

ST. STEPHEN'S PURCHASES LAND FOR CHURCH AND PARISH HOME

The purchase of land for a church and parish house for St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, was revealed Wednesday evening by the Rev. John R. Symonds, rector, at the Annual Congregation Meeting and Supper in the Fire-house.

The tract, of approximately ten acres, just past the northeast portion of the city limits, was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nemesh for about $15,000, the Rev. Symonds said.

The transaction took place Wednesday afternoon when the Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, bishop of Delaware, visited Harrington, approved the land, and authorized its purchase. He was accompanied by S. Thomas Pippin, of Wilmington, chairman of the church's Department of Missions, who also approved the purchase and drew up the purchase agreement. The tract had been selected by the vestry of St. Stephen's Church.

The land is a triangular tract, bordered on the west by the Raughley-Hill road, on the north by lands of Kessler M. Farrow and others, and on the east by U. S. 13, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nemesh and several residences on Delaware Avenue extended.

The Rev. Symonds said the tract would be bounded on the north by a road to be built from U. S. 13 west to the Raughley-Hill road on which the church will have approximately 1300 feet in frontage. He added there would also be a 30-foot road from Delaware Avenue.

The initial project will be a church with a basement which will be used for church school classrooms, parish suppers, and other church activities. Plans for the church have not been completed, but it will be of contemporary architecture with about 300 capacity.

The Rev. Symonds said the church hoped to break ground during this year.

House Vote Ok's Welfare Inquiry

By a voice vote the House Wednesday afternoon adopted a resolution which will give its members a chance to find out whether there is anything going on in the State Department of Public Welfare that ought to be changed.

Several days ago a prototype of the resolution was castigated by Rep. James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), the minority leader, and got nowhere.

The new version, sponsored by Reps. Horace W. Mills (D-Laurel), Harry G. McAllister (D-Laurel), and Charles P. West (D-Gumboro) had better luck.

Last time the resolution called for a committee of Sussex Counties — this time it authorizes Speaker Harry E. Mayhew to appoint a committee, the members to be decided by the Speaker, to confer with the board "in reference to the various problems and conditions in the State of Delaware now confronting the State Department of Public Welfare and to ascertain the recommendations of the . . . Department . . . as to these problems and conditions."

Mr. Snowden wasn't satisfied at first, saying, "I recognize this as Edition No. Two of a resolution offered here before . . . Will someone enlighten the minority side as to the reason for this? Why should we be asked to vote for a resolution when we have no information about its purpose. How do we know what we're looking for? Aren't we asking a lot on a mere say-so? I for one am not in favor of any witch hunt. What's behind this?"

Mr. West disclosed one of the problems bothering the Sussex legislators when he replied, "There is definitely something wrong in the welfare. Fifty-six per cent of the taxes in Sussex County are paid out in welfare. Some people are not getting assistance that probably should be getting it?"

Mr. Snowden said he still thought that the reason for the conference "ought to be spelled out . . . This looks like a tracking through the jungle . . . we could do this 10,000 times as each member sought to find out why something he wanted hasn't been done."

"It's the duty of each representative here to find out why a state agency cannot operate cheaper than it is doing," retorted Mr. West.

Mr. Snowden said, "His entire concept is wrong. We have a Joint Finance Committee working on the budget and we have delegated to our Appropriations Committee the authority to represent us up to a point."

The debate went on and on until the purpose of the resolution was nearly obscured, although one of its sponsors said after the session ended, "Don't worry. We'll find out what we're after."

The obscuration developed after Rep. George Ehinger (R-Dover), a former member of the Department of Public Welfare, said he knew the board would welcome the opportunity to confer with the special House committee. (This had been pointed out last week by a spokesman for the board during a Legislative Budget Committee hearing.)

Mr. Ehinger added, "I have a real sympathy for the kind of job the board is doing. I feel they would welcome conference with this body to present their problems. This could be a very healthy thing to do for both the department and the House."

The upshot was that the board will be invited to present its problems at a meeting of all of the members of the House. Meantime, the committee has been authorized and it is likely that Speaker Mayhew will announce its complement soon.

Behind the scenes, one of the difficulties is that the tests for welfare eligibility set up by the board are not clearly understood. Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) pointed this out during the debate, emphasizing that the board's tests are strict and that it will not yield to political interference.

Alvin William Thompson, 29, near Farmington, was indicted by the Kent County Grand Jury Monday afternoon on a charge of arson.

He is charged with setting fire last Jan. 26 to the house in which he lived with his wife, Nancy Claire Thompson, and his two children, Robert Marshall Thompson, five, and Jo Ann Anita Thompson, three.

Thompson is charged with setting fire to a bed while all of the family were in the house. According to allegations made by state police of the Bridgeville troop at the time of his arrest, he left his wife in the burning room and took the children out with him.

Police said, at the time that the wife had to make her escape through a window and was hospitalized as a result of her experience. The house was burned practically to the ground.

