

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Along with the World Series and the big trot coming up, it has everyone in a dither up here. I'm starting this column on a Sunday and will finish it when the big race is over.

The line up here is for Jean Laird and Lord Stewart, either one, to win the $15,000 trot.

Here is the line-up for the starters: Jean Laird, Lord Stewart, Lady's First, Gene Mac, Ben Boy, Lanier Hanover, Main Song, Castle Lee, Candy Man, Aerial Gunner, Janet's Girl and Bethel Boy. So, you see, they have some really good trotters here for today.

The three field horses are rated 8-1. These are: Janet's Girl, Aerial Gunner and Bethel Boy. Janet's Girl hasn't been too hot this year, so I'm keeping my fingers crossed this time.

Jean Laird will be handled by Johnny Chapman, Lord Stewart by Dick Williams, C. K. King will guide Lady's First, and Clint Hodgins will be at the reins of Gene Mac, and instead of Johnny Simpson with Lanier Hanover, the popular Canadian-born Del McTavish will be on deck.

They are expecting an overflow crowd this Sunday, as the weather is ideal. And last night Dave told me, that everywhere you looked there were cars. I didn't go to the races last night, was just a little under the weather. Has been cold up here one day and warm the next.

The racing secretary, Lucien Bombardier, tells me this is the strongest field ever assembled in Canada and the Blue Bonnets Raceway. He is also confident a new track record will be set if the track remains fast.

Well, anyway, this is certainly a sporting crowd here in Canada, and do they like their horses! After you get to know them good, they are so different. At first they stay aloof, and don't have much to say. But I still can't understand their French. But for one thing, I'm getting so I can say some of the street names and that helps.

Here is an item the race secretary, Georges Giguere gave me. It was a banner year and record-breaking year for the harness racing at Richelieu Park, the modern half-mile track on the shores of the beautiful St. Lawrence River, where at night, under the lights, you could hear the whistles of big steamers going down the river to the Montreal port. It was a wonderful sight, as you were close enough to see clearly. Now here are the figures he gave me: Ninety-two days of racing saw 345,974 fans jam through the turnstiles and e'am $12,710,292 thru the mutuel windows. The average handle (and I quote) was $138,155 per day. The average attendance was 3760, with only two programs cancelled on account of weather.

Why do I send all this? Because I think harness racing is still on the up-grade. If the Canadian tracks can draw, gosh look at the tracks that are going up in the States. There are plenty of country tracks here around Montreal, with betting.

All the talk around here is about Adios Harry. Gosh, he is some horse. Another thing that happened fast here was the deal of Bay State Pat. Gosh it all happened fast and furious. When they make a deal, that's the way they do. Their stable is right next to ours and it was over before it got started good.

So much for horses. Did you know there is a town up here in Quebec that has no cars. Well, the little town of Anglica just don't have them. The little town happens to be 150 years old. It was so odd to see them in their long whiskers and the old 1919 Ford, all in high hats and the old dusters that used to make up the array you wore in the good ole days. There were several from the track that went to see this. The first one to sign a deed was Victor duPont deNe-mours. The records shown in a glass case, state he was the first to have a little store and prospered for a while. Then he became the first county clerk, but after a bitter political quarrel with the church and business reverses, in 1809 he joined his brother, Renee, on the banks of

Two Weeks' Mission At St. Bernadette's Church Starts Oct. 30

An announcement was made recently by the Rev. John A. Corrigan that a two weeks' mission would be conducted in St. Bernadette's Church, beginning on Sunday evening, Oct. 30. The first week will be for women and the following week for men.

Sermons during the mission will be preached by a priest from the Congregation of Passionists. During a mission, special attention is given to fundamental doctrines of the Catholic religion—the purpose of our existence, the justice, mercy and love of God for man. Any girl or woman of high school age—whether she be a Catholic or not—may attend the evening services during the first week. Any boy or man of high school age or older, will be welcome during the second week.

The Passionists were founded in 1720 by St. Paul-of-the-Cross to keep alive in the minds of men the memory of our Lord's sufferings and death on the cross. On their coarse black habit they wear a heart-shaped badge, known as the Sign, bearing a white cross and three nails, with the words, "Jesu Xpi Passio"—"the Passion of Jesus Christ." The Passionists now have over 4000 members in all parts of the world. They are well known in the United States, having been established here more than 100 years ago. The Order publishes "The Sign," one of the country's outstanding magazines, with a circulation close to 400,000.

Felton firemen, who found evidence of some oily substance in the structure, called the fire marshal.

Harrington Fire Company assisted in the fire on an alarm after 3 a.m. Felton firemen returned at noon when the blaze started anew.

CITY COUNCIL GIVES GREEN LIGHT ON EXTENSION OF SEWER LINES

The City Council accepted the bid of Slater & Rogers, of Seaford, to extend two sewer lines Monday, in its first night meeting since spring.

The firm will extend a sewer some 350 feet, on the west side of U.S. 13, from the Bridle Bit Restaurant north to the present sewer. Six-inch iron pipe will be used. The cost, $1122, will include a manhole and cover. The project was, more or less, at the instigation of the State Board of Health, which had been receiving complaints on a ditch.

The other Slater project will include the extension of a sewer on Simmons Street, 75 or 80 feet, at $3.20 per foot.

As an aftermath of the discussion on the projects, the Council talked seriously about a charge for hooking onto sewers.

In a busy session, the Council discussed placing a warning light for aircraft atop the new water tower. A consulting engineer for the tower believed this would have to be done, but Mayor Killen remarked the City had received no letter from the Air Force on the matter. The Council agreed to check with the Dover Air Base on the project.

The Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, which is expected to begin work on the tower's superstructure immediately, made a bid on the light, as did Satterfield & Ryan.

Councilmen Charles Peck Sr. and Walter Messick, and City Manager Norris Adams were appointed by Mayor Killen to study drainage off the east end of Mill Street at the southern end of the new Quillen Shopping Center.

The Century Club thought it shouldn't pay the City for water. The Councilmen agreed it should pay, pointing out that it, at times, rented its quarters on Dorman Street.

The Council okayed a check for $820 on interest on sewer bonds. It also protested the sweeping of paper by merchants into Commerce Street. City Clerk Kathryn Simpson was authorized to write warning letters to the leading offenders.

A street light was requested at West and Liberty Streets on a petition headed by Mrs. Ada Coulbourne. A light was also requested at Second Avenue and Carson's Alley in another petition. City Manager Adams was appointed to investigate.

In the contest, the winners in each store received a Sealy posturepedic mattress. The Grayston entry is now being considered for one of three nation-wide grand prizes. The outcome of the national contest has been delayed, however, by the numerous entries.

