

MAYHEW DEFEATS SNOWDEN FOR SPEAKER OF HOUSE; STEEN CHOSEN FOR TOP SENATE OFFICE

The House Tuesday elected Rep. Harry E. Mayhew (D-Milford) as its speaker in a contest that provided the principal action for the opening of Delaware's 119th General Assembly.

Mr. Mayhew, serving his second term as a member of the House, was opposed by Rep. James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) whose name was placed in nomination by Rep. Henry H. Wolf (R-Newark).

The vote followed party lines, the Democratic majority carrying for Mr. Mayhew, 19 to 16.

Mr. Mayhew immediately pledged to "perform my duties to the best of my ability." He had been nominated by Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle) the speaker in the last session, who is the majority leader this time.

Election Made Unanimous
Mr. Snowden, also a second term member of the lower chamber, had made the election of Mr. Mayhew unanimous as the first roll call of the session closed, introducing a note of harmony.

The House opened at 12:20 p. m., called to order by Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington), now in his third term, who served as temporary speaker. The Senate had gone in 14 minutes earlier and the Senate's opening provided few surprises, stirred up no ill feeling, and was accomplished with good-natured alacrity despite frequent recesses that provided lawyers, stenographers and mimeograph operators time to wade through the required paperwork.

In the Senate the election of Senator Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) as president pro tem was made official in one of the first resolutions approved.

As the House moved into action Mr. Shockley, an old hand now at presiding for the opening ceremonies, was assisted by Rep. Sherman W. Tribbit (D-Odessa, who sat in as temporary clerk.

Mr. Quigley fired off a salvo of motions which brought the organization to the climactic point at which he nominated Mr. Mayhew—who had been selected by the Democratic caucus three weeks ago—and Mr. Wolf, another second term, brought out the name of Mr. Snowden.

As Mr. Quigley moved the election of Mr. Mayhew he also moved that the nominations be closed. Mr. Wolf was on his feet, however, and asked to be heard. Granted permission to speak, Mr. Wolf said he would like "to nominate someone who served with great distinction" in the last General Assembly; someone who held the admiration of his colleagues . . . someone who has the courage to administer the affairs of the House in this session."

Then he submitted the name of Mr. Snowden, and the nomination was seconded by Rep. Harry E. Lawson (R-Wilmington), a sophomore, too. Mr. Quigley moved more successfully that the nominations be closed and the representatives fell to voting, required by the chair to state the name of their choice.

New Speaker Applauded
By 12:55 Mr. Mayhew was in and he was escorted to the chair by Mr. Quigley and Mr. Snowden. Mr. Mayhew was applauded a few moments later after he had spoken briefly about his intentions and at 1:10 the House recessed at the call of the chair.

This brought a problem—should the members take a luncheon break or stick around and get the day's work done, hoping to leave Dover early for a quick trip home and a normal celebration of New Year's Day. Indecision moved in and sat down and it was 4:36 before the House reconvened. The rest of the chamber's business before adjournment was the adoption of resolutions naming attaches, swearing in of the employees, and approval of a Senate concurrent resolution planning a joint session for Friday afternoon.

The Senate was called to order by Lt. Gov. John W. Rollins, who was later joined on the dais by his two sons, John, and Jimmy, 11.

Senator Reilly, the new major floor leader, started the balling by nominating Thomas F. Bayard III as temporary secretary. The nomination was accepted and Mr. Bayard's appointment to the HOUSE—cont. on back page

Head of Senate Lists Committee Posts of Session

Senator Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) elected Tuesday as president pro tem for the 119th General Assembly, announced the committee appointments before the Senate adjourned until Friday at 1 p. m.

Because of the overwhelming Democratic majority in the upper chamber—13 to the Republicans' four—Senator Steen stuck to the formula used two years ago by his predecessor, former Senator Charles G. Moore, and named four Democrats and one Republican to each committee.

As had been anticipated, Mr. Steen selected Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) as chairman of the Finance Committee which with the House Appropriation Committee, comprises the Budget Committee that will start agency hearings within two weeks.

Finance Committee
Others named by Mr. Steen to the Finance Committee are Senators Earle M. Tull (D-Seaford), William B. Behen (D-Dover), Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace, and Elwood F. Melson, Jr. (R-Claymont). Other committee assignments are:

Three Kent County Men Join Army
Men on the Shore joined the Army during the holiday period, Sgt. 1/C Albert J. Pedder, non-commissioned officer in charge of the area Recruiting Station, announced today.

They are; James F. Walsh, 18, son of Mrs. Margaret Walsh, Harrington, formerly employed on the Carmin E. Gallo Farm, who enlisted in the Signal Corps for three years; Kenneth A. Baker, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Kenton, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kenton, Frederica, who has been employed by Colburn's Grocery Store in Oxford, and enlisted for three years with the Anti-Aircraft Artillery Command.

Frear Issues Weekly Bulletin
United States Senator J. Allen Frear said today that the freedom loving nations of the Far East are looking to the United States for "guidance and encouragement because they recognize the accomplishments which we have attained under a free and democratic system of government."

The Senator—who has just returned from a lengthy assignment in Asia and the Southwest Pacific—declared "there is no doubt that our nation is the acknowledged leader throughout the world. Many of the people whom I have met expressed abiding hopes in the United States."

Mr. Frear served as a delegate to the Interparliamentary Union Conference at Bangkok in Thailand. Later he visited India, Pakistan, Hong Kong, Burma, Formosa, Japan and other islands in the vast Pacific area. His observations on his trip were contained in his first weekly statement of the New Year.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Frear called attention to the convening of the new Congress this week and urged his Delaware constituents to "become active participants in the affairs of Congress by maintaining close and continued contact with their elected representatives in order that we may better understand and serve your basic needs."

DELAWARE PLANS SECOND INAUGURATION OF GOV. BOGGS

Delaware's plans for the second inaugural of Governor J. Caleb Boggs on Tuesday, Jan. 15, and participation in the national ceremonies attendant to President Eisenhower's inauguration on January 21 are moving forward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, it was announced yesterday.

The Delaware ceremony will take place promptly at noon in front of Legislative Hall, Dover, and oaths will be administered to Governor Boggs, Lt. Governor David P. Buckson and Secretary of State John N. McDowell who has accepted reappointment to that position. The oath will be administered by Chief Justice Clarence Sutherland of the State Supreme Court.