Another angle to the asserted arson and differences between the husband and wife hearing of habeas corpus proceedings, in which both are seeking to obtain custody of the children, was started before Judge Caleb R. Layton III in Superior Court Monday afternoon. Herman C. Brown is attorney for Thompson and Max Terry for Mrs. Thompson.

The indictment against Thompson was one of a total of eleven true bills, involving six defendants, returned by the grand jury Monday afternoon.

In another, Harry Foster Todd was indicted on a charge of murder of George H. Green, 43, on a farm west of Kenton and near the Maryland-Delaware line on April 9, 1955. Green's body, with a bullet hole in the head, was found on that date near Millington, Md.

Involved As Slayer

The slaying went unsolved until state police of the Dover troop uncovered leads the latter part of last month that the homicide occurred on the Delaware side and involved Todd as the alleged slayer.

The other defendants named in indictments were Lee Vincent, four indictments charging forgery of four checks for amounts totalling $3,028; Marvin V. Marker and James H. Hamilton, Jr., charged with robbery in connection with an assault on and theft of $322 from Louis F. Outten at Felton on Jan. 16; Louis A. Gibbs, three indictments charging him with burglary of the Cosden Evans music and television store in Dover last July 7, Sept. 18, and Oct. 6.

Purchasing Board Bill Fails in House

After its longest debate of the session the House Wednesday afternoon defeated by a vote of 20 to 12 the measure which would create a state purchasing department.

The sponsor and principal proponent of the bill, Rep. James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), made it plain that he was not rushing a vote on the measure (HB-42 as amended).

He cited figures tending to show the state would save upward to $200,000 per year if a state purchasing unit was set up, but Democrats fired back, questioning if such a department actually would result in the savings claimed for it, and also asking what effect it would have on small dealers in fuels and commodities.

In the final voting all Democrats except Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) voted against the measure. Shockley broke with his majority colleagues to vote with the 15 Republicans present in favor of the bill. Three of the 15 Republicans later changed their votes so the bill can be considered.

The action on the purchasing department was only one phase of a busy day's work by the Legislature.

During the afternoon, 10 measures were presented to the House, including a bill to increase the maximum unemployment compensation benefit to $40 per week, one to provide annual sessions of the General Assembly, and one to set up a civil service system.

The House bill that would have fixed equal salaries for all of the state school teachers was withdrawn by its sponsor, Rep. Harry G. McAllister (D-Laurel).

By a voice vote, the House approved a resolution authorizing (continued on back page)

World Prayer Day March 8

We look forward again to the annual observance of the World Day of Prayer, the first Friday in Lent. March 8th will mark the 75th anniversary of an institution which had its birth as a United States observance sponsored by a small group of church women and which has spread to the far corners of the globe touching 143 different areas in 6 continents. This international ceremony, a striking manifestation of the world brotherhood and universality that man is more and more earnestly seeking, will be repeated in some 60 languages and more than 1,000 dialects.

The theme of this year's service is based on a New Testament text, Romans 8:35: "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulations, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril or sword?"

Multitudes from all walks and conditions of men — the great and the small, the proud and the humble — will assemble in magnificent cathedrals, chapels, factories, schools, hospitals and in lowly huts to be impressed with the reality that "nothing shall separate us."

Asbury Methodist Church is observing this occasion with "The Dramas of World Day of Prayer" in Collins Hall at 7:30 p. m., Friday, March 8th.

The document continued: "The prices for cutting said ditch was agreed on as follows viz: For cutting the part ten feet wide and two feet deep Sixty seven cents for each rod for Eight feet wide and two feet deep fifty four cents for each and every rod so cut or cleansed. In testimony (sic) of the above's being a true copy of the original I have hereunto set my hand. July 8, 1820. Manlove Smith Treas."

"Mirror, mirror, on the wall, who is the best-dressed woman of them all?" Take a look in your mirror, and if you find that it reveals a figure in a well-fitted dress in the most flattering color, fabric and style—then you know that you could qualify for the title. And, if you feel that you can meet all the requirements, you probably made the dress yourself, for the woman who sews her own is able to incorporate all these features successfully into one garment.

NATIONAL SEW AND SAVE WEEK

The home sewer is always a fashionable part of the Easter parade, and she will be an eager participant again this year if she starts her stitching now. National Sew and Save Week has been set for February 18-25 to launch her on her sewing spree. These dates serve as a reminder to all women who are planning to make new Spring outfits. Remember, Easter is early this year—April 1st—so that means shopping for sewing materials should begin. National Sew and Save Week promises to arouse the home sewer's interest and enthusiasm through the vast selection of sewing materials made available to her. Look at the stores' window displays, go to the fabric, pattern and notion departments for ideas that will put you right in style. You will enjoy being a bargain hunter because all the wonderful sewing materials are easy on the purse.

SEW-SMART FOR SPRING

Fashion forecasters say that the silhouette for Spring, 1956 will be basically slim. Following this style trend is the beltless sheath dress that fits smoothly at the waistline. This smart design proves that it will be a favorite with home sewers. To break the severity of the straight lines, giant rick rack is sewed horizontally down the skirt from hipline to hemline. The boat neckline, trimmed with bias binding also provides a horizontal effect. A new sewing leaflet, THE FINISHING TOUCH, contains further information about this dress, the effectiveness of trimmings, and details on applying various types of ready-made trimmings. If you would like a copy for your sewing file, simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. S-1117.

