

DRIVE-IN MAILBOX TO BE ERECTED IN NEW LOCATION

The drive-in mailbox at the Post Office, taken down from in front of the structure recently, will be re-erected in another location, it was learned at the June meeting of the City Council Monday evening.

Otherwise, the Council was occupied for the most part, with problems of the water department. The meeting was harmonious and adjourned at a comparatively early hour.

The mailbox was taken down by Postmaster Howard Dill when city officials told him it was unsatisfactory in its location.

The postmaster and the Council then made a compromise by which the box will be erected at the corner of Mechanic and Commerce Streets. Two meters will be taken down and the curb will be painted red, denoting "no parking."

In front of the Post Office, signs will be erected signifying ten-minute parking for Post Office patrons from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The erection of an armory on Liberty Street promises to be a thing of the near future. Anyway, National Guard officials asked for an extension of water mains and the request was granted.

The Council also decided to build a 4-inch main, on North Street, from Dorman to Calvin Streets upon the request of Harold Melvin and William Wechtenhiser who will build on the thoroughfare.

The Eastburn Construction Company, now building the northbound lane of U. S. 13, from Harrington to Greenwood, asked the city for water to be used in mixing concrete, and the Council authorized City Manager William F. Smith to negotiate as to price.

Dr. W. T. Chipman requested permission to pave his sidewalk from a brick wall, bordering his lawn, to the curb, and the request was granted. It was revealed that rainwater was collecting on the walk.

The Council motioned to pay notes to Peoples Bank and the First National Bank of $2140.80 each.

A sewer paralleling U. S. 13, south of Clark Street was discussed, and the city manager was requested to see state highway officials about laterals under the road before the construction on the northbound lane was completed.

The Council voted to hold its summer meetings in the daytime, as it has been doing for the past few years. Meetings will be held at 1 p. m. during July and August the first Monday of the month, and in September the Tuesday following Labor Day.

It was revealed at the meeting that the Police Commission had decided to give Chief of Police George Hughes a weekly bonus of $10, to be paid monthly. This will make the chief's income at $70 per week.

Youth Dies As Sports Car Turns Over

A 20-year-old youth was killed instantly at 5:30 p. m., Monday, when the 1956 Jaguar sports car he was driving rolled over on a country road five miles west of Seaford.

The death of Stephen Buckner Stout, 307 Hilltop Road, Silver Spring, Md., brought the death toll for Delaware this year to 34, three less than in the corresponding period of 1955.

Stout was taken to Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, and pronounced dead on arrival. He suffered a fractured skull and possible fracture of the neck.

Karl F. Cossaboon, 37, owner of the car, who escaped with only a bruise of the leg, pulled Stout from the car. Cossaboon was treated at the hospital and released.

State police at Bridgeville said the roadster, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, was going west on Route 553, and Stout attempted to make a turn onto Route 551, an intersecting rural road.

The roadster left the road, overturned 360 degrees, and came to rest on its wheels. Cossaboon ducked under the dashboard when the car started to roll over, but Stout, at the wheel, was unable to do so. His head was crushed against the side of the roadster as it overturned.

Sussex County Coroner Volle Gray, Millsboro, and the Sussex County deputy state medical examiner, Dr. Joseph Elliott, Laurel, assisted in the investigation.

Stout was employed at the DuPont plant at Seaford on a part-time cooperative student basis and Cossaboon full-time at the same plant.

Fresh Water Fishing Good

Good News for Fishermen — Noxontown Pond, closed to fishing last week for draw-down and repair of sluice gates is now open to fishing. Under the supervision of Mrs. William Ellison, the gates have been repaired and water is being restored to its normal level. It is expected that this level will be reached before the end of this week.

Reports from Fisher's Wharf, the Game and Fish Commission-owned boat livery near Port Penn, are that fishermen are beginning to catch croakers, perch and cat-fish in that area.

June 1 was opening day of the bass season. Lake Como at Smyrna provided excellent fishing, although no large fish were reported. The first party to come in landed at about 10 o'clock. These two fishermen had been out since 5 a.m. They had seven bass ranging in length from 10 inches to 17 inches. The second party, also two fishermen, had only four bass, but in addition they had about 30 very large crappies.

Reports from Wyoming Pond for opening day are that fishing was good, with several bass and many bluegills and crappies being caught.

"Jake" Jacobs, Smyrna's Chief of Police, reports that shad are running in Smyrna Creek. Restoration of the shad run is accredited to a general improvement in the quality of the water. It is anticipated that completion of the new sewage disposal plant in Smyrna will result in an increase in the shad run as well as improving conditions for all other species of fish.

