

Amateur Talent Contest To Be Held Oct. 4

Members of the Butler's Feed & Farm Supply Advisory Board and the Farm Home Advisory Committee voted at their annual meeting planning conference held recently, to hold another farm talent round-up amateur contest this year as one of the highlights of their local Southern States annual membership meeting to be held Oct. 4. The meeting will be held at Greenwood High School, Greenwood.

This contest—which is for amateurs only who are 12 years of age or over on Aug. 1, 1955—offers an opportunity to the winning act at the local meeting to compete for an expense-paid three-day trip to New York City, plus a $100 cash award. Members of the immediate families of all farmers and all Southern States patrons are eligible.

All individual members of the 1954 talent acts who won first place at their local contests and those who participated in last year's district contests are ineligible to compete. Employees of Southern States Cooperative and its Cooperative Service Agencies and members of their families are also ineligible.

Talent acts desiring to enter will contact Miss Margaret Butler, chairman of the local talent round-up committee or Agency Manager Norman F. Butler. Other members of the farm talent round-up committee are Mrs. Russell Bowdle and Hyland Webb, of Harrington, and Mrs. H. W. Everline, Greenwood.

All committee members have extra contest entry blanks.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Well the big race is on tonight, and what a crowd. Howard Lyons and his big horse seem to be all the talk. The crowd is pouring in and the tension is high. I just talked to Howard, and they are trying to get him up here on the radio. But so far I don't think they have had any luck. But you should see the crowd in the paddock around the little fellow. For the past week that's all you have heard. I think that he has drawn more attention than any other horse that has come here to Foxboro. 'Course there has been lots of questions about Harrington. How long had you trained him there, and was he hard to train and what do you feed him? Just the usual run of answers Howard would give them. He seemed to be a little taken back by all the publicity they are giving him. But Luther seems to do all right. It doesn't seem to bother him at all. But up here they go all-out for the big-time horses.

Pictures and more pictures, TV and all that goes with racing, and what a beautiful night it is. Been terrible hot today, but tonight it is really nice. And up here it's real cool. I'm so high up you can really see what's going on. But I think that Batavia Downs has the best-lighted track. The poles are so high here that you really can't see too good on the backstretch. Now for the lights in Batavia, the light poles are real low.

The first race is now on and Dave is in with "Watchin' Betty," and I always get so nervous when he drives that I don't enjoy the race. He has another one in tonight, in the third race, so I don't think I'll look out on the races till he is all finished. I'm taking a kidding about it. But that's the way it is. Well, they are off. So I'll stop till it's over.

Well the first race is over and we didn't do any good. Oh well, there's another day. There are several Westbury horses up here for the weekend and the one that was "Maid of Cotton," trained by Johnnie Simpson. Just a little too fast for this crowd of horses.

Dave has been invited to go to Canada, so this news may be coming from Montreal any time now. I'm not too hot for the idea, but I enjoyed it last fall.

If you don't think that they had a big night, here is the daily double betting—$24,008.00. They say that is the record. Will give the total attendance—the cars are still pouring in and if they keep up I don't know where they are going to put them. Even the train that runs behind the track has stopped for the passengers to take a look.

For the third race they bet $26,987.40. Not bad for one race. And again Dave didn't do too good. In the money and that's all. But I'm glad he is through.

Fourth race is coming up, so will wait for the feature race now. At 10:30 p.m. Mr. Lyons and Luther will go on the air. The stations here are WBZA and WBZ, Springfield. If any of you would like to listen to the races here at Foxboro, you can tune in about that time every night. They have someone on every night, from the trainers down to grooms. Sometimes it runs a little later than 10:30.

For the fourth race, here is the wagering: Win pool, $14,795; place, $7,062; show pool, $4,712. Not bad for one race. Changes so fast that it's hard to keep-up with it.

Smyrna Youth Arrested On 3 Traffic Charges

Joseph A. Hawkins, 21, of Smyrna, was taken into custody Sunday by state police of the Dover troop as an aftermath of two accidents early the same day.

Taken before Magistrate Elmer Poynter of Felton, Hawkins was charged with reckless driving, failure to stop at the scene of an accident, and operating a motor vehicle during a period of license suspension.

According to police, Hawkins was in the act of driving his vehicle past another driven by Donald F. Connelly, 21, of Bowlers Beach, on a road from Felton to Whitesburg, just west of Felton at 12:05 a.m. Sunday. He cut short in front of Connelly's auto and applied his brakes, with the result that Connelly's auto rammed the rear of Hawkins'. The latter kept on going, police said, and at Felton's Railroad Avenue attempted to make a turn into the avenue, crashed into some rail tracks, then careened into a nearby yard. Once more he did not stop, police explained.

