EVER READY FLOWER SHOW MOST SUCCESSFUL

The eighteenth annual flower show sponsored by the Ever Ready Class of Asbury Church School was held in Collins Hall of the church on Friday evening and was considered the most successful one yet in that there were more exhibitors, many more flowers, and the proceeds were greater than in any previous years.

At some time in the near future, Mr. Baynard will give a report to the Parish on the conference.

This Is Tall Corn; Can You Top It?

The man from Iowa, "out where the tall corn grows," couldn't believe his eyes when he saw the corn Floyd Blessing is growing on an 8-acre tract at Blair's Pond near Houston. True, it was silage, but corn that reaches from 12 to 15 feet is tall. A Libby employe measured a stalk that went 18 feet.

Blessing bought the seed, a Griffith hybrid, from Harrington Milling Company. Soybeans had been raised on the ground last year and this year a cover crop of rye and vetch was turned under. Some 45 loads of chicken manure were spread on the land, and 350 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer at planting time with the seed. Blessing thinks the wet weather, the chicken manure, and the good seed were mainly responsible for the tall growth. The corn is in the dent stage and ready to chop. Blessing believes he will get 20 tons to the acre.

SATURDAY REGISTRATION GOES OVER THE TOP

Houston

Saturday's voter registration totaled 30,556, topping the 30,000 goal set by election officials, and tying the Republicans and Democrats with approximately 51,000 voters per party.

The registration to date for the Nov. 6 election totals 129,126. These are unofficial figures but are based on customarily accurate figures supplied by the Department of Elections of the three counties.

The present registration is approximately 44,000 less than the total vote of 173,374 in the 1952 presidential election in Delaware.

In 1954, and off-year election, nearly 145,000 votes were cast. Added to the books Saturday were 9,446 Democrats, 10,887 Republicans and 8,223 men and women who would not list a party preference.

The results Saturday leave the major parties remarkably close on the to-date total for the first four of the six registration days.

The figures stand:
Democrats 51,576.
Republicans 51,839.

The number of those who will not state their party has mounted now to 24,709 and leaders of both parties were wondering how to pitch their campaigns at this better-than-20 per cent of the vote.

The remaining registration days are on Saturdays, Oct. 6 and Oct. 20.

Saturday's registration was considered good because it topped 30,000 despite the poor turn in the weather in mid-afternoon.

A breakdown of the available figures for Saturday follows:
Sussex County—23,264 in all; 984 Democrats, 2,164 Republicans and 1,316 declines.

Kent County—3,463 in all; 1,166 Democrats, 1,222 Republicans, and 1,075 declines.

Wilmington—7,600 in all; 2,479 Democrats, 2,195 Republicans, and 9,284 declines.

Rural New Castle County—14,029 in all; 3,817 Democrats, 5,306 Republicans and 4,906 declines.

A breakdown for the available figures to date follows:
Sussex County—23,286 in all; 10,824 Democrats, 9,376 Republicans, 2,952 declines, one Socialist and one Prohibitionist.

Kent County—14,423 in all; 7,243 Democrats, 4,694 Republicans, 2,486 declines, and one Socialist.

Wilmington—35,711 in all; 15,184 Democrats, 12,243 Republicans, 9,284 declines.

Rural New Castle County—55,728 in all; 18,215 Democrats, 25,526 Republicans, and 11,987 declines.

Delaware Food Notes

The best choice in eggs is the medium size in most stores this week. As more young laying chickens come into fall production, usually large supplies of smaller sizes of eggs reach the market. The prices on the medium eggs have declined to a point well below their value in relation to the large size.

Young Delmarva chicken supplies remain in abundant and retail prices have dropped another cent since the first of the month. September provides some of the best opportunities of the year for comfortable and enjoyable outdoor barbecues, and many home-makers are using this fine opportunity to have chicken head the menu. For indoor eating, too, chicken is a favorite meat this month.

Beef prices moved 2 cents to 2 1/2 cents higher last week for the choice grade, but many excellent values are still found. Inexpensive stew meat again becomes a fine choice as the weather turns cooler and fall vegetable become more plentiful. Chuck cuts in most cases have not advanced in price with the others and are still a wise choice. Some pork chops have risen sharply in price since last week, the most important advance being one of 3 cents to 4 cents per pound on chops and other loin cuts. Spring lamb is also as much as 4 cents per pound higher. Shoulder cuts of lamb and veal have remained fairly steady in price, however, and include many of the best buys this week.

