

C. of C. Told Dorman and Fleming One-way Traffic Would Raise Problems

One-way traffic on Dorman and Fleming Streets would raise more problems than it would solve, Dr. Hewitt Smith told the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at its July meeting in the office of the Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency.

Dr. Smith, chairman of the Community Betterment Committee, and Charles Jerred, a member, had made a survey of the project.

Dr. Smith said some residents on the affected streets would have to run around the block and thus double traffic on surrounding streets, in going to and from their homes, to conform to the measure. He said he hadn't seen any congestion on the streets.

Here the physician, also a City Councilman, branched off into a discussion of parking in general. He said poles in the curb and jutting traffic signs caused the traffic to veer into the street. The public pays no attention to parking, he continued, and it isn't enforced.

The main traffic problem on Fleming Street, he added, was congestion and parking at the curve on Fleming Street. He believed a curb would solve the problem. This device would have entrance to business establishments.

The Chamber took no action on the report, but is still hardly dormant. However, it will be up to the City Council if action is taken.

When the question of razing or improving dilapidated buildings arose, the secretary was requested to write State Fire Marshal, Walter LaRue, asking what must be done to acquire his services.

Dilapidated buildings have been discussed by the City Council for several months. Surveys have been made, letters written to property owners, but nothing tangible has resulted from it. It remains to the state fire marshal to condemn the buildings.

Kenneth Aiken mentioned that children were riding bicycles in a haphazard manner on West, Dorman, Center Sts., and part of Weiner Avenue. They would get in front of a car and zig zag, Aiken said. It was decided to report the matter to the Chief of Police.

Claude Cahill, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, in a report, said Harrington banks were not acceptable to opening on Saturday, even for a short time, to make change and cash checks. They said it would require rescheduling of the working hours of their employees. Since the request emanated from the Post office, the banks suggested it remain open Friday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock when the banks were open.

William W. Shaw, chairman of the Industrial Committee, read a letter from a housing developer asking about land, and one from a manufacturer of prefabricated houses asking about plant facilities. He will reply.

Fire Company Plans Parade

Sunday, July 15, being Firemen's Day at Tolchester Beach, the Harrington Fire Company plans to attend with every possible man.

All firemen and high school band members are requested to attend and bring their families and lunches.

The parade will start at 1 p. m. Bus will leave the high school at 11 a. m.

It was announced this week that the local fire company will hold its annual stock car races this year Saturday night, Aug. 25 at the Kent and Sussex Fairgrounds. The rain date will be Wednesday night, August 29th.

Prominent Merchant Dies

Wilbur E. Jacobs

Wilbur E. Jacobs Dies After Long Illness

Wilbur E. Jacobs, prominent merchant, and civic leader, died around 5 a. m. yesterday at his home on Commerce Street after a long illness.

Mr. Jacobs, 73, was the son of Edward Carter Jacobs and Matilda Hill Jacobs. He was born Sept. 2, 1882.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Georgia Jacobs; a son, Lyman Jacobs, of Wilmington, and a brother, Arlie Jacobs, of Harrington.

Funeral services will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, of which Mr. Jacobs was a member, at 2 p. m. Sunday, with the Rev. Milton Elliott, former pastor of the church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Chester Wilcox, pastor.

Interment will be at Hollywood Cemetery. A viewing will be held at the Smith Funeral Home, 111 Commerce St., at 7 to 9 p. m. tomorrow.

The merchandise firm of Wilbur E. Jacobs had been in business here more than 46 years. Mr. Jacobs started a grocery store here Jan. 1, 1910, coming from Burrsville where he had clerked in various stores, including the hardware store of the late Tilghman Harvey, and where he had operated his own store.

His first business place here was at Commerce and Dorman Streets. He constructed his present store on Dorman Street in 1934.

In his first store, Mr. Jacobs used to buy and trade for as many as 100 crates of eggs weekly, with oftentimes half this amount coming in on Saturday. This business fell off, with the advent of hard roads, and because poultrymen started blood-testing their flocks and selling their eggs to the hatcheries.

A novel feature of Mr. Jacobs' early days in the mercantile trade here was Turkey Day. Some Thursday before Christmas, Mr. Jacobs and Joe Parris, of Philadelphia would buy hundreds of dressed turkeys. This market vanished when farmers found markets for live birds.

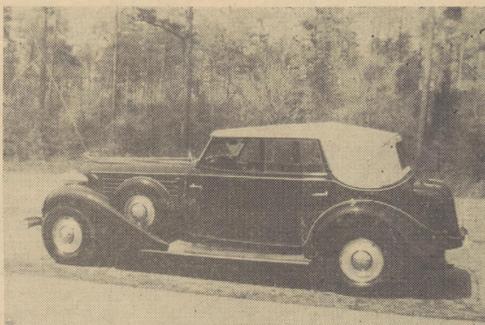

Mr. Jacobs, who advertised consecutively in the Harrington Journal longer than any other firm, more than 40 years, was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club. He was a former member of the School Board and was a Kent County Jury commissioner more than 20 years. He was also a director and vice-president of Peoples Bank.

He was state senator in 1931, state auditor in 1945-46 and, after the new town charter was drawn up in 1935, he was the first local mayor to be elected by popular vote.

As state senator, he was chairman of the Statuary Committee and almost single-handed put the statues of John M. Clayton and Caesar Rodney in Statuary Hall in the Capitol in Washington. Until this feat, Delaware was the only state not represented in the Hall.

Roy Donovan's 1935 Auburn

When Roy Donovan's 1935 Auburn is around, luxury cars of present day attract no attention.

Donovan, a body mechanic residing between Bridgeville and Georgetown, was at Peoples Service Station recently where his car attracted no end of attention.

He bought the car for $100 and spent $50 on repairs. He said he had been offered $3200 for it, and that a prominent TV star had tried to buy it on two occasions.

The Auburn, no longer manufactured, has its original leather upholstery, top, and is shiny and neat as a pin.

There is a trend nowadays to buy these luxury cars of the 20's and 30's and customize, or put them into mint condition. These cars include the Stutz, Rickenbacker, Moon, Oakland, Gardner, Pierce-Arrow, Chrysler, Buick, Franklin, Wills-Saint Claire, Mormon, Cord. There are many clubs of fans who make a policy of improving these automobiles which are not to be confused with antique cars.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR COUPLE KILLED IN GERMANY

Funeral services were held at the Boyer Funeral Home, Harrington, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Cpl. Donald Bowen, 31, and Mrs. Dorothy W. Bowen, his wife, who died June 28 in an automobile accident in Munich, Germany, where he was attached at the 11th Airborne Division of the Army and served as a paratrooper.