1957 Insect and Plant Disease Control Recommendations Ready

Two new extension folders giving 1957 control recommendations for insects and disease on vegetables and fruit trees are available at the county extension office and the University of Delaware School of Agriculture in Newark.

George Vapaa, Kent County agricultural agent, reports that the vegetable folder contains recommendations for using insecticides and fungicides on most vegetables grown in the state. The fruit folder gives spray recommendations for apples and peaches, with additional information for home orchards. Both publications offer detailed advice on chemicals to use and how to mix and when to apply them.

Additional information will be released as needed in Late News, a mimeographed news sheet prepared weekly during the growing season by the departments of entomology and plant pathology at the university. Late News is sent upon request.

To obtain the new fruit and vegetable folders, ask for Extension Folder 48, Control of Fruit Insects and Diseases in Orchards and Home Plantings and Extension Folder 49, Insect and Disease Control on Vegetables.

Best To Write Farm Lease, Share By Contribution

It's best to think through and write out a farm lease so that the landlord and the tenant will share in the farm income according to how much each contributes to running the business.

George K. Vapaa, Kent County agricultural agent, explains that the landlord should charge for interest on his investment and for upkeep and depreciation of buildings, fences, tax ditches, and other capital improvements.

A tenant should charge for interest, depreciation, and upkeep for capital items supplied—plus a charge for his labor.

The easiest way to handle production expenses is to estimate how much each party paid before by using the farm account book as a guide. Then they can adjust expenses to meet the share arrangement set up for the farm.

The agent advises writing up a lease that gives the tenant and the landlord a feeling of working together. The landlord should be getting a return on his investment, but he should let the tenant follow good management plans to grow the most profitable crops.

Landlords and tenants are urged to contact the agricultural agent for more detailed information.

Kent Home Doings

by Charlotte L. Swanson Kent Home Demonstration Agent

Is gardening one of your hobbies? Or do you prefer to grow house plants or make flower arrangements? If you are interested in any of these, you will want to check March 20 and 21 on your calendar. Those are the dates for the Home Gardeners' Short Course, which will be held in the Capital Grange Hall, in Dover.

Plans for this year's program include a variety of subjects of interest to the homemaker and the home owner. There will be an afternoon and an evening program on each day, and local businessmen will have exhibits. A baby-sitting service is planned, too.

One afternoon program will be devoted to African violets—a favorite house plant with many homemakers. We will probably have a panel discussion on this subject, with several experts contributing their ideas.

Flower arrangements will be the center of interest on the other afternoon program. We hope to have several people make arrangements using identical flowers and containers which will be furnished. These arrangements will then be discussed and scored by Mrs. Heatherly Dutton, a well-known lecturer and judge of flower arrangements.

If you enjoy arranging flowers and would like to make an arrangement to be judged as a part of the program, call Dover 2621, or write to: George K. Vapaa, County Agricultural Agent, Post Office Box 30, Dover. The number of arrangements must be limited, so let us know right away if you want to be included.

The evening programs will be of special interest to the home owner. The subjects that will be covered are: care of lawns, selection and care of shrubbery and trees, window box treatments, preparing and using compost.

I will be able to give you more details about the program later.

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

A visiting Oblate from Wilmington is expected to say the 9:30 Mass Sunday morning. Confessions will be heard before Mass. High school student instruction will be given Monday evening at 7 o'clock under the direction of Robert J. Nelson. Classes for grade school children will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:45 at the parish house. The Rev. John A. Corrigan will conduct the adult Teachers Course of the C.C.D. Tuesday evening beginning at 7:45 at the parish hall of St. John's in Milford. The monthly parish meeting will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the parish house. The moderator for the evening is Mrs. William Lord, and the topic for discussion will be "The Birth of the Child."

There will be a parish C.C.D. meeting at St. John's in Milford Sunday evening. Special guests will include Rev. Henri I. Foltz, Diocesan Director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, and Henry G. Hoffman, President of the Diocesan Executive Board of the C.C.D. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

It has recently been announced that His Excellency, the Most Rev. Edmund J. Fitz Maurice, Bishop of Wilmington will be at St. John's Sunday, May 5 to administer Confirmation.

The altar boys serving at Mass last Sunday were Charles Moore and Tony Perrone. As guests were happy to have Sister Carmelita and Sister Mercedes, of the Benedictine Sisters who have begun a fund raising campaign for a new convent and chapel in Ridgely. A special collection at St. Bernadettes Sunday was the first contribution to this cause.

Mark Francis Coady, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Coady was Baptized Sunday afternoon by Father Corrigan. Miss Catharine Coady of Ocean City, N. J. was the child's Godmother and Frank Kerr of Philadelphia was the Godfather.

