State Meeting Studies Tourism

Establishment of a Delaware agency to promote its many attractions was advocated this week following an all-day conference in Legislative Hall last week on the subject of tourism and travel.

The group of more than 50 hotel, motel and restaurant owners and representatives of chambers of commerce, museums, and state agencies, held a five-hour session. Miles L. Frederick, director of the State Development Department, presided.

The principal items discussed were:

1. Adequate mosquito control in areas where there is need for it.
2. Having a voice in location of new access highways or other highways so that Delaware's historic, recreation, and commercial interests are best protected.
3. Evaluation of state park expansion programs based on Delaware's rapid growth so that both residents and visitors will have ample recreation facilities.
4. Formation of an organization which would coordinate publicity of all assets and facilities and see to it that retailers of travel are kept current on new developments which would attract tourist dollars to the state.

The group heard an address by Robert F. Nelson, Richmond, Va., president of the National Association of Travel Organizations, whose advice was that to be successful in travel promotion, the individual in his own state must be sold first on local programs.

A travel council must first survey the field and find out what is being done by your organizations and individuals and what is being done by similar groups to determine what it should do that does not conflict or duplicate the work of others," Nelson declared.

Nelson pointed out that most states have nearly 85 per cent of their travel business arriving by motor car. They number in the millions and they come for a dozen different and distinct reasons. He said that they contribute to the state's taxes through purchases of fuel and other material services and represent a national business of a billion dollars annually.

There will be new facilities at Indian River Inlet this summer, according to J. J. Marsh, who operates the yacht basin there. He pleaded for boat launching sites at strategic spots so that those bringing boats by trailer would have an easier time launching them.

Delbert J. Wilson of Rehoboth Bay Port also pointed out that boating is a hobby is growing in the area. This section of Delaware serves people from a five state area.

William J. Miller of the State Highway Department's traffic and planning division discussed the state's increased traffic, and noted that tourism will continue to add to the unpredictable flow of automobiles all over the state.

"Every time we think we have a sound figure showing increases, our next survey reveals that our estimates have been too low, Miller declared.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Wasn't it a joke? Spring, snow, and more snow! Now there is a report of more rain. Guess by the time this goes to press we might have any kind of weather.

As for training out here, it's anybody's guess. Will the trainers get their horses out? I expect that a lot of them are getting just a little worried. After all, it is only a few days till the big spring meet opening for another year.

Bobby Camper has already shipped his stable up to Westbury. I wonder how he likes the snow storm they ran into on their way up there? I'm sure they made it ok with Earl Thomas' big van. Billy Myer will soon be leaving also.

Tom Metcalf and his daddy who have a stable of three tell me they will go out Friday or the first of the week. Sure will miss them as they stable just across from us. They have been wonderful neighbors this winter. We are always a little sad at spring parting. Tom was always good for a lot of clean fun.

Mr. Draper will soon depart for Blue Bonnet's raceway in Montreal. If it wasn't so cold up there now, we would love to go back up there to race till Foxboro opens. I love Montreal, but not at this time of the year.

But we will for sure be back in Foxboro this coming June, and I will enjoy good old Boston again. I don't think I will miss that old-fashioned eating place; that will be a must! Also there are the places up in old Salem, Mass. Then there's the Boston Red Sox. Gosh, they really go out for their ball team up there. Dave says anytime he is not racing and has a chance to, he will take 'in a game; and you bet he won't take me. He says I ask too many questions. All I know is that they hit the ball and run. Of course, I like to go. At the races they will break in on the race and tell you how the game is coming on. And you can sure tell the difference in the crowd when they are playing in Boston. That is for sure. I happened to have the radio tuned to WBZ, Boston, the other night and heard one of the top sports announcers, Leo Egan, a good friend of ours, giving out the news. He announces the races as they are going on, when he has a special guest, Leo has a wonderful personality and is very well liked by the fans up Boston way.

Gosh, what a good guy you have to race under up there. I guess everyone has their likes and dislikes when it comes to the racing secretary. We really liked Ted Leonard, and I had the pleasure at one time, of working with Mr. Walter Gibbons. So it seems like going home when one goes back to Foxboro. Oh! Yes! The Gray stable will also campaign up at the Bay State Raceway again this year.

Of course, we will open again at Buffalo Raceway and race till it closes, then back to Batavia, and then all the rest of the stake dates.

"Here I go again on some of this news." "I'm trying to listen to Bob Hope in 'The Awful Truth', and this stuff just don't mix, so I am finding out, so I'll stop for the time being."