Fall apples are appearing in local stores at very reasonable prices. The Red Delicious variety is most satisfactory for dessert purposes. McIntosh and Jonathans are fine for freezing as well as desserts. The Grimes Golden variety and the Staymens also make good applesauce. Other economy plus high quality this week. Among them are: Tomatoes, cabbage, corn, eggplant, peaches, onions, and beans, both snap and lima.

Tuna fish, packed in oil, is in heavy supply. Many stores are featuring low prices and the time is right for restocking the pantry. You can have fun trying tempting new tuna dishes this fall if you write to the Tuna Research Foundation, Ferry Building, Terminal Island, Calif., for their colorful new recipe booklet.

Advertising in the United States will boost Hong Kong's tourist attractions. Turkey now has six cement factories and 11 others under construction. Mexico's telephone company will invest $26,000,000 in new construction.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

By the time this goes to press we will be thinking of heading for Baltimore. Then it won't be long till we head for Harrington, unless something in this horse business turns out different.

Will be glad when this season is over. They say that you have your good and bad years, and I think that is so. Everything was going good, our colts were showing speed and racing good, then all the two year olds came down with a cold.

There are very few starts up here for Janet's Girl. I never want a free for all, not at these tracks.

They certainly are going out up here. Anywhere you look there are plenty of empty stalls. I wonder if that article that was in the Sports Illustrated for Sept. 10, has anything to do with it?

Wonder how many read it? Gosh, it's something. Was even on the TV stations up here.

All the Sports were sold out here in Batavia. We had to put our name on the waiting list. Even stood and waited while they called Buffalo, Rochester, and New York. We had to wait three days.

On some things I think they have softened up on. I mean the horses. They were so tough on everything. For instance, you can't look over the fence around the track any more. Police run you away.

I used to watch from front of our barn without having to go a mile around to the grandstand. No more.

Sure was surprised when I read about Ocean Downs. Is it so that maybe Brandywine will be sold out? That's the talk up here too.

When we went over to our stable last Sunday, we had company from Harrington and Houston, Ben Wilson and Louis Wroten. Dave and I were sure glad to see them. They watched the races Saturday evening and Sunday they left for Delaware, O., to see the Little Brown Jug race.

Makes you feel good to have someone from Harrington stop by and get a little home news.

Acting 4-H Club Agent Named For State

Wayne Bath, formerly with the National 4-H Club Foundation in Silver Spring, Md., has been named acting state 4-H club agent for Delaware, it was announced today by Dr. George M. Worrlow, dean of the school of agriculture at the University of Delaware. He will fill that position during the absence of the present 4-H club agent Samuel M. Gwinn, who has been granted leave by the University's Board of Trustees to carry on graduate work at the University of Wisconsin under a fellowship from the Kellogg Foundation.

Bath, a former county agricultural agent in Nebraska, was in charge of International Farm Youth Exchange delegates for the India, Pakistan, Burma area when he worked for the 4-H Club Foundation. He grew up on a farm near Auburn, Nebraska and has spent 8 years in 4-H work and two years in Future Farmer work.

Once an International Farm Exchange delegate to Ireland himself, he has helped chart the visits of dozens of U.S. and foreign IFYE delegates. His earlier 4-H work in Nebraska included supervision of the state's 13 regional 4-H camps. He also was supervisor of the 4-H Livestock Division at the Nebraska State Fair.

Bath is 26 years old, married, and will live in Newark during his tour of duty at the University.

Gwinn, the man he is replacing temporarily, has been state 4-H club agent in Delaware for 5 years. Prior to that, he was county 4-H club agent in Sussex County, coming there from a similar post in West Virginia. He is one of the first extension service agents in the U.S. to be granted a Kellogg Foundation fellowship to study advanced methods of extension service administration and supervision.

GROWING ECONOMY WILL INCREASE DEMAND FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Demand for farm products in this country by 1957 may be 40 to 45 per cent more than in 1953, estimates a U. S. Department of Agriculture researcher, Rex F. Daly. Use of livestock products is expected to increase more than use of crops.