This column reported last week that the use of outboard motors in Delaware's small ponds is, in some instances, becoming a serious problem. Substantiation of this report is found in the notice from Town Manager Gilmore of Smyrna that there will be a public meeting at the Smyrna Town Hall on June 8th at 7:30 p.m.

The subject of this meeting will be the use of outboard motors on Lake Como. According to Mr. Gilmore, an effort will be made to provide for all uses of this fine recreational facility. This will include bathing, boating, fishing and water-skiing. In order to do this it will probably be necessary to put some restrictions, either in size or hours of use, on the operation of outboard motors.

Reports from commercial fishermen and Jay Harmac, Fisheries Biologist with the Delaware Game and Fish Commission, are that the catch of trout in Delaware Bay has fallen to near zero.

A report from South Dakota, quoted in the May 15 "Conservation News", published by the National Wildlife Federation, points up something that the Delaware Game and Fish Commission has been preaching for years—surveys indicate the number of ducks nesting in the state is directly proportional to the amount of available water.

"Figures from the surveys of the past three years emphasize this relationship," according to a Department news release. "In 1953, when an average of seven and one-quarter potholes were counted per square mile, more than one million ducks were counted, the highest total since the surveys were started. Diminishing water supplies in 1954 reduced the pothole number to four and one-half and the duck count to 820,000. Last year only two and one-third potholes were noted per square mile and the nesting duck population had dropped to 360,000. This represents the lowest figure since 1950."

This is further evidence that if we are to maintain our present population of waterfowl we must maintain our wetlands—preserving them from filling, drainage and pollution. Only by wise use can we make sure that the sport of waterfowling will survive and that the recreational values of our wetlands are not wiped out by industrial or agricultural "progress."

We wish them all much success in their new fields of labor.

Mrs. Elliott was a teacher in the Sunday School, a member of the W.S.C.S. and the New Century Club.

Arthritis Showing In Chickens

Synovitis, a disease of the joints and tendons in chickens, is rapidly becoming one of the more serious problems to poultrymen in Delaware and other broiler-growing states, reports Dr. M. S. Cover, poultry pathologist at the University of Delaware.
Cover, who along with other research men at the University's poultry laboratories, has been in the forefront of the battle against this disease ever since it began to give trouble 3 years ago, says that synovitis is now pretty well distributed over the U. S. Sometimes called arthritis, it hits all strains of chickens—sometimes means condemnation of a sizeable part of the flock.
So troublesome has synovitis become, Cover reports, that the U. S. Department of Agriculture called a meeting of all parts of the poultry industry in Washington late last month at which reports on cause, spread and treatment of the disease were made from Delaware and several other states.

The disease is believed to be caused by a large virus, Cover said. Work at the Delaware agricultural experiment station has been concentrated on a closer identification of the exact nature of the virus and in finding out how it is transmitted from one chicken to another. Present recommended treatment to prevent its spread in a flock is use of 200 grams of aureomycin in each ton of feed, Cover reports.

Junior Broiler Awards Banquet Thursday Night

More than 300 contestants and guests are expected to attend the Awards Banquet of this year's Delaware Junior Broiler Contest to be held Thursday evening, June 14th at the Caesar Rodney School in Wyoming.

The contest, which got underway April 2 with 174 boys and girls from age 10 to 19 competing, ends Wednesday, June 13 when each contestant delivers the six best cockerel birds from his contest flock to the Swift and Company processing plant in Felton, Delaware. These birds will be dressed and judged the following day and then displayed at the Award Banquet that evening.

Each boy and girl who completes the contest gets complimentary tickets to the Awards Banquet for himself and parents. Others attending will be contest advisors and hatcherymen of the state who helped make the contest a success by their generous cooperation in furnishing chicks to many of the contestants at the beginning of the contest.

Cash prizes and awards to be given out at the banquet include a trophy and $25 cash for first place; $20 cash for second place; $15 for 3rd; $10 for fourth; $7.50 to each contestant who places 5th through 10th; and $5 for those who place 11th to 20th. The Delaware Poultry Improvement Association sponsors the awards.

Training meetings to help the contestants learn how to select their six best birds for the contest finals will be held in the vocational departments of the Georgetown and Newark high schools and at the Caesar Rodney School between now and the finish of the contest. W. T. McAllister, marketing specialist at the University of Delaware, and Silas McHenry, Extension Poultryman for the University, will be the instructors at these schools. All contestants, parents, teachers and others interested in the junior broiler program are invited to attend.