The three grand prizes are: 1. $100 a month for the rest of the winner's life from 55 years of age, or $20,000 in cash. 2. A two-week all-expense vacation via TWA to Paris for two, plus $300. 3. A 1955 Packard Caribbean convertible.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Q—I am a veteran of both World War II and Korea. I held on to my World War II GI term insurance, but I let it expire within 120 days after my Korean service ended in 1954. Originally I couldn't get it back, but now I understand there is a new law allowing me to replace it. Is there any deadline for replacing it?

A—There is a deadline for Korea veterans who have World War I or II insurance policies that expired within 120 days after discharge from their Korean service. You must replace your insurance no later than Nov. 28, 1955.

Q—I want to attend a state college that charges no tuition to students residing in the state. If I enroll under the Korean GI Bill, will I have to pay the college any tuition.

A—You will be required to pay an amount based on the school's cost of teaching personnel and supplies for instruction. But this amount may not exceed $10 a month for a full-time student.

Q—I am an experienced carpenter, but I would like to take a carpentry course under the Korean GI Bill to brush up on my skills. Would this be possible?

A—No. Under the law, a veteran may not train for an occupation in which he already is skilled.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9 to 15

While Delaware's fire losses have been relatively low, due to the "valiant work of our volunteer fire companies and paid fire fighters," Governor J. Caleb Boggs has called for the observance of Fire Prevention Week from Oct. 9 to 15.

The chief executive urged the fire marshals, all state agencies, civic groups and public information outlets to actively observe the week by calling attention to the needless losses caused by fires which could be avoided through adoption of proper safety measures.

The proclamation follows: WHEREAS, thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars in property are lost each year through fires; and

WHEREAS, as a result of these destructive fires, immeasurable losses are caused in employment, production and other economic activities; and

grams have proved effective in communities throughout the nation; and

WHEREAS, Delaware has been particularly fortunate in this past year because of the valiant work of its volunteer fire companies and paid city companies whose alertness has prevented many losses; now

THEREFORE, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby designate the week beginning Oct. 9, 1955, as

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

I call upon the citizens of all our communities to organize effective programs for reducing the needless waste caused by preventable fires, and I urge the American Red Cross, the Delaware Safety Council, all of our Chambers of Commerce, business, labor and farm organizations as well as schools, civic groups and public information agencies actively to observe Fire Prevention Week. I also direct our fire marshals and other appropriate agencies in the state to assist in this effort to reduce the loss of life and property resulting from fires.

DELAWARE'S FIRST COMMERCIAL BANK—1795 — FIRST TRUST CO. — 1888
 Wilmington, Delaware

Mr. P. A. Wardenburg, President
 Group Hospital Service, Inc.
 906 West Street
 Wilmington, Delaware

Dear Fred:

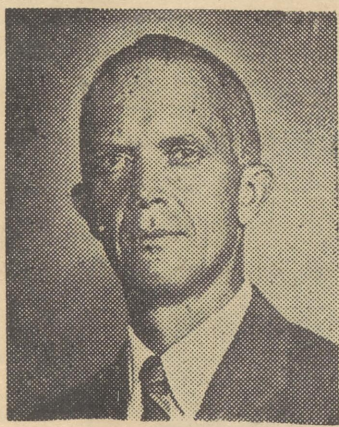

Banks believe in insurance, for themselves, their customers and employees. The employees of our bank have been covered by Blue Cross for twenty years. We are proud that Equitable Trust was the first and Security Trust the second group to join Blue Cross.

Now nearly four hundred men and women of Equitable Security, and their dependents, have the finest hospital and surgical-medical protection that can be acquired. We are particularly pleased that this coverage is furnished by Group Hospital Service, a Delaware corporation which was organized by Delawareans, which is managed and directed by Delawareans and which is operated for the benefit of Delawareans.

There have been many cases among our people where Blue Cross and Blue Shield have been of tremendous importance in helping to meet unexpected hospital and doctors' bills, which would have been a severe financial burden, were it not for this protection. We know of no better or more important type of protection than that which Blue Cross and Blue Shield provide to so many of the people in Delaware.

Cordially yours,
 P. A. Wardenburg
 President

20 years of service to Delawareans

John B. Jessup, President Equitable Security Trust Company

Twenty years of service, twenty years of growth, twenty years of change . . . twenty years of Blue Cross in Delaware. It has been an eventful twenty years. Your enthusiastic acceptance of Blue Cross and its basic concept—the importance of prepaying hospital expenses—has enabled the Delaware Blue Cross Plan to keep in step with the times, and with your constantly changing needs. Today's Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan, while operating on the same basic principles upon which it was founded twenty years ago, now offers you completely up-to-date hospital-surgical-medical coverage . . . offers it to you at the lowest possible cost. How well the Delaware Blue Cross Plan has stood the test of twenty years' time is proved, we believe, by the fact that those groups which were first to join Blue Cross—way back in 1935—are among its most ardent supporters.

Special Course For Retailers
A group of prominent local businessmen will comprise the faculty for a special course, "Administrative Management for the Small Retailer," which will be offered by the Extension Division of the University of Delaware, Oct. 10, in the Tower Hill School Auditorium.

Co-sponsor for the program, which will have its first meeting at 8 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 10, is the Department of Economics and Business Administration at the university.

Subsequent speakers will include Alton S. Hillis, vice-president of the Farmers' Bank of Delaware; David Braunstein, treasurer of Braunstein's, Inc.; Paul Day, Millard F. Davis Co.; Merle R. Price, operating manager of the John Wanamaker store; Sam Eisenstat, executive vice-president of Kennard Pyle Co.; Howard A. Miller, vice-president of Miller Brothers Co.; and Morton E. Evans, attorney-at-law.

The small retailer is essentially a local businessman, buying and selling merchandise. He is likely to own a substantial part, if not all, of the enterprise for which he is responsible.

The small retailer represents the largest group of enterprisers in the United States. Unfortunately, he also represents about 98 per cent of retail business failures from year to year. By undertaking this course, the University of Delaware is trying to assist the small businessman to become a more successful and, therefore, more permanent part of our economic life. The speakers are men who are well qualified to discuss the topics assigned to them. It is expected that a substantial part of each session will be devoted to an exchange of ideas by those present through questions and discussion.

Season tickets or tickets for individual lectures may be secured by contacting the Division of University Extension in Newark.

The women of the Greenwood Methodist Church will serve a full supper, including ham and oysters, Saturday, Oct. 8. Serving starts at 4:30. This will be held in the Firemen's Building. The public is invited.