The estimate is based on assumptions of a growing population, labor force, and employment. It also assumes that the world trend is toward peace.

Figures projected to 1957 point to a need for 125 million head of cattle if there is little change in average weights and death loss of the animals. In 1955 there were 96 1/2 million on American farms. The pig crop should increase from 95 to 130 million head, sheep from 27 to 33 million, the number of broilers by 80 per cent, chickens almost 20 per cent and turkeys about 50 per cent.

Crop consumption might rise more than 35 per cent by 1957.

Deadline Today For Signers on Soil Banks

Deadline date for farmers to sign up for the government's acreage reserve program for their 1957 wheat crop is close at hand says George C. Simpson, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Growers or winter wheat who wish to take part in this part of the government soil bank program should call at their county ASC office no later than Friday, Sept. 21 and sign an agreement.

The soil bank legislation passed by Congress last spring authorizes an acreage reserve program for basic crops over a 4-year period from 1956 through 1959, Simpson pointed out. However, each particular acreage agreement a farmer signs is good for only one particular crop during one year.

Chairman Simpson explains that the whole purpose of the soil bank's wheat acreage reserve is to help farmers further cut the acreage of wheat below acreage allotments and thereby reduce a too-great supply of the crop. Land which is set in reserve under this plan may not be cropped or grazed for the one-year period of the contract. In return for putting part of his land into acreage reserve, each farmer receives a money payment from the government to offset the income he would otherwise have gotten from cropping these acres.

Simpson emphasized that it would not reduce a farmer's future government wheat acreage allotment if he signed up for the acreage reserve program this year.

At a recent Glasgow auction 37 paintings brought $100,023 in 60 minutes.

Indonesia is buying an automatic telephone exchange for Djakarta.

India's assembly plans expect to turn out a record 35,00 cars this year.

Chile is getting bids, in Santiago, on building 23 new vessels of various types.

Food grain and potato demand will probably change slightly, but larger increases in demand are predicted for vegetables, citrus fruits, feed concentrates, fats and oils, cotton and tobacco. Feed concentrates, hay and major feed grains, including corn oats, barley and sorghum, might expand 40 to 45 per cent unless concentrates fed per livestock production unit decline.

High production in recent years has accumulated wheat, rice, cotton and feed grain surpluses, so a 40 per cent increase in demand by 1957 might require a production increase of farm products of less than one third.

The figures are based on the 1953 projection for a 1957 population of 210 million. Recent estimates by the Census Bureau place the figure nearer 220 million, which would hike the predictions another 5 per cent.

THE FARM LABOR PROBLEM

We are just about over the toughest year insofar as farm labor is concerned, than at any time since the end of World War II. What appeared at the start of the 1956 harvest season to be a tight but adequate labor force dissolved into a labor group hardly able to keep up with harvest demand. What happened? Several factors entered into the situation, first an unusually, cold, wet spring held up planting so that crops were three to four weeks late. This situation was not only in Delaware but existed along the entire Atlantic seaboard so that crops all along the line were not only late but were maturing at the same time. Many crews could not get away from their southern commitments to come north on time. Secondly, crew leaders were unable to recruit workers in Florida to fill out their crews to full numerical strength. Year round work opportunities in Florida are draining off the better worker from the migrant crews. Third, we have had bumper crops and in most cases a good market for every product produced on our farms. Short handed crews have simply not been able to handle some crops at peak. There is nothing to indicate that labor conditions will improve another season. For that reason we are starting to plan for 1957 labor. Our Farm Placement Representatives plan to contact as many users of seasonal labor as possible during the month of October. We hope to get your honest reaction to the labor situation this year. If you had a good crew, managed to get your work done and are satisfied, we will be glad to know it. If on the other hand, you were plagued with a poor crew or no workers at all, had difficulty in getting your harvest done and in general had a hard time, we are anxious to know that also. We re open eo suggestions or constructive criticism and will give sincere consideration to your views in trying to work out plans which will insure adequate help for all needs. Employees of seasonal labor are always welcome to visit and of our offices and talk things over with our farm placement men. Come in this fall or winter when work slacks off.

