HIGHWAY DEPT. TO IMPROVE STATE ROADS

The construction program approved by the State Highway Department for the present biennium provides for the improvement of a number of existing highways and bridges, it was revealed by W. B. McKendrick Jr., chief engineer of the department.

Reconstruction of heavily traveled intersections along some of the main highways, to provide for a better flow of traffic at these intersections, are included among the approved projects, as are also several projects designed to relieve the heavy traffic volume on some existing highways in thickly populated areas.

Many projects designed to improve the safety of travel are listed for action during the present biennium, including the widening of the Naaman's underpass, the completion of the dual highway along U. S. Route 13, from Harrington to Greenwood and the completion of the dual highway along the Concord Pike from Talleyville to the Pennsylvania line, as well as some improvements to the entrance at the Dover Air Force Base along U. S. Route 113.

Mr. McKendrick, under whose direction the program was prepared, cited that the projects contained in the program provide for every type of highway improvement that can be undertaken by the department.

Numerous streets in cities and towns which carry traffic between main used highways, or serve as connections for these highways, are listed for improvement to meet these traffic conditions.

Erection of new buildings, or the construction of additions to present structures, used by the various divisions of the department, are included in the projects on the program.

Some of the projects provide for the continuation of improvements that have previously been started by the department, such as the Walnut Street crossing into Wilmington and the extension of the widening and resurfacing of existing highways through suburban areas.

Also the widening and resurfacing of some existing highways in each of the three counties, that are handling heavy volumes of traffic, are included in the projects on the program.

Replacement of some bridges, and the improvement of other bridges, are likewise included among the approved projects, as are also maintenance projects for existing highways, such as patching with concrete and hot-mix asphalt, and resurfacing work.

Mr. McKendrick revealed that the program contains a total of 63 projects with 24 being in New Castle County, 18 in Kent County and 21 in Sussex County, also that these projects will have an estimated cost of $14,825,000, of which $6,600,000 is for the projects in New Castle County, $3,050,000 for the projects in Kent County and $5,175,000 for the projects in Sussex County.

Included in the projects for New Castle County are construction of a dual highway on the Concord Pike, from Talleyville to the Pennsylvania line, reconstruction of Maryland Avenue, from Boxwood Road to Silview, New Castle Avenue from Finger Board Road to Lander's Lane, Philadelphia Pike, from Bellevue to Road 50, Edgemore and Marsh Roads, from Governor Printz Boulevard to the Philadelphia Pike.

Curtis Mill Road from Newark to Milford Crossroads, Miller Road from Lee Boulevard to Baynard Boulevard, Bellevue Road from the Philadelphia Pike to Governor Printz Boulevard, Concord Avenue, from Market Street to the Concord Pike, DuPont Parkway from Corbett's Station to Tybout's Corner, New Bridge Road and Alapocas intersection, Walnut Street from Front to Fourth Streets, Taylor's Bridge and approaches.

SEEK FEDERAL REGULATION OF MILK SALES

A federal milk marketing hearing to consider federal regulation for the Wilmington area, is being held at Wilmington this week, with dairy farmers from the Maryland and Pennsylvania borders joining Delaware farmers in support of a federal order.

The hearing, which is being conducted by G. Osmond Hyde, U. S. Department of Agriculture, was requested by the Inter-State Milk Producers' Co-operative because of what it termed "chaotic marketing conditions," following the recent retail milk price war in Wilmington.

At the opening day's session, O. H. Hoffman Jr., general manager of Inter-State, emphasized that a federal order would have no control over prices to consumers, but would insure a "just and fair price" to producers.

Testifying as to the history of the Wilmington price war, Mr. Hoffman and Dr. James E. Honan, Inter-State economist, told the hearing examiner and audience of 150 producer and dealer leaders that it started June 1 with the sale of milk by Country Maid Dairies at 69 cents in gallon jugs, plus 25 cents deposit. Other dairies cut prices to meet the competition but until June 23 the dairies absorbed the cost of the price war.

Then Clover Dairy cut its producer price to $4.50 a hundredweight for Class 1, 4 per cent milk, a reduction of 67 cents from the prevailing price of $5.17.

By Aug. 1, other dairies had also cut their price to producers, although the prevailing price had gone up to $5.57 because of seasonal fluctuation. Just before the hearing opened, the Wilmington dairies announced a price rise for September to $5.30 a hundredweight. This is still 27 cents below the prevailing price, which for 13 years has been 12 cents per hundredweight less than the Philadelphia price. Philadelphia producers now get $5.69.

Among Delaware producers who testified in support of the proposed federal order were: William L. David of Bear, State Senator John R. Butler of Middletown, W. Levis Phipps of Centreville, R. I. Wilmington; Norman T. Dempsey of Newark R. 3, and William H. Naudain of Newark R. 3.

The area suggested for federal regulation includes the first 10 representative districts in New Castle County.

Senator Butler expressed his support of a federal order for Wilmington, although there has never been state or federal milk control in Delaware, and then read a resolution passed by Pomona Grange No. 1, New Castle County, of which he is master.

The resolution stated that the retail price war in Wilmington is working "a considerable hardship" on farmers producing milk in the area and supported the Inter-State Co-operative's action in seeking the establishment of a federal order for the Wilmington sales area.

Mr. David, vice-president of the Delaware Farm Bureau, president of the Kirkwood Local of Inter-State, and a member of the Wilmington Milk Marketing Committee, testified:

"A federal order is the only type of regulation that will prevent disorderly marketing, since Wilmington gets its milk from four states—Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania. Producers have no control over production costs, such as food, labor, supplies and repairs, and therefore producers need a minimum price established."

Mr. David added that "dairymen is a long-range program—you can't

Firemen Want Ladder Returned

Has anyone seen a 24-foot extension ladder belonging to the Bridgeville Fire Company?

Somebody "borrowed" the ladder right from the truck in the firehouse, F. Joseph Willey, company president, said. They need it back.

This was revealed at a meeting Monday night, when seven new firemen were accepted by the company. Willey said they will be enrolled in a basic training fire-fighting course to begin here Monday, Sept. 26. It will be held each Monday night, with Mr. Willey as instructor, under direction of the State Board of Education.

German Girl Visits Maryland Families

Ursula Leitgen, an International farm youth exchangee from Giershofen, Germany, is visiting in Maryland before she returns to her native country later this month. Her host family is the Edward Derr family, New Windsor, Carroll County.

