

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

This has been a very funny week. To start off with, all out of a clear sky one morning, Dave asked me, "Pat, how would you like to go to Buffalo?" You know me—I was all for it. So about 2:30 p.m. we headed for the States. I was so thrilled with the Thousand Islands this time of the year. As usual, the big boats were beginning to come into the canal. The trees were turning all colors, even the water seemed to have a different hue.

By the time we really hit the border, it was getting dark, so all I could see were lights. And don't think I wasn't thrilled when we hit the good ole U.S.A. I was at last getting out of the French-speaking country. Even the lights from Watertown seemed brighter. Then on to the Thruway, where we could pick up speed. Really made good time to Batavia, N. Y. We stayed at a motel near Batavia, but I didn't get to Batavia Downs. That darn dog I got from Mr. Schegle (Sadie Key) decided to see some of the country, so I had to stay behind and wait for her. Well, she knew her motel cabin—came back about the time Dave pulled out for the Downs. So on to Buffalo. I had several things I wanted to do in Buffalo. So what happens? It was Columbus Day, and stores were closed.

Dave and I drove out to see our new colt I picked up this fall, by "Donald Traux." Our other filly by "Rudagar," is coming along fine. She won't be six months old 'til Nov. 4. Her name, "Raggety Ann." The one that came down to Harrington is about the tops, "Buzz Fuz." That was Dave's idea of a name. And do I kid him about it. But my pet is "Volo Bohemia." If ever there was a clown among horses, he's it.

We came back by way of Saratoga Springs. Seemed a little different in many ways. For one thing, the century-old Grand Union Hotel was gone. In its place was a shopping center. Course the springs at the foot of the hill was still there. Same old eating places are all intact. We stopped at "Mother Goldsmith's," where all the horsemen hang out after the races. Saratoga Springs has loads of memories for us, as there is where we had so much pleasure with our mare "Anna Day." Even the college, Skidmore, seemed different. But I guess when you stay away for a period of time, time does march on. It was too late to go out to the race track, so we left word with the Goldsmiths to say hello to everyone. By the way, Mrs. Harry Craig is working at Mother Goldsmith's—(Kay Craig). She was off, though, when we were in there.

We took off for Montreal about 10 that night. Went up No. 9 highway through Lake George, and was so sorry it was dark, for that is the most beautiful drive in the country in the daytime. And I know that this time of the year the mountains we crossed must have been out of this world in color. You see, you are not too far from the White-Faced Mountain and Lake Placid. And don't let anyone tell you that it doesn't get foggy on that route. It was all I could do to see the line, and I wasn't "you know what." That's for sure. Even with all the fog, I made good time and hit the border about 1 a.m. Went along fine 'til I was in Montreal, and certainly feeling good about making such good time, over such winding and foggy roads. And right at the raceway, I took No. 2, which is on a circle and I just went on around the circle and headed right back to Toronto. No one can be so dumb. I happened to see so many things I had passed when I went by the thousands, I turned around and headed back to the circle and was home in 30 minutes. Oh, well, that's me. Dave says no one but me takes the wrong road after they get home. But it was a swell trip, with all the ups and downs.

By the time this goes to press, I may be back, or at least headed for home. But I don't take the wrong road then. Harry, have our barns ready.

So long till next week.

WSCS Members Attend Tea and Open House

Dover, Easton and Salisbury District members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service attended the tea and open house held at the Riddle Memorial Deaconess Home at 309 West Street, Wilmington, from 11 to 3, and members of the Wilmington District from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9, last Wednesday. Mrs. Earl Sylvester, conference president, together with Mrs. Paul Masters and Mrs. Granville Hooper, jurisdiction officers; Miss Genevieve Poppe, director of the homes, and the newly elected president of the Board of Conference Projects, Mrs. James W. ### Dolbow Was Going South In Accident

The account of the automobile accident last week at Laws Church, in which Mrs. Christina M. Derrickson, 66, of Lincoln, was killed, contained some inaccuracies, according to Robert R. Dolbow, 26, of R.D.1, Harrington. Mr. Dolbow said his car was going south, on the Frederica-Harrington road, and that Mrs. Derrickson's car was going west on the Milford-Laws Church black-top road.

