

DEMOCRATS TAKE ALL BUT ONE COUNTY OFFICE AND RETAIN CONTROL OF ASSEMBLY; LOSE STATE AND NATIONAL OFFICES

Kent County followed the nation in going resoundingly for President Eisenhower, and elected one Republican to a county office for the first time in eight years. Otherwise, the county maintained its Democratic tradition.

A total of 19,613 voters cast their votes in the Presidential election, whopping 93 per cent of the county's total registration of 21,037. The vote was approximately the same as that recorded in 1952.

The first Republican to win a county office since 1948 was J. Ward Hurley, of Dover, who beat J. Clements Bowdle, also of Dover, for Levy Court commissioner from the First District. Mr. Hurley piled up 4,489 votes to Mr. Bowdle's 4,056 for a 433 majority.

Control of the county will remain in Democratic hands, however, as the other two Levy Court commissioners — Kent County elects all its commissioners every two years—came from the Democratic side. They got in by narrow margins, however.

Fred Williams, of Hartly, beat out Frank F. Reb in the Second District by 62 votes—2,143 to 2,081—while in the Third District, Emory N. Lynch, of near Milford, beat John M. Willson, of Milford, 3,018 to 2,942, a majority of 76.

Tuesday, the only candidate to go over the thousand majority mark in the county was Roland P. Trader, who was re-elected coroner over Republican A. Keith Webb, of Sandtown, by 10,522 to 8,939, a bulge of 1,583. Clarence E. Dixon, of Dover, beat out Edward L. Wisk of near Dover for register of wills, 10,007 to 9,940, a 67-vote majority. While William J. Paskey, of Felton, beat Republican McKinley Maloney, of Milford, for prothonotary by 9,975 to 9,375, a majority of 600.

Harry S. Hanson, of Harrington, was elected comptroller by 9,893 to 9,412, and Thomas Hughes, of Felton, beat out Ralph Knotts, Sr., for sheriff by 10,053 to 9,401. All other county offices are held by Democrats whose terms expire in January, 1959.

On the state level, U. S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell, Jr., took Kent County by 9,998 to 9,466 in his losing battle with Harry G. Haskell, Jr.; J. H. Tyler McConnell, Democratic candidate for governor, 9,889 to Gov. J. Caleb Boggs' 9,612, while State Auditor Clifford E. Hall, seeking re-election, got 9,991 Kent County votes to 9,373 for his victorious opponent, Dale E. Wheatley.

All through the traditionally Democratic county, the Eisenhower pull was reflected in lower-than-expected Democratic majorities. The president, with a majority of 989—10,301 to 9,312—obviously pulled a lot of Republican votes for the county offices.

Vernon B. Derricksen, Kent County Democratic chairman, only pulled a majority of 159 throughout the county—9,795 to 9,636—in his losing race with Harry P. Buckson for lieutenant governor, while Edna Brasure, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, eked out a majority of 48 over Vera G. Davis, 9,692 to 9,644.

Four years ago, Mrs. Derricksen, running for lieutenant governor on the ticket with then-Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, led the

111 State Farmers Make 100-Bushel Corn Club

A total of 111 Delaware farmers made the 100-bushel club in the 1956 state 5-acre corn yield contest, reports William Mitchell, University of Delaware agronomist and secretary of the Delaware crop improvement association.

Pointing out that this is the largest number of farmers to grow 100-bushels or more of corn per acre in the contest in any one season since the contest was started in 1950, Mitchell said that plenty of rainfall, well distributed, was a factor in good corn yields throughout most of the state this year. Also, soil tests made on the farms of these 100-bushel winners at the beginning of the season indicated that there was a considerable carryover of phosphate and potash in the soil from last year's fertilizer applications. Apparently this had a big influence on yields this season despite the fact that many farmers used less fertilizer this year than they had in previous years.

Mitchell reported that Sussex county lead the parade of 100-bushel qualifiers with a total of 41. Kent county was close behind with 46, while New Castle county had 14. Names of all of these farmers, as well as the state and county winners in the corn yield contest will be announced Tuesday evening, Nov. 20 at the annual meeting of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association at the Capitol Grange Hall in Dover.

As a special feature of the awards banquet on the 20th, the county corn trophies which have been won by 18 farmers in the past 6 years will be retired and placed on exhibit in Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware. Each of the 18 previous winners of these challenge trophies, plus this year's three winners, will be awarded permanent trophies of their own at the banquet and meeting in Dover, Mitchell said.