At the noon ceremonies music will be furnished by the 287th AAA National Guard Band, and Edward Scanlon, Dover, will lead in singing the national anthem. Mr. Scanlon will also sing "Our Delaware"; the official state song.

In accordance to the wishes of Governor Boggs, the ceremonies will be brief but appropriate. Following his inaugural address, the Governor and his party, which will include all state-wide elected officers, former governors, the congressional delegation and the majority and minority leaders of the Senate and House and their wives, will retire to a receiving line in the governor's executive suite where they will greet the public.

Plans have been made to serve refreshments on the first floor of Legislative Hall following the ceremony to all visitors.

An inaugural ball, beginning at 9 p. m., will be held that night in Dover High School Field House. George Madden's orchestra will provide music for dancing, and this will be a black tie affair according to members of the Interim Inaugural Committee.

Following the state inaugural, thoughts will be turned to participation in the national program, where Delaware will be officially represented by Governor Boggs, and it is expected that nearly all state-wide officers and members of the General Assembly will be in attendance.

A block of tickets has been secured for the Delaware party near the Treasury building on Pennsylvania Avenue, one of the best spots on the parade route. Governor Boggs and officials of the State Republican Committee will be guests in the area immediately surrounding the White House which has been designated as the "Court of the Spirit of Freedom."

A special Pennsylvania Railroad train with reduced fares will leave Wilmington on the morning of the inauguration, it was announced. If a full train is not needed, special coaches for Delawareans will be attached to regularly scheduled trains that day. Plans are set to leave Wilmington at approximately 8:30 a. m. Tickets may be secured by calling Republican State Headquarters in Wilmington.

President Eisenhower will take the public oath of office at noon on January 21, and will then deliver his address. The inaugural parade, titled "Consent of the Governed" will move at exactly 1:15 p. m., national commitments declare.

It is also pointed out that while Delaware has been restored to its traditional first place in the parade of states, the Presidential Party and military units will precede the state groups. Delaware's unit will be comprised of Gov. and Mrs. Boggs in an open car; a state float depicting the Ratification of the Federal Constitution, the National Guard Band and a group of National Guardsmen in Colonial uniforms who will represent the Continental Company of Capt. Robert Kirkwood, famous Revolutionary War hero who was eventually killed in action November 4, 1791, in the Battle of Miami (Ohio) where he was fighting the Indians with General Arthur St. Clair.

There are many events scheduled in Washington beginning January 19, in which the public may participate, including the national festival in Uline Auditorium, a stage show with top stars, a concert Sunday evening in Constitution Hall by the National Symphony Orchestra and the inaugural ball, which is scheduled to be held in the Washington Armory and three hotels. The Presidential party will visit each of the balls.

Family of Twelve Routed By Fire At Bridgeville

Twelve members of a family were routed from their eight-room home owned by the T. S. Smith and Company, two miles north of Bridgeville on the old Greenwood Road at 2 p. m. Tuesday when the building was razed by fire. Damage was put at around $4,000.

The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hopkins and family of 10 children, were downstairs in the kitchen and were unaware anything was amiss until a neighbor came running across a field to inform them the top of their house was on fire.

Members of the Bridgeville Fire Company, who answered the call along with the Greenwood Fire Company, said they learned one of the Hopkins daughters had gone upstairs to heat a room with the intention of taking a bath. She started an air heater in the room before returning to the kitchen.

A high wind had given the flames a good start by the time firemen arrived and although they fought the blaze for two hours, the home was in ruins in a short time.

Members of the family managed to salvage some furniture from the first floor, however.

The Smith Company officials immediately moved the Hopkins family into another company home for the time being.

Cape May and Lewes Ferry Aides To Meet

Paul F. Carpenter, the president of the Lewes Chamber of Commerce and recently named chairman of the Delaware committee to promote the Cape May-Lewes ferry project, announces a joint meeting of Delaware and New Jersey legislators today at 6:30 p. m. in the Hunt Room of the Hotel DuPont.

State Rep. Harry E. Mayhew, speaker of the House, will preside. New Jersey officials expected to attend are: State Senator Charles W. Sandman, Jr., and State Senator Wayne DuMont, president pro tem of the New Jersey State Senate.

Delaware leaders interested in the project who will be guests include Senator Curtis W. Steen, Senator Walter J. Hoey, chairman of the Senate finance committee; Rep. Harry B. Spicer, and Robert W. Tunnell, Georgetown attorney.

Six persons mixing explosives to make "caps" for toy guns were killed in an explosion at Madurai, India.

New Officials Assume Duties

New officials and their staffs assumed their duties in both the state house and court house Wednesday with everything appearing to move very smoothly in connection with the changes.

Soon after Mrs. Vera G. Davis took over the state treasurer's office Wednesday morning she, with the members of her staff, called upon Auditor of Accounts Dale E. Wheatley and the members of his staff for a general get-acquainted session.

Both new officials received some callers during the day but spent a large percentage of their time in completing transfers of accounts and organizing office routine.

When Mrs. Davis signed a state check Wednesday morning it is believed to be the first time that a woman's name appeared on a state check as state treasurer.

The changeover in the county offices moved very smoothly in the court house since there was very few changes in personnel in these offices except in the Register of Wills office, where Clarence E. Dixon, the new register of wills, placed a new staff in his office.

Comptroller Harry Hanson and Sheriff Thomas Hughes made no changes in the staffs in their offices, while Prothonotary William M. Paskey added one office deputy to his staff.

Senate To Study Printing Costs

The Senate's committee on printing decided not to accept any bids for the upper chamber's calendar until it investigates the possibility of a less expensive and less bulky format for the document.

Meeting shortly after the end of the Senate's opening session, the committee made it clear that it wants to cut printing costs—even if it has to resort to mimeographing the calendar.

The calendar lists all bills and resolutions submitted, and charts their course through the tangled legislative mill. At the peak of business in the 1955-56 session, it ran to more than 40 pages—and an average of 400 calendars were printed each day.

Senator Lemuel H. Hickman (D-Frankford), chairman of the printing committee, told prospective bidders he wants to investigate the possibility of a looseleaf binder-type calendar that might cut printing requirements to a page a day.

He asked the printers to return Friday afternoon—the hour of the committee meeting wasn't set—prepared to submit bids for the looseleaf calendar as well as the traditional type.

