

Railroad to Discontinue Its Night Trains April 29

The Pennsylvania Railroad's "Cavalier," one of two passenger trains making the round-trip run down the Delmarva Peninsula to Cape Charles, will be discontinued April 29.

A spokesman for the railroad's Chesapeake Region, said patronage on the Cavalier's two runs has declined "almost to the vanishing point."

The southbound Cavalier leaves Thirtieth Street Station in Philadelphia at 11:40 p. m., Wilmington at 12:25 a. m., and arrives in Cape Charles at 6:10 a. m.

On its northbound run, the Cavalier leaves Cape Charles at 11:25 p. m., arrives in Wilmington at 4:40 a. m., and at Thirtieth Street at 5:25 a. m.

Night Mail
The Cavalier is familiarly known as the "night mail train" carrying mail to several Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia points. The railroad said other arrangements will be made to keep mail deliveries on schedule.

The only southbound passenger train on the peninsula after April 29 will be No. 455. It leaves Philadelphia at 7:23 a. m., Wilmington at 8:10 a. m., and arrives at Cape Charles at 12:50 p. m. on weekdays.

On Sundays, No. 455 will leave Philadelphia at 7:35 a. m., Wilmington at 8:20 a. m., and arrive at Cape Charles at 12:52 p. m.

One Northbound
The one remaining northbound train will be No. 454 leaving Cape Charles at 2:35 p. m., arriving at Wilmington at 7:35 p. m., and Philadelphia at 8:22 p. m.

Other than these runs, the only other scheduled passenger train on the peninsula line is a one-car run from Cape Charles to New Church, Va., and return.

Last year the railroad announced it was converting the Delmarva line into a single track operation. It has removed most of the double track between Wilmington and Cape Charles.

The mystery figure in "This is Your Past" is still a mystery and getting more mysterious every day. What person in Harrington has done so much for their community that the selection committee had no hesitancy in deciding that she or he is the one whose past and present life should be honored? That question will be answered on the stage of the Reese Theatre that night.

Rotarians report that the tickets are selling faster and earlier than ever since all of the downstairs and the right balcony are reserved. A ticket bought now assures the buyer of a seat.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Gosh was it natural last Saturday afternoon. With all the gaiety of the horsemen with their fresh looking colors on, and don't sell the horses short. They too seemed to take the attitude just look at me. I think that was the cleanest matinee in a long time. I remember going to one last year where it really looked just a little on the seedy side. In short every one was dressed more or less in anything.

But I think if the matinee had more publicity, say a plug or two on the radio, the place would have been packed. But if the weather holds up this Saturday I think they will do better. Put with what crowd they had I tell you. From the time Genie Anderson called, "here they come, and they're off!"

Even the children were selling drinks. Little Billy Carter was really a busy boy. Up and down the grandstand he went. Bet his little legs were tired that night. I met a lot of old friends up in the grandstand, made me think of the good old days when we raced our "Anna Day" here in the spring. I could hardly wait till the races opened.

But there's one thing sure if Dave raced where they give blankets as a trophy he just wouldn't be there close. For we have yet to get one. You have heard the expression of the horse going the other way, that's us. Anything else he can win.

If anyone was watching Mickey Workman last Saturday afternoon, that knew her you can understand how good it is to race and receive a beautiful cooler for your horse. She was all smiles when she passed our barn. Just as happy as could be. Maybe Mickey, Dave will win one, some day. I sure get his goat when I mention that subject.

But now our season is drawing near to leave and I sure hate to go. I have enjoyed this past winter here more than all eight years we have wintered here. After all, there were only one row of new barns here when we first came to Harrington. We have watched it grow to a very nice training quarters.

As Dr. Lock was saying to Dave and I, over at the Wonder Barn, there's some real fast horses trained here at this track. Another thing they both were right about was the convenience of everything. There's Mr. Wahl who repairs sulky and carts, also wheels, a harness man right on the ground at the track, blacksmiths, and any kind of horse supplies either from Earl Thomas or over to Jake Rudnick's at Dover, also Harrington Hardware store. Another thing within walking distance of town, if you don't have a car. What more would you want at any track. And we certainly have had a wonderful gal out here to serve our crowd eats. Lucy, the boys all want to thank you. Good eats to a working crowd that can't always get to town, is something. We all hope you will be back next fall. So best of luck Lucy this summer.