Several members of the Harrington C.Y.O. attended the Valentine Dance held at the community hall of Maraydel, Sunday evening. The host for the evening was the C.Y.O. group of the Immaculate Conception parish in Maraydel. Refreshments were served and several games were played. Dancing was also enjoyed by all. The Harrington group was accompanied by Robert J. Nelson and Leon J. Kulkka. Father Corrigan accompanied the group from Milford. A group from Middletown was also present.

A grand time was had by all at the party last Thursday evening at the parish house. It was held to celebrate the burning of the Church mortgage and also followed the theme of St. Valentines Day. A large variety of foods made up the covered dish supper. After the supper, the parishoners went to church where we all said the rosary. Then, Father Corrigan, with the assistance of the two trustees who had signed the mortgage, Ernest Vogl and Steve Kliment and the present trustees Robert J. Nelson and Frank Murphy, burned the mortgage. We then had the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, after which most everyone returned to the house for games and refreshments. Mrs. Steve Kliment made a beautiful cake of two tiers and a church made entirely of white sugar icing on top. Father Corrigan took movie pictures of the affair and expects to show them at the parish meeting Thursday evening.

CATHOLIC BIBLE WEEK

Beginning in 1942, the Episcopal Committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine designated Septuagesima Sunday as Catholic Bible Sunday. In the past few years this observance has been extended through all of Septuagesima week and known as Catholic Bible Week. From the beginning the Catholic Bible Association of America has cooperated with the Episcopal Committee in furthering this observance, and in recent years several publishers of Catholic Bibles have assisted in this activity. The prime purpose of Catholic Bible Week is to make the Catholic Bible better known and loved.

In September, 1943, Pope Pius XII published an arousing encyclical on the Bible, Divino afluence Spiritu, devoted to stirring up a greater consciousness of the inestimable spiritual treasure we have in the Bible.

Our Holy Father pointed out that it is a serious duty of the faithful to make free and holy use of this treasure, since it puts us into immediate communication with God. Through the Bible the Holy Spirit speaks to us with a thousand tongues.

Spiritual writers are agreed that daily reading of the Bible, especially the New Testament, is basic in the life of the earnest Catholic. Bible Week provides a timely reminder of this fact, together with an opportunity for renewing our good resolutions concerning God's Written Word.

An indulgence of three years is granted to the faithful who forgot least a quarter of an hour read the books of Sacred Scripture as spiritual reading with the reverence which is due the word of God.

St. Bernadette's Letter

A treasured letter by St. Bernadette of Lourdes has been exhibited at the University of Notre Dame Library. The exhibit coincided with the Feast of our Ladys of Lourdes (Feb. 11) and the 99th year of the Lourdes apparitions.

Father Theodore M. Hesburg, C.S.C. university president, presented the letter to Father Philip Schaefer, C.S.C., director of the Confraternity of the Immaculate Conception, which has established new headquarters on the campus.

Home Gardener's Short Course Returns

The Home Gardeners' Short Course returns to Dover this year as a two-day event because of the fine response by area residents in the last two years. Dates have been set for March 20th and 21st at the Capital Grange Hall.

Serving on the advisory planning committee this year are: Mrs. William Muller of Dover; Mrs. Betty Bilton of Wyoming; Mrs. Margaret Osborne of Dover; Donald Clark of Cheswold; Robert L. Smith of Dover, and four members of the University of Delaware Extension staff—Miss Charlotte Swanson, Mrs. Marion MacDonald, Robert Stevens and George Vapaa.

Both commercial and educational exhibits will be available this year. New exhibitors should make their requests as soon as possible to George Vapaa, county agent, whose office is located on the second floor of the postoffice in Dover. Exhibits will relate to program topics, but will cover most phases of gardening interest.

The committee will welcome further suggestions or ideas for the short course. The program is to be printed and will be available prior to the sessions. Attendance is free and everyone is invited to attend.

The Dover home gardener's program is in addition to a similar program set up at the University of Delaware in Newark on March 13th. Local people find it more convenient to attend the local programs, although they are welcomed to attend both.

In Brisbane, Australia, a man willed money to his relatives on one condition—they had to agree to listen once a week to a recording he had made of their bickering.

A DIFFERENT WAY TO DO BUSINESS

Much has been said by business and professional people concerning the hazard of business — things that make the operation of small businesses and the everyday financial life of many people a hazard. One of the things that create such pitfalls is the lack of honesty, or rather, the failure of too many people to live up to their words.

If every person would live up to a strict code of honesty and try to make their word their bond, then the lot of all would be easier.

We recently read a short story in "Service Is My Business," a book put out by Rotary International, which clearly brings out this point. It follows:

In his, "Our Neighbors, the Chinese," the American writer, Vaughan White, describes how he has watched bankers in China doing business the Chinese way.

"What can I do for you today, Mr. Chen?" the banker would greet the man who had just entered.

"I would like to borrow $10,000."

The banker immediately took out a small black book, made a note of Mr. Chen's wish, and said, "Certainly, Mr. Chen." Then calling the cashier he instructed, "Place $10,000 to Mr. Chen's credit."