First time I have missed the sale of Jake's in years. But, I was just a little tired out with all this bad weather. I sure have driven all the bad roads to see all the farms in all their beauty. You know there is something about everything that has a silver lining. The white snow sure you would see the cattle standing out in the white snow, or now and then some horses would be really playing, and that was a sight if you cared for such things. And, who doesn't? Dave and I rode around all over everywhere. But when we were a few miles from Harrington, no snow! But one thing we sure did do, and that was plenty of extra riding. How we ever ended up down at Masey's Landing was news to me. It seemed it was the end of the world, but the road was paved and it was a wonderful drive. But, that is Dave and I, get out and see what the rest of the country is doing.

Lucy would like to thank all the horsemen for their patronage this past winter at her restaurant out here at the track. Well, Lucy, we certainly have enjoyed your service also. At least you gave the boys enough for their money. After all, they don't work

BOWERS BEACH MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR CANTERBURY

One person was fatally injured late Tuesday afternoon near Canterbury in an auto crash on U. S. 13.

The victim was Calvin D. Fowler, 28, of Bowers Beach. Dover State Police said Fowler was riding in a car driven by Vincent Bassett, 36, of Frederica, and was racing another vehicle at a high-rate of speed when it crashed into the rear of a trailer which was being pulled by a jeep.

The crash sent Bassett's car out of control, causing it to turn over. Fowler was thrown from the vehicle, police said. He died of a fractured skull, fractured neck, and internal injuries.

Bassett suffered a possible fractured skull and lacerations of the head. His condition early Wednesday was reported good. Police stated that Bassett's machine was racing with a car driven by Rudolph Kanar, 22, of Wyoming. The jeep was operated by Melvin Willin, 22, of Federalsburg.

Fowler is survived by his wife, Bernice, and two small children; a brother, Palmer Fowler, of Wilmington Manor; a half-brother, Lewis Donovan, of St. Georges, and his parents.

Police said Fowler was employed by Gordy & Sons as a carpenter and had worked earlier that day at Capitol Park, a development near the Dover Air Base.

Road Building To Be Resumed

Preparations are being made for the resumption of construction work on highway projects on which work had been ordered suspended by the State Highway Department during the winter months.

R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the Highway Department, pointed out that grading work on some of the projects continued throughout the winter months as weather conditions permitted.

However, adverse weather conditions, about two months ago, caused the contractors to suspend these grading operations for a period of several weeks but since most of these projects were ahead of schedule it is not thought that the suspension of the grading activities during that period will cause a delay in their completion.

Mr. Haber stated that instructions have gone out to contractors on projects where grass seeding is required, to get the seeding work started immediately and arrange to have it all completed by 15 May.

The placing of hot mix asphalt on projects, which was completely stopped during the winter months, will be resumed on 2nd April, while the surface treatment work will get started on 1st May.

Work on the improvement of dirt roads, for which several contracts have already been awarded will get underway on Monday of next week.

Underway Red Cross Drive

Branch Area 6 of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the 1956 Fund Raising Drive in Harrington will run from March 18 to the end of the month.

Harry E. Darby has been appointed chairman for the local drive. His captains are Mrs. Ray Cannon, Jr., of Farmington, Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, Mrs. Fulton Downing, Mrs. William Shaw, and Mrs. Joseph Konesey. The goal will be $800, the same as last year.

Horace Quillen started the drive off with a $200-contribution. The goal this year for Area-6 is $4,000 as part of the $313,000 goal for Delaware. The National Red Cross goal is $90,000,000.

The funds raised locally enable the Red Cross to carry out its local, state, and national program of disaster relief, water safety, first aid training, home nursing, and home service for members of the armed forces.

Delaware supports 21 full time workers and over 5,500 volunteer workers give their time in some of the work. Area 6 which includes Harrington, Farmington, Frederica, Milford, Milford Neck, Slaughter Neck, Prime Hook Neck, Lincoln, Houston and Shawnee, has over 100 regular volunteer workers, and a part-time secretary on 24-hour call.

Red Cross swimming instruction is available to Harrington and also to disaster relief, as in the past year several fires in this area left victims that the Red Cross helped with housing, food and clothing. The Home Service department under Mrs. George Baynum of Milford (4235 phone) served more than 60 cases, a number of which were in the Harrington local. Home Service handles requests for emergency leaves and grants financial assistance in many different type cases including aid to dependents pending receipt of government allowances for food, rent and clothing. The expansion of the Dover Air Base has more than doubled such aid in this area and a much larger increase is expected.

