

FARM TALENT ROUND-UP CONTEST TONIGHT AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Eight contestants have signed up for a farm talent round-up contest, a feature of the annual Southern States membership meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. today at Harrington High School.

There will be elections of local board and farm home advisory committee members, and reports on co-operative service and operations for the 1954-55 year.

Light refreshments will be served after a business meeting. Door prizes will be given.

The eight contestants, to-date, are: Heather Venable, vocal solo; Rosalie Trotta, vocal solo; Christine Gerardi, vocal solo; Shirley Larrimore and Lelia Ellers, duet; Teresa Hrupsa, vocal solo; Viva Alena Reed, tap dance, and Dickie Taylor, song and guitar.

The contest will be sponsored by Peck Brothers Farm Supply Company and Southern States Co-operative.

The winning local act will be eligible to compete in district elimination contests, the winners of which will compete at Richmond, Va. The winner at Richmond will have the opportunity to appear on Ted Mack's TV show in New York.

Harrington Man Gets 100 Days

Emmett M. Ross, 36, of Harrington, was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail, in default of payment of a fine of $100 and costs on a charge of petty larceny by Alderman C. R. Dempsey, Dover. An additional 10 days was added to the jail sentence on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Dover police were advised that Ross was attempting to peddle an alarm clock along the streets, but police officers failed to locate him so the police requested the aid of the merchants warning system, used to advise all stores when persons are known to be in the area attempting to cash bad checks and other activities, and in a short time a merchant advised the police that Ross was in the neighborhood of his store.

After Ross was arrested, he was questioned by police and it was found that he had a lengthy criminal record in this area as well as other places. Since he was drunk at the time of his arrest, the additional charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct was placed against him.

When taken before Alderman Dempsey, Ross was found guilty of petty larceny and a fine of $100 and costs was imposed. In default of payment he was ordered to serve 90 days in jail.

TROOP 142, GIRL SCOUTS BEGINS FALL SCHEDULE

The Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 142 began its fall meeting Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 3:45 at Harrington Public School. This troop will have a new co-leader, Mrs. Walter Winkler, working with Mrs. Norman Brown.

They elected officials as follows: President, Brenda Banning; vice-president, Viva Reed; treasurer, Janet Hobbs; secretary, Iris Lee Warrington. They are now studying second class rank.

Bowles Refiles Suit Against Layton, Raising Claim For Damages to $260,000

Bryant W. Bowles, president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People, has refiled his libel suit against L. Lee Layton Jr., a Dover businessman.

The suit is identical with one filed Aug. 18, except it asks total damages of $260,000, where the first asked for only $200,000.

The first suit was dropped on Aug. 29 only 10 days after it was filed. Bowles' attorney, Maurice A. Hartnett III of Dover, would give no reason at that time for dropping the suit.

Bowles said last week at his home in Houston that he is in a "suit-filing mood." He said he has plans to file libel suits against Redbook Magazine and the Jewish War Veterans of America.

Boy Given Home By Horse Trainer, Robs Benefactor

A hungry, homeless boy for whom a 50-year-old harness horse trainer at Brandywine Raceway showed a fatherly interest, Sunday disappeared with the contents of his benefactor's wallet—$500 in currency.

Criminal investigators attached to the Penny Hill Station of the State Police traced the boy to Chester and back to Wilmington, where he fled from the bus center at Second and French Streets when the ticket agent became suspicious of a $50 bill the teen-ager placed on the counter.

The bitter story of "gratitude" was related to the police investigators by Bruce H. Puckett, a native of Elizabeth City, N. C., who moved to the Brandywine track with horses from Harrington last Friday.

The youngster he brought with him, unidentified by name, was described as between 14 and 16 years of age.

Just before leaving Harrington, Puckett listened to the hard luck story of the boy and managed to find him some odds and ends around the stable to perform and, in return, provided the boy with food and a place to sleep, the criminal investigators quoted Puckett as saying.

The youngster had a cot in the tack room, where the harness and other gear is kept. Puckett had a cot nearby.

The horse trainer, who left his trousers with the wallet in the pocket across his cot, returned about 9 a.m. Sunday to the cot. The $500 was missing from the wallet and the boy was missing from the quarters.

State police said it was about two hours later before they received a report of the incident. They traced the boy to a drug store at Naaman's and Faulk Roads, where he had bought a sandwich, presenting a $20 bill to the waitress.

The investigators said they were able to determine that the boy made the acquaintance of a motorist in the area, who agreed to drive him to Chester, where he planned to get a bus ticket to a point in the south. But he found the Greyhound Bus Station in Chester closed, police explained.

The young fugitive boarded a bus headed through Chester for Washington, D. C., and the driver agreed to drive the boy to Wilmington, provided he purchased a ticket in Wilmington, it was pointed out.

City To Have DST Thru October

The City of Harrington will continue daylight saving time thru October, it was announced Wednesday by Mayor Ernest Killen. Normally, this time ends this month.

Wilmington, Dover and Milford also continue daylight saving time thru October, as will the state offices.

Merrymakers HD Club Holds Regular Meeting

The Merrymakers Home Demonstration Club held its regularly monthly meeting Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. William Outten, Harrington Manor, with Mrs. Ralph Smith as co-hostess.

The club meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Francis Winkler, with the members repeating in unison the Homemakers' creed.

The roll call was made, with an attendance of 16.

The president appointed the new nominating committee for the election of officers: Chairman, Mrs. Thomas Peck; assisting her, Mrs. Herman Brown and Mrs. Fred Martin.

Mrs. Norman Brown and Mrs. Charles Greenough are to attend the leaders' training meeting on "Using Master Mix," to be held at Viola on Oct. 11.

The announcement was made of Achievement Day on Nov. 9.

Sulky Slants

Well the Blue Bonnets Raceway really got going with the 18,000 fans they had last Saturday night. Cars were parked everywhere, including the mile track, which they don't use in the evening except to warm up some horses.

Another thing the public likes here is, the gate follows along just behind the last horse. Seems to keep down that rough riding. Then, too, there are three judges on it, so they can really see what's going on. They, too, can put in their complaint, along with the drivers.

The paddocks up here are the best-lighted ones in the country. Certainly you won't get wet in them. Large overhangs extend out enough to cover horse and sulky. But so far only three races at a time can get in. But they are putting up new barns over there. Like Foxboro, this is a very quiet place. I mean the people and around the trailers. But don't get me wrong—gosh, they whoop it up at the races. And do they bet! But still, French country.

In the big trot last Tuesday, Dave was second with Janet's Girl. This lay-off has taken a lot out of her this past spring. They are putting on a $15,000 trot, also a $15,000 pace. They tell me in the office that all the best horses in the country have been invited for the try. But one thing here, you have to go just so fast to get in it. So I don't know if we will make it or not. I think so.

I guess by the time this goes to press "Happy" Gray will be here with his horses, along with a couple of Fred Floyd's. They spent a couple of days up here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dupee. Fred said he liked it here very much. Liked their style of racing.

I was in the main office this past week and was told this time next year an all new brick barn will be built, with hot and cold water in each stall. Well they certainly have plenty of room for them. The paddock will be across from where it is now. You sure do have a long way to go now. A good mile from our barn.

On Sundays up here they sure go for racing. They are expecting a large crowd for the races. Dave has two in, Watchin's Betty and High Frequency. So far they have been doing all right. We still haven't started my Volo Bohemia. Have worked the little fellow in 14, last half in, last half in 1:03. A free legged pacer, wears nothing at all. Hope to start him in (Continued on Back Page)

Howard Scott Back In Jail

Howard Scott, Negro, was sentenced to six months in Kent County Jail Saturday on a charge of petty larceny, by Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway.

Magistrate Callaway said the severity of the sentence was induced by the fact that Scott had been arrested on other larceny charges.

Scott was arrested Friday on a charge of stealing a pint of whiskey the previous day from Stone's Package Store. He had been released Sept. 13 from Kent County Jail, where he had served a sentence on three charges of motor vehicle violations.

