

DEMOCRATS HOLD VICTORY DINNER IN DOVER

The Democrats of Kent County thought they did well in the recent General Election, it was demonstrated at a covered dish luncheon, sponsored by the Kent County Democratic Women's Club, at Capital Grange, Dover, Wednesday night.

They gave Eisenhower credit for the setbacks they did receive, but thought, on the whole, that the Democrats did well enough to stage a victory dinner, and not without considerable foundation.

State Auditor Clifford Hall, defeated for re-election, after thanks for the Kent County support, said the state ticket didn't do too well, but, commenting on returns for the General Assembly, said: "We lost a little in the Lower House, but added a little in the Senate. All in all, we didn't do too bad."

Max Terry, secretary of the Kent County Democratic Committee, who pinch-hit for Chairman Vernon Derrickson who was out of the state, went more into detail on the election. "I think this is truly a Democratic victory," he said, "when you consider we have control of Congress the Legislature, every office in the county government save one, and the mayor of Wilmington."

Terry thought Eisenhower's popularity was the Jonah for the Democrats, and felt that the uprisings in the Middle East aided his vote. He predicted, however, a sweeping Democratic victory in 1958.

Mrs. Robert Reed, president of the women's club, presided, and her husband was toastmaster. The program got off to a fine start with several vocal selections by The Three Keys, a trio of young women.

Mrs. Belle Everett, Democratic national committeewoman, gave a few words and Mrs. Edna Brasure, defeated candidate for state treasurer, gave thanks to her supporters and said she felt "we had a clean campaign." She added that she thought the Democratic setback in the Rehoboth area was the downfall of Sussex County.

Mrs. J. Allen Frear gave a few words, U. S. Senator Frear being in India.

Anne Pearson, former president of the county women's Democratic Club, was introduced.

Others introduced were as follows: Mrs. Ruth Haas, president of the First District Women's Club which has 88 paid-up members; Mary Reed, who took an important part in the dinner, and who is president of the Fifth District Democratic Women's Club.

The toastmaster introduced E. Y. Williams "as the oldest Democrat in the crowd." Williams joked that he didn't think much of the introduction, and then went on to compare the status of the Democratic county officeholders with that in 1942 and 1946 when the Democrats held a single county office.

After the county committeewomen had been introduced in a body, the following members of the successful county ticket were introduced: Roland Trader, coroner re-elected; Harry Harrison, comptroller re-elected; William Paskey, prothonotary-elect; Ed Dixon, register of wills elect; Fred Williams, victorious candidate for commissioner in the Second Levy Court District.

Allan Cook, elected senator in the Second Senatorial District; Charles King, representative-elect in the First Representative District; Clifford Clark, re-elected representative in the Third Representative District, and Nelson Massey, re-elected representative in the Fourth Representative District.

Also introduced were Mrs. Harry Mayhew, wife of the re-elected representative from the Tenth Representative District. Bill Rush who spoke for the committeemen; Clerk of the Peace Walter Handsberry, Recorder of Deeds Roy Honey, Thomas Robbins, receiver of taxes and county treasurer; Sen. Charles G. Moore, motor vehicle commissioner; T. Brinton Holloway, a member of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission, Rep. Charles Bostick, and C. H. Burgess, editor of the Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cain and sons, Kenneth and Bobby, spent Thanksgiving in Baltimore as the guests of their son, Claude Cain and family.

40 CANDIDATES REPORT FOR HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

The basketball season of Harrington High School got under way Monday night when approximately 40 candidates appeared to joust for positions on Coach Dave Snow's squad. At the same time, it was revealed that, for the first time, the junior varsity team would have its own coach, Norman Cotter.

With the loss of the three top scorers from last year's team, Coach Snow is not overenthusiastic about the prospects for the current five. However, he added, "we have six holdovers from last year's squad, and some prospects among our recruits."

The varsity squad will probably include, said Coach Snow, Jim Coady, Bob Wilson, Ronnie Link, and Richard Sapp, centers; Eugene Wright, Owain Gruwell, Ronnie Lane, Dave Coady, and Elmer Riggan, forwards; and Jake Silbereisen, Jackie Porter, Alfred Cahall, and Captain Jackie Sapp, guards.