Miss Leitgen, timing her visit here in Maryland, has had an opportunity to participate in annual 4-H Club Week on the university campus in early August, and also to visit the Maryland State Fair at Timonium the first week in September.

Following her arrival in New York City in May, Miss Leitgen participated in an orientation program in Washington, D. C., and then was on her way to Montana, where she visited with farm families.

At the "mid-point" meeting in East Lansing, Mich., before going to her second host state, Miss Leitgen met and exchanged impressions of America with young people from 25 other countries.

Miss Leitgen lives on a 33-acre farm with her father, two brothers, and one sister, where they raise potatoes, rye and wheat. She has had experiences with all home-making activities, poultry and gardening. She is leader of a rural youth group, a square dance group and is a member of gymnastic clubs. Her special interests are in horticulture, home economics and youth group organizations.

The International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program, which seeks to promote better understanding between nations, is sponsored and conducted jointly by the Co-operative Extension Service and the National 4-H Club Foundation, Silver Spring.

MILFORD YOUTH FOUND HANGED

Harry R. Annette, age 14, whose home was at Milford R.D., was found dead from hanging in a barn on his home farm Friday morning. The indications were that it was a case of suicide.

On Thursday afternoon, about 3 p.m., state police were advised that the youth was missing from his home and a request was made that the police be on the lookout for him.

About 7:30 a.m. Friday the youth's father went into the barn and found him dead, with his body hanging from a rafter in the barn. It was indicated that the youth had been dead for some time.

Coroner Trader on Saturday announced that he had entered a verdict of suicide in the case following the completion of his investigation. He said that examinations revealed no evidence of foul play.

The coroner said that interviews with his youthful friends and schoolmates brought no information as to why the youth might have taken his life except that he did not like to go to school.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 11, at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, at 1 o'clock. Interment was at Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

County Agent Receives Award

James P. Brown, retired Wicomico County, Md. agricultural agent, received a distinguished service award at East Lansing, Mich. Thursday evening, at the annual banquet of the National County Agents Association meeting, held on the Michigan State University campus.

Brown served as county agent in the southern Maryland county for 29 years, retiring July 15 this year. Before becoming county agent he served 14 years with the U. S. Forestry Service in Montana.

Because of his long service as a county agent and because he took such an active interest in his work, Brown was selected to receive the award. Through his efforts he has improved vegetable production through better varieties and cultural practices.

John Magruder, state county agent leader, said at a recent tribute to Brown. "We have never heard Jim Brown promote himself. As a result, everyone has promoted him. He has always been friendly, kind and humble in working with the people of Wicomico County."

Under the terms of the resolution creating it, the commission will recommend to the 119th General Assembly such legislation they find necessary to accomplish the final passage of a constitutional amendment authorizing bingo in this state.

Members of the commission named by the governor are William Fritchett Jr., Wilmington; Mrs. Vera G. Davis, Dover; and Howard T. Ennis Jr., Georgetown.

Senator Charles G. Moore, president pro-tem of the Senate, has named Michael A. Poppit of Wilmington, and Ralph H. Boyer of Dover.

Speaker James Quigley of the House named Reps. Daniel J. Queen Jr. and Irving H. Garton, both of Dover.

Other watermen believe it would be conservative to say that the 1955-56 oyster season holds great promise, both for production and quality of oysters. It is pointed out that with an open winter, a production above 3,500,000 bushels can be looked for. That would be a sizable increase over last season's 3,100,000 bushels. The increase is possible if the weather is favorable and if as many tongers and dredgers work this season as worked last season.

Samples of oysters so far are reported to be good and oysters are expected to get better. Apparently they have not been hurt by the storms. Packers like fat oysters will produce a gallon of shucked oysters for each bushel of shell oysters.

Tongers and dredgers are looking forward to a prosperous season, provided, of course, the weather is good.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

There is plenty of excitement going on here now, with all the moving from the other track here to the Blue Bonnets Raceway. Everyone trying to beat the rush.

"Course there are races here on Sunday afternoon, so some have to wait. But yesterday there was a steady stream of horses coming in. Our stable is on the main road, so we can see it all.

The lights were turned on to be tested out and the loud speaker blasting away, it looked like the races had started. My trailer faces the mile track, also I can see the grandstand from here. But not enough to see the races.

So far all they have is two races that can be raced from the paddock. You have to work out of the barn. Which I really like. After having to start from here to be over to the other track in time to warm up, anything seems good. Spend half your time going back and forth. There will be plenty now that can't get in here at the barns, they too, will have to ship in.

There is a five-mile race on today at the other track, something I have never seen. So Dave and I are going over to watch that. They say that is really something. Like watching an automobile race, just to see the different ones drop out of the race. Anyway, they thought the five-mile race would draw better than the $5,000 trot. So Janet's Girl is in the big race here for Tuesday night.

Dave seems to always do better on his last night at a racetrack. Won with Big Elmer. I didn't go over, but they say he paid plenty. Last year it was with Janet's Girl and High Frequency the last night we were up here.

Howard Dupee also won with one of his horses this week and second with another. I don't see how Jane keeps going every night, but she makes it somehow.

Mr. Dupee tells me that Happy Gray will be in this week from Foxboro, also Fred Floyd. There are certainly plenty of the boys from the States coming in for this meet. About as many Americans as there are Canadians. Guess the raise in purses did that.

For one thing, I think that's odd here, is: They keep the gate going along just behind the eight horse during the races, to see that everything is on the level, and no dirty work. This I have to see. Here and Saratoga are the only places, so they say. Besides the four patrol judges, they have three men on the gate to watch. Pretty strict here at this track. Mr. Ramsey, who has had his horses here along beside Dave, said hat (and I quote)—it was to keep from dirty driving and not trying with your horse. He used to be a driver, so he knows the score about these things. Seems they are trying to get away from the boys' rough riding, and they certainly have had plenty of that over at the other track.

They are having a drivers' meeting here tomorrow, at which, the manager tells, he really will set the boys down for rough riding. They should. There was a bike torn up this past week that looked like a train had hit it. Nothing

Oct. 2-8 Will Be Employ Physically Handicapped Week

Delaware will mark the week of Oct. 2 through 8 as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week and special efforts will be made through newspapers, radio, television and visual displays in business houses as to how rehabilitated persons are made self-supporting and can become productive citizens in the community.

Mason E. Turner, personnel director of Jos. Bancroft and Sons Co., Wilmington, chairman of the Governor's Committee for the Physically Handicapped, which works on a round-the-year basis, said this week that while progress is being made toward the employment of handicapped people, not as many have been hired by Delaware firms as his committee hoped there would be this time.

