CAESAR RODNEY SCHOOL NOTES

High School Amateur Show Held
The annual Student Council High School Amateur show was recently held during the noon period at Caesar Rodney School. Sandra Betts was chairman of the show committee.

In grades nine through twelve, first prize was won by a vocal trio: Nancy Hart, Rose Ann Ross, and Gloria Duks. Second place was won by a Barber Shop quartet: June Voshell, Helen Poore, Jennings Anderson, and James Roscoe.

There was a tie for third place between Susie Fritz with a dance number and Frances Hertz who sang a solo.

In grades seven and eight first place was won by Jean Calloway and Mary Parker with a dance number. Second place was awarded to Wayne Curry with an accordion solo.

The faculty judges were: Mrs. Elizabeth D. Woodrow, Miss Barbara Jean Kelly, and Thomas Shaffer.

Eighth Grade Parent Conferences Scheduled May 9 and 10

The parents of eighth grade girls at Caesar Rodney School have been invited to come to school on Wednesday, May 9, to talk about high school courses with faculty members. On Thursday, May 10, the boys parents are invited to attend a similar conference period when instructors in courses of special interest to boys will be available.

The conference periods are informal in nature and will be between the hours of 7:30 and 10:00 each evening.

When students reach the ninth grade they choose the subjects they study in addition to English. It is at this stage that the last four years of high school should be planned. In preparation for this decision eighth grade students have spent one semester in a vocational guidance class studying educational and vocational opportunities as well as analyzing their own interests and aptitudes.

The program is being arranged by the Guidance Department of the school.

C. OF C. TO ASK COUNCIL FOR MORE LAW ENFORCEMENT

The Chamber of Commerce, in a special meeting in The First National Bank Building Monday night, agreed that law enforcement in the community was inadequate because the police force was too small, and appointed a committee to appear before the City Council at its May meeting Monday.

President Charles Peck, Jr., appointed the following to present the case: Legislative committee—Ernest Killen, W. W. Shaw, Mr. Peck, J. Edward Taylor, William Taylor, and Walter Messick; the Chamber's officers which include, besides President Peck, Clarence Collins, vice-president; Arnold Gilstad, treasurer, and C. H. Burgess, secretary; and Kenneth Aiken.

The Chamber also made the following recommendations for the committee to present before the Council:

1. Ask Constable Clarence Dyer if he would work part-time for the City.

2. Suggest adequate pay to keep police force.

3. Publicize the advantages to be derived from the radio recently installed in the police car. A feature is that the public, if it cannot contact the police by telephone, can call the state police, at Bridgeville 600. The state police will then radio the local police. The public can also get Chief of Police George Hughes at Harrington 3167 when he is not on duty.

4. Suggest that City Manager William Smith write the civic clubs, telling them of the features in Item 3.

5. Suggest that the Council ask the public to take the license numbers of the cars of offending drivers and turn them in to the police.

6. Police protection for Sunday afternoon and evening.

7. Get civilians to work on extra duty.

This week the City appointed a probationary patrolman, a Mr. Bunting, of Milford. Heretofore, the force has consisted only of the chief of police since the resignation of Patrolman Walter Voss. A few years back the force had three men.

Members of the Chamber complained particularly of traffic violations and drunks. Several persons mentioned that on Sun., April 22, numerous torpedoes were discharged from cars throughout the city. It was also mentioned that reckless drivers of cars were particularly noticeable Sunday afternoons.

It was brought out that a speaker of recently enacted wage and hour legislation would speak to the public at Harrington High School the evening of May 15.

The Chamber's May meeting will be held the 14th.

Lions to Buy Additional Hospital Equipment

The officers and directors of the Harrington Lions Club at a special meeting Monday night voted to purchase two additional hospital beds and another wheelchair for use in the community. At present, there are four hospital beds and two wheelchairs in use and a greater need has been shown in recent weeks than before. It was further decided that all beds and wheelchairs were to be issued by the hospital bed committee of Howard Dill and Arnold Gilstad.

There is no cost for the use of a hospital bed except for the purchase of a mattress cover.

The Lions Club is to sponsor an entry in the Little League. This is under the leadership of Wm. W. Shaw.

It was felt that all civic organizations should have a part in paying for repairs on the aircraft spotting station and a check for $12 was ordered sent to Samuel Short, Jr., head of the local unit.