Mrs. William Fleischauer's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Forbes, of New Orleans, La., are visiting here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wharton of Washington, D. C., were weekend guests of Mrs. Mattie Wharton.

The WSCS of Grace Church met at the home of Mrs. S. S. Wroten Sept. 27. After the devotions, led by Mrs. Florence Humphries, and the business meeting, the 15th anniversary of the WSCS was celebrated.

The charter members and past presidents were honored. New members were recognized and the faithful service of deceased members was recalled. The first president in 1940, Mrs. S. S. Wroten, was presented with a gift. To complete the birthday celebration was a cake with 15 candles. Looking back over the 15 years, we see "as in a glass" but not darkly. Indeed the reflections of persons and doings "back there" is a challenge to us in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Mai were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laird Kratz.

Congratulations to H. G. Omwake, who was elected president of the Sussex County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations at its recent meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Carter spent Monday and Tuesday in Wilmington, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens.

Sunday dinner guests at the Jacob Hatfield home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Clarke of Media, Pa., and Miss Peggy Ann Laughrey and Miss Carol Sue Moore of Greenwood.

School Systems To Be Analyzed At State-Wide Level

More than 1100 state citizens will take stock of their public school systems on Saturday, Oct. 8, at the Delaware White House Conference on Education in P. S. duPont High School, Wilmington, and recommendations for future needs will be heard from study groups who have worked on specialized subjects during the past six months.
An analysis of advance legislation made late last week revealed that almost every nook and corner of the state will be represented at the conference. A breakdown of replies showed that representatives from more than 50 communities had responded, with nearly 50 per cent of the invited guests still to be heard from at that time.
Governor J. Caleb Boggs, who named the initial committee to make the White House Conference study, will be the keynote speaker at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He has expressed his personal hope that all those invited make every effort to participate in the conference, where workshop studies on eight subjects will be considered.
Principal speaker at the morning session will be Roy E. Larsen, Time Magazine official, who is chairman of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools. He is closely associated with the President's White House Conference on Education.
After luncheon in the duPont school cafeteria, there will be an address by the Hon. James M. Tunell Jr., Georgetown, former associate justice of the State Supreme Court. His subject will be: "How Can We Meet the Challenge?" Brief workshop reports will follow.
Subjects to be discussed and leaders of each group are:
1. How will population changes and other conditions affect education in Delaware? — Dr. Milton Roedel, duPont Company economist.
2. What should our schools accomplish? — Dr. Ward I. Miller, superintendent of Wilmington Schools.
3. What are our school building needs? — Alex H. Taylor, chief engineer, Delaware School Auxiliary Association.
4. How can we get enough teachers—and keep them? — Dr.

William O. Penrose, University of Delaware.

5. In what way can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically? — Wilmer Shue, superintendent, Newark Special School District.
6. How can we finance our schools—build and operate them? — Dr. John A. Perkins, president, University of Delaware.
7. How can we obtain a continuing interest in education? — Ralph Gottshall, president, Atlas Powder Company.
8. How do sociological and economic factors affect the education of our children? — Dr. M. A. Zimman, superintendent, Delaware State Hospital.
The original program planning committee appointed by Governor Boggs consisted of: Mrs. Clarence Frain, chairman; Dr. Oler Bartley, Harland Carpenter, William Duffy, Joseph R. Kleckner, Mrs. Frank R. Grier, W. B. McCormack, Harold Purnell, Lewis Roushey, William H. Naudain, Sager Tryon, Samuel Lenher, Mrs. Edward H. Worth, Gordon Rust, Thomas W. Mulrooney, Marian McCaughan and Samuel Maroney.
Among state organizations other than school boards, principals and teachers, the following have signified they have assigned conference delegates: State Grange, Welfare Council, Y.M.C.A., Delaware Commission for Children and Youth, State Federation of Women's Clubs, Council of Negro Women, American Association of University Women, Junior Section, New Century Club, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, State Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, individual parent-teacher associations.
Also the Delaware Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club, Council of Industrial Organizations, Federation of Delaware Teachers, Delaware State Education Association, Wilmington Teachers' Association, Sussex County Teachers Association and many other groups.

TURKS-CAP LILY
©1954 National Wildlife Federation
Lilium superbum

It is obvious that the naturalist, Linnaeus, who gave this plant its scientific name, was pleased with its appearance. Otherwise he would never have selected superbum as a specific name. This plant ranked as No. 15 in a nation-wide poll for selecting the most popular of the showy wildflowers.

Of course this spectacular plant has been cultivated and improved for garden use. For most of us it is still hard to beat when found growing wild in meadows and marshes from New Brunswick to North Carolina and as far west as Minnesota and Missouri. I happen to own a bit of land where one of its close relatives is found in surprising abundance and it is difficult for me to decide whether I thrill more over the lilies, the azaleas, the trailing arbutus, the second growth chestnuts that last year bore fruit, the deer that haunt my clearing or the milk snake I commonly find under a cover I keep in one corner of my cabin. The place would not be the same were any one of these elements removed.

Turk's-cap lilies bloom in early summer. Usually the stem is only slightly over three feet high, but it may reach a height of eight feet. The leaves are about six inches long and about four times as long as wide. They are commonly pointed at both ends. The upper leaves may be alternate but the lower ones are commonly borne in whorls of three to eight at rather regular intervals along the stem.

So beautiful are the flowers of this lily that it seems almost a sacrilege to suggest that the Indians frequently used the fleshy bulb-like bases to thicken their soups. It is to be hoped that mention of this will not result in anyone's trying to determine whether this is a good idea. The Chinese say that if you have two bowls of rice with which to fill your belly, you should sell one and with it buy a bowl of daffodils to fill your soul. Using the bulb of a Turk's-cap lily to thicken on a soup would be reversing this sound philosophy. Incidentally, plucking of the flowers may so weaken the bulb that the future prosperity of the plant may be threatened. This might be considered as only slightly less reprehensible than converting the bulb into inferior soup to fill a tummy.

The flowers are orange, yellow-orange or rarely red. A single plant may bear from one to 40 flowers at a time in loose open clusters at the top of the stem. When mature, the flowers hang like nodding bells with strongly backward curved outer parts. The stamens and the end of the pistil extend beyond the open face of the flower. The flowers are frequently visited and probably pollinated by monarch butterflies and bees. The plant is sometimes called the nodding or wild tiger-lily.

The National Wildlife Federation is glad to join with other conservation groups in working for greater public appreciation of things of beauty such as the Turk's-cap lily so that they may be preserved and protected for future generations.