However, he said that a recent survey among manufacturers found them sympathetic, and many who do hire physically handicapped people report that they are among their top production workers.

As part of the week's program, the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education will stage case finding clinics in Dover, Georgetown and Wilmington. Through the clinics they hope to attract physically handicapped people of whom they do not know, and for whom they may be able to do something which will assist them in becoming productive, self-supporting citizens.

John King, the vocational rehabilitation director, pointed out, however, that his work will be limited this year if further funds are not made available by the General Assembly. Based on case loads, more than $30,000 in federal money is available for the work, but there must be matching funds from the state level.

It was learned that through recent social security law changes, new handicapped cases at the rate of 20 a week are being reported to his division. Ways must be found to assist these people, he said. Dr. Raymond W. Heim, director of Vocational Education,

State Department of Public Instruction, backed up Mr. King's statement.

The governor's committee hopes to reach every community in the state with the message this year that "it is good business to employ the handicapped," once they are trained and rehabilitated.

The "kick-off" for the week will take place at a meeting of Wilmington Rotary Club on Sept. 29, when Earl Bunting, Washington, D. C., vice-president of the President's National Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped, will address the group.

Governor J. Caleb Boggs has also been called upon to proclaim the week for special observance in the state, and manufacturing executives and personnel men will be briefed on the committee's work, according to Chairman Turner.

Gov. Boggs Pays Tribute to Industry of Broadcasting

This week is being marked as National Radio and Television Week and Governor J. Caleb Boggs paid tribute to the industry yesterday in a statement released from his Dover office.

"The widespread enjoyment which has come to the public through radio and television is indeed one of the great public services of our time," Governor Boggs declared.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to our manufacturers and business enterprises for their sponsorship of programs which have added so much to our individual knowledge and entertainment over the years. This media, which reaches into practically every American home in one form or another, has been helpful to children in their formative years. It is especially gratifying to the elderly, who can pass their time after retirement with less boredom.

"While it is true that there has been criticism concerning some types of radio and TV productions, I am sure that we can safely say that the great majority of presentations have merited our praise. With the advent of educational television we may look forward to a new era in the field of communication which will be beneficial to all."

Governor Boggs also congratulated the Electric Appliance Dealers of Delaware, who are observing National Radio and Television Week, for their continued activity and business acumen, through which, he said, "it is possible for families to enjoy the luxury of radio and television at moderate prices."

"In our great American system of free enterprise, we find keen competition in this market, yet great service is rendered. We can depend on our appliance dealers to give us the very best in equipment and service for the money we invest.

"I sincerely hope that local programming over our radio and TV outlets will continue on the par which we have enjoyed. The public services rendered by owners, directors, announcers and special events personnel assures us that all of our citizens can be well informed and entertained at the turn of a dial in their living rooms," Governor Boggs concluded.

Britons bought 500,000 washing machines last year against 93,000 in 1928.

Bob Knight, veteran righthander of the pennant-winning Milton nine, pitched a no-hit, no-run game at Milton Sunday, as his team took a one-game lead in its best-of-three Mar-Del League semi-final playoff series with Fredonia, 7-0.

Only three men reached base against Knight, none getting further than second, as not a ball was hit to the outfield. Knight struck out six. Loser Red Greenfield gave up seven hits and all of the Milton runs before Jim Postles relieved him with two out in the sixth and held Milton hitless the rest of the way.

Bob Millman batted in three runs for the winners on a triple and a single.

In a one-game playoff at Felton for fourth place, Felton defeated Farmington on 13-4, with Harry Hutchins, who played first base or caught during most of the season, doing the pitching for the triumph.

A MORE COMPLETE STORY ON THE ISAACS ATTACK
MAY HAVE SAVED SOME OTHER VICTIM
FROM A SIMILAR MAULING

Insofar as it is possible, the Wilmington daily papers make it a point to avoid references to the race of persons involved in the crimes they report in their columns. The motive behind this policy is pretty much the same motive that actuates the policy of these papers to push integration in Delaware's schools. Laudable or lamentable, depending on how you feel on this issue, the papers rendered a disservice to their readers yesterday when they reported the attack on Charles Isaacs, and withheld the information that the assailant was a Negro.

This man is still at large. He may very well attack other persons, who not knowing that he was a Negro, will unsuspectingly lay himself open to a brutal assault. Surely there can be nothing disgraceful to the Negro race because this one character stepped out of line. But it is absurd to split hairs in reporting the story and delete information that could conceivably be of help to others who might be involved.

Newspapers mention race, age, occupation and residence of persons in the news for identification. Two Delaware dailies last week mentioned two boys charged in an alleged rape case near Cheswold. They did not mention the race of the defendants.

However, Monday night, Sept. 5, at Lewes Beach, Bryant Bowles, several days before the account appeared in the newspapers, gave the names and ages of the defendants and their race. Now, suppose there were white persons of the same name in the neighborhood. Then what?

And Answers
To Problems

Q—I am taking Korean GI farm training and my monthly GI allowances so far have been reduced twice. Under the new law calling for top allowance rates for the first year, will VA make a retroactive adjustment, paying me the difference between what I received so far and what I would have received under the new system?

A—Under the law, retroactive adjustments will not be made. But, beginning in October, your monthly allowances will be refigured under the new system. You will receive the maximum allowance rate for the rest of your first year in training, after which your checks will be reduced at four-month intervals.

Q—I am getting a VA pension, and I recently inherited enough money to push my yearly income above the limit set for pensions. Am I supposed to report this fact to the VA?

A—Yes. You should promptly report your additional income, so that VA can discontinue your pension payments. If you do not report it, you may find yourself hard put, later on, to repay a sizable sum of money to the VA.

Q—I have a World War II GI term insurance policy. Is it possible to convert just part of it to a permanent plan, or must I convert all of it at once?

A—If you wish, you may convert only part of your GI term insurance to permanent insurance. However, the insurance must be converted in multiples of $500, and the minimum amount that may be converted is $1000.

Q—I plan to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. Would it be possible for me to receive my GI allowance pay in advance, before I start class?

A—No. Under the law, the allowances are paid some time after the end of each month of training completed, and not before. Furthermore, after the end of the month, you and your school will have to sign a certification stating you were in class all month. VA is allowed up to 20 days, after receipt of that certification, to send you check.

SPACE SAVING IDEAS

Many gardeners who are short on space grow vegetables and flowers together.