Others who will doubtlessly play some varsity ball are R. Garey, J. Temple, P. Holsum, K. P. Outten, J. Taylor, W. Man-ship, D. Garey, and J. Schiff, who, Coach Snow said, will push the other players for a spot on the team.

The above mentioned players will also participate in junior-varsity competition, as will the following: Jim McDonald, Donald Rothermel, David Hitchens, Sammie Minner, Leonard Masten, Bill Thompson, Walter Lekites, R. Philippi, Billy Gray, Robert Winkler, B. Gillette, Lyman Rash, Larry Simpson, Hackett, Martin, and Eastman.

Poultry Growers' Tour to New York City Markets Planned

Delaware poultrymen are planning their annual tour of New York City's marketing centers next week, reports Willard T. McAllister, University of Delaware farm marketing specialist. Dates for the 2-day visit are December 4 and 5.

Present plans call for the Diamond State delegation to talk with poultry buyers at the Woolworth and Macy stores Tuesday, then to visit several poultry barbecue stores and different retail markets. They'll also see the backstage operations of a chain store food market and will visit the kitchens of the Astor Hotel.

Wednesday, the tour takes in the 14th street poultry wholesaling area and the Merchantile Exchange. The group will meet with the president of the Merchantile Exchange who will show them the background of how the commodity futures market works.

Price reporters from the Urner-Barry Service will discuss this phase of poultry marketing with them and federal government graders and inspectors will demonstrate their part in the market. Poultry promotion groups will explain to the visiting poultrymen how they keep the name of Delaware poultry before the public.

McAllister said that the touring group will leave Wilmington from the Pennsylvania railroad station at 9:30 Tuesday morning and return at 6:15 Wednesday evening. Last year, 18 Delaware poultrymen made the 2-day tour.

Corn Base Acreage Vote Dec. 11

Farmers in commercial corn counties will have an opportunity on Dec. 11 to vote on the kind of program they want to use for 1957 and later corn crops, George C. Simpson, Chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The corn referendum will present two choices to growers, the chairman explained. These are (1) Whether they favor the use of corn base acreages for their 1957 and later crops; or (2) whether they favor the use of acreage allotments, as heretofore in effect before soil bank legislation was enacted. At least two-thirds of the votes must approve the base acreage program if it is to be adopted for 1957 and future years.

Under the base acreage program, the rational corn base acreage for 1957 would be 51 million acres, as provided by law for the next three crops. This acreage would be apportioned to individual farms by the same method to determine farm corn acreage allotments. The 51-million-acre figure compares with a total of 37,288,889 acres, which would be available for allocation to growers for 1957 if the acreage allotment program is in effect. Under the base acreage program, 149,000 acres would be assigned to Delaware for corn production. The acreage allotment program provides for only 109,000 acres. Each Delaware farmer will be notified before Dec. 11 of the number of acres of corn he can grow in 1957 under each program and still receive price supports.

Price support under a base acreage program would be determined by the Secretary of Agriculture each year, as directed by legislation, as such levels as would assist producers in marketing corn in the normal channels of trade but not encourage uneconomic production of corn. For 1957, the support level has been set at an average of $1.31 a bushel. The average support under an allotment program in 1957 would be $1.36 a bushel. According to Mr. Simpson, price support rates for Delaware are not known yet, but in the past have averaged about 10 percent above the national average. No price support for corn that is not in compliance with the law in effect is anticipated in 1957, Mr. Simpson added.

To qualify for corn price support under a base acreage program, the chairman further explained, the producer must not exceed the farm soil bank base acreage and he must also take part in the soil bank by reserving acreage in either the Acreage Reserve of the conservation Reserve, or both; acreage so reserved must equal at least 15 percent of the farm corn base acreage.

"The Dec. 11 referendum will determine the corn program for 1957 and later years," chairman Simpson emphasized. "Growers should study the issues carefully, and then be sure to vote their choice." Polling places will be announced at a later date.

