

Heart Fund Drive Here Tuesday Night, With Door-to-Door Collections

There will be a door-to-door solicitation for the Heart campaign here Tuesday evening, it was announced Monday evening at a dinner meeting of representatives of civic clubs at The Chicken Basket.

Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway is chairman of the local drive, with Magistrate Maurice Carrow, of Camden, chairman of the newly created Kent County chapter of the Delaware Heart Association.

Magistrate Carrow said, "What you do in Harrington this year will set the pattern for what we do in Kent County in later years."

Magistrate Callaway said there was never a chapter of the Heart Association in Kent or Sussex Counties before, and that contributions to these counties has come from the Delaware Heart Association.

He outlined his plan for the local drive as follows: Letters will be mailed to residents, asking for funds, with enclosed coin envelopes for the return thereof. On Tuesday evening, representatives of civic groups will meet at the Fire House at 6 p. m., call at the homes and pick up the envelopes, and return to the Fire House. Magistrate Callaway estimated it would take only an hour to make the solicitation.

Out of every $1 taken in, 75c will remain in Delaware, with the balance going to the national heart association.

"There are five types of heart ailments," Dr. J. Robert Fox, of Dover, told the meeting. Of these he named a "big three" — rheumatic fever, mostly affecting children under 15 years, and hypertension and arteriosclerosis. The last two ailments effect 49 per cent of persons in the older age groups, Dr. Fox said.

Also attending the meeting were Miss Nancy Oates, Delaware State News, Dover; Mayor and Mrs. William Myers, Felton; Carlington H. Burgess, The Harrington Journal, and the following representatives of civic groups: Samuel Williams, Rotary; Fulton Downing, Chamber of Commerce; Robert Nelson, Odd Fellows; Curtis Melvin, Fire Company; William Outten, Lions; James O'Neal, American Legion; Mrs. William Humes, Business & Professional Women's Club; Kitty Hopkins, Home & School Association, and Norman Hopkins, Moose. Mrs. Frances Hatfield, of Farmington, was unable to attend.

The Avon Club, of Felton, met in the Felton Community Fire House last Wednesday afternoon for a program on Welfare and Health. This meeting will be in the fire house and in charge of Mrs. Howard Henry, Youth Conservation Chairman, and her committee.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

There is sure a lot of horse swapping going on out here at the track, and it isn't horses. Now Mrs. Stockley has come up with a beautiful new horse trailer. The Manges trailer is due the day the paper comes out. Cars, trailers, and T. V. sets, sweepers, and a little of everything else. Who says the horsemen don't spend money in Harrington.

Speaking of trainers, Jack Quinn has just taken over the training for Reese Harrington. Sure looked natural to see Mr. and Mrs. Harrington out looking at their stock. At least it will be a little pleasure for Reese. He loves to come out and watch the jogging and the workouts. Good luck to you, Jack with your new stable.

I was more than surprised when I read where Arch McDonald has bought into the trotting horse business with Del Miller. Still, when you hear an announcer who really seems to enjoy the sport he likes, you know what I am talking about. When I met him over at Rosecroft up in the press box, he seemed to enjoy the racing more than the rest of the crowd did. That is the way it goes in this darn horse business. You get one horse and what happens? You end up buying more.

Asked Mr. Lyons how he enjoyed getting his plaque for his little, "Adios Harry?" As usual, Mr. Lyons just smiled. But, you know, he was filled with happiness. But that was the way he was up in Montreal, same old smile.

Jay Shertz, second trainer for Jake Merskey, has his horses just about ready to go when the man says go. Mr. Merskey will start the season out at Maywood Park in the spring. But I bet he will end up in Buffalo before the meet is over there. Will miss them up there, they have become a fixture at Buffalo.

As for our stable, I think we will end up back at the Buffalo Raceway, too. Our horses are staked all over so Dave, I think, will do some flying this year.

Of course, you always have that little word if they are any good, but that is something you just have to wait and see.

Mildred and Joe Hayes tell me they are well pleased with their own three year olds. Well, anyway, he sure works hard enough with them to be good. And I just love that white horse they are training. I always wanted a white one of my own, or a gray.

(Now, I'm having a terrible time trying to think.) A Western (T. V.), and most of the time I don't care for them, but this one started out real good. Will start again when it is over.

Mr. Book Harrington and Mr. Miller out looking the horses over. Mr. Miller was just back from Mr. Lyons' farm, where he also looked the stock over.

Dr. Churchill combining business with pleasure, down in Orlando, Fla. He is due back here sometime next week.

Pop Heller who used to run the clubhouse, down from Reading, Pa., to visit the trainers and see the old gang. Pop has only been out of the hospital a couple of weeks.

What has happened to Harry Adams? He used to visit around the sables, but long time no see! I've had several ask where he was. Emeline, when are you going to ride out on your pony? Better get in touch with Earl Thomas and see if you can't make a deal with him on the little white jenny. I wish everyone could see the picture Earl has with Jeanie and the baby, (supposed to be a pony). (But much more to see than a pony). Anyone can have one of those, but not what Earl has over to his home stable.

"Harry Littleton," "What are you trying to do, start little Jeanie Cain to driving a tractor?" He seemed to enjoy his ride from the house and back. What I wouldn't give to have the beautiful blonde curls he has. Why do boys always get the best?

Down in Russellville, Ky., (I have been there often, and it is a small town), had a sign outside of a service station that read: "This is a non-profit organization. We didn't intend for it to be, but that's the way it is."