Plans Made To Celebrate 10th Anniversary of U.N.

A committee representing the various civic organizations met in City Hall Tuesday evening to plan for the observance of the 10th anniversary of United Nations on Oct. 24.

Eight organizations were represented and committees appointed. More definite plans will be announced later.

SHORT AND MESSICK HONORED FOR GROUND OBSERVER WORK

Samuel A. Short Jr. and Chauncey Messick were among those honored Tuesday night at a meeting of the Ground Observer Corps in the First National Bank Building.

They received letters of commendation from Gov. J. Caleb Boggs and merit pins for having served more than 200 hours at the local spotting post. Short, supervisor of the local post, had served 274 hours, and Messick, 276 hours, at the local post.

State Board of Education Refuses Petition of Frederica Citizens To Enable Students To Attend C-R School

The State Board of Education Thursday night, Sept. 15, refused the petition of 174 Frederica citizens "to change the lines between Caesar Rodney and Felton Schools in order that our children may attend Caesar Rodney High School with transportation paid by the State Board of Education."

A group of about 10 parents and Zora Tatman and Benjamin Malack, members of the Frederica Board of Trustees, appeared before the State Board with the petition.

Their request was denied on the grounds that the application of Frederica was incompatible with prior planning of the State Board for redistricting the Felton, Milton and Harrington area for a comprehensive high school.

The board also pointed out, quoting Howard E. Henry, president of Felton High School, that such a change would "tear the heart out" of Felton.

Henry, Russell Torbert and Cortland R. Dill of Felton appeared before the board to present the Felton stand.

This is the second time the Frederica request was denied. Last month Caesar Rodney requested that the Frederica parents who desired to do so, be allowed to send their children to Caesar Rodney.

Sixteen Frederica students are now attending Caesar Rodney and 34 attend Felton.

Transfers to Caesar Rodney were given when Felton did not have vocational courses in its curriculum. Since that time, such courses have been added. The only course currently lacking in Felton is auto mechanics.

The Frederica delegation also requested the privilege of holding a referendum on the question. The Felton group felt that a referendum would cause undue antagonism.

The Frederica group suggested

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Krouse announce the engagement of their daughter, Pauline Louise Krouse, to Airman 2/C Gifford Eugene Fry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Small of LaValle, Wis.

Miss Krouse is a senior in the Felton High School. Mr. Fry is stationed at the Dover Air Force Base.

No date has been set for the wedding, which will take place some time in spring or early summer.

Frederica Blanks Milton; Wyoming Defeats Felton

Frederica dealt pennant-winning Milton a 2-0 defeat at Frederica Sunday, to even their best-of-three semi-final series in the Mar-De Baseball League playoffs.

The victory came behind the two-hit hurling of Red Greenfield, who avenged a 7-0 no-hit loss to Milton's Bob Knight by besting the latter Sunday. Knight was nicked for five hits. Both hurlers went the distance.

Wyoming took the lead over Felton in the opener of the other semi-final series at Wyoming, turning back the visitors, 7-5. Aubrey Berry connected for a grand slam home run in the fifth inning to climax a six-run rally that provided the pitching win for Harry Barrett, although he needed help from Don Oliver in the ninth. Harry Hutchins went the route in defeat.

Next Sunday's series slate has Wyoming at Felton and Frederica at Milton.

Campaign Against Home Accidents Starts Oct. 8

Governor J. Caleb Boggs this week issued a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 8 as "Emergencies Don't Wait Week." Governor Boggs called on all residents of the State of Delaware to join the nation-wide campaign to protect their families against accidents by eliminating home safety hazards and by providing their homes with basic first-aid equipment.

According to National Safety Council statistics, our nation's accident rate is far more appalling than the annual toll of any disease on an armed conflict. Last year over nine million men, women and children were killed or disabled as a result of accidents, he declared. Still more concerning, Governor Boggs pointed out, is the fact that half these victims sustained their tragic injuries in the so-called sanctity of their homes.

While issuing the proclamation, Governor Boggs said, "In this era of international emergency and uncertain truce, every citizen wholeheartedly supports his country's program of preparedness. Yet in his own home he often neglects the basic elements of accident prevention and emergency preparedness by allowing unsafe conditions to exist and by failing to keep his home adequately equipped with essential first-aid supplies."

The proclamation follows: WHEREAS, each year more than 5,000,000 Americans of all ages are killed or severely injured by accidents in the home; and WHEREAS, these fatalities may frequently be prevented with prompt attention and proper first-aid treatment; and WHEREAS, effective first-aid can only be administered if the essential equipment is available, and emergencies do not wait until the home may be prepared to meet them; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of every citizen to contribute to his own and his family's safety by being fully prepared to deal with these home accidents; now THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 8, 1955, to be

DRIVER HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Lyle McKinsey, 39, of Harrington, was injured critically Tuesday night when his car turned over twice after striking a concrete abutment just outside the limits of town. He was thrown from the tumbling car onto the highway and suffered a fracture of the skull.

State troopers at Bridgeville said McKinsey was taken to the Milford Memorial Hospital in the Harrington ambulance. His condition is reported critical.

McKinsey, a horseman at the Harrington track, was traveling east on Delaware Avenue. The car was damaged extensively.

Trinity WSCS Plans Bazaar and Supper

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church is planning an annual bazaar and supper, to be held Wednesday, Nov. 9. Mrs. Katie W. Boyer, past-president, is general chairman. The following chairman and co-chairmen are in charge of the various booths:

Covers of New Telephone Books Show Scenes In Famous Cities

Distribution of the new Diamond State Telephone Company directories, featuring a new cover design, started on Tuesday, Sept. 20, and will be completed in about a week, it is announced by Theodore W. Collins, local manager for the company.

The cover theme is long distance telephone service and on it are scenes from half a dozen famous cities throughout the country. The illustrations are views of the San Francisco Bay Bridge, the Chicago lakefront, Independence Hall, the Miami oceanfront, the State House in Boston and skyscrapers of New York City.

Manager Collins pointed out that the book contains many new and changed numbers and he emphasized the point that the new

SHOP and SWAP IN THE WANT ADS

C. Arthur Taylor, of Harrington, was one of a seven-man state board of corrections appointed by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs last week. The board will take control of all penal institutions in Delaware, except youth institutions, next July.

Taylor is president of the Harrington Rotary Club, a director and vice-president of the Delaware Rural Electrification Association, a director of the Soil Conservation District of Kent County, and a successful farmer.

Other board members are: Robert G. Hackett, Wilmington, chairman of the governor's committee which made the studies and recommendations leading to revision of the present county prison system, for a five-year term.

Dr. Harold L. Springer, Wilmington, who has served as chief surgeon for the New Castle County Workhouse, for four years.

Robert P. Barnett, Delaire, attorney and member of the workhouse board of trustees, four years.

George Ehinger, Dover, superintendent of the Elizabeth W. Murphey School, five years.

Karl K. Brown, Seaford, president of the First National Bank there, five years.

A. Wayne Burton, Millsboro, public schools superintendent, two years.

The board will spend the next 10 months getting ready to take over administration of the New Castle County Workhouse, the Kent County Jail, and the Sussex County Jail.

The three juvenile institutions—the Ferris School for Boys and the Kruse and Woods Haven School for Girls, will not be under the state board.

The law calls for appointment of two members from each county and one member-at-large. The governor designated Mr. Hackett as the member-at-large.

The board held its organizational meeting in his office in Dover at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

The board will be completely responsible for the care, administration and supervision of the detentional and correctional facilities and services of the state.

The object of the legislation to provide more effectively and establish the state system is efficiently for rehabilitation and restoration of offenders to the community as useful, law-abiding citizens.