I see that Marie Bullock has installed for the pleasure of her patrons this coming summer a new air conditioning unit. Gosh what a pleasure that will be when Ole Sol really comes down. Marie is doing all right with the Wonder R. I haven't had much time to get around like I have to just dash into Lucy's place. So close.

By time this goes to press I will be on my way up to Hamburg, N. Y. where this column will come to you for the next eight weeks. Then on to Foxboro, Mass. Guess there comes a time when you hate to leave when every one has been as nice to me as they can be. And I will be thinking of Harrington just as I wrote about it last week. It will be still in my memory just as Mr. Holloway gave me the notes. So roll on Harrington, roll on. See you all next fall the good Lord willing.

The schedule will be: Bond Bread vs. National Guard, Wednesday, April 25; American Legion vs. Moose, Thursday, April 26.

Get out and support your favorite team.

Arson Suspected As Highway Garage Is Razed Near Here; Loss Is More Than $100,000

Arson is suspected in a fire which destroyed the State Highway garage near here late Wednesday evening, with loss estimated by highway officials between $100,000 and $125,000.

Firemen from Houston, Felton, and Harrington were at the scene, with nearly three hours being required to put out the blaze which received considerable impetus from 2000 feet of creosoted snow-fence in the garage.

Also lost were four trucks, a grader, and a small scraper. A large grader, parked outside the garage, was saved, and was used in the fire-fighting operations in near freezing weather.

A state-highway official said early Thursday morning, at the scene of the blaze, that the department would function as usual with equipment from Dover.

The promptness of the firemen and the nearness of a water-filled barrow pit helped firemen save surrounding structures, including a barn used by Everett Warrington as a storage place. The building was smoking when firemen arrived. Warrington said it would have been gone in another five minutes. Contents of the barn were estimated at $5000 to $6000 in value.

The fire was reported by several, including William S. Stallings, living in an adjoining house on the Jackson Ditch road. He said he was awakened by his dogs and saw the fire just breaking thru the roof of the frame structure.

He told The Journal, also, that he saw a car in the road and that a man ran to it and backed it a short distance to U. S. 13. Stallings said he did not notice where the man went from there, as he was busy calling in the alarm.

Persons at the scene of the fire said one or two gasoline cans, filled with gasoline, were found outside the garage.

Walter LaRue, state fire marshal, was on the scene by 1 a. m., coming from New Castle County. The alarm was turned in about 11:15 p. m.

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE
HOLSTEIN HERD RATED
SECOND IN NATION

Topping such famed dairy herds as Vermont, New York and Wisconsin, the black and white cows in the Agricultural Experiment Station barns at Newark are rated second among all agricultural college Holstein herds in the nation, it has been announced by the Department of Agriculture.

Butterfat average of the 31 Holstein cows milking last year on the College farm averaged 491 pounds, according to the survey. Only West Virginia, with cows producing an average of 557 pounds of butterfat bettered this among the 37 colleges in which Holstein herds were on test. Average milk production per cow in the Delaware herd last year was 13,013 pounds, or over 6000 quarts.

According to Dr. T. A. Baker, of the University's dairy husbandry department, this is the second year in a row that Delaware has held second rank among the states. He said that the University herd traces back to 1919, when the foundation herd was started.

At that time, butterfat average was only 267 pounds per cow. However the herd has gained steadily in milk and butterfat production over the past 36 years as the result of a careful breeding program to which has been aimed at increasing production in each generation.

Baker thinks that the original 267-pound production of the foundation herd will be doubled in a few years.

By Anne Holberton

Roasts of beef you will be proud to serve and feature are featured in many stores this week. Fortunately for consumers, abundant supplies of high quality beef have lowered retail prices.

Standing rib roasts and rolled rib roasts are tender cuts that are suitable for cooking in an uncovered container without adding water. Prime, choice and good grades can be prepared with this dry heat cooking method at temperatures from 300 degrees f. to 325 degrees f.

Some of the slower cooking cuts are less expensive than rib roasts, but fully as delicious and nutritious. Blade cut chuck roasts, boneless chuck, boneless cross cut and arm pot roasts all are good choices. A moist heat cooking method, such as braising, is generally recommended for these cuts, although prime and choice grades of chuck roasts can also be cooked by dry heat successfully. At slightly higher prices there are round roasts, best suited for braising. The prime and choice grades of the most expensive rump roasts may be oven roasted but moist heat cooking is recommended for the good and commercial grades. Temperatures of 325 degrees f are suggested for these other roasts as well.