CURRENT ACTIVITIES

Harvesting still continues at a pace that taxes the labor available to keep up with maturing crops. The peak of the tomato harvest has passed but continued favorable weather is producing a good yield for this date. Pickers are urgently needed in some areas. The late snap bean crop is causing our greatest worry. Harvest crews expected to return from New York State for this crop are being held there to finish picking an unusually heavy and late crop. A large planting of broccoli, cauliflower, and brussels sprouts requires more labor than previous years. Any grower who has workers who will be idle for a day or two at a time can help get these crops harvested if they will refer these workers to either th Dover or Georgetown Offices of the Farm Placement Service.

Democrats to Hold Luncheon in Dover

All state and County candidates have been invited.

Diners are asked to bring a covered dish and $1.

WHEN YOUR CREW IS FINISHED

States to the south of us will be in demand of workers for the next two months. This is especially true of North Carolina where they have a big cotton crop and Virginia with a big bean crop. When your crew completes their work for you, will you kindly suggest to them that they contact one of our offices. We can refer them to areas where they are in great need.

"Somebody Up There Likes Me" at Reese Sept. 23-24-25
Rock'n Roll Jam Session Sept. 26-27

It looks as if the Reese Theatre is going to be the host of a bevy of Delaware and Maryland families, if the weekly program of coming attraction in this newspaper is correct. For this, Fri. and Sat., Sept. 21 and 22, Walt Disney offers his new Davy Crockett adventure, "Davy Crockett and the River Pirates" with Fess Parker along with Disney's "Man of Space." Tony Martin in "Quinnecannon, Frontier Scout" with special cartoon and news complete what Movie Center claims is the biggest all-family show presented this season. Regular prices will prevail with the exception all children must pay at this show only, the same as with all Disney presentations.

Many have read the book and everyone has heard about Rocky Graziano's life story. To miss "Somebody up There Likes Me," with Paul Newman and Pier Angeli, Sun. Mon. and Tues., Sept. 23-24-25, is to miss one of MGM's enjoyable pictures of the year. "Universals "Outside The Law" is the added feature attraction on this super weekend bill.

On Wed. and Thur., Sept. 26-27 the first Rock'n Roll Jam session envelopes the screen. Frankie Laine presents his zany musical hep-cat jamboree, "He Laughed Last" along with the requested return of Bill Haley's "Rock Around The Clock." It's a complete Rock'n Roll Revue.

Changes in Your Social Security

By Myron Milbourn
Manager of the Delaware Social Security Office

In the first article of this series I outlined the most important changes in the old-age and survivors insurance program brought about by the 1956 amendments to the social security law. Today, I shall discuss the kinds of work that are brought under social security for the first time as of January 1, 1956.

For taxable years after 1956, persons who work for themselves—alone or in partnership—as lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists, started building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on the same basis as self-employed persons previously covered by the law. It is estimated that about 200,000 professional people are affected by this change in the social security law.

Lawyers make up the largest number of these newly-covered self-employed professionals. As long ago as 1948, it was estimated that 140,000 out of the probably 170,000 lawyers in the United States were self-employed. Most of them are already familiar with the insurance provisions of social security. They have had occasion to observe and study it in connection with the affairs of their clients. Moreover, because of the close relationship between legal practice and fields such as business management, real estate, finance, and politics, many lawyers had moved into otherlines of work covered by social security before 1956. A great many of them came under social security during active service with the Armed Forces. In fact, it is estimated that at least 30 percent of all presently self-employed lawyers, at one time or another, have accumulated some earnings credits under the old-age and survivors insurance program. To these lawyers, in particular, the extension of coverage is of naked importance. The social security credits they have built up would have steadily declined in benefit value in the year ahead; in the case of many young lawyers, they would eventually have disappeared altogether.

Season Opens On Doves

Delaware dove-hunters will have a 55 half day split season opening Thurs., Sept. 20 at 12 o'clock noon EST. A hunter does not need a duck stamp for dove-hunting—just a hunting license.

The mourning dove is so named because of its note. It is truly an American bird since it nests in every state of our country and is quite common in Delaware. The dove lays only two eggs in its poorly constructed nest of small sticks, but is somewhat unique in that it will raise two and sometimes three broods a year.

Doves and pigeons the world over typically lay only one or two eggs, and the mourning dove with its two-egg clutch is no exception. Since quail lay 15 to 18 eggs, pheasants 10 to 12, and many songbirds 4 to 7, it may seem strange at first that doves lay so few. It is easily explained when one learns how the nestlings are fed.