FRIENDSHIP MOST IMPORTANT IDEAL IN WORLD TODAY SPEAKER TELLS ANNUAL DINNER

"One can't see friendship, smell it, or taste it. It is not a commodity. Yet it is probably the most important ideal in the world today," George Shay, staff manager, government department, of Johns-Manville, told an enthusiastic gathering at the annual Friendship Dinner at the Fire House Tuesday evening.

Previously, Mr. Shay, a rapid, energetic raconteur, philosopher, and humorist, had pointed to the 23rd annual observance of Brotherhood Week in the United States, and had commented it was the one week in the year "when we could pay tribute to brotherhood before reverting to our previous types."

The dinner opened with an invocation by the Rev. Milton Elliott, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. James McDonald led the salute to the Flag. Sam Williams led the singing, and Mayor Ernest Killen greet the diners, as did representatives of civic clubs who were as follows: Master of Ceremonies Fulton J. Downing, Rotary; Mrs. Marie Roberts, New Century Club, originator of the annual dinner; Mrs. Dale Roth, Business & Professional Women's Club, and Ralph Draper, Lions Club.

The B&P Club will be host to the dinner next year.

Enumerating a few basic thoughts that have significance, Mr. Shay said the whole idea of brotherhood was founded upon one of the noblest concepts—friendship. All persons are children of God, with a common fatherhood, he continued. If we had respect for the other fellow and a mutuality of interests, three-fourths of the legal statutes wouldn't be necessary, he pointed out.

Mr. Shay, a resident of Somerville, N. J., gave a plan for eliminating wars. This involved brotherhood, transferring of our food surplus to half of the world, which is hungry, and for paying strict attention to the one and a half billion people in the world who are neither in the realms of democracy nor communism.

"We need moral and spiritual regeneration in the western world to start the ball rolling toward a solution toward all the problems which face us," he concluded.

Assembly May Decide Fate of Pari-Mutuel Racing Here Today

The fate of pari-mutuel harness racing at the Kent & Sussex Raceway may be decided today, if it was not decided last night after this was written.

Delaware's marathon legislature will have to act on a bill to transfer the harness racing dates from Kent County to New Castle County, where they are coveted by Brandywine Raceway, if lower Delaware is to lose pari-mutuel harness racing.

The General Assembly, however, has a gentlemen's agreement to introduce no new legislation before it adjourns tonight for a 90-day recess.

Consequently, the harness racing bill will have to be in the nature of an amendment or a substitution, Rep. Leon Donovan, majority whip in the House, told The Journal, Wednesday.

Such a substitution has been agreed to by a Sussex County representative, an informed source said.

The board of directors of the Kent & Sussex Fair Association Friday night, Feb. 10, voted to transfer the dates to Brandywine Raceway for an annual year, mentioned as $50,000 per year for five years, or 3 per cent of the gross before expenses.

The Chamber of Commerce of Harrington has opposed the transfer of dates, giving as its reason the fact that the harness horse industry is a major one in the community. Most harness racing fans have opposed for various reasons, one being the inconvenience of going to a distant track.

Conversely, the proponents of the action would give the fair association an annual income, at least for five years, it would prevent arguing over racing dates, and prevent competition from Maryland tracks for racing dates.

Last year the local track cleared some $96,000, a record for the nine-year meet.

Already this year, the Delaware Harness Racing Commission has granted the local track 20 nights of racing, to begin July 30.

If this racing is eliminated, thru legislation, it will figure in the fall elections, the Democrats being in power and with several prominent Democrats, including the county chairman, favoring the transfer of racing dates.

The General Assembly will meet this afternoon and tonight before the recess.

Woman Uninjured When Train Hits Automobile

The first railroad crossing accident Harrington since safety gates were installed eight years ago, happened yesterday at the Center street crossing when an automobile driven by Mrs. Irene Kenton, 122 Grant Street, was pushed off the crossing and badly damaged by a slow moving train. Mrs. Kenton displayed remarkable calm and composure in supplying police and railroad officers with desired information and answering and Dr. W. T. Chipman she was uninjured and would continue on to her work in Dover.

The train was only moving eight or ten miles per hour on what is now the side track and consumed more time than usual after passing Liberty Street, with the result the time setting expired and the gates started up just as the engine and automobile reached a point near the crossing.

This timing feature in the operation of the gates is required to prevent blocking the crossing if a train stops after passing Liberty street.

The gates did not get all the way up before the engine arrived on the circuit 70 feet from the crossing that started them down again. However, the car was then on the crossing and the engine nearly so, establishing a situation similar to that which happens at a street corner when traffic lights are changing and someone doesn't care to wait until the yellow changes to red or green.

To reduce the likelihood of a repetition at Center street, adjustment has been made in the timing feature so that gates will not go up for one and one half minutes after the train passes Liberty street.

The car was almost demolished.

CIVIC GROUPS UNITE IN DRIVE FOR FUNDS FOR ARMORY SITE

Half the funds for the purchase of an armory site have been pledged, it was revealed Monday night at a meeting of civic club representatives. At the same time, the meeting asked that individuals pledge the balance.

The cost of the site, on the E. W. Dean property on Liberty Street east of Delaware Avenue, is $2,000. The land has been purchased by the City which will be reimbursed by civic contributions. The armory will cost $160,000 and will be paid for by the state and federal governments. The site therefore must be donated, a federal stipulation.

A spokesman, who attended the Monday meeting, said the civic groups felt the community was fortunate in having an armory built and that the citizens should raise the amount needed.

Each representative stated his group would pledge, or be prepared to pledge, a definite contribution.