Most fall vegetables such as the leaf and root crops respond very well to flower border treatment and actually contribute to the good appearance of the flower garden.

Leafy vegetables such as lettuce, endive and parsley, make beautiful edgings with such flowers as ageratum and lobelia. As the leaf crops are harvested, the flowers will fill in the bare spots.

Beets and carrots, whose leaves are as decorative as their roots are useful and respond to the extra watering and richer soil they are likely to be exposed to in flower beds.

Sow beets in a rather wide swath and thin them during late summer. The young beet plants may be eaten as greens.

Red (rhubarb) Swiss chard has long been accepted as an ornamental, both in the garden and in flower arrangements.

There are, of course, many vegetables which will not fit into a flower garden scheme. Fruiting plants such as tomatoes, corn, cantaloupes and cucumbers are too big and unmanageable to add very much in the way of beauty.

Perennials such as asparagus and rhubarb can give texture and color contrasts to flower gardens. Rhubarb, itself, has most of the qualifications of a tropical plant, with large, glossy, crinkled leaves on strong stems. Asparagus ferns make excellent background material in late summer and can be cut for special effects in flower arrangements.

Social Security Office Advises Those Disabled

Extra dollars to more than 1,000 Delawareans will be available provided that a proper and timely application is made for the disability freeze provision of the Social Security law.

Retired workers now receiving old-age and survivors insurance checks may get an increase in their benefits if they establish that they have a total disability and fulfill other conditions of the law. In some cases, the increase may amount to $10.

Myron Milbourn, manager of the Delaware Social Security office at 813 West Street, Wilmington, advises seriously disabled people who used to work in covered employment or self-employment, to get in touch with that office in order to take the first step that may lead to increased benefit payments. The disability freeze provision may apply to those who:

Worked in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security law for as many as five years out of the 10 years before they were disabled.

Active military service and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work. By applying to have their Social Security earnings records frozen, disabled people may prevent loss or reduction of future benefits.

The "freeze" provisions will be significant for those people who have been disabled for a long time before they reached 65 and who are now receiving old age insurance payments. Larger payments will be received by those who are eligible if application is filed.

Those under 65 also stand to gain by establishing a disability freeze, if eligible. By filing at this time, for example, it is possible to establish a disability that began as far back as Oct. 1941. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors' payments, but only if he had applied for it before death. For this reason, it is important for every person who meets the requirements for the "freeze" to apply for it without delay.

The local Social Security official emphasized that the law protects the Social Security rights of a worker who is suffering from prolonged total disability, but does not pay cash benefits to him before he is 65.

A disability inquiry form that you can use as the first step toward an application is reproduced as a service to readers of The Harrington Journal.

If your answer to each of the questions is "Yes," fill in this form, cut it out, and mail to the Social Security office in Wilmington. If your answer to any question is "No," you are probably not eligible for a disability freeze. If you are in doubt, consult the Social Security office directly.

On receipt of this data, the Social Security office will be able to advise you whether you have the necessary wage credits to proceed with a disability application.

If a disabled person is unable to fill out the form, a friend or relative may do so for him.

10th Anniversary of United Nations Day Is October 24

Plans for state-wide observance of the 10th anniversary of United Nations Day, Oct. 25, were formulated in Legislative Hall, Dover, Thursday, Sept. 8, when 30 organization representatives and county leaders gathered for a briefing conference.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs attended the session, as did Mayors Ernest Killen of Harrington and Herbert Clukey of Camden, and Mrs. Jesse Loven, state chairman for the observance, said she was well pleased with the response to the conference.

"There is need for understanding of the importance of the United Nations," Governor Boggs said in his remarks opening the session, "and I believe the best way to make progress in that respect is to have people fully informed."

"There seems to be a growing demand on the part of citizens to know more about the United Nations, and I hope that through this 10th observance you will be able to point out the UN's accomplishments. This will be of great mutual help to us all."

Mrs. Harmon Money, president of the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs, introduced Theodore Smith, executive director, the United States Committee for the United Nations, who immediately began the briefing session.

Mr. Smith pointed out that his association's job was to disseminate factual information on the UN and to see that this was distributed and properly interpreted over the widest possible field. He pointed out pieces of helpful literature which community committees may secure to aid them in planning their observances.

Mr. Smith stressed the point that total participation by the United States in all UN programs is costing the taxpayer approximately 54 cents per capita annually. He said this investment in peace was quite in contrast to the $633 per capita spent to wage World War II.

One of the suggestions made by Mr. Smith as a practical way to observe Oct. 24 would be to plant a tree in a public square or park, and place at its foot a suggested plaque, which the United States committee has available. He suggested that 10-year-old children whose birthdays fall on Oct. 24 could be used in dedicating the tree as an act of faith and an expression of hope for the future.

Jack Smyth, Kent County chairman of the American Association for the United Nations, introduced William Cowan of the Foreign Policy Association, New York, who outlined briefly how his organization operates and ties in with the United Nations. Cowan called upon all groups to take more intelligent participation in discussions of political questions, both foreign and domestic, pointing out that this is a democratic country and everyone has a right to self-expression. However, he said by intelligent participation in forums of all kinds, the State Department and other governmental agencies would develop a much better sounding board on popular public opinion.

Mrs. Ruth N. Cann, publicly chairman for UN Day, presented Mrs. Edith H. Bohn, Wilmington public schools, who for the second year is chairman of the Wilmington Mayor's Committee for the observance of UN Day.

Mrs. Bohn called for more imaginative interpretations of the United Nations so that greater understanding would come to all groups who should be interested in international relations. She cited ways and means through which UN policies and programming could be made more acceptable to the entire population.

Mrs. Loven presented her three county chairmen for UN Day, Mrs. John G. Leach, New Castle; Mrs. John E. Burris, Kent, and Mrs. Milton Manlove, Sussex County.

General discussion and a question period brought the session to a close, with Governor Boggs expressing his personal thanks to those having been interested enough to attend.

Geological Survey Shows Delaware Has Ample Water

Delawareans should have plenty of water for municipal, industrial and agricultural uses for years to come. This fact was disclosed in a 336-page bulletin titled "Preliminary Report on the Geology and Ground-Water Resources of Delaware," recently released by the Delaware Geological Survey.

With proper management, the quantity of water should be sufficient for needs of the state, relate U. S. geologists Ira Wendell Marine and William Charles Rasmussen, authors of the report.