Vegetables combine well with pot roasts to add color and flavor. These vegetables make it possible to complete the meal with a minimum of effort and expense: Potatoes, carrots, parsnips, turnips and white boiling onions. All of these root crops are arriving in local stores in good quality and at low prices.

Onions of all types are on the market from bumper crops. They deserve extra attention by home-makers because they are turn dishes that are just "so-so" into ones that sparkle with interest and vitality. Onions are to the cook what cosmetics are to a woman!

Spring crop onions from Texas are mild flavored and perfect for using raw in salads and sandwiches. The yellow Bermuda is a flat shaped variety and the Granex and Grand Onions are globe shaped mild yellow varieties. Stronger flavored yellow globe onions from northern states are the biggest bargain, selling at about half the price of Texas varieties.

Select onions that are bright, clean and dry, store at temperatures below 79 degrees but not below freezing. There will be no weeping in the kitchen if you hold onions under water while peeling, and onion odors then are less likely to pervade the kitchen. Try serving onions in many ways, and some of them are certain to become new favorites with your family. Onions may be boiled, french fried, creamed, scalloped, fried, made into soup and sauces, and combined with innumerable other foods to enhance their flavor.

Other good buys this week include citrus, leafy greens, sweet potatoes, eggplant, lard, canned cherries, frying chickens, dates, and pork.

Caesar Rodney
School Notes

School Gains Nursing Course

The Caesar Rodney Board of Education has appointed Mrs. Margaret E. C. Hairgrove to fill the position of half-time school nurse. Mrs. Hairgrove is the school cafeteria manager.

Mrs. Hairgrove will assist Mrs. Ann B. Cleaves who is the full-time school nurse. The vacancy has existed since last September when the enrollment passed the work load of one nurse. However, the position was not filled due to a lack of funds.

In order to reduce Mrs. Hairgrove's cafeteria duties the Board has appointed Mrs. Irene D. Kersey to be an additional assistant cafeteria manager. Mrs. Connie Cataldi, the present assistant manager, will continue in the same capacity.

The cafeteria committee will be in charge of menu planning.

Other phases of the cafeteria operation will continue to be directed by Mrs. Hairgrove.

Library Aides Attend Conference

Both the elected representatives and the alternates are on the school honor roll, and are leaders in extracurricular activities.

Broiler Project Successful

The Caesar Rodney Chapter of Future Farmers of America recently completed its annual project of raising and selling 500 broilers. Complete records were kept and later used for study in the agricultural classes. The birds were raised in the broiler house on the school grounds.

The future farmers were very pleased with this year's results. Out of 502 chicks started 499 were marketed with an average weight of 3.73 pounds each. Half the birds were sold at nine weeks of age and half at eleven weeks. Feed records showed a pound of gain for each 2.7 pounds of feed consumed.

All but a few birds were dressed and sold direct to consumers. The labor income for the project was $325.92.

The members of F.F.A. committee in charge of the project were: Richard Papen, John Barrett, William Robb, and Wallace Caulk, Jr.

The students who had special assignments of early morning and weekend feeding were: Benny Cataldi, Paul Cataldi, and John A. Townsend.

Horace E. Short is the instructor of Vocational Agriculture and the advisor of the F.F.A.

Once again, the most exacting gasoline jury in the world—the men who engineer America's great cars—has made Blue Sunoco its first choice over all other gasolines.

We recently invited a large group of automotive engineers to try New 1956 Blue Sunoco, boosted to a new high in octane, in their own cars and give us their reactions. The results, compiled by an independent, nationally-known firm of certified public accountants, make Blue Sunoco the favorite by an overwhelming margin.

43% already use Blue Sunoco. Of the 1,166 engineers who reported on '56 Blue Sunoco, 43% said they were already users of our gasoline. A far greater number than reported using all other premium gasolines combined!

Premium octane at regular price. Blue Sunoco is recommended for the newest high-compression cars when owners' manuals recommend a "premium". Yet Blue Sunoco sells at regular price, gives many more miles per dollar. Make your own 10-gallon test today.