The State Correction System bill was sponsored by Senators Eugene Lammot (D-Wilmington) and Wilmer F. Williams (R-Rose). It called for two members of the first board to be appointed for two years, two for four years, and three for five years. Subsequent appointments are all for five years.

The members are to be paid $10 a day for attending meetings, plus mileage expenses, but their total pay is not to exceed $300 a year.

The board is required to meet at least once each month. It is to elect a chairman and a vice-chairman. The bill directs the board to find offices for itself and its employees.

The bill authorizes the board to appoint a director of corrections as "the responsible director for the board." Requirements for this job are:

"At the time of his appointment the director shall have had a minimum of 15 years' training and experience in the field of correctional institution administration, and the first director shall have been a resident of the state for a minimum of five years."

Electric Fence Aids Strip Grazing Plan

Movable electric fences will save time, money and labor if you're grazing your cattle on a rotation plan as practiced by several Kent County farmers.

You'll want a quick, easy way to install and remove fences when you shift cows to new pastures, Merrill Jones, president of the Kent County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, points out. The job can be done with temporary steel posts and barbless 18-gauge copper-coated steel wire.

Set the posts 45 to 50 feet apart and use a good insulator, Merrill advises. The copper-coated wire is cheap, durable, and easy to handle. Such a fence costs about $70 per mile. You can operate it for 10 cents worth of electricity per month.

Figure the height of the fence at two-thirds the height of the animals on pasture. You need only one wire 30 to 36 inches above the ground to hold dairy cattle.

Use only an approved controller unit. Home-made controllers may be dangerous. Put the controller out of doors only when it has a waterproof case. A dry and clean location inside is best—such as a machine shed or farm shop.

Be sure to ground the controller with a 5/8-inch copper rod or a 3/4-inch galvanized pipe driven at least eight feet into the ground. Connect the controller to the ground with No. 8 copper wire.

Exercise Care In Corn Picking, Engineer Advises

Now that the corn picking season is here, many Maryland farmers will lose fingers, arms and even lives unless some simple safety measures are observed, according to Guy W. Gienger, University of Maryland Extension agricultural engineer.

"Stop the picker," warns Gienger. This is a simple rule, he said, and should be observed even when leaving the tractor seat to get a drink of water. "We haven't found a corn picker yet that can tell the difference between an ear of corn and a hand," he added.

Gienger sets down a few simple rules to follow during the corn-picking season. Properly adjusted machines are the safest and Gienger advises farmers to check their operator's manual. He also recommends reading University of Maryland Fact Sheet 36, "Corn Picker Adjustment." The fact sheet is available from county agents.

Other safety measures to follow are, don't work when over-tired and don't wear loose clothing which may become entangled in moving machinery. A fire extinguisher is a must, Gienger said, and a metal sediment bowl is safer than a glass bowl.

Summer storms blew much corn down in Maryland, and this will add to the hazard of picking.

Gienger said. Farmers will have to drive their tractors and corn pickers more carefully, he said. Tests have proved that the farmer who drives in third gear picks more corn than the farmer who drives in fourth gear or faster. "Slow down and pick more corn," Gienger advises.

Offers Suggestions On Ladder Safety

Every farm has many uses for ladders of several different kinds—step, straight, and extension. And because ladders become involved in many accidents, County Agent George Vapaa lists the following "do's" and "don't's" of ladder safety.

The "do's": Select right ladder for the job and set it properly before climbing.

Tie or have someone hold ladder when used where it is likely to slip.

Face ladder when either ascending or descending.

Work facing ladder and hold on with one hand.

Hook leg over rung if necessary to work with both hands.

Store ladders where they can be secured quickly in case of fire or other emergency.

Make sure stepladder is fully spread and locked with all four legs resting on level base before using.

Select stepladders high enough to permit standing at least two steps from top when working.

The "don't's": Never overload ladder; it is built to carry only one person at a time.

Avoid using makeshift climbing aids or ladders too short for the job.

Never over-reach when working on a ladder; take time to move it. Don't climb a ladder when shoes are covered with snow, mud or grease.

Never use ladder at a flat angle or in a horizontal position. It can easily be overloaded in this position.

Never drop a ladder; it is easily damaged.

Never leave a ladder standing where it may fall or tempt children to climb.

Never carry bulky tools or materials when ascending or descending ladder.

Bowles Refiles Suit

called Bowles an "ex-convict and a crook" and said he had left Delaware with money belonging to the public. It also alleges the letter referred to Bowles as an agitator causing mob rule in Sussex County.

The second count concerns a letter written by Layton and published in the Delaware State News on July 26, 1955.

The suit alleges that this letter said: "It is extremely likely that if Mr. Bowles had the ability to make a profit out of farming in Florida he would never have left there (and) would have been spared the disgrace of being a bad check artist as well as being engaged in other dubious enterprises."

The suit also alleges that the letter implied that Bowles was receiving money from the public in an unlawful fashion.

The suit charges that the two letters "intended to bring the plaintiff (Bowles) into disrepute before the public and to deprive him of his good name, character and reputation, social standing, and to cause the plaintiff to suffer great distress, mental anguish, and loss of finances."

Meat, Fish, Fowl, Feature Best Food Buys of Week

Fewer vegetables are in the "best buy" class this week. Recent unfavorable weather in California and Texas has reduced supplies temporarily, and lettuce, celery, carrot and tomato prices have been higher as a result. Most economical are the following vegetables from nearby states: Cabbage, white and yellow squash, eggplant, white potatoes, kale and peppers. Cauliflower and Brussels sprouts are beginning to arrive from Long Island's fall vegetable producers, but volume still is light and prices are moderately high for good quality.

Sweet potato supplies and prices now are very favorable. Both yellow and orange fleshed varieties are available and prices are near their seasonal lows. Select tubers that are smooth and plump to avoid waste. Those that are firm, dry and bright are less apt to decay. The keeping quality of fall sweet potatoes is not very good, and proper home storage is important. They keep best in dry places where the temperature is above 50 degrees F.

Apples are a wise choice in fruit. All purpose McIntosh, Red Delicious for desserts and Jonathans for desserts, sauce and freezing are among the available varieties. Peach prices have advanced further with declining supplies. Western grapes also are somewhat higher but still reasonable in price and eastern Concord remain at very attractive low levels.

Young chickens are offered at reasonable prices. The market has declined slightly since last week on frying chickens. Turkeys, however, are more expensive in some stores as a result of shorter supplies.

Beef and lamb are featured meats this week, associations of chain and independent stores report. The most economical beef cuts include stew meat, liver, ground beef, rib roasts, round roasts and blade-cut chuck roasts. Lower grades of beef are the best value for stew, meat loaf, or pot roasts but they require long, slow cooking and proper seasoning. U.S. Good and U.S. Commercial grades are not as tender and juicy as Choice or Prime, but they are just as nutritious. For steaks and oven roasts, the better grades offer the best buys.

Money saving cuts of lamb include liver, stew meat, shoulder roasts, lamb patties and leg of lamb.

There are many good buys in seafood to choose from. Among them are: halibut steaks, frozen cod, perch and haddock, smelts, bass, whiting and mackerel. At moderate prices are crab meat, oysters and shrimp.

A survey board has urged abandonment of 770 miles—over one-third—of England's canals as unjustified by the traffic they attract.

House Plan Utilizes Rear View

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-335

For the fortunate owner whose lot overlooks a beautiful view to the rear, this spacious, ranch-style house is arranged to take advantage of it.

The entrance and the drive are in the front, and the living room is in the rear, with a large picture window occupying most of the rear wall, for an unobstructed view.

The balance of the floor plan for this house includes two bedrooms, a bath, a large combination kitchen-dinette, seven closets, a full basement and an attached garage.

The attractive exterior is finished in a combination of face brick, vertical and wide bevel siding and asphalt shingles. Floor area, not including the garage, is 1176 square feet, and the cubage is 22,344 cubic feet.

Women's Group Aids Development of State Industry

Representatives of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs called on Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to assure him that their organizations are working toward the development of business and industry in Delaware.