Contest returns in the 5-acre soybean program are not all in yet because harvest is not completed. However, Mitchell reported that early returns indicate there will be many new members who make the 40-bushel bean club. These winners also will be announced at the Crops Association banquet in Dover, Nov. 20.

HEAVY RAINS FLOOD TOWN AND COUNTRY

Unusually heavy rains climaxed a week of wet weather here Thursday night, Nov. 1, flooding streets, lots, and basements in town, and many country roads. Streams and ditches overflowed their banks. The soybean crop, a substantial one in this area suffered considerably.

The rains increased in intensity late in the afternoon, flooding the southern end of West Street, Commerce Street in the center of town, and Liberty Street from Delaware Avenue to Dixon Street.

Sewer pumps were taxed to the point where they could not take away the water as far as it came down. It was three days before they reached a semblance of normality, City Manager William F. Smith said.

Surface water drains were filled with debris and mud, with cleaning completed Wednesday.

Relays were burned out in a force pump on Delaware Avenue, causing it to be operated manually until new parts arrive.

The grounds and buildings of Harrington Schools fared well, but a portion of nearby Center Street was flooded. South Street nearby was flooded. A school bus got off the macadam on North Street, got stuck, and its cargo was transferred to another vehicle.

Out in the country, water was across the road on the Hickman-Fire Tower Road, the Andrewville-Todds Church Road, and a side road at Vernon.

The wet weather has delayed the harvesting of soybeans and stands to impair the quality thereof. However, by Wednesday some beans were being harvested on light, sandy soils.

The storm caused an hour-long power failure in the Camden-Wyoming section, washed out some roads and damaged others in Kent & Sussex Counties. Lights went out and all power stopped at 7:14 p.m. as Camden and the adjoining town were having an electrical storm.

The power was restored at 7:57 p.m.

Excessive water that fell in one of the downpours damaged roads in Sussex County, including U.S. Route 13, at a point south of Georgetown which had all the fill washed away from underneath the roadway.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

Sunday, the fall ingathering of the United Thanks Offering will be held at St. Stephen's during the 11 a.m. service of morning prayer. This special offering of the Episcopal Church will be made by all women of the church—old and young, professional and business women, wives and mothers, women in cities and villages, on isolated farms and far corners of the earth. From Alaska to Brazil, from Siberia to the Philippines, at home and abroad, wherever the Episcopal Church is at work, churchwomen will use their Blue Box offering as a tangible sign of their thankfulness for daily blessings. It will be a gift in addition to a woman's regular contribution to her church. The individual offerings will be presented corporately, first in the parishes and missions; then in the diocese, finally at the triennial convention. There will be prayers for the Women's Auxiliary and for the United Thank Offering—"As we have gratefully received the benefits Thy bounty has bestowed, so we may cheerfully share them with Thy children in all the world."

The last international-wide offering, which amounted to over three million dollars, is being used to train women workers, send them to parts of the world where they are needed, pay their salaries, provide buildings and supply equipment, etc. One example of accomplishment by the United Thank Offering is "The Blue Box", a plane purchased for the Bishop of Alaska, the Rt. Rev. William Gordon, by women of the Episcopal Church through this special corporate giving.