He specified that the looseleaf calendar bids should be based on the cost of printing a single page at the alternate rates of 300, 400, or 500 a day. They should also include provision for supplying backers—18 with names embossed in gold leaf for members of the Senate and the lieutenant governor, and "10 to a dozen" plain ones for use by Senate employees.

State Police Radar Teams Arrest 108 Speeding Drivers

State police radar teams last week arrested 108 drivers for speeding.

In the same period the members of the four teams arrested 10 persons for other motor vehicle law violations and issued 14 warnings to motorists who were driving too fast but not flagrantly violating the speed laws, and eight reprimands for other motor vehicle law violations of a non-flagrant type.

At the office of Col. Harry S. Shew, superintendent, it was explained that weather conditions and the fact that troopers were assigned to the special details working on discovery of drinking drivers, reduced the activities of the radar teams.

It was intimated that with the Christmas-New Year's holiday season now past, that the radar teams would be devoting more time to detecting speeding drivers as speed is considered as a prime cause in serious accidents.

HOUSE APPROVES 50 ATTACHES; SENATE NAMES LIST OF 45

Before adjourning this afternoon until Friday, the 119th General Assembly appointed a total of 95 attaches.

The resolutions approved by the House and the Senate, separately, included 50 aides for the representatives and 45 for the senators.

At least a half-dozen more appointments are expected before the attaché corps is at full strength.

As it is, the rosters indicate an adequate staff of messenger on door tenders for each chamber, as well as a plentiful supply of sergeants-at-arms, clerks, and other legislative folk.

Securing a last-minute check on attaches kept the two houses in session later than had been predicted. But it brought organization of the session to the point where that preliminary is nearly complete.

The legislators return here Friday at 1 p. m.

Judge Directs That Juveniles Names Be Used

After hearing the cases of several juveniles on charges of motor vehicle law violations on Friday, Judge W. Marion Stevenson requested newspapermen to use the names of the juveniles when reporting the case.

It has been the accepted practice in this state to withhold the name of a juvenile that is accused of violating the law, but acting upon the request of Judge Stevenson, the reporters procured the names of the juveniles involved in these cases.

Thomas Frazier, aged 17, of Dover, was before the Juvenile Court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle at a speed of 100 miles per hour. Judge Stevenson imposed a fine of $50 and costs in the case and directed that the young man's operators license be revoked for six months.

Walter Lee Kuhlman, aged 17, who resides near Dover, was before the court on two charges; one for operating a car at 85 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone and the other for reckless driving. Judge Stevenson imposed a fine of $25 and costs on the speeding charge and $10 and costs on the reckless driving charge.

Judge Stevenson also directed that the young man's operators license be revoked for a period of one year.

Norman Samuel Watson, Jr., aged 16, of Dover, was before the court on a charge of reckless driving after he allegedly ran into the back of a bus. Judge Stevenson imposed a fine of $12.50 and costs in the case and placed the youth on probation to determine if he still can handle his car properly.

At the conclusion of the case Judge Stevenson announced that he wants the juveniles to know that unless they operate their cars within the law, their licenses will be revoked by the Court without any mercy.

THIEVES

Well organized thieves wheeled four huge tank trucks up to a line of storage vats at a vinegar making firm, applied a power siphon to one of the vats, and drained off 10,000 gallons of hard cider.

The haul was valued at $5,000. An internal revenue agent said today the thieves may put a little carbonation in the cider and pass it off as champagne on gullible buyers.

Mrs. Joe McBride, assistant supply clerk; Nora Donovan, assistant supply clerk; the Rev. Ray W. Kirwin, chaplain; Clancy Jenkins, page; Loretta Clark, mail-room supervisor, and Beatrice Hubbard and Ethel Quillen, attorneys' secretaries.

Veterans News

Starting January 1st, servicemen, their wives, and children became eligible for greatly increased financial protection as a result of two acts of Congress—the servicemen's and veterans' survivors benefits act and the dependents medical care act.

Chief Jack P. Dawson, Navy recruiter at Wilmington, said the servicemen's and veterans' survivors benefits act provides broader benefits for survivors of military personnel who die in service or die later as a result of military service.

This act, Chief Dawson said, provides increased VA payments in cases of service-connected death, especially to widows; more balanced payments to widows; permanent social security coverage; eliminates distinctions between wartime and peacetime deaths; and brings all members of the armed forces under the same survivor benefit laws. None of the benefits previously provided are withdrawn.

Under the dependents' medical care act dependents of military personnel are assured of medical care as a right, and not as a privilege. Previously medical care was provided dependents of service men only if the service could provide it. Dependents were not entitled to this care. Effective Dec. 7, and for the first time, all dependents of service personnel are entitled to medical

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My husband was a World War II veteran who was injured on active duty in March, 1947. He later died of his injury. Would my daughter be eligible for War Orphans schooling?

A—Under the law she would not. The law requires that a World War II veteran's injury or disability must have occurred before December 31, 1946. Your husband incurred his injury after that date.

Q—The effective date of my GI policy was December 31. I understand that my premiums are due on this same date each month. What about those months that don't have 31 days?

A—For the months that do not have 31 days, your premium is due on the last day of the month.

Q—Is every disabled Korea veteran entitled to special vocational rehabilitation training?

A—No. This training is available only to disabled veterans who need it to overcome the handicap of their service connected disabilities. However, those who don't need vocational rehabilitation training may be eligible for Korean GI Bill training.

Ample Growing Room Can Up Broiler Profit

Broilers need room to grow. That's what Harold Sharpe, A. W. Perdue and sons, Salisbury, Md., demonstrated at a recent poultry short course in Laurel. Each broiler weighs three pounds. The bird at the left has 0.6 square feet of floor space, the center bird 0.8 square feet, and the bird at the right 1.0 square feet.

Members of a panel that day discussed ways to grow broilers cheaper. They are, left to right: Ray Lloyd, assistant county agent, Sussex County; Silas McHenry, University of Delaware Extension poultry specialist, pel moderator; Dr. Thomas Coulton, Cooperative Mills Research Farm, Greenwood; Charles Williams, O. A. Newton and Son Co., Bridgeville; Lee Cates, J. McKenny Willis Co., Easton, Md., and Harold Sharpe.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

A story often told in 19th century Ireland was about a lovely girl who possessed six gifts. Among her endowments were the gift of beauty, the gift of song and the gift of needlework. That beauty and song are natural gifts is indisputable, but today, we look upon fine needlework as something that can be achieved by any woman.