Representing the state group were Miss Ruth Ellen Reihm, president, Smyrna; Mrs. June C. Anthony, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Margie R. Nicholson, recording secretary, both of Dover. They said their motto for the year is "Aim High."

After hearing of the progress of the clubs in Delaware, Gov. Boggs issued the following proclamation, setting aside the week of Sept. 25 to Oct. 1 as National Business Women's Week.

WHEREAS, National Business Women's Week will be celebrated throughout the nation beginning on Sept. 25 and ending on Oct. 1; and

WHEREAS, the organization of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is contributing much toward the development of business and industry; and

WHEREAS, they are emphasizing "Aim High" in this pre-election year; and

WHEREAS, the Delaware Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., as an affiliate of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is likewise contributing much toward the improvement and progress of business, industry and civic needs in our state; now and the tea in Felton will be Oct. 3.

THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby proclaim the week beginning Sunday, Sept. 25, and ending Saturday, Oct. 1, 1955, as National Business Women's Week.

There also will be a membership drive to start soon. The tea in Wesley Church on Sept. 28

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Since hand-crocheted and hand-knit clothes are receiving wide acceptance among women for both day and evening wear, the crocheted and knitted look in hats and bags is also gaining favor. Both large and small hats, handmade from cotton or wool yarns are finding their fashionable place on many a pretty head. On some of the stylish chapeaux you will see knitted or crocheted trimmings. The hats which are all handmade are sometimes given firm contours by way of satin or felt skirting. This is especially true of the large crocheted or knitted hats which are being seen in many of the new fashion collections.

SMART AND SPEEDY
 In addition to the fact that crocheted headgear is attractive to wear, it is easy to make... and quick. Crochet, in its recent associations with speed, is taking a cue from jet propulsion. Crochet cottons and yarns have been developed to speed up your crocheting, and new designs have been created to facilitate faster, easier needlework. This hat, for instance, can be crocheted in as little time as 90 minutes! Before you have time to worry about not having a new hat to match your outfit, you can crochet a smart model that will put you in style.

PILL BOX ENSEMBLE
 Hat and bag yarn and grosgrain ribbon are used to fashion this neat ensemble. Rounds of single crochets are made to form the crown of the pill box hat and pouch part of the drawstring bag. Each accessory features a band of cluster stitches with a row of meshes through which the grosgrain ribbon is laced. The ribbon is tied in a pert bow at the front of the hat. A drawstring is laced through the heading at top of bag. The complete instructions for making this PILL BOX HAT AND BAG for your wardrobe may be obtained from the Needlework Department of this paper. To get a copy, simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 107.17.

FACETIOUS BUT TO THE POINT

There are two onerous chores an editor is called upon to do now and then that upsets an otherwise tranquil nature. One is filling out forms in quadruplicate. The other is completing questionnaires.

Rather than fill out a form in quadruplicate, we've been known to run an ad or mark up a subscription and then throw the form in the waste basket.

Apparently all editors aren't as allergic to questionnaires as we. There's Editor W. L. Schmitt of the Carlinville (Ill.) Macoupin County Enquirer, who received a questionnaire from a journalism student at a well known university. Here's how Editor Schmitt answered, "As best I can":

Q. There's lots of talk about a free press. Are the newspapers in this country free?

A. Ours isn't. Our subscription rate is $2.50 in the county and $3 outside the county.

Q. Will TV replace the newspapers in America?

A. I doubt it. Television may oust radio, the gramophone and the stereopticon, but it can't kill the newspapers. Here are some things you can do with newspapers that you can't do with a TV set: Swat flies, line dresser drawers, wrap garbage, help the Scouts with their paper drives, and polish windows. Did you know that a wadded-up newspaper makes the best glass polisher there is?

Q. If you had your way, Mr. Editor, what would you lay out as the ideal newspaper?

A. One that had at least four front pages and was made up of 50 per cent pictures, 50 per cent stories, and 60 per cent advertising.

Q. Are newspaper employees well paid?

A. There are two schools of thought on that. The publisher thinks they are handsomely paid and the employe has some honest doubts about it. I don't imagine they'll ever come to complete agreement.

—Raymondville (Ia.) Chronicle

The papers had a story this week about a seven-pound alligator gar pike, three feet long, being caught on Maryland's Eastern Shore. How exciting!

In the Middle West and South they are known as alligator gars or merely gars. Gars have been caught in the Mississippi River which weighed 150 pounds.

They are quite prevalent in Louisiana where they are caught with nooses of wire.

Veterans' News And Answers To Problems

Q—What is the deadline for getting the special Korean GI insurance available to veterans with service-connected disabilities?

A—Korea veterans must apply and pay their first premium within one year from the date that VA determines their disabilities are service-connected.

Q—I was disabled while serving in the WAC during World War II and as a result, I am drawing disability compensation payments. My husband recently died of a service-connected ailment. Would I be entitled to death compensation benefits in addition to my own disability payments?

A—Yes. The fact that you are receiving disability compensation would not bar you from receiving death compensation benefits as well.

Q—The house I want to buy with a C loan does not come under F.I.A. credit controls, but the FHA completed all its paper work before the controls went in effect on July 30, 1955. Will it be subject to VA's credit restrictions?

A—The house will be exempt from VA credit restrictions only if VA receives a request for an appraisal on or before Sept. 30, 1955.

Q—I understand that a private profit school has to be in operation for two years before it can accept veterans under the Korean GI Bill. The school I am interested in attending operates nine months a year and is closed for the summer months. In its case, what would VA consider as two years?

A—In the case of this school, two nine-month school years, covering a period of 24 calendar months, will satisfy the two-year requirement of the law.

The Belgian Congo is getting bids on a $3,330,000 Bukavu-Kahuzi highway.

BUT SOME SAY HE HAS FROG IN THROAT

Small Tree Frog a Natural Singer

ANDERSON'S TREE FROG (Hyla Anderson)

This small green tree frog may be found from central New Jersey south to South Carolina. Mature adults are just under two inches in length, with the females being slightly larger than males. On either side of the throat of the female is a white-bordered green patch. A plum-colored band with light borders may be seen along the side of the frog's body separating the beautiful pale green upper parts from the whitish underparts.

This little tree frog appears to be rather stout in build. Like other tree frogs, the ends of its fingers and toes are provided with small round sticky discs that enable the animal to cling firmly to almost any surface. Except for the breeding period, the frogs may be found in the trees and shrubs, where they feed largely on insects.

In the breeding season the males give a repeated call sounding something like "aquack." This may be repeated as many as 20 times in a series. The throat is greatly distended while the call is being made. Breeding takes place in shallow sedgy pools, usually where there is sphagnum moss and fairly dense woodlands. In New Jersey, the breeding season extends from the first of May until mid-July. The eggs are laid singly and are attached to submerged vegetation or to the bottom. The tadpole is olive-colored, having a relatively long tail which is pointed at the tip. It may reach a length of 1 1/2 inches during the 50 to 75 days required for its development.

The young frog which leaves the water after the tail has been absorbed, measures about 2/3 of an inch in length. Its color changes rather rapidly from a dull olive-green after it leaves and water and takes up its arboreal life.

People seem to differ more about their appreciation of the sounds of nature than over any other natural phenomenon. To some the sound of frogs "singing" is music, while to others it is just a noise. To those who look upon the sound as "music," there are recordings of frogs published by the Cornell University Press in Ithaca, New York.

These beautiful frogs are highly beneficial to man. We hope that if you have never seen or heard them, you may some time have this pleasure. This note and the picture which appears on the federation's wildlife stamp series represent a part of the National Wildlife Federation's effort to help people develop an appreciation of nature.

Delaware To Participate In Southern States Congress, Marking 100th Anniversary of Civil War, 1861-1965

Governor J. Caleb Boggs has approved plans for Delaware's participation in the Southern States Congress which will mark the 100th anniversary of the War Between the States from 1861 to 1965.