There are stop signs on the blacktop, at the Laws Church intersection, but not on the Harrington-Frederica road. Last week's account described Mr. Dolbow as going west on the blacktop road and Mrs. Derrickson as going north on the Harrington-Frederica road.

Rifle Discharges, Felton Man Dead

James Bagwell, 29, of Felton, was killed when he was accidentally shot in the chest with a .22 calibre rifle early Saturday. State police at Georgetown said Bagwell was showing the rifle to Ethel Louise Manuel, 31, a guest at a party in Bagwell's home, when the rifle went off.

State police at Georgetown questioned several witnesses who were at the party, but said the shooting appeared to have been accidental. It was unexplained how the cartridge got into the gun or whether Bagwell was aware the gun was loaded.

Steel Arrives For New Water Tower

Structural steel for Harrington's new water tower has arrived and construction may start within 10 days, Mayor Ernest Killen said Tuesday.

The overhead tank will hold 200,000 gallons of water and will be built adjacent to the standpipe. The foundation for the tower has been completed.

$90 Stolen From Station

The service station of Leon Grodzkiewicz at Little Heaven, about two miles north of Frederica, was broken into Sunday night and a sum of money, possibly amounting to $90, was stolen from a money drawer, state police reported Monday.

The owner closed the place about 9:30 o'clock Sunday night and some time after that it was broken into. A window was forced on the north side of the building. The place is in the same general sector in which four places were broken into last week.

One grocery store at Canterbury, another between Rising Sun and Woodside, and a third between Canterbury and Magnolia were entered and food, cigarettes, candy and some small change stolen. The fourth place was the service station of Robert Misener at Frederica, from which about $50 was stolen.

State police Monday arrested Johnny Ellingsworth, 26, Millington, Md., for the alleged theft of five guns from the home of John Walton, near Clayton. Police said he had sold four of the guns, but still had the fifth. One of the pieces was an over-and-under combination .410 shotgun and .22 calibre rifle.

Getting Acquainted with Hockey

From time to time, terms mentioned in articles written about hockey games may not be understood by the average person, who knows little about the game. In order to make our hockey articles more interesting and understandable to all, the fundamentals, principles and terms connected with hockey are explained in the following paragraphs.

Field hockey is played on a field 100 yards long, with goal cages at each end. Two teams compete against each other, each attempting to send the ball between the goal posts defended by the opposing team. Eleven players make up a team: five forward line players, usually considered the attackers, and a back field, which consists of three halfbacks, two fullbacks, and a goal-keeper, and is usually considered the defenders. The sticks used have a flat surface on one side and a rounded surface on the other. The ball can be hit only by the flat surface. The game is started at the 50-yard line, with a bully-off by the center forwards, who try to clear it to the rest of the forward line.

Here are terms which must be understood to enjoy hockey:

1. Bully-off—Center forwards face each other, the ball between their sticks on the ground. The sticks must touch the ground, then touch in the air, alternately for three times before any play is made to clear or move the ball.

2. Free Hit—If any member of a team breaks a rule, a free hit is awarded the opposing team toward their goal.

3. Roll-In—When a ball goes out of bounds over the sideline, it is rolled in by a member of the opposite team from the point it left the field. The ball must touch the ground within one yard from the sideline.

4. Off Sides—An advancement over the center line before the ball has been played in the bully-off.

5. Sticks—No girl can raise her stick above her shoulder at any time. If done, "sticks" is called, and a member of the opposing team is awarded a free hit.

6. Obstructing—Getting any part of your body between your opponent and the ball.

7. Advancing—If a ball strikes any girl's foot so that it continues ahead of her, or to her advantage, "advancing" is called and a member of the opposing team is allowed a free hit.

Harrington Beats Caesar Rodney

By Rae Smith, Sports Editor

The Harrington hockey teams made a victorious visit to Caesar Rodney Tuesday, Oct. 4. Harrington Varsity walloped C.R. Varsity with a score of 11-0. Harrington JV edged out C.R. 1-0.

Scoring goals for Harrington Varsity were: V. Vanderwende, four goals; L. Howard, four; M. Harrington, one; J. Hopkins, one, and J. Smith, one. The JV goal was scored by Kitty Lou Smith.