Mr. Chen bowed and left the bank. He had signed no paper, and the banker had called no witnesses.

I questioned the soundness of such a transaction. The banker, taking pity on my Western ignorance, explained: "That man is backed up by his family, his clan, and his trade guild. All feel responsible for his honesty. If he should fail to repay, all these groups would make good the $10,000. To give him a loan this way is good Chinese business."

That is an example of what we are talking about. Could our business transactions undergo such a test?

ESTABLISHMENT OF A CREDIT BUREAU IS RECEIVING LOTS OF ATTENTION

Presuming you've read the heading, and what is so unusual about that?—almost all readers read the heading before they read the article—let us get on with the story.

There will be a dinner, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Wed., Feb. 27, at 7 p. m., at The Wonder R, when the credit controller of Kennard-Pyle, Wilmington department store, and the president of the Credit Bureau of Wilmington, Inc., will speak on, of all things, credit. A. J. King, of the store, will deliver the main address, after which William H. Talley, of the credit group, will take part in a question-and-answer period.

These gentlemen are coming here at the request of the Chamber of Commerce. They have no ax to grind, but do have a hatchet that needs honing. Patrons from this vicinity to shop in Wilmington, at Kennard-Pyle, and the establishment of a credit bureau here would aid them. Mr. Talley does not wish to establish an agency here, but he could use the services of a bureau for this area.

Harrington merchants are realizing that, besides paying attention to taxes, they had better keep an eye on credit. Some have found, in their anxiety to make a "good" sale on the installment plan, they have not looked before they leaped.

The meeting will be open to all persons interested in credit. Dinner tickets, at $2, may be purchased from James Rash, Earl Quillen, or Walter Messick.

A credit agency, emanating from Dover, has secured some accounts here. In fact, an official of the firm addressed the Lions Club recently. Meanwhile, a resident of Milford has shown considerable interest in establishing an agency. A Harrington gentleman, who has had considerable experience in credit and collections, has also expressed his willingness to throw his hat into the ring, provided he is given enough backing by the merchants.

The purpose of the Chamber of Commerce is to let the merchants know about credit, but it will be up to them to vote for the candidate of their choice since they will be picking up the tab.

We have heard a few tales on credit, amusing to us but not to the merchants affected. A local merchant asked a Milton woman what she was going to do about an unpaid bill. The woman had moved to Wilmington and had taken everything with her. "You'll just have to do like the rest of 'em's doing—wait for the money," she replied.

A grocer said, "When they want credit they come to me. When they have cash, they go to the chain stores." When asked why he gave credit to dubious cases, the storekeeper replied, "You can't let 'em starve."

When people find they can't get credit, they'll pay cash or do without. That reminds us of an account from "The Yankee Storekeeper," written by a New Englander named Gould. A farmer, newly arrived in the neighborhood, said he needed some groceries on the ruff, pending the arrival of the monthly milk check. "I have so many cows," he explained, "and my cream check is so much, and I'll say you at the end of the month." The storekeeper wrote the information down and had the rustic sign it.

At the end of the month, the storekeeper did not get his money and he sued and collected. "A devil of a way to do business," retorted the angry farmer. Sometime later, the storekeeper saw the farmer coming into the store and, thinking he wanted credit, he slipped out the back door. "I came back about 1 o'clock," he said, "and imagine my surprise when I saw the clerk loading forty-dollars' worth of groceries in the wagon, paid for in cash. When I investigated, I found I was the only merchant in town whom the farmer did not owe."

One old lady refused to pay her grocery bill. The storekeeper wrote a letter, presumably to his lawyer. In effect, it read: "I want this bill collected at all costs. I want to put her up in the cornfield as a scarecrow to scare away the rest." He then put the letter in an envelope addressed to the delinquent. She, thinking the storekeeper had gotten a letter to the lawyer mixed up with one intended for her, was on the doorstep the next morning, waiting for the merchant to open up.

Not only do we think a credit bureau would be good for the merchants, but we believe it would be good for the customer. Spending money one will not receive, is not good business.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

The Women's Auxiliary met at the Parish House Thursday at 8 o'clock. Helen McNally presided. Mrs. Baynard presented, before the group, the Lenten assignment, a part of our missionary endeavor in the diocese and outside the state. It was suggested that small glasses, jelly or cheese containers, be contributed and brought to the Parish House by individual members of the auxiliary. There we shall package them for delivery to St. Michael's Day Nursery Wilmington. Also new underwear is to be bought and sent to New Windsor, Md., for distribution where needed. A letter was read from Mrs. Jesse S. Cooper of Camden asking for a report from St. Stephen's on Church periodical work.