Organization pledges, business houses, companies and individual contributions are to be made to the Harrington Armory Fund, C. Sharp Harrington, treasurer, at The First National Bank or at The Peoples Bank.

Charles L. Peck, Jr., was named chairman of the drive at the Monday night meeting, with James C. O'Neal, secretary, and Mr. Harrington, treasurer. Other representatives of civic clubs present were as follows: Fulton J. Downing, Samuel A. Short, Jr., Curtis W. Melvin, Arnold B. Gilstad, Mrs. Herman Minner, Mrs. O. T. Roberts, and Mrs. George W. Toppin.

Frear Questions Soil Bank

United States Senator J. Allen Frear has questioned the feasibility of establishing both a Soil Bank Program and returning to the system of rigid price supports for the nation's farmers.

The Senator's views are in reference to the new farm bill which is now being debated by the Senate. Mr. Frear said it was too early to estimate the probable outcome of the legislation because of the fact that numerous amendments would undoubtedly be offered to the measure on the Senate floor.

However, the Delaware Senator said that the Farm Bill should be of much interest to those engaged in the profession of agriculture because it contains many other features besides the price support provisions and the Soil Bank.

Senator Frear expressed concern over the status of farm prices and said, "It is natural that the Government should undertake every possible effort to assist those individuals who are in most need of help, for certainly we must remember that during World War II the Government encouraged tremendous production of food and other goods, by farmers and ranches, to meet the needs of our Armed Services and our allies abroad."

Mr. Frear also said, "By virtue of our greatly extended acreage, we have produced mountains of farm surpluses, and it is this excess which is partially responsible for our present unstable farm situation. Taken together then, the questions of price supports either rigid or flexible, the Soil Bank Program, farm surpluses and farm prices constitute all the necessary attributes for a first-class Senate Debate which will surely be a most spirited and at times an acrimonious one in this Presidential election year."

The buds of daffodils have begun to appear and should be in bloom within a week. The arbutus should be in bloom soon, too. And the farmers have begun plowing. Never have we been as glad to see signs of spring as this year. The winter was not particularly harsh, but the fuel bills were.

FLOWER GARDENS

Are flower gardens still in style? Since woman has become cipated from the home and gone to work in the factory and office, does she still have time to raise flowers?

What pleasure we derived from flowers when we lived as a boy on Mechanic Street at No. 117. Most of them were perennials probably planted by Mrs. Annie Simpson who formerly lived in the place.

Looking back some 35 years we view the garden plan with nostalgic delight. In the northeast corner of the yard the crocus first appeared in the spring. Later, a clump of pokeweed would appear in the same location. From it our mother, the late Mrs. J. Harvey Burgess, would gather a few succulent stalks to mix in with other wild greens she gathered from our lawn and back yard.

At the front and side of the house were rambler roses, in full full flower by Memorial Day. In the backyard was a clump of peonies, in bloom in May. At the same time, nearby, were clumps of Japanese lilies, bleeding heart. Along the wire fence, was a wreath, a kind of white spiraea, an early spring bloomer. In August, there was a big clump of golden glow along the fence. In the back was an apple tree and, near the house, a pear tree.

Of this conglomeration of flora, only the venerable pear tree remains. We never had laurel, at the Mechanic Street address, but we did when we lived previously at 7 High Street, now the residence of Mrs. Linda Layton. It was usually in bloom about Memorial Day, or Decoration Day.

In the early days, florists were not handy. Consequently, one went from neighbor to neighbor, getting flowers to take to the cemetery on Memorial Day.

Have the old-fashioned flowers gone the way of the serenade, the bell-ringer who advertised sales, and the city women who used to come down weekly to buy produce from Harrington stores?

For the past few years we have been calling attention to the hot-rods who infest the business district on Sunday afternoon, when the police are not on duty, with practically no success.

Now that spring is in the air, machinations of this irresponsible part of our motoring public is becoming more apparent. The past two Sundays they have been having a field day. Most of them are teenagers and, if they learned to drive at school, they do no credit to their preceptors.

They, apparently, have no respect for the law, the enforcing officers, or the general motoring public. Sunday before last two cars bucked one another deliberately on Clark Street near U. S. 13.

This past Sunday the business district was the scene of much hot-rodding, mostly by teenagers. A red Ford Pickup truck, with four, possibly five, giggling girls, around the Post Office, out to the service station, around the service station, back to town. They narrowly averted an accident at Commerce and Hanley Streets, giggle, giggle, giggle. Other teenagers playing follow the leader. What a place, what a town. Where else could they get away with it?

WELCOME BRIGHT SPRING TIME

We haven't heard any wild geese flying north, but signs of spring are in the air. The crocus, the perpetual harbinger, attracted attention last week with its gold blossoms and purple blossoms. This bulbous flower, which derives its name from the Greek, "krokos," sometimes blooms thru the snow.

Letter to the Editor

I was out to the basketball game last Tuesday night. Felton boys were playing our boys. As this game was in progress, I saw the worst example of sportsmanship that I have ever seen in my life. No, it wasn't the "boys" playing the game; it was the Harrington cheerleaders.

Every time the Felton girls started to cheer, the Harrington girls would pop up and start cheering at the same time. I heard more than one person say: "Those girls have not been taught much sportsmanship."

I have a young girl who soon will enter high school. I hope things will change before then. Girls, please be a good sport. Being a good sport means as much to a person as winning a game.

Teachers, let's all begin teaching more sportsmanship in lower grades.

Snow In February
Just look out! What do you see?
We are happy as can be,
Down came pretty flakes of snow,
Fluffy and gay twirling they go.