Many of the younger children have missed Kiddie's Day at Wheeler's Park in July. A canvas will be made of all local civic organizations to see if they are willing to help put this worthwhile project across. Let's see some happy faces again this year.

Teachers' Pay Hike Studies in Caroline

The Caroline County commissioners have deferred action on the request to increase teacher's annual salaries of $200 until Tuesday.

If granted, this request would raise the budget for schools $33,000. The tax rate is now $1.60.

An all-Arab firm has been formed in Cairo to develop potash deposits in the Dead Sea.

Sportsmen Meet With Game & Fish Commission

Over 100 Delaware Sportsmen expressed their views at the Fourth Annual public hearing held by the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, Monday evening in Dover.

A two-day shot-gun and six-day bow and arrow deer season were proposed by the Commission and received considerable discussion. It was pointed out by E. B. Chamberlain, Research Biologist for the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, that Delaware is maintaining a very healthy deer herd which appears to be unusually stable in size. Kill data collected at deer checking stations indicate the herds' reproduction potential is two fawns per doe, of which about 1.4 survive to the hunting season. It was brought out that shot-out areas are inevitable in our heavily populated state.

Fresh-water fishing regulations which are being considered by the Commission were enumerated by Rodney M. Layton, President of the Board and Chairman of the meeting:

a) The stason on largemouth bass open the 2nd Saturday of May.

b) The daily creel limit on pickerel (pike) be removed.

c) The hours for the legal taking of brook, rainbow and brown trout in Delaware be one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset during the trout season.

The suggested changes in fishing regulations were favorably accepted. Jay Harmic, Fisheries Biologist for the Commission, pointed out that Delaware fishermen were losing a lot of good fishing in our ponds and lakes because of unnecessary regulations.

Chairman Rodney Layton expressed the Commission's attitude toward the non-resident fishing license requirement in the tidal waters of the Indian River Bay and River and the Rehoboth Bay. Only the General Assembly is empowered to regulate salt water fishing. Present law requires that all nonresidents have a license except when fishing in the Delaware River, Delaware Bay, Atlantic Ocean and Indian River Inlet. Mr. Layton stated that the Commission has informed Chief Warden Hearn that out of state salt water fishermen will be expected to purchase a non-resident fishing license as prescribed by law enacted by the General Assembly, and that non-resident fishermen without such a license will be arrested when apprehended by game wardens.

Delaware representatives who are attending the Atlantic Waterfowl Council meeting in Baltimore May 2nd and 3rd were instructed to request the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to consider a migratory waterfowl season for Delaware this fall of 70 consecutive shooting days beginning November 2nd.

Fishermen using gill nets are starting to bring in a few trout, flounder and shad from the Delaware Bay. There is fair fishing at Big Stone Beach south of Milford.

According to the aerial waterfowl inventory completed last Friday (4/27/56) total waterfowl population is near the all-time high (for as far back as there are accurate records) for the month of April. The total count was 8,998, of which 5,129 were geese (including four blue geese) making up 57% of the total waterfowl population. The large number of geese present only serves to point up the tremendous increase in Delaware's wintering goose population. A further point of interest in connection with geese is that two broods hatched at Silver Lake, Rehoboth, last week.

Two Injured In Local Crash
Two men were injured and a load of vegetables practically destroyed in a three-vehicle collision Monday on Route 13, south of Harrington.

The injured, Harry Morris, 59, driver of one of the cars, and a passenger, Raymond C. Harrison, 71, both of Harrington, were treated by Dr. Hewitt W. Smith of Harrington. Morris suffered lacerations of the scalp and Harrison lacerations of the right arm and right shoulder.

State troopers said Morris was coming from the Harrington Fair Grounds when his car was involved in a collision with a truck operated by James Wilkerson of Bishopville, Md., traveling north on Route 13.

They said apparently the brakes of the truck failed to hold and in trying to avoid colliding with Morris' car overturned just as another automobile, going south, and operated by Carlton Goslin, passed.

The load of vegetables on the truck was dumped on the road. Damage to the vehicles was considerable. Police arrested Wilkerson for operating a motor vehicle with improper brakes.