Principal reason for the state's interest is to help promote Fort Delaware, in Pea Patch Island, Delaware City, as a state park. It is believed that by 1961 sufficient funds will have been made available to have the area developed into a top-notch tourist attraction. One of the chief purposes of the All-South Centennial is to develop tourism.

Governor Boggs named the following members of a planning committee this week: Leon H. Ryan, chairman, State Park Commission; W. Emerson Wilson, president, Fort Delaware Society; Gen. Norman D. Lack, treasurer, Fort Delaware Society; Leon de Valinger Jr., State Archivist, and Mills L. Frederick, director, State Development Department.

The governor also designated Mr. Frederick as the representative to attend an organization meeting of the Congress in Montgomery, Ala., on Sept. 22 and 23, where officers and committees will be set up to make long-range plans for the centennial observance.

Delaware's interest in participation was aroused by Waller N. Chinn Jr., Fredericksburg, Va., interim chairman of the Southern States Conference, when he spoke in New Castle recently on the occasion of the fourth anniversary of the opening of Delaware Memorial Bridge. He toured Fort Delaware and said it was just the kind of thing that the organization wanted to call to public attention during the centennial years.

Mr. Chinn has since pointed out to Governor Boggs in correspondence that each state will hold its own observance, but the Congress will co-ordinate programs so that the full effect of combined publicity may be achieved.

Mr. Wilson, of the Fort Delaware Society, believes that 1963 would be the year to point up an observance in Delaware. It was during that year that thousands of southern prisoners were incarcerated in the fort and many remained until the end of the war.

The Congress also believes that the observance will not only commemorate a great historical event, but that it will also call attention to the 100 years of sound and steady progress, both economic and social, that has come about in the states involved.

It will also serve as a media, officials say, to teach American history and produce a better understanding of the struggle between the states. It should assist in developing tourism on a grand scale and bring thousands of visitors into the areas where historic battlegrounds, monuments and other mementoes of 1861-65 are still to be viewed.

Governor Calls On Industry To Hire Handicapped

Governor J. Caleb Boggs this week called upon the public and private employers in the state to "make the vocational rehabilitation of our handicapped workers a reality by viewing them as workers to be actively recruited for jobs to be filled."

In declaring the week of Oct. 2 to 8 as National Employ the Handicapped Week, Governor Boggs pointed out that in this period of prosperity in Delaware, the labor market is tightening up considerably, but that through the use of properly trained handicapped people, industry and business can recruit their needs within the state.

He requested that those hiring workers co-operate with the Governor's Committee for Employment of Physically Handicapped "in carrying out the job that must be done if we are to include the physically handicapped among those Americans who are free to pursue the occupations of their choice, thereby enabling them to realize their hopes and ambitions."

The proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, opportunities for suitable and gainful employment are the hope and ambition of all workers, and the American system of freedom to pursue occupations of choice is intended to assist the nation's work force to realize such hope and ambition; and

WHEREAS, a great many of our able handicapped workers are finding it difficult to obtain employment because of the need of greater understanding of them as workers among the best qualified in the labor market, of their ability to perform in accordance with efficient and profitable production standards, of the methods by which they can be assigned to work for which they are fully qualified, and of the economic benefits that will result with their employment; and

WHEREAS, recent legislation enacted by the Congress will assure the rehabilitation and preparation for employment of increasing numbers of the physically handicapped each year, and the awareness among public and private employers of the desirability of hiring the handicapped should be maintained and stimulated further; and

WHEREAS, the observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week during the first full week of October of each year, authorized by a joint resolution of the Congress, approved Aug. 11, 1945, emphasizes the need for continuing effort in behalf of these people; now

THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby call upon the people of our state to observe the week beginning Oct. 2, 1955, as and co-operate with the Governor's Committee in carrying out the job that must be done if we are to include the physically handicapped among those Americans who are free to pursue the occupations of their choice, thereby enabling them to realize their hopes and ambitions.

I request the public and private employers in Delaware to make the vocational rehabilitation of our handicapped a reality by viewing them as workers to be actively recruited for the jobs to be filled.

To Discuss State School Problems In All-Day Session

An all-day session to discuss Delaware education problems has been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 8, in the P. S. duPont High School, Wilmington, and Governor J. Caleb Boggs today urged that all those whom he has invited to the conference make every effort to attend.

It is expected that some 1100 Delawareans, representing leaders of parent-teacher associations, civic groups and others interested in the state's education facilities and programs will take advantage of the opportunity to hear firsthand reports from those who have been studying the subject for some months.

Governor Boggs will open the conference at 10 a. m., and following his presentation there will be an address by Roy E. Larson, president of Time Magazine. Mr.

Larson is serving as a member of the National White House Conference Committee and will outline the aims of that organization which was initiated by President Eisenhower.

During the morning and afternoon sessions, reports will be heard on the eight problem areas which have been studied. Consideration will be given toward methods of solving the problems which will have been advanced during the meeting, according to Dr. George R. Miller Jr., state superintendent of Public Instruction.

Workshops will be set up for the morning following the principal addresses, and reports on their findings will be heard at a briefing during the afternoon.

The Hon. James M. Tunnell Jr., former state supreme court judge, will summarize the day's work in an address, "How to Meet the Challenge."

It is expected that all material presented will be compiled into report form by the committee on publications and later when the White House Committee meets, the First State's findings will be presented there by Delaware's delegates.

Those planning to attend both morning and afternoon meetings have been informed that luncheon will be served in the P. S. duPont High School cafeteria.

Student Council

The Student Council will hold its annual dance tonight. The time is 8:00 till 11:00. The prices are 35c stag and 55c drag. Refreshments will be sold. The Council wishes to extend an invitation to everyone.

High School Secretaries

Last year, Mr. McDonald initiated the practice of assigning senior or junior girls from Commercial Class to each teacher on the high school faculty.

In this way, the girls obtain valuable practice and the teachers are relieved of many routine duties which take time from individual instruction.

In addition, the friendship formed between the individual teacher and the assigned secretary is frequently one treasured for years afterwards.

The list of secretaries and their teacher assignment is as follows: Patsy Minner, Mrs. Pollitt; Shirley Kates, Mrs. Dolby; Louise Minner, Mrs. Goodwill; Eloise Brown, Mr. Rutledge; Betty Anthony, Mrs. Miller; Lucille Clark, Mrs. Birnbrauer; Mae Minner, Mrs. Cahall; Janice Harrington, Miss Morris; Alwilda Smith, Mr. Brobst; Gail Callaway, Mr. Snow; Joyce Hickman, Mr. Curtis; Louisa Howard, Miss Paskey; Janet Smith, Mr. Cotter; Sandra Raughley, Mr. Kish; Jean Outten, Miss Dickrager.

High School Band News

The Harrington High School Band held its first meeting Thursday, Sept. 8, in the school's Music Room. The following officers were elected:

President, Alwilda Smith; vice-president, Henry Nutter; treasurer, Shirley Kates; secretary, Richard Seely; band reporters, Pat Minner and Rae Smith. New business as well as the usual business was brought up and discussed. Plans for the fall concert were laid, as well as plans for the February magazine campaign, which, it is hoped, will be bigger and better than ever. Also discussed was the possibility of a dance for the band, as well as a skating party.

The band now has 48 members, including 10 trumpets, 14 clarinets, two flutes, one oboe, five saxophones, one bass, six percussion, two trombones, two baritone, four horns and one bass clarinet.

Activities during the year for the band include playing for most high school assemblies, several rummage sales, a bake, two concerts and a magazine campaign. The band also plans to attend the parade this coming Saturday night at Milford, in connection with the State Firemen's Convention.

The band practices once a week and each individual in the band is responsible for one instrumental lesson in addition to regular rehearsal. The junior band follows this same policy.