McHenry explains that the junior broiler contest is an educational project to help teach Delaware boys and girls how to grow a good flock of broilers, and how to keep records so they will know their exact expenses and receipts. The contest is jointly sponsored by the University of Delaware, the State Board of Education, the State Board of Agriculture and the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, vocational agriculture teachers and 4-H club agents have been supervising the projects, visiting the contestants during the course of the contest to help them with their problems.

Judges for the contest finals, besides McAllister and McHenry, will be Frank Gordy, J. Edward McIlvaine, Holt Pratt and E. F. Smith, Jr.

Social Security

Ten thousand people can't be wrong! Not the 10,000 people who consult their social security office in this country every day. They can't be wrong because each person receives expert advice about his own particular old-age and survivors insurance problem from highly trained and qualified representatives of the Social Security Administration.

It is urgent that you become one of these 10,000 if:

- 1. Due to a disability you are unable to work for an indefinite period of time.
2. Someone dies in your family who has had a social security card.
3. You are 65 and your earnings from employment and self-employment are less than $2,080 per year or you do not earn more than $80 in wages or render substantial services in self-employment in one or more months of the year.
4. You are 72 years old (regardless of your present earnings).

Even if you are otherwise eligible, benefits are not paid automatically. In order to receive old-age and survivors benefits you must file an application. Act promptly! The number of back payments which can be made is limited by law.

Don't rely on your neighbor or hearsay advice. Your local social security district office, now located at 504 W. 10th St., Wilmington, will give you a correct and prompt answer to your social security problem.

Caesar Rodney School News

Ann James has been awarded the first W. Reily Brown scholarship award which this year is $300.00 according to a statement released by Earl R. Field, chairman of the Camden-Wyoming Lions Club Education Committee, which is making the award possible.

This award is to be given annually to a member of the graduating class of Caesar Rodney High School based on excellence in scholarship and only the five highest ranking students in the class who plan to pursue a four-year college course are eligible to apply.

Miss James, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. James Jr. of Woodside, plans to enter the University of Delaware next September. In addition to being a high ranking academic student, Ann has rendered what is considered outstanding service to her school in the extra-curricular field. Her extra curricular activities include: captain of the Traffic Squad, a member of the Glee Club, plays 'cello in the school band, 1st soprano in the vocal ensemble, president of the Future Teachers of America Club, member of the library club and the staff of the school paper and a leading role in the senior play.

Outside of school Miss James is active in 4-H club work and in addition, finds time to hold down a part-time job in a department store.

The committee selected as an alternate for this award Jean Ann Boyd who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boyd of Wyoming. Miss Boyd plans to become a secondary school teacher in the field of English.

Jean is also a high ranking academic student with many extra-curricular interests. She is a four year member of the Traffic Squad, past officer of the Future Teachers club, and was a member of the Junior high school dance club.

Outside of school she has participated in the Junior Board Follies and the Dover Lions Club show and taught dancing for a year and a half.

Formal presentation of the award will be made at Commencement.

CR YEARBOOK DEDICATED...

The recently distributed 1956 "Crisp", the Caesar Rodney High School Yearbook, is dedicated to Miss Frances Evans, senior secretary of the school.

The dedicatory statement characterizes Miss Evans "as the more than capable secretary who can be called on for anything, at any time, by anybody."

Miss Evans known as "Jack" to her adult friends came to Caesar Rodney as the school secretary in 1929 upon graduation from the now Wesley Junior College. Wilbur H. Jump was then superintendent and the school enrollment was a little more than 500. During the first years of her tenure the school had neither nurse nor guidance counselor and the school secretary bandaged wounds and consoled the unfortunate who had lost books, lunches, or friends.

Miss Evans recalls that she taught a class in typing for one semester and frequently supervised study periods. Class change bells required constant vigilance as they were hand operated instead of being automatic from a clock, as now.

Miss Evans is a past president of the Caesar Rodney Alumni Association and has for several years directed the table arranging for most of the many banquets served by the association. As a former athlete, she has been vitally interested in the school athletic program.

Outside the school Miss Evans has been very active in further professionalizing the school secretaries and has attended several national and state workshops. She is a past president of the Delaware School Secretaries Association and is at present serving on the planning committee for the forthcoming Secretaries Conference at the University of Delaware.

Miss Evans now heads a staff of four secretaries which cater to the many needs of over 1350 students and 65 teachers, striving to maintain the personal touch and individual attention which characterizes the philosophy of the school.