Troopers said Hawkins' license had been suspended because of a poor driving record.

Journal Writer Visits Beanery

Mrs. Pat Smith, writer of "Sulky Slants," sent the Journal editor and others in town, a leaflet last week on a famous restaurant, Durgin-Park in Boston. Pat's husband, Dave, is racing at Foxboro.

While the origin of Durgin-Park goes back to Revolutionary Days, the era of fame for its chowders, Indian puddings, apple pan dowdy, johnny cake and New England boiled dinners started some 80 years ago when John Durgin, in partnership with Eldridge Park, a lively man, and John G. Chandler, a dry goods merchant, took over. The theme followed to this day was decided upon then by these old Yankees, that the best advertising is plenty of food on the table.

The leaflet has a reprint of an article from Collier's on the establishment and several recipes, including, naturally, one for Boston baked beans.

Mrs. Smith also sent The Journal a circular of information on the Peabody Museum, Salem, Mass. The museum has mostly exhibits of marine and entomological subjects.

Sixty per cent of Peru's population still makes its living from farms or livestock.

Hurricane Warning System Organized By Civil Defense

A hurricane warning system for Delaware's Civil Defense forces and other state and county agencies has been organized through the co-operation of the U. S. Weather Bureau office.

This is the first step in implementing the new Delaware law charging the State Department of Civil Defense with responsibility in natural disaster relief, D. Preston Lee, state CD director, announced today.

Before the current General Assembly approved the natural disaster bill which Gov. J. Caleb Boggs recently signed, the state CD was limited to participation in war-caused emergencies only, Mr. Lee pointed out.

Under the new storm alert system, Mr. Lee's office will receive advance warnings directly from the U. S. Weather Bureau office at the New Castle County Airport. The state CD then will "fan out" the warning to all CD agencies, all other departments of the state government and to the county CD directors.

The alert system will use both telephone and radio, Mr. Lee said.

If the warnings indicate that a serious disaster threatens Delaware, the state CD will station a liaison agent at the Weather Bureau to pass along first-hand information on the meteorological situation to the state CD, Mr. Lee explained.

The new law on natural disasters specifically charges the state Civil Defense with responsibility for furnishing advance warnings when possible. The law also makes CD responsible for rescue and evacuation work.

Organization of the CD storm alerting system follows on a recent announcement by Senator J. Allen Frear that the U. S. Weather Bureau office at the airport is now hooked up for the first time with the hurricane warning teletypewriter circuit connecting major coastal cities.

All storm advisories, special weather reports, hurricane alerts and warnings, and other storm information will now be instantly available at the Delaware weather office, he said.

Missouri Prof. On Winterthur Staff

Edward McClung Fleming, professor of history and dean of the college at Park College, Parkville, Mo., has been appointed to the staff of the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Del., to begin his duties Aug. 15, Charles F. Montgomery, museum director, has announced.

In his new position, Dr. Fleming will have both administrative and teaching responsibilities in interpreting the museum's collection to the general public and in developing its usefulness as a tool in the teaching of American history and related social studies.

"The use of the decorative arts as a means to the understanding of our country's beginnings is a natural extension of Dr. Fleming's intensive interest in American history," Mr. Montgomery said.

In the four and a half years since Winterthur has been open to the public, our educational program has expanded greatly, both as to content and the number of persons and institutions using our facilities as teaching aids. To an increasing degree we are now able to share with others the techniques and materials which have evolved from the Winterthur program in Early American Culture, a graduate course conducted jointly by the museum and the University of Delaware, and to apply them to all levels of teaching. We welcome Dr. Fleming's association in this challenging field of work."

Dr. Fleming was graduated from Yale College in 1930 and received both his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Columbia University. Specializing in American history, he has taught at Forman College, Lahore, India; the College of the City of New York, and Park College. During World War II, he served as an information-education officer for the Combat Training Command attached to the Central Pacific Base Command. Dr. Fleming is the author of "R. R. Bowker: Militant Liberal," and of numerous monographs, articles and book reviews.

Dr. Fleming was born in Kasauli, India, of parents who were then Presbyterian missionaries, and has traveled extensively in Europe, the Orient and the Middle East. He is married and is the father of three children.