"THE FOLKS THAT I HAVE KNOWN"

We have a small number of pamphlets of poems of the above title, written by the late J. Harvey Burgess, late owner of The Harrington Journal and self-styled "splitter of infinitives, mixer of metaphors, demon of the double negative, sorcerer of solecisms, perpetrator of the world's poorest poetry." We presume he was also a dangler of participles.

There have been several requests for this booklet, priced at 25c, but we were unable to comply with them. Fortunately, however, we uncovered a limited supply of this valuable booklet recently while looking the effects of the estate.

We also have a number of pamphlets, "Hosses, Hosses, Hosses" written by Mr. Burgess, and depicting Harrington's harness-racing life. The price is 25c.

When the above-named pamphlets have been sold there will be no reprints.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Charles G. Sharp, who passed away 4 years ago today, Nov. 30, 1952. Today recalls sad memories. Of a loved one gone to rest. You are where I cannot see you. And your voice I cannot hear. Yet you seem to walk beside me. Never absent always near. As I sit here in the evenings. Often when I am alone. Wishing, hoping, and longing. If you could only come home. Loving memories never die. As years roll on and days go by. In my heart a memory is kept. Of one I loved and will never forget.
 Sadly missed by wife Anne 11-30-exp.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

During the service of evening prayer Sunday, an inspiring and joyful ceremony took place - the ministrations of Holy Baptism to Lillian Rice and Rodney Lloyd Morgan by the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. Witnesses for Mrs. Rice were Ethel A. and Clarence M. Reed, and witnesses for Rodney Morgan were Geta Joy Holyman and Benjamin Ratledge. Members of the congregation went forward and joined the group before the altar for the rites so there was a large circle of friends surrounding the two as they were Baptised. Rodney will soon leave Harrington for an army assignment, but he will leave many friends remembering him at St. Stephen's.

Choir rehearsals for the festival Christmas Eve service will begin tonight at 8 o'clock and will continue every Friday night until Christmas. Our organist, Zane Gordy, expects to travel from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J., each weekend to be with us for rehearsals. The following members of the choir will report to the church this evening: Irene Ford, Mesdames Robert Baynard, Lillian Rice, Robert McNally, Granville Hill, Walter Winkler, and George Thompson; Messieurs Robert Baynard, Jr., Harry Reed, Robert McNally, Bill Humes, Phillip Holson, and George Thompson. Any member of the community who has had the experience and joy of singing in this type of Episcopal service is invited to join with us in rehearsals and sing with the choir on Christmas Eve. The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's met last Tuesday at Mrs. Lillian Rice's home to complete plans for the covered dish supper to be held at the Parish House Dec. 6 and to pack boxes of toys and clothes for needy families. Because of limited space, only church members and one guest for each family will be included in the covered dish supper. Mrs. Granville Hill is chairman of the supper committee.

Wednesday evening at seven o'clock a group of church people from Wilmington under the leadership of the Rev. John Pettus, Rector of Ascension Church, Claymont met with members of St. Stephen's at the Parish House in Harrington. All members of the congregation were invited, and it was especially imperative for members of the Every Member Canvass Committee to hear the talk by the Rev. Pettus. The emphasis of the discussion was on the elements involved in carrying out a successful Every Member Canvass. Rev. Pettus is the former chairman of the department of stewardship of the Diocese of Delaware. Prior to the meeting, the group from Wilmington was entertained at a dinner at the Vicarage with the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., as host.

A meeting of the Church School staff will be held Saturday, 10 a.m., at the Vicarage. A discussion on fitting awards for faithful attendance and participation in Church School work will be included.

The women of St. Stephen's held a successful rummage sale at the home of Mrs. Clarence Reed last weekend.

Members of the Episcopal Youth Fellowship wish to remind their friends that their skating party will be held Dec. 3 at Dover. Plans were made to secure a bus for transportation.

Services Sunday will be as follows: 9:30 Church School, 11 o'clock morning prayer and sermon, and 7 p.m. evening prayer. The Youth Group will meet at 7:45 p.m. in the Parish House, where they will begin a discussion on the subject "A Christian Attitude on Drinking."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Last spring I sold my home and let the purchaser take over my GI loan. That was before a new law was passed, releasing veterans from liability when they sell GI homes. Would this new law cover me? Could I now obtain a release from liability from VA.