Lions Club Hears Report On Spotters

The regular meeting of the Harrington Lions Club was held at the Wonder R on Monday, Sept. 26, with Lion President Ralph Draper presiding.

Samuel Short, who is in charge of the local spotters station, visited the club and gave a very interesting report on the spotting post. He explained that the citizens of the community would have to maintain it with their support in manning it and financially by supplying the necessary cash to pay for fuel and electricity. The Civilian Defense Department does not pay for the upkeep or the supplies. After hearing Mr. Short's talk, it was decided that the Lions Club would pay last year's balance owed for fuel. They plan to devise a way in which they might man this station for a given period each month. It is hoped that all civic-minded individuals will support this worthwhile cause.

It was also decided that the club would hold a bulb sale of assorted sizes, to raise funds for the club's community project. They will soon call on all residents, asking them to purchase bulbs. From past support given the club, everyone will help this worthwhile project to be a success.

Exams For Cadet Appointments To Be Held Nov. 14

United States Senator J. Allen Frear today announced that a qualifying examination for appointments to the 1956 classes at the U. S. Naval and Air Force Academies will be held on Monday, Nov. 14, in Dover and Wilmington.

The Senator explained that this preliminary test—conducted under the auspices of the Civil Service Commission—is designed to select qualified young men as candidates for nomination to the Air Force Academy and the Naval Academy next July.

Mr. Frear pointed out that he is authorized to nominate 10 young men for the Air Academy, who will then be eligible to compete with similar groups selected by Delaware's two other members of the Congressional delegation. A total of two principal appointments will be made from the state by the Air Force for the 1956 class.

For each vacancy at the Naval Academy, one principal and five alternates will be appointed by Senator Frear. If the principal appointee fails the final mental or physical entrance examination, an alternate will then be available to take his place.

A number of young Delawareans have already expressed an interest in attending these schools and will be notified of this announcement individually.

Senator Frear urged all other interested young men to contact his office as soon as possible if they desire to participate in the qualifying examination.

Double Bill At Reese Theatre This Weekend

Never in the history of the Reese Theatre, according to the management, has there been a more sensational or entertaining double bill than that advertised in this newspaper for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6-7-8, daylight saving time.

Not one, but two of the top hits of the day, the first, "The Phenix City Story," true in every respect, lauded by "Life" and "Look" magazines, as a picture one shouldn't miss. Sin by sin, shock by shock, it pictures Phenix City, Ala., as the wickedest city in America. It remained for the Army to be called to curb the city that killed its prosecutor. True and filmed in the city where it all happened. "The Girl Rush" with Rosiland Russell, a musical story of Las Vegas, completes this terrific bill. Paramount presents in Vistavision, "To Catch a Thief," with Grace Kelly and Cary Grant, for a four-day engagement, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 9-10-11-12. Another top hit of the season. Burt Lancaster stars in his new picture, "The Kentuckian," the presentation scheduled at Movie Center Oct. 13-14-15.

MAKE MOTORISTS RESPONSIBLE

Despite the number of various laws in the various states requiring motorists to carry insurance or providing stiff penalties against those who do not, in most of the states in the Union irresponsible motorists are still causing heavy human and physical damage, without having to compensate for their acts.

Since most motorists drive through a number of states over a period of time, the problem is almost a national one. Although the effort to require motorists to carry insurance is supported by a large and growing number of people, the various states have not yet come up with a solution and therefore, the highways are filled with irresponsible drivers, who do not have the financial means to compensate for the destruction they may at any time cause.

This is a problem which should be solved because it can be solved. If the various state legislatures do not wish to pass laws requiring motorists to carry insurance, then they should pass some sort of law which would protect the victim of the irresponsible motorists. There is no reason why any citizen should be allowed to take to the highway with a machine which might cause both death and destruction, in irresponsible hands, when he has neither the means nor the insurance to compensate for destruction which he might cause.

SCHOOLS SHOULD PREPARE FOR COLLEGE

Somewhere we heard that Delaware educators had discussed teaching study habits which would prepare high-school students for college. This is, indeed, a light in the clearing. Such training has been needed a long time.

We spent some time in college, perhaps longer than necessary, and still we did not learn all the ropes.

If we were asked how to prepare a student for college, our suggestions would include the following:

1. Before graduation from high school, a brush-up course in arithmetic, spelling and grammar.

2. Lecture courses from one to two hours in length, with a textbook for outside reading. The student would be required to take copious notes. Examinations would be held mainly on the notes, with some questions based on the textbook. When we were in college, we found that professors usually gave most or all of the questions in examinations from their own lectures. One dominie, however, caught us napping when he based his first examination entirely on the book and ignored his lectures entirely. Another thing we found: In the library one could sometimes find the final examination questions for five years back. Learn the answers and one would pretty well know the course, for the examinations cover its outstanding points. In the high-school lecture courses, the professor should learn to emphasize the important, pausing so the student can write it down.

3. Snap quizzes are all right, but we like to be notified ahead. In most of our courses in college, the professor would tell us ahead of time when we had a quiz, or an examination. Study your notes five times, before an exam, and try to visualize the questions to be asked and the answers.

4. Learn to type. This does not mean one has to take a course in typing. The old "hunt-and-peck" system is all right.

5. When one first enters college, one is first told about all the extra-curricular activities. These round out an education, the neophyte is informed. That is true, but don't forget, the academic studies are the most important. They must come first. Big industry is not interested so much in football heroes as in scientists.

6. If the going gets tough, and it will, get a group of your classmates together and study with them.

Kent Home Doings

By CHARLOTTE L. SWANSON

Here are three dishes that are different, but not difficult. You will enjoy using them in your fall menus.

Swiss cheese has always been a favorite of mine, and here it is combined in a puffy cheese-and-cracker fondu. Incidentally, fondu doesn't have to be pampered like a soufflé.

Swiss Fondue
6 slices bacon
20 saltine crackers
1/4 lb. grated process Swiss cheese
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, separated
Saute bacon until golden brown and crisp; break up into small pieces. Crumble saltine crackers. Add cracker crumbs, cheese, butter or margarine, salt and bacon to milk. Beat egg yolks; gradually stir in cracker mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold into cracker mixture. Pour into greased one-quart baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves four.

Eggplant can be combined with many different flavors. This recipe uses it with Mozzarella cheese, tomato sauce and herbs, for a real treat.