After the eggs are laid and during incubation of the eggs have a gland in the crop or throat of the adult develops, and just as the young hatch, this gland begins to put out a cheesy substance known as pigeon milk. The young feed by inserting their bills into the mouth of the adult who forces pigeon milk down their throats by a pumping action of the head. After the young are a few days old, the cropland in the adults recedes and there is more room in the crop for seeds. These, too, are fed the young and their diet is gradually changed from pure pigeon milk to more and more seeds. By the time they are ready to leave the nest, their diet is almost exclusively seeds. A maximum of two young can be fed by this method, and it is now obvious why the brood size is so small. Both adults feed the young in this way.

Doves subsist almost exclusively on cereal grains, small seeds of different plants and various wild berries.

Although dove hunting in Delaware does not attract a large number of followers, many hunters consider that doves provide trickier wing shooting than any other species. This "gray bullet" has been clocked at 60 miles per hour, and some observers believe he can beat 70. If you can connect on one shot in three on pass shooting, you're not doing badly. With a limit of eight, you can burn up one to two boxes of shells before you know it in an hour or two of fast, late afternoon shooting.

Many epicures believe the mourning dove has few peers as a table delicacy. He weighs less than a bobwhite, and it takes several to make a meal. But come in tired after an afternoon hunt, put several birds to simmering in brown, flour-thickened gravy in a covered skillet, and you will agree that you'll have to go a long way to find anything better.

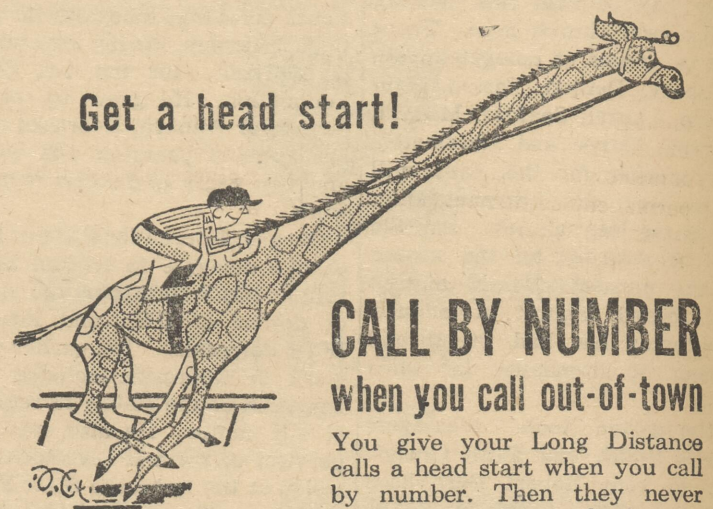

spillway along with the Delaware Game and Fish Commission's assuming the responsibility for the clearing of the bottom and long range management and maintenance of the area, the restoration of Horsey's Pond is possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Dickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton J. Spice deeded the dam site to the state. Land owners bordering the Horsey Pond site gave the Delaware Game and Fish Commission a perpetual easement to raise the water level to a specified point.

By the spring of 1957 another link in millpond restoration will provide boating, swimming and fishing for many families. However it will require a few years for good bass fishing in these new waters.

Upon the completion of the new dam and spillway Commission personnel will install a concrete boat ramp and gravel and grade the adjacent area for cars and tractors. West of the new dam and only a few hundred yards from the Laurel Sharptown road, the completed 70 acre pond and launching facilities will provide an ideal recreational spot in the Laurel-Seaford communities.

Kent Home Doings

by Charlotte L. Swanson,

A two-day trip to Williamsburg, Va., started fall Home Demonstration activities in a big way! A bus full of homemakers (with one husband, too) left Kent County early Wednesday morning, Sept. 12. They returned late the next night after spending two days touring colonial Virginia.

The tour included stops at Wakefield and Stratford, the birthplaces of Washington and Lee respectively, along the Potomac. After driving through Yorktown, the group stopped at Jamestown, the site of the first permanent settlement, and it arrived at Williamsburg Wednesday evening.