SCHOOL BOARD CONSIDERS HIGHER TAX RATE

The Harrington Special School District Board of Education met on April 24, to determine needs and adjust the tax rate for 1956.

Comparisons made with other districts as to salary and teacher responsibility for extra-curricular activities indicate the needs. The need for additional teaching and teachers not permitted by the recent legislative program of appropriations was discussed and will be partially remedied. The athletic program also is partially dependent on local monies.

A motion was made and unanimously approved to raise the Capitation Tax $3.00, making the total Capitation Tax $7.00, and to raise the real estate tax five cents (.05), making the total real estate tax fifty-five cents (.55).

The present number of polls, 2949, would augment the poll tax income $8847 and the additional .05 on $6,043,824.87 assessment totals $3,191.24, or an increase from both sources of $12,038.24. Allowing a 10% deduction for delinquents and 2c for tax collection equals $12,038.24 less $1,444.59 or $10,593.65 net revenue would be available.

The commitments against the same follows: A possible faculty numbering 43 with increments of $150 allowed will be $6,450, supplements for additional coaching in athletics and other extra-curricular activities, $1,500 or a total of $7,950.

Subtracting $7,950 from $10,593.65 leaves $2,643.65 for unforeseen emergencies that would have been covered if a delayed repairs bill had been passed or as a supplement toward an additional teacher should our pupil distribution make the same necessary.

Eric Coady Heads Teen-Age Traffic Safety Association
Eric James Coady, 17, a junior at the Harrington High School, has been named president of the Delaware Teen-Age Traffic Safety Association; it was announced this week by Tim Crowe, chairman of the adult planning committee.

Coady, the association's vice president for Kent County, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Coady of near Harrington. He succeeds Charles R. David of the Dover High School, who resigned recently due to the pressure of family and school responsibilities. The new president is a member of the Harrington High School student council and the varsity basketball squad. He was a delegate last month to Boys' State in Dover, and is a member of the Marine Corps Reserve.

Careful Planting
 One Key to Better Returns

Slow that corn planter down if you want a better stand and high yield of corn warns Charles P. Ellington, University of Maryland extension agronomist.

The same thing applies to planting soybeans, and every year, Ellington says many farmers get poor stands or low yields of corn and soybeans because of speed and strabon program.

Other reasons are fertilizer damage, planting too deep or too shallow, planting too early and worn machinery.

The agronomist suggests the following steps for producing better corn and soybean crops.

1. Wait until the ground is warm before planting.
2. Prepare a deep, loose seedbed. Do not overwork it.
3. If weeds are a problem, plow early, allow the weeds to develop, then harrow the land before planting the corn or soybean seeds. Harrowing is a sure way of killing a young crop of weeds.
4. Select the correct planter plates and adjust the planter for the proper seeding rate. Ellington recommends the following rates for corn: For land that normally yields 50-70 bushels per acre he suggests 12,000 plants per acre. This is obtained by planting seeds 11.5 inches apart in 38 inch rows and 10.5 inches apart in 42 inch rows. For yields of 70-90 bushels per acre (14,000 plants suggested) place seeds 10 inches or 9 inches apart in 38 and 42 inch rows respectively.

For Soybeans, Ellington says approximately 10 viable seeds per foot or row should be planted. This will vary with the maturity of the planted variety and row width. He suggests the following: 75 pounds of beans for 21 to 24 inch rows, 60 pounds of beans for 30 to 36 inch rows and 45 pounds of beans for 40 to 42 inch rows.

5. Adjust the planter for the proper fertilizer rate. Applying by planter should receive first priority on any fertilizer used. But, he says, avoid too much fertilizer at planting and never allow the fertilizer and seed to be in direct contact. Some new planters place the fertilizer below and to the side of the seed and work well when the machine is in good operating condition and run at a reasonable speed. With these new type planters, 300 pounds of fertilizer may be applied without serious damage to the young plants. However, Ellington says this will not normally meet the fertility needs of the crops. So some fertilizer may have been plowed under or disked in before planting. Side-dressing later is another method of meeting these needs.

6. Seed depth is important; plant corn one and a half to two inches deep and soybeans one-half to one and a half inches deep depending on soil type and planting date.

Make frequent checks to see that seed spacing is proper, fertilizer is not too close to the seed and the planting depth is correct and uniform.