He was born in Harrington, the son of Ara Parker and Mary Thompson Bowen and moved with his parents to New Castle, Pa., when he was about two years. He first entered the service in 1942 in the United States Navy and later transferred to the Army. He went from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Germany Feb. 19.

Funeral services were in charge of the Rev. Richard O. Bailey, pastor of Salem Methodist Church Farmington and military services were given by the Army. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery. The bodies were flown to Dover Airport.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary B. Bowen of New Brighton, Pa., three brothers, Carl Bowen and Fred Bowen, both of New Castle, Pa., and Sgt. Phillip Bowen, who is his twin brother and is also serving with the 11th Airborne Division in Munich; also three sisters, Mrs. Emory Breeding of Greenwood, Mrs. Joseph Neigott of Latrobe, Pa., and Mrs. Earl Clark of New Castle, Pa.; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice C. Thompson of Greenwood and several aunts and uncles.

Mrs. Bowen was born in Harrisburg, Pa., the daughter of William J. and Violet Johnson, and married about four years ago and went overseas with her husband. She is survived by her father, William J. Johnson of Miami, Fla., and her mother, Mrs. Violet Wein, of Harrisburg, Pa., and a brother William E. Johnson, of Hollywood, Fla.

Mr. McConnell said that net income from Delaware farms dropped from $27,600,000 in 1950 to $14,400,000 in 1954, the last year for which net income figures are available. Between 1953 and 1954, Sussex County's gross farm income dropped 19%.

In other parts of his speech, Mr. McConnell said the biggest job facing the Democrats at the moment was in getting voters registered. He urged that a determined effort be made to get a big registration on July 18, the next Registration Day, which falls on a Wednesday.

CIVIL DEFENSE TO MAN CONTROL CENTERS 36 HOURS JULY 20-21

For 36 hours straight, Civil Defense workers will man control centers in Delaware, July 20-21, during the nation-wide exercise, "Operation Alert," which will simulate a mass nuclear attack on the United States.

At the underground state control center in Delaware City, Civil Defense technicians and division chiefs will spell each other during the marathon workout as they direct Delaware's part in the disaster relief operations following the theoretical attack.

This will be the longest continuous exercise so far at the state control center and will provide a rigorous workout for communication, message center and key personnel, according to Col. Preston Lee, state Civil Defense director.

Cots will be set up and hot meals will be brought in for personnel staying throughout the 36 hours, he said.

The exercise also will mark the first time the state control center has been in full operation since its recent renovation. Housed in a huge mortar bunker at old Fort duPont on the Governor Bacon Health center grounds, the center is regarded as one of the most modern in the nation. The three county and the Wilmington control centers also are expected to be in operation throughout the 36 hours.

There will be no participation in the forthcoming exercise, but, in addition to control center staffs, many volunteer Civil Defense units plan realistic workouts in the field.

Throughout the nation, Civil Defense forces will be in action. The assumed attack will hit 76 U. S. cities with nuclear bombs ranging up to 5 megatons (5,000,000 pounds of TNT) in power.

Delaware will escape the simulated bombs, but they will fall in surrounding states, hitting Philadelphia, Reading, Allentown, Trenton, New York and Washington.

Refugees from these areas will be assumed to be pouring into Delaware. About 20,000 persons, many with radiation burns and sickness, will be considered as coming from Philadelphia and another 70,000 will be regarded as fleeing over the Memorial Bridge from devastated New Jersey areas.

Northern Delaware will be considered in the path of mild supply movements. "fallout," the deadly atomic dust blown by high altitude winds following a nuclear explosion. The radioactive area will be assumed to extend from Centerville to the Memorial Bridge, covering most of Wilmington.

Once the imaginary attack is over, Delaware's primary role will be that of a support area, lending aid to nearby bombed cities and caring for the incoming refugees.

But Col. Lee stressed that the operation will be strictly a training exercise and in no sense "a test" of Civil Defense capabilities or effectiveness any more than Army "war games" are "a test" of military capability to defend the country.

Even so, the two-day exercise will provide a thorough workout for headquarters personnel. They will perform just as they would in an emergency, exchanging messages on damage, casualties, decontamination and refugee shelter, medical aid and so on.

A master plan for the exercise—a step by step outline including simulated field incidents—has been drawn up by Captain Robert N. Downes (USN - ret.) state Civil Defense operations officer.

This calls for massed Civil Defense action to handle the refugees at checkpoints where they would be decontaminated and sent to medical centers of shelter areas.

At the same time, Delaware would be sending fire equipment and medical teams to the devastated Philadelphia area.

Most of this, including the refugee checkpoints will exist only on "paper" but Civil Defense field units, including radio-linked teams, auxiliary police, ground observers, volunteer firemen and "dud" bomb experts, will be out in force following up simulated incidents.

They will be in contact with Civil Defense centers, where information will be correlated, relayed and result in command decisions.

Dickerson Seeks Re-election As State Treasurer

Democratic Candidate for the Nomination for State Treasurer

Howard H. Dickerson was born on a farm near Laurel, Delaware and has lived in that area all of his life. He was educated in the public schools in and near Laurel and attended Wesley Junior College at Dover, Delaware and Millersville State Teachers College at Millersville, Pa., following which he taught school for seven years in Sussex County. Since that time, Mr. Dickerson has engaged in business and farming and is President of Howard H. Dickerson Company, distributors of feeds and fuels in Laurel and vicinity.

He is a member of Hope No. 4, A.F. & A.M.; Tall Cedars of Lebanon; Delaware Consistory and Nur Temple; Charity Lodge No. 27, I. O. O. F.; Villiant Council No. 19; Jr. O. U. A. M.; Broad Creek Grange No. 59; Farm Bureau and Laurel Rotary Club.

Mr. Dickerson presently serves as Trustee and Member of the Board of Stewards of Centenary Methodist Church and has been Secretary of its Sunday School for many years.

His public service began as a member of the Laurel City Council and in 1925 he was elected a member of the State House of Representatives. In 1947 he was elected to a four-year term in the Senate and was a member of the Finance, Education, Building and Highway Committees. During the last two years of his term he served as Minority floor Leader of the Senate. He was elected State Treasurer in 1954, in which office he now serves.