He was clamming near White House Landing, according to E. E. Carey Jr., Sussex County deputy coroner, when Mitchell Gannon, a farmer in the vicinity, reported he disappeared from view about 1:40 p.m. Coast Guardsmen were notified and recovered the body at 4:30 p.m.

Hopkins, a veteran of the Korean conflict, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nettie Larimore Hopkins, of Felton, with whom he lived, and two brothers, Raymond and Robert Hopkins, also of Felton. His father was the late John Hopkins.

Services were held at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Carl Henn officiated and interment was in Hopkins Cemetery.

Clarence Dyer Made Constable

The Kent County Levy Court Tuesday named Clarence Edward Dyer as a constable for the Ninth Representative District.

Kenneth Aiken, who was re-appointed last March as constable for the customary one-year term, said his appointment would run out next March and that he had been notified of no change.

The court also moved to replace the photo-copying recording system in the Recorder of Deeds office by longhand and typewritten recording in accordance with a measure passed by the General Assembly.

The legislative measure authorized the court to sell the photo-copying equipment which was installed and put into use two years ago in accordance with a measure passed by the 1953 General Assembly.

The recording by longhand and typewriter was started Wednesday morning. There have been five clerks on the staff of Recorder Roy J. Honey. With the transfer to the new system, two more clerks will be added immediately and possibly another two later, according to plans.

Federal Funds Approved For Air Raid Sirens

A special appropriation of $25,000 in federal matching funds has been approved for air raid sirens in Kent and Sussex Counties, D. Preston Lee, state Civil Defense director, announced today.

The money, when matched with an equal amount of local funds, will be enough to purchase over 50 per cent of the attack warning equipment needed in the two counties, he said.

To date, only two downstate communities, Georgetown and Smyrna, have the equipment needed to alert the public of an impending air attack, Mr. Lee pointed out.

The new appropriation, just approved by the federal Civil Defense administration, is over and above the state's annual matching fund allocation and was specially requested by Mr. Lee for use in Kent and Sussex.

In a letter to the two downstate county CD directors, Mr. Lee urged them to call personally on their local CD directors, mayors and town council members "to explain the need for and use of attack warning equipment and to encourage them to purchase what is required in their community."

Mr. Lee pointed out that an engineering survey of siren needs in the two counties was made over a year ago by the State Department of Civil Defense.

Detailed advice on the size, decibel strength, location and approximate installation costs for sirens required in each community was sent to levy courts and municipal officials throughout Kent and Sussex.

Each community also received a map of its incorporated area pinpointing the best siren location for ideal sound coverage.

The engineering survey showed, Mr. Lee said, that $45,000 would be required for sirens in Sussex and $35,000 in Kent. Since that time, Smyrna and Georgetown are the only communities in the two counties which have provided attack warning equipment.

Of the new $25,000 appropriation, $12,500 will be available to each county under the matching fund program until January 1956. At that date, any of the money not used will be made available to either county on request until April 1, 1956. At that time, the offer will be withdrawn.

Meantime, Mr. Lee stressed, no community in either of the two counties will be eligible for matching funds for other purposes until it has obtained the required warning equipment.

To use any portion of the federal funds, the local community must agree to put up an equal amount and also file a project application with the state Civil Defense.

The state's attack warning system is radio controlled from a key point in Dover, where operators are on 24-hour duty. On receipt of an alert from the Air Defense Command, every siren in the state can be sounded simultaneously.

This is the only official and efficient way the public can receive an advance warning of an air attack, Mr. Lee emphasized.

The system has been planned to give sound coverage to the entire state, but each community is responsible for purchasing its own equipment and tying it in with the state system.

In New Castle County, siren coverage is now regarded as satisfactory, Mr. Lee said, but in Kent and Sussex no adequate provision has ever been made to warn the public.

Two Injured When Automobiles Collide Head-On Near Harrington On Monday

A head-on collision on Route 13, about 1200 feet north of Route 35, two-tenths of a mile north of Harrington, resulted in serious injury to one of the operators, William Fitzgibbons, 58, of Norfolk, Va., Monday afternoon.

Fitzgibbons suffered possible fractures of both legs and internal injuries. His condition is reported serious at the Milford Memorial Hospital, where he was taken in the Harrington Fire Company ambulance.

The driver of the other car, Joseph Calvin Bell, 23, of near Felton, was also taken to the hospital and treated for lacerations of both knees, cut forehead and possible fracture of the right knee.

State troopers at Bridgeville said Fitzgibbons was traveling south on Route 13 and was passing a truck where the dual highway enters a single lane thoroughfare. As he did, Bell approached traveling north.