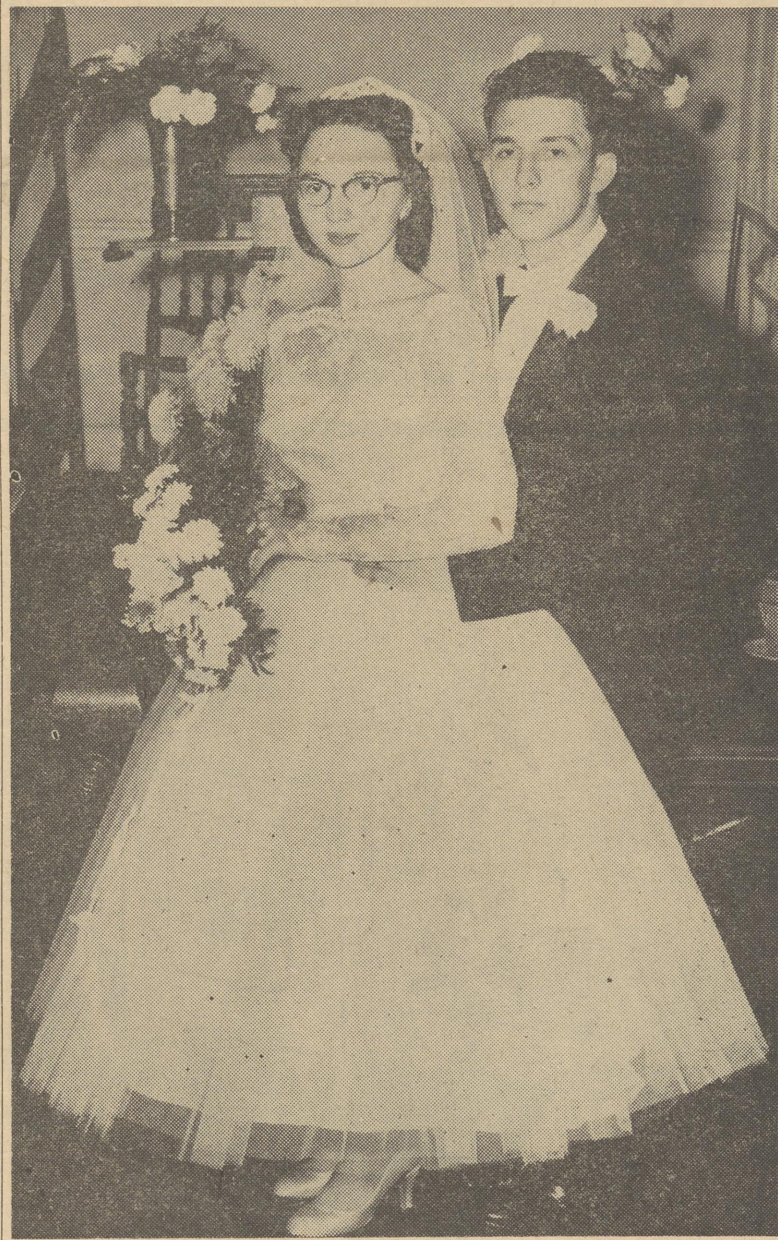

The order for services next Sunday will be as follows: 9:15 a.m., Holy Communion; 10 a.m., Church School; 11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Sermon; 7 p.m., Evening Prayer; 7:45 p.m., Sunday Youth Group.

The November meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Winker, Frederica Highway, on Thursday evening.

The Sunday night Youth Group will continue discussion on the subject of Christian dating.

The work is progressing on our recently acquired parish house, on Fleming Street, across from the church. Renovations will soon be completed and the members of St. Stephen's will begin using it full time.

Farm City Week To Be Observed Nov. 16 to 22

"Join your neighbors in the Dover area observance of Farm-City Week, Nov. 16-22." Francis Raughley, master of the Kent County Pomona Grange and Roland Garrison, president of the Kent County Farm Bureau, are reminding their members and fellow farmers that mutual understanding between farmer and city man is vital to continued prosperity in our communities.

Farm groups are joining with the local civic service clubs to present a dinner at the Capital Grange Hall Mon., Nov. 19, starting at 6:30 p.m. The speaker of the evening will be Robert Roberts, editor of the Agricultural Newsletter of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company, whose topic will be "Interdependence of Business and Agriculture." The Delaware Crop Improvement Association will be holding its 48th annual crop show in the building at the same time. Prize exhibits of corn, soybeans, small grains, hays and silages will be on display.

"Some city folks think farmers are getting rich at their expense. Others believe all farmers are going broke," says George Vappa, county agent. "On the other hand, some farm people think all corporations are earning big profits. Others believe that city businessmen have an easy life and never lose money. We might all profit if we take the time to learn the facts about each other," he continued.

Some local clubs may like to have a speaker or program for their own organizations. Any of the three people mentioned in this article will be glad to make arrangements upon request.

Frear Announces Examinations For Service Academies

United State Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr. today announced that the qualifying examination for the four service academies (Army, Navy, Air Force and Merchant Marine) will be held Tuesday, Nov. twentieth in Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown. The Senator explained that this test is designed to select his candidates for the classes commencing during the summer of 1957.

Mr. Frear pointed out that this is the first time that the Merchant Marine Academy has participated in this competitive process and it will follow the pattern established by the Air Force Academy. For each of these two schools the Senator is authorized to nominate ten men, who will then compete with the nominees of Delaware's other Congressional members for final appointments. Delaware has been allotted a quota of one for the Air Academy and two for the Merchant Marine School.