Action was very fast throughout both games, with quite a few inner bullies and several corners each half. Credit is also due the Harrington backfield, which has not allowed an opposing goal to be scored in either of our first games.

The surprise of this hockey season is Viola Vanderwende, who came out for hockey for the first time this year. She made varsity and is now tied with Louisa Howard, a veteran of several years, for first place, each holding five goals scored in two games. Janet Smith is second with two goals, and Joyce Hopkins and Mary E. Harrington are tied for third place, with one goal each.

So far our season is progressing quite well and hopes are high for a better season than we have ever had before. Our next game is with Dover on Friday, Oct. 7, beginning on the Harrington field at 3:30 and promises to be a tough one. Come out and support your hockey team.

Railroad Engineering Office To Move To Harrington

Harrington will secure additional supervisory personnel of the railroad in a re-organization of the Pennsylvania System, it was learned this week. Effective Nov. 1, the district engineer's office, formerly known as that of the division engineer, at Cape Charles, Va., will move to Harrington and be quartered at the railroad station.

T. J. Murray will come here from the Conemaugh Division, Pittsburg, to be district engineer, replacing Jack Evans, who held the office at Cape Charles, when it was known as that of the division engineer. Evans goes to Canton, Ohio, as district engineer.

Engineering office personnel, moving here from Cape Charles, will include the chief clerk, two draftsmen, and possibly another clerk, according to Cliff Miller, supervisor of communications.

This personnel will supplement that of local branches of the district engineer's office which includes supervisors of tracks, signals and structures.

The current issue of the Penny magazine reveals that the district engineer's office was scheduled to be moved from Cape Charles to Delmar, instead of Harrington. An informed source told The Harrington Journal, however, the office would have been in Salisbury, and that the local branches of the district engineer's office would have been moved to the Maryland city.

The selection of Harrington, however, was made because of the abundance of traffic in this region.

It's Time To Start Christmas Mailing, Postmaster Says

On the calendar it's over two months away, but here in the Post Office it's Christmas today — and every day until Dec. 25—that's when the postmaster and his staff wish to be at home with their families, with a clear mind of the fact that your packages and greeting cards have been delivered.

Extra mail carriers and office help are being secured, and preparations are being made beyond all other prior Christmas periods, with only the patrons in mind, in order to be ready for the mammoth flood of Christmas mail that is expected to smash all records.

It must be emphasized to the "lady of the house," who is really in charge of each family's Christmas mailing program, to begin checking her mailing list of friends and loved ones, to see if they are up-to-date and to see that the addresses are correct, to insure prompt delivery.

Let's not forget our gift packages, headed for members of the armed forces overseas, that should be mailed before Nov. 10, 1955, and be well packed to avoid damage during the Christmas rush. Greeting cards for overseas should be mailed in advance of Dec. 1, 1955.

Let's make our visit to the Post Office in the near future to stock up on stamps and to ask any questions we may have about mailing regulations.

In the evenings when you are addressing greeting cards, it is not necessary to await the preparation and mailing of them all at the same time, just have the Mr. to take them down and mail them early the next morning. Check those names off your mailing list and write a few more the following evening, making a pleasure out of your Christmas cards, instead of a task.

In closing this request, the Postmaster is again asking your co-operation in the "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, with a few helpful points to yourself and your Post Office.

First, for gift packages—Wrap them thoroughly and securely, address them clearly and correctly, and by all means, mail them early.

Second, greeting cards. Write the name plainly and the address correctly, check your stack of cards to see that you have stamps on them to avoid delay. If you wish, you may use a three-cent stamp, with your return address and if it is not delivered, it will be returned.

Third, depositing at the Post Office. Let's not forget our office force. Please do them a great favor by putting the cards with local addresses in one bundle and those for out-of-town destinations in another. Then mark each bundle with special identification labels and a rubber band around each bundle, that you can get free at the post office. The labels read, "All for Out-of-Town Delivery," and "All for Local Delivery."

Remember that the mail carriers will work late and due to the time change, it gets dark early. Leave your porch light on and make sure that your full name is on your mailbox and see that your house number is readable and in plain sight for the benefit of the Christmas temporary carriers. Observance of these suggestions will insure a merrier Christmas for everyone.