Kent County Farm News

A group of growers of potatoes and other vegetables has formed Delaware Potato Growers, Incorporated as a means of creating more stability in their marketing program. It will also be possible for the first time for a standardized label and package to be offered by a group of farmers.

The new corporation officers are Edward Brown, Cheswood, president; Ernest Zimmerman, Dover, vice president; Jacob W. Zimmerman, secretary; and Daniel Hudson, Frederica, treasurer. Offices and loading facilities are to be established north of Dover.

Members of the group till about 2,000 acres of land, and may sell produce from additional acreage if required. Marketing has been one of the links in the chain of production neglected by farmers and this group expects to create more orderly marketing practices. The greater part of produce sold will be potatoes, which are harvested in late June and until early fall.

Federal inspection and grading will be made on all produce sold. Packaging, mostly in consumer size containers, will be done at the farm. The group hopes to develop a uniform label which will identify the potatoes as a Delaware crop. The principal varieties grown here are Cobblers for the early season market, and Katahdins for the later market.

Social Security News

The work of keeping current social security records on the Nation's 120-million social security account number holders is being shifted to an electronic brain, announced Myron Milbourn, district manager of the Delaware social security office, today. The use of the "brain" in the central offices of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in Baltimore, Mr. Milbourn pointed out, will speed up this gigantic record-keeping operation, and will save untold amounts of storage space.

The newly developed brain, which uses magnetic tape, capable of compressing records of great length into a matter of inches, or fractions of inches, was installed just last month in Baltimore headquarters, Milbourn said. But the conversion of the mountain of punch card earnings records to tape was begun late last August, and has been proceeding at the rate of 3 million cards a week. Beginning July 1, the brain will begin posting all of the 1955 earnings reported to the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance to individual social security accounts.

Between now and July, the versatile electronic computer will be working on another job—finding the correct social security account numbers for people whose earnings have been reported under a number which does not match with the name of the individual to whom the records show that number has been assigned. About 9 million incorrectly reported account numbers are received each year, and the cost of finding the correct numbers, either through a clerical check of records on hand, or through correspondence, is about 2-1/2 million dollars a year. Bureau technicians have devised a way of using the brain to locate the correct numbers in about 90 percent of these cases, and look forward to possible savings of as much as a million dollars a year.

Plans are now being developed to use the new "Thinking" machine to figure social security benefits, and to make statistical analysis.

Spring is in the air—and with it a renewed interest in clothes, fabrics, and sewing.

If you have been looking at the cotton fabrics on display in yard goods departments as well as in ready-made clothes, you have noticed many that boast: "little or no ironing," "crease resistance," "maximum shrinkage 1 per cent or 2 per cent," "permanent finish" and many other properties that are new to cotton.

These new, resin-type finishes are a boon to the homemaker, because they eliminate hours of extra work, but there are a few precautions you need to heed, too. Follow the directions, and never use a chlorine bleach on these permanent-finish cottons—it will turn them yellow! A hot iron will tend to do the same, so set your iron at the "synthetic" setting.

If you plan to sew with one of these new cottons, you will be wise to choose a pattern that is sleeveless or has kimono or raglan sleeves. These cottons just don't like to make nice-looking set-in sleeves.

Veterans News and Answers To Questions

Q.—I allowed my World War II GI permanent insurance policy to lapse two months ago. I plan to pay all my back premiums and reinstate it. Will I have to pay interest on the premiums?

A.—If you reinstate your permanent policy within three months after the date it lapsed, no interest will be charged. If you wait longer, you will be required to pay interest on back premiums.

Q.—I understand I am allowed one year to appeal my claim for disability compensation which VA disallowed. Are there any circumstances under which the one-year limit could be extended?

A.—No. The law allows only one year to appeal VA decisions. However, you may reopen your case thereafter by submitting new evidence in support of your claim for compensation.

Q.—I intend to apply for a GI business loan. There is no real estate involved. Would I be eligible for a 25-year loan?

A.—No. The law allows only real estate loans may be made for a maximum repayment period of 10 years. Within this maximum, the repayment period will have to be worked out between you and the lender.

Within that maximum, the repayment period will have to be worked out between you and the lender.

Q.—If a veteran runs out of entitlement while he's taking a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill, are there any provisions for extending his entitlement to the end of the course?