For each vacancy at the Naval Academy one principal and five alternates will be named and for West Point one principal and three alternates will be designated. Thus, if a principal appointee fails to gain admission an alternate will then be available for consideration.

The Delaware lawmaker indicated that a number of young Delawareans have already advised of their interest in these Academies and these will be notified of this announcement individually.

Meanwhile, Mr. Frear expressed the hope that all others who might like additional information on the programs offered by these schools would contact his office, Suite 229, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Up until a week ago, I had no idea of coming to Florida, but Dr. Huber has four colts to be broke for stakes next year, and two of our own, so here we are.

We are at the beautiful mile track, Seminole Raceway. The trees, lakes, sandy roads are something. They have installed yellow awnings at each barn, flowers, sure is pretty.

At present there aren't too many stables in this place is a beehive waiting for the election Nov. 6 to see if racing goes over.

They had a public affair the other night, ran pictures of the Hour at Goshen. Dave said the Turf Club was filled. Orlando really turned out.

We have lovely place on grounds for our trailers, water, and etc. Under the big trees. There is space enough for about 15 trailers, but so far there are only two trailers here.

There are plenty of lakes right close by. They tell me though there are snakes all around them. I haven't tried to go fishing yet, but I guess I will.

We had worlds of company this past Sunday. About all our friends from Ben White Raceway have been over. I'd rather be here than over there. But I still have a soft spot in my heart for Harrington.

MORE IMPROVED FERTILIZERS ARE ON THE WAY

Fertilizers are a lot better than they used to be, but more improved fertilizer materials can be expected in the future, reports county agent George K. Vapaa.

Higher analysis fertilizers containing more nutrients and less bulky inert matter, and soluble or liquid fertilizers—all now on the market—have reduced weight and bulk and made both storage and application of fertilizer materials cheaper and easier for farmers and home gardeners.

Industrial and State-Federal research now being carried out will undoubtedly lead to further improvements, says Vapaa.

One of these improvements will be the development of slower acting or less soluble forms of chemical fertilizer that will not leach out of the soil so rapidly. This will mean that enough fertilizer can be applied in one operation to meet the demands of a long-season crop, thus eliminating the need for repeated applications throughout the season. It will reduce present heavy losses of nitrogen through leaching. It will also prevent excessive potash consumption, now a problem in alfalfa and certain other crops in many parts of the country.

Other improvements will change the physical makeup of fertilizer materials, making them easier to store and to apply. A start in this direction has been made with the development of some granular products that have less tendency than older materials to cake and harden during storage and that distribute more easily and uniformly in the field.

A lot more work needs to be done in developing these better fertilizers, says Vapaa. But farmers would do well to be alert for new developments in this field because they will open opportunities for increased efficiency of production and greater farm profits.

DAMS WASHED OUT

Massey's Pond, located between Cheswold and Clayton, washed out as a result of the heavy rains during the last two weeks. Many other ponds in Delaware are in similar danger of washing out. Consequently the program of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission includes plans for maintaining and rebuilding millponds in order to preserve pond fishing in the state. The goal of this work aims at providing permanent spillways to replace the old gate-type, manually operated structures.

DELAWARE'S 70-DAY WATERFOWL SEASON OPENS

Opening day duck hunters in many parts of the state came home with their bag limit. Reports from the hunters indicate that the early morning hunting hours were by far the most profitable. In the central part of the state the bag consisted mainly of blacks, mallards and teal. Hunters at the Woodland Beach Public Shooting Area report fairly successful gunning the first two days of the season.

Final registration will be held throughout this week for reservations of blinds on the Wood-

Changes In Social Security

By Myron Milbouer
Manager of the Delaware
Social Security Office
504 W. 10th St., Wilmington

Today I shall discuss disability in connection with old-age and survivors insurance. Disability first came into the social security insurance picture in 1954. Until now, however, it was just a provision to protect the insurance rights of a worker who became totally disabled after a record of employment or self-employment covered by the law. There was no provision to start paying benefits to him after he was determined to be disabled for any further gainful work.

The 1956 amendments to the social security law change this. Beginning with July 1957, a disabled person, age 50 or over, may be eligible to start getting monthly social security insurance benefit payments. It is no longer necessary to wait until he reaches age 65 to have his retirement payments start, nor is it necessary for an insured woman worker to wait until she becomes 62, if she is disabled and has reached her 50th birthday.