Soil Conservation Gets Larger Bulldozer

Kent County farmers are now able to do faster and cheaper land drainage jobs because their Soil Conservation District Supervisors have replaced a small bulldozer with a new larger HD-11 machine. Leroy Pepper equipment manager, put the new machine to work spreading soil on the farm of Frank Stephens, near Hartly, within the same hour of delivery. Mr. Stephens, and his neighbors, Emory Szelesti and Albert Konschak, are completing a pooling agreement to drain their lands cooperatively.

Farmers help to pay for the machines by an hourly work charge which is returned to the State Soil Conservation Commission. The commission makes funds available for the purchase of these heavy machines, and they are repaid usually within four or five years. Four elected supervisors manage the affairs of the Kent County Soil Conservation District, a non-profit farmers organization working to protect and improve the land.

The District now owns two 3/4 yard draglines and two bulldozers, which are kept busy within the county. The idea that these are "State" or "Federal" machines is false, tho the District is managed as public organization, accountable to farmer members. Without such equipment, farmers and the public would be handicapped in the improvement of conservation resources. Over 55 miles of designed drainage ditches a year have been dug in the last two years. Some 341 miles of ditches have been dug since equipment was first obtained in 1943, and the work is speeded as the District gains experience. Assistance is furnished by the federal Soil Conservation Service to assure that the projects meet technical standards. Fred Mott is the work unit conservationist in Kent County. His office is at 313 S. Governors Avenue in Dover.

Seventh-Day Adventists to Attend Convention

The annual convention of the Chesapeake Conference of Seventh-day Adventists will begin Thursday night and continue until Sunday, June 17 at the church's conference grounds in Catonsville, near Baltimore.

Harrington Seventh-day Adventist delegates to the conference will leave Thursday and Friday for the parley. Services at the local Adventist church will be curtailed for the next two weeks because of the 10-day session.

Local delegates are expected to join more than 2,000 persons this weekend at the convention. Headed by David Miller, pastor of the Harrington Adventist Church, delegates will hear outstanding denominational speakers from Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, Calif. and New York City.

Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the opening and keynote speaker will be C. V. Anderson, President of the church conference and director of the 10-day session.

Dan A. Ochs, of Washington, D.C., President of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists, heads a long list of visiting guest speakers. It includes E. E. Hepstead, of Washington, a staff member of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary; Dr. Glenn Archer, of Washington, Director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State; Victor T. Armstrong, a field secretary of the General Conference of Adventists; Dr. J. W. McFarland, of Los Angeles, a member of the Medical staff of the College of Medical Evangelists; and A. H. Rulkoetter, an associate secretary of the Religious Liberty Department of the General Conference of Adventists.

A highlight of the convention will take place on June 16 when the entire staff of the international radio program, "Voice of Prophecy" will make a personal appearance. The main speaker will be Harold M. S. Richards, of Los Angeles, speaker and director of the program heard on more than 900 radio stations around the world. On June 3 the program went on the National Broadcasting Company network. They are also on two other networks.

Robert A. Tyson, of Baltimore, youth secretary of the Conference, will direct a concentrated program of activity for young people. Every morning next week a cooking school will be conducted by the Dorcas welfare department of the church conference. In addition special meetings will be conducted for Sabbath school teacher and directors, a meeting on Civil Defense will be featured and an ordination service will be held on Saturday afternoon for three young pastors.

Save Your Tag If You Sell Certified Seed

"Save those tags on your certified seed bags," is the advice of George Vapaa, Kent County Agricultural Agent. "You may want to continue this certification, and you can usually get an additional premium for such seed that you produce. One way of saving the tags is to nail some on the barn wall," he adds.

The certification tag is the only positive way you have of identifying or "certifying" the source of your seed. Dealers of seed rarely keep a record of such information. And most farmers fail to keep the tags. As a result when a field of grain looks very good, it becomes difficult to prove it came from good seed stock.

W. T. Pickering of Lebanon, called the county agent about certifying an excellent stand of ten acres of barley. He found the original certification tag which now makes it possible for him to certify it himself.

Certification standards are maintained by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association working cooperatively with the State Board of Agriculture and the University of Delaware. In this case, Mr. Pickering's barley is first given a field inspection to assure that it is true to the variety; is free of other grains and disease injury. A bin inspection will be made after the crop is harvested. Samples must pass tests for germination, purity, and condition before it can be finally sold as certified seed.

"I could have obtained ordinary seed for not more than $2.00 a hundred pounds last fall, but paid $4.50 per hundred pounds for that certified seed last fall," said Mr. Pickering. "It will mean a premium of at least $16.00 per acre for your crop if you get just 25c more per bushel for your certified crop this year," Mr. Vapaa pointed out. "That's one way of increasing net farm income. But remember, it's possible only because you have saved the certification tags that come with the original seed you bought."