Mr. Dickerson is married to the former Mary Phillips of the Laurel area and they have two children and four grandchildren. STATEMENT OF HOWARD H. DICKERSON, CANDIDATE FOR THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR STATE TREASURER

I wish to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Treasurer for another term of two years.

During my present term as State Treasurer, every effort has been made to improve the efficiency of the office. Due to the increased work load, new methods have been introduced which reduce operating costs, improve the efficiency of the office and benefit all citizens of our State. Some of these improvements are still in the process of installation, and I feel that by continuing in office I can be of further service both to my State and Party.

My period of public service on a state level extends back to 1925 when I served a term as a member of the State House of Representatives. Prior to that, I had served as a member of the Laurel City Council.

In 1947 I was elected to the State Senate for a four-year term during which I served as a member of the Finance, Educational, Building and Highway Committees. During the last two years of my term, I was Minority Floor Leader of the Senate.

If selected by the Democratic Party as its nominee for the office of State Treasurer, I can promise a vigorous energetic campaign and, if elected, will utilize my ability and knowledge of state financial matters to the fullest for the execution of the duties of State Treasurer for the best interest of all of the citizens of our State.

State Treasurer Howard H. Dickerson of Laurel was endorsed for re-nomination last night by the Western Sussex Democratic Club, which met at the Hotel Rigbie in Laurel with 125 men and women attending.

The Western Sussex Clubs took pains to point out that its members are in the Democratic stronghold of Sussex County - the third, fourth and fifth representative districts - and that these areas gave the Democrats a majority of 3,500 votes in the 1954 election. The districts include Seaford, Laurel and Delaware.

It was also noted that the fifth district has consistently been the strongest Democratic district in the county over the past 20 years.

Three Full Measures Fail In Marathon Legislature

The nays had it Tuesday night in the General Assembly. Three controversial, high-pressure pieces of legislation were worked over. All three were dealt resounding defeats.

The Senate defeated a move to override Gov. J. Caleb Boggs' veto of the State Department of Labor Bill, and sandbagged an attempt to get rollcall on the Fair Employment Practices Commission bill.

The House — for the seventh time—turned down the Newport Plan to give incorporated towns a share of state motor fuel taxes to pay for street maintenance.

The override attempt on the Labor Department veto mustered only seven of the 12 votes needed.

The FEPC measure was blocked when the Senate, by a vote of 6 yeas and 10 nays, refused to suspend all rules to permit consideration of a duplicate bill.

The Newport Plan received only 18 of the 27 House votes it needed for passage — a loss from last week when it missed by only one vote.

Off-floor maneuvering on the labor department bill—or bills—delayed the start of business in the Senate until 11:10 p. m. Under pressure from organized labor, Democratic leaders were attempting to set things up for passage of a compromise measure that would permit Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to name the original members of the department.

Forcing a roll call on the veto, which meant the senators had to stand up and be counted under the watchful eye of labor chiefs, was as close as the compromisers came to success. They conceded before the vote that there was no hope of overriding the Governor's disapproval.

It was the member-appointing section of the Labor Department bill, sponsored by Senator John E. Reilly (D-Wilmington), that brought Governor Boggs' veto last week.

Boggs Charges Usurpation He told the Senate in his veto message that he is in favor of creating a department of labor, but cannot sign measure that usurps his right to make executive appointments.

The override attempt was so weak that five of the Senate's 12 Democrats joined Republicans in voting to sustain the veto.

The members who voted in favor of overriding: Senators John R. Butler (D-Middletown), Jehu F. Camper (D-Harrington), Eugene Lamont (D-Wilmington), Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace), William C. Paradee (D-Magnolia), Reilly, and Charles G. Moore (D-Hartly).

Voting against the override: Senators William B. Behm (D-Dover), William O. Covey, Jr. (R-Seaford), S. W. Harrison (D-Wyoming), Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), Thomas L. Johnson (R-Rehoboth Beach), Elwood F. Melson, Jr. (R-Claymont), Clifford Pryor (D-Blackbird), Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro), and Robert E. Wilgus (R-Frankford).

Senator Wilmer W. Williams (R-Roselle), attending an Army reserve encampment, was absent.

May Come up Later After the roll call, Senators Reilly and McCullough changed their vote from yes to no, so the override can be considered again at a later date.

In asking for the override, Senator Reilly read this statement: "The Governor has seen fit to veto Senate Substitute 2 for S. B. 470. He gives as his primary reason the fact that he has decided it violates the checks and balance system of our government by appointing the initial members of the department in spite of the fact that our Superior Court has said that it does not. He in turn apparently refuses to accept the decision of the court and now chooses to usurp the judicial power.

"The state has departments of Health, Agriculture, Highway, and many others, but apparently the Governor feels that Labor should remain a stepchild. We do not feel that way. We feel that this department will help management, labor, and the general public of our state."

The Senate never took a vote on the FEPC measure itself, but it dealt it a crippling blow.

Approved by the House many months ago, the bill has been gathering dust in the Senate Public Health Committee, headed by Senator Hoey. The senator's firmly disapproving view of the measure is well known, and FEPC supporters long ago gave up hope of persuading him to give the bill a report and ready for floor action.

Sponsor Asks Action

Tuesday night's parliamentary skirmish followed an appeal for action from the FEPC bill's sponsor, Rep. Paul E. Livingston (D-Wilmington), who had requested the privilege of addressing the Senate.

Immediately after Mr. Livingston's talk, in which he told the senators "the people of Delaware expect" them to act on the measure, Senator Lamont—leader of the Democratic majority—moved for consideration of a duplicate bill. There is only one original copy of each General Assembly bill, and the rules are clear that the original must be in hand when a measure is to be considered.

The original FEPC bill was delivered to Senator Hoey by the Senate secretary when it came from the House. It didn't make an appearance last night, but Senators Lamont and Reilly argued there is a precedent for by-passing the rules the requirement and voting on a duplicate.

They claimed first that the vote could be taken under a rule suspension approved earlier in the evening. (A few hours earlier the Senate had voted to suspend a rule the prohibits final action on a measure the same night it is introduced or arrives from the House.)

Rule Suspension Barred

Senator Hoey argued that the suspended rule didn't apply in this instance. After collecting advice from legislative attorneys and others, Senator Moore, the president pro tem, said he agreed. Senator Moore told the FEPC backers they would have to suspend all rules if they were to get a vote on the duplicate.

Senator Lamont immediately moved for the suspension and Senator Hoey just as quickly called upon his colleagues to turn down the motion.