These findings have arisen from an extensive survey conducted jointly by the Delaware Geological Survey, under the direction of Dr. Johan J. Groot, the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Geological Survey. The project, examining the geology of the entire state, provides a needed foundation which will facilitate further ground water study in specific locations.

In discussing the state's water supply, it is observed that the 30 million gallons of water used daily in 1950 represents only about one-sixteenth of the estimated amount that can be withdrawn safely from the state. However, while Delaware as a whole is liberally supplied with water, certain areas, particularly coastal regions and densely populated locations, do face water problems. Also, in certain spots the extreme depth of the water may create an economic barrier.

Caption should be observed in the utilization of Delaware's ground water supply. For too heavy a demand on specific aquifers, or water-bearing sands, will result in a dangerous drop in the water level. Currently, local overdevelopment in Milford and Dover has already created an apparent water shortage.

There is, however, abundant ground water and little need for over-development as long as new users are willing to avoid the centers of concentrated pumpage. With an eye to the future, the authors predict that a plan will eventually have to be devised by which new wells will be spaced at certain intervals and water will be transported through pipelines.

The survey shows that Delaware has a good supply of surface water in the Piedmont area (northern New Castle County). Currently, Red Clay and Brandywine Creeks are fairly well exploited. Proposed dams on Naaman's and White Clay Creeks and a treatment plant on the latter will result in nearly complete utilization of the Piedmont surface water resources.

In addition to the streams of northern Delaware, there are also appreciable surface water sources on the Coastal Plain, or southern portion, of Delaware. While many of the streams are tidal far inland, there is a ground-water runoff which keeps a fresh water flow in the upper tidal reaches for most or all of the year.

Since the earth's rock formations determine the water-holding capacity, the bulletin includes a detailed study of Delaware's underlying rock strata. Underlying the areas of Newark, Wilmington and northern Delaware are hard, crystalline rocks mantled in most places by a zone of clay and sand. Water, stored in the clay and sand and in fissures of the hard rock, is suitable for domestic needs.

The remaining 94 per cent of the state is underlain by alternate beds of sand and clay forming a huge wedge-shaped mass that dips southeastward from Newark and attains a thickness of 8000 feet beneath Fenwick Island. The sand layers contain large quantities of ground-water. This water, moving in a general southeasterly direction, is ultimately discharged through wells and springs or is passed on outward beneath the sea.

Also contained in the report are maps and cross-sections of the geologic formations, graphs of the fluctuations and trends of water levels, diagrams of wells and pumping conditions, maps of the water table and of wells and test holes, tables of water analyses, tables of pumpage, logs of 392 wells and records of 1081 wells.

The fourth publication of the Delaware Geological Survey, the recent bulletin is the first to cover the entire state.

State Geologist Groot explains, "In view of the increasing demands made by industry and agriculture on the state's most valuable earth resource, it seems timely to present an evaluation of present water use, and an estimate of the availability of water in the future."

Brandywine Oval Ready for Opening Saturday Night

be distributed during the 30-night session, including 24 stake purses ranging from $4000 to $10,000 and two $15,000 invitational features, the Good Time Pace on Oct. 21 and the Greyhound Trot on Oct. 18.

Philadelphia area fans this year will again have the convenience of the special Pennsylvania Railroad train with connecting bus service from Philly direct to the track. The round trip fare of $3.00 includes grandstand admission. There will also be direct-to-track bus service from downtown Wilmington, Chester and other points.

Heading Saturday's nine-race inaugural card will be the $15,000 Inaugural Trot, a fast class event which has drawn no less than 35 crack nominees, including such stars as Boot Key, Crystal Royal, Newport Express, Miracle Hill and many others.

Beautiful Hawaiian orchids will be given free to the first 1,000 ladies on opening night.

Approximately 1,000 of America's top trotters and pacers are expected to compete, including such world champions as Adios Harry, holder of the world's race record of 1:55 for the mile; Adios Boy, Stenographer, Quick Chief and scores of others.

Nationally famous drivers such as Billy Haughton, who is on his way to copping the national driving championship for the third successive season; Stanley Dancer, Del Miller, Clint Hodgins and Henry Clukey, are among those scheduled to battle it out for the Brandywine leading driver's title.

Both the mile jog track and the half-mile racing oval have been rebuilt for increased speed and all-weather dependability. The track record of 2:01.1, set by Meadow Rice in 1953, seems certain to be eclipsed this season.

Due to the later racing dates, the deluxe Harry M. Stevens-catered clubhouse has been enclosed with glass, the grandstand partially enclosed, and gas heating units installed in both buildings and in all public rest rooms. Other improvements include a new entrance road, improved parking facilities, taxi ramps and walkways, and additional doubly double windows.

The meeting will be conducted under a crack official team headed by General Manager C. A. (Bud) Weymouth Jr. and including Presiding Judge Bob Steele, Associate Judges Charles Cushman and Harvey Hartman, Race Secretary Jim Lynch, Starter Dr. A. C. Goff, Mutuel Manager Joe Blimline and others.

Pennsylvania Dutch Tour

With the passing of summer, let's look back a bit! August 26 was the date for a Kent County Home Demonstration tour to Hershey, Pa., to see their seventh annual "Pennsylvania Dutch Days." Four busloads—147 women—went, and had a wonderful time!

The huge display of exhibits of all types of crafts attracted more attention from our group of homemakers than did any other part of the festival. Weaving, painting, pottery work, rug braiding, block painting, were only a few of the crafts displayed, demonstrated and for sale in hundreds of booths in the large arena. Another important part of the day was a real Pennsylvania Dutch meal served by one of the churches in Hershey. The day was brought to a conclusion by a square dance jamboree, and we stayed to watch part of it. It was a long day, but one which we enjoyed and which taught us a lot about our Pennsylvania Dutch neighbors.

Congratulations go to the committee who made the plans and arrangements! Mrs. Oscar Nemesh, Harrington, served as chairman, and other members of the committee were: Mrs. Howard Cooper, Harrington; Mrs. Frank Tharp, Harrington; Mrs. Joshua Lister, Harrington, and Mrs. Willis Laughery, Farmington.

Fall Programs

Have you gotten into the swing of your fall routine yet? Meeting the school bus, packing lunches, club meetings—and many other things—are all a part of it. There are lots of important meetings which will be on the Home Demonstration Club members' schedule this fall. These are the special Kent County meetings:

Oct. 4 — Kent County Home Demonstration Council meeting. All club presidents and officers of the council will have notices of the time and place. Here's hoping that each club will have at least one representative!