Phone Company To Complete Soon Equipment Installation

The Diamond State Telephone Co. early in June will complete the installation of additional equipment in the Harrington central office at an estimated cost of $7,900, according to Theodore W. Collins, local manager for the company. The new equipment will enable the company to serve additional customers and also to further improve the quality of the service.

During the present year the company expects to spend an additional $75,000 for the construction of additions to its wire and cable networks in the Harrington area. The bulk of this amount, about $45,000, will be required for cable work.

The Harrington office now serves a total of 1,495 telephones compared to 1,103 five years ago and only 511 in 1946.

W.J.C. to Go Another Year

A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of Wesley Junior College was held on Friday, June 1, at the college with 31 out of 34 trustees in attendance, including Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

After it was pointed out that it was a matter of honor and integrity that the trustees accept the so-called terms of surrender for Wesley College announced at the closing session of the Peninsula Conference the following motion by the Rev. Howell O. Wilkins was adopted:

"That the trustees affirm the announcement made at the conference relative to the college and that a small committee be appointed to investigate, with the established committees, the detailed responsibilities involved and report to the Board."

Another motion was adopted authorizing and directing the Property Committee of the college to have such fire escapes installed as necessary to meet in full the safety provisions mentioned in Bishop Oxnam's report to the Conference.

Considerable discussion followed relative to the possibility of the friends of the college coming to its rescue in the matter of capital improvement.

It appeared to be the sense of the meeting that if substantial financial backing is made available for capital improvements, the conference action in regard to the school would be reconsidered.

The trustees individually expressed the feeling that unless such help is forthcoming the Board of Trustees has no alternative but to close the school at the time stated, June 15, 1957.

With the full approval of Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam the following statement was read to the Saturday evening, May 26, session of the Peninsula Annual Conference by the Rev. Howell O. Wilkins.

Report

A substantial group of the Trustees of Wesley Junior College make the following tentative report to the Peninsula Annual Conference—

In the light of Action taken yesterday eventually discontinuing financial support for Wesley Junior College, the Board of Trustees proposes to take the following action:

1. Because of the financial and moral obligations we have to the present faculty and student body we propose to continue operation this year the Mass will be offered in St. Bernadette's Church.

The Mass will be a high Mass. Mr. Carl A. Colell will be at the organ to accompany the St. Bernadette's choir singing "The Mass of St. Basil" by Jules Brazil. An Offertory solo will be sung by Mrs. Leon Kukulka entitled: "Salve Regina". The recessional will be Mr. Nicola A. Montani's: "Jesus, my Lord, my God, my All" and will be sung by the entire ensemble.

Assisting at the Mass will be the parents of the graduates and some of the teachers in the Milford and Harrington schools. The public is also cordially invited to attend the Mass.

Airbase Needs Civilian Help

Examination announcements for career-conditional appointments for the positions of Laborer at $1.59 per hour; Aircraft Overhaul Helper at $1.68 per hour; Fuel Systems Operator, and Fuel Systems Operator (Truck Driver), at $1.94 per hour; for duty at Dover Air Force Base, Dover, were announced today by the Executive Secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Dover Air Force Base, Dover.

Further information and necessary forms may be obtained from the Commission's representative, J. W. Dickerson, located at Harrington; from the Director, Third U. S. Civil Service Region, 107 U. S. Customhouse, Philadelphia 6, Pennsylvania; or from the Executive Secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Dover Air Force Base, Dover, Del.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT - that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

IT TAKE how word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick—with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time—with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflo can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflo's newest marvel. It's something the engineers call "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