Eggplant Triple Deckers
1 medium onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 cans tomato sauce
1/2 cup water
2 bouillon cubes
1/2 teaspoon basil
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 medium eggplant (about 1 1/2 pounds)
2 eggs
finely rolled cracker crumbs
Mozzarella cheese
1 teaspoon oregano
Saute onion and garlic in olive oil until golden brown. Mix in tomato sauce, water, bouillon cubes, basil and salt; simmer 15 minutes. Cut eggplant into 12 crosswise slices about 1/4" thick. Dip eggplant slices into slightly beaten eggs; then in crumbs. Saute in shortening until golden brown on both sides. Put together in stacks of three with slices of Mozzarella cheese in between eggplant; place in baking pan or individual casseroles. Top each stack with additional cheese and sprinkle with oregano. Pour in tomato sauce. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until cheese melts and eggplant is hot. Serves four.

Baked apples are always good—but these are even better.

Fig Baked Apples
6 fig bars quartered
1/3 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
6 large tart baking apples
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
Combine fig bars, orange juice and corn syrup; let stand 10 minutes. Wash, core and pare apples 1/4 of the way down; place in shallow baking pan. Spoon fig bar mixture into center of apples. Dissolve sugar in boiling water; stir in butter or margarine and orange rind. Pour over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 60 minutes, or until apples are tender, basting often with syrup in pan. Serve warm or cold with cream.

Seek to Strengthen Cancer Crusade In Kent and Sussex

Steps to more effectively fight cancer through strengthening county organizations in both Kent and Sussex Counties were outlined Thursday, Sept. 29, when the Delaware Division of the American Cancer Society held its annual meeting in Wilmington.

The move will see separate Cancer Society unit offices in Georgetown and Dover organized along lines prescribed by the national organization to give each county a maximum amount of local determination in establishing and carrying out its own cancer-fighting program, according to Dr. W. E. Gordon, executive committee chairman for the Delaware Division.

In Sussex County, key committees are already functioning to handle cancer education, services to cancer patients, and fund-raising activities, it was reported. Similar committees in Kent County are expected to swing into action within the next few months.

The 1955 Cancer Crusade raised a grand total of $102,024.23 throughout the state, the meeting was told by Frank J. Harty, Crusade chairman. Of this amount, $9,462.03 was credited to Kent County and $12,858.60 to Sussex County. It was by far the most successful campaign ever staged in Delaware to solicit funds to battle this dread disease.

Dr. Gordon was re-elected to serve a second term as chairman of the state division's executive committee. Also re-elected to division offices were Dr. James Beebe, president; William Raskob, treasurer, and Dr. John W. Howard, secretary.

County chairmen re-elected were Dr. Leslie M. Dobson of Milford, for Sussex County; Dr. C. J. Prickett of Smyrna, for Kent County, and Dr. W. W. Lattomus of Wilmington, for New Castle County. Mrs. William N. Cann of Wilmington was re-elected as commander of the Women's Volunteer Army throughout the state, with vice-commanders, Mrs. William J. Messick of Seaford, for Sussex County; Mrs. H. B. King of Dover, for Kent County, and Mrs. Samuel Handloff of Newark, for New Castle County. Mrs. Cann announced that the associate vice-commanders for the county units will be: Mrs. Gilbert Boush of Ocean View, for Sussex County; Mrs. Robert Vandegriff of Dover, for Kent County.

C. Greer Yount of Wilmington, previously vice-chairman of the campaign committee, was elected chairman for the coming year. Dr. Emerson Y. Gledhill of Wilmington was re-elected chairman of the state division's medical committee.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15

"Your farm will be much safer from fire if you don't give fire a place to start," says County Agent George Vapaa. He urges elimination of fire hazards from farm homes and buildings as a way to prepare for Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15. Its observance is sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association, in co-operation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Pennsylvania Agricultural Extension Service.

Winter is the season when the fire menace is severe. For winter safety, Vapaa reminds to clean up all trash—it can be fuel for unwanted fires. Store oily rags in covered metal containers, well away from stoves or spark-throwing equipment. Replace badly-worn wiring. Use fuses of the right amperage. Otherwise, circuits overheat and become fire hazards.

Post and observe "no smoking" signs in barns, machine shops, and wherever flammable liquids are stored. Keep heaters and stoves in good repair. Keep all combustible materials a safe distance from these heat sources. Clean soot from chimneys and repair chimney cracks, loose mortar, or defective flue pipes.

When building, repairing or remodeling, use fire-resistant materials wherever possible. Protect roofs with asphalt shingles, or other fire-retardant roofing. Stone, brick, concrete or cinder block walls slow the spread of fire.

Anchor the TV antenna firmly and have it well grounded. Don't mount the antenna on a chimney—unless it the quickest ways to loosen a chimney, or even pull it down.

Metal Roofing Lasts Longer With Care

Metal roofs on many farm buildings are proving how durable this type of roof can be. The lifetime of these roofs can be greatly increased by knowing how to select the roofing, how to put it on, and way to preserve the metal. County Agent George Vapaa gives a few points on applying the material.

Screw-type nails have proved preferable to smooth-shank nails for fastening metal sheets securely to roof sheathing. Sheet metal screws have been used satisfactorily to fasten sheets together where the wood structure did not hold nails. A No. 12 half-inch galvanized screw-nail was also satisfactory, since it fills old nail holes.

Asbestos wicking has been found to be a good material for gaskets in the sheet laps, but not more than two strands should be used or the sheets may be spread apart too far.

Galvanized roofing should be painted as soon as the galvanizing or zinc coating begins to break down. Painting at this stage takes less labor and much less paint than after the roof begins. For the paint to stick on well and for maximum coverage, it must be put on in warm weather. Sheets must be dry and free from dust and dirt. If rusted, the sheets can be cleaned with a wire brush to remove loose particles and scale. First, paint all rusted spots and allow to dry before applying a coat over the entire roof. Wire brushing is not necessary if the paint is applied with a spray gun, but the roof should be swept with a broom just before painting. Metallic zinc paint has given excellent service.

A new oil company, partly government owned, will be started in India to prospect for oil in the Hugrijan and Moran areas of Assam, New Delhi reports.

Contraband gold worth $295,216 was found in bags of sugar aboard the British ship Nellore when it arrived at Hong Kong from Brisbane, Australia.

Full-Time Officials Needed For Civil Defense, Says Lee

Because the State Department of Civil Defense lacks a full-time deputy director and a full-time supply officer, "two million dollars in equipment is improperly inventoried and cared for" and the state also may fail to qualify for a $40,000 federal appropriation to participate in the "National Survival Plan" studies recently authorized by Congress.

This was disclosed today by D. Preston Lee, state Civil Defense director, who added that he has sent letters to every member of the state's House of Representatives, urging their approval of a bill which would provide for both a deputy director and a supply officer.