NEEDLEWORK FOR ALL
At the time this tale was most popular, crochet was a little-known art. Printed directions for doing it were practically non-existent and suitable materials were at a minimum. Therefore, the woman who did crochet well under these circumstances was naturally considered

"gifted." Though there are still many people who have a special flair for needlework and who execute each new stitch with ease, there are many more who have become skillful through practice and by using the materials and patterns, now available, that are easiest to work with. Any woman can build up a good needlework repertory nowadays. Once you have become proficient at making a stitch or using a yarn or thread, you can always seek and find another pattern, other materials to practice with and perfect. Have you ever made the shell stitch? Have you ever used the cotton and metallic blended thread? If not, here's your chance to add something new to your needlework knowledge....

STARRY STRIPES IN CROCHET
Bold green stripes are crocheted diagonally into these important-looking place mats done in the dainty shell stitch. A starry effect is achieved in each stitch with silver-stranded crochet cotton. The finished mats measure about 11 inches x 17 1/2 inches. If you would like to brighten up your luncheon table, send for the directions for making this REGIMENTAL STRIPED LUNCHEON SET. They may be obtained by writing to the Needlework Department of this paper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 114.21.

Poultry diagnostic services and recommendations for treatment are features of new Georgetown Substation Division of University of Delaware School of Agriculture. Shown discussing important step in poultry disease detection are (l. to r.): Dr. E. F. Waller, chairman, animal and poultry industry department, U. D. School of Agriculture; J. Frank Gordy, Director, Substation Division; and Dr. Lester M. Greene, poultry pathologist, Substation Division.

EXPANDED SERVICES AT GEORGETOWN

Services to Delaware agriculture, performed by the Georgetown substation of the University of Delaware School of Agriculture, will be expanded as a result of action by the University's Board of Trustees.

In an effort to help meet some of the more urgent problems of farmers—particularly those in Kent and Sussex counties, the Board of Trustees has established a Substation Division in the School of Agriculture to be administratively responsible to the dean of the school, Dr. G. M. Worrlow, and to function at the present agricultural substation near Georgetown.

The new division will coordinate and develop research, extension and short course programs in agricultural production, marketing and other fields. Research to be conducted will include field crop, vegetable and fruit production, as well as poultry nutrition, poultry disease control and other problems important to Delaware farmers.

J. Frank Gordy, county agent leader and extension poultry specialist in the School of Agriculture, was appointed director of the Substation Division. Gordy has established his office at the substation and final organization of staff and services is to be completed by July 1, 1957.

As a means of increasing efficiency of production and improving quality of Delaware poultry products, the Board of Trustees also approved a request of the State Board of Agriculture, that the University, through the School of Agriculture, perform poultry diagnostic services. Dr. L. M. Greene of Raleigh, N. C., was appointed poultry pathologist to supervise this work in the new Substation Division.

Dr. Greene will render diagnostic services, and will advise farmers on disease control measures for broilers, layers and turkeys. Beginning January 5, the laboratory will be open Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. until 12 noon. Weekday hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There is no charge for either diagnostic service or for recommendations for healthier flocks.

Dr. Greene was poultry pathologist in the veterinary division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture prior to his appointment in the School of Agriculture. He graduated from North Carolina State College of Agriculture in 1926 with a major in poultry husbandry. He received a master's degree in poultry diseases at the same institution in 1928. He received his doctor of veterinary medicine degree at Michigan State University in 1939. He also served on the staff of the University of Vermont, in the veterinary crops of the U. S. Army during World War II, and with commercial firms engaged in poultry diagnostic work.

MISS WILLIE MORRIS

Private funeral services were held Monday at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, with the Rev. J. R. Deihl, a retired minister of Salisbury, Md., officiating. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

GREENWOOD MAN ENLISTS

Gleen Millaway, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyland Callaway of Greenwood, has enlisted for a six-year period in the Army Reserve, Master Sgt. Gordon L. Lowe, in charge of the Salisbury Army Recruiting Station, announced today. Pvt. Millaway, now taking an eight-week basic training course at Ft. Jackson, S. C., will be on two year's active duty with the Military Police Corps.

Dairy Breeding Records Save Farmers Money

"What do you mean saying that I gave $1600 away last year?" This was the comment of a local dairyman to the county agent, George Vapaa, in a discussion of herd management.

"Let's figure it out in black and white and see if it makes sense to you," said Vapaa. "You have a milking herd of 20 cows and bull which runs with the herd. We know from research that two conditions are present when the bulls runs with the herd. The dairyman cannot be certain when the cow is bred, and so has no idea when to turn the cow dry. If the cow is turned dry too soon, you have lost money. But if she is still milking when she again freshens, then her body reserves are down and you run into trouble. A cow should be dry about two months prior to calving so that she can produce a healthy calf."

"On the average the research studies indicate an average drop in milk production of a third to a fourth of the cow's ability in this situation. If your cows are averaging 6000 lbs. of milk a year, then with controlled breeding and simple records you can easily bring these cows up to 8000 lbs. average. If you average a ton or more milk from each cow or a total increase of 40,000 lbs., then at an average price of $4 per 100 lbs., you can earn an extra $1600."

"Say, that does make sense," said the farmer who prefers to remain nameless (and who wants to admit shortcomings). "Do you know what I'm going to do?" he continued. "We're going to breed old Ferdinand, get an extra cow, and start using artificial breeding." The telephone is handy and we can get the advantage of better bred sires for less than the cost of keeping the bull."

MAJOR DELAWARE FARM AND HOME WEEK SPEAKER

Vanden Heuval is an executive committee member of the American Friends of Viet Nam and a member of the Far East American Council.

Leaders' Training Meeting Set For Jan. 14th

A leaders' training meeting, designed to help newly elected officers and committee members of the numerous farm and home groups in the county to become better acquainted with their duties, has been scheduled for Monday evening, January 14th at 8 p.m. in the Caesar Rodney High School.

George Vapaa, county agent, in making the announcement, stated that each year many men and women, both young and old, are elected to some office or named to a committee for the first time in their life and it nearly scares them out of a years growth."

With the help of some training, however, it makes their job much easier and enjoyable, and they in turn are able to make a much greater contribution to the welfare of their group.

The "gimmick" at this session will show the difficulties one has to get his ideas expressed to a group effectively. Special emphasizes will be given to the duties of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, as well as committee chairman. Arrangements will be made to provide special training for various groups such as Grange, Farm Bureau, Home Demonstration, 4-H and others of the need arises.