Apparently as Fitzgibbons had passed the truck he drove over the center line of the highway and both drivers trying to avoid a head-on crash, swerved to the shoulder and then back onto the highway again, smashing into each other's car.

The damage was extensive to both vehicles.

"Light" Snack For Ducks

Coming back from Balesville the other night I noticed a powerful light at Whitey Fisher's Duck Farm. Seemed to be shining out over the water.

I stopped to ask Whitey what went on. He took me down to his pond and pointed out a 200-watt bulb—rigged up on a pole about three feet above the surface. The light was attracting thousands of insects for the ducks to eat.

Seemed kind of odd to me—but Whitey was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and the bug population, too. Why do you suppose I never thought of it before?"

From where I sit, Whitey's the type who's always ready to pioneer a worth-while new trick. Me, I stick to old methods. Just a case of personal feeling, I guess... like the way you may prefer coffee with meals while I always prefer a traditional glass of beer. Not that I'd claim you're wrong—respect for the other man's opinion is my "guiding light."

Price of Pork Cuts Lowest This Season

Pork prices are at the lowest level so far this summer. Although many cuts still are higher than during the spring, current prices are the lowest for August since 1946. The best values are on picnic shoulders, loin roasts, sausage and shank halves of ham. Retail bacon prices, roughly 12 cents per pound below last August, are attractive.

Beef likewise is priced very favorably this week. Among the most economical cuts are: chuck roast (blade cut), shoulder roast, rump roasts, beef liver, tongue, ground beef and short ribs. Veal prices are slightly stronger. Lamb is weaker in price with the best values appearing on shoulder roasts, veal patties and leg of lamb. Frying chickens and turkeys continue to sell at moderate prices. Poultry is convenient for summer meals since chicken can be barbecued or made into salad and turkey can be served cold or in sandwiches.

Milk continues to be a good buy. One hot weather use for milk is in cool drinks, such as milkshakes, made at home. Milk drinks are easy to prepare and serve as both food and beverage. They are excellent when served with sandwiches.

Cantaloupe prices are dropping as more local melons arrive on the market. Both local and California 'lopes are selling at lower prices. Apples from nearby states are on the market at reasonable prices. Varieties now available are fine for pies, freezing and for sauce. Bartlett pears from the west coast now are selling at moderate prices. Limes, avocados and watermelon all are good buys in fruit this week.

Potato prices have sagged under excessive supplies. Use them often for salads, French fries, mashed potatoes. They are not especially fattening as many believe—only 100 calories for a medium potato, about the same as for an apple or a banana. These vegetables also are excellent values this week: cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, cucumbers and sweet corn.

Chocolate prices hit a low point recently, cocoa beans having dropped as much as 50 per cent from a year ago. Consumption is expected to pick up, strengthening prices again.

Canned citrus juices are advancing in price in some markets. Maine sardine and canned salmon prices seem headed for increases as a result of short supplies.

Social Security To Observe 20th Year

The Delaware social security office, at 813 West Street, Wilmington, will participate in the nationwide observance next week of the 20th anniversary of the enactment of the original social security law, Myron Milbourn, district manager, announced today.

The Social Security Act became law Aug. 14, 1935. "At that time only about one worker in 10 was covered by any retirement system, and only about one worker in 20 by a public retirement program," Milbourn said. As of July of this year, more than 16,000 persons in the state were receiving in excess of $800,000 monthly.

Pointing out that nine out of ten people who work for a living can now look forward to retirement benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program, Milbourn said that the original law provided only old-age protection. It applied to some 33 million workers in commerce and industry. The 1939 amendments added payments for dependents of retired workers and for the survivors of workers who died.

It was not until 1951 that coverage was extended to the self-employed, and to certain employees of non-profit organizations, regularly employed domestic and farm workers, and some employees of federal, state and local governments. Ten million more workers were brought under the program through the 1954 amendments which extended coverage to self-employed farmers, most farm employees and workers in private households, and certain self-employed professionals. Protection was also made available, under special agreements, to more state and local government employees, and to ministers and members of religious orders. "About 67 million persons will build this protection for themselves and their families during 1955," the local manager declared.

The average old-age benefit payment has increased from $22.60 monthly in 1940 to $60 monthly at the end of 1954. Payments are still higher for retired workers who have more recently come on the rolls. This average old-age payment is now $80, and the average monthly payment to a young widow with two minor children is $185.

