue Cross coverage and rates. I just can't say enough to praise them. Blue Cross-Blue Shield is the most wonderful thing there is to protect the working man."

Needlecraft News
by Nancy Baxter

As soon as a little European girl is able to manipulate her fingers, she is introduced to a pair of knitting needles. Because of economic necessity, she learns to knit many beautiful and practical things throughout her lifetime. In America, many of us want to knit for economical reasons, too, but others choose this needlework hobby for its relaxing effects. Like a soothing balm, knitting eases the nervous tensions of the day. With the quiet click-click of the needles, we find the contentment that brings us added satisfaction and pride when an attractive article is completed.

making the garment, sew the seams. Do not pull the stitches too tight or else you will have a puckered seam. Press the seams open and flat. For added strength, reinforce the shoulder seams with tape.

COTTON KNITTED BLOUSE
A jaunty bodice for casual wear is this easy-to-do style knitted in white, double-thick cotton. The simplest of all stitches, the garter stitch, is used for the body of the garment. The neckline, sleeves and waist are banded with ribbing for a snug fit. Full knitting instructions for making the cool, casual, cotton blouse in sizes 12, 14 and 16 may be obtained from the Needlework Department of this paper. KNITTING NOTES
Here are a few bits of needlework knowledge that you'll want to store up for those pleasant moments with the knitting needles. Since the binding off and seaming of a knitted article are important to the over-all appearance of a garment, they deserve special attention.

When binding off, be sure that you make loose stitches. Many knitters, especially beginners, bind off too tightly. Some needleworkers use a needle two sizes larger, in their right hand, to prevent this.

When making seams, first place right sides together, and pin together so that all pieces are evenly matched. With the same thread or yarn used in making the garment, sew the seams. Do not pull the stitches too tight or else you will have a puckered seam. Press the seams open and flat. For added strength, reinforce the shoulder seams with tape.

Dear Mr. Burgess:
Just some travel news I thought that might interest you. While traveling on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Sunday, a sabrejet made a forced landing. This was a sight to see. But people were calm, etc. and soon normal travel was on its way again. This is just a once-in-a-lifetime experience, so I thought you'd be interested.

Weather Bureau To Provide State of Delaware With Improved Warning Service During Hurricane Season

United States Senator J. Allen Frear announced today that the Weather Bureau has taken steps to provide Delaware with an improved warning service during the coming hurricane season.

Mr. Frear said that among the new and additional arrangements being made by the Weather Bureau this year are better telecommunications, more detailed hurricane probing flights by Air Force and Navy aircraft, emergency hurricane information centers, enlarged forecast offices and additional ship and upper air observations.

The senator's report on the 1955 hurricane detection program follows action by Congress which increased funds in the Weather Bureau appropriation bill in order to provide greater protection for coastal communities in the event of hurricanes.

"This year for the first time," said Mr. Frear, "Wilmington is hooked up to the hurricane warning teletypewriter circuit connecting major coastal cities from Brownsville, Texas, to Eastport, Maine. All storm advisories, special weather reports, hurricane alerts and warnings, and other pertinent meteorological information will thereby become instantly available at Wilmington for immediate re-distribution to all interests in Delaware," he added.

Senator Frear also announced that the staff at the Weather Bureau office in Wilmington is being strengthened by one additional meteorological aid.

He also disclosed the following action to be taken by the bureau in connection with its hurricane warning service:

(1) New weather chart facsimile equipment will be installed next week at the Wilmington Weather Bureau office. This photo transmission gear will deliver copies of 60 weather charts every 24 hours, showing all surface and upper air data needed to provide improved storm warning services for Delaware. The charts are transmitted from the National Weather Analysis Center in Washington, D. C. Special arrangements also are being made for high priority long distance telephone connections between Wilmington and the major storm forecast centers at Washington, Boston and Miami.

(2) Expected soon is the establishment of a continuous 24-hour teletypewriter weather service connecting the Wilmington Weather Bureau office with nearby newspaper offices, with radio and TV stations, and with local, state and federal agencies charged with public safety, and with other local interests needing Weather Bureau information.

Senator Frear also said he had been advised by a Weather Bureau official that arrangements have been made for more frequent and more detailed aerial reconnaissance flights by especially equipped Air Force and Navy aircraft, in order to locate, analyze and track any 1955 hurricanes that may form in the Caribbean Sea, Gulf of Mexico or Atlantic Ocean.

Mr. Frear also disclosed that an emergency hurricane warning center also is being established at Wilmington which will be provided with extra batteries of telephones and a display of large "storm progress charts" for use in briefing representatives of the press, radio, television, public utilities, civil defense agencies, Red Cross, police and city administrators on the latest hurricane developments.

He also announced that a cooperative hurricane information program is being undertaken this year. It is designed to serve better public understanding regarding the nature of hurricanes, types of Weather Bureau storm protection services, and the safety precautions that should be taken to avoid loss of life and property.

In 42 Swiss cities a total of 16,498 new dwelling units were built in 1954.

Natl. Farm Safety Week July 24-30

"Your Safety is in Your Hands" will be the theme to be observed in Delaware during the observance of National Farm Safety Week, set for July 24 to 30, inclusive.

Dean George M. Worrlow, vice-president for farm safety of the Delaware Safety Council, and also dean of the School of Agriculture and director of the University of Delaware Agriculture Extension Services, in announcing the theme, urgently requests that all farm workers make safety inventories of their homes, farms, machinery and equipment, and to cultivate careful working habits and attitudes. He also requests that all persons and organizations interested in farm life and welfare to join in a campaign to reduce the tragedies and losses caused by needless accidents.