A.—If he has completed more than half the course he has enrolled in, his GI training may be extended to the end of the particular course unit or for nine weeks—whichever is less.

BROILERS ARE BIG BUSINESS

Farmers produced well over a billion broilers in 1955, compared with only 143 million in 1940. Their value was over 10 times the $72,000,000 grossed by the 1940 broiler producers.

It used to be that chickens for eating were produced for the most part in fairly small farm flocks, mainly as a byproduct from egg production. But in the past decade and a half, broilers have become a mass production business. Wade Rice, University of Maryland extension poultryman suggests that much of this change has been due to contract financing.

A small (by today's standards) sideline flock of 3,000 to 5,000 broilers requires about $2,000 to $3,000 of working capital, on the average, according to Rice. A flock of 12,000 to 15,000 birds, which could take the full time of one man, requires about $7,000 capital before the birds are fully grown. It takes about 9 to 11 weeks to raise a flock of broilers to market size, and financial risks are greater than in most farm businesses.

For this reason, contract financing has become a rather familiar pattern in the 22 important broiler States, Rice reports. Under the contract system, someone other than the farmer may provide chicks, feed, medications, even buildings and equipment. The farmer provides his labor and management ability, and possibly, his buildings and equipment.

When the broilers are sold, profits are divided in a proportion agreed upon in the contract—frequently about 25 per cent to the investor and 75 per cent to the farmer.

Other financing plans provide for the investor to pay the farmer so much per week for brooding the chickens, regardless of the price of poultry meat, or so much per pound for broiler meat produced. Under either type plan, bonuses may be provided for better-than-average efficiency.

Many broiler producers have found that contract financing provides a chance of income at small risk and a way to use family labor. It also may train the

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new—just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms—it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New

Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-proved grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new—the fender ports are new—the sweepers are new—and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours.

But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflo* is New

It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration"—which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New

To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New

All 1956 Buicks have new 322-cubic-inch V8's—with record highs in power and compression—with unique new double "Y" manifold to step up efficiency—with new carburetor "deicing"

—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New

And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet—by a wide measure—and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

FISHING IN DELAWARE

Delaware's fresh water trout season opened very successfully Saturday. Although streams were crowded with fishermen, there was no scarcity of fish. Many had their limit of four by seven o'clock in the morning. The brooks and browns caught were, for the most part, in the 10 to 12 inch size range. The catch actually ranged from 8 to 16 inches.

As usual most of the early fishermen were using the old favorite garden hackle (fishing worms) for bait. However, those using artificials were having lots of luck.

Water conditions on White Clay Creek, the stream in which most of the trout were stocked, were excellent for the weekend. The slight rain on Sunday didn't discourage many as the fishing pressure continued heavy on that day.

From early observations it would appear that a large percentage of stocked fish were removed the first weekend. However, there will still be some brooks and plenty of the more wary, harder-to-catch browns, waiting for fishermen this week and next weekend. Additional stocking during the season will insure a continued supply of fish available to the trout fishermen.

Actual counts of fishermen showed that at one time early Saturday morning there were more than 250 on about three miles of White Clay Creek. This count included a good number of children and several women, who were sharing in this sport and were having pretty good success.

The Board of Game and Fish Commission will hold a public hearing in Legislative Hall, Dover, April 30, at 8 o'clock. Suggested changes in fish and game regulations will be discussed.

JURY INDICATES TWO IN CRASH

The Kent County Grand Jury Monday returned manslaughter indictments against the operators of two automobiles involved in fatal accidents in March. Six other true bills were handed up by the jurors.

Stuart Pinkham, 30, of Memphis, Tenn., driver of a car carrying four other members of a hillbilly band to New York for a television appearance, was indicted in the death of Thomas L. Phillips, 44, Felton poultry farmer.

The accident occurred last March 22 when Pinkham's car ran into the back of Phillips' truck on Route 13 about a mile north of Woodside. Members of the band who were injured included Pinkham; Carl Perkins, 23, the leader; James Perkins, 25; Lloyd Perkins, 21, and W. S. Holland, 20. All except Pinkham are from Jackson, Tenn. The band had been heard over Red Foley's "Ozark Jubilee" radio and television program.

James Perkins was released from the Delaware Hospital on Saturday. His brother, Carl, the only other person hospitalized, was released several weeks ago.