Oct. 11—Leader training meeting on using Master Mix. It will be at Viola Community Hall, at 1:30. Leaders and club presidents will receive notices.

Nov. 9 — Kent County Home Demonstration Achievement Day. Time to put this day on your calendar—you won't want to miss the program which is now being planned. Can't give you details yet, but it looks good!

Milk Is Made From Raw Materials

Milk, like an automobile, is made from raw materials. With the automobile, says County Agent George Vapaa, such raw materials as steel, copper, brass, aluminum, rubber, glass and cotton are reworked by men and machines, to make the finished product. With milk, the raw materials include grain, hay, pasture, silage and water. They are re-worked by the cow to make the finished product. Top quality raw materials, plus an efficient manufacturing plant, are essential for a quality finished product in either case.

He points out that a good legume-grass mixture grown on land adequately limed and fertilized and handled in an efficient manner will result in bright green, leafy hay, high in feeding value—far superior to that which is brown and stemmy.

Two-Thirds of All Delawareans Have Hospitalization

Two out of three Delawareans—over 236,000 people—are members of the Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. And since the beginning of this community health organization back in October of 1935, 20 years ago, one of the privileges which has pleased many of the plan's members is the continuation of membership privileges.

One of the grateful members of the Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan, Brooks Hitchens of Laurel, issued the fifth in the series of its walk of life, declaring, "I haven't been able to work since I left the hospital several months ago. But believe me, I'm going to keep my Blue Cross membership. That's where Blue Cross is different from other plans—you can take it with you when you leave a job."

The testimonial statements are being issued in connection with the 20th anniversary of Group Hospital Service, Inc., the not-for-profit, community health organization. The first statement was issued by one of the original members of Blue Cross—Howard M. Buckson, an advisor of the Dover branch of the Delaware Trust Company. Mr. Buckson, together with his son, H. Irving Buckson, manager of the Delaware Trust Dover branch, declared membership in the plan as "the soundest health investment you can make." Other statements were made by Mrs. Edgar J. Boggs of Cheswold, Mr. and Mrs. George Pappas of Smyrna, and J. Elmer Powell of Delmar.

Mr. Hitchens in his statement said, "I don't know how we would have managed without Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Last January, while I was working at Philadelphia Dairies, I had a heart attack, and I had to spend five weeks in the Nanticoke Hospital in Seaford. My hospital bill was $600 and Blue Cross paid all but $130 of it. In addition, Blue Shield paid my doctor $78 for 26 medical in-hospital visits. I haven't been able to work since I left the hospital, but believe me, I'm going to keep my Blue Cross membership. That's where Blue Cross is different from other plans, you can take it with you when you leave a job."

Blue Cross-Blue Shield members who leave their jobs should inquire at the Blue Cross-Blue Shield office about transferring their memberships to a group at their new place of employment—or, if no group is available, to pay directly to the Blue Cross-Blue Shield office. Members who move or who are transferred from Delaware may call at the office for information about transferring their membership to the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan of their new residential area.

In its 20 years of service to Delawareans, Group Hospital Service has paid out over $33,000,000 for hospital and doctor bills for its members. Most members in Delaware belong through groups where they work.

Brooks Hitchens, former employee of Philadelphia Dairies

"...you can take it with you"

"I don't know how we would have managed without Blue Cross," says Mr. Brooks Hitchens, of Laurel. "Last January, while I was working at Philadelphia Dairies, I had a heart attack, and I had to spend five weeks in the Nanticoke Hospital. My hospital bill was $600—and Blue Cross paid all but $130 of it. In addition, Blue Shield paid my doctor $78 for 26 medical in-hospital visits. I haven't been able to work since I left the hospital, but believe me, I'm going to keep my Blue Cross membership. That's where Blue Cross is different from other plans—you can take it with you when you leave a job!"

Continuous protection! Your Blue Cross-Blue Shield membership is unique in that when you leave a job it is easy to transfer your membership to a new group, or if no group is available, to pay directly to the Blue Cross-Blue Shield office. Blue Cross-Blue Shield is the family health plan that gives you and your family the best and safest health protection at the lowest possible cost. It will pay you to find out about the continuous protection of Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Contact the office nearest you.

Beacon feeds tell their own story

There's a story in a feed's appearance...not just today... but every day... uniformity day in and day out.

The Beacon formula isn't changed from day to day to use so-called bargain ingredients which may be available. Efficient formulas require that each ingredient be balanced in terms of the whole formula. Change one ingredient and the whole formula must be readjusted... and tested... to secure a skilful balance of the many feed factors involved. It's more complicated than ever today. Guesswork formulation cannot compete in results.

Many poultrymen have observed the uniformity... and the clean, appetizing odor of Beacon Feeds. We wonder if you have too. Do you know why?

"Off" odors result from two things: Ingredients of inferior quality... or those of proper quality which have been improperly stored. Only quality ingredients are used in Beacon rations... and these are handled and stored so as to protect that quality until you use them. Though such ingredients cost a bit more per pound, experienced poultrymen know they cost less in feeding value.

YOU CAN'T FOOL THE CHICKEN. Since chickens are constituted to use high quality, concentrated ingredients more efficiently, there is no economy in using second grade feedstuffs of lower nutritional potency.

Long experience and scientific testing have proven the Beacon formula. Beacon fed birds receive optimum feeding potency day after day... month after month. This kind of feeding keeps birds in prime condition for more profitable results.

You can FEEL-SEE-SMELL the difference in Beacon feeds. What's more important you can SEE the difference in poultry profits when you combine Beacon Feeds and the proven Beacon Program.

See your Beacon dealer now.

GRAPES, APPLES ON MARKET NOW IN ABUNDANCE

Abundant supplies of grapes are lowering prices. Most Delaware stores are featuring at least one popular variety. Thompson seedless grape production is about 40 per cent above last year and prices are very attractive. Select grapes that appear fresh, mature and firmly attached to the stems. Other varieties of western table grapes on the market this week are Red Malagas and large jet-black Abiers. Grapes from nearby vineyards are available in some stores. One of the most popular eastern varieties is the slip-skin Concord, suitable for table use, juice or jelly making. Use grapes often while prices are favorable—in fruit bowls, lunch boxes and fall salads and desserts.

Early apples lacking color are excellent buys. McIntosh and Red Delicious apples are available at reasonable prices, and when these varieties do not have much red color they are considerably cheaper, making them very economical for cooking and desserts. Other moderately priced fruits include cantaloupes, watermelons and pears. Peaches remain a good buy even though prices in most stores are slightly higher than last week.