Senator Melson entered the debate, urging the Senate to avoid "violating principle" by suspending rules. Instead, he urged, a petition should be circulated to free the FEPC measure from Senator Hoey's committee.

"The proper way to do this is through petition," Senator Melson said. "If a majority is in favor of suspending all rules, then a majority must be in favor of a petition. I know that I for one, would sign."

Voting for the rule suspension were Senators Butler, Lamont, McCullough, Pryor, Reilly, and Moore.

Against the suspension: Senator Behen, Camper, Covey, Harrison, Hoey, Johnson, Melson, Paradee, Steen and Wilgus.

The Newport Plan measure was called up for its latest test by Rep. Robert P. Maclary (R-Newport Pike), the minority votes, Mr. Maclary had the roll call tabled.

Vote on Bill

The vote on the Newport Plan was as follows:

For the bill—Reps. Alexander, Brogan, Clark, Donovan, Hicks, B. W. Johnson, T. S. Johnson, Lawson, Maclary, Massey, Mayhew, Pepper, Queen, Rowan, Shockley, Snowden, Wilkinson, Wolf.

Voting no were: Reps. Bostick, Deputy, Keel, Macklin, and Quigley.

Listing not voting was: Rep. Layton.

Voting present were: Reps. Hastings and Smith.

Absent: Reps. Eskridge, Garton, Lester, Livingston, Matti ford, Nechay, Tunnell, Walls, and Wood.

The Senate passed two bills previously approved by the House of Representatives.

One is aimed at settling the controversy over fishing rights in Indian River and Rehoboth Bays. It would permit non-residents to fish these waters without taking out licenses from the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners.

The other measure (H. B. 727) would add the Delaware Street Wharf in New Castle to river front installations that are to be repaired by the State Highway Department under an appropriation passed earlier in the session. It was passed unanimously.

Drunken Driver Is Committed

Norman H. Wilson of Milton was fined $250 and costs on two motor vehicle violations on Saturday by Magistrate J. B. Jeffries of Lynch's Heights. In default of payment Wilson was sent to jail for 90 days.

Wilson was arrested by state police after his car had figured in an accident along U. S. Route 113, north of Milford, on charges of drunken driving and failing to use due care in the operation of a motor vehicle.

Wilson's car crashed into the rear of a car operated by Norvil I. Adams, RD 2 Seaford, when the Adams car had slowed up for a left turn. Stanley Wells of Harrington, a passenger in the Wilson car suffered injuries to his nose and face.

Wilson was fined $200 and costs for drunken driving and $50 and costs for failing to use due care in the operation of a motor vehicle.

MOST CUSTOMERS ARE OK

Most of our customers are considerate, the same as in other businesses. The majority sets the pace and their conduct establishes the pattern.

We say this in appreciation for, at times, we are too prone to complain of the infinitesimal minority of complainers and hagglers.

As a rule, our customers do not raise Cain if we say we cannot do commercial printing by the time requested. In fact, many say, "Just phone me when it's ready," or "I won't need it for a couple weeks."

The complainers on price of printing or advertising are rare. Generally speaking, if the public thinks a price is more than it can afford, it doesn't complain; it just doesn't buy.

We have the rare haggler who says that so-and-so does the work for less, but, we repeat, he is a "rara avis" and we either ignore him and tell the story of a very good friend of ours, who had a large weekly and commercial plant. This friend, a genteel man, apparently hadn't learned how to say, "no." He was $52,000 in debt when he hanged himself.

Our customers are generally considerate, and their manners, in many cases, are better than ours. If we do not have the color of paper desired, they usually will accept another.

Almost all our customers pay promptly. A very few are slow pay and these, generally speaking, have a good reason for their procrastination.

We have checked with one or two other businessmen in Harrington and have found they hold to our opinions. We should stop and think that it is the general practice to toms, instead of being thankful for the praiseworthy majority which enable us to stay in business.

James Evins bought a can of rattlesnake meat, prepared to serve as hors d'oeuvres, and invited us to participate. Our trepidation was more than counteracted by our curiosity, and we tried it. The preparation reminded us of sardines in mustard.

This is merely an example of pointing out how the world will try many new foods before it will starve. Ants, grasshoppers, grubs, snails, all make good, sustaining foods, as members of the Army's survival school will tell.

Some items, which the average American might hesitate to eat, are in the luxury class. Before World War II, a Park Plaza, cost $10 per plate. A very small can of the meat, with preparations, costs $1.67.

Checking on snails, we found that they were served by the leading hotels of Washington, D.C. In Africa, we saw them by the thousands. They were as large as a silver dollar and they sapped the life out of much of the vegetation, including the bushes.

The crow is a pest, but he is a tasty bird indeed, and there is no game limits on him. Roasted with pineapple, with a dark, brown gravy, he is delight indeed. Before the war, we paid $2 for a crow dinner at a swanky restaurant in St. Louis when a good steak could be had for $1.50.

We eat muskrats here, but Middlewesterners throw up their hands at the idea.

A few persons eat mananoes, a soft clam, here but they are a delicacy in Jersey and the New England states. In Queen Anne's county, Md., there is a sizable industry in gathering the succulent bivalve. They are sold at $5 per bushel. Recently, the clam diggers association in the Maryland county had a free clam bake to acquaint the natives with a food that has always been right under their noses.

"Trapeze" to Show At The Reese

After glancing at the Reese Theatre program to be found in this newspaper, 'tis no wonder that the Movie Center management is claiming the greatest 'line-up' of entertainment they have ever had the privilege to present.

Van Johnson in "23 Paces To Baker St." coupled with the special Cinemascope presentation "Wedding in Monaco," the only official films showing the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier holds forth on the Reese Theatre screen Thursday and Friday, July 12 and 13.

A special all family holiday show is listed for Saturday, July 14, one day only, William Bendix is the featured star in "Boy's Prison" with Scott Brady and Rita Gam in the new Fox hit, "Mohawk."

Of special family interest is the coming of "Toy Tiger", with little Tim Hovey and Jeff Chandler, Sunday Monday and Tuesday, July 15, 16, and 17. According to the management special effort should be made to bring the entire family to see this sequel to "Major Benson."

The Reese Theatre will be closed on Wednesdays' only during alterations.

Of special interest is the coming of the Wonder Picture "Trapeze" with Burt Lancaster, Gina Lollobrigida, and Tony Curtis, on Friday Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, July 20, 21, 22, 23. May we suggest you see the special Reese Theatre program to be found in this newspaper.