To meet the requirements of this new provision in the law, you must be so severely disabled that you are not able to engage in any substantial work. If your disability is just a temporary condition—one that will not keep you out of work permanently, or for a long and indefinite period of time—you are eligible for benefit payments. Or if your disability is a kind which just makes it necessary for you to slow down in work or work part time, you cannot qualify for monthly benefit payments. However, if your disability, either physical or mental—is long contained, has lasted for at least six months, and there is little chance of recovery in the future, you may be eligible for monthly benefit payments. These payments, which can start at age 50, are the same as the amount of the old-age insurance benefit you would be entitled to if you were 65.

Bear this in mind: the first month for which cash disability payments can be made is July 1957. However, there will be no benefit payments for your dependents until you become entitled to old-age benefit payments at age 65 (or, in the case of a woman getting disability payments, at any time between age 62 and 65). Of course, receipt of disability benefits will not affect the payment of benefits to any of your eligible dependents in case you should die.

The work requirements for disability insurance payments at age 50 are: social security credit for 5 years of work in the 10 years before the established beginning date of your disability, and 1½ years of work in the 3 years before that date. Active military service at any time after September 15, 1940, and work in the railroad industry after 1936 can count toward the work requirements for disability insurance payments under certain conditions. However, if you are receiving another Federal disability benefit or a State or Federal workmen's compensation benefit for any month, the amount of your disability insurance benefit will be reduced by the amount of the other benefit for that month.

If you apply for disability insurance benefits, you will be referred to a State vocational rehabilitation agency which will consider you for services which may help you return to gainful work. Disability insurance payments will be withheld from you if you refuse without good cause to accept rehabilitation services that may be offered to you by your State agency.

If you are now age 50 or over, have been in employment or self-employment covered by social security long enough to meet the above-stated requirements, are not disabled but have never applied for the "disability freeze" of your earnings record you should get in touch with your social security office right away. If you have already had your earnings "frozen", there is no hurry about applying for the benefits payable at age 50. The earliest time that applications for disability cash payments can be accepted is after October 1, 1956; the first month for which payments can be made is July 1957. You have until December 31, 1957, to make your application without losing any of the payments.

From what I have said, it is apparent that disability insurance has now become a part of the old-age and survivors insurance program. Under the amended law, disability benefits are payable also to children who became disabled before their 18th birthday. In my next article, I shall explain this important amendment to the social security law.

Soap vs Synthetic Detergents in Washday Race

Which wins your washday vote—soap or synthetic detergent? The campaign is on, and each cleansing agent promises to do the best job.

Take a look at the candidates. Do you know the difference between soaps and synthetic detergents? You have to make a choice nearly every time you go to market.

Soaps are classified mild and strong, according to their cleaning ability. Mild soaps are for fine fabrics and lightly soiled garments. In warm water, mild soaps are relatively safe on colored things and mild on hands.

Strong soaps contain chemicals to improve cleansing action and help soften hard water. Use strong soaps for family laundry, grimy soiled garments, rugs, grimey play clothes, and greasy overalls. The chemicals which make strong soap effective on heavily soiled things are the very chemicals which harm fine wool and silk fabrics.

Synthetic detergents also are sold in strong and mild form. Some dissolve in cold water and are especially good for wool and wool blends labeled "hand washable". Others contain strong chemicals which quickly cut grease and oil. These same chemicals, however, are drying to hands.

Tests show that no one type of soap or synthetic detergent is best in all laundry situations, says Lois Korslund, extension clothing specialist at the University of Delaware. Miss Korslund suggests keeping a variety of soaps and synthetic detergents on your shelf. Then you'll be able to select the right cleansing agent for your washday job.

A new U. S. Department of Agriculture publication "Detergents for Home Laundering" contains more information on the subject. Ask your county home demonstration agent for a copy or write to University of Delaware, School of Agriculture, Newark.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I intend to go to college under the Korean GI Bill, but not for a degree. What should I put down in my application as my training program?

A—You should list the subjects that make up your program of education.

Q—I have just received a GI insurance dividend that I would like to apply to my GI home loan. Is there any premium amount that I am supposed to pay?

A—Yes. You must at least pay the amount of one monthly installment. If your installments are over $100 a month, you may pay $100 instead.

Q—May a young man or woman attend school less than half time under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. Schooling at less than half time is prohibited under the program by law.

Q—I have just been discharged from military service. Will I have 120 days from my discharge to obtain Korean GI term insurance?