My, Oh my, where are they now?
Quickly they have stopped, but how?
The sun has chased them all away,
We will have no fun this day.

Grade 5—Mrs. Brobst
Several of our boys and girls went to the Century Club, on Tuesday, with Mrs. Malek, to give an Art demonstration.

Carol Smith worked in oils. Mike Harrington, Billy Sollars, Dickie Schreiber, Clarence Hackett, and Tommy Callaway made animals in clay. Gene Graham made dress designs. Linda Conelley, Jeanie Thomas, Claudia Neeman, Norma Teed, Penny Caserta, Janet Darby, Shirley Eilers, and Bobby VanCleaf made crayon pictures.

Grade 6—Mrs. Mann
On Wednesday, Feb. 15, we had our assembly. In our program, all members of the class had a part. The program was as follows:
Grade 6 members of the Jr. Band played two selections.
Bible Reading and Opening Exercises were by Kenna Jo McKnatt.
Assembly song—led by Mr. Brobst.
Minuet—Dance by eight children.
Piano solo—Bonita Porter.
Play—"The Story of Paper".
Vocal Duet—Patsy Marvel, Connie Biddle.

Assembly Songs—led by Mr. Brobst.

We had many parents as our guests and they enjoyed our program very much. Some parents also visited us later in our room.

Cherry Pie Queen
On February 8, Delaware held its annual Cherry Pie Baking Contest at the University of Delaware, during Farm and Home Week. The three contestants were Sally Evans, New Castle County; Joyce Elliott, Sussex County; and Kay Bowdle, Kent County. The winner was Kay Bowdle, who has now gone to Chicago, Illinois, to compete in the National Cherry Pie Baking Contest.

Kay left February 18, accompanied by Mrs. Marion MacDonald, the 4-H Club Agent from Kent County. The contest was Tuesday morning, February 21, at 8:00.

Junior Class Bake
The Junior Class is holding a bake at Taylor's Hardware on February 25. We will be selling pies, cakes, chicken salad, and many other delicacies. Our class will appreciate it if you would stop in and buy something.

SENIOR PERSONALITY
Kay Cranston West
Kay was born on December 21, 1937 and has always lived in or near Harrington. She started school in Harrington, but went to Ellendale until she finished the fourth grade. She then came back to Harrington in the fifth grade and has attended school here ever since.

During the seventh grade she attended the Math Club. She was a member of the Pen Pal Club during the next two years. In the tenth grade, she took Drivers' Education. In her eleventh and twelfth grades, she was and is now president of the Art Club.

Her pet peeve is gossiping. Her favorite pastimes are reading and dancing.

Kay is taking the General Course and would like to attend the Salisbury State Teachers College when she finishes high school.

Senior Dance

The Seniors of Harrington High School will hold their annual dance on March 2, 1956. The dance will be a "Leap Year Dance" with the girls escorting the boys to the dance and paying all the expenses. LILLIE PATRICIA MINNER Exactly seventeen years, six months and twenty-two days ago, Pat Minner first saw the light of day in the small town of Harrington. This sets her birth date on July 31, 1938.

"Pat", as she is known to everyone, is another one of this year's lucky Seniors. Since she has attended Harrington School for twelve years, she thinks it is time for her to graduate with an Academic Diploma.

Lillie Patricia (she dislikes this name) has been very active politically, in her high school years. She was Treasurer of one section of the ninth grade, President of the Junior Class and Vice President in her Senior year.

She is also Treasurer in Dramatics Club, of which Pat has been a member for five years. One thing she enjoys doing is acting. She has done a great deal of this in Dramatics Club and also in the Senior Play. Pat also proved to be an excellent director while supervising the Junior Play. All forty-two Seniors will say assuringly, that she did a terrific job.

Miss Minner has been playing oboe in our High School band for two years. This year, she had the honor of participating in the Kent County Band. She is a member of the Trinity Methodist Church choir.

Not only has Pat shown her attractiveness at school but also in taking second place in the "Miss Harrington" beauty contest, last year. Just two weeks ago, she was chosen by the students as "The Valentine Queen of Harrington High", to represent Harrington at the Kent County Student Council "Queen of Hearts Dance", held at Smyrna.

Pat has no future plans but all of us wish her all the luck possible in any vocation she may enter.

We want to thank all students who participated in order to make this campaign the most successful ever attempted by the bands. Other awards will go to students selling more than thirty dollars' worth of magazines.

The Harrington Girls Basketball team continued writing history as they continued their triumphant ways by winning two more games against John M. Clayton and Caesar Rodney.

On Friday last, the girls defeated John M. Clayton 52-41. Our down-state opponents put up surprising resistance after having lost to us earlier in the season by a 52-11 score. High scorers were Betty Lee Wix, 18 points, Joyce Hopkins, 17 points, Joan Shaw, 15 points.

On Tuesday, in their final game, away, the girls traveled to Caesar Rodney where they conclusively demonstrated that their first victory over C. R. was no "fluke", by repeating in convincing fashion by a score of 38-24. High scorer was Hopkins with 20 points. Once again, the guards also did a superlative job of bottling up the opposition's high scorers.

Movies
The Junior and Senior High School classes were privileged to view three educational films on Tuesday, February 21, during our club period.

The first film conveyed to us the importance of having an annual Chest X-ray.

The second acquainted us with the background and uses of alcohol, as well as its effects in the form of intoxicating drink.

The third film took us on a journey into the animal reserves of South Africa. Here, the majestic animals walk about with no fear of being harmed by humans.