One company has spent $56,000,000 trying to find oil in Papua during the last 20 years, but still is not confident that oil ever will be developed there, Sydney, Australia, reports.

The Philippine Government has employed Stanford Research Institute, California, to make a survey of its domestic transportation facilities, Manila learns.

Livestock Thrive On Coolness

Keeping livestock cool in summer is sometimes more important than keeping them warm in winter, says Harry Garver, farm building specialist from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He foresees a trend in farm buildings towards making sure of this summer comfort for livestock and poultry—and forgetting so much about winter protection except for very young livestock and poultry.

Dairy cows, he points out, can stand fairly cold weather without dropping production. But house them at temperatures of more than 75 to 80 degrees and they slow down. At 105 degrees, neither Jersey or a Holstein cow has much of an appetite or produces much milk. But, you can get down to a 25-degree temperature before Jersey production stops. For a well-fed Holstein, even a 5-degree above zero temperature doesn't slow down production too much, says Garver.

As for hens, they produce the most eggs at temperatures around 55 degrees and when the relative humidity is about 70 degrees. Temperatures from 40 to 70 degrees are generally satisfactory. But at 95 degrees, they just about stop laying eggs.

So Garver says that farm building designers are tending to 'open up' livestock shelters for summer use . . . are making more use of fans and evaporation cooling—even using some refrigeration-type equipment.

Open, low-cost shelters of pole-type construction also are less expensive than some of our more Garver thinks. And they can be changed easier to meet different farming conditions. Plans and help with designs can be obtained from the county agent, George K. Vappa, by calling Dver 2621.

Church Services
 To Commemorate Soil Conservation

Soil Stewardship Week is being observed locally and nationally starting with special church services on Sunday, May 6th. Mr. Lyndon Caulk, chairman of the Kent County Soil Conservation District, in a letter to ministers says that: "We will be grateful if churches of all faiths will join with us in placing emphasis upon man's sacred obligation to be a faithful steward of God's soil. A growing number of American farmers are discovering, by their efforts to conserve and husband the land, a new awareness of a responsibility to God."

The former chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, Mr. Hugh Bennett, who has talked several times to Dover service clubs, observes: "Down through the centuries man has upset the natural balance of birth, death, and rebirth of the soil with his sharpened sticks, axes, plows, and fire, not with intention to damage the land, but to produce essential food and raiment for himself. Unwittingly he set in motion the process of erosion, which has damaged or ruined millions of acres of the Lord's land."

He continues: "Our farmers are moving steadily toward the kind of soil stewardship which provides security for land and people, better understanding and cooperation, and deeper appreciation of man's relation to his Creator. They are finding rich new values with profound influence on world understanding."

Locally, the biggest conservation problems seem to deal with land drainage. Much of our land remains or is returning to wetland conditions, which do not contribute to a healthy farm economy. The state legislature and the levy court recognize the importance of drainage through the tax ditch programs, and provide help for drainage work. Landowners by law can now organize into community ditch companies, vote to borrow money on the strength of future taxes as security, and construct "tax ditches" which tend to benefit the whole area. Once the water can be taken off the land, then farmers are able to go along with other conservation measures such as grassland farming, tree planting, or other measures which tend to fit the land for its best use. Farmers today are building up—or "banking" soil fertility even as they maintain good crop yields.

Members of civic organizations are reminded that speakers, films, exhibits and a wealth of material is available for the use of organized groups in Kent County. Simply contact Fred Mott, conservationist at the local Soil Conservation Service office in Dover, or the county conventional type of buildings, agent for details.

Reflective Tape
 On Farm Machinery

"If there's a chance you'll be driving or towing equipment on the highway after dark, be sure it is adequately lighted at the rear," advised Wilson A. Heaps, chairman of the Maryland Farm Safety Committee.

Heaps says farmers should equip unlighted farm machines with reflective materials to supplement regular lighting provided by equipment manufacturers. Many serious and sometimes fatal, accidents occur when fast-moving trucks or automobiles crash into the rear of slow-moving tractors or towed equipment. In these accidents, the unprotected driver of the tractor almost invariably is seriously injured or killed. The automobile or truck driver does not often escape injury either. Reflective materials on the rear of the equipment can prevent these unnecessary tragedies, he says.

