DRESS SHOP TO OPEN SOON IN QUILLEN SHOPPING CENTER

A ladies dress shop is scheduled to open the latter part of March in Quillen Shopping Center, it was disclosed this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Wollason, who have operated a similar shop, Wollaston's, nine years in the Layton Theatre Building at Seaford, are installing the store here. It will be operated by Mrs. Josephine Sullivan who has been employed eight years in the Seaord establishment.

The Seaford store will continue operation.

Mr. Wollaston's mother, Helen Wollaston, has operated a dress shop, of the same name, at 9th and Tatnall Sts., Wilmington, 20 years. Previously, she had been employed by Braunstein's, Wilmington, 15 years.

> > A sewer line will be built on Milby Street, west of West St., after a report from the consulting engineer. The line will be 800 feet or less, depending on the cost. Bids have yet to be received.

Charles Jerread, chairman of the Police Commission, revealed that Patrolman Louis Bowden, recently appointed to the force for a probationary period, had received a raise of $5 per week to $50 per week.

City Manager William F. Smith recommended an improvement in the sewer line coming from the city jail. Once outside the jail, it made a right angle turn, he explained, and this was a clogging point. He added that he had once found a snuffbox and a rubber glove at this point. He recommended the line be curved and the matter was ordered referred to the Harrington Fire Company, the owner of the building.

Appeal night for taxes will be held Mon., March 18, from 8 to 9 p. m. Mayor Dr. Hewitt Smith said