The Junior and Senior High School students wish to thank Mr. Feagan for allowing us to remain to see all three of the films.

Girl Scouts Collect School Supplies

In observance of Girl Scouting "Thinking Day", Feb. 22, all three Brownie Troops in Harrington have embarked upon an adventure in friendship. They are collecting new school supplies to send to the South Vietnam formerly Indo-China children.

Just about a year ago the school life of thousands of North Vietnamese children was stopped abruptly when they had to leave their homes and possessions behind and flee with their parents with only the clothing on their backs, from Communist rule. Their families chose the freedom of South Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese government has tried to house these refugee families as fast as possible, but next to the housing the problem of providing educational facilities for the children has still to be met. Due to lack of buildings, classes are being held outdoors and they have no supplies with which to work. All supplies needed, but most urgently needed are notebooks of any size and kind, composition books, pencils, small pencil sharpeners, crayons, chalk, tablets and rubber erasers.

We feel it is very important that these children be educated for they will soon become the people to help build a new way of life under the democratic system of government.

The International Rescue Committee, Inc., of New York has already launched on Operation Brotherhood Drive to get funds for assisting the Vietnamese refugees, and has purchased some school supplies. Anyone wishing to help may contact Mrs. Clyde Tucker, Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins or any Brownie.

SOCIAL SECURITY CARD NOT FOR IDENTIFICATION

A social security card is identification for social security purposes only, and should not be accepted as identification for other purposes, Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington social security office reminded local storekeepers and their employees today.

A person can obtain a social security card and work under any name he wishes, Mr. Milbouer said. To receive his old age insurance benefits at age 65 or later, he must prove only that he is the person for whom a social security account has been set up under that name and number, and that his earnings have been credited to that account. Therefore, a social security card is no guarantee that an individual is using the name his mother gave him, or that he has a bank account.

To illustrate the hazards of cashing checks where only a social security card is offered as identification, Mr. Milbouer cited a true story. Recently, he said, police in Tampa, Florida, answered a call from a supermarket manager and picked up a woman "customer" who, using several different social security cards as identification, had passed $1600 in worthless checks during her travels through six Eastern cities.

The 25-year old woman, Mrs. Freida McGurkin, claimed that she had been led into her criminal career by a man she met while working as a waitress in Baltimore. He had planned all their operations, she alleges, and had taken all the money. The man, Thomas Gerald Ryan, 29, deserted his accomplice before the Tampa police arrived at the supermarket. The general plan followed by the couple was for Mrs. McGurkin to visit the local social security office in each of the six cities on their itinerary to obtain a social security account number card, Ryan would pick a random address off a street map, and using an alias of his selection, she would apply for a social security card, alleging that she was going to work for the first time. He then wrote out a number of checks, all for $44 and took her around to several stores in town where she attempted to cash them offering only the falsely obtained social security card as identification. Mr. McGurkin told Tampa police that about half the stores she approached cashed the checks without requiring any other evidence of her identity.

The amazing thing about this story, Mr. Milbouer said, is that she found so many willing dupes. The Social Security Administration has repeatedly warned business men not to accept social security cards as identification in cashing checks, giving credit, or for any other purpose not connected with the administration of the social security program.

Although few people will, like Mrs. McGurkin, go to the trouble of obtaining a false social security card, he pointed out that properly issued cards may be lost or stolen, and may be in the possession of someone to whom it does not belong. Moreover, a person can have his name on his social security card changed by filing a request for a change in records with the Social Security Administration. For example, he said, women change their names after they marry.

Delaware Handicap Entries Announced

The championship aspect of the Delaware Handicap, world's richest race for fillies and mares, is again assured by the presence in the nominations of Darlo and Misty Morn, who divided major honors of the sex in 1955. This was disclosed by the compilation of entries following Delaware Park's January campaign via its special triple entry blank to promote the track's unparalleled Distaff Big Tree, a quarter-million dollar jackpot for fillies and mares, which has again received full support from horsemen. Not only have Parlo and Misty Morn the leaders among last year's older and three-year-old fillies respectively, been nominated, Judy Rullah and Levee, four of the outstanding three-year-olds, were also named. The figures from B. H. Wood, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer, show that 81 sophomores and 43 older fillies and mares, for a total of 124, were nominated. In addition there were seven individual entries for the Oaks, and one for the New Castle.

The three races will be run in sequence on the last three Saturdays of the meeting which opens on May 28, starting with the $50,000 Oaks on June 16. The second event, the $40,000 New Castle, is set for June 23, while the $150,000 Delaware Handicap, world's richest filly and mare race, will provide the climactic finish to the series on June 30. The Oaks is exclusively for three-year-olds, while the New Castle appropriately placed in the middle of the three fixtures as a prep for the Delaware, is for three-year-olds and up, as is the Delaware.

While the advantageous special campaign closed January 31, owners may nominate at higher rates for the three races May 1, the usual time of closing for all Delaware Park stakes. During the month of January, the special blank was a boon to horsemen in that it permitted them to nominate for all three races at one stroke and under advantageous terms.

The $10,000 nominator-breeder award is a unique part of the Delaware Handicap. Created last year along with the Distaff Big Tree, this award under certain circumstances can force the value of the Delaware to $170,000. The added bonuses are based on whether a filly or mare earning part of the award in the Delaware, had previously started in either or both the Oaks or New Castle.