A list of addresses that will prove helpful to our group was included in her letter—addresses of mission schools, churches, and institutions where books, magazines, postal cards, church school materials, etc., are greatly needed. We can remain our copies of Forth and other magazines to places where people are eager to obtain reading material. A large box was provided for our past year's Christmas cards, and we hope to collect a goodly number to be bundled up for mailing to orphanages and schools where the pictures can be used. Our president announced the Devotional Day for Kent and Sussex Counties to be held Feb. 28 at St. Peter's Church, Lewes. There will be talks and slides on "The Need Is Great." The Rev. Brew of Religious Education will give a review on the book "Empty Shoes." It was also agreed that St. Stephen's Auxiliary would invite all the Kent County groups to come to Harrington for the next Devotional Day. The ladies of St. Stephen's volunteered to provide punch for the young people at their Mardi Gras party, March 2. All of the congregation are most grateful for the wonderful refrigerator contributed to our kitchen in the Parish House.

St. Stephen's Supper Club met Sunday at 5 o'clock in the Parish House. After the refreshments were served a business meeting was called to order by the president, Ronnie Correll. Janet Cluley made the secretary's report and Mary Ann Lyons, the treasurer's report. Allen Hopkins and Bill Coady volunteered to secure a truck for paper collecting during the week. A sample invitation to the Mardi Gras party was written and approved for printing. The following refreshment committee was appointed for next week: Ruth Ann Melvin, Rosalie Yowell, Rosalie Wix. Young people who attended this meeting are Ronnie Correll, Bill Coady, Janet Cluley, Mary Ann Lyons, Rosalie Wix, Allen Hopkins, David Andrews, Rosalie Yowell, Ruth Ann Melvin, Allen Draper, Janet Lee Parris, Bobby Greer, Ralph Wooters. The group reassembled at the church for evening prayer and enjoyed hymn singing after the service.

Members of St. Stephen's are anticipating the visit of the American Legion to our group at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer this coming Sunday.

CONSERVATION RESERVE CONTRACT DEADLINE EXTENDED TO APRIL 15

The deadline for signing Soil Bank conservation reserve contracts has been extended to April 15, according to George C. Simpson, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The original closing date was March 15. This is being done because of the current heavy work load of county ASC offices in signing agreements before March 8 deadline with farmers who wish to take part in the 1957 corn acreage reserve program, Simpson said.

He reported that only nine farmers have signed conservation agreements, while there has been considerable signing of corn acreage reserve agreements.

The conservation reserve is the long-range program of the Soil Bank, Simpson said. Under it, farmers may sign contracts to divert general crop land from the production of crops to soil and water conservation uses, tree planting, and wildlife protection for periods of three, five, or 10 years. Payments up to 80 percent of the cost of establishing a conservation practice may be made with the five and 10-year contracts.

Farmers taking part will receive annual per-acre payments for land in the reserve for the duration of their contracts as long as they comply with contract agreements, Simpson said.

Social Security Notes

Some persons who are eligible for social security insurance benefits may lose payments for one or more months in 1956 if they do not apply for their benefits early in 1957, Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington social security office, said today.

Retired workers, their dependents, or survivors whose earnings were $2,080 or less in 1956 can get benefits for some months in the year. However, benefits can not be paid retroactively for more than 12 months before the month in which an application is made.

Anyone who is eligible for benefits in 1956 should have made an application before the end of January 1957 if in any month of 1956 he neither earned wages of $80 or more nor rendered substantial services in self-employment. He can still be paid benefits for those months regardless of his total earnings in the year.

A person may have earnings up to $1,200 a year and get social security payments for every month in the year, Mr. Milbouer declared. If he earns over $1,200 a year, benefits are withheld one month for every $90 or fraction of $80 in excess of $1,200. However, payments are not withheld or any month in which the beneficiary neither earns wages of more than $80 nor renders substantial services in self-employment.

After you reach 72, benefits are payable to you no matter how much you earn from then on. But earnings for the entire taxable year in which you reach 72 must be counted in determining whether payments can be made for months in that year before your 72nd birthday.

For these reasons, persons eligible for social security benefits in 1956, but who have not yet made an application, are urged by Mr. Milbouer to get in touch with the Wilmington social security office without delay.

For the convenience of local residents, the representative from the Wilmington office is in the City Office Bldg., Milford, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

took for his subject problems faced by young people as they come to maturity and their solution, with special reference to the military. He said that moral fiber is necessary to face them all; such problems as how to get along with the opposite sex, learning to budget money and to form new friendships, etc.—all in a group that is in competition. All adjustments need a power of evaluation; the mind is threefold; it receives, evaluates and decides, then acts. In the South Pacific he had seen blank-eyed soldiers who refused to receive anything spoken to them; their minds had become blank as a refuge from receiving any more of situations they did not know how to cope with. Young people must become prepared to meet the situations of the world opened.

Four things Mr. Knox emphasized: first, a growing respect for one's country, as the bulwark of freedom and opportunity, for which many young people had given everything. Second, a willingness to accept responsibility, which basic training includes but which AWOL soldiers lacked because their background lacked social participation, and lack of which Col. Hafner says has caused the loss of many lives in action. Third, emotional maturity, which leads to greater adaptability and

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Q—My State gives a bonus to Korean veterans. May I apply for it through the VA?

A—No. VA does not administer State bonuses. You should file your application with your State, not with VA.