sure—you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

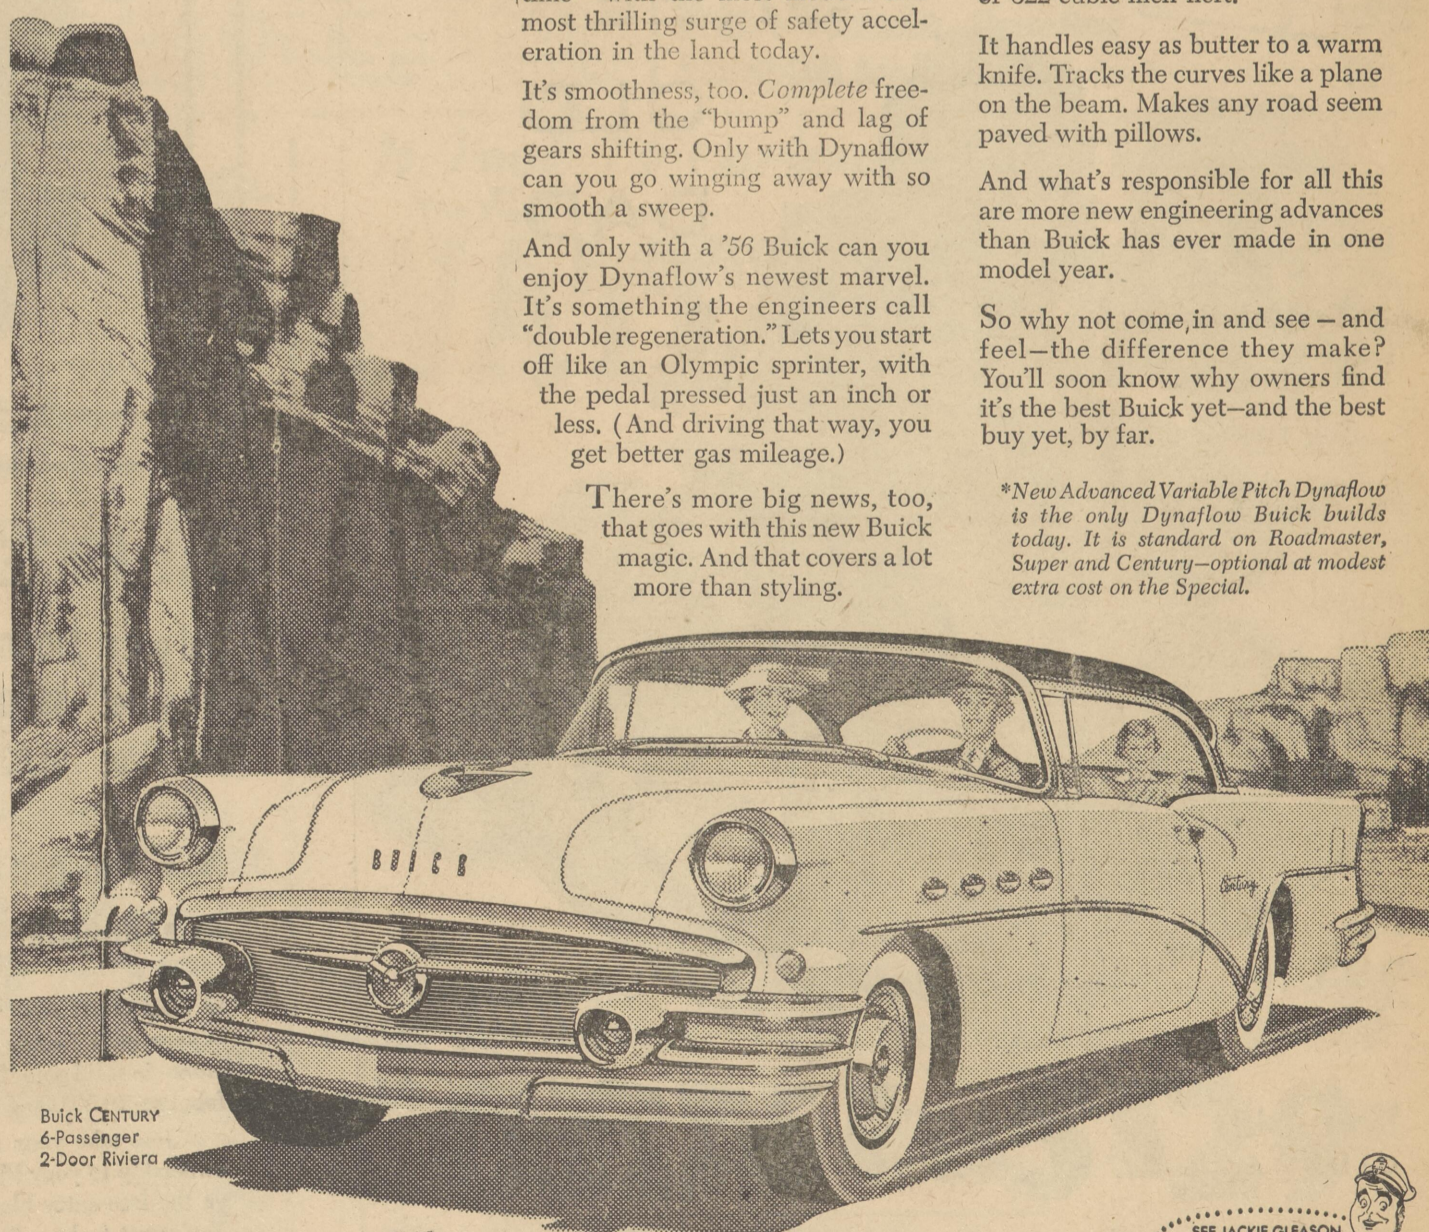

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come, in and see—and feel—the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet—and the best buy yet, by far.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

OUTSIDE WORK FOR STUDENTS

An article in a recent issue of The Saturday Evening Post tells of an experiment in California schools whereby students work part of their school hours in various occupations. For this they receive credit in school.