The measure, Senate Bill 342, was approved by the Senate but was twice rejected by the House, where it has been restored to the calendar for one more vote when the General Assembly reconvenes.

If Delaware fails to accept the $40,000 and participate in the national survival plan studies, it will be missing out on "the greatest advance of Civil Defense planning that has been undertaken thus far," Mr. Lee stated.

Delaware's participation in the national study hinges upon the state's conducting an inventory of Civil Defense equipment, but Mr. Lee pointed out in his letter, "We cannot do it because we do not have a supply man."

"We now have responsibility for $2,000,000 worth of equipment," he continued, "which is improperly inventoried and poorly cared for. The Federal Civil Defense Administration has millions of dollars worth of equipment stockpiled in various states, but we did not request any of it to be stored in Delaware, due to lack of a supply man to supervise its storage and use."

He pointed out that some of this federal equipment, such as pumps and pipelines, could have been used this summer in the state's drought and flood areas and also by Rehoboth when that community's water system went out of commission.

Delaware's participation in the national survival plan studies also will require a full-time deputy director, Mr. Lee stated.

"We do not now have anyone who could devote a year to giving the leadership which would be required," he explained.

As announced previously, Congress recently appropriated $10,000,000 for the national survival study project. Broken down into state and regional projects, the study would lead to the creation of a master plan for the evacuation and shelter of the nation's civilian populations in a war-time emergency. Delaware, as a part of the Delaware Valley industrial complex, would play a significant role in the planning, Mr. Lee said.

Referring to the equipment inventory problem, Mr. Lee said that after Hurricanes Connie and Diane there was a "strong feeling" in many quarters that an inventory of equipment should be maintained. "I agree with this recommendation. One of the greatest delaying forces in a natural disaster is inability to locate promptly equipment and operators."

Use Temporary Silos For Corn Silage

Many Maryland farmers will be making corn silage this year and many of these same farmers will be looking for a place to store this silage.

The problem isn't as tough as a lot of people think, says John Dietrich, University of Maryland Extension dairyman. He suggests a temporary silo made from woven wire or snow fence and lined with sisalkraft paper.

These silos are easy to build and require very little time and money, Dietrich points out. In most cases, he says, they can be built with material already on the farm. If the silage is well packed here will be very little spoilage, he added.

Many farmers build woven-wire or snow fence silos in a circle. Dietrich says this type of temporary silo should be built on level ground, and while filling the silo someone should remain on the inside to distribute the silage and pack it evenly. Circular silos of more than two tiers may tip over unless the silage is packed evenly. The safest circular temporary silos should never be more than two tiers high, he says.

When a farmer expects to store more than 75 tons of silage, Dietrich recommends a temporary silo of two parallel rows of fencing. This type of silo can be packed with a tractor, he says.

The paper lining should overlap at least five inches at the seams to reduce spoilage around the sides, Dietrich emphasizes. There will be some spoilage on the top, he says, but this can be reduced by rounding off the top of the silage so it will shed water. A cover of straw, hay or paper also helps shed water, thus cutting down spoilage.

High School Pupils To Attend Open House At U. of D.

High school students from all parts of the state have been invited to attend the annual open house program of the University of Delaware on Wednesday, Oct. 12.

The program, featuring displays, exhibits, laboratory demonstrations and visits to campus centers of interest, is under the supervision of Dr. William G. Fletcher, director of admissions and records. Special programs are being planned by all five undergraduate schools.

Each year the university sponsors a similar program to acquaint students, their parents, and the general public, with the course offerings and facilities available on the Delaware campus. School administrators, officials and teachers also are urged to attend.

The School of Arts and Science will feature exhibitions and conferences with faculty members in the humanities as well as other features in physical, biological and social sciences.

In Agricultural Hall will be exhibits depicting the functions and activities of the divisions of the school as well as the opportunities for agriculturalists.

The home economics staff will feature the theme, Tomorrow's Vision in Home Economics, illustrated through exhibits. A special feature of the school of education will be the widely known Reading Clinic laboratory, while exhibits on education and opportunities for conferences with students and faculty are also planned.

Demonstrations on various phases of civil, chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering will be on display in Evans Hall and Brown Laboratory, where studies and research of the school of engineering is conducted.

Visitors to the open house proceedings are invited to report to Wolf Hall Auditorium upon their arrival for registration and information. The Wolf Hall parking lot will be reserved for guests during the open house.

TOP BROILER FLOCKS LISTED FOR AUGUST

Ten best broiler flocks sold during August were: Edward Lamore, Wyoming; Elwood Coulbourn, Seaford; George Bringhurst, Viola; Lorenzo Morgan, Georgetown; Nat Cole, Bridgeville; John Vitulli, Laurel; George Friedel, Seaford; Philip Keller, Milford; Clayton Hurd, Dover, and Reynolds Robbins, Frederica.

Average weight in these flocks was 3.21 pounds per bird sold at 10 weeks, one day of age. Feed conversion average 2.72 pounds of feed per pound of meat (a difference of 49 points). Average size of the flocks was 10,000 birds, and mortality averaged 4%. The youngest birds sold were eight weeks three days of age, with 2.72 pounds average weight and 2.33 feed conversion. Next youngest birds were nine weeks one day of age, with 3.07 pounds average weight and 2.40 feed conversion. Oldest birds sold were 11 weeks four days of age when moved, with 3.47 pounds average weight and 2.77 feed conversion.

"Plenty of fresh air" is Ed Lamore's motto, and it has paid off. He starts ventilating the first week and gradually allows more and more ventilation as the chicks grow older. He lowers the sliding windows in front and raises up the 18-inch board in rear (can be opened part-way with no direct draft). Except in very severe weather, he starts removing boards between the rear rafters when the chicks are three days of age. This allows some cross ventilation in addition to the fresh air coming in the front windows. A partition board one foot wide through the center of the house confines chicks to the rear half of the house the first few days of age, and prevents floor drafts.

Elwood Coulbourn is sure he will always get some ventilation in his broiler house through the cloth curtains on his front windows. Aside from the cost angle, this is one advantage of cloth curtains — you can always get air movement without a draft.

Both Ed and Elwood have double doors at the ends of their houses for cross ventilation during summer. Ed has front and rear doors 45 feet apart (alternated to prevent drafts) for floor-level ventilation in summer. Ed feeds his broilers three times a day during the early part of the growing period, and four times daily for the past two weeks. He uses two sizes of metal chick feeders—11 four-foot feeders per 1000 broilers, and 20 five-foot feeders per 1000 birds. He uses triangular-shaped wood blocks at each end of his metal feeders to raise them up when the broilers get five to six weeks of age. George Bringhurst uses 2x4" wood blocks under his small metal feeders at

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Rev. Robert E. VanCleaf, Pastor "Boyhood of Jesus" is the title of the lesson to be discussed at the session of the Church School, which will begin Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. This lesson gives a picture of the family background of Jesus and some of the many influences which were brought to bear upon his personality.