A—Yes, the new law could be applicable, even though you sold your home before it was enacted. You may obtain a release from liability, provided the loan is current and the present owner assumes liability and qualifies as a good credit risk.

Q—Under the War Orphans Education program, may special restorative training be taken by a disabled young person on a part-time basis?

A—No. Restorative training must be full time. However, VA will determine what constitutes full-time training, based on the capacities of the individual.

Q—I am a disabled veteran taking vocational rehabilitation training. Through an unavoidable accident, I was further disabled in training. Would I be entitled to increased V Accompensation payments because of this new disability?

A—You may be eligible for increased compensation for the disability you suffered in training, provided it was not the result of your own willful misconduct.

Q—What does VA consider to be the effective date a veteran pays his premiums on his GI insurance by mail—the date on the check or the postmark on the envelope?

A—The postmark date on the envelope containing the payment is accepted as the date payment is made.

Are you planning to go on a diet tomorrow? Perhaps today would be a better time to lose weight—before the traditional Christmas goodies come on the scene to add extra pounds!

The first step to take in losing weight, of course, is to see your doctor and get his approval along with a physical check-up. However, you have to depend on yourself for will power!

Here are some do's and don'ts that should help anyone who is trying to lose weight:

Don't use cooking methods that call for added fats or oils; broiling, boiling, poaching, baking, and roasting are all suitable methods.

Do flavor your foods with spices, herbs, condiments, and noncalorie sweeteners; these will make small amounts of low-calorie foods more appealing.

Don't use high calorie dressings and sauces; lemon juice or vinegar, alone or with spices, can be used as a salad dressing.

Do make use of special foods, such as: non-calorie sweeteners, skim milk, cottage cheese, butter-milk, nonfat dry milk solids, low calorie dressings and desserts.

Don't wait until tomorrow—start to control your eating today!

"Foods for Calorie Watchers" is a bulletin available from my office which contains suggestions for people who want to lose weight and special low calorie desserts. I'll be happy to send you a copy, if you will send your request to: Home Demonstration Agent, P. O. Box 30, Dover, Del.

Richard Simpson, 16, Houston, State Winner In 4-H Dairy Program

Hard work and high honors go hand-in-hand for Richard Simpson, of Houston. As state winner in the 4-H Dairy program, he already has achieved a remarkable record in dairy production skills and practices. In recognition of his progress, Larro Sure Feed Division of General Mills provides him with a trip to the 1956 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29.

Simpson has two Ayrshire heifers, cows, and calves. Ten dairy and 19 garden exhibits, plus 28 demonstrations on fitting, showing how to judge, and also how to clean and test milk have kept this young 4-H'er very busy. In addition, Richard has given many 4-H talks, and has also made seven radio appearances.

He acted as master of ceremonies at two dairy festivals. His local 4-H leader is Mrs. Martha Benson.

Hubbard Injured In Auto Accident

Harry Hubbard, 65, Goldsboro, Md., farmer and horse trainer, suffered cuts of the face in an accident on Route 13 half a mile south of Harrington, near the Harrington Fair Grounds, Sunday. He was treated at the Milford Memorial Hospital.

Troopers said Hubbard had been driving on a part of the dual highway now under construction where driving is not permitted. When he realized he was driving in the wrong place, police said, Hubbard drove to a cross over but failed to stop when he entered the open highway from the cross-over. His car ran into that of Robert J. Devroy, 34.

Social Security

Payments of two types to farmers under the soil bank crop reduction plans are counted as net earnings in computing earnings for social security insurance benefit payments, and payments of a third type may be counted under certain conditions, according to Myron Milbouer, district manager of the Social Security Administration office in Wilmington, who said many inquiries had been received on this subject.

The soil bank payments to be counted as net earnings by self-employed farm operators are those made under the acreage reserve program and the annual payments for land placed in the conservation reserve, Milbouer said. "These payments replace income which the farmer reasonably could have expected if his land had been kept in normal crop uses."

A third type of soil bank payment is the conservation reserve reimbursement payment. These are payments made by the Federal Government to pay part of the cost of carrying out the conservation practices and making improvements on the conservation reserve. They are included in figuring the farmer's net earnings only if the expenditures are deductible as business expenses for income tax purposes.