Q—I am planning to sell my GI home and allow the buyer to take over the GI loan. When should I apply to VA for release from liability to the Government—before or after I sign the sales contract?

A—You should apply to VA for release from liability before you sign the contract. In that way, you will know whether the buyer is eligible to assume your liability before you commit yourself to sell.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, died after January 1, 1957, of a service-connected illness. Would I have a choice of receiving death compensation payments or payments under the new Survivors' Benefits Act?

A—You would not have a choice. Families of veterans who die of service-connected conditions after January 1, 1957, are eligible only for Indemnity Compensation payments under the new Survivors' Benefits Act.

Q—My son is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans education program, since my husband, a World War II veteran, died of a service-connected disability. I was thinking of going to Europe to get a secretarial job with the Army, bringing my son with me. Could he go to school in Europe under this program?

A—No. Under the law, training in foreign countries is prohibited.

IN MEMORIAM In sad but loving memory of my dear son, Charles T. Sharp, who passed away Feb. 23, 1938, in his eleventh year.

Just nineteen years ago today you left us. My, how time does fly. But I will never forget you. Even until the day I die. Although so very young his true. Was deeply loved by everyone he knew.

To have, to love—and then to part. Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. Gone from this world of troubles and fears, Safe up to heaven from sorrow and tears. So sleep on dear son, and take your rest. For the way this world has all gone wrong, Thank God, that He knew what was best and sadly missed by Mother.

Felton High School SENIOR PERSONALITY Edna Clendaniel

Shy, quiet, retiring, this senior girl is always willing to help and greets each task with a smile. When accused of some slightly mischievous deed she usually answers, "Well, I'm a little meany anyhow."

Recently from Milford High School, Edna has enrolled in a Home Economics curriculum. She still works in Milford, as a cashier at Polan's, where she can participate in her favorite past-time: watching people.

Did someone mention food? Among those Edna loves are fried chicken and pumpkin pie. She also enjoys preparing meals for her family at home.

Her plans for the future have no definite shape yet, but she wishes to work with people and serve them as well as she can.

Gene Carlisle Students at F.H.S. have come to recognize the pile of books, which struts down the school corridors daily, as Gene Carlisle. If anyone wishes to speak to this studious lad he would have to play through solid geometry, French II, chemistry, P.O.D., English, etc. to find him.

Gene, usually called "Geno," has the reputation of being the speediest and most-scared-of-girls in the class of '57. All of his classmates readily call him "Einstein II" and just as readily turn all the class financial records over to him to figure out.

Gene plans to go on to the University of Delaware for further education after his graduation from F. H. S. in June. He hopes to become a mathematics teacher at his alma mater at some future date.

Any hobbies? Yes, of course! His main hobby is working out math problems; his secondary ones are singing in the Glee Club and playing trumpet in the H.S. band. But the most important one is staying away from moonlight and girls!

Evelyn Good Light brown hair with reddish casts, blue eyes, 5 feet 2 1/2 inches in height would describe this girl if someone was to look at her picture. No picture could disclose, however, that she has two left feet when dancing and can't tell her right hand from her left.

Evelyn enjoys singing, writing, reading, sewing, swimming, and a certain Caesar Rodney boys company. For the past four years, she has studied under the commercial course. After graduation, she may become a telephone operator in Wilmington.

A present she is a co-editor on The Echo staff and a leading officer in the local M.Y.F. She strives each six weeks to hit the High Honor Roll. The blockades against obtaining this goal include pounding the correct keys on the typewriter and supporting jangling typewriters.

Fred Casper Standing about 5 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet, this senior boy may be short in stature but is long in the number of friends he has accumulated in his school years. His senior classmates always shouts "Freddie," when they are in need of a car, for Freddie's Ford is always ready to go. For the past four years, Fred has been taking the Vo. Ag. course. At present he holds the office of secretary for the Felton Chapter of F.F.A.

After graduating, Fred hopes to become a mechanic at General Motors. For the present, however, Fred's main interests include his Ford and how many girls it will hold.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton A pork roast would make an excellent Sunday dinner this week. Prices have leveled off; in fact, on some cuts the prices have dropped, such as loin roast. Center cut pork chops are down this week in price, as well as rib end chops. Look for weekend specials on Boston butts, loin roast and, in some stores, fresh hams. For Saturday night supper, why not have Chop Suey — it's a different way to use fresh pork, and with a salad it's certainly a complete meal.

Beef prices continue to move down slightly. Continue to look for good buys in front quarter beef such as chuck roast, rib roast and stew meat. Steaks will be featured again on weekend specials in many stores.

Eggs continue to be an outstanding buy both nutritiously and price wise.

Do you have "winter weary" appetites at your house? Why not take a good look at various "specials" offered this weekend. They may be specials because of price or because of their first appearance in the market this year. A nice frozen shad ready to bake would be good, or fresh shad roe. Ducks are more plentiful now and would make a delicious Sunday meal for a change. Cornish game hens, "3 legged" chickens, all are a little different from the general run of things. This week for the first time fresh peaches may be found, with nectarines, red plums and melons all new to local markets this week. Fresh pineapples are again coming in, and more fresh strawberries are arriving from Florida.