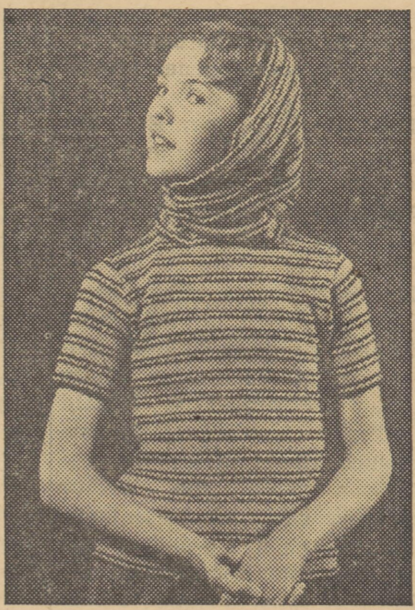

There is no charge for the training program an dall interested groups are invited to be present.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Appreciation for fine needlework is generally learned at a tender age. A young girl who is introduced to crocheting, knitting and sewing, either by doing it themselves or watching mother make beautiful things, develop a love for handwork that grows with them.

BETWEEN MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Mother is the one most likely to help daughter cultivate a taste for good needlework. It is up to the distaff side of the family to teach her youngster the value of each stitch and the materials that go into it. As a girl's most influential companion, mother should acquaint her daughter with the best needlework methods. A youngster needs to be shown that knots and long strands of color carried from one design to another are untidy. To develop a discerning eye for needlework, she must be shown that neat finishings, careful washing and blocking are important to each knitted or crocheted article. The knowledge and appreciation for good needlework, which mother has given her will be with her for a lifetime. Evidence of this was seen in one family whose daughter was influenced so greatly by the mother's fine crocheting, that she insisted her mother crochet her wedding dress. The mother must have been doubly proud to have been able to make the dress and to know that she had helped develop the love for needlework that her daughter will possess forever.

KNITTED FASHION FOR THE YOUNGER SET
In the sub- and early teens, when a girl is most receptive to style and the wonders of needlework, mother couldn't do better than to make a sweater for her blossoming miss. Here's an Italian-inspired design that will capture the eye of every fashion-conscious daughter. The tricolor, striped sweater features the long-awaited look that is a favorite of school girls from kindergarten to college. The convertible hood can be worn up on chilly, windy days and down, in a cowl effect, in warmer, calmer weather. The knitting directions are given in sizes 8-14, and may be obtained through the Needlework Dept. of this paper. By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

I'll start this little chit-chat for the last time this year. What's in store for us all—that's in the future?

I've been to town here in Orlanda, the City Beautiful, and it really is just that, listening to the chimes and the most wonderful singing by the different church choirs that are in the parks by the many lakes that are set up with park benches, with amplification system in each park.

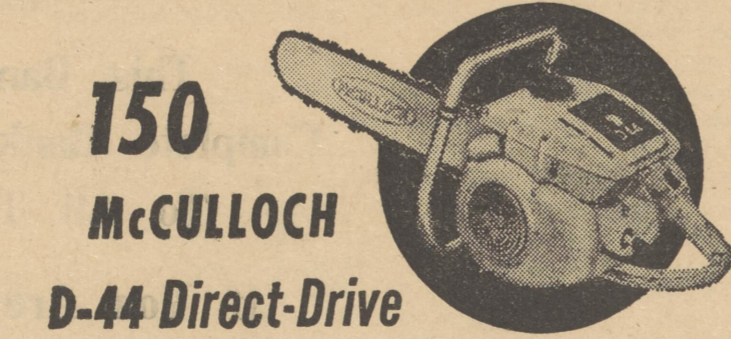

"Course each one has tried to out-do the other in decorations. Dave and I drove around, just to see these sights. Each church seems to have three little choral singers in front of each church. Really beautiful.

Of course you know, anywhere you might go, you'll run into something that will give you a chuckle. A fellow celebrating the coming New Year a little in advance, was giving out with a song and dance in front of Ives Department Store. Really was in stitches. He wanted to dance with everyone. . . . Grabbed Santa's hand, that was it. He just laughed and was lost in the crowd. This was my Christmas Eve in Orlanda.

We are all interested now in the New Year. There are plenty night clubs here, if you care to go. Also, the churches are all open for watch parties and prayer.

Delaware Safety Council

"Your driving habits must be winterized along with your car."

Motorists were given that warning yesterday by two auto club officials in cooperation with the Delaware Safety Council, which is emphasizing safety in winter driving this month.

"The winter season with its rain, sleet, snow and ice has always increased traffic hazards," said William P. Markland, Manager of the Delaware Motor Club, AAA, and Charles W. Lawson, Manager of the Delaware Automobile Association. "But the driver's knowledge of how to drive in winter can mean the difference between a low or a high traffic toll."

They pointed out that in addition to winterizing his car, a driver should heed these recommendations made by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards:

1. Accept your responsibility and adapt your driving to road conditions. Slippery streets call for skilled handling of the car.

2. Use good tires and use reinforced tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances by about half, and increase traction four to seven times.

3. Keep your windshield and windows clear. Clean snow and ice off your windshield and other windows on the side and back of your car. Be sure your windshield wipers, heater and defroster are working properly.

4. Get the "feel of the road." Try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic.

5. Follow at a safe distance. Remember, without tire chains it takes from three to nine, times as far to stop on ice or snow as it does on dry pavement.

6. Pump your brakes with a fast up and down motion to slow down or stop. Jamming your brakes is almost certain to lock your wheels and throw your car into a skid.

Drivers of new cars with automatic transmissions, power brakes, and power steering were given a special word of caution.

"In such cars," Mr. Markland and Mr. Lawson said, "the accelerator is the control. Steering and braking should be done smoothly and with care, and the driver should ease up on the gas pedal at the slightest sign of a skid."

They advised motorists to practice smooth driving the year 'round if they hope to have the habit of driving smoothly when the roads are slippery with snow or ice.

"A good slogan for motorists this month," they said, "would be, 'Do you want to survive? Winterize before you drive!'"

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

It's time we started thinking about our New Year's resolutions. Our plans for the coming year may be large or small but they should include a program of achievement that will help to better our lives. We ought to promise ourselves to do more needlework during 1957, for it is through this hand work that we can achieve the relaxation, pleasure and gratification that are often missing elements in our daily living.