WE NEED HOUSING

Harrington needs housing, both for sale and rental. The fact has been continually brought home to us for the past eight years.

We were made more aware of it this week with the news that the district engineer's office of the Pennsylvania Railroad would move here from Cape Charles, effective Nov. 1.

The personnel of this office is well-paid and it wants good, modern housing. At present, nothing is in sight. One railroad official had to move to Milford from Harrington to get what he wanted.

These railroad officials make good citizens, pay their bills and taxes, and take an active part in community affairs. Others fit in the same category. It's a damned shame they have to get housing in other communities.

For example, Bruce Miller, who formerly held a railroad post here, had to live between Houston and Milford in a farmhouse which burned, killing his child.

Ernest Moss, manager of Delaware Mills, Frederica, wanted to live in Harrington, but couldn't find a place. He now lives at Lynch Heights.

There used to be squawking that it didn't pay to build houses for rent in Harrington because the rent was too cheap. Now we can get the rent and the houses still aren't being built. Houses can be built for sale, too, but they are not. Who has a solution?

Greenwood

The WSCS of Grace Church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Mai Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 o'clock. A special program is being planned for this meeting in observance of the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial.

Members and friends are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Mai entertained their son, Everett, and his family, from Silver Springs, Md., over the weekend of the 8th.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Whitmore were: Bruce Whitmore from Charles City, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Everts of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Everts, who is Mr. Whitmore's sister, has recently completed an airplane tour of her family, visiting in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Cal., Oregon, Montana, North Dakota, Illinois and Iowa, and she brought much delightful family news to our own Whitmores here in Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Everts returned to Washington on Sunday. On Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore accompanied their brother, Bruce, as far as Washington and were guests of the Everts at dinner, after which Bruce took a plane for Chicago, enroute back home to Iowa.

Mrs. Leroy Baker and Jean spent the weekend in Philadelphia, and attended the Ice Capades. The show was featuring the Peter Pan story, and the Bakers report that it was altogether delightful.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker and son, Mike; Paul Baker and Carolyn Tibbett, of Farmington, visited Longwood Gardens on Sunday. On returning home they visited their grandmother, Mrs. Blanche Baker, who is living with M's. Jones on the Listwood estate near Wilmington.

Teachers may give students who have had extended absence from classes for illness or other legal reasons, an additional 10-day period to make up the work missed. Missed class work that is not made up costs a student two points per day on the six weeks' mark.

Caesar Rodney Band Parents Club Co-Sponsors Snack Shack

The Caesar Rodney band parents are again sponsoring the Snack Shack at all home football games, selling hot dogs, coffee, hot chocolate, milk, soft drinks and candy.

Parents of band members, both Junior and Senior Bands, help in the Snack Shack during each home game.

The following student organizations are co-sponsors of the Snack Shack and help the band parents by selling food and collecting the bottles after the games: Student Council, Safety Squad, Traffic Squad, Junior and Senior Bands, Glee Club and ensemble, cheerleaders, Library Club, Sage crew, Photographic Club, Printing Club, and Athletic Association.

Proceeds from the Snack Shack are divided in half. One-half is used by the Band Parents Club to buy needed uniforms and the other half is used to help defray the expenses of the all-school banquet, held at the end of the school year.

Clyde Bethard, vice-president of the Band Parents Club, is general chairman of the Snack Shack committee. Mrs. Myrtle V. Sipple was chairman for the Lewes game and Mrs. Vera Clute is chairman for the Bridgeville game this Friday evening, Oct. 21. Student organizations helping this week are the Traffic Squad and ensemble.

P.T.A. Insurance Plan In Operation

Four hundred and seventy elementary school pupils and 215 high school students are now covered by an accident insurance policy, according to a report made by Mrs. Kensil Rash, chairman of the P.T.A. Health Committee.

While the school policy is dated Oct. 15, 1955, additional names may be added to the list. Elementary school pupils may be insured for one dollar; high school students for one dollar and twenty-five cents.

The follow-up work of the insurance plan is being taken care of in school by Miss Toni Tieman, who is the school secretary, stationed in the elementary school office.