Entries were received from many parts of the country and practically all of the "name" stables in American racing are represented. The Maine Chance Farm was the largest stable nominator with seven, followed by six from the Cain Hoy Stable and four each from Ms. Ada L. Rice and C. V. Whitney. The veteran Max Hirsch named 10 for various patrons from his large public stable.

Use Electricity Safely

"While very few of us really understand what electricity is, we can accurately predict what it will do under given conditions. A little common sense enables us to use electricity safely," warned A. V. Krewatch, University of Maryland, extension agricultural engineer.

Every farm home has a number of portable household appliances, ranging from lamps to large circulating fans, he said. The insulation on these cords becomes frayed with use, and the plug may become defective or broken.

Krewatch suggests you round up your electrical appliances for a safety inspection. Replace frayed or broken cords. A plug designed so easy for grasp is safer than one which encourages a pull on the cord to disconnect the plug.

When you buy new appliances, look for the Underwriters Laboratories label. It guarantees that the product is made with reasonable safety standards.

For heavy appliances requiring grounding be sure that you do have good ground connections. Grounding should be provided for all appliances and portable tools used in a hazardous location.

Another item of concern to safety experts is the fact that literally thousands of home circuits are overloaded. If the total load on any ordinary household circuit with No. 14 wire exceeds 1,500 watts, it is overloaded. Some householders have replaced the proper fuses with fuses capable of carrying a larger load. This is very likely to lead to serious troubles, such as a fire or serious damage to the wiring.

All in all electricity is one of our greatest helpers. It will do the job for you safely and efficiently if you handle it correctly and with proper respect.

Candidates For Air Academy

Representative Harris B. McDowell, Jr. announced today that the following young men were nominated by him to compete for the two vacancies available to Delaware at the United States Air Force Academy class beginning in July, 1956.

Allan P. From, Dover; Arlynn Q. Hall, Lewes; William Bruce Holland, Newark; Gene R. Littleton, Laurel; Albert McCollough, New Castle; Richard B. Seely, Harrington; Albert P. Shields, Wilmington; Edward G. Shockley, Selbyville; Philip F. Voshell, Clayton; John F. Walton, Camden.

Appointments to the Air Force Academy are made on the basis of nomination by Congressional delegations from the various states in which case each Congressman is entitled to ten (10) nominations. Of this total of thirty (30) from Delaware, the two principal appointees and their alternates will be selected by the Air Force Academy Appointment Branch after mental and physical examinations are held.

U. S. Representative Harris B. McDowell, Jr. announced today his appointments to the United States Naval Academy Class of 1956. Representative McDowell had one vacancy to fill at the Naval Academy and none at the United States Military Academy, and his nominations to the Air Force Academy have been previously announced. Mr. McDowell's principal appointment went to Gary David Deffbaugh, Wilmington. Named as alternates were: John B. Quinn, Wilmington, First; Henry A. Booth, Jr., Wilmington, Second; Randolph Dickinson Lindell, III, Newark, Third; John Lynn Pratt, Milford, Fourth; W. Charles Paradee, Jr., Dover, Fifth.

These young men have been notified by Mr. McDowell of their appointments and are awaiting word from Chief of Naval Personnel as to when they are to take the required physical and mental examinations before the appointments become final.

Delaware's junior broiler growers — age 10 to 19 — will get their annual opportunity this spring to match feeding and flock management techniques with their elders, it has been announced by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association.

Junior Broiler Program Gets Underway Apr. 2

On April 2, the Delaware Junior Broiler Program will get underway. The six top winners in the contest will get to display their birds at the Delmarva Chicken Festival this summer where they can be compared with the best that the commercial broilers of the peninsula can put on exhibit. Last year, 150 boys and girls entered the contest.

Silas McHenry, University of Delaware poultry specialist who is directing the program for the poultry association, says that all entries this year must be in by March 10. Entry blanks can be obtained from county agricultural extension offices or from vo-ag teachers. After they are filled out, they should be signed by a parent of the contestant or by his vo-ag teacher or 4-H club agent.

Each boy or girl entering the program starts off with 50 wing-banded chicks which are delivered on April 2. They can be bought from a nearby hatchery or, in some cases, are provided free by Delaware hatcherymen and Service Clubs who are interested in the Junior Broiler Program. Those who get the free chicks must agree to give them good care and feed a commercial mash during the entire growing period of the flock.

When the birds reach market age, each boy or girl entered chooses six cockerels for dressing, judging and displaying. Winner of the contest gets $25 plus a trophy. There are 20 other cash prizes, ranging between $5 and $20.

McHenry says that an Awards Banquet will be held June 14 at the conclusion of this year's junior contest. The six dressed birds from each contestant will be on display at that time. From them, the judges will pick the winners.

According to McHenry, the Poultry Association has arranged for the boys and girls entering the contest to go to training meetings and to get other special help and supervision in learning to raise a good flock and keep good cost records. Details about equipment needed to enter the contest can be obtained from the county agent's offices or from vo-ag teachers.

Herb Exhibit Mar. 2 At Newark

"Grow your own seasoning" is the theme of the exhibit of herbs which will be shown at Agricultural Hall on the University of Delaware campus on March 1, when the state's gardening enthusiasts gather for the University's sixth annual 1-day home-gardeners Short Course.

Ralph Barwick, assistant agent in the University's New Castle County Extension Office is preparing the herb exhibit and says it will include many of the well known kind as well as those like Oregon and Tarragon which are not quite so familiar to some people. Part of the display will show growing methods for 12 different herbs; part will deal with cooking methods. There will be samples of many kinds of dried herbs and also packages of seed for visitors to identify.