Sports News of Harrington High

The Harrington High hockey team is shaping up quite well and everyone has high hopes for a successful season. The team is glad to welcome back Mrs. Miller, a former coach at H.H.S. in 1952 and 1953. She is lending the team assistance until the end of September, when a permanent coach will be added to the staff.

The following girls have come out for hockey so far this year. This is a greater number than has ever come out for hockey previously.

1. Joyce Hopkins
2. Alwilda Smith
3. Bettylee Wix
4. Jeanne Homewood
5. Joan Shaw

*Girls with varsity experience. Varsity and J.V. games are scheduled with all but Lewes, but in order to carry through this J.V. schedule, we need four more girls so we will have a squad of 25 girls.

Scheduled games for this year are as follows: Sept. 29, Thurs., Seaford (away) Oct. 4, Tues., Caesar Rodney (away) Oct. 7, Fri., Dover (home)

Oct. 13, Thurs., Milford (away) Oct. 18, Tues., Delmar (home) Oct. 25, Tues., Georgetown (home) Oct. 27, Thurs., Lewes (home) Nov. 10, Thurs., Laurel (away) Last year the team dropped only one game, which was at Dover. Everyone should support the Harrington High teams, because with the support and school spirit behind you, winning is better and losing is easier.

Study Group To Orient Parents of First Grade Pupils

In an effort to fill the gap between the home and school, a new pre-school study group will look into the problem of orienting parents of first grade youngsters during the fall workshop for Kent and Sussex County PTA units next Monday evening, Sept. 26, from 8 to 10:30 o'clock in the Rehoboth School. The workshop is sponsored by the Delaware Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. C. Jacob Cast and Mrs. James H. Young, chairmen of the pre-school study group, organized their committee last summer and along with representatives from local units in lower Delaware will map out a program to aid in the understanding of children and the schools during the all-important first year. Special guests on hand to lend their advice on the subject will be Miss Elizabeth C. Lloyd of the School of Education of the University of Delaware, and Mrs. George B.inton of the Newark kindergarten.

A play entitled, "And You Never Know," by Nora Sterling, written for the American Theatre Wing Community Players, will be presented as the program opens to illustrate how a play can be used effectively to aid in the presentation of a PTA program. The cast will include Miss Mina P. Brown, W. B. McCormack (new legislative chairman for the Delaware Congress of PTA), and Mrs. Henry Stark, with Milton Berger and Mrs. Young directing.

Following the play, Mr. Berger will lead a discussion of the value of the discussion technique when used along with PTA programs. Herbert H. Peckham, president of the Delaware Congress, will open the meeting and Miss Edith Bohn will give a brief address on the program materials available for use during the 10th anniversary celebration of the United Nations. In addition to the study group on the pre-school, the second of materials for six phases of PTA work.

The section on programs will be led by Miss Marguerite Burnett, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Robert W. Lawrence, general chairman of the fall workshop, who will demonstrate ways of increasing participation by members, provide lists of films, speakers and other resources. Mrs. Norris Thomas and Cedric Marsh will lead the membership and parliamentary procedure sections, respectively, showing new ways of attracting and holding members and increasing their participation and interest, and how to conduct a meeting properly.

The discussion of human relations will be led by H. E. Stahl and Walter Geldzahler, who will attempt to explain ways of promoting understanding among PTA members and finding ways of working together. Two other leaders will work with those attending interested in high school activities and the problems confronting PTAs at that level, Edward L. Balubelt III and Mrs. Harold Plant. Mr. McCormack will step down from the stage to lead a study section on the problems of legislation with W. H. Clough Jr. W. E. Anderson, president of the Rehoboth PTA, is in charge of the arrangements and has announced that the sections will meet in Rooms 127, 126, 125, 124, 114 and 113. Serving on the program committee with Mrs. Lawrence and representing the units from Kent and Sussex Counties have been: Mrs. Cast, Mrs. Margaret Dick, Carroll Farlow and Dr. Paul Trickett.

Former Harrington Resident Aids Hong Kong Isle Trappists to Survive

The way from a Harrington farm to a barren religious monastery-island in the harbor of Hong Kong is long, but for 29-year-old George J. Wolf it was the start of a life mission.

The young New York-born Delaware resident spent from November of 1953 to last May at the Trappist Monastery of Our Lady of Liesse, or Lady of Joy, the silent Cistercian center of hard work, contemplation, and dedicated service which has survived wars, Communist raids and tortures.

News of George Wolf's work on the Lantao Island in Hong Kong's harbor has spread through the Chinese newspapers and bulletins of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, and has brought a report from another friend and Delaware visitor, Dom Paulinus Lee, the Trappist abbot, who came here two years ago on an American tour for financial help.

Escaped Red Ravages

Dom Paulinus, the nephew of the first Chinese Trappist monk, is a legend in himself, for when his first two monasteries were destroyed by Communists, he was taken prisoner, his brother monks scattered and some killed, and the abbot himself pretended inebriation to manage escape from his cell and guards.

Once free, he traveled in disguise to the Red lines, sneaked behind them and searched for the monks he hoped might still be living. The restoration of this first all-Chinese Trappist monastery on the new island sites, is a battle against barren soil, primitive farming methods and inadequate equipment, decree of exile by the Chinese Communists, and poverty.

The pure and simple faith of the indomitable Dom Paulinus brought him back to America in 1953, and eventually Delaware. Here his friendship with the Rev. Paul J. Taggart, Catholic diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, brought him not only financial aid from generous citizens but the personal two-year service of George Wolf.

Had Met At Retreat

The Chinese monk and the young farmer had met initially in 1949 during a retreat at the Trappist Monastery of Gethsemani in Kentucky, and began a correspondence that told of the hardships in the monks' handwork to establish their Trappist haven.

George's farming experience began after graduation from Fordham University's evening school of adult education, when he and a classmate, Robert J. Nelson, joined forces on the Harrington agricultural attempt, specializing in dairy farming.

Once a seminary student, George was fully appreciative of the religious spirit and devotion which lay behind the untrained efforts of the Chinese monks to build a self-sustaining monastery, for all Trappist centers depend completely upon their own farm products for supplies, and are their own laborers.

The appeal to help was strong, and so Nov. 17, 1953, found the American and 17 Trappists at mass in the monastery's small chapel, one of the few buildings already finished.

40 Crates of Materials

With George came 40 crates of donated materials to help in the living and working, including a dentist's drill, overcoats and U.S. shoes in sizes of 9, 10 and 11, in which small Chinese feet were lost.

For more than a year, Wolf was the only foreign resident on Lantao Island, laboring with the monks, teaching them (despite a language barrier) the agricultural skills of a technological land, and sharing their religious devotions.

Silence, except when absolutely necessary, is one of the best-known rules of the Trappist order. Poverty, prayers and vigils devoted to the glory of God and the peace of the world are other obligations. And no matter where the severe mode of religious life may be established, manual labor, given in the spirit of worship, is a daily practice.

Began With Three Cows

Thanks to the mission support from Delawareans and other Americans of all faiths, the monastery purchased three cows with which to begin their dairy farming. Delivery of the animals by Chinese junk across the harbor to the island, where no pier had yet been built, was one of the more amusing moments during which the Trappist rule of silence was broken.

The cows, George reports, refused to move ashore and as darkness began to descend, flashlights and shoutings were applied as urgings, but to no avail.

Finally, the young ex-Delaware farmer remembered childhood pictures of cows swimming, and pushed the animals ashore, only to find they floundered off in different directions.

It took the manpower of the entire monastery to wade around corraling the wandering herd and steering it up the hillside to the future pasture.

Taught Tractor Operation

Roads had to be cut by shovel and pick at the monastery until a tractor was purchased, with George teaching its operation. Dynamiting rocks for foundations and paved ways was another lesson to be learned.

Last June, when American products and an American's experience had started the monks on the road to using their meager equipment, George agreed to another mission for the Catholic War Relief Services in Karachi, India, arranging for distribution of food and medicine in Pakistan.