As an illustration of the progress of the program during the 20 years of its existence, Milbourn said that many people who had themselves received benefits as children now have families of their own and are building old-age and survivors insurance protection through employment or self-employment now covered by the law. Looking to the future, he estimated that by 1975, when there will be 20 million Americans age 65 or over, four out of five of them will be eligible for benefit payments as retired workers, aged wives, dependent husbands, widows or dependent widowers or aged parents. At that time, nearly 90 million people will be in work covered by the law, and 93 million people will be insured.

Spotters Post Has Busy Week

It was a busy week at the spotters post. There were 164 planes spotted; of these 11 were jets.

Monday was the busiest day, with 54 planes reported. Pauline Sapp reported the most planes, her score was 25.

In looking over the schedule, about a third of the spotters are from outside Harrington and almost half of the spotters are school children. School will soon open and these places will have to be filled. Unless you have been a spotter, you don't realize what a rest it is to be able to enjoy peace for two hours. No telephone ringing, no one knocking at the door, just your paper or magazine and nature, and of course, an occasional plane. Don't you need two hours' relaxation? Join the Spotters Corp.

Memorial Bridge Marks Fourth Anniversary

The fourth anniversary of Delaware Memorial Bridge will be marked on Tuesday, Aug. 16, when the management will be host to visiting guests engaged in the field of travel.

The visitors will be taken on a tour of Fort Delaware and plans will be discussed on the feasibility of tying into the All-South Centennial of the War Between the States, scheduled for 1961-1965.

Since funds have been made available by the General Assembly to improve Fort Delaware and develop it into a state park, Charles T. Gallagher Jr., bridge general manager, suggested the idea of possible co-operation with the All-South Congress, which is planning a four-year observance. This will include special events at historic shrines in a number of states.

"We are pleased to know that among those having accepted invitations to our bridge anniversary is Walter J. Chinn, chairman of the All-South Centennial Interim Committee, Fredericksburg, Va., who will be able to provide details of the proposed observance," Mr. Gallagher said this week.

Among other guests familiar with the project who will visit the bridge next Tuesday are: Robert F. Nelson, Virginia travel counsel, Richmond; James L. Bossmeyer, executive director, National Association of Travel Organizations, Washington, D. C.; F. H. McIntosh, National Trailways Bus System, Washington, D. C.;

Earle R. Poorbaugh, Department of Information, State of Maryland, and Louis O'Donnell, chief administrative officer, Maryland State Roads Commission. Representatives of press, radio and television are also invited.

Co-operating with the bridge management in the visit to Fort Delaware are W. Emerson Wilson, president, and William P. Frank, secretary, Fort Delaware Society.

The society plans to eventually establish a museum in the former officers' quarters at the fort, and this will be explained to the visiting guests.

It is hoped that Fort Delaware, which housed many southern prisoners during the War Between the States, will be developed into a state park by the centennial dates, and that visitors may begin an all-south tour in Delaware.

August 16 marks the date when Delaware Memorial Bridge was first opened to traffic in 1951, and since that time nearly 29,000,000 vehicles have used to span, Mr. Gallagher pointed out.

Last year the bridge management initiated the idea of inviting travel writers and those engaged in associated travel work to see what the state has to offer to visitors.

The guests will tour the bridge facilities and have lunch in the Court House Tea Room in historic New Castle. They will then motor to Delaware City and board a boat for Fort Delaware. It is there that discussion of plans for participation in the War Between the States Centennial will be discussed.

ARE WOMEN SMARTER THAN MEN?

Figures recently released by the University of Delaware's registrar, William H. Bohning, would seem to answer this age-old question in the affirmative.

Records of last year's classes and living groups indicate that in almost every instance, the women students had the better of the academic argument. A small women's dormitory, Johnston House, topped the entire university in the aggregate average of its residents with a near Dean's List 3.022. In each case, women members of their respective classes topped the men. Senior women led senior men, 2.87 to 2.73; junior women led their counterparts, 2.85 to 2.51; sophomore women showed the way, 2.57 to 2.22, and freshmen men trailed, 2.16 to 2.36. The all-women's average was a lofty 2.60 as compared to the men's 2.34.

Another question less definitely settled by statistics is whether fraternity men fare better or worse than men in the dormitories. Of the nine Delaware fraternities, four, including Sigma Nu, Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Tau Omega, were above the all-men's and all-fraternity averages. The five other houses were only slightly lower.

It is also apparent that as the students progress and as some poorer students are weeded out, the performance of classes rises. Grades of all classes rose in order: freshmen, 2.24; sophomores, 2.36; juniors, 2.63, and seniors, 2.78.