Spicher Builds New-Type Barn

Convinced that elevated-stall milking has a great labor-saving advantage in dairying, Preston Spicher of Greensboro recently built a V-type, elevated-stall milking barn. This is the first V-barn constructed in this area, and it's arousing a great deal of interest in the community, says Pet Dairy Chats.

Spicher's stanchion barn was destroyed during the "Hurricane Hazel," and he has been milking in a temporary building. Preston was particularly interested in the V-type milking arrangement, as it's easy and inexpensive to construct and is suited to the size of his herd, which runs between 12 and 15 milking cows.

The 12' x 12' concrete block building was constructed next to his milk house. The bill for materials for the new structure reads as follows:
 275 concrete blocks $53.00
 12 bags Bricklock 16.80
 25 bags cement 31.25
 Shiplap (doors and gables) 20.78
 Track and hangars 25.11
 3 sqs. wood shingles 63.00
 Nails, bolts, etc. 28.03
 Drain tile 11.31
 Total $249.28

Cows enter the barn by going up steps at the corner of the building. The cow then walks into an elevated stall, either along the right wall or the left wall, depending on which stall is vacant. The cow is fed grain, and her udder is washed with warm water before milking.

Spicher, who has been a Pet patron for more than 15 years, has installed a cow-to-can milker that is almost continually milking as it is switched back and forth from one stall to the other. The operator, who stands on the floor between the two stalls, is 30 inches below the level of the platform on which the cows stand. The entrance and exit doors are operated by pulling ropes. The operator can let the cows in and out, feed them their grain and operate the milking machine practically without moving out of his tracks. The cow-to-can milker will milk from 12 to 15 cows per hour.

V-stalls can be constructed in the corner of an old building at a very low cost.

Visitors are welcome at the Spicher farm, located on the Greensboro -Whiteleysburg road three miles from Greensboro.

Kent Home Doings

by Charlotte L. Swanson,

Almost every day magazines, papers, radio and TV tell us about a new suggestion for losing weight. Nutritionists tell us that overweight is our number one nutritional problem. Statistics tell us that overweight people don't live as long as those whose weight is normal.

Yet, a walk down any street shows us that too many of us weigh more than we should. It takes determination and will power, but we can lose pounds—and do it safely.

If you really want to lose weight—safely—your first step should be to see a doctor and have a check-up. Follow a food plan which he recommends or approves, and exercise moderately. Watch the scales—weighing in once or twice a week, early in the morning. Expect to lose one or two pounds a week—no more. Remember how slowly you gained that extra weight! Use your will power—and stick to your food plan!

If you would like a copy of the bulletin, "Foods for Calorie Watchers," prepared by Miss Joan Allen, Nutrition Specialist with the University of Delaware Extension Service, I'll be happy to send it to you. It contains some "Do's" and "Don't's" as well as lots of streamlined recipes that have all the flavor of your favorite foods, but fewer calories. Write to: Home Demonstration Agent, Post Office Building, Dover, Delaware.

Frear Hopes Congress Can Complete Agenda

United States Senator J. Allen Frear has expressed the hope that Congress will be able to complete the remaining portion of its legislative agenda without undue delay and controversy. In his weekly statement, the Senator recalled that Congress has in the past frequently become embroiled in extended and sharp debate on disputed measures with the result that other important legislation has not been acted upon. Mr. Frear declared that the Senate has, during the past year, conducted most of its debates with the stature and demeanor befitting the importance of its deliberations. For this cooperative attitude, the Senator commended Majority Leader, Senator Lyndon Johnson, as well as Minority Leader, Senator William Knowland.

The Delaware lawmaker also declared the record of the 84th Congress will reflect affirmative accomplishments in behalf of the general welfare. However, he emphasized that partisan appraisals of the legislative program will differ sharply when discussed during the forthcoming election campaign.

Said the Senator, "Congress, through its process of deliberation and debate is usually able to perceive most of the complications of legislation before enactment." "However," he added, "there are occasions when the administration of Congressional acts is less desirable although the acts themselves almost always contain affirmative provisions which, broadly speaking, are designed to benefit rather than hinder the general welfare."

"Thus," he concluded, "criticisms of the record of Congress during an election year can often be attributed to the enthusiasm of an election campaign rather than to an objective appraisal of the accomplishments of the Senate and House of Representatives, developed and approved over a period of many months."

Pasture Check July 13 and 16

Pasture and forage crop programs on 20 Kent County farms will be evaluated on July 13th and 16th when the mid-summer visits of the Greener Pastures Committee are made, according to county agent, George K. Vapaa.

The committee, composed of Delmar J. Young, Extension Dairyman, and William H. Mitchell, Extension Agronomist, will have as its purpose assisting with the evaluation of (1) the mid-summer Pasture supply, (2) the quantity and quality of hay already harvested, (3) the prospect for late hay, (4) the quality of silage already in the silo, (5) the prospects for late silage, and (6) plans for fall seeding of pasture and hay.

Mr. Vapaa stated, "much progress has been made in improving pasture and forage crop production in the county, but there is still to much to do toward increasing the return per acre from these crops."

An invitation is extended to all interested farmers to accompany the committee on the visits, a schedule of which follows:

FRIDAY, 13th JULY
 7:00 A.M. - Meet at Vapaa's home

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Church School 10 o'clock, Fulton J. Downing, superintendent. There are classes for every age group. "Come let us study to show ourselves approved unto God, workmen who need not be ashamed; rightly dividing the word of truth."

"Jesus Is the Savior of Men," is the title of the lesson this week. It is the third in the series "Foundations for Faith."

Morning Worship is at 11 o'clock. "Mature Christians," will be the subject of Rev. Gibson's sermon.

While on vacation, "Don't take a vacation from God." You will find a friendly church where ever you might happen to be. If you are vacationing in Harrington, we would be happy to have you worship with us.

Rev. R. S. Gibson, pastor

Wyatt-Short

Robert G. Wyatt and Jean Short both of Felton were married in the Asbury Parsonage at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon July 7. Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Fry, also of Felton, were best man and matron of honor.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am going to summer school under the World War II GI Bill and my course ends August 31. Will I be allowed to finish, even though the July 25 Wind-up of the program applies to me?

A—The law prohibits you from training after July 25, 1956 under the GI Bill. It does not provide for exceptions to allow veterans to finish their courses. You may, of course, continue your exercise course after July 25 at your own expense.