A—No. Under a new law you must obtain Korean GI term insurance by Dec. 31, 1956. This is the final deadline, even though your 120-day period may not have elapsed by that date.

Home Demonstration Agent

Every homemaker likes to make something for her home. When she knows that she is making something both beautiful and useful, and saving money, too, her satisfactions are double. Slipcovers are being made at a project school conducted by Patricia Middleton, Home Management specialist. The class has met Oct. 10-18-25, and Nov. 1; a final meeting is scheduled for Nov. 16. Those who are participating have done more than make slipcovers for their own chairs—they have also learned how to tackle problems which they may confront on other pieces of furniture, too.

The following are those who have taken part in the project school and will be proud to show off their finished slipcovers soon: Mrs. Angeline Turner, Mrs. Irene Raughley, Mrs. Lillian Dubin, Mrs. Mary Willim, Mrs. Marie Ougheltree, all of Dover; Mrs. Margaret Bilton of Wyoming; Mrs. Zita Hatfield, Mrs. Virginia Winkler, Mrs. Mary Fair, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Doris Fry, Mrs. Thelma Hanson, all of Harrington.

Mrs. Marvin Rea of Charlotte, N. C. has returned home after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Mary Cook.

Bill Cook has returned home from his fishing trip to Cape Hatteras. Due to the storm the trip did not result in any fish. The fishermen were marooned for a while and at one point it took them four hours to cover five miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield were in Wilmington shopping on Saturday. While there they had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case and Karen. On the way home they stopped at Delaware City and enjoyed a fine visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. Geiger Omwake and Nellie Ann, and had coffee and dessert with them. Mrs. Allison Davis spent the day with Mrs. Annie Hatfield.

Florence Carlisle and William Carlisle, Sr., spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Annie Hatfield. Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Case of Harrington were Sunday evening callers at the Jacob Hatfields and enjoyed a Sunday night snack with them.

The Sunshine Class of the Greenwood Methodist Church will meet Wednesday, Nov. 14 in the educational building. The host and hostess for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schulze.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith had as their weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Sisson and children, Lori Ann and Barry Ray, of Washington, D. C. Nelson, Jr. was also home for the weekend. Sunday their dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lynch and daughter, Donna Jean, of Selbyville, Mr. and Mrs. George Bringham of Viola, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Nelson of Dover.

NATIONAL FARM-CITY WEEK, NOV. 19-26

All civic service clubs in the Dover area are supporting National Farm-City Week, November 19th-26th. The basic purpose is to promote a better understanding between farmers and city folks.

A joint club dinner meeting has been planned for Monday, Nov. 19, at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover. The Delaware Crop Improvement Association will be holding its 70th Annual Crop Show in the building at the same time to feature exhibits of corn, soybeans, small grains, hays and silages.

William Cavanaugh, president of the Dover Kiwanis club has named the following committee to work on the Farm-City program: Dr. Joel Kaplovsky, E. F. Smith, Jr., Henry Sherer, John Clough, James Engel, and George Bringham.

Dr. John Shilling has appointed Frank Richardson as chairman of the Rotary committee. Others who will serve with him include: Dr. Robert Teeter, George and Crawford Carroll, and William H. Richter.

Herman Meyers, George Pyott and Ed Hall have been designated by Houston Warren, Lions Club president.

George Wedd, president of the Optimist Club has asked Reynolds Coulson, Clyde Hendricks, John Coyle, and Jacob Zimmerman to serve for their club.

Posters will be displayed by several business concerns in the area as a part of this observance. The increasing interdependence of farm and city worker upon one another, and the need to learn of each others problems and goals, is the story which will be told with window displays during Farm-City Week.

Seniors score triumph in "This Ghost Business." "This Ghost Business" was presented before a capacity audience in the Harrington High School auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 2, as a cast from the senior class directed by Miss Dickrager, Miss Paskey, and Janice Minner, student, presented their senior night performance.

GRADE 1

Mrs. Hopkins
Our homeroom mother, Mrs. Irene Dean and several mothers who helped her gave us a wonderful Halloween party. We enjoyed parading to other rooms and seeing other children in their costumes. We had about 10 mothers at our party, and we hope more will visit us at the next party.
Miss Brown
Halloween is all over and we certainly enjoyed it. We made Halloween pictures, and they were scary. We all dressed in funny costumes and paraded down the hall. Everyone looked queer. It was lots of fun. Mrs. Stayton, our homeroom mother, gave us a nice party.
Mrs. West
We have done many things since we wrote news.
Oct. 15, we got polio needles. We went to a good assembly by Mrs. Brown's room.
We appointed new room monitors.
We have had frogs and crickets to watch.
We did not get to have art because Mrs. Malek had to go away.
Donny Fry had his tonsils out.
We have a lovely new record player. We thank the Home and School Association for the player. We needed it very much. We have had lots of fun.