Bookmobile To Inaugurate New Schedule Sept. 6

The State Library Commission will, on Sept. 6, begin a new system of book distribution in Kent and Sussex Counties. A new system of stops is being set up. Since 1912, when Miss Mary L. Hopkins started out in Sussex County with a wagon full of books, the State Library Commission has maintained a door-to-door service for the people of the two counties.

Thru the years from 45 to 65 families in the two counties have been visited every day. Weather permitting, each family has been visited once a month.

The new system is tentative. The bookmobiles will make half-hour stops at designated places. The stops will be visited every two weeks at the same hour. The shut-ins will be serviced thru headquarters but the door-to-door service will be discontinued due to the rapid growth of population.

A WILD SWEET WILLIAM

Blue Phlox Noted For Its Beauty

Here is a plant that we do not find listed as a weed, as a medicinal plant, as a poisonous plant, as an edible plant, as a soil builder or as a potential pest. Its chief claim to recognition lies in its beauty and it is here that it excels. It survives being plucked by field naturalists and botanists with remarkable vigor. For a while it may even survive removal of the protective shade of its natural forest cover. It cannot stand too great crowding by the more hardy plants of the open fields.

This wild Sweet William has been widely cultivated and a number of varieties and hybrids have been developed which have magnified the natural attractions of the plant. It is relatively free of insect and fungus enemies but may be mildly weedy at times.

The blue phlox is found wild in woodlands from Quebec to Manitoba and south to Louisiana and Florida, with several varieties extending the range to the west. It favors open woods and rocky slopes and the flowers appear from April through June.

This phlox may grow in clumps with the lower ends of the stems rooted to the ground and the free ends rising to a height of two feet. The flowers are borne at the ends of the erect portions of the stems in loose open clusters. The leaves, which vary in size, are up to two inches long and three-quarters of an inch wide. The plant is rather inconspicuously covered with slightly sticky fuzz. The leaves are opposite and not crowded on the stem.

The flowers of this phlox are a violet blue to mauve. The five-parted calyx forms a tube beyond which the corolla extends. The corolla is somewhat tubular at the base but spreads into a five-parted wheel beyond the calyx. The tips of the petals are lobed. The flowers have a slight and pleasant fragrance. The fruits are many seeded capsules. Pollination is probably most generally effected by butterflies or bumblebees of the early season types.

This plant may be grown from seeds with relative ease. The seeds should be sown in shaded humus-loaded soil with a pH of 6 to 7. Reproduction may also be by division of the plants or by layering the stems and separating the rooted sections.

There are over 260 species of wild phlox to be found in the United States. Most of the species are essentially western and there may be annual as well as perennial species in the group. Some western species grow to a height of four feet and some form dense mats close to the ground. Most plants need a good supply of moisture and a high degree of fertility in the soil. With most varieties of phlox it is the custom to sow seeds in early spring and to transplant the seedlings in late or mid-summer. The mature plants do best if they are separated into smaller units every three or four years.

The National Wildlife Federation is dedicated to the support and encouragement of all kinds of plants and animals whose place in nature does not upset a normal balance. The only upsetting thing we can conceive about phlox is the desire they stimulate in outdoor folk to collect them for making into bouquets. Naturally, this does not help the phlox.

Veterans News And Answers To Questions

Q—A friend of mine, on VA's pension rolls, is entitled to an additional amount of money because he is so helpless that he requires constant aid and attention. Will he receive his additional allowance even though his mother provides this aid?

A—Yes. He may receive the additional allowance even though a member of his family provides the necessary services. It is not necessary for him to hire an attendant in order to qualify for the payments.

Q—I understand that if a veteran breaks two appointments for VA outpatient medical treatment, he will not be entitled to further treatment. I broke two appointments, but each time I gave VA at least two days' notice. Will I be barred from further treatment?

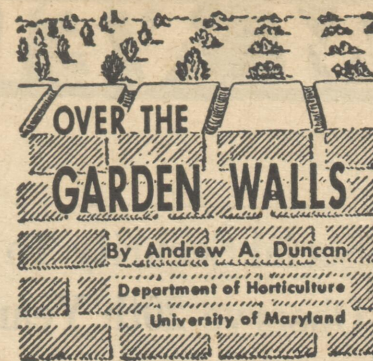

A—Since you gave VA at least 24 hours' advance notice, you will not be barred from further treatment. The bar applies only when veterans break appointments without prior notice, and without good reason for doing so.

Q—I am going to school less than half time under the Korean GI Bill. At what rate am I using up my GI training entitlement?