Mr. Darby, head of the local drive, called a "kick-off" meeting for the drive last Friday when Tom Faix of Milford, Area chairman gave the highlights of this year's drive and urged that Harrington has a fine record of past performance for the Red Cross Drive and that with as much success this year as last that the area goal will again go over the top of $4,000. Anyone wishing to volunteer as a worker or any one with questions about the Red Cross should contact Harry E. Darby (phone 8306) or Mrs. Charles Swain, area secretary, (phone Milford-8473). A list of workers will be given in the near future.

There are now 570 TV stations in 38 nations, and 42 million sets, Paris reports.

Membership Drive For Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber of Commerce, the organization that supports Harrington and the things it stands for, is planning a membership drive.

The membership committee will try to contact all available prospects, but, in case it overlooks someone, membership can be secured by approaching any member of the Chamber or the membership committee. Members of the committee are C. H. Burgess, Clarence Collins, Arnold Gilstad, Ernest Killen, Charles Peck, Jr., William Minner, and Charles Jerred.

The Chamber has done considerable valuable work the past two or three years, some of which has not come to the attention of the public.

It spent approximately two years in an attempt to induce a gray-castings foundry to locate here. The deal was all in the bag, an option on the land secured, and finances arranged. But the president of the firm dropped dead before the move from Pottsville, Pa., could be arranged.

It spent considerable time in an attempt to secure another industry, which was planning to move, but the project was canceled.

The Chamber gave $300 on the purchase of a site for an armory. This project is under way. Individuals may make their contributions at either bank.

The Chamber has drawn up plans for highway signs identifying the community, and this project should be completed by the time the dual highway is finished.

The Chamber investigated the feasibility of establishing a bus station in the business district, but did not find it practicable.

It went to bat for a new water tower, a necessity for industry. The community now has a 200,000-gallon overhead tank.

The Chamber has deplored the sight of dilapidated buildings in the community and has approached the City Council which has started the ball rolling.

Off and on, the Chamber, as well as the City, has complained about the blocking of railroad crossings by the trains. The evidence has been secured and it appears the railroad will do something about it.

Every year the Chamber has put on a Christmas lighting contest as part of its Yuletide program. Of course, this event is made possible by the generous contributions of the community.

THE GHOST VOICE WASN'T A GHOST VOICE

The ghost voice of Harrington, as the Wilmington newspapers termed it, wasn't the voice of a ghost. It that doesn't make sense, neither did the obscenities the voice uttered over the telephone to local housewives. This went on for four years and was finally stopped last week by State Detective Wentz. However, the victims refused to press charges and the offender went free.

Meanwhile, even after it was determined the ghost voice wasn't a ghost voice, we received intelligence that smart alecks are telephoning local business houses and private homes and hanging up when the call is answered. One businessman said he had had so many calls one evening that he took the receiver off the hook and left it that way for some time.

F. P. Mantaneri, a member of a band which plays at our annual fair, is a philosopher. Il Signore Mantaneri, who has been visiting in Italy, writes the following bit of philosophy to Mrs. George W. STATE CHORUS CONCERT TONIGHT

The 120-voice all-state high school chorus will give a concert tonight in Mitchell Hall at the University of Delaware in Newark at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Ivan Truster of the university's music department has prepared an interesting program to include music by Bach, Mozart, as well as the moderns represented by Randall Thompson and Richard Rodgers.

The local school is represented by two singers from the high-school chorus — Miss Jeanne Homewood, soprano, and Alvin Jarrell, tenor.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES IN ST. BERNADETTE'S

On November 22, 1955 a Decree was issued by the Sacred Congregation of Rites in regard to the services held in Catholic churches during Holy Week. Many changes were made so that the wish of our Holy Father, Pope Pius XII might be fulfilled "that all may participate in these liturgical services, which have a special sacramental force and efficacy for nourishing Christian life."

Adam, by his sin of disobedience, lost for us the great gift of divine life, but God promised to send a Redeemer who would restore it. Later on, when His chosen people were oppressed as slaves in Egypt, God chose to liberate them. On the night of the Passover, they were to eat the Paschal Lamb and smear its blood on their doorposts so the destroying Angel would not kill their first-born sons. Then God led them out of Egypt through the Red Sea, going before them by day in a pillar of cloud and by night in a pillar of fire, and feeding them with manna in the desert. Finally He made them a great nation under King David, from whom His divine Son was descended, through Mary. These Old Testament types are fulfilled in Christ and are recalled in our Holy Week worship. Palm Sunday is a popular demonstration in honor of Christ the King;

Holy Thursday marks the Passover Supper at which He gave us the Holy Eucharist. On Good Friday the Lamb of God was slain to redeem us. The "blessed night" of Holy Saturday brings us the Risen Christ, the Light shining in the darkness (the Pillar Fire), who led us from sin to life through the waters of Baptism.