GRADE 3

Mrs. O'Neal
We have a new boy in our room, Dean Manges. He comes from Batavia, N. Y.
Our Halloween party was lots of fun. Mrs. Dill and the many other mothers provided the games, entertainment, and refreshments.
Everyone looked different in their Halloween costumes, but we had a good time guessing who they were.
Mrs. Greenhaugh
We have a record in our room of which we are very proud. For two weeks all our boys and girls have received A plus in their spelling tests.
Our Halloween party was a big success. Mrs. Goodhand, and Mrs. Wilson, the home-room mothers, planned nice games and refreshments. We all enjoyed trying to guess who the people were (behind the costumes).
GRADE 5
Miss Long
Nancy Harrington visited in North Carolina while we were out of school for the teacher's meeting.
We held our Halloween party Wednesday. After we put on our costumes, we met Mrs. Brobst's fifth grade in the cafeteria. We had fun guessing each other. We had refreshments, when we returned to our room.
Our room is going to decorate the stage for the book fair.
GRADE 6
Mrs. Mann
Wednesday afternoon about 1:30 our Halloween party started. We awarded prizes for the most original costume, the funniest and the best dressed. The most original prize went to Sandra Walls, dressed in an evening gown.
Kaye Needles, dressed as a gypsy, won the award for the prettiest, and Sandra Whisler, dressed as a clown, for the funniest. Our pupils paraded through Mrs. Purse's room, Mrs. Brobst's room, and Mrs. Pollitt's room. For refreshments we had cookies, candy, cider, popcorn, potato chips, and gingerbread. We played several games and danced.
A few mothers were guests.
Miss Morris
The meeting was called to order by our president, Billy McColey. The minutes were read and approved. The treasurer gave her report.
We then talked about going to the cafeteria for lunch. We talked about the door we are supposed to use and the conduct we have in the cafeteria.

We had a report of the cost for the Halloween party, which was held Oct. 19, with about 65 present. The party altogether cost $13.13. The people who won prizes at the party were as follows:

Delaware to Rejoin International Farm Youth Exchange Program
The Delaware committee for the International Farm Youth Exchange program at a recent meeting decided to renew Diamond State participation in this program, according to Wayne Bath, acting state 4-H club agent at the University of Delaware.
There has not been a Delawarean entered in this program since 1952, he said. However, the committee felt that there was enough money available this year to send one boy or girl abroad to visit farms in one or more foreign countries during a 6-month period in 1957. They also decided to accept two exchanges from some other country to come to this state to live with Delaware farm families next year.

Bath stressed that anyone from Delaware interested in becoming a farm youth exchange delegate next year should fill out an application form and return it before Dec. 1. Also, families that would like to be host to a foreign exchangee for about three weeks next summer should also make their request. Forms can be obtained from 4-H agent in each of the county agricultural extension offices in the state.
Qualifications which have to be met for those desiring to be Delaware's 1957 IFYE include a high school education, a background of farm life and an interest in farming or other related agricultural occupation as their life's work, experience with rural youth organizations, single, in good health, and, between the ages of 20 and 30.

HDC News
The Harrington Home Demonstration Club met Monday afternoon in the Fire Hall, with Mrs. John Walls presiding. Thirty members were present.
Mrs. Byron McKnatt gave a report on "Safety for Fire Prevention." Mrs. Edith Shockley gave a report on "Health." A skit on choosing a doctor was performed with Mrs. William A. Wheeler acting as the doctor. Several other ladies assisted in the skit, which stressed using the local physician whenever possible.
A Christmas party will be served in the Fire House Dec. 3 at 1 p.m., by the auxiliary. Members should have reservations in to Mrs. J. F. Camper by Nov. 28 for the dinner.
The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Luther Hatfield and Mrs. Theodore Jory on party breads. The demonstration was very good and the food delicious.