Thursday was spent on a guided tour of the Governor's Palace and gardens, the capitol, the goal, the George Wythe House, and the Raleigh Tavern. Free times was included, too, for visiting the craft shops where colonial crafts are still being done—spinning, weaving, baking in a brick oven, wig making, millinery, and many others.

Plans for the tour were made by a committee appointed by the Kent County Home Demonstration Council: Mrs. Arthur Short, chairman; Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Jr.; Mrs. Harvey Fifer; Mrs. William Knotts; Mrs. E. C. Barnard; Mrs. William Sterling.

Those who went on tour were: Mrs. Ethel Wood, Mrs. Benjamin Burrows, William Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Bush, Mrs. Arthur Short, Mrs. Arthur Hall, Mrs. Carlton Webber, Mrs. Olin Phillips, Mrs. Erich Lasch, Mrs. Edith Sawin, Mrs. L. E. Weik, Mrs. Charles Dukes, Mrs. Townsend Vaughn, Mrs. Grace Quast, Mrs. Clarence Dempsey, Mrs. Catherine Deats, Mrs. Harvey Porter, Mrs. Mildred Hall, Mrs. Arthur Rusby, Mrs. George Wilson, Mrs. Lillian Handsberry, Mrs. Harold Wall, Mrs. Mildred Opydyke, Mrs. Marvel Watson, Miss Janet Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Scotten, Mrs. Fred Fifer, Mrs. Helen Cool, Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. Ida Dawes, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Mrs. Earl Coleman, Mrs. Elmer Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Raughley.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I'm planning to sell the home I bought with a GI loan. If the buyer takes over my loan, do I remain liable in case he defaults and the loan is foreclosed?

A—Not necessarily. Under a new law, you may be relieved of liability if the buyer takes over your loan. He must assume full liability on the loan; VA must approve his credit; and the loan must be current.

Q—I understand that I have 120 days from discharge to get Korean GI term insurance. Will my 120-day deadline still apply even though the law says no new policies may be issued after December 31, 1956? My 120 days would carry me beyond that date.

A—You would not have the full 120 day period to obtain Korean GI term insurance. You would have to apply and pay your first premium before December 31, 1956—even though that gives you less than 120 days to act.

Q—A young man I know is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education program. He's still in high school. Would he be allowed to finish his regular high school training. Below college level schooling is allowed only when it is specialized vocational training that will fit a student for a vocational goal.

Q—When I went back on active duty, I surrendered my permanent plan of GI insurance for cash, so that I would be covered by the free $10,000 death indemnity. Coverage ends December 31, 1956. Since indemnity coverage ends December 31, 1956, I will lose my coverage. Is there any way I can get back my permanent GI policy?

A—Under the law, you may obtain a new permanent policy of the same kind and amount as your surrendered policy—but at premium at your present age. Or you may reinstate your surrendered policy by paying the required reserve and the current month's premiums. You may obtain this insurance while in service or within 120 days after your discharge. You could arrange for the insurance to take over when the free indemnity expires.

TREAT SEED NOW FOR SMUT DISEASE

Treat grain seed now to stop smut diseases next spring. This suggestion comes from Dr. L. O. Weaver, Maryland University extension plant pathologist. Seed treatment is the main way to control smut and other fungus diseases such as seed decay and seedling blights.

You can buy treated seed from grain dealers, Dr. Weaver says, but untreated seed can be treated at home.

In treating seed on the farm, weed seeds and debris should be removed. The seed and a fungicide are then mixed together. This should be done at least 24 hours before the seeds are planted and can be done up to two months ahead of planting.

Some of the recommended treatment chemicals are Ceresan M, Panogen and Setrete. These chemicals should be used according to the manufacturers' directions.

Smut is caused by a fungus which is carried on the surface or just under the surface of the seed. When untreated seed grows the fungus grows too, producing smut instead of grain. The smut then spreads to neighboring plants by the smutted plant. Smut does not overwinter in the fields.

More information on smut and seed treatment is found in two university fact sheets. They are Fact Sheets, 53, "Plant Good Seed," and 109, "Smuts of Grain and their Control." These fact sheets are free and farmers can pick up copies at their county agent's office.

The department secretaries gave many fine reports. The parsonage chairman, Mrs. Winebrenner, reported on the progress of the renovation of the parsonage kitchen. The first meeting for the week of prayer and self denial will be held at the Commerce Street home of Mrs. E. P. Hedgecock Oct. 25.