However, the best fruit buys — price wise are still oranges and grapefruit. Among the vegetables, the old winter faithfuls still rate the best buys; green cabbage, carrots, yellows onions, potatoes and kale.

Britain, Japan, Germany and Italy, in that order, are now the world's leading shipbuilders.

Purchasing Board

ing the speaker of the House to appoint a committee to look into problems and conditions confronting the State Department of Public Welfare.

In the Senate, meanwhile, a bill was introduced that would require the Levy Court to help support the Wilmington Bureau of Fire with an annual appropriation of $19,500. Another bill handed the Senate would increase minimum and maximum monthly payments under the state employees' pension system.

In other Senate action, the chamber unanimously approved a bill appropriating $65,000 to complete construction and furnishing of the State Detention Home for Juveniles.

Cites Recommendations

Mr. Snowden, arguing for creation of a state purchasing department, emphasized that he wanted a full discussion and he went over, point by point, recommendations made by an outside survey group in 1954. He singled out estimates by the surveyors that the state would save upward of $200,000 if a department were formed. He referred to the more than $6,000,000 a year spent by the state for commodities.

Mr. Snowden also recounted that the survey report showed some 200 persons in various agencies now having a direct or indirect responsibility for purchasing. He contended that the present system is wasteful.

No Limit on Salary

Democrats took issue with Mr. Snowden, Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle) arguing that the bill sets no limit for the departmental director's salary "which could be $25,000 a year."

Rep. Norman Eskridge (D-Seaford) said he recalled that last week the minority side wouldn't vote for appropriation bills until the Legislative Budget Committee has made its report.

The present measure calls for appropriations totalling $82,500 for the biennium and Mr. Eskridge said "I don't know whether we can vote for this until we find out if we have the money."

Rep. Charles P. West (D-Gumboro) asked if Mr. Snowden had heard of any centralization of work "that has cost the state less to operate."

Speaker Harry E. Mayhew wondered what would happen to the small dealer in fuels and commodities if a central purchasing system were created.

Mr. Snowden said that the bill would save far more money than the appropriation called for and that he believes the small businessman will benefit from central purchasing—that transportation and other costs will make it prohibitive, for example, for one big fuel oil concern to corner the sales.

One Democrat Favors Bill

The lone Democrat to speak for the bill was Representative Shockley, who said, "This is a step in the right direction. I know from our hearings in the Legislative Budget Committee the different kinds of purchasing policies that are now used."

On the vote Mr. Shockley broke with his majority side colleagues to support the measure. All 15 Republicans on hand favored it and three changed their votes so the bill can be reconsidered. The Democrats voted against it.

A bill to give Governor Boggs a $6,000 car, to be bought by the Highway Department, had better luck. Mr. Shockley had an amendment, reducing from $9,000 to $6,000 the appropriation the Senate had recommended after a caucus, there being only one dissent and that from Mr. West.

The Republican minority remained consistent against appropriations for fire companies, etc., voting present or no on a bill (HB-12) sponsored by Mr. West and Rep. Harvey B. Spicer (R-Georgetown) to appropriate $750 annually to the Sussex Memorial Post No. 7422, VFW, for the operation of a public ambulance.

This piece collected 17 votes and there were three nays, two of them coming from Republicans who switched from present to no for reconsideration. The bill needed 27 votes, representing a three-fourths majority. The minority said last week that it wanted to see what happens in the Budget Committee before committing itself on these private appropriations.

Rep. Sherman W. Tribbitt (D-Odessa) called up for passage HB-66, an amendment to the constitution which would give the Supreme Court rule-making authority for all of the courts. This was approved last time and needs only the sanction of both houses this trip to make it law. Mr. Quigley said he wanted to ask one question—"Does this bill affect the magistrates?" Mr. Tribbitt read from a section which makes the Supreme Court supreme and Mr. Snowden said that the minority hadn't caucussed on the measure. The result was deferment.

The House approved a Quigley bill (HB-28) permitting volunteer fire companies and veterans' organizations which operate ambulances to obtain refunds from the state for motor fuel taxes. The voting was unanimous.

Problems Outlined In Zoning Planning

Regional planning and zoning and their related problems with reference to construction of business establishments, industrial plants and residences were explained by Samuel E. Homsey, Wilmington architect and member of the New Castle County Regional Planning Commission, in addressing the dinner meeting of the Dover Chamber of Commerce in Alexander's Restaurant recently.

Mr. Homsey described the functions of the Regional Zoning Commissions in New Castle County and recommended that Kent County form a planning and zoning committee of interested persons whose duties would consist of conducting a careful and detailed study of the existing situation for the purpose of finding a feasible and practical solution of the problems, also to formulate plans relating to all new construction and improvements in conformity with proper zoning methods.

Mr. Homsey was introduced by William K. Paton, president of the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware, who recalled some of the scientific background and experience of the speaker in the field of architecture.