The Farm Division of the National Safety Council is promoting a reflective lighting program aimed at equipping with reflective materials unlighted equipment now on farms. The "Lite-Farm-Equipment" safety project is sponsored by state farm safety committees with the cooperation of 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters and other rural youth groups. Farmers are urged to cooperate with state farm safety committees and the youth organizations in this campaign to promote rural highway safety throughout the country.

Social Security Notes

It is good business to check your social security account at least every three or four years, Myron Milbouer, manager of the Delaware Social Security district office, reminds all persons covered by the social security law. By checking your account, you can be sure that all your earnings that count toward old-age and survivors insurance were reported and credited correctly. If you find that all wages or self-employment income that can be are not credited, you should then notify the local social security district office and the necessary action will be taken to correct your account.

Since all survivors and retirement benefits are based on your covered earnings, it is important that all wages and self-employment income are correctly credited through the years.

Mr. Milbouer pointed out, that the earnings statements for the year 1955 are not available at this time since the posting of wages is not completed until six or nine months after the wages were paid. Therefore, a record of wages paid through the last week in December 1955 will not be available before July 1956.

Mr. Milbouer stated that the local social security office, located at 813 West Street, has available a postcard form for those who wish to obtain a record of past earnings credited to their social security account.

Merrymakers Organized in '47

The regular meeting of the Merrymakers Home Demonstration Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Greenhaugh on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Tina Taylor will be co-hostess.

The topic of the evening will be "A More Attractive Table". The Merrymakers Home Demonstration Club in observance of National Home Demonstration Club Week, together with the Harrington Club, the Country Lane Club and the Houston Club, attended Asbury Church Sunday night.

The Merrymakers were organized September 1947 with the first meeting being held in the First National Bank Building. Officers were elected at the next meeting, and the meeting date of the second Wednesday in each month was selected, with meetings to be held in the various members' homes. There are now 25 members.

The club is an active one and takes advantage of all the opportunities — offered at the leader training schools by sending leaders to these schools. Through this the members have learned to make useful and decorative things. Among these was "Floral Arrangements" which helped the club win prizes at the Harrington Fair for five consecutive years.

The club also joins in contributions to several fund drives, among them, March of Dimes, Pennies for Friendship and the Cancer Drive.

Delaware Food Market Report

Succulent beef steaks of the highest quality are available in May. In the spring abundant supplies of beef arrive on the markets from cattle that have been fed longer to produce beef at its best. Intermingling of fat and lean, called marbling, and a firm fat covering around the edges of beef cuts are signs of high quality that are common now. Look for them especially when selecting steaks in order to enjoy good flavor and tenderness in the cooked meat.
 To get maximum satisfaction from a purchase of beef steak, it is important to handle and cook it properly. Broil one and two-inch steaks and panbroil thinner ones. To broil, slash the fat edges at one-inch intervals, then place the meat on a rack under the broiler. One-inch steaks should be two or three inches below the source of heat and thicker steaks should be three to five inches below the heat. Broil one side to the preferred doneness, season, turn and broil the other side. Season the second side as soon as the steak is removed. Serve immediately, before the steak has lost its sizzle. Adventurous cooks can take advantage of warmer weather for outdoor cooking of steaks to give them extra appetite appeal. To broil over glowing coals, place steaks one to two feet above a six-inch bed of coals and allow 20 to 40 minutes, depending on thickness, for cooking them to medium rare. It's easy to build an enviable reputation by the steaks you cook.

 The sirloin T-bone, club and porterhouse steaks featured in many local stores all are good choices. Round steaks are more economical but require slower cooking. Roasts of beef, all fine for entertaining, are favorably priced. Ground beef and frankfurters both provide many money-saving dishes both indoors and out.
 Pork likewise is fairly low in price this week, although last week's wholesale price rises of 5c to 8c per pound on loins are now reflected at the retail level on pork chops and loin roasts.
 Canned cherries remain an excellent value, resulting from processors being overstocked from last year's abundant pack. You'll discover many exciting new dishes by using these red tart cherries often. Try some of the cherry pie variations given in most cook books, cobblers, tarts, dumplings, puddings and use them in salads.
 New fruits and vegetables are appearing in local stores. Mexican cantaloupes are fairly high in price and still variable in quality. Strawberries are more plentiful but still only moderately priced. Even a few watermelons, priced in the luxury food class, are being offered. Better news is that New Jersey asparagus is available this week at somewhat lower prices than have prevailed for the California crop.
 The week's best buys in fresh fruits and vegetables include: leafy greens, beets, apples, onions, eggplant, endive, rhubarb, citrus fruit and potatoes.