The other manslaughter indictment was returned against Vincent E. Bassett, 36, of Frederica driver of a car which struck the rear of a trailer on U. S. 13 about a mile north of Felton on March 20. Calvin S. Fowler, 28, of Bowers Beach, a passenger in Bassett's car, was fatally injured.

According to state police following their investigation, Bassett was "racing" another car and hit the trailer attached to a jeep operated by Edgar Wil- lin.

Six other true bills handed up by the grand jury included separate indictments against Stephen Hari, Minquale, and Marvin Richard Fletcher and Thomas Farrett Church, Wilmington, charged with larceny of $800 from William M. Robinson, operator of the Rainbow Inn, Little Heaven, North Frederica.

Theodore R. Gibbs, Dover, charged in one indictment with breaking and entering the Dover High School on Feb. 23, and in a second indictment charged with breaking and entering the South Dover Elementary School on the same night.

Thurmond J. Boggs, charged with larceny of a large quality of wearing apparel from Milford, on April 7.

Hari, Fletcher, and Church were riding together when they stopped outside a restaurant at Lynch Heights, saw a box on the seat of a truck in which Robinson had driven to the restaurant, and stole it finding, in addition to some groceries, $800 in cash and a number of checks, according to allegations. Hari is under bail on the charge while the other two men are in Broadmeadows Prison, Pa., in connection with an alleged to have broken in Ford, Pa.

Gibbs and Sylvester Atkins, 18, are alleged to have broken into the two schools. Atkins recently pleaded guilty in Superior Court and was given a three-year suspended sentence.

A BY-PASS IS NEEDED

We mentioned last week, at the suggestion of a citizen, the feasibility and advantages of a by-pass for Delaware 14, going from Fenwick Island to Burrsville via Harrington.

It was mentioned that the by-pass could go from Vernon Road thru Reese Avenue, with an overhead bridge over the railroad tracks, and thence to U. S. 13.

Other citizens have commented favorably on the project. Advantages are numerous. Commerce Street is narrow, in the business district, and traffic is often held up while trucks unload. Furthermore, it would be better if the seashore and truck traffic were routed around the town.

There will come a time, no doubt, when there will be a dual highway from Dover to Rehoboth, emanating from western points, will want to come thru Harrington to hit the dual at Milford. As it is now, some of this traffic goes thru Bridgeville and Georgetown.

Since the railroad has torn up one of its track, the crossings are tied up more times. A by-pass would lessen this annoyance.

Persons in residential districts, such as Clark and Commerce Streets, favor the by-pass. The trucks awaken us at night, damage the roads, and the vibration causes cracks in the houses, said one resident.

RAILROAD SERVICE CURTAILED

The next move now is to see the Highway Department.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced it will suspend operations of the "Cavalier," the only night train making a round trip down the Delmarva Peninsula.

This move will leave the Peninsula with a single passenger train a day each way.

Apparently, the railroad was able to persuade the public service commissions of Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia that the move to eliminate the night trains was all right.

It now means that when we go to New York, we will leave on a train in the late afternoon. When we return on Sunday, we will stop in Wilmington and pick up a bus. Or we can drive to Wilmington, pay $3 to leave our car on a parking lot. However, we had rather ride on the train than drive a car.

The elimination of passenger service on the Peninsula is bad. The railroad says it was done because of unprofitable traffic. One thing we noticed was that the railroad made no attempt to woo passenger traffic.

Several years ago it tried out the Budd diesel-electric car on this road. This car, run by a crew of two, would hold 90 passengers. Evidently, the Pennsy liked the Budd for it purchased it for use on other lines. But it was not given a try here.

The elimination of passenger trains does not help the Peninsula in its attempt to woo industry. The boys from the city don't like to "live in the sticks."

The presence of a railroad or electric line has always given a more or less, metropolitan air to a community.

If the railroad makes an attempt to eliminate the day passenger trains, we will fight it tooth and nail and will attempt to get the rest of the Peninsula behind us. For its privilege of operating its freight trains, the railroads should give passenger service. Whether or not it is profitable is besides the point. Many businesses have departments which are unprofitable and will always be unprofitable, but they are continued for public service. Newspapers, for example are always sold below cost of production.