Some students receive pay, in some fields; in others, they do not. The student selects the field in which he or she wants to work.

As a consequence, the students see the practical application of their education. Or, they may switch from one field to another.

Students of Hickman High School, Columbia, Mo., were getting credit for outside work some years ago. Many schools in a number of states follow the practice.

After the students graduate, many continue to work in their chosen field.

Educators found this form of education enables many students to get better grades in school. Why not give it a try in Delaware?

SCHOOLS ARE GEARED FOR THE POOREST PUPILS

A fault with our educational system is that classrooms are geared to allow the poorest pupils to keep up the pace. Two superintendents of Delaware schools have told us so in recent weeks.

Conversely, the brightest student takes things easy, not having to extend himself or herself. This is not right. There should be means of permitting the better-than-average pupil to forge ahead at a faster pace. These means might include special courses or the passing of two grades in one year.

It is good education when the student is forced to give his all. He will have to give his all if he goes to college. He will certainly have to give it after he graduates.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

With all this moving I've been so busy I had to pass this little get-together up this past week. Thought when we left the lake we might miss some of the bad weather. It seems it has followed up right along. Sure seemed funny to have the races called off here at Vernon Downs last Thursday night, but it really poured down.
 This is a very nice track and they try to do everything for you if you will ask. I don't think they have the crowds like they do in the other places. But for sure you'd better have your horses worked before 12 o'clock as the main track closes and they mean for you to stay off.

There are several stables that have pulled in from other tracks. I think about ten good size stables from Hamburg have arrived. The Roland Herringtons are just across from our stable. Several have talked to me about being in Harrington some time or other.

Of course, the grand circuit outfits are here. It is said it is their proving grounds. Most of them don't start until the big stakes start. There are Egan, Delvin Miller, Del Cameron, some of the Berrys and others. Dave's stable is right in the middle of them, so it's like old home week to chat with the old timers. They were his brother's friends. Gosh, this track is sure out in the country. You have to ride farther than Milford to shop. The people are friendly tho, and seem to be all for the horseman. But they sure don't like the New York set-up.

We leave in a couple weeks again. I sure hate this changing so often. I like different places but moving a big stable is something. The packing is what I hate. So much for the races!

Do you know that burglar week starts in New York state this week? Here is what I ran across that I thought was worth saving.

1. I have a light or two connected to give the place a live-in at night.

2. Cancel newspapers, milk and other deliveries.

3. Have the lawn mowed.

4. Tell your neighbor and your police officer you are going away.

5. Leave blinds and shades at normal for a more lived-in look.

6. Here are a couple don't's. (This is a joke) Keep your trip out of the newspaper. And don't, please, forget to lock the doors and windows—in short, just tell the world you are going on a vacation.

How many abide by these sayings?

Next week I have the darndest thing that a friend of mine from the Boston Globe has sent me. He knew I saved just this kind of crazy thing. Its title, "What's a Gentleman."

Market Report

Delaware Food Market Report

For Father's Day papper dad and treat him to a big, juicy steak, and with all the trimmings he loves - plenty of fried onions - potato fluffy mashed or French fried - a crisp green salad - ice cream. All of these foods are plentiful so there will be no painful budget-stretching necessary to present this dinner treat to father. For even though choice cuts cost more per pound than the beef cuts, they are still a food bargain and tasty U. S. choice grade. Throughout June there will be this abundance of beef so plan many a menu, both outdoor as well as indoor meals, around this meat.

Lots of fresh fruits came to market this week. Strawberries have dropped a few pennies in price and are as low as those you are likely to go. So for those of you who are planning to freeze the berries do it now. California peaches are beginning to arrive and are selling for an average of 45 cents a pound. Big beautiful blueberries, sent from North Carolina, are bringing an average of 65 cents a pint; there's a heavy crop of Texas canteloupes averaging 38 cents each, however, the small melons are selling as low as 15 cents each. Those delicious Bing cherries are arriving at the fruit counters from California and are averaging 59 cents a pound. With warmer weather and picnic time here it's good to know watermelons are now around 8 cents a pound; a little cheaper now than last week.