You are invited to attend the devotional and study periods of the church school, and thus be better fitted to face the complex society of our day. Help us maintain our high average attendance during the year.

Morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. Seventh Sunday in Kingdomtide. Special anthems will be sung by the Cathedral and the Junior Choirs. Sermon by the pastor.

During the morning worship a nursery will be conducted by members of the Pathfinders Class and other friends of the church, for children whose parents attend the worship service. It is hoped that many parents will avail themselves of this service during the next few weeks. If it is found that no great need exists for a nursery, the project will be discontinued.

Evening worship will begin at 7:30 o'clock. At this service the Chancel Choir will sing a beautiful anthem entitled, "Garden of Peace and Prayer," by Patterson. Invite your friends to come to this service of praise and devotion. Favorite hymns will be sung. Sermon by the pastor.

After the evening worship the meeting of the Commission on Education will be held. All members of the commission and representatives of classes are requested to be present.

On Tuesday evening the Mothers' Auxiliary will meet at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Pitlick Jr.

On Thursday evening the Esther Circle of the W.S.C.S. will sponsor a fashion show, to be held in the Collins Building of the church. An interesting program has been arranged.

The Junior and Chancel Choirs will meet at the church for rehearsal at the usual times. The Cathedral Choir will meet at 7:45 for a short rehearsal.

Laymen's Day will be observed on Sunday, Oct. 16, at the morning worship. A special lay speaker will deliver the sermon.

In order to get proper credit for payments on the conference apportionments at the district conference, all money must be sent to the conference treasurer by Oct. 31. Members and friends are requested to bring their church envelopes up to date or to make their contributions as quickly as convenient, in order that the church treasurer might send in the money in ample time.

P.T.A. Again Sponsoring Accident Insurance

The Caesar Rodney Parent-Teacher Association is again sponsoring a student accident insurance plan. Accident insurance for pupils in grades one through six costs $1 per pupil. In grades seven through 12 the rate is $1.25 per student and includes all athletics except football.

The master policy will be dated Oct. 15, 1955 and will be effective for one year from that date.

The health chairman of the P.T.A., Mrs. Kessil Rash, is chairman of the insurance committee which collects the envelopes and money from the teachers in the elementary school and makes a record of those to be insured. High school students leave their insurance envelopes and money in the school office.

Monday's collection amounted to about $300.

The committee is anxious that parents act promptly if they want their children to join the plan.

Football Season Ticket Contest Under Way

The students of Caesar Rodney school are engaged in a football season ticket contest with prizes being offered to the high-selling home rooms by the Athletic Committee.

An adult season ticket, good for five home games, costs $2.50. Students' tickets are $1 each. Ticket prices at the gate will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for students.

The first home football game will be on Friday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m., with Lewes High School players being the visitors.

William R. Brown Jr., faculty manager of athletics, is chairman of the Athletic Committee, and Richard C. Smith, new physical education instructor and basketball coach, is the secretary. Other members of the committee are the other coaches of interscholastic sports.

Livestock Feeders Can Usually Find "Bargains"

The longtime average prices per 100 pounds for the four major feed grains—corn, oats, barley and sorghum—are fairly close together.

However, from season to season and from one year to the next, it's a different picture. Let's take a look at some of these comparisons.

Prices of oats and barley are comparatively low in the summer when these two crops are harvested. On the other hand, the price of corn is usually high at that season—just before a new crop of corn is harvested.

This year, large crops of oats and barley are again being harvested and price supports of the 1955 crops are lower than in 1954. Prices of oats and barley have declined sharply relative to corn since last spring, and they have been a cheap source of livestock feed in many areas this summer.

In July, the average price received by farmers per 100 pounds for oats was only 75 per cent, and barley 80 per cent of the average price received for corn.

Comparisons below do not allow for grinding or other processing operations which might be necessary for one grain and not another. They also would be influenced by types and quality of the different grains and by the kinds of livestock to which the grains are fed. More detailed information on feeding value is contained in USDA Circular 836, "Consumption of Feed by Livestock," available from the county agent. Kent County Agent George Vapaa suggests that you cut out the table given below and use it for reference. The information comes from the Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA.

Delaware Food Market Report

Good values in poultry are featured in many Delaware food stores this week. The supply of tender young chickens for broiling and fry is about 16 per cent above last year and prices are economical. Although turkey is likely to become more expensive later this fall, due to smaller supplies, the current prices are quite reasonable. Long Island duckling is another wise choice in poultry.

Proper home storage of poultry is important, if top quality is to be maintained. Store packaged poultry (and other meats) in the coldest part of the refrigerator—near the coils or under the freezer compartment. Recent research does not support the practice of removing cellophane packages before placing meat and poultry in home refrigerators, even though some stores still recommend it. The wrapper helps to protect quality, freshness and flavor. Packaged items that are not to be used within two days may be frozen in the package. If you plan to store frozen products for more than four to six weeks, use an additional moisture-proof wrapper to prevent drying out in the freezer.

Other "best buys" in meat this week include: pork sausage, pork loin roasts, pork shoulder cuts, ground beef, beef liver, chuck and rib roasts of beef, lamb shoulder cuts and stew meat.

Why not try something new from the produce department this week? Many delicious and convenient fruits and vegetables that are excellent "buys" are generally neglected simply because housewives are unfamiliar with them. You may be quite surprised at how well your family likes some of these: Eggplant, acorn squash, mushrooms, parsnips, avocados, watercress, peppers, swiss chard and kale. Among the many ideas for easy-to-prepare dishes that you'll find in any good cookbook are: Fried eggplant, baked squash, sautéed mushrooms, fried parsnips, avocado or watercress salad, baked peppers stuffed with ground beef and boiled chard or kale.

Some of the "old standbys" in the produce department also are excellent values. Potatoes, both white and sweet, head the list. Apples are pouring into the markets at very favorable prices. Lettuce, carrots, broccoli and string beans, all of which have been rather high, are now more reasonably priced. Bartlett pears from the west coast are in season, as are fresh Italian plums.

The most economical apples are those which have dropped from the trees and are not hand-picked. Known as "drops," these usually sell at a discount even though they are just as good for cooking. They have just as much flavor and nutrition as higher priced apples.

Read and Heed Label Suggestions

What's in a label? A lot if we really take the time to read and heed its advice, says Joanne W. Reitz, home management specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service.