Mrs. W. W. Sharp, secretary of Christian Social Relations, reported that Asbury and Trinity Churches will unite again this year on efforts to carry out the UNIC EF Halloween Program. Mrs. Sharp will serve as chairman from Asbury and her committee includes Mrs. Fulton Downing, Mrs. Mark Willey, Mrs. Calvin Wells, and Mrs. Melvin Wyatt.

Zones 2-3-5 held their seminar in Smyrna Asbury Methodist Church, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Richard Gibson accompanied the opening hymn singing and Mrs. E. P. Hedgecock led devotions and introduced Mrs. Granville Tyndall of Rehoboth, president of the Dover district W.S.C.S. She gave the members an informative report and description of the W.S.C.S. emblem for the next quadriennium. The seven goals that Mrs. Tyndall spoke about will lead the way for members to serve the king—as ambassadors, like Paul, and bring the "Spirit of Christ To All of Life."

Top Broilers Do Not Always Top Market

Quality of broiler chickens when they are ready to go to market doesn't make as much difference as many people think in the price growers receive for them, reports Dr. Ray Smith, University of Delaware agricultural marketing specialist.

Part of the reason, say Smith, is that it's different to measure the fleshing, or meat quality, of large flocks of broilers before they are caught and taken to the dressing plant. Also, a great deal of the bruising which causes them to be downgraded by inspectors at the dressing plants apparently occurs after they leave the pens in which they are raised on the farm.

Smith, who followed 260 broiler flocks from farm to dressing plant over a 2-year period, also found that it did not always pay growers to raise and sell their birds exactly to the weights that are supposed to be most desired by consumers. Although most Delmarva poultry dressing plants keep a feeding station where the birds are held several hours or more before putting them on the dressing line, Smith reported that broilers usually showed only about half as much bruising if they were killed shortly after being unloaded at the dressing plant than was found if they were held a day or so in the feeding stations. Processors like the feeding stations, he reported, because they think the birds gain in weight and are easier to dress if they get a chance to quiet down in a feeding room after their farm-to-dressing plant truck ride.

Smith reported a startling difference between dressed grade of the broiler flocks he checked the first year of his study and those he kept tabs on the second year. During the first year, only 63% of the birds averaged Grade A broilers. The second year, nearly 68% of them made Grade A.

He said that poor fleshing was the most important cause for which dressed broilers were down graded—with pinfeathers, bruises and abrasions rating further down the scale as other reasons. Because it is so difficult for even a trained man to determine exactly how well-fleshed a broiler flock is before it leaves the farm, Smith thinks that it may be advisable for the poultry industry to give further consideration to the idea of paying farmers for their birds on a dressed-grade basis rather than in live-grade.

This might make it possible to reward farmers more adequately for growing quality flocks, he says. And, since the poultry industry has asked Congress to give them more inspectors in processing plants, he thinks it may be possible in the future to have the government inspection force actually do such grading at each plant.

Smith also found in his study that bruising of birds at the dressing plants has been cut down considerably by the use of feeding station batteries instead of coops for transporting broilers from farm to dressing plant. Processing plants still using coops, however, now unload them by means of conveyors. This has also cut bruising to reasonable limits.

Further studies now are underway to find out how bruising can be prevented on the farm as well

Contract Awarded For State Police Building

The State Highway Department has awarded a contract to Clute Brothers, of Wyoming, for the erection of a new building to be used as a State Police Headquarters, as well as headquarters for the Dover troop.

The award contained a proviso that alternate specifications contained in the project could be renegotiated between Albert Kruse, architect for the project, and the contractor. Work on the new structure is expected to be started very soon since the Department has fixed a completion date of August 15, 1957, for the project. The new structure will be located along the northbound lane of the dual highway, about a half mile north of the present Dover State Police Station.

It will be of colonial design and of brick construction with the front portion of the building to be as a police station for the Dover Troop and the rear sections devoted to State Police Headquarters.