CROCHET-FULL MOMENTS

True relaxation is hard to come by in these tension-filled days, but even doctors agree that crochet is an effective means of soothing the nerves. This is substantiated by many crocheters, especially men, who consider their hobby a pleasant and beneficial tonic to take after a day's hard work. I wish you could see all the enthusiastic statements, written by the male advocates of crochet, that attribute many restful moments to crochet activity.

So, if it's relaxation you seek, make the New Year a crochet year. Likewise, if you want to derive more enjoyment from your leisure hours, you will find a large share of it in crochet work. Do you promise yourself to save more money during the 365 days of the coming year? Again, crochet offers an answer, because the fine stitches you make with hook and thread, at very low cost, can provide you with beautiful fashion and household accessories that you normally could not afford to buy.

DECORATIVE CHAIR SET

When you want to dress up your home, consider what mercerized crochet cotton can do. Only two balls of white were used to decorate this easy chair. The three-piece set was made of dainty floral motifs to give new life to living room furniture. Each arm rest measures 8 x 10 inches, and the chair back measures 16 x 10 inches. Full crocheting instructions may be obtained by writing to the Needlework Department of this paper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for CROCHETED FLOWER MOTIFS, Leaflet No. 100.11.

First Issue Wildlife Magazine Appears

The first issue of a wildlife quarterly magazine, "Delaware Conservations," and a wildlife calendar has been mailed to approximately 1,700 individuals. Norman G. Wilder, Director of Conservation, writes in the first editorial that the object of the 16-page publication is to bring the story of wildlife conservation to the people of the State; to create thereby, a clearer concept of the vast scope of conservation and a better understanding of how both we and wildlife are affected by the way we manage our soils, waters, forests and wildlife resources themselves.

A limited number of copies are available from the Delaware Game and Fish Commission upon request. The calendar has a drawing suitable for framing and interesting notes on Delaware's game and fish.

Delaware's Fourth Deer Season
The shotgun season for deer is Jan. 4 and 5. Guns of 20 gauge or larger are legal. Ammunition can be rifled slug or buckshot. While hunting deer the hunter should not have in his possession shells with any other size of shot than those listed.

Legal hunting hours for deer are the same as for other game (except waterfowl) namely from one hour before sunrise until one hour after sunset. The bag limit is one deer of either sex by either bow and arrow or shotgun. There are, however, certain regulations peculiar to hunting deer that should be pointed out.

1) For deer hunting the regulation prohibiting hunting with snow on the ground does not apply.

2) "No person shall at any time shoot, kill, wound or take a deer (buck or doe) while the same is taking refuge in or swimming through the waters of any stream, pond or lake."

3) All successful hunters must have their deer tagged, and license stamped within 12 hours after the deer is killed. Checking stations (State Police stations at State Road, Dover, Bridgeville and Georgetown) will be in operation.

All deer hunters should carry a length of stout rope. This will enable the man who hunts alone to drag his deer out of the woods. The rope can be fastened around the antlers of a buck or the neck of a doe, since the deer should be dragged head first. This results in less damage to hair and hide and make dragging easier.

UTILITY ANNOUNCES 1957 CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

Twenty million dollars is the amount the electric company will invest for expansion during 1957 in lower Delaware and on the Eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia.

The program was announced following the December meetings of the Boards of Directors of Delaware Power & Light Company, the Eastern Shore Public Service Company of Maryland, and Eastern Shore Public Service Company of Virginia. It does not include activities in Newcastle County which is served by northern division of Delaware Power & Light Company.

"Twenty million dollars amounts to $56,767 every calendar day," said George M. Nelson, vice-president of Delaware Power & Light Company. It takes faith in people and confidence in the future to put the seal of approval on spending such sums. However, customers use much more electricity today than they did ten years ago. It is expected, too, that new uses for the service will develop. These factors plus an increasing population are the basis for our forecasts."

A lion's share of the total expenditures for 1957, namely 13 million dollars, will go into Indian River Power Plant between Millsboro and Dagsboro. About 8 million dollars were spent on this project in 1956 and there will be additional expenditures in 1958 for this generating station. The existing transmission line between Delmar and Vienna which is an important connecting link between Indian River and Vienna plants will be converted to 138,000 volts. $101,000 will be spent on the project this year with major expenditures and completion scheduled for the following year.

A new 138,000-volt transmission line is under construction between Denton and the Vienna generating plant. Plans call for its completion in 1957 and the budget figure for the job is approximately one and one half million dollars. The line is the final leg of a high voltage hook-up with Edgemoor station of Delaware Power & Light Company in Wilmington. 69,000 volt lines have been in operation between the two generating plants for many years; completion of the new high voltage line will allow for further interchange of electric power between the two systems and will afford greater dependability of service.

A high voltage transmission line between Wattsville and Tasley, Va., is planned for the future. During 1957, $176,000 will be invested in rights-of-way and clearing for this 32-mile project.

More than a million and a half dollars of the 1957 construction budget will go into the proposed headquarters building near Salisbury. Estimates and study show that lower operating costs and increased efficiency will result once the company can function from this center.

Last, but by no means least, three and one half million dollars are needed to improve and expand distribution lines in various towns and rural areas. This construction will take care of extending service to new customers; both residential and industrial; it includes transformer replacement for expanding industries which are increasing their horsepower; it cover the street lighting improvements.

The 20 million dollars to be spent represents capital investment and consequently most of it will be raised through the sale of stocks to numerous small investors who are thus expressing their confidence in American business methods.

Drawing for Deer Hunting on Bombay Hook Refuge

James Donovan, President of the Federation of Sportsman and Conservation Clubs in Delaware opened the drawing Wednesday, Dec. 26 at 10 a.m. at Bombay Hook by picking Robert Haber, 1003 Paper Road, Wilmington for the first of 100 persons awarded permission to hunt 1/2 day on the Hook. There were 228 persons who applied for the hunting privilege. Since less than 600 acres of the refuge are open to deer hunting, officials feel that 25 persons each half day of the 2-day deer season can safely hunt the area. Permits will be mailed to the successful persons; and these must be shown upon arriving and leaving the Refuge.