Just recently, one of the leading manufacturers' associations has adopted a set of "approved terms of reference to launderability and cleanability," Miss Reitz continues. The five classifications are:

1. Completely washable. The garment can be washed in a commercial laundry, or in a home washing machine, in hot water not to exceed 160 degrees F. with soap.
2. Fully washable, do not bleach. Garment can be washed in a commercial laundry, or in a home laundry, in hot water not to exceed 160 degrees F., with soap or detergent. Do not use bleaching agent.
3. Wash in warm water, do not bleach. Garment can be washed in a commercial or home laundry in warm water not to exceed 120 degrees F., with soap and detergent. Do not use bleaching agent.
4. Wash by hand in lukewarm water. Do not bleach. Garment must be washed by hand, using lukewarm water not to exceed 105 degrees F., with soap or detergent. Do not use bleaching agents. Press with hand iron.
5. Dry clean. Garment must be dry-cleaned.

This standardized labeling to date has been adopted by men's and boys' wear industry. It is hoped, however, that more manufacturers follow the pattern, says Miss Reitz. Care of clothing can be made easier by terminology that is easily understood.

Miss Reitz challenges the home-maker to keep her eye open for labeling such as this. "If you approve, let other manufacturers know of your interest in informative labeling," she asks.

GEORGE L. HARRINGTON

George L. Harrington, 61, husband of Virdella Marvel Harrington, died Saturday in Milford Memorial Hospital.

Services were held Wednesday from the Berry Funeral Home in Milford, with the Rev. J. B. Vaughn, pastor of Houston Methodist Church, in charge, and the Rev. W. Stanley Grant, a former pastor, assisting. Burial was in Hollywood Cemetery near Harrington.

Other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. George Marvel of Houston, and Mrs. Robert Fullenwider of Wichita, Kan.; three grandchildren, a brother, William Harrington, Dover; a sister, Mrs. J. Willis Clifton of Houston.

A native of Houston, Mr. Harrington had lived the major part of his adult life in Chester, Pa., returning to Houston about 11 years ago. He was associated with Libby McNeil & Libby canning factory and was an active coon hunter.

Local Firemen Open Fund Drive

The annual fund drive of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company will get under way Fire Prevention Week, starting Oct. 9, with members of the company starting visits to all persons living in Harrington and the rural area which comes under their protection. The personal calls are follow-up to letters which are to be mailed a week in advance in an appeal to the public for donations in support of the fire company. Harold Fry, fund drive chairman, directs the campaign.

It is pointed out that equipment, supplies and materials continue to be increasingly expensive and that state, county and town appropriations are not adequate to provide the kind of fire protection the citizens now enjoy.

The fire company personnel continues to devote hundreds of man-hours to fire fighting, protecting lives and property.

A meeting was held Monday at the Fire House to plan final details of the canvass.

She was assistant editor-in-chief of the Press Club in her junior year and is now editor-in-chief of that club.

With three other classmates, she attended Red Cross Camp last year at Camp Tockwough near Sillpond, Md. She was also selected to attend the 1955 annual Girls' State Conference in Dover this past June.

Jeannie was formerly president and treasurer of the Burrsville M.Y.F., of which she is now secretary. She is also a member of Union Church in Burrsville. Her main interests are M.Y.F.

Harrington Beats Caesar Rodney By Rae Smith, Sports Editor The Harrington hockey teams made a victorious visit to Caesar Rodney Tuesday, Oct. 4. Harrington varsity walloped C.R. varsity with a score of 11-0. Harrington JV edged out C.R. 1-0.

Scoring goals for Harrington varsity were: V. Vanderwende with four goals, L. Howard with four goals, M. Harrington with one goal, J. Hopkins with one goal and J. Smith with one goal. The JV goal was scored by Kitty Lou Smith.

Action was very fast throughout both games, with quite a few inner bullies and several corners each half. Credit is also due the Harrington backfield, which has not allowed an opposing goal to be scored in either of our first games.

The surprise of this hockey season is Viola Vanderwende, who came out for hockey for the first time this year. She made varsity and is now tied with Louisa Howard, a veteran of several years, for first place, each holding five goals scored in two games. E. Harrington are tied for third place with one goal each.

So far our season is progressing quite well and hopes are high for a better season than we have ever had before. Our next game is with Dover on Friday, Oct. 7, beginning on the Harrington field at 3:30, and promises to be a tough one. Come out and support your hockey team!

Grade 2—Mrs. West We are happy to be back in school. In arithmetic we are learning to add and subtract. In reading we are reviewing our first grade books. We like to answer yes and no questions. We are getting ready for our assembly.

Grade 2—Mrs. West We work mighty hard. We like to come to school. School is fun. Kathy visited her grandmother. Donnie Knox's grandmother is sick. Anthony fell into the pool. Pat visited in New Jersey. Daniel may move next to Michael Welch. We have arithmetic work books. Four people have been absent this month.

Grade 2—Mrs. Brown This is our second month in school. We have been learning to add; now we are learning to subtract. Numbers are lots of fun. We had a number match and the girls won. Vickie Hill's pet cat, Jackie, has four baby kittens. Bobby Reed is having his tonsils removed. Hurry back to school, Bobby, we miss you.

Grade 6—Mr. Donovan Mr. Donovan's class elected officers Thursday. They are as follows: President, Billy Porter; vice-president, Sandra Tatman; secretary and treasurer, Carol Moore. Lillian Smith has been sick. She has started school again, but attends only half-days. We all are glad to have her back.

Grade 8—Mrs. Mann Mrs. Mann's sixth grade elected officers on Friday. They are as follows: President, Merritt Camper; vice-president, Ralph Wooster; secretary, Bonita Porter; treasurer, Charlotte Rapp. They will hold office for six weeks. The class also chose monitors to help in the room.

Grade 7—Mrs. Dolby The 7-1 class has been studying the Bermuda Islands, Iceland and Greenland. Because Bermuda has a mild climate the year 'round, it is a very pleasant place to visit at any season. Bermuda has exported many onions to the United States until recent years. Now Texas grows enough to supply our needs. The United States' supply of Easter lilies and bulbs comes from Bermuda. Bermuda has no underground streams to furnish drinking water. They must depend on catching and storing rain for their needs.

Grade 9, Girls—Mrs. Fry Patricia McKenzie returned to school Monday, after being out two weeks. Mrs. Doris Fry is taking Mrs. Miller's place as our homeroom teacher. Her position is temporary.

The ninth grade gave Mrs. Miller a going-away present, which was a planter. The seniors on the hockey team gave her two sterling silver candle-holders.