A cat which escaped from a car in Guildford, England, was found a fortnight later in the office of a local newspaper which had carried an advertisement offering a reward for its return.

Delaware Food Market Report

By ANNE HOLBERTON

Agricultural Extension Service University of Delaware

Pork loins dropped in price last week to the lowest levels since last March on the Chicago wholesale market. Local meat wholesalers also lowered their quotations, and reductions at retail will show up this week. Pork loin roasts now are an excellent value. Spareribs and hams also have declined in price. Picnic shoulders and Boston butts are other economical cuts of pork, even though prices have changed little since last week.

Beef, lamb and veal have not changed much in price and the best choices still are on chuck, rump and round roasts of beef, stew meat, ground beef and lamb patties, shoulder cuts of lamb and veal, and liver. Young Delaware chickens for broiling and frying also are at very attractive prices this week.

Tokay table grapes and local apples are currently the "best buys" in fresh fruit. Now at their peak supply, Tokays are selling well below the Thompson seedless variety. Apple markets continue to be "dull" as growers offer excessive supplies, and prices to consumers are quite low as a result. McIntosh, Staymans, Cortlands and Golden Delicious are priced considerably lower than Red Delicious, even though they are fully as good for most purposes. Apples of all varieties will be featured extensively this week-end and next as part of the National Apple Week promotion. This is a good time to stock up on apples for Halloween, treats for eating out of hand, and for pies, dumplings, sauce, jelly and a variety of other uses.

Additional fruits available at moderate prices this week are cranberries, Italian plums and limes. Salad ingredients from the produce department are very attractive this week in both price and quality. Fall vegetable salads can be prepared easily from economical endive, escarole, lettuce, cucumbers, peppers, carrots, green onions and radishes. Even tomatoes, while not low-priced, are at more reasonable levels than during recent weeks.

Cabbage, potatoes and squash are other vegetables deserving the special attention of thrifty housewives. White potatoes still are the biggest bargain in produce and sweet potatoes also remain in the "best buy" category. Acorn, Boston Marrow and Hubbard squash all are available. Other economical vegetables include eggplant, spinach, turnips, parsnips and beets. At fairly attractive prices are cauliflower, broccoli and mushrooms.

Rice supplies are now one-third larger than normal and prices are depressed as a result. Any good cook book includes many suggestions for using this versatile food in tempting, nutritious dishes.

R. Harry Wilson Ends 22 Years' Service With Kent County Group

The announcement of retirement of R. Harry Wilson as office manager of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program was given today by Joseph Ennis, chairman of the county committee. Mr. Wilson is completing some 22 years of service as the leading figure in soil conservation programs in Kent County. He was elected as county committee chairman in 1933 of the original AAA program in the depths of the depression. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration was followed by successive programs such as the Production Marketing Administration to the present ASC, and Mr. Wilson has served prominently in all of these.

The county committee is now looking for a new office manager, who must have the following qualifications. He must be a citizen of the United States, be between 19 to 65 years of age and be physically able to perform the duties, which may involve strenuous field and difficult office problems as well as considerable travel in the county. The general background requirements include two years of actual farm experience, a high school diploma, and the applicant should have a total of 24 months of experience in an ASC county office (with some exceptions for field work with other agencies or college training in agricultural or business schools). Anyone interested in applying for the position should file an application with the Kent County ASC office at 313 South Governors Avenue, Dover, on or before Oct. 31. More complete information will be given at the time of filing.

Firemen Inspect Drills

Over 1300 students in Caesar Rodney School marched out in orderly fashion in a little over two minutes during a fire drill on Thursday, Oct. 13, according to Richard G. Foraker, chief of the Camden-Wyoming Fire Company. Chief Foraker, along with Assistant Chief Horace Wilkinson, observed the drill and then inspected the fire-fighting equipment and safety features of the school plant. Chief Foraker compliments headcustodian Clinton B. Cohee on the general condition of the equipment and recommended a larger carbon dioxide extinguisher for the kitchen and the replacement of a fire hose in the 1916 building, which is the most vulnerable part of the plant. The inspection team will file a detailed report on a checklist of items.