University of Delaware Develops Experimental Lima Bean Picker
Top picture shows experimental 1-row lima bean picker developed by agricultural engineers at the University of Delaware; lower left is engineer Bill Larsen pointing to the gathering unit that lifts the vine to guide them into the stripping reel; lower right picture is a comparison of the materials handled—with present methods for harvesting beans, both piles shown in the picture would have to be hauled to the viner—with the new experimental harvester, however, only the smaller pile of pods and beans has to be hauled in and the larger pile (leaves and stems) are left in the field.
Agricultural engineers from the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station have developed and tested successfully an experimental 1-row lima bean picker that shows promise of cutting work in harvesting both Fordhook and baby lima beans by at least 60%. They hope to be able to continue development of this machine so that it can be adapted and put into production by commercial machinery companies for sale to farmers.
Big advantage in this machine, say Ernest Scarborough and William Larsen, the two engineers who developed it in the School of Agriculture shops, is that it picks the pods from the vines and makes it unnecessary to haul vine, pod and all to big stationary machines that remove the beans from the pods. The report that in field tests this year at the Seabrook Farms Tidewater Division, they picked pods from the vines with less than a 5 percent loss of beans.
The two engineers say that there is 60 percent less hauling necessary from field to viner with the present experimental harvester. They hope to continue and develop the present machine into a 2 or 4-row harvester suitable for commercial use. This new method for harvesting cuts down the over-all work in the present harvesting operation by 60 percent. It also means that one viner can do the work that at present requires five viners.

Present harvesting costs to farmers and processors on Delaware's 23,000 acres of lima beans could be cut about $20 to $25 an acre for Fordhook beans and about $15 an acre for baby limas, with this harvesting method, Scarborough and Larsen report.
The two engineers also pointed out that tests with the experimental machine have shown that much dirt and trash is eliminated from the harvested beans. This should result in improving quality of the beans.

Blue Cross Rates to Hold 'Til February

Decision Announced Today in Face of Hike in Charges by Two Wilmington Hospitals

Despite the fact that two Wilmington hospitals have announced rate increases effective Nov. 1, Blue Cross rates will not go up before next February, and possibly longer. It was announced today by V. Maybee, manager of Group Hospital Service.

... rates, but we don't know how much. It is worth noting that once again Blue Cross members are benefiting by the determination of Group Hospital Service to hold off a rate increase to the last possible moment. This is in sharp contrast to the situation of holders of hospitalization policies providing cash indemnity. After Nov. 1, the actual cost of hospital service will be passed on to the Blue Cross members, on the other hand, will continue to receive the same service in spite of the higher hospital rates, and will pay no more until Blue Cross rates have to be raised.

The new rates announced by the Memorial Hospital will be $16 a day without bath, and $18 with bath. Rates are now $11 to $15 a day. Ward rates will go from $10 to $12.

Delaware Food News

Poultry heads the best buy list again this week. With very heavy supplies of frying chickens on the market, prices are definitely low. Quality is good to excellent on most of the broiler-fryers that are available. Other types of poultry are also in the good buy class, such as stewing hens, turkeys, and certainly ducks and rock cornish game hens—all are in the moderate price class. So if you are looking for something good, high in quality, and low to moderate in cost, you'll serve poultry often.

Most pork cuts dropped three cents a pound this week, including pork loin roast, rib chops and center cut chops. Fresh picnic shoulders are remaining about the same in price as they were last week. Hams will be cheaper since they will be a weekend special.

Eggs continued to make the news with prices on Grade A medium remaining at 50 cents a dozen (average) while Grade A large are about 16 to 18 cents higher. Butter prices seem to be leveling off at about 75 cents a pound. In the past month butter has picked up 2 to 3 cents a pound.

A good variety of fresh vegetables is available, though not all kinds are found in all stores. Best vegetable buys this week are: greens, mustard, spinach and kale, cauliflower, broccoli, carrots, sweetpotatoes and onions. Green peppers have jumped up in price and lettuce gained 3 more cents on the head. Green beans are bringing a few pennies more this week also.

Don't over look the many values found in the frozen food counters these days—such as frozen orange juice, baby lima beans and sliced strawberries.

Florida citrus fruits are beginning to appear in larger quantities. The smaller sized oranges are the bargain this week; grapefruit are coming in different sizes and prices are ranging anywhere from 4 for 29 to 25 cents each. The quality is good, however, some of the grapefruit is very fair.

Apples, grapes, and limes continue as outstanding buys again this week—cranberries are more plentiful and prices are reasonable with quality good.