Snaps top the list of good buys this week in many stores. This vegetable has dropped in price to an average of 22 cents a pound, and is expected to drop still more this weekend.

Other good vegetable buys are cabbage; carrots, averaging 13 cents a cellopack; celery, 14 cents a bunch; corn averaging 5 cents an ear over the weekend; green onions, 11 cents; new potatoes, 9 cents; radishes, two bunches for 19 cents, and green peas as low as 14 cents a pound.

The list of plentiful foods for June, as issued by the United States Department of Agriculture are fresh grapefruit, canned and frozen cherries, rice, peanut butter, and canned tuna in oil. Look for special sales on these items at your favorite grocery store during the month of June.

Veterans News

Q - Premiums on my World War II GI term insurance policy are being waived because I have been totally disabled for more than six months. While my policy is under waiver, do I have the right to convert it to a permanent plan of insurance?

A - You may convert your GI term policy to any permanent plan other than an endowment. You will not be required to take a physical examination.

Q - My three-year deadline for starting Korean GI training will come in about six months. However, I recently enlisted in the armed forces, and I will be on active duty when that date comes around. Will I be able to start my training after I get out of service?

A - No. Under the law, a veteran must begin Korean GI training within three years from the date of his first discharge. The law has not made any exceptions for veterans in service on their deadline dates.

Q - May a veteran join a non-veteran in obtaining a GI loan?

A - Yes, but the amount of the loan on which VA's guaranty is based will be in proportion to the veteran's interest in the loan. The guaranty cannot extend to any portion of the loan constituting non-veteran's contribution to the enterprise.

Q - What type of farm must a veteran have, in order to qualify him for farm training under the Korean GI Bill?

A - The basic activity of the farm must be the cultivation of the land or the feeding, breeding, and management of livestock or poultry. Or it may be any other specialized farming commonly followed in the area. It may not be the processing, distribution or sale of agriculture products, such as a dairy processing plant or a grain elevator.

Greenwood

The freak storm or baby tornado that cut a path through Greenwood and nearby area on Friday afternoon, June 1, did considerable damage. Many gardens, "Trail's End" included, were about completely destroyed, buildings blown down on some farms, yard chairs and machinery blown about, and trees split by the force of the wind and the constant pounding of the large hail stones.

On Saturday morning at the Dublin Hill Community Hall a group of more than one hundred good friends gathered at six for a covered dish supper of wonderful food. The guest list was composed of the following people: The Rev. and Mrs. George H. Moore and children, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Omwake and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bergman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Musko and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Graden and children, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haerde and children, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fox and children, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Tritt and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Connell. After the dinner hour there was dancing for the young people and games for the small fry, while the grown-ups enjoyed the fellowship of the evening in good conversation.

At a late hour everyone had another round of hot coffee while the children finished the "cokes." Everyone went back to the home with a warm glow in his heart - thankful for the blessed gift of friendship.

Harrington School News

Grade 5—Mrs. Brobst

Carol Smith is in Milford Hospital with appendicitis. On Tuesday, we had our party in the school cafeteria. We are glad school is over, but we will miss each other.

Grade 6—Mrs. Donovan

We hope that everyone passed his or her examinations and will go into a new grade next year. May you all have a very nice vacation and come back next year ready to go to work.

Grade 1—Mrs. Hopkins

Our class had a wonderful trip to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jester, last Thursday. They came to school at 11:30 in a truck with bales of hay as seats. Mrs. Jester and Mrs. Frank Wilson rode in the rear of the truck with us.

Mr. Jester led Billy's pony, Trigger, so each of us could ride, then he took us two at a time for a tractor ride.

While we rested awhile, Mrs. Jester and Billy's grandmother had a birthday party for Billy. We had all of the ice cream, cake, cookies, and popcorn we could eat. Next, Mrs. Jester let us all climb into his big farm wagon drawn by two big brown horses, and we went for a ride down the road. He let some of us help drive the horses. Mrs. Pauline Moore and little Donnie rode with us.

Finally, before we had our truck back to school, Mrs. Jester gave each of us a balloon and Mrs. Hopkins took a picture of our group.

We want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Jester and Billy's mom-mom for such a wonderful trip and lovely party. We will remember it a long time.

A Note Of Thanks

The members of the Physical Education classes and members of the Varsity teams wish to extend their appreciation to Mrs. Doris Fry for coaching them this year. Through all hardships, she has worked untiringly with us. Without her willingness to help, we might not have had a coach or Physical Education instructor.

Under her guidance, we were undefeated in hockey, made history in basketball, and completed in softball.

We hope she has enjoyed coaching us as much as we have appreciated having her as teacher.