Fire drills in the school are directed by the traffic squads. The fire drill captain in high school is Sylvia Jean Ross and the sponsor, Miller J. Gibe. In the elementary school, William West is the fire drill captain, and Mrs. Edna S. Roe, the faculty sponsor.

Domestic Workers Now Eligible For Social Security

The domestic worker who formerly had little to show for her years of hard work except housemaid's knee, will now be able to retire on a fairly comfortable income in her old age. It's all due to the new social security law, which makes it much easier now for maids, cooks, housekeepers, gardeners and other workers in private homes to qualify for retirement or death payments under old age and survivors insurance. Here's the way it works:

If you work in a private home, you are under social security if you are paid at least $50 in cash wages by any one employer in a calendar quarter. A calendar quarter is a three-month period such as January through March, April through June, etc. The tax return for the July - September period must be filed before the end of October. Before Jan. 1, 1955, a domestic worker needed to work regularly in order to qualify. Since that date, the length of time worked is no longer important. If your work is covered by the new change, you should:

1. Have (or get) a social security card. You may get an application from your social security office or from your local post office.

2. Show your card to your employers.

Your employer will need to:

1. Take the two per cent employee's social security tax from your cash pay.

2. Add two per cent of his own to this amount.

3. Report the amount of your cash wages to the Internal Revenue office and pay the total four per cent social security tax every three months. This is necessary in order for you to obtain social security credit for your cash wages.

Household employers whose domestic employees now come under the law for the first time, should get a copy of Booklet OASI-21, "Do You Have a Maid," from their social security office or Internal Revenue office. This booklet will tell the employer about his duties under the new law. Domestic workers may obtain Booklet OASI-5, "Facts for Household Workers," from their social security office. This booklet will tell the workers what they need to know and what social security means to them and to their families.

The tables below show some of the kinds of monthly payments and examples of the amounts:

Chemical Controls Dust In Farm Lane

To lay the dust in unimproved lanes, sprinkle with calcium chloride. The chemical binds the dust particles by attracted moisture and makes them too heavy to blow away. Dust particles coated with the solution tend to compact with traffic over the area and the result is a dust-free surface.

County Agent George K. Vapaa says an application of two pounds of calcium chloride to each square yard of surface usually controls the dust for an entire season. Or use one pound per square yard early in spring with half-pound applications later in the season.

Record Soybean Crop Predicted By Specialist

A record soybean crop is expected in Maryland this year, according to John E. Mahoney, University of Maryland marketing specialist. Present estimates set the production figures at 2.3 million bushels or about 16 per cent higher than last year.

This record production will depend, however, on care in combining of the beans by farmers. Both domestic and export demand appear good, Mahoney said, "but we could lose most of our export demand if farmers don't deliver clean beans," he added.

New grade standards for soybeans have reduced the allowable amount of foreign matter, weed seeds, leaves, etc., from three per cent to two per cent by weight.

In harvesting soybeans, an average of four bushels per acre are lost and some farmers lose as much as eight to ten bushels, said Guy W. Gienger, university extension agricultural engineer. Combining at high speeds accounts for most of this loss, the engineer said.

Gienger recommends proper combine adjustment as one of the first steps to take in cutting down soybean losses. "Consult your operator's manual," he said, or check with your county agent for a copy of University of Maryland Fact Sheet 31, "Combine Adjustment."

Q—I would like to go to France to study cooking under the Korean GI Bill at one of the world-famous French restaurants. Would this be possible?

A—It would not be possible. Foreign training, under the Korean GI Bill, is limited only to VA-approved courses in colleges and universities.

Q—I am a service-disabled Korea veteran. Recently I was blinded in an industrial accident. Would I be entitled to VA aids for the blind, even though my loss of sight was not service-connected?

A—So long as you have a service-connected disability, you may be entitled to VA aids for the blind. Blindness itself does not need to be service-connected.

Q—I hold a World War II GI insurance policy. I have just been married, and I would like to change the beneficiary from my mother to my wife. Am I supposed to notify my mother of this change?

A—You have the right to change beneficiaries without notifying either the old or the new beneficiary. All you have to do is notify the VA district office that handles your insurance account.