A—VA considers that you are using your GI training entitlement at quarter time rate. For example, if your course lasts for a year, you will have used up one-quarter of a year's entitlement, or three months.

Q—I applied for disability compensation a couple of years ago. VA asked me to report for a physical examination, but I never showed up. I let the entire matter drop. Now I would like to follow through. What should I do?

A—You must file a new application, since VA has considered that you have abandoned your original claim. Should your new claim be approved, payments may begin as of the date of the new application—not the old one.

Control of Slugs and Snails

Slugs and snails are frequently abundant in gardens and cause serious damage to seedlings, flowers and vegetables. The mouths of snails and slugs are equipped with a horny file, or radula, with which they rasp away at celery, cabbage, lettuce and other juicy plants.

Slugs and snails are night-feeding animals; they hide under boards, compost, stones, etc. during the day. Late in the evening they come out to feed on vegetables and flowers.

Poison bait is the usual method of control. Baits containing metaldehyde and calcium arsenate can be mixed at home or bought already prepared. The "home mix" should contain 1 ounce metaldehyde, 2 ounces calcium arsenate and 2 pounds of wheat bran or corn meal. Scatter one pound of moistened bait over 1,000 square feet late in the afternoon. Metaldehyde will attract the snails from their hiding places. When mixing bait, wear rubber or leather gloves, wash hands and utensils thoroughly and store any unused bait out of reach of children and pets. Label storage container properly.

General garden cleanliness will do much to get rid of slugs and snails. Remove loose boards, garden area.

Incidentally, ducks are especially fond of snails. In small areas ducks will clean up an infestation in a very short time.

Adios Harry Wins $35,000 Nassau Pace In New World Record Time for 1 1/2 Mile

By JACK E. LEE
(Special to The Journal)
Adios Harry stands alone today as the world's greatest pacer. The four-year-old Adios-Helen Win by Mc I Win pacing phenom, owned by J. Howard Lyons of Greenwood, and driven masterfully by Morris MacDonald, who substituted for the owner's son, Luther, who was sidelined with an attack of the gripe, won the ninth annual $35,000 Nassau mile and one-half pace, in the new world's record timing of 3:04.2, besting Jack Richardson's Diamond Hal, by a length and three-quarters.

Adios Harry, who stepped a 1:55 mile at Vernon Downs two weeks ago while winning the American Pacing Derby, eclipsed the old Nassau mark of 3:04.4 established by Hillsota with William Houghton handling the reins in last year's classic. However, Hillsota was not equal to the task again. After reaching the top at the quarter from the No. 8 post in 30 seconds, Hillsota wound up eighth in the final results.

MacDonald, who reined Adios Harry last season and drove him to victory in the 1954 Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, took every precaution with the Delaware amble at the start, dropping back to last place in the nine-horse field. An untimely break on the part of Adios Harry at the first turn caused him to miss a chance at trying for a world's record on a half-mile track in his last start.

at the wire for place honors. John Simpson's Torrid led the pack around the paddock turn before Earle Avery raced into the lead with Hillsota at the quarter, as Adios Boy, winner of the National Pacing Derby and Maryland's Triple Crown, held down third place. Camden moved Adios Boy into the top spot at the half in 1:01.4. Hillsota tucked into the two-hole at this point as MacDonald brought Adios Harry into contention, in third place.

Adios Harry challenged Adios Boy midway through the backstretch for the lead. The two great sidewheelers raced head and head for the lead until the three-quarters before Adios Harry went to the front to stay, passing the mile mark in 2:02.3 and the mile and a quarter in 2:33.4.

Harry bid "Adios" to the rest of the field in the final sixteenth, winning as he pleased. Diamond Hal made a decisive move at the sixteenth pole to nip Philip Scott Chuck Volo, the 1953 Nassau champ, wound up fourth, with owner Wendell Katherin in the sulky.

Adios Harry, who added $17,500 to his earnings by virtue of his 12th triumph in 15 starts this season, boosted his lifetime bankroll to $121,623. The Greenwood amble has earned $68,600 to date this season, and stands a good chance to surpass Good Time's record earnings of $100,299.10 in a single season.

11th Annual Ocean Swim Meet Aug. 19-20 At Rehoboth

Plans are progressing for the 11th annual international ocean swim meet at Rehoboth Beach, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 19 and 20, with indications of a record number of team entries for the 1955 meet.