At 10 o'clock the morning of March 1, Mrs. Edward J. Garra, herb and horticultural specialist at the Ambler School of Horticulture near Philadelphia will launch the 1-day Short Course program by telling how to grow herbs as decorative plants. Then she will demonstrate their use to add zest to cooking and eating.

There also will be exhibits of different house plants in Agricultural Hall during the Short Course and one on plant containers of all kinds. On the list of visiting speakers is Dr. L. H. MacDaniels, head of the department of floriculture and ornamental horticulture at Cornell University. He will give an illustrated lecture on planting and care of lilies.

Also appearing on the program will be Joseph Langran, member of a landscape architecture and city planning consultant firm in Philadelphia. He has been on planning boards of many city zoning and development commissions in the U.S. and will speak at the Short Course on different ways to landscape small homes and grounds.

Another guest speaker at the Short Course, Dr. Henry Biekart, is formerly State Florist for New Jersey. A graduate of the Netherlands School of Horticulture, he came to this country in 1913 after several years in commercial floriculture in Germany, France and Switzerland. Now retired, Dr. Biekart is the author of the book "Grounds for Living" and has written many bulletins on horticultural subjects. At the Short Course, he will tell of his ideas on the culture and use of roses.

Plans to make bricks of silt are under way in Calcutta, India. American films had a good year in Argentina in 1955.

Worm Treatment Of Cattle

Internal worm troubles with cattle aren't new but Delmar Young, Extension Dairyman at the University of Delaware says that there have been several cases reported in the state recently that point up the need to be especially careful in treating calves and young heifers promptly.

Usually the symptoms are unthriftiness, loss of weight, paleness of eye membranes, potbelly and possibly a soft swelling under the jaw. Even though cattle may be feeding well and have a good appetite, they may show these signs, Young says.

He lists the following 'do's' and 'don'ts' to keep down the chances of young stock picking up worms.

1. Rotate pastures — worms are more commonly found when young cattle graze steadily on old permanent pastures.

2. Clean pens and shelters frequently and disinfect them.

3. Keep all feed mangers and feed boxes clean.

Young says to call in the local veterinarian if you're suspicious that your cattle are affected. He can make a microscopic examination. In treating infected animals, veterinarians now are giving a strong dose of phenothiazine in capsule form. The capsules are put down the throat of the animal with a special 'gun'.

For very severe infections, a second strong dose follows the first in 3 weeks. Normally, in ordinary cases of worms, a single strong dose in the spring and another in the fall is sufficient, though.

If you're not sure whether your herd has been exposed to worm infestation but want to give them some kind of protection anyway, Young advises low-level feeding of phenothiazine in the salt added to the grain ration. Or, you can mix it in the salt fed free-choice to the cattle, he says. For the latter, mix a pound of pheno to each 14 pounds of salt, Young advises.

Don't feed the pheno to milking cows, however, Young warns.

Have you checked your sewing box lately? Perhaps you don't have a sewing box — but have all of your sewing equipment in one closet, or in a sewing room. I'm sure you will find it lots easier to sew if you do have most of your equipment in one place.

Do you need to do some planning or reorganization for your sewing equipment? Check over this list to see if you should provide a place for some of these things: buttons, darning cotton, dressmaker's tracing paper, electric steam iron, fabric (small pieces), needles, patterns, pins, pin cushions, pressing cloths, ruler, seam gauge, seam tape and other tapes, shears and scissors, sleeve board, snaps and hooks, spools of thread, tailor's chalk, tape measure, thimbles, tracing wheel, zippers. Maybe there are some other things you need to include, too.

Delaware Food Notes

Price drop on many pork cuts keeps pork at the top of the list of "good buys" Pork loin roast are down in price, and chops are down 4c, now averaging 57c a lb.; center cut pork chops, down 4c also. Bacon and sausage are still low in price.

Cook all pork well done regardless of cut, size or type, season as you like it and the results will be economical, high protein and tasty dish. Use pork often since it is such a versatile meat.

Fresh fish are plentiful in most local markets. King Mackerel is averaging 40c a lb. this week; good quality trout is selling for 42c a pound; flounder 49c, porgies 29c. Oysters are about the same as they were last week, 89c for standard; 99c a pint for select.

Coleslaw, the perfect partner for fish comes into its own during Lent. Winter cabbage is on the official list of plentiful foods, and crisp, fresh green cabbage is reaching the markets now to add to the already big supply. It's a buy in appetite appeal as well as for the Vitamin C it offers.

Big and beautiful tomatoes flown in from Cuba are news on the vegetable stall at 37-39c a lb. These tomatoes with their fresh green stems still on, may need more time to ripen to reach the full flavor of a garden ripened tomato. Let them ripen at room temperature, never in the refrigerator.

Look for celery, potatoes both white and sweet, onions, spinach, kale, radishes and lettuce, all are listed as "good buys" this week.

Egg prices remain about the same, with Grade A large eggs selling at 58c a dozen, country eggs at 60c a dozen. Sharp cheese is averaging 75c a pound. With many meatless days ahead, why not serve the family a piping hot dish of macaroni and cheese. Economical, yes and packed full of body building foods.

Spring Fashion for Cheese: Cottage cheese is out this week in new containers: colorful flower pots in blue, green, pale pink rose, burnt orange and yellow. The early Spring gardener will doubtless find many uses for these colorful pots (holders for potted plants or as planters for seeds and bulbs).

GOOD GRASSES!

Even though Southern States Grasses may cost a few pennies more, the fact that they are high in purity, high in germination and low in weed content more than makes up for the small extra cost. Year in and year out, you'll find Southern States Grasses the most inexpensive you can buy considering their quality and the yields you get by using them!