Q—I am a Korea veteran with a 20 per cent disability rating. Would that automatically make me eligible for vocational rehabilitation training?

A—Not necessarily. In order to qualify, you must have a need for training to overcome the handicap caused by your disability.

Assistant Ag. Agent Named For Kent County

Charles Wesley Webb has been named assistant county agricultural agent in Kent County, effective October 17, it was announced by Dr. George M. Worrlow, dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Delaware. Webb, 26, a native of Delaware, will be headquartered in the Post Office Building at Dover and will assist George Vapaa, Kent County agent, in carrying out the former programs of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

A graduate of the University of Delaware College of Agriculture in 1951, the new assistant county agent is the son of M. T. Webb, who operates a grain and dairy farm in the Camden-Wyoming area. He also received a master's degree from the university in 1953, after having done considerable field work with farmers on a number of different farm management problems.

Webb served in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army as a laboratory technician from Sept., 1953, until his discharge from service last month. He attended Caesar Rodney High School in Camden, before entering the University of Delaware.

Sudan Grass Gaining Favor

Used as a dry-weather pincher for regular pasture mixtures, Sudan grass saved Delaware dairymen thousands of dollars during the hot spells last summer, reports Delmar Young, extension dairyman for the College of Agriculture, University of Delaware. He has just finished a state-wide tour in which he visited 113 farms and checked on results of their pasture management methods this past season.

The 113 farms were those whose operators enrolled in the Greener Pastures and Forage program that county agricultural agents were promoting this year. There were 38 each in New Castle and Kent Counties and 37 in Sussex. Of them, 49 put in Sudan grass as a hot-weather stop-gap to tide them over spells when other grasses dried up. This was about double the total for last year.

Only two of the men who tried Sudan didn't like it, Young said. The rest, many of whom were using Sudan for the first time, were enthusiastic over their results from grazing cattle on it. Some of the comments farmers made when he interviewed them were as follows, Young says. "more even milk production" "either use Sudan or irrigate" "gives cows a needed change in dry weather" "about tops if you can use entire growth" "saved a thousand bales of hay for me" "got a lot of milk I wouldn't have otherwise."

New Castle and Sussex were a lot more enthusiastic about Sudan than Kent County, Young reported. He thinks one reason a lot of men took it up this year was that pastures dried up early enough to get them thinking about seeding a hot-weather forage crop in late May. Some Sudan was planted as late as July 1, he said.

Turkey Price Prospects Look Good This Year

It's almost turkey marketing time, points out Willard McAllister, marketing specialist at the University of Delaware College of Agriculture, and Delaware growers are wondering what they can expect in the way of price this year. It seems certain that farm prices for turkeys will be above those of last year, he says. The real question is, "how much?"

If present prices can be used as an indication, it looks like prices would be between three and six cents a pound over last year's price. A wholesale market price of 55 to 56 cents for ready-to-cook fryer-roasters and young heavy hens and 43 to 52 cents a pound for medium-size young toms seems to be the best guess of those who study the market trends. Prices paid to growers for live turkeys usually average between 15 to 20 cents below the wholesaler's ready-to-cook quotation, McAllister said.

Almost as many heavy type turkeys are being raised this year as last, but there are about 15 per cent fewer of the lightweight breeds. Also, a much larger proportion than normal of the turkey crop was started late this year. Many of these will not be ready for Thanksgiving market, McAllister thinks, and this suggests that late October and November may be a better market than December and later, he says.

The University of Delaware marketing specialist advises growers to keep an eye on the market and get at least a portion of their crop ready for market so that they can take advantage of any quick changes in the price situation.

Labor-Saving Ideas Outlined By Specialist To Aid Poultry Producers

Some 25 labor-saving ideas put into practice by Delaware broiler and egg producers, were explained and illustrated by Silas L. McHenry, Extension poultry specialist from the University of Delaware at three meetings in the state this week, called by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association. Some of them, he said, were improvements the other poultrymen could put into use at very little cost.

The meetings, held at Milton, Seaford and Bridgeville earlier this week, were called by the Poultry Improvement Association to find out from their local members how the work of the association could be made of still greater help to poultrymen in each of three areas. Films and slides on pole type houses and rat control on the poultry farm also were shown.