IN MEMORIAM In memory of my brother, William H. Hillier, who was killed in an automobile accident one year ago, Dec. 25, 1955. His life is a beautiful memory. His absence our silent grief. He is asleep in God's beautiful garden. In the sunshine of perfect peace. God gave us the strength to face it. And courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to lose him, No one will ever know. Our hearts still ache with sadness. Our eyes shed many a tear. God only knows how we miss him. As it dawns another year. Missed very much by his sister Blanche Todd. tf 12-28 exp.

The pastor read the roll of students and those present came and stood at the chancel rail. There they prayed together the Prayer of Dedication in which they thanked God for the abundance of His mercy, and asked for His continued favor upon them in all their works, that they might glorify Him.

Following the service the students and Rev. Gibson stood together in a receiving line to greet other members of the congregation. We had a very fine fellowship together enjoying coffee and cookies and punch prepared by the ladies of the W.S.C.S.

Blood Bank Of Delaware Increases Rates

Effective today, all new subscribers to the Blood Bank of Delaware will be charged a $1 enrollment fee in addition to the $1 annual dues.

The action approving the initial enrollment fee was taken by the Blood Bank's board of directors at their December meeting.

In explaining the necessity for the $1 enrollment fee for new subscribers James F. McCloskey, president of the Blood Bank said, "Our experience since the Blood Bank began service in May, 1955, has shown that our operating costs are exceeding our income from our annual dues because of the expense of processing new subscribers and their dependents' records. The $1 enrollment fee will help us to meet these costs and, we hope, make it unnecessary to raise the annual dues."

Mr. McCloskey went on to say that "the present annual dues of $1 make it possible for every family to enjoy the benefits of Blood Bank coverage. We want to keep it that way. We believe that this new "one time charge" of the $1 enrollment fee will provide adequate income for the Blood Bank to operate effectively."

Frank Gallagher, executive director of the Blood Bank, said that new subscriptions now in the mails would be accepted without the enrollment fee. However, all mail subscriptions postmarked later than January 2, 1957, must include the $1 enrollment fee and the additional $1 first annual dues.

The executive director pointed out that any subscribers whose memberships were cancelled twice would not be eligible to rejoin a third time.

The Blood Bank of Delaware, Inc., began operations in New Castle county on May 15, 1955. Since that time the plan has put 2658 pints of whole blood into the blood banks of the community hospitals of Delaware replacing blood received from the hospitals by Blood Bank subscribers and their dependents.

Those interested in joining the Blood Bank of Delaware may do so by calling Olympia 4-8837 or writing to 1011 Washington Street, Wilmington.

HASKELL SPEAKER AT VALLEY FORGE CHAPEL

Harry G. Haskell, Jr., prominent Wilmington businessman, who takes the oath of office as Delaware's new United States Congressman-at-large, has been designated by Governor J. Caleb Boggs as the Delaware Day speaker at Valley Forge Chapel, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 6, it was announced. The chapel ceremony is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

It will also mark the occasion when the Delaware Chapters, Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution make their annual pilgrimage to this famous American shrine, and it is expected that the choir of First and Central Presbyterian Church, following their custom of long standing, will offer several musical selections during the program.

The weekly services dedicated to the states was established many years ago by the late Dr. Francis Burke who was responsible for building the Memorial Chapel at the spot where Washington's troops spent their worst winter, but where, according to history, the will for freedom burned strong amid the snow-covered Pennsylvania hills.

Delaware assumes its traditional role of First State in this annual series of services. The first Sunday in January is assigned to the state by Dr. John Robin Hart, chaplain, and each year Delaware's governor is called upon to provide a speaker for the occasion.

This will mark Mr. Haskell's first public appearance after having assumed his new duties in Washington and Governor Boggs expressed the hope that the chapel would be filled for the ceremonies.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with the Rev. Dr. John A. Trader, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church of Dover, officiating. Interment was at Lakeside Cemetery, Dover.

Christmas Trees are Excellent Bird Feeding Stations

Most youngsters object to taking out their Christmas tree after the Yule season is over. Here is a suggestion for mothers that may help solve the problem. Discarded Christmas trees make dandy winter feeding places for the birds. In an outdoor setting they may be decorated as attractively as they were in the house, using pieces of bread, apples and suet for decorations. Bottle caps filled with peanut butter may be tied to the branches.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

For the first time in the history of the Parish, the attendance at the Service of Evening Prayer last Sunday was larger than that at the morning service. One reason for the increased attendance was the fact that four persons received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. Robert Sherwin, Ralph Elwood, and Clarence Ronald Wooters, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Clarence Wooters, were baptized in a group with their mother, Evelyn Cora Nichols Wooters. It was a most glorious climax to the year to have four members of one family present themselves for the initiation rite of the Church. The sponsors of those baptized, coming from Harrington, Milford, Georgetown, and Vernon, were: Richard Ratledge, Mrs. Ethel Reed, Clarence Reed, Mrs. Anna Kane, Mrs. Ruth Werner, Robert McNally, Mrs. Ruth Jones, Jimmie Jones, and Mrs. Robert McNally. The entire congregation was entertained at a social hour in the parish house immediately after the service. Cookies, fruit cake, hot chocolate and coffee were prepared and served by Mrs. Ethel Reed and Mrs. Robert McNally.

The Church School session and Morning Prayer service with sermon will be held at the usual hour this Sunday, 9:30 and 11:00 a.m., respectively. The Evening Prayer service usually held at 7:00 p.m. will give way to the Acolytes Festival to be held at St. Paul's Church, Georgetown, at 7 o'clock. All acolytes of St. Stephen's will take part in the festival, beginning with supper at 5:30 o'clock.

Delaware's Waterfowl Population Increases

Delaware's waterfowl population has doubled in the last month. The State is now supporting approximately 85,000 ducks and geese which is an average population for this time of year. The increased number of birds has been reflected in better hunting throughout much of the waterfowl range in the State. The number of geese in Delaware is the highest ever reported, 16,000 birds, as compared to 10,000 in 1955 and 5,000 in 1954.

ment became permanent later when the complete roster of attaches was named.

Mr. Bayard sounded off the roll of hold-over senators, of whom there are 10. Only eight answered present, the absentees being Senators Clifford Pryor (D-Blackbird) and Melson. Senator Pryor later showed up, but Senator Melson was absent for the day.

Denies Quorum Lacking
 Senator Reilly steamrolled past the first challenge to his authority by arguing down the suggestion that the Senate was one member shy of a quorum and therefore couldn't transact any business.