The divine service on Palm Sunday may be likened to a two-act drama. The first act includes the blessing of the palms and the triumphal procession honoring Christ the King. The second act is the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass which stresses the Passion and Death of Christ our Redeemer. In St. Bernadette's the blessing of the palms, the procession, and a High Mass will begin at 9:30 on Sunday morning.

The only other services that will be held in St. Bernadette's during Holy Week will be those on Saturday night; these services will begin at 11:00 o'clock and will be followed by a High Mass at midnight. The Vigil of Easter was called by St. Augustine the "Mother of all holy vigils." In the darkness of the night a new fire is enkindled and blessed. The great Easter candle, symbolizing Christ "the Light of the world" is blessed, engraved, studded with five grains of incense, and then lighted as the "pillar of fire," which leads the congregation of people into the church and provides them with light for of diving life, but God promised church during the singing of the Easter Proclamation, known as the Exsultet. Four readings from the Old Testament recall the wondrous works of God in olden times, faint prefigurings of the marvels He has worked in our souls through Christ. The Litany of the Saints is sung to implore the intercession of the Church Triumphant. Then the font of Baptismal water is blessed and the faithful join in renewing their Baptismal vows. The Easter Vigil comes to its climax with the celebration of holy Mass, the solemn anniversary celebration of Christ's "pasch" or pas-age from death to life by means of His glorious resurrection.

There will be another Mass later on Easter morning; this will be at 9:30, the usual time for Sunday morning Mass in St. Bernadette's.

The public is always welcome at these or any other services held in St. Bernadette's Church.

I have overheard lots of conversations about calories and diets recently! Are you watching your calories so that you can slip into the lovely spring fashions now on view in the stores? If you aren't, maybe you should be. The new slim dresses are a real test to most figures. This is the time of year to try on your bathing suit in front of the mirror and see if you are going to look the way you'd like to on the beaches next July.

A great help to all dieters is the wide variety of special foods on the market. Nonfat dry milk which instantly dissolves in cold water to make pleasant-tasting skim milk is just one of those foods. Used in cooking in place of whole milk, this product reduces the calorie count of many desserts. As a beverage, too, it reduces the calorie intake from one glass of milk to about one-half. These milk solids when beaten with an equal amount of water make a low calorie substitute for whipped cream.

Other products available in the stores to help would-be dieters are low-calorie salad dressings, no-calorie beverages and non-calorie sweeteners. Several firms are now making low calorie gelatin desserts are now packing fruits in sugarless syrups. Special low calorie breads too, are available.

If you are watching your waistline — cut down your intake of rich foods, but don't cut out milk, fruits and vegetables, meats or some enriched cereals. A normal varied diet is still essential if you want your weight, not your good health, to disappear.

Veterans News and Answers To Questions

Q—I am a Korea veteran and I meet all the eligibility requirements for GI training. I have just enlisted for another tour of military duty. Could I train while I'm in uniform?

A—No. Under the law, veterans may not receive Korean GI training while on active duty, even though they meet all the basic requirements.

Q—I am a World War II veteran with a permanent GI insurance policy. Could I convert my policy to term insurance?

A—No. Permanent GI insurance policies may not, under the law, be converted to term insurance. However, GI term policies may be converted to permanent plans.

Q—During the war I was an officer of the commissioned corps of the Public Health Service. I have been retired for age, and am now drawing retirement pay. Since I have a service-connected disability, I am eligible for VA compensation payments. May I receive the VA payments concurrently with my retirement pay?

A—Yes. There is no bar against receipt of disability compensation pay, along with retirement pay of an officer of the Public Health Service commissioned corps, retired for reason other than disability.

Q—I am a disabled Korea veteran, discharged early in 1955. What is my deadline for finishing vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A—Your deadline is January 31, 1964, or nine years after separation, whichever comes first. There are exceptions to this deadline for certain veterans, but they do not apply to you.

Social Security News

Social Security for self-employed professional groups brought under the old-age and survivors insurance program as of January 1, 1955, is compulsory, Myron Milbouer, district manager of the Wilmington social security office said today. He was referring to professional engineers, architects, accountants, and funeral directors who began to earn social security insurance protection for themselves and their families last year. Nationwide, about 100,000 persons self-employed in these professions are now covered by the law.