Q—If a serviceman dies in service, do his beneficiaries have a choice in type of payment of his indemnity?

A—No the indemnity is paid in only one way: 120 equal monthly installments, with each installment at $9.29 per $1,000 of indemnity. It is only in post-service Korean GI insurance that a choice exists in payment of the proceeds.

Q—As a service-disabled veteran with an 80 percent disability rating, I am drawing extra compensation because I have a 17 year old son. He has just enlisted in the Marines. Will the extra payments continue, since he has not yet reached age 18?

A—The extra payments may not be continued after he joins the Marines. Reason is that once he is in service, he no longer can be considered a legal member of your household, for purpose of the extra compensation payments.

Q—Is it necessary for a disabled Korea veteran to undergo vocational counseling before he begins vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A—Yes The law requires vocational counseling for all disabled veteran-trainees, in order to determine need for training, and in order to help the veteran choose a training program best suited to him.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Keep The Change"

If you've seen "Mac" Johnson this week, chances are he's told you his waitress story. For those who haven't heard:

"Mac" recently stopped at an out-of-town diner. He ordered the chef's special—and his waitress (brand new on the job) made every possible mistake. She confused the order, spilled the soup, dropped the rolls, brought him a wrong dessert.

Despite it all, "Mac" left a substantial tip. But she smiled and handed the money back. "Keep it, Mister—you've sure earned it more than I have," she said. From where I sit, that girl deserves credit for admitting her shortcomings—something not everyone is big enough to do. For instance, I'm convinced lots of folks know they're wrong when they deny me the right to a glass of beer with my supper . . . just because they happen to prefer some other beverage. They wouldn't like me ordering them to accept my choice.

Greenwood Co-op To Meet

Members of the Southern States Greenwood Advisory Board and the local Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee, their wives, and husbands will meet July 16 at 7 P.M. DST in Harrington, to make plans for their local 1956 Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting. They will also nominate persons to fill vacancies occurring this year on the Board and Advisory Committee. Elections will take place at the membership meeting to be held later this year.

Members of the local Advisory Board that will retire this year are: Carl Tucker, Chr. and William Carlisle, Jr., both of Greenwood.

Retiring this year from the Farm Home Advisory Committee are: Mrs. Emerson Isaacs, Chr. and Mrs. James Morgan, both of Greenwood.

Other members of the local Advisory Board are: Lester Huey, Secy., Ross James, Floyd McDowell and Emerson Isaacs, all of Greenwood.

Other members of the Farm Home Advisory Committee are: Mrs. Marvin Warner, Secy., Mrs. Carl Tucker, Mrs. Sylvia Taylor and Mrs. Robert McDowell, all of Greenwood.

Greenwood

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill of Harrington, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, and I'm sure these antique lovers had quite a hashing over furniture, glass and china.

The Sunshine Class of Greenwood Methodist Church held the annual class picnic at an earlier date this year in order to include the Dick Carrolls who are so soon to move away from the community. The affair was held on Saturday evening at Redden Forest. The usual picnic supper was enjoyed and then Ruthie and Dick were presented with a beautiful mil-glass pitcher as a farewell gift.

On Sunday evening at 6:00, the Carrolls were again guests of honor at a farewell dinner given by a large group of devoted friends in the community. The affair was in form of a covered dish supper and the guests list included a number of out-of-town friends also. There was much good fellowship and laughter for Ruth and Dick to cherish in fond memory. Miss Dolores Anthony sang "The End of a Perfect Day," and there was group singing led by Richard Haarde. The Carrolls were presented with a lovely silver bowl from the entire group, which Ruth accepted in usual gracious and charming manner. Dick read the accompanying card which was signed by the guests present. Happy landing in your new home, Dear People. You leave behind a blank that no one else will ever quite fill.

Grace Methodist Church will have its annual Sunday School picnic on Tuesday, July 17 (the 18th if rain occurs)—time, 4 to 8 p.m., starting point Grace Church, destination, Wheeler Park in Harrington. Cars will be at the church for those who need transportation. There will be plenty of food and drink served by the Sunday School. For those who cannot leave with the crowd because of time difficulties, we will start serving about 5:30 to 6:00.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

By the time this goes to press the Grand Circuit will be about half way over up here. The stables are all full. About eight are all top horses. You can tell all the old time grooms with just one horse to care for. When they get through you will see them all cleaned up never knowing that they took care of a horse.

There was a fellow that had a little filly in a stake up here, and is he worried! This crowd really gave him the once over. You see this track is a little on the rough side and they just shipped here from Westbury. He is from the Two Gate Farm. To make it even more interesting, he drew 8th position. He just went from barn to barn asking about the different ones in this stake. Dave has Speedster in the same stake. How we will make out is another story. There are 14 starters in this race and the crowd doesn't seem to like it at all - not for two-year-olds.

Billy Haughton shipped in with 23 head for the stakes. They sure are here from all over the country. All you have to do is watch the license plates. I guess the ones that are stabled away from the track will be glad when it is all over. There will be plenty of stalls then. I think they will be asking for horses, for several of the local stables have moved on to other tracks. There were three stables in from Vernon Downs, but they say they are going back to a better track. They work on it all the time, but it just doesn't seem to get any better.

You know, it is hard to beat the Harrington track to race on. If it was just as wide as the others, what a wow it would be.

We are sorry to hear about Irene's foot getting hurt. Hope by now, Irene, you are on the mended side. You know, Irene, you can't hop around like you used to!

Bill Cluley was badly burned Monday in a Burrsville cannery when gasoline was accidentally used in starting a fire. He suffered first and second degree burns in the upper part of his body and face and is confined in Milford Hospital.

Harrington Lad Jailed in Holdup

Robert Charles Derrickson, 18, of Harrington, was sentenced to serve three years imprisonment by Judge James B. Carey in the Superior Court at Dover Monday. The youth had pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and robbery.

Before imposing sentence in the case Judge Carey stated that he had given considerable thought to the case because of the youth of the defendant, but when the record and the seriousness of the charges were considered, a parole could not be considered.

Derrickson, despite his youth, has amassed quite a criminal record in the Juvenile Court and has been in prison in Dover since March 25.

Derrickson was charged with breaking into the store of Burton Smith at Harrington on Dec. 18 of last year and stealing a revolver and later that same night he used the revolver to hold up Joseph Dennin, a taxi-cab driver, and take $6.40 from Dennin while flourishing the gun at him.