A landlord who owns a farm and participates materially in the production or management of production of farm commodities gets social security credit for his share of the soil bank payments just as the farm operator does, Milbouer pointed out. For a farm owner who receives rental income but who takes no part in the actual operation of the farm, neither the soil bank payments nor the other rental income counts toward social security benefits.

Farmers who retire and claim social security payments in 1956 and then receive soil bank payments in 1956 may file an application for a recomputation after the first of the year.

Farmers who draw soil bank payments are subject to self-employment (social security) taxes as on other net earnings, and these earnings count toward social security retirement, disability, and survivors insurance benefits.

"A large number of elderly Delaware farmers are retiring each week under the old-age and survivors insurance program provided by the Social Security Act," Milbouer stated. "The amount of the monthly payment is based on the farmer's average monthly earnings."

The minimum monthly payment is $30 for the farmer and $15 for his wife, when they reach retirement age. Maximum for which the self-employed farmer can qualify is $108.50 a month for himself and $54.30 for his wife.

Stalin Lives Again in DEATH

by A. N. SPANEL, Chairman International Latex Corporation

"Help! Help! Help!"

These were the last words heard by a shocked world as Red barbarism strangled the last free voices in martyred Hungary. That chilling cry in the night of totalitarian darkness will continue to echo through the years — as a reproof and a challenge to our conscience.

With the brutal murder of Hungarian freedom, the Kremlin masquerade of moderation is over. The much touted "new look" has been washed out in the blood of a heroic people, revealing the old face of communism, as savage and cynical and hideous as ever. Stalin lives again in duplicity, terror and death!

Those who fell for Moscow's line of smiling coexistence, whether statesmen or "experts" or ordinary citizens, now stand revealed as sad, disillusioned people. Their tired illusions have been pulverized by the same Soviet bombs and bullets that destroyed the Hungarian insurrection.

Why were we so easily taken in by the lies of Stalin's successors? Is it because at bottom we were indifferent to the torments of their victims? Is it because we were too eager to buy a bogus security for ourselves while forgetting the enslaved? Is it because we closed our eyes and hearts to Soviet crimes and horrors?

In the infamy that has overwhelmed the Hungarian people, the free world is therefore not without guilt. It is guilty of moral callousness, evidenced by readiness to come to terms with a gang of habitual murderers.

On the night of October 31, while the Soviets were massing men and weapons to crush Hungary, President Eisenhower in a television broadcast still expressed hope that Moscow was "sincere" in its promises to withdraw military forces from Eastern Europe. Such are the earnest but false hopes that seem to make the free world an accessory to Soviet crimes!

To expect "sincerity" from the Kremlin is like expecting honey from the poison-fangs of a cobra. In the face of four decades of Soviet perfidy, we have small right to complain that we have been double-crossed. We double-cross ourselves, and betray the millions under communist rule, every time we yield to Kremlin blandishments.

The tragedy of Hungary is our shame. The shame, moreover, is compounded by the fact that in another critical area, the Middle East, our country has aligned itself with the Red assassins of freedom and against our own allies.

Nasser is a papier-mache Hitler, a puppet manipulated by the same criminals who have just dealt out death to Hungary. Britain and France, after long forbearance, finally found the courage to act. They are entitled to American support. The struggle against communism is indivisible, whether acted out in Hungary or Egypt, in Korea or Southeast Asia.

Free men everywhere, while the horror of Hungary's martyrdom is still fresh on our nerves and conscience, must take stock of grim realities. They must decide how long they will allow Soviet Russia to torture the one-third of the human race under its yoke, and to blackmail and terrorize the rest of mankind.

The widespread hatred of communism, the anger inspired by the latest of its myriad crimes, the surge of sympathy for the Hungarian victims — all these will peter out in futility if they are not quickly translated into clear-headed, courageous decisions.

The world is confronted by a new situation with the collapse of Khrushchev's "new look" and the revival of Stalinism in all its classic brutality. The United States, in concert with its allies, must summon the courage and the wisdom to review that situation. It must face up to the facts of international life.