All self-employed professional men and women whose work is covered by social security, whether they operate their businesses as sole owners or in a partnership are required to make a report of their net earnings and pay the social security tax on their earnings for their first taxable year after 1954. Mr. Milbouer said. The report and tax for social security purposes must be filed along with their Federal income tax return which is due April 16, 1956. The social security tax for any self-employed person in work covered by the law is 3 percent of net earnings. If net earnings were as much as $400 in 1955, a report must be made and the tax paid. Net earnings up to $4,200 in a year are credited to a social security account and the social security tax on earnings up to that amount must be paid.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Holberton, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware

A big supply of sweet potatoes on the market makes this vegetable an outstanding buy. The quality as a whole is fair to excellent with retail prices ranging from 3 pounds for 19c for the New Jersey orange flesh variety to 10c a pound for the Puerto Rican yams.

Don't forget this vegetable is really versatile; for instance, sweet potato biscuits for breakfast, or scalloped sweet potatoes for lunch, or sweet potato pie for supper.

The market is brimming with fresh leafy greens of fine quality, thanks to favorable weather in the south.

The appearance of fresh green asparagus at the vegetable stalls is a welcome sign of spring. Wax beans from Florida are new also. While you are at the vegetable counter, why not pick up a pot of chives to take home.

With Easter a little more than a week off, this is the time to plan your Easter menu. Those of you who are planning to serve ham, either fresh or cured, rib roast, oysters, or turkey should place your order with the butcher now.

The many weekend meats and seafood "specials" that are offered for Thursday, Friday and Saturday shoppers include even lower than last week's low average spareribs, and other pork cuts, and pork products. Specials in beef, which range from steaks to liver to hamburger, will make beef popular on the dinner table.

Due to constantly changing market conditions, the above information should be disregarded after March 24.

Radioactive Fertilizers Add To Plant Nutrition Knowledge

Use of radioactive phosphate fertilizer is helping scientists to discover many new things about plant nutrition, according to Dr. Frank Bentz, University of Maryland Extension soil specialist.

Because of the importance of this work, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the cooperation of the fertilizer industry and the Atomic Energy Commission, set up a small plant some time ago, at the Beltsville, Md., Agricultural Research Center to produce radioactive phosphate fertilizers. This is done by mixing ordinary phosphate fertilizer with a radioactive element obtained from the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee, reports Dr. Bentz.

Fertilizer thus "tagged" can be traced even after it is taken up by plants and transformed into plant material. Radioactive fertilizer produced at Beltsville was used last year in 41 experiments in various parts of the United States and by cooperating agencies in Canada and India.

Here are some of the questions for which answers are being sought: How much phosphate fertilizer do crops need? What is the value of water-insoluble phosphate in mixed phosphates? What form of fertilizer—powdered, granular, or liquid—is used best? At what stage of growth and where should fertilizer be applied to do most good?

Here are some of the things that have been learned: Experiments with corn have shown that this plant uses a high proportion of phosphate from added fertilizer early in the growing season and very little at any other period of growth. On the other hand, potatoes absorb phosphate throughout the growing period.

The exact effects of fertilizer upon plants is being studied in many places and on many crops, says Dr. Bentz, with ordinary as this work is steadily accumulating knowledge that eventually will help farmers to apply just the right amounts of plant nutrients and at the right time to get the most production without waste.

The three stopped at a restaurant in Lynch Heights for coffee on their way home to Milford.

Farm and Home News

Home gardeners reading this article just prior to or just after the evening meal are reminded of tonight's session of the free short course being held at the Capital Grange in Dover. This program is aimed at dad and his multirun outdoor living room problems.

Messrs. Robert F. Stevens, William Mitchell and Leslie Kelsey, all specialists on the staff of the school of agriculture at the University of Delaware, will appear on a panel to deal with questions raised by the audience.

Dr. Charles Dunham will follow up the showing of a film "Landscape for Living" with a demonstration on Landscaping the Small Home, emphasizing low cost, minimum care, quick results, and a changing pleasant scene. Ingenuity in the selection and placement of plant materials around the house is what creates the ideal home picture.

Dad is not neglected either when it comes to the commercial exhibits. Beside the expected appearance of garden tractors, tools, plant materials, fertilizers and such, one may also see exhibits on lawn and garden irrigation equipment, what is in a lawn mixture, how to control the mosquito problem around the house and fences that combine beauty with utility.

The program is free and everyone is welcome. Those who enter into the spirit of it and those who ask questions which are of most general interest at the meeting will win merchandise prizes donated by the exhibitors. It is felt that those who ask questions (not necessarily the most difficult) should be in the best position to use the awards effectively. New gardeners should not feel at a serious disadvantage for the program is essentially to attract new people to this America's number one hobby.