After that episode Derrickson left this section but was apprehended in March after he had been to the West Coast and through the South.

Taken before the Juvenile Court he was ordered sent to the Ferris Industrial School but that school refused to receive him because of his prior record. Then the Juvenile Court petitioned the Superior Court to take jurisdiction in the case.

Derrickson was brought into the Superior Court on May 31 and entered pleas of guilty to the two charges preferred against him and at that time Judge Carey took the matter under advisement before imposing sentence.

In passing sentence Judge Carey stated that he had held a number of conferences with Max Terry, counsel for Derrickson, and Dep. Atty. James B. Messick concerning the case. But the previous record in the Juvenile Court, and the consideration of the charges, did not warrant a parole.

Derrickson was committed to the custody of the State Board of Corrections and that Board will determine where he will serve his sentence.

BOWLES URGES SUPPORTERS TO SUPPORT HOEY OR ELSE...

Bryant W. Bowles Sunday advised his supporters to vote Republican or not at all if Senator Walter J. Hoey of Milford doesn't get the Democratic nomination for governor.

Returning here from his new home in Beaumont, Tex., after many months away from Delaware, the president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People spoke at meetings in Camden-Wyoming Saturday night and Harrington Sunday in support of Senator Hoey.

His visit was a brief one. He said he planned on returning to Beaumont Monday. In a telephone interview after the Harrington meeting he said he had a "tire business" in Beaumont, but would return to Delaware on 24 hours' notice "any time they want me."

In spite of his support for Senator Hoey, the Delaware state senator was not at the Camden-Wyoming meeting while know waaea' -odwS

Mr. Bowles said he did not know whether the senator was in the audience in Harrington or not.

Mr. Bowles said 471 persons turned out in the rain for the Harrington meeting. Estimates varied for the Camden-Wyoming meeting. Camden Mayor Herbert D. Cluley, Jr., said he was reliably informed that 40 to 50 people attended, but Mr. Bowles said nearly 200 turned out.

Mayor Cluley, president of the Delaware Mayor's Association, did not attend and said he was satisfied that most of the other people in the area didn't either.

"We don't want any trouble want any outsiders coming in here," he said, "and we don't want any outsiders coming in full confidence in our school board."

Mr. Bowles is confident that Senator Hoey is going to be the next governor.

"If we can get him nominated we know we can get him elected he said.

The strategy he outlined is to force a delegate fight in Wilmington and all three counties to elect enough Hoey delegates to gain the state senator the nomination.

But Mr. Bowles said, "if Senator Hoey is not our next governor we know there'll be no Democrat in office."

"We plan on swinging our votes to the Republican or not voting at all," he added. "Either way would assure a Republican in office. These people won't vote at all rather than vote for McConnell." The latter referred to J. H. Tyler McConnell, the leading Democratic candidate for governor.

In his Camden - Wyoming address he said that "if McConnell is the Democratic candidate then the people of the state might as well keep what they have now."

This side reference to Gov. J. Caleb Boggs didn't mean that he was supporting the Governor for re-election, Mr. Bowles said. "He still hasn't been nominated," he said.

The organizer of the NAAWP said he plans to return to Delaware later this summer for three weeks to a month to "work underground—underground, that is, to line up delegates for Senator Hoey."

"After all" he continued, "we're not going to tell the round, simple objects running this state all of our plans."

What are "round, simple objects?"

That's the definition of "wheels" you'll find in the dictionary," he answered.

Vernon P. Hood of near Milford presided at the Harrington meeting. Mr. Bowles said that Mr. Hood is chairman "pro tem" of the Hoey forces, while Harrison Melvin of Harrington will be in charge of the NAAWP program in Delaware.

Seaford Nylon Plant To Show Safety Car

The Seaford Nylon Plant of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company, Inc. is featuring the promotion of highway safety during July.

In achieving these goals, have ford plant has designed a "Safety Car" to be driven on the highways and in the neighboring communities of the Seaford Nylon Plant. Highway safety reminders are lettered in green on the doors and the trunk of the car. A skeleton will ride in the front seat with the driver and observers will be given the impression that the skeleton is speaking to them over the car's sound system. The car will visit eight communities during the two-week period starting July 9 and be on display at the Harrington Fair starting July 23.

The objective and theme of the program is, "Help Promote Highway Safety." It is hoped that the "Safety Car" and the broadcasts will serve as a reminder to all drivers and pedestrians of their responsibilities in preventing highway accidents by following all traffic rules. The highway program is one of many programs put on by the Seaford Plant to help promote interest in safety.

The dupont philosophy is, "All Personal Injuries Can And Should Be Prevented." It is towards this goal that the Seaford Plant employees are striving. On midnight of July 17, the Seaford plant will become eligible for its fifth general manager's award for outstanding safety performance. The Seaford plant has also won the coveted Board of Directors' award 23 times since plant start-up in 1939.

Tips on Safety In Boats

Boating is gaining in popularity each year, and as with other outdoor sports, each season there are a number of accidents because of failure to follow the rules.

A good dose of "Common Sense Afloat" is suggested for all boat owners by the Outboard Boating Club of America. Their study of boating mishaps reveals that in most cases the real cause turned out to be one of the following: 1. too many people in the boat, 2. failure to keep a sharp lookout, 3. speeding at the wrong time or place.

"Common Sense" pointers recommended are:

Don't overload your boat's light capacity

Don't overpower your boat

Don't "show-off"

Don't go out in bad weather

Always carry a buoyant preserver or cushion for each passenger

Local GOC Post To Observe 4th Anniversary

The local post of the Ground Observer Corps Sky Watch will observe its 4th anniversary tomorrow.

In reviewing the accomplishments of the post, Samuel A. Short, Jr., chief observer, said much good had been done.

Many persons have been trained to spot aircraft, and although there have been no enemy planes reported as yet, much good has been accomplished in spotting planes in distress, such as those encountering windstorms, hurricanes, and lightning," Short explained.

The Ground Observers Corps was authorized by an act enacted by Congress four years ago for the protection of cities and towns, civilians, churches, and everything that could be destroyed by enemy aircraft.

If you would like to learn what you can do in case of attack, call 8983, days, or 8045, nights.

Preparedness is the most essential thing in any danger, so do not be left out. It may be the thing you need, concluded Short.

Wong Troupe To Appear at Fair

In a colorful display of Oriental wizardry and muscular control the George Wong troupe will be grandstand show at the Kent & Sussex County Fair from July 23rd to July 28th.