 Other good values are found on canned grapefruit juice, rice, eggs, dried peas and beans, and frying chickens.

GRUB-PROOFING LAWNS NOW CAN END DAMAGE BY MOLES

With reports of lawn damage from moles being reported from many residential developments during the past month, Dr. L. A. Stearns and J. W. Heuberger of the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware are advising home-owners to grub-proof their lawns so that the moles will move elsewhere.

Writing in the current edition of "Late News" their newsletter about insects and diseases which is mailed to farmers and gardeners throughout the state every week or two during the growing season, they point out that moles feed in insects primarily and that if you destroy the soil and turf-infesting insects, the moles will probably look for greener pastures.

Although the fall season is the best for treating lawns with insect killing chemicals, Stearns says that the mole-damage reports indicate that many home-owners failed to grub-proof their lawn last fall and that large numbers of Japanese beetles and other grubs are now infesting them.

Stearns and Heuberger urge homeowners to treat their lawns within the next few weeks if they did not do so last fall. "Your troubles with soil and turf-infesting insects will be at an end for five years or more if you just give your lawn a single application of any one of several dusts," says Stearns. He and Heuberger list DDT, toxaphene, chlordane, aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor as suitable for the job.

They say that most local farm-supply and hardware stores are stocking 5 per cent chlordane and 10 per cent DDT dust now. The former should be put on the lawn at the rate of 5 and 3/4 lbs. for every 1000 square feet and the latter at a 4 and 3/4 lb. rate. Both should be mixed with several times their volume of screened sand, soil or fertilizer. Best way to spread them is with a garden-type fertilizer distributor. Then wash the mixture into the ground with a hose, the two University of Delaware men advise.

Mrs. Dewey Taylor of Farmington, accompanied by her little house guest, Miss Debbie Sylvia of Townsend, spent Tuesday afternoon at the Harry Fisher's helping young Joe Fisher celebrate his 3rd birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Sisson and children and Mrs. Ruth Sisson of Hyattsville, Md., Miss Joan Norwood of Laurel, Md., Nelson Meredith, Jr., of Selbyville, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Sr. and attended the Greenwood Alumni Banquet on Saturday evening. All day on Sunday callers arrived at intervals to enjoy visiting with the Meredith children and grandchildren.

Our community has been much saddened by the passing of our good neighbor, Mr. George Hanks, who died suddenly on Wednesday morning while working among his flowers. All our sympathy goes to his wife, Mrs. Eliza Hanks, and his children, Mrs. Randall Owens of Salisbury and Dr. William Hanks of Cambridge, and the three grandchildren. Funeral services were held in the Greenwood M. E. Church and interment made in St. Johnstown cemetery. Mr. Hanks was a retired merchant, and had been a resident of our town for many years. We shall miss his cheery smile.

Saturday evening guests at the Jacob Hatfields were Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Case of Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case of Wilmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith of near town. The Hatfields were Sunday evening callers at the Gerald Pearsons.

We have this news from the Greenwood Conservative Mennonite Church: You are invited to hear Pastor B. Charles Hostettler of the Mennonite Hour when he speaks at our Sunday morning service at 10:30 a.m., May 5. The quartet that broadcasts on this same program will also sing in our Sunday morning service.

Saturday evening, May 12, the E.M.C. Men's Chorus will give a program at the church at 7:45. (Records of this quartet are available at Greenwood, Phone 4650).

Highway Dept. To Emphasize Roadside Cleanup

The State Highway Department has designated Thursday and Friday of this week as days to be set aside by their maintenance forces for a concentrated cleanup of the roadside along the highways. R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the Department, has requested the division engineers in each of the three counties to plan and direct this cleanup activity with particular emphasis to be placed on those assets along the right of way of a highway that is not included in normal cleanup operations.

The division engineers were also directed to invite the cooperation of any civil group that may be interested in this work in their locality and who would lend public support to the effort.