"This is a temporary session," he said. "We don't need nine." Then he bombarded the rostrum with a series of resolutions, all of which were passed by voice vote and without dissent.

In order of their presentation, they provided for: temporary adoption of the same rules that governed the 1955-56 Senate session; appointment of a committee to inform the Superior Court judges that the Senate is ready to receive certificates of election for its new members; election of Senator Steen as president pro tem.

Mr. Rollins, who will be succeeded in two weeks by Lt. Governor David P. Buckson, named Senators Steen and Thomas L. Johnson (R-Rehoboth Beach) to the certificates committee. They closeted themselves briefly in the minority caucus room, studied the certificates, and came back with a report that five of them were in order but two—the newly-elected members from Sussex County—could not be found.

These two members are Senators Tull and Lemuel H. Hickman (D-Frankford). Their certificates, Senator Steen explained, apparently had been left out inadvertently and should arrive later in the afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Senate moved ahead with a group swearing-in ceremony for the other five. These included Senator Reilly, starting his third four-year term in the upper chamber; Senator Wilmer F. Williams (R-Roselle), starting his second; Senator Peter Nechay (D-Willow Grove), who served in the House of Representatives last session, and two newcomers, Senators Allen J. Cook (D-Felton), and Jacob A. Correll (R-Newark).

The oath was administered by Mr. Rollins, who swore in Senator Steen as president pro tem a few minutes later. Senator Steen told the members he wanted to thank them for the honor and pledged "to try to fulfill my duties to be the best of my ability and for the benefit of the people of Delaware."

Volley of Resolutions
 At 12:29, immediately following his brief remarks, the Senate recessed until 2:30. It was back in session at 2:34 and—since the certificates had arrived in the interim—Mr. Rollins administered the oath to Senators Tull and Hickman.

Then came another volley of resolutions from Senator Reilly, authorizing the secretary of the Senate to procure stationery from the state librarian, authorizing the state librarian to furnish the secretary of the Senate with up to $25 worth of postage stamps, appropriating $500 for postage stamps, and authorizing the state librarian to furnish $25 worth of stationery and supplies to all members, the lieutenant governor, his secretary, the president pro tem's secretary, the assistant secretary of the Senate, the reading clerks, bill clerks, and document clerks.

At 2:40 p.m. the Senate passed a Reilly-sponsored resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to notify the Governor that the Senate is organized and ready to hear his budget message.

Senator Steen picked Senators Reilly and Johnson for this assignment, and a few minutes later Senator Johnson reported back that Gov. J. Caleb Boggs had been notified "and he wishes to have us inform you that he will be ready to deliver his message on Friday at whatever time the Senate sees fit." A similar resolution notifying the House was also approved.

A few minutes later Senator Reilly introduced his resolution for a joint session Friday at 2 p. m. After passing the Senate, it was sped over to the House for approval there.

Ocean City Growing As Vacation Spot

Ocean City, long the favorite seaside resort of summer vacationers, is entering a new phase in its unprecedented growth as one of the leading vacation spots in the United States.

Increasing numbers of winter vacationers, a new breed of fun-seekers which appeared on the vacation scene not too many years ago, are arriving in Ocean City to enjoy their week or two of well deserved rest.

Although the many summer attractions of the popular seaside town are gone, tourists and visitors have found a new attraction at Ocean City, one that is completely different from the summer magic of the shore resort.

Local residents have found it somewhat surprising to find so many visitors arriving in Ocean City for their vacation during the winter months. The number of week-end visitors has also raised many an eye brow of the year around residents.

From a summer population of an estimated 60,000 people, Ocean City drops to a mere 1300 residents following the Labor Day weekend. Banked as the third largest city in Maryland during the summer months, Ocean City is transformed into a small town by the ocean after the summer months have passed.

The peace and quiet of the sleepy little town has proven to be almost as big an attraction to winter tourists as the cool summer breezes and wide, white beach are to the summer vacationer. The informal living and easy going ways of the Ocean City during the winter is making the ocean town a haven for city dwellers wishing to get away from the noise and constant demands of city life. The ocean presents a breath taking view as it continues its endless efforts to ride up over the deserted beach.

Quick to capitalize on the new found interest of winter vacationers, many of the resorts hotels, motels, restaurants and night clubs have begun remaining open to accommodate the winter visitors. The list of the hotel and motels remaining open is an impressive one indeed, and serves to illustrate the extent of Ocean City's winter vacation boom.

YERKES APPOINTED TO INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT BOARD

Former State Senator Robert H. Yerkes, Houston, was appointed by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to a six-year term as a member of the Industrial Accident Board. He succeeds Dr. Isaac J. MacCollum, of Wyoming, whose term expires Sunday night.

Governor Boggs also announced the appointment of W. Deane Johnston, Dover, as state librarian to fill the unexpired term of Margaret Satterfield, who has resigned as of Jan. 1.

Mr. Yerkes is a former chairman of the Kent County Republican Committee. He was a reading clerk in the 1939 Legislature and was elected to the Senate in 1942, serving as majority leader in the 1943 and 1945 sessions.

The new industrial board member has been in the newspaper business since 1933, serving as managing editor of the Milford Chronicle since 1935 and as Milford correspondent for the Wilmington Morning News for many years. He is a former president and secretary of the Milford Chamber of Commerce and a former president of the Milford Rotary Club. He has served also as mayor of Houston.

Canadian Firm Announces Newsprint Price Increase

Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd., Toronto, Canada, announced a general increase of $4 a ton in the price of newsprint effective March 1.

A company spokesman said a letter dated Dec. 31 has been sent to all Abitibi publisher-customers advising them of the increase.

The price rise, he said, is due to increased costs, including higher freight costs.

The letter was posted to all Abitibi's 250 regular newspaper customers in the United States and Canada. The increase would also affect smaller customers who make occasional purchases.

The last price increase came a year ago.

The spokesman said the price before the increase was $130 a ton delivered in New York and slightly lower in Canada. He declined to specify Canadian prices, saying they vary throughout the country according to freight rates.

A general rise of $4 a ton took effect at the start of 1956.

Abitibi produces about 800,000 tons of newsprint annually, which puts it at about the same level as Consolidated Paper Corporation as runner-up to Canadian International Paper Company in production.

At the New York office of International Paper Sales Company, a spokesman said he had received no word of any impending increase by that company.

About 80 per cent of the newsprint consumed by U.S. newspapers comes from Canadian mills.