Col. C. B. Shaffer, secretary of the Rehoboth Recreation Club, reports that five team entries are already in, with four of the replies coming from clubs which have not participated in previous years. The events are sponsored by the South Atlantic Division, A.A.U.

Since the event follows closely the National Women's A.A.U. championships in Philadelphia, it is predicted that new talent will be provided for this Atlantic coast event—the only one of its kind on the eastern seaboard.

Last year the famous Walter Reed Hospital team, Washington, D. C., with such stars as Shelley Mann, Mary Freeman and Gail Peters, retired the team trophy by scoring a high point total in three straight years. However, when this group competes in 1955, it will face stiffer competition, officials declare.

Events scheduled are the 220, 440 and 880-yard races, with a set of each for men and women. These events are scheduled for Friday, Aug. 19. On Saturday, men and women will take part in one-mile races. There is also a closed 880-yard race for men and women who are Delaware residents.

Winner of the men's mile in 1946 was the great Argentinean swimmer, Alberto Zarilla, while Joe Robinson of Pittsburgh, Pa., now swimming for Yale University, won in 1952 and 1953, and J. R. Houston of the Walter Reed team was last year's winner.

In the women's mile event, Gail Peters was the winner in 1953, while teammate Mary Freeman captured the race last year.

The Delaware 880-yard race was won in 1954 by Bill Rash, representing the Delaware National Guard, while Melissa Raught of Lewes, won the women's event.

Entry blanks and information are available to interested teams, Col. Shaffer pointed out, by writing to the Rehoboth Recreation Club, Rehoboth Beach.

minutes till post time for the next race. Gosh, what a noisy crowd. But they seem to be having a good time.

In this last race, little "Buddy Cross" that is trained by a lady here was set up in a faster class and the poor little fellow sure tired, but sixth was the best he could do. Guess it just isn't the Foxboro night for horses.

While I'm waiting for the big race to come up, here is one for the books. Dave, Dr. Huber and I took a trip up to Salem, Mass., Thursday, and what a time we had. Have a very interesting story on the old historical town. Really was something back in the old days—withercraft, and the weirdest things you could ever think of. We visited the "Peabody Museum of Salem," and if anyone is interested in this article, you can read the complete write-up on it in the August "Holiday Magazine" on everything I spent about three hours going through.

I don't think I would have liked to have lived in those old days. There sure was plenty to see, and gosh, it made you feel like you were living back in the old days of Salem.

On our way back we stopped at the old Boston market place. Now if you really want to visit something old, just pay it a visit. Fish markets, lobsters, beef, all basement stores for this. You could look right down in them. And, oh boy, the fish odor was something. But one thing, the things were cheap. And there was every nationality there. If any of you have been to Boston, you know what I mean.

Then Dr. Huber had looked up this place called "Durgin Park," to eat... where your great-grandfather dined a century ago, and "established before you were born." This is the sign that greets you outside this famous old place. When you go upstairs, you will expect to be seated at a table alone. But instead you are seated at a long table along with others. Old fashioned red table cloths, real old large china water pitchers, tumblers of the old days.

They told me that the waitress just grew with the place. They looked it, but very nice.

Dave was going to order roast beef, but I told him you can get that anywhere. Everyone told us to order their steaks. And what steaks! Enough for three! And for the roast beef, it was one complete rib about three inches thick.

All I'd heard of was their strawberry shortcake. Well, I really got more than my share. The price for this dinner was $3.50. But as I said: It was enough for three.

This place was deeded to the Town of Boston by Peter Faneuil in the year of 1742 for the use as the Town Hall, affectionately called by the people in Boston as the "Cradle of Liberty." So you see how old the place really is.

I'm sending Mr. Jerred a folder to place in his window for you to read.

So much for that...

Watched Mr. Lyons' "Adios Harry" win the match race and it was a beautiful race. However, don't sell Adios Boy short. He was right there at all times. But you could just see the look of praise on Mr. Lyons' face when Adios Harry came in. Luther certainly drove him a nice race. And the fans cheered and cheered, and when the races were over, all the talk was still "Adios Harry." Don't think a big race don't draw out the people. We were just one hour trying to get to Foxboro to get Doug. Down to his room, on boy, the lights were just like the Gay White Way in New York. So long till next week.

The Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum, with which Dr. Fleming will be associated, contains one of the largest collections of early American architectural interiors, furniture and decorative accessories ever assembled. In over a hundred period rooms, the story of life in America between the years of 1640 to 1840 is told through recreating the atmosphere in which our country's founders lived.

The Winterthur Museum is administered by the Winterthur Corporation, an education and charitable foundation.