March Auto Accidents Show Marked Increase

There were 47 more accidents on Delaware highways, involving damages in excess of $100, during March of this year than in the same month of last year, according to a report of the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department.

This report disclosed that there were a total of 594 of these accidents during the month of March as compared with 547 for March of last year and 491 for March of 1954.

Wilmington and New Castle had 463 of the accidents taking place during March, an increase of 63 over March of last year and 117 more than took place during March of 1954.

Kent County had 76 of the accidents, an increase of seven over March of last year and three more than took place during March of 1954.

Sussex County had 55 of the accidents, the lowest number of these accidents to take place in that county during the month of March in three years. The record for March of last year was 78, while in March of 1954 the number was 72.

Of the drivers involved in these accidents during March of this year, 190 were from out of the State and 164 had no insurance. There were a total of 143 persons injured in these accidents.

Damage resulting from these accidents in March of this year totaled $206,785.00 as compared with $202,930.00 for March of last year and $192,375.00 for March of 1954.

SHADY TREES MAY CAUSE LAWN TROUBLE

Shaded areas under trees fre-homeowners who like to maintain a well-kept lawn. Here are some suggestions from Carl Johnson, University of Maryland landscape specialist for improving the turf in these shaded spots.

The principal causes of poor grass under trees, explains Johnson, are competition from tree roots for moisture and plant food, the shading effect of the tree foliage, and smothering by fallen leaves.

Competition for moisture and plant food can be overcome by watering sufficiently to soak the soil a depth of several inches during dry periods and by fertilizing. A heavier-than-usual application of fertilizer beneath the tree will take care of the tree's needs as well as the grass.

Use of shade-tolerant species of grass will overcome the shading effects. Red top, Chewings Fescue and trivialis bluegrass are three grasses that will tolerate shade, Johnson said.

Prompt raking and removal of fallen leaves is important to avoid smothering grass. Wherever possible, grass should be forced in to rapid growth during the period when the leaves are off the trees in order to establish a strong turf before the area becomes shaded. This can be done by fertilizing and watering as necessary in the early spring and fall.

DELAWARE BANKERS AND FARM LEADERS SCHEDULE RURAL PLANNING TALKS

More than 200 Delaware legislators, planning officials, bankers and farm leaders are expected to attend a rural and urban planning conference to be held at the University of Delaware on May 3, according to Dr. Robert Bausman, member of the program committee and chairman of the University's department of agricultural economics.

Jointly sponsored by the School of Agriculture and the Delaware Bankers' Association, the day-long meeting will be held in the auditorium of Agricultural Hall. One of the topics to be discussed is whether to reserve certain areas of the state for farming only. This has already been done in some counties of the United States, Bausman reports.

Banking leaders on the program include Gilbert B. Moyer, of Wilmington, president of the Delaware Bankers' Association; Warren C. Newton, Director, the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia; and Bayard V. Carmean, of Laurel, chairman of the agricultural committee of the state bankers association. Visiting speakers include Erling D. Solberg, zoning and land planning specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Samuel E. Stout, Indiana farmer who is chairman of the Henry County, Indiana, Planning Commission.

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, will preside over a group of speakers at the morning session who will discuss what rural and urban planning could mean to Delaware. Dr. George M. Worrlow, dean of the School of Agriculture will preside over the afternoon session.

The conference is part of a held at the University each year to highlight the latest developments in agriculture of particular interest to Delaware farmers and city people.

STATE BEEKEEPERS MEET AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Delaware beekeepers, both hobbyists and those who earn a living at it, will join forces again for the 15th annual meeting of the Delaware State Beekeepers Association, Saturday afternoon, May 5 in Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware.

Owning and operating some 3000 hives in which some 150-million bees produce 90,000 pounds of honey a year for Delaware and nearby consumption, those among the state's 175 registered beekeepers who attend will hear 14 speakers from Delaware and Maryland report on latest developments in crop pollination and honey production and marketing.

Programs have been sent out to a number of Boy Scout leaders in Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey, and to 4-H clubs as well, says Dr. L. A. Stearns, of Newark, president of the state association. In past years, many Boy Scouts and 4-H club leaders have attended the meetings, he explained.