Coexistence is a fraud, a tactic of deception, a mirage in the desert of Western confusions. The last pretense of a truce in the cold war has now been erased. Hungary is a preview of the fate of any other satellite seeking freedom; of the fate of yet-free nations in the path of Soviet expansion — unless these peoples and countries can count on genuine support from the free great powers.

There can be no true peace, no genuine security, until the swollen Soviet empire cracks from within. The prime victims, the captive peoples, will do their part, provided they can be guaranteed unstinting assistance from the free world — not only moral and diplomatic help, but also material resources and trained leadership.

What is called for today is a forthright decision by the United States and its principal Allies to help liberation of the peoples under communism, their dedicated goal. Political-psychological warfare must be tackled on a scale and with resources to assure success. The oppressed and tortured peoples in the Soviet sphere must be made aware that we have at last chosen to make common cause with them against their masters.

We must help fight communism in the satellites, in the Middle East, in our own country. And we must resolve, in this fight, to settle for nothing less than the curbing and the shrinking of the spreading, cancerous Soviet power-doctrine.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

The Kid's Learned to "Take Charge"

I was down at Buck Benson's store the other day when a fellow came in with a six-year-old boy — obviously his son.

While the fellow was looking over some stuff on the counter, Buck handed a free peppermint stick to the boy, who promptly tore off the wrapper and went to work on it.

The father seemed quite put out about his son's lack of manners and held up his hand to stop him. "What do we say when Mr. Benson gives us something?" he demanded. "Charge it," replied the kid without hesitation.

From where I sit, children aren't the only ones who "repeat things" without knowing what they're talking about. For instance, I'm convinced that many of those who speak out against the old American custom of enjoying a glass of beer after work are just parroting what they've heard others say. It's better to get the facts — then make up our own minds — and permit our neighbors to do the same.

'AS YE SOW...'

Just thinking about the priceless value of friendship recalls the story of the roaming home-seeker: This man, arriving a rickety wagon holding all his earthly possessions, followed the winding road into a fertile valley and pulled up beside a man standing before a neat farm home.

"Hey, you," the stranger greeted somewhat sourly. "I am looking for a friendly community where I can settle down. Tell me, what kind of folks do you have in these parts?"

"What kind did you have where you came from?" the native asked.

"No good," the man answered, "they were selfish, overbearing, non-cooperative, and I didn't like any of them."

"Well," the native said, as he turned to go into the house, "That's the kind of folks you will find here." And the stranger went on his way seeking a community where folks were friendly.

The next day another man with his loaded wagon came along, and he, too, stopped to talk with the native.

"Howdy, neighbor," he called out cheerfully, "I am looking for a place where I can settle down, but it will have to be good. What kind of neighbors do you have in this community?"

The old man walked over to the wagon, pushed his hat back on his head, squinted up at his visitor. "What kind of neighbors did you have where you came from?" he wanted to know.

"The finest people on God's green earth," the stranger answered a bit wistfully.

The old man extended his hand. "Welcome to our valley, stranger. You will have the same kind of neighbors here."

FAYETTE COUNTY (Ia.) UNION

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE, THE BACKBONE OF THE COUNTRY WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

We believe what we said in the heading, naturally. Country correspondence comes from the numerous towns, villages, and communities, including the local municipality.

It is the foundation of the rural weekly. For the most, it is made up of small items in which the names of numerous persons are included.

One of our many duties is to edit, or correct and revise, this information. We keep editing, however, to a minimum, for if we edited the copy the way we did when we worked on a city daily, the country correspondence would lose much of its flavor.

We like to consider our writers as columnists. This gives them considerable leeway and permits them to murder the king's English. But it makes for interesting reading.

Thus, in the writings, one notes: "Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so were entertained to dinner." We have tried changing it to "at dinner," but the correspondents continue to come back with the first expression.

The bride is always beautiful and the bridegroom is always mentioned as "groom," just as though he were fresh from the stable.

Collective nouns, such as "crowd, club," always hold "their" meeting.

The correspondents usually inject their opinions into the news. They are glad when someone returns from the hospital, and the ice cream and cake are always delicious. We have always thought we would have epic-making news if the writer would mention that "delicious refreshments were not served."