In commenting on the cleanup operation plans, Mr. Haber said the litter problem along the highways continues to become more difficult and costly to control as the population and traffic increases.

The chief engineer pointed out that several measures have been undertaken in the past to provide improvements in this situation, but no program can be expected to be entirely successful without the cooperation of the traveling public.

It is anticipated that many tons of debris and litter will be removed from the highway right of way during the two cleanup days and local organizations desiring to participate in the work should contact the division engineer in their county. The cleanup work will continue as always, but these two days will be more or less a sort of spring house cleaning.

March Traffic Shows Increase

With one exception traffic on highways in all parts of the state showed an increase during the month of March in comparison with the same month of last year, it was reported by the Traffic and Planning Division of the State Highway Department.

The one exception was along U. S. 202, the Concord Pike, at a point north of Talleyville where the decrease was 2.34 percent. The average daily count of vehicles was 9,152 which was 219 less than the previous year. The largest single day was Sunday, Mar. 4, when 13,272 vehicles were counted.

The largest increase was recorded along U. S. Route 13, north of Smyrna, when the increase was 7.76 percent and the daily average vehicles counted was 11,746, an increase of 846 over the average for March of last year. The largest single day was Friday, March 30, when 16,487 vehicles were counted.

Along Route 40, west of Bear, the increase was 2.24 percent and the daily average was 18,086, an increase of 397 over March of last year. The largest single day was Friday, March 30, when 29,489 vehicles were counted.

Along U. S. 13, at a point south of Greenwood, the increase was 4.01 percent with the daily average being 5,609, an increase of 216 over March of last year. The largest single day was Friday, March 30, when 8,198 vehicles were counted.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

You sure can't say any thing for this part of the country. It has rained every day for the past week. No training except for one day. That was just about four hours.

But the excitement goes on and on. Every one is in a hurry, the loud speaker blasting away for this and that. Sound system being tested, the lights were turned on for a brief time. Little by little the place is taking on the racing attitude.

But among the trainers this year it seems like only a day away. By the time this column goes to press it will be on its way.

Another thing you will notice up here at the tracks this year, is there are no extra men around wanting jobs, and they really do need them at different stables. They say, and I quote, That the New York State is rather tough to get a license. So what happens? They don't come up here.

The big stables are moving fast and furious, this past Sunday was a dilly. Pouring down rain and the boys having to unload, and for sure there is no place as muddy as around a race track when it is bad weather.

We were over to Williamsville this last weekend, the streams were all out of their banks, small streams looked like rivers, but that don't stop the traffic. Gosh you could just crawl unless you were on the dual parkways. All roads leading to the falls were as busy as in the busy season, and everything open, hardware, furniture stores, bakeries, grocery stores, barrooms, clubs. Just everything goes in New York after one o'clock, and do they have large outside markets. In fact you can get anything you want from them. You think you are in Florida with all the fruit markets. It's just a little early to see all the beautiful flowers outside yet. But in another couple weeks it will be beautiful, and as the time gets closer to Memorial Day the more the flowers.

Dave and I, were invited out this past Sunday evening to the Country Club as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Huber. But who really enjoys themselves when they have been sick for a week? Naturally you hate to turn down an invitation like that, so what happens? I go and end up sick again. Guess I'll never grow up. I'm not looking forward to the opening this year. Jack Boring, I hear, is supposed to ship in with his stable. Also Ned was over to see Dave, and he also is hunting stable help. Mr. Clukey all set to get racing? There is quite a few now here from Harrington and when the weather breaks will go over to their stable for some news.

Say Mr. Draper you can't buy Duff's Waffle Mix up here if you had a million dollars or tiny bits, so I'm going to send for some. Sounds silly to hear the big stores say, it don't sell.

Another thing you can't get the good programs here you can in Delaware on your TV unless you have UHF. I have it but not connected up yet.

So you see there are lots of good things about Harrington if you only stop and think.

Well hope we have luck up here, but you will really need it with so many head of horses here. You will be lucky to get starts.

Then followed a rollicking, fast-moving song, Ballad of Black-Jack Davy. In this is the story of a handsome young man who made a hobby of stealing other men's wives.

Ending this most entertaining concert was a medley by Sigmund Romberg. The song included a few lines from several classical songs.