Among the speakers for the meeting are Jesse Harmon of Hockessin who will tell how to improve bee pasturage, and Edwin deF. Taylor of Wilmington who will describe problems in moving bees. Lloyd Shearman of Glen Arm, Md., will tell how he packages and sells the honey from his 800 hives and George Abrams, bee specialist for the University of Maryland, will report on some of the fine points in beekeeping as hobby.

With funds raised by the Life Extension Club which sold 130 "bed bonds" at $1,000 each, in Tokyo, a 200-bed hospital for the aged is being built there.

The fact that the forthcoming Dictionary of Irish Biography is to be printed in English has been the subject of criticism by Gaelic bodies, Dublin reports.

Did you know that electric fences save you up to 80% in material and labor costs over conventional fencing?

Easy to move from one place to another, here are a few ways to put a controller to work: To move stock about if strip cropping is practiced; to move stock from one pasture area to another—controlled grazing; to keep stock from eroded areas during replanting; separate larger stock from smaller stock; to fill gaps in broken, conventional fencing until it is repaired. There are many other uses.

There are three types of controllers: The battery type which uses the regular 6-volt dry cell; the electric plug-in type that attaches to your regular source of 110-120 volts; and the combination that works from either batteries or your electric line.

PASSENGER CARS ACCOUNT FOR TRAFFIC INCREASE

Passenger cars accounted for an 11.8 per cent increase in March traffic over Delaware Memorial Bridge according to the monthly report submitted to the Delaware Interstate Highway Division by Frank J. Horty, General Manager.

Sometime during the night or early morning of March 30-31, the seventh millionth vehicle crossed the span during the current fiscal year, and there is every indication now that the total from June 1, 1955, through May 31, will exceed 8,500,000 vehicles for a new record, Horty declared. The 1954-1955 total was 7,673,029.

Total traffic increase for the month over the previous March was 66,396. Of that number, passenger cars and commuter passengers accounted for 65,491 trips. Daily average crossings were set at 20,358. Truck business remained firm, with just light drops in two and three axle business. The March traffic total was 631,090 vehicles.

The current total for ten months' operations is 7,032,103 crossings as compared to 6,479,184 in the previous report for the same period. This brings the average increase for the ten months to 8.3 per cent over fiscal 1954-55.

Mr. Horty said that April and May business is always very heavy, and there is every indication to believe that at least a 10 per cent increase will prevail from now to May 31. If that occurs, based on last year's April and May figures, approximately 1,600,000 more vehicles may be expected. Should that happen the 8,500,000 for the fiscal year is more than assured.

With more workers using the span daily, commuter trips jumped from 70,484 in 1955 to 92,326 in March, Mr. Horty pointed out. There was also a significant sign of 4.4 per cent in 4-axle vehicles, which were upped from 68,553 to 71,600. Two ton and three axle truck business was off 5.7 and 3.8 per cent respectively, the report shows.

GOVERNOR BOGGS INSPECTS HIGHWAY FACILITIES

Governor J. Caleb Boggs will personally inspect some of Delaware's highway facilities on Wednesday, April 25, during the state's first Highway Week, it was announced this week.

All of the facilities of the Highway Department will be open for inspection in all three counties, along with Delaware Memorial Bridge which is under the supervision of the Delaware Interstate Highway Division.

Governor Boggs plans to visit the bridge and then to proceed to State Police headquarters north of State Road where he will visit Col. Harry S. Shew, superintendent. He expects to make other stops enroute to his office in Dover.

All branches of the Highway Department have promised cooperation and will welcome those interested to see how the organization functions. This includes at the old ferry building east of the New Castle County Division at the old ferry building, New Castle; the Motor Vehicle Branch and testing lanes, Seventh Street and Bancroft Parkway, Wilmington.

Also, State Highway Department administration building and Motor Vehicle headquarters, Dover; Kent County Division, South State Street; and the Sussex County division, headquarters in Georgetown.

All state police stations will also welcome visitors, Highway Week officials pointed out. These stations are located at Penny Hill, north of Wilmington; State Road, south of Wilmington; Dover; Georgetown and Bridgeville.

At Delaware Memorial Bridge all maintenance equipment will be lined up for inspection and the Administration, Maintenance equipment will be lined up for inspection and the Administration, Maintenance and Information Center buildings will be visited. It is expected that when a group of people collect, the U. S. Steel Company's film, "The Suspension Bridge" will be shown. The film shows many construction phases of the Delaware Memorial Span.