QUESTIONS-AND ANSWERS
 Q—I have a World War II GI term insurance policy. When I went back on active duty, I arranged to have my premiums waived. I am about to be discharged, and I want to resume my premium payments. Do I have to file an application with VA to pick up my insurance?
 A—An application is not necessary. Merely resume your premium payments within 120 days after your discharge. Be sure to identify yourself fully when you pay — full name, address, date of birth, branch of service and insurance number.

Q—I enlisted under the Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act early in 1946. I am eligible for a GI loan under the World War II GI Bill. Am I also subject to the World War II deadline of July, 1957?
 A—The World War II GI loan deadline does not apply to you. Instead, your deadline will be 10 years from the end of your first enlistment period under the Voluntary Recruitment Act.

Q—I was discharged from the Army in January, 1955, so my deadline for starting Korean GI training is January, 1956 — three years from discharge. I recently reenlisted for three years, which means I will be on active duty when my starting deadline comes around. Can an exception be made in my case, so that I will be able to begin training after I leave service?
 A—An exception to the three year starting deadline is not possible. The law states that veterans must start Korean GI training within three years from their first discharge. It doesn't provide any exceptions.

Q—I am a disabled Korean veteran and I am planning to apply for vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894. Is there any limit on the amount of training I may receive?
 A—You may train for as long as is necessary to rehabilitate you, up to a maximum of four years.

At Tenterden, England, a demonstration of weaving wool from her own rabbits was given — by Mrs. Hare.

WALL PAPER

For this Community and Elsewhere Has This to Say:
WALLPAPERING CAN BE FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

There is no reason why papering should be done by only one member of the family. More and more housewives are finding it fun to help the man of the house. But Junior and Sis can help, too. And the whole job can be fun for the whole family, because so much can be accomplished by a united effort in a short time that will please everybody concerned. Wallpaper gives a new look to any room, and all members of the family will get a personal feeling of achievement about such an improvement.

In most cases, Father will have to "master-mind" the operation because that is his traditional role. That means, of course, the actual hanging, which usually means using a step ladder. He starts the first strip at a doorway, using a chalked plumb line from ceiling to baseboard to line up the first strip absolutely true. The plumb line should be snapped on the wall to the right of the door less than the width of the paper so that the first strip overlaps the door frame by that much. Then he trims off the excess. Next he proceeds around the room until all the walls are covered, matching up the last strip with the first one over the doorway.

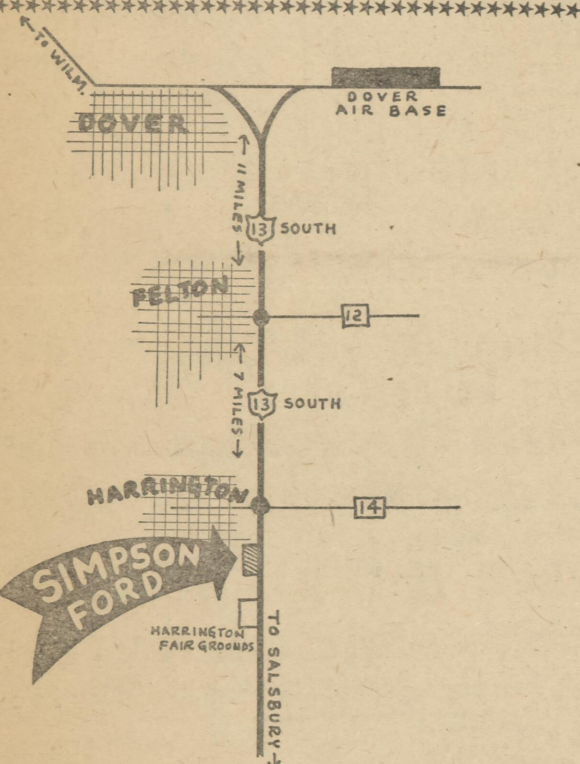

An important member of Dad's team is Mother, who can help a lot by taking charge of pasting the strips as Father needs them for the walls. All of the rolls, of course, should be pre-cut into strips matching the pattern of each strip cut to the previous one, and the operation will work out smoothly.

In this operation, Sis can be of great help. She can be of special help in figuring the length of the strips to conform to the height of the walls and cutting the rolls into strips.

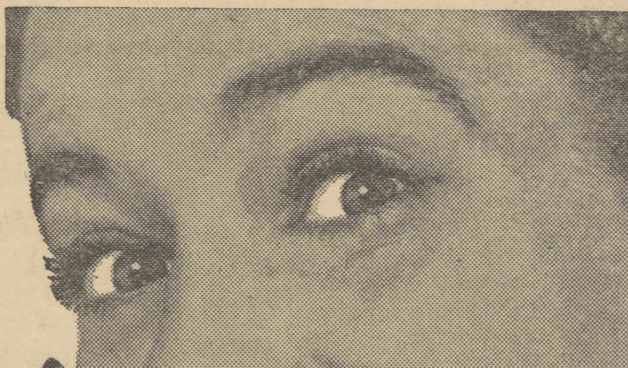

Junior's role is in helping Father. He can be in charge of the seam roller, which makes sure that the strips butt evenly with each other. He also can be equipped with a sponge of warm water to remove excess paste at the joints. Wallpapering can be a family affair, but get instructions from your dealer if you are papering for the first time.

We are prepared for your questions, and are also prepared with plenty and plenty of wall paper to furnish your needs.