Over the years, here and elsewhere, some correspondents stand out in our minds as being writers of exceptionally interesting columns. Mary J. Hurd, who formerly wrote a letter from Hollandsville, was in the opinion of the late J. Harvey Burgess, publisher of this newspaper, "the best correspondent he ever had." Mrs. Hurd told us she used to tell what buyers paid for farms and that they would be angry.

In our youth, we remember the late Alice H. Ross, of Ross Lane, Vernon. She kept the readers informed on the activities of the Rosses, in particular, at home and abroad, and on Vernon in general. She had wide readership.

Mrs. Annie Fisher wrote a Farmington letter when we were young. She was a philosopher. The late Dr. Powell, of Farmington, was one of the best correspondents we ever had, in our opinion. With a pencil, he would write human interest stories on bits of discarded correspondence which had been pasted together. He knew who grew the largest tomato in the community and who had a good yield of corn.

Journalism must run in the Powell family. We worked for many years on the St. Louis Daily Livestock Reporter, one time edited by Harold A. Powell, Dr. Powell's nephew. Mr. Powell, thru whose intercession we got our job on The Reporter, is retired and, at last reports, was living in Webster Grove, Me.

We discovered a correspondent with a sense of humor at Sandtown. His name was Carroll and he ran a store there. Maybe he still does. He wrote for us a bit and his columns were read with interest by people who had never heard of Sandtown. During an epidemic of army worms he wrote "they were eating everything green in sight, including the shutters on one farmer's house."

Correspondents are mostly women, but the few men who write usually do a good job. The best we ever saw was a retired salesman who lived at Ashland, Mo., (population 500) and wrote for the Columbia Daily Missourian on which we worked. His descriptive writing, or word pictures, was so good we checked on him. He has gone to the place where all good correspondents go, but we think his writings would be well placed in a textbook on country correspondence. He wrote about the folklore of the neighborhood, and told of the church bell which came from a wrecked steamboat in the nearby Missouri. In describing an event of bygone days, he told of an ivory-bill woodpecker tapping out the knell of departing day on a dead tree. We liked it so well we used it several years ago in writing about the history of the defunct village of Fork Landing. It was only recently that we discovered there were no ivory-bill woodpeckers in Delaware.

Georgetown Lions Club Fetes Greenwood Club

The Georgetown Lions Club, which is sponsoring the newly-formed Greenwood Lions, entertained the Greenwood Club Tuesday, Nov. 20, in the form of a banquet, at which the ladies were honored guests and the Greenwood Club was presented with its charter. The Charter was received by Charles F. Jones, president of the Greenwood Club. Other presentations were as follows: Connie Briggs of the Wilmington Manor Lions Club presented Lion Jones with a president's pin; Edward Timmons of the Millsboro Club presented the Greenwood Club with a Tail Twisters Bank; and Ray Lloyd of the Georgetown Club presented the Greenwood Club with a highway sign which was accepted by Lion Clay Johnson. Ray Lloyd presented the Greenwood Club with gong and gavel.

During the course of the evening, a telegram from the Director General Lions International was received and read, congratulating the Greenwood Club.

On the entertainment side there was group singing and special music and singing by Joe Jovinelly and his accordion. Joe staged a number of impromptu acts, among which was a chorus of bald-headed men, and a chorus of the Greenwood men.

The master of ceremonies was Howard "Doc" Furniss, International Counsellor, of the Milford Club. The speaker of the evening was Monte Nute, past president of Lions International, from Kenneth Square.

The pianist was Nell Barr. Others featured on the program were: Marion Sherwood, who introduced the master of ceremonies; Jack Briggs, Deputy District Governor; George Ellingsworth, District Governor; Frank J. Horly, International Director and the Rev. George Leukel who gave the invocation and benediction.

A turkey dinner was served and at the close of the evening, the guests enjoyed dancing to the music of the Skyliners.

Sure nothing to report right now on the Seminole Raceway. We have plenty of company and others on a vacation.

Mr. Kemp, president of the track is very busy getting ready for spring meet. He, Dave and I, were sitting at the club house and he seemed very pleased that he is expecting Walter Gibbons to manage his place.