A farewell ceremony at the Trappist island haven was held with considerable sorrow, when Dom Paulinus presented George with the medal of perpetual membership in the Trappist community, a rare recognition given laymen who have provided outstanding service.

Dom Paulinus still corresponds regularly with his Delaware friends, sending news of the monks' prayers for their benefactors, the progress of the farm and building, and of George's new mission into the impoverished sections of India.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Rev. Robert E. VanCleaf, Pastor

"The World Into Which Jesus Came" is the title of the lesson for study this Sunday in the Church School. Session will begin with devotions at 10 a.m. "The Significance of Jesus' Birth" is the name of the unit of study. With this lesson a study of the Gospel of Luke begins, and will be continued for six months. Rally Day and Promotion Sunday will be celebrated this Sunday. Come and help us reach our goal of 350 present for Rally Day.

Morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. Fifth Sunday in Kingdome. Meditation on the organ on a favorite hymn. Sermon by the pastor.

Evening worship will begin at 7:30. Sermon by the pastor. Close the Lord's Day in the spirit of praise and giving of thanks to God for His blessings.

On Wednesday the Mary Circle of the WSCS will sponsor a chicken and dumpling supper. Serving will begin at 4:30.

Pathfinders Class will meet on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor. Co-host and hostess will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin. All of the choirs of the church will meet on Thursday in the sanctuary. Junior Choir will meet at 2:30, Chancel Choir at 6:45, and the Cathedral Choir at 8:00 p.m. On Sunday, Oct. 2, World Wide Communion will be celebrated at the morning worship. This is the Sunday of the year when all followers of Jesus Christ sense very keenly the fact that they are a part of a great world fellowship composed of millions of persons. Plan to participate in this service.

daughter, of Linwood, Pa., Mrs. Margie Turner and daughter of Smyrna, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Jarvis of Delmar, Mrs. Mae Sweegan and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Andrews spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Gray. Mrs. Rada Kenton has gone to spend a few days with her daughter in Milford.

Loyal Workers Given Party

The Loyal Workers Class of Trinity Church were given a delightful party at the country home of Mrs. Orie Hobbs, the president, on Thursday evening.

A watermelon feast was held at tables on the lawn, then they were entertained with games and refreshments later in the living room of the house.

A large number enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Hobbs. It has been an annual affair that the members look forward to.

Re-Inforced Supply!

Delawareans Get Over 10 Million In Social Security

Old-age and survivors insurance benefit payments under Federal social security totaled $10,290,000 in Delaware for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1955. This was an increase of $2,518,000 or 32 per cent over the preceding fiscal year, Joseph B. O'Connor, regional director of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for Region II, has announced. At the end of June, 17,379 beneficiaries in Delaware were receiving benefits amounting to $908,453 per month.

Mr. O'Connor, whose region comprises New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, said that total payments in the four states during the fiscal year amounted to 1.1 billion dollars. Payments for the month of June went to 1,776,000 beneficiaries in the whole area.

Nationwide, in the same 12-month period, payments totaled four billion dollars. At the end of June, over 7 1/2 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at a monthly rate of 384 million dollars.

Commenting on these newly-released figures, Mr. O'Connor said that in the nation as a whole, the number of persons receiving benefits increased by more than a million in the past fiscal year and total benefit payments in the 12-month period was more than one billion dollars greater than for the preceding fiscal year. Several factors contributed to the growth of the program during the last fiscal year, he said. "In the 20 years since the enactment of the original social security law, old-age and survivors insurance has achieved almost universal coverage and is steadily approaching maturity," Mr. O'Connor declared. Currently nine out of 10 people who work for a living are covered by the program.

Specifically, he pointed to certain provisions in the 1954 amendments to the social security law which made it possible for more people to get monthly benefit payments in the fiscal year 1955. One of these provisions lowered from 75 to 72 the age at which beneficiaries can receive benefits regardless of the amount of their earnings, and permits a beneficiary under age 72 to have earnings up to $1,200 in a year without foregoing any of his monthly payments. Another provision made it possible for widows, minor children, or aged parents of workers who died after June 30, 1940, and before Sept. 1, 1950, to become eligible for benefit payments if the worker had at least 1 1/2 years of covered work before his death. The fact that many of the employed and self-employed first brought under the law at the beginning of 1951 have now become eligible for benefits also contributed to the growth in beneficiary totals.

Primarily, the increase in total payments reflects the higher benefit rates provided by the 1954 amendments, Mr. O'Connor said. Moreover, the provision in the amended law which makes it possible to drop out up to five years of lowest earnings now has the effect of increasing the average earnings from which the monthly benefit amounts are figured. Increased payments due to the disability "freeze" did not become effective until July and are not reflected in the benefit payment totals for fiscal year, 1955, Mr. O'Connor said.

As an illustration of what old-age and survivors insurance now means to families in Delaware, Mr. O'Connor said that in June of this year 9,873 retired workers received $6608,076, 2,516 wives or aged dependent husbands of retired workers got $86,033, 2,573 minor children of retired or deceased workers were paid $97,893, 1,777 aged widows and widows in Delaware received survivors' payments in the amount of $85,305 in June, 532 young widows with minor children in their care received $27,336, and 78 aged parents were paid $3,810. In addition, lump-sum death payments in the amount of $283,000 were paid in Delaware in the last fiscal year.

A state opera house is to be built in Sydney, Australia.

Traffic Over Memorial Bridge Shows Increase

With the three busiest summer months behind them, officials at Delaware Memorial Bridge began to take notes this week, comparing the first quarter of fiscal 1955-56 with the previous year and found traffic had increased but not at the accelerated pace of 1954-55.

There was a slight gain in August traffic—878,273 vehicles used the span—just 3,111 more than the previous year. The pre-Labor Day business on Aug. 30 was not as heavy as a year ago, causing a limited gain for the month, according to Charles T. Gallagher Jr., general manager.

During June, July and August the traffic total came to 2,593,833 as compared to 2,473,654 a year ago.

This was a net gain of 120-179 vehicles, or approximately 40,000 a month. For the first month in two years there was a drop in five-axle vehicle traffic, where previous gains had been shown regularly. Seasonal hauling may be the answer to the drop, Mr. Gallagher indicated.

Passenger car traffic also decreased 2.6 per cent during August over the previous year, although passenger car commutation ticket users showed an increase of a flat 28 per cent. The margins in all other categories were close, with the 5.4 per cent gain in two-axle busses and trucks recording the highest gain.

Total traffic over the bridge since its opening four years and three months ago came to 29,282,918 vehicles at the close of business on Aug. 30. The average number of daily crossings in August was 28,331 compared with July's 30,868, biggest month in bridge history, when there was a total of 956,919 crossings.

Comparative figures for the three months in the new fiscal year and 1954 are as follows:

	1955	1954	Gain
June	758,641	712,949	45,692
July	959,919	885,543	74,376
August	878,273	875,162	3,111
Total	2,593,833	2,473,654	120,179

Oct. 12 Designated As Columbus Day

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs today joined governors of other states in paying tribute to Christopher Columbus, generally regarded as the discoverer of America, and proclaimed that Oct. 12 be observed in Delaware as Columbus Day.

The chief executive was informed by John T. O'Brien, executive vice-chairman of the National Citizens Committee for Columbus Day, that a copy of his proclamation will be on display in the Hall of America, Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C., on Oct. 12.

In his proclamation, Gov. Boggs pointed out that Latin-American nations have long honored the memory of Columbus and his navigational exploits and that "we may strengthen these ties of friendship by also honoring one for whom we have had mutual regard and respect throughout history."