The structure will be about 100 feet back from the edge of the paved portion of the present highway and will have a driveway, fifty feet in width, surrounding it. A garage building, including a repair shop, about 200 feet wide and 50 feet deep, will be located on the rear portion of the plot.

sprays, particularly to DDT and BHC. Where the fish and crabs were not caged, they apparently were able to avoid dangerous concentrations of the insecticides. But where they were caged and unable to get away, they suffered fairly heavy losses. In particular, the marsh fiddler crab showed mortality up to 70 or 80% when caged, as against only 16% mortality when free to swim away from places where the oil solution had gathered most heavily.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

The State Highway Commission was shocked recently by the tale of a 20-year-old Milford youth whose lengthy record of violations was cut short by death in an auto accident last month.

The youth, says the Journal-Every Evening, of Wilmington, had 22 black marks against his driving record when his 1955 convertible overturned in a ditch near Harrington on the night of Aug. 17. He was crushed to death beneath it.

Official state police records indicate he had been drinking and was driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone when the accident happened.

The youth's license had been suspended for 30 days this spring, but officials of the Driver Improvement Division pointed out that his difficulties with the law—however frequent—never lived up to the legal requirements that called for mandatory revocation, said the Journal-Every Evening article.

If that is the case, and we sincerely believe it to be so, then our traffic laws really need changing. Even after the driver was reinstated and his license returned, he was arrested for leaving the scene of an accident and arrested for speeding before the fatal accident.

If you believe our traffic laws are strict enough, reading the following almost fantastic saga and then compare it with what would have happened in Pennsylvania or Connecticut if they had had similar drivers:

- 1952
- May 19—Arrested; no valid license; fined $10.
- May 19—Figured in an accident.
- Sept. 4—Arrested for speeding. Fined $10.
- Nov. 2—Warned about speeding.
- 1953
- Jan. 22—Warned about speeding.
- 1954
- Sept. 6—Warned about speeding.
- Nov. 5—Warned about improper passing.
- Nov. 27—Arrested for speeding. Fined $10.
- Dec. 18—Figured in an accident; $235 damage.
- 1955
- March 2—Arrested for speeding; fined $10.
- March 17—Received his first letter from the Driver Improvement Bureau regarding his speeding.
- Gets Warning
- Oct. 4—Warned about speeding.
- Oct. 8—Arrested for exceeding reasonable speed; fined $10.
- Oct. 8—Figured in an accident; damage $450.
- Nov. 10—Figured again in an accident; damage $825.
- 1956
- March 9—License suspended for 30 days.
- March 20—Cited to appear before the Driver Improvement Bureau.
- March 29—License actually taken from him.
- May 8—Reinstated as a driver and license returned.
- June 30—Arrested for leaving the scene of an accident; fined $25.
- June 30—Accident involved $145.
- July 6—Arrested for speeding; fined $10.
- Aug. 17—Subject was killed. Property damage, $2,000.

HOT-RODDERS TAKE OVER HARRINGTON ON SUNDAYS

For five years we have carried editorials on the hot-rodding of teen-agers on Harrington streets on Sunday afternoons. It is just as bad now as it was when we had no police protection on this day.

Usually we are in the business district on Sunday afternoon and have been in a position to observe the depredations of this lawless element which, apparently, has no regard for anyone, not even themselves.

Last weekend, however, we attended a press convention at Ocean City, but we got the news Monday evening. One citizen said the hot-rodders really performed on Clark Street Sunday afternoon, and that one car passed her house 33 times. "They don't seem to enjoy themselves unless they can make their cars skid a hundred feet," she commented. After naming the numerous children who live in her neighborhood, she said she was worried for fear they would be injured. She suggested the organization of a citizens' committee to call on the City Council for stricter traffic enforcement.

Another citizen volunteered the information that hot-rodding Sunday afternoon was the worst she had ever seen. "Round and round the business district," she explained. Still another citizen suggested that the State Police be called in.

We believe, however, it will cost the lives of one or two children before anything will be done.

Ford Trucks cost less

And low first cost is only your first saving

Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort with a Drivervized Cab, and more safety with Ford's exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully... consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.

Chief Warden Virgil Hearn describes the netting of spot in late September and October as an exciting family outing to get these excellent little fish to salt down for a favorite Sussex County winter dish.

Spawning takes place in late autumn and probably during the winter, and apparently at sea, for in the fall a general exodus of large fish with maturing roe takes place from the bay, the height of this migration occurring during late September and throughout October.

In the spring the spot is thin and poor indicating that it probably has spent much energy in