This is a nice place but they will have to certainly get busy to put it over.

Several stables from up country are moving in about 35 miles from here. That's Spring Garden Ranch.

Four stables from California are due last of week. Their stalls are all ready. We have Leon Tolhurst's colt from Sale at Harrington, waiting his arrival Monday. Several large stables are in over to Ben White Raceway. Four car loads were on the siding yesterday.

WHEELER'S Television News

The old man himself with the long white whiskers will soon be along. Whether he comes by train, fire engine, plane, automobile, or sleigh, he never misses.

This year the articles he brings will be much better than last year. When we stop to think of the many, many things that you can buy which will be useful as well as pleasurable, such as a Philco color or black and white television, or automatic or wringer-type washer, Philco freezer or refrigerator. While I mention Refrigerator, may I say that I have about twenty on hand, some of which have never been taken out of the boxes, and all the latest models. Your old refrigerator is worth about $100 to $200 regardless of condition. I am going to sell these twenty refrigerators, and if you have an old one or will be needing one in the near future, you cannot pass this offer up.

When it comes to buying an oil space heater, remember the name Perfection and this name will bring to your mind one of the oldest companies making oil heaters or oil stoves.

When you buy a Perfection, you buy a stove that has plenty of experience back of it and one not only for good looks but one that will really heat. Perfection is the only stove that guarantees the burner for as long as ten years.

We also have small portable oil stoves, and also small gas heaters for an extra room, for only $5.45 and are of white porcelain.

Do you think your home looks good enough for company which you are bound to have at Christmas?

I would suggest that a room or more papered will sure make a difference in your home.

We have plenty of wall paper and wall paint of all colors. Give yourself and your family a new look for Christmas.

This cold weather we are now having may be good for the pennies, but it surely makes us add more clothing, both on our bodies and more covering on our beds. Do you have so many blankets and other bed covering that it is hard to sleep well?

I can sure give you the correct answer to clear the situation. Drop in our store and purchase an electric blanket with a dual control and believe you me it will be the finest sleeping you have ever had. You can regulate the heat you like, and your wife can regulate hers with the same blanket.

Do you expect to get a gas range for Christmas? If so, I would advise dropping in our store and get prices as we are crowded and merchandise must be moved. If you want an electric range, we will arrange it so the installation cost will be eliminated. Could you ask for anything better?

Drop in and ask for what you don't see and save. All merchandise can be purchased with a small down payment and balance by the month, starting next year.

Wishes Come True for Delaware 4-H'ers

The perennial wish of Delaware 4-H Club members—state honors and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago—came true this year for four teenagers whose 1956 records of performance were superior in the national 4-H Food Preparation, Safety, and Health programs.

Joyce Elliott, 16, of Bridgeville, has become an expert in preparing nutritious, appetizing meals. Participation in the 4-H Food Preparation program has taught her how to select, plan, and serve a wide variety of dishes. As state winner, the Kollivator Division, American Motors, provides her all-expense trip to Chicago.

A Club member for six years, Joyce cooked and served 2,814 meals, and prepared 615 dishes. Some of her favorites included cakes, fruit and vegetable salads, prevention survey of her home and grounds, correcting several obstacles to safer living. Betty reminds her family and friends that activities can be made safer by "thinking first." At camp she learned first aid and water safety. Miss Dorothy Pierson was leader of her safety project.

Betty's trip award is made possible by General Motors, which has supported 4-H work for 12 years.

To be selected for the top state award in the 4-H Health program is not only an honor, but it distinguishes the individual as one who has developed exemplary personal health habits. This distinction goes to Marcia Harmon, 17, of Hockessin, a 4-H Club member for six years. Eli Lilly and Co. is donor of her trip award.

Marcia chose "Care of the Skin" as her advanced health project. This includes washing the face twice a day, proper diet, lots of liquids, and at least one-half pint of milk a day. Another health measure is daily exercise to help build muscles.

Marcia completed six projects including frozen foods and poultry, and won several blue ribbons. She served as reporter of her 4-H Club led by Florence Harris.

All these programs are conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.