The proclamation follows: WHEREAS, on Oct. 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus arrived on the shores of a land which was designated as America, and which in the past 400 years has grown to become our beloved United States of America, one of the most productive areas in the free world, and

WHEREAS, Columbus Day has long been observed by Latin-Americans as a day to pay tribute to a daring sea-farer whose conception of navigation would not be denied until he had discovered his "new world," and

WHEREAS, the nations of the Americas have long been associated in the bonds of commerce, transport, geography, science and interchange of ideas and ideals; and

WHEREAS, we may strengthen these ties of friendship by honoring one for whom we have had mutual regard and respect throughout our history; and

WHEREAS, our own citizens of Italian extraction each year pay tribute to Christopher Columbus through religious and civic observances, now

THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby proclaim Oct. 12, 1955, as COLUMBUS DAY I call on our citizens, and especially upon the teachers in our schools to observe this day by calling special attention to this voyager whose exploits opened new horizons for the world, and through whose contributions to history we may have found an open path through which to promote justice and good will as well as better international understanding.

STATISTICIANS SEE NO NEED FOR NEW DELAWARE BRIDGE

Recent newspaper accounts and comments regarding the possibility of building another bridge across the Delaware River to connect New Jersey and the First State set Memorial Bridge statisticians to work.

It seems that while discussing limited access highways and possibilities of needing another span in 10 or 15 years, no one took into account the terrific potential of the present bridge—provided of course that access roads are built on the Delaware side to keep traffic moving.

As Charles T. Gallagher Jr., general manager, will point out in his annual report soon to be released, there seems to be a relationship between the number of car registrations and bridge traffic. United States car registrations increased in 1954-55 by approximately five per cent—and this was the net increase in the number of vehicles using Delaware Memorial Bridge.

The bridge statisticians pointed out that should the rate of increase of five per cent annually continue, at the end of 10 years, traffic would build up to only 50 per cent of capacity. It would be nearly 1970 before the fiscal year 1954-55 figures of 7,865,772 vehicles would be doubled.

All this could be handled with ease, bridge operations men say, provided the flow of traffic would be fairly evenly distributed.

By actual count on Labor Day, more than 3,200 cars per hour were handled for a two-hour period at the peak of business. On a busy day when the 10 toll booths are in operation, toll takers have handled 17 vehicles each per minute. While this would be exceptional, half that number would be easily handled. Again, should volume be steady, this could mean 61,200 crossings in a single day.

The highest day's traffic was recorded on July 2, 1955, with 48,744 crossings. These were made without effort, without tie-up of delays to the motorists.

Based on 61,200 daily crossings, it is entirely possible to handle

WHEELER'S Television Center

The old saying goes, "Time waits for no man," and that you can see by the signs of fall. That time, as you know, is when we are all thinking about how we can make our homes more comfortable for the long winter months just ahead. In the first place it must be kept comfortably warm. May I say we have the largest stock of brand new oil space heaters we have ever had. All sizes, from one-room up to a whole house. We also have a stock of small oil and gas heaters for the extra room such as a bathroom or a little more heat for the kitchen. Now is the time to get your heater and we will give you a good allowance on your old stove. In the second place, have your home looking bright and cheerful. You know a room papered now and then makes a home look entirely different and more livable. We have the wallpaper for you and then more for others, so come in and see the patterns we have and I feel sure that your home will also take on that new look. Wishing will not do it, but having it done or do it yourself, will be your answer. All wallpaper has advanced 5 per cent, but we have our fall papers in stock and prices set, so take advantage while we have plenty in stock. In the third place, have plenty of entertainment in your home, and speaking of that, I know of nothing better to entertain, not only you, but your whole family—a television. Of course there are lots of good sets on the market, but I would ask, why buy a set that is just making the grade, when for the same money or less you can get a television that has already reached the top of the hill, but is anchored there, and has been for over 25 years. Of course it is not necessary for me to tell you the name of these televisions. But I will, as its name is PHILCO, known for quality the world over. If you happen to be uptown, stop in and see the wonderful gifts that Philco is giving with their televisions. Now in the fourth place, by all means furnish that wonderful wife and cook of yours something that she can do justice to her meals. A worn-out stove to a woman is like a man trying to shoot with a rusty gun or a farmer trying to plow with a broken share. Drop in and see the wonderful buys we have on ranges, both gas and electric. Apartment size, 30-inch oven, or full size. Prices start at $79.50. Yes, that includes installation. If you are needing a freezer and if you don't have one, you do! I have marked them to a figure that will really surprise you. All merchandise can be paid for by the week or month, after a small down payment.

Legion Auxiliary In Regular Meeting

The first meeting for 1955-56 of the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Auxiliary Unit No. 7 of Harrington, was held at the Legion Home on Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, with Mrs. Clyde Tucker presiding. The regular order of business was followed. Mrs. Frank O'Neal Jr., rehabilitation chairman, gave a report on the bingo party which the unit took to the Perry Point Veterans Hospital recently. She also spoke about the four girls who attended Girls' State in June. They will be invited to tell the unit members about Girls' State, at the October meeting. A letter from the USO in Dover, was read. They were asking for hostesses to serve Wednesday or Thursday evenings during a month at the USO in Dover. CKRT unit expressed their willingness to serve at a later time. Mrs. Tucker announced the following chairmen of committees for the coming year: Child welfare, Mrs. Frank O'Neal Jr.; poppies, Mrs. Benjamin Hughes; civil defense, Mrs. William Jester; community service, Mrs. Ralph Smith; constitution and by-laws, Mrs. Eugene Anderson; Americanism, Mrs. Gooden Callaway; education of orphans, Mrs. James O'Neal; girls' state, Mrs. Gooden Callaway; music, Mrs. Eugene Anderson; membership, Mrs. William Humes; national security, Mrs. William Jester; Pan-American studies, Mrs. George Price; past-presidents' parley, Mrs. William Outten; publicity, Mrs. William Minner, and radio, Mrs. Norman Brown. Mrs. William Outten showed the unit a national citation for meritorious service to the CKRT American Legion Auxiliary for membership. Mrs. Outten also received a gift and a pin from the state organization for having gotten five new members last year. The refreshment committee for October will be: Mrs. Kenneth Aiken, chairman; Mrs. Eugene Anderson, Mrs. Clarence Black, Mrs. Russell Blades, Mrs. Harry Boyer and Mrs. Norman Brown.

Mrs. Bertha Minner Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Bertha Ann Minner, wife of Clarence Minner, died at her home north of town yesterday morning of a heart attack. Mrs. Minner, 62, had been in ill health for some time. She was born in Harrington, lived here all her life, and was the daughter of the late Benjamin A. W. Emory and Mrs. Mary Billings Emory. Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Paul Stuart, Philadelphia, and three brothers, Herman, Benjamin and Lester, all of Harrington. Boyer Funeral Home will have charge of the funeral services, which are incomplete.

B.P.W. Women's Club Plans Active Year

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Harrington held their first meeting of the 1955-56 club year on Monday evening at the Wonder R. Plans were discussed concerning increasing membership and finances. Merle Roth, president, reported on the Program Coordination Workshop which had been held in Smyrna the preceding Sunday, attended by she, Mildred Minner, Blanche Cahall and Roselle Humes. A representative was appointed to attend the mayor's meeting on observation of United Nations day. The program was presented by Mildred Minner, who modeled it after the "This Is Your Life" TV show, using Madalyn Tharp as the subject. An amusing and informative summation of her life, from birth to the present day, as proprietor of the new "Starlite Shop," was read by Mrs. Minner, assisted by Jeannette Turcott at the piano. Miss Tharp was presented with a corsage of red rosebuds.

SULKY SLANTS

(Continued from page 1) another week. Mrs. Ralph Bowers, you really would be proud of him. He can fly. Had a little tending trouble, so Dave had to stop with him, but he is coming along fine now. He's such a clown. They took his picture standing at the door, with a kitten in his feed tub. Nothing worries "Volo." Tried to get it when the cat was on his back, even on top of his head. The publicity man thinks he is the cutest thing yet. Will send Carrington the picture and see if he won't run it for me. It was in all the French and English papers in Montreal. So long till next week.