Four agile men and two lovely girls, all masters of the intricate techniques of tumbling and acrobatics, bring an amazing variety of skills to the American stage. Each of the girls is a contortionist with a body so supple as to appear at times to be completely boneless. The astounding bends and twists that they achieve with apparently effortless ease must be seen to be believed. The entire troupe, working together, demonstrate their skill in acrobatics in swift-paced hand-balancing and pyramid-building routines that become a swirling flash of graceful motion. Their many-hued Oriental costumes give the act a gay and festive air that brings added sparkle to an already brilliant performance. Fresh from a tour of the South American Republics, the George Wong troupe is making its first appearances in fairs and parks in the East this season. Under the direction of New York born George Wong, the other members of the group are natives of Kwangtung, China. Raised from childhood in the skills and traditions of the circus, each member brings a unique talent that makes the George Wong troupe a must for visitors to the Kent & Sussex County Fair.

George Pierson and Freddie Biedeman are enjoying a two weeks at Camp Barnes.

Sgt. and Mrs. Wilbur Piet, and son Billy, are spending the week at Rehoboth with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelley.

The Magnolia Church Picnic will be held at Riverview Beach on Wednesday, July 18. Everyone interested in going by bus please be at the church by 9:30 as that is the hour the buses will be leaving.

Miss Nancy Hart is spending the week at Ocean City, New Jersey, in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Parvis, and family, of Houston.

Church hostesses for Sunday, July 16th, will be Mrs. Kathryn Knight and Mrs. Florence Kenton.

Little Miss Patty Locke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Locke, is spending a several weeks vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. T. C. Sherrill, and other relatives, in Cockeysville, Md. The Locke family took her as far as Glasgow Arms where they met Mrs. Sherrill and had dinner together there on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hart held a buffet luncheon at their home on July 4th. Present were, Mrs. Anna Hawkins, Mrs. Edna Sapp, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Morgan, and daughter Connie Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Blessing, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Prentice, and daughter, Carol Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Simpson, and sons, Richard, Wayne and Gary, all of Houston.

al government in figuring payments for its corn allotment program, Simpson said. To Delaware farmers, this will mean about $10 an acre more for corn grown under the government allotment program this year, or a total of $250,000 to $300,000 in the entire state.

Purpose of the government allotment program is to reduce acreage so as to bring production of corn closer in line with market demands, Simpson pointed out. Farmers then receive a guarantee of a minimum or 'floor' price for corn harvested from the rest of their acreage.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS TO EXHIBIT AT KENT-SUSSEX FAIR

There are many opportunities for 4-H Club members to take part in the 1956 Kent-Sussex Fair, July 23-28, according to Sam Gwinn, State 4-H Club Leader.

A full week of educational activities has been planned in addition to the exhibits which can be made in 134 classes. These include canning, frozen foods, clothing, home improvement, baking, eggs, vegetables, entomology, home grounds beautification, crafts and farm and home electric.

Members may also exhibit in the junior dairy, poultry and swine shows, and should contact their local club leaders or county 4-H agents as soon as possible if they desire to enter exhibits.

State 4-H judging contests will be held on Tuesday, July 24 starting at 10:00 A. M. All 4-H members 10 years of age or older are eligible to participate. Judging contests will be held in practically all major project fields.

State 4-H demonstration contests will be held on Thursday, July 26, starting at 10:00 A. M. Winners of county demonstration contests will present demonstrations in dairy foods, dairy production, home beautification, livestock, poultry foods, poultry production, field crops and vegetable production.

The state 4-H tractor operators contest will be held on Thursday morning, July 26, starting at 10:00 A. M. At this time the three winners from each county will compete for the honor of being the State's best 4-H tractor operator.

All 4-H Club members in the State are urged to participate in the Fair, either by exhibiting, entering a judging contest, or giving a demonstration. Members, parents, and the general public are invited to visit the 4-H exhibits at the Fair and to attend any or all of the above functions.

WATCH FOR DOWNY MILDEW ON CUCURBITS

Moist, humid weather accompanied by high temperatures is favorable for plant growth but is very favorable for fungus growth too, said Dr. L. O. Weaver, University of Maryland Extension plant pathologist.

Downy mildew, a most serious disease of cantaloupes and cucumbers in Maryland spreads northward each year and appears in Maryland about the middle of July. The disease also hits watermelons, squash and other cucurbits. Dr. Weaver said fungicides prevent infection and spread of the disease but do not cure leaves already infected. Once established in a field, downy mildew spreads rapidly, he said.

For protection against downy mildew, the plant pathologist recommends Zineb (Dithane Z-78 or Parzate). This also protects the plants against macrosporium leaf spot and anthracnose. The crops should be protected early in July and fungicide applications should be repeated until the peak of harvest, he said.

Dr. Weaver also urged tomato growers to spray for early blight, anthracnose, fruit rot and leaf spots. Late blight which thrives under cool, moist conditions has not been found in Maryland yet, but has been reported in western North Carolina, he said.

Zineb, as listed above and maneb are recommended for these tomato diseases. Farmers can get more detailed information from University of Maryland Fact Sheet 27, "Field Control of Tomato Diseases and Insects." And, Fact Sheet 50 gives detailed information on diseases of cantaloupes, cucumbers and watermelons. These two fact sheets are available from county agent offices.

HOWARD H. DICKERSON

Mr. Dickerson was commended by the club for the efficiency of his office. During the past two years the work of the office has doubled - State pay checks are issued twice a month instead of once a month now. In spite of the doubling of the work, only one employee has been added to the office, it was reported at the meeting.

AVERAGE CORN YIELDS IN DELAWARE

A long-standing difference of opinion about average corn yields in Delaware was finally settled a few days ago when George Simpson, Houston dairyman and chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization State Committee called a meeting in Washington with representatives from the U. S. Agricultural Marketing Service.

There, Simpson presented figures gathered by the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service and Agronomy Department in yield surveys made throughout the state during the past several years. These surveys showed that normal corn yields in the state actually were several bushels an acre higher on the average than they had been officially reported by the state-federal crop reporting service.

As a result, the marketing service reviser its average normal corn crop yield figures upward for each of the state's three counties. For Kent County, they were raised from 34.1 bushels an acre to 44.6 bushels; for New Castle County, from 38.9 bushels to 47.8; for Sussex County, from 33.7 to 42.1 bushels.

The new figures are official and will be accepted by the feder-