Vegetable "best buys" this week include sweet potatoes, sweet corn, cabbage, peppers, onions, squash, eggplant and string beans.

Meat prices are generally higher this week, but are still lower than a year ago. Among the best values in pork cuts are shank halves of ham, Boston butts, liver, sausage meat and picnic shoulders. Shoulder cuts and stew meat are good choices in both lamb and veal. Beef cuts offering the greatest economy are liver, ground beef, blade cut chuck roasts, rib and round roasts.

Frying chickens, turkeys and ducks have held about steady in price since last week, and all are fairly economical in costs per serving.

Note egg prices carefully. Now that eggs have increased in price it is more important than ever to select the size that is the best value. At current retail price levels, medium eggs are a better buy when they are 10c or more below the large size. If the spread is less than 10c, the large eggs are a better choice.

September brings the season's first oysters. Many stores already are featuring either the "shucked" oysters or those in the shell. Large frying oysters are priced about 1c per pint higher than smaller, stewing oysters. Other seafood that deserve attention this week are: fresh porgies, whiting, mackerel, frozen cod, perch, cocktail shrimp and halibut steaks.

Greenwood

Mrs. Lyda Lynch, who has come back to make her home here again after teaching in Wilmington, was delightfully surprised with a card shower on her recent birthday. Miss Lynch started her teaching career here in 1901, later teaching in Laurel and finally in Wilmington. It is nice, indeed, to have her back home again.

Sunday guests at the Emmett Whitmore home were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Valencourt and children, all of Georgetown.

The Greenwood Methodist Church wishes to make this advance announcement. Their annual supper will be held Oct. 8 and will consist of chicken, ham and oysters. There will be more details of this later.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Eva O'Day were the Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Moore and children and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Andrew and son. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin O'Day and two young daughters of Marsh Hope, Isaac Noble of Hickman, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Nagel and children of F. deralsburg.

Sunday guests at the J. Burton

Center home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles DuBois and son, James, of Marshallton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and

Ellen spent Sunday afternoon with their aunt, Mrs. W. Edward Bennett of Milford, and enjoyed a supper snack.

The manner in which a service is handled helps to mold its character. This thought is ever before us and is reflected in the many little courtesies which we consider a part of competent direction.

just quit drawing milk the way you can stop digging coal."

Mr. Phipps in his testimony, said that when dealers broke away from their agreement to pay 12 cents less than prevailing Philadelphia prices last June, it "caused a chaotic condition which will be hard to remedy." He added that many farmers have talked of selling their herds because they could not meet expenses under these conditions.

"The cost of producing milk has increased greatly in the past 15 years," Mr. Phipps said. "Labor costs have increased from $15 to $50 weekly, cost of equipment has doubled, feed costs have risen from $2.23 per cwt. to $3.76 per cwt., while the price of milk has increased only from about $3.75 per cwt. to $4.48, which was my July return. This certainly shows that the price of milk has not kept pace with the cost of production. It is impossible for farmers to continue to produce milk under these conditions."

Mr. Dempsey declared, "A turmoil is caused in the market by price-cutting. The price of milk may be cut and cut again unless a federal order is put into effect. Without a federal order, a price war can break out at any time that someone sees what he thinks is an opportunity for unusual profit. When that happens, producers suffer and, with them, the general economy of their communities."

Mr. Naudain, in a statement prepared for testimony, said that since his milk is purchased by Abbott's Dairies, he is interested not only in the Wilmington market, but also in the Philadelphia market, in both of which Abbott's is active, and submitted a resolution adopted by the Delaware State Grange.

The resolution declared that the dairy industry is Delaware's second largest agricultural enterprise and that Delaware dairy farmers are facing an undue hardship due to a dealers' price war and the price cut to the producer, and concluded:

"Whereas the State of Delaware has no control law and no legal means of protecting the milk market, therefore we, the executive committee of the Delaware State Grange do hereby endorse the Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative's recommendation for a federal milk marketing order to stabilize the market for the Wilmington area."

Also scheduled to testify in favor of a federal order for Wilmington are Dr. George M. Worcille, head of the College of Agriculture, University of Delaware, and two of his associates, who have made a special study of the Wilmington milk marketing situation. The hearing may continue next week. Results will be announced at a later date after testimony has been reviewed in Washington.

left at all. The driver had his arm broken in three places. Now they say, there was no excuse for the wreck. Dave was three lengths ahead last night, but he said he could hear their wheels clicking behind him, and he was glad he was that far ahead.

But here at Blue Bonnets they say "No rough stuff!" We will see as the races go on.

So far I haven't found my way around Montreal as yet. Never have I seen so many Y's. They will say: Just go to the forks and turn left. So what? There are a million forks in Montreal. I hunted for the bottle gas company till I ran a tank of gas out and quit. And I've been around a lot. These darn French names get me. Oh, where is my French? You ask someone, and they look at you as though you were crazy. Sometimes I feel like it, after the sessions I have with them.

Be glad to get back to the States and I do mean, it won't be too soon for me. Wish we were racing right there.

So long till next week.

Latest Info Given On How To Fight Fleas

You're back from a summer vacation, and you find your house jumping—not with jive, but with fleas. This has never happened to a lot of homemakers, but according to entomologists with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it can happen to even the most meticulous of homemakers where there are pets that have been in a house before the family went on vacation.

Research entomologists say they receive hundreds of requests for advice on getting rid of fleas—on farm animals and in farm buildings as well as in homes. Calls from returning vacationists have been especially numerous this summer, perhaps because the number of dogs and cats in this country has been increasing, they say. Homemakers particularly want to know the best household methods of fighting these pests.

The good news about fleas is that controlling them today is fairly easy, thanks to the newer insecticide preparations. Full details are given in a handy, illustrated leaflet, just issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Single copies of "Fleas—How to Control Them" (Leaflet 392) are free on request to the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C. All information in the new publication is based on research.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Truly gracious dining depends largely on the atmosphere you create and the table setting—a lovely tablecloth, tasteful china and glassware, a pretty centerpiece. With this aura of elegance, you may serve a simple meal or party fare and always retain the reputation of being a perfect hostess.