McHenry said that a feed carrier is a poultryman's biggest labor saver—and at a small cost of about 1/4 cent per hour for the time saved. He added that a catching hook and crate on the feed carrier also will save a lot of time in culling for the carriers used in laying houses.

Most important back-saver, McHenry claimed, was an elevated feed platform, arranged so that no lifting of feed bags is necessary. Another labor-saver more and more poultrymen are investing in, he said, is bulk feeding equipment. It also saves about $5 a ton on cost of feed—or a net saving of about $3 after deducting bag money.

Other labor-savers he showed in his illustrated lecture ranged from such items as a home-made cart for moving pullets from brooder house to laying house, to different ventilation methods many poultrymen have developed to get dry, draft-free houses.

Testing New Drugs Against Poultry Disease At Univ. of Delaware

A series of drugs, including two new ones still under wraps and not available commercially, will be tried out starting this week on 12 pens of birds at the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station at Newark.

Dr. M. S. Cover, poultry research specialist at the university, said it will be four or five weeks until any results are available. In all, five drugs will be tried out on the birds to find out how effective they are in prevention and control of chronic respiratory disease. The birds are seven weeks old now and have been in the pens a week.

Two groups of the birds will be given a drug called N.F. 180 or furazolidone. On the one group, it will be tried as a preventative before they get the disease; on the other, it will be used as treatment after they get the disease. Penicillin and streptomycin, injected, will be tried on two other groups of birds. The new, and as yet unnamed drugs, will be tried on an additional two groups of birds.

Poultry Improvement Assn. To Discuss Labor-Saving Devices

Labor and time-saving devices for the poultrymen is the topic of the first fall meeting of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, at Caesar Rodney School on Thursday, Oct. 20, starting at 8 p.m.

Fred Fifer, chairman of the local group, announces that the program will feature a panel of local farmers. Ed Laramore, of Wyoming, will show and describe his very efficient water and feed troughs. Charles Jarrell of Viola, will answer questions on the operations of wide-type broiler houses. August Haas of Pickering Beach, will describe some of his turkey growing experiences.

WHEELER'S TELEVISION CENTER

Do you get the Evening Journal, one of our good Delaware newspapers, as well as our own Harrington Journal? Monday of this week The Evening Journal carried a half-page or more showing a display of Philco Television. Who was advertising these remarkable televisions? None other but John Wanamaker, one of the best known merchandise dealers known for quality today. It made a little fry like myself feel good to know that I, too, can offer you the same wonderful televisions at the same price.

You know when you buy a television, you want the one that will give you the best performance. Well let me remind you that John Wanamaker's store assures the same quality and performance that we are able to give, because Philco is known for quality the world over.

At this time we are unable to get certain models and you who are waiting for them, be patient and you will be glad you did.

The Philco factory is working day and night trying to get the thousands and thousands of sets that they are now behind with in their orders.

Why would you say they are so far behind. The answer is simple. They make a television that people want, at a price they can pay and a television that you will be glad to own. Philco — Philco — Philco — is the name.

Did you realize that it is only nine weeks before Christmas?

I hope you can make up your mind to loosen up a little for your family's sake and place your order for that Philco refrigerator that you and your wife need so bad. Whether you need a right- or left-hand opening makes no difference when it comes to a Philco, as you can open it either right or left.

Come in and see the big allowance that you can get for your old refrigerator. Your Christmas gift will be solved for the whole family. How many times do you open your oven door when roasting a fowl or a roast of beef, in fact, any roast, and pluck it with a fork to see if it is done?

Some roasts, when they leave the oven, have so many holes plucked in them, that they look like pepper boxes. Well that is, all done away with when you buy a Philco electric range. In fact, all you have to do is look at a little chart on top of your range and it tells you just when it is just right to take it out of the oven. Whether you like it raw, medium, or well-done.

It will soon be time when those extra rabbits or ducks or even pork and beef will be plentiful—and no place to store it away for a rainy day. If you want to take care of this situation, just don't go any farther than where you see the sign "Philco," and there you will find just what you need to cope with the situation.

Remember, all these items can be bought on the easy budget plan.