"Special surveys in farm areas," said Mr. Worrlow, "indicate that about three out of every four accidents to farm residents are the result of one or more unsafe acts."

"Regardless of national and group safety activities, the ultimate responsibility for each farm resident's safety is himself," he said. This individual responsibility is summed up in the lifeline given by Mr. Worrlow — Your Safety is in Your Hands.

Mr. Worrlow went on to say, "The purpose of National Farm Safety Week continues to be to focus nation-wide attention on the seriousness of farm accidents. We hope to inspire greater year-round safety activity by each resident — and to make the individual's farm life a safer, happier and more prosperous life."

Mr. Worrlow said all 48 states are expected to take part in the observance of the week. In Delaware the Council's State Farm Safety Committee will help guide the observance.

National Farm Safety Week will feature special days as follows: Sunday, Church Day; Monday, Home Safety Day; Tuesday, Livestock Safety Day; Wednesday, Fall Prevention Day; Thursday, Highway Safety Day; Friday, Machinery Safety Day, and Saturday, Review Day.

Parts Theft Ring Broken

Dover police have put a stop to the activities of five Milford and Harrington youths who are charged with stealing automobile accessories over a wide area for more than six months.

The young defendants involved are: Raymond T. Harvey, 19, Harrington; Richard G. Wiley, 19, Milford; Robert W. Creed, 20, near Milford; James Buchanan, 20, near Milford, and a 17-year-old boy.

Police said that they admitted participating in thefts of radios, fender skirts, hub caps, spare tires, spotlights and sun visors.

Police said Harvey was caught taking a sun visor from a car in the parking lot of Bolan Motors, Inc., on Forest Street, early Wednesday morning, July 13. He was fined $50 and costs by Alderman C. R. Dempsey on a larceny charge.

Police then learned that Wiley and Creed had been riding in Wiley's car, but fled when the police neared. Later in the day they surrendered. Police had taken possession of Wiley's car.

They were fined $80 and costs each on charges of larceny.

Then the investigation brought out that Wiley, Buchanan and the juvenile were involved in the stealing of two fender skirts from the car of Arthur W. Yeager, parked in front of his home, 116 South Governor's Avenue, on June 4.

Warrants were sworn out for the other two youths. Milford police took them in custody and Dover police brought them back.

Buchanan was fined $80 and costs, and the juvenile was held for hearing in Juvenile Court.

All five assured the alderman that they would return accessories stolen from automobiles in Dover, including those taken in a case where a charge was not pressed. Police said that the youths confessed to similar thefts in Harrington, Milford, Georgetown and Houston.

Kandla, on the west coast, has been opened as India's sixth major port.

Speed Drivers To Compete At Fair

Star speed chauffeurs from across the nation will compete in the big two-day presentation of championship auto races Friday and Saturday afternoon, July 29-30, at the Kent and Sussex County Fair.

The race attractions, including an additional bill of combined stock car and midget car events on July 29, and the regular AAA big car races on July 30, will be under the direction of Sam Nunis Speedways. It is the first time in fair history that two days of Auto Racing have been scheduled.

Racemaster Sam Nunis currently is reaching to all sections of the country for top drivers for the fair events. He especially is anxious to have the competition with the stocks and midgets reach the established high caliber of the AAA races.

Nunis announced that there would be six events on each of the forthcoming race programs. The action both days opens with qualifying time trials at 1 p.m. and the first race at 2:30.

Along with forwarding entry blanks to a host of midget and stock car headliners, the race director also has contacted many of the better known AAA drivers. He said he expected this year's races to out-thrill all others in the history of the local fair.

Nationally known Indianapolis "500" and champion AAA pilots which Nunis will seek to present at the fair this season include Tommy Hinnershitz, four times AAA eastern champion; Johnny Thompson, current AAA eastern champion; Joe Sostilio, 1953 eastern AAA champion; Ernie McCoy, Buster Warke, Fred "Jiggs" Peters, Al Herman and Charlie Musselman.

Several of these AAA wizards currently are battling for the eastern lead and the Kent and Sussex Fair events are expected to be eventful from flag to flag.

Vaudeville Acts Appear At Fair

The Kent & Sussex Fair management has completed plans for the vaudeville to be presented every afternoon and night at the annual fair, July 25-30.

The Lacy Troupe, a group of acrobats who do balancing feats on large rolling globes, will be one of the attractions. Others will be "The Three Lesters," two men and one lady, who do many pantomimic and acrobatic acts on the trampoline. Another terrific novelty team loaded with comedy will be Sanger Ross and Andree. This is a lovely young giantess, a normal size man and a happy-go-lucky dwarf who will be entertaining you both on the stage and in the grandstand. The fantasies of 1955 will present "A Stairway to the Stars." This is a rainbow-hued musical which has blazoned its way across the American landscape. It is a scintillating new extravaganza of song with precision chorus displays by lovely girls, amidst a colorful pattern of lights and bright new scenery.

For the many fair patrons who like music of all types from classical to ragtime, the Kent & Sussex Fair will present Saturday night only in front of the grandstand, "The Mariners," who were formerly with "Arthur Godfrey and his Friends."

All in all, a program of entertainment has been prepared which is guaranteed to send you away humming.