DINNER TABLE DRESSING

When dressing and setting a table for dining, you need to utilize your knowledge of color harmony, your feel for coordinate texture and design. To avoid an excessive dose of any one type of decor, always blend plain with fancy. A simple cloth is a perfect background for china of intricate design; whereas simply trimmed china is most effective when placed on a tablecloth with an all-over crocheted pattern. China service calls for a fine-textured cloth, and earthenware for a heavier-looking one. As for color, a white or ecru tablecloth is always safe, but some modern table settings are distinguished by the mixing and matching of colors, which, when done artfully, achieves a dramatic effect. If you wish to use a colored cloth, select a color that will be repeated in your china or one that acts as a contrast. The finishing touch to a well-dressed dinner table is the centerpiece which should harmonize with the entire setting. Delicate flowers are most appropriate atop a lacy cloth set with fine china. Colorful fruits and vegetables in copper or brass containers enhance an informal table dressed with a cloth of heavy texture and gay, earthenware dishes.

CROCHETED TABLECLOTH FOR ELEGANT ENTERTAINING

For those special dinner parties when you want every detail to reflect your charm as a gracious hostess, create a mood of elegance by adorning the table with a lacy, crocheted tablecloth of exquisite design. This cloth, made of individual motifs, 1 1/4 inches square, is an important piece of handmade artistry. It has a dainty, picot edging to set off the all-over pattern. Crochet it of the spangled crocheted cotton that combines white, gold and silver, a perfect foil for your silverware, or make it in the traditional cream, ecru or white. Complete crocheting directions for GOLD AND SILVER SPANGLED TABLECLOTH may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and requesting Leaflet No. 114.25.

Variety Needed In Soft Diets

"Anyone who has ever been on a soft diet for long knows how monotonous it can be."

This is the beginning statement in a report from the Missouri Experiment Station of a study on improving soft diets by giving them more variety and making them more attractive, palatable and nutritious. People who are long confined to the few food items on the traditional soft diet often lose appetite and interest in eating. Then they are likely candidates for malnutrition. Foremost among these are elderly people, limited to soft food by chewing difficulties or other conditions. Many people are on special diets of smooth, non-roughage food. There are also the convalescents, who need plenty of nourishment but must take it soft. Finally, there's the young baby in the family who needs to learn, even before his teeth come in, to like a variety of foods.

An electric blender can be a boon not only to any of these "dieters," but also to the whole family, according to the Missouri report. Blenders will liquify, puree, blend or mix foods in a few seconds. They make it possible to keep the fresh flavor in soft dishes and to make combination dishes that the whole family can enjoy, such as vegetable souffles, meat spreads and loaves, sherbets and milk and fruit drinks.

Watch for Sooty Blotch Apple Growers Advised

Maryland apple growers should watch for sooty blotch which may develop on apples before harvest, advises L. O. Weaver, University of Maryland Extension plant pathologist.

Sooty blotch appears as pale, irregular, cobwebby growth which later turns sooty brown or black. All varieties are susceptible, Weaver said, but the blotch is most noticeable on Grimes, Golden Delicious and Jonathan varieties. Early stages of sooty blotch have been found on Golden Delicious before Labor Day, he said. A wet August is blamed for the sooty blotch conditions.

Weaver recommends spraying apple trees with zineb or captan, using two pounds of chemical to 100 gallons of water. Where fruit rot has been a problem, Weaver recommends growers use one pound each of zineb and captan in 100 gallons of water. Apply spray only to those varieties that will be harvested late, he said.

Growers Told To Protect Corn Against Insects

Many Maryland farmers will be getting ready to put corn into storage. Much of this corn will be destroyed by insects and rats unless precautions are taken, said Wallace C. Harding, University of Maryland entomologist.

Before storing corn, Harding recommends a thorough cleaning of storage places. Sweep down the walls and ledges with a good broom or vacuum cleaner, he said. Empty feed bags should be destroyed or given a good cleaning if they are to be saved.

Mice and rats destroy much grain every year and Harding suggests installing an 18-inch band of sheet metal around the base of storage places. And corn cribs, he said, should be at least two feet above the ground.

Fumigation is good insurance against insects, Harding said, and he recommends spraying with an ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride mixture. Usage of this ready-mixed spray will depend on the tightness of the crib. Corn in cribs that have been tightly lined with lightweight roofing paper or 15-pound asphalt felt building paper should be treated with six gallons of mixture for each 1000 bushels of corn. Harding advises, "Always follow the manufacturer's directions."

Start 1956 Garden Now

In order to get the greatest returns from a vegetable garden, it is important that the soil be in good physical condition. Now is the time to do something about it. Organic matter worked into the soil will improve aeration and drainage and make it easier to cultivate. The easiest way to build up organic matter in garden soils is to grow wheat, oats or rye.

Sow seed of these soil-improving crops now between the rows of vegetable crops. Use one or two pounds of seed per 1,000 square feet. There should be enough plant food left over from fertilizer applied last summer to produce vigorous growth of the green manure crops.

These cover crops have a three-fold purpose: (1) increasing organic matter in soil, (2) storing of plant food over winter and (3) protecting the surface of the soil from erosion or compaction by rain during winter.

Perhaps you noticed during this dry summer just past how such gardens stood up much better than others. In most cases this was due to the high organic matter content of the better gardens. The soil was loose and spongy and could hold more water and the roots of the vegetable plants could go deeper and exploit a great volume of soil.

Grow a cover crop on your garden this fall. Enjoy its green color this winter and its benefits to your vegetable crops next summer.

Reese Theatre Schedules Bevy of Hit Pictures

'Tis no wonder theatre fans are all saying, "It's great to be a Movie Center patron," with such a bevy of harvest hits scheduled to play the Reese Theatre.

Just to be different and for the sake of unusual entertainment, not one, but three "Antics of Cheeta," will be shown in the so-called Screwball Monkey Circle, this Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17, along with Frankie Lane and Constance Powers in "Bring Your Smile Along," Columbia's new comedy with music, Randolph Scott in "Belle of the Yukon," is the second feature on this highly entertaining all-family bill.

When MGM decides to make a musical comedy, the saying is true, "It must be tops." Combined with 'know-how,' cinemascope and color, plus such stars as Gene Kelly, Cyd Charuse, Dan Dailey, plus a raft of comedians, girls and dancers, 'tis no wonder Radio City chose "It's Always Fair Weather" to open their new show season. This big dazzling extravaganza is the attraction listed for showing at Movie Center, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 18-19-20.

"Life," says S-"Marty" is a gem—and by all means see it. The hit that is now out-hitting all hits in New York, is "Marty." By all means see it as presented by Movie Center, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 21 and 22, with extra added treats.
