

New Armory to Be Inspected And Given to State Today

The new Delaware National Guard Armory at Harrington will receive its official inspection from state and federal officers today, and it is expected the building will be turned over to the state for its reserve military training purpose.

The inspection team slated to be here today consists of: Gen. John B. Grier, U.S. properties and fiscal officer for the Delaware National Guard; Maj. Charles G. White, purchasing and contracts officer for the guard; Thomas Donohue, architect for the armory, and representatives of the local contracting firm, Clute Bros.

Supported by a large number of Harrington business firms and organizations, the new armory is training center for Battery B, 193rd AAA Battalion, (75MM. gun), of which First Lt. James E. Turner, Jr., is commanding officer.

yet been announced, but plans will be made shortly for the community event.

Today and Sunday are also major recruitment days for local guardsmen who are contacting high school seniors between 17 and 18½ years of age, who face military service.

Any young man in this group is urged to enlist in the guard and fulfill his military obligation through home training and service without having to take six months' active Army training.

This opportunity expires Sunday, under a provision of the 1955 Armed Forces Reserve Act which applies exclusively to the standing reserve militia such as the Delaware Guard.

The seniors and their families will be visited by selected non-commissioned officers of the local unit, and Sunday, when multiple drills are scheduled for all guardsmen, visitors are invited to stop at the armory and secure detailed information.

RED CROSS CONTRIBUTORS ARE LISTED; $700 QUOTA

Up to this point in tabulating returns that are coming in from Red Cross volunteer workers in the Harrington area the following is a list of business firms and organizations that have already made contributions: Harrington Rotary Club, Kent Chapter of Eastern Star, Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency, Horace E. Quillen, Eastern Shore Public Service, Trotta's Appliances, Taylor's Hardware, W. E. Jacobs' Store, First National Bank, People's Bank, Harrington and Raughley Simpson Ford, Welch's Groceries, Graham's Service Station, Boyer's Funeral Home. In addition many individuals have already made generous contributions to the 1957 Red Cross Fund.

Besides, under the safety services, swimming instructions were given free of charge to beginning, intermediate, and advanced pupils at Haven Lake, as well as a Life Saving course by a qualified Red Cross teacher. Last summer over two hundred young people from this area, which includes Harrington, Farmington, Milford, Vernon, Ellendale, Houston, Frederica, and other towns, took advantage of these Red Cross swimming lessons. Whenever there is a group interested in home nursing, courses are offered under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Hammond, Milford. There are twenty-one units, also, organized under production services, which sew needed garments for the veterans' hospitals. Much good work has been accomplished by the Junior Red Cross in area six under the chairmanship of Mrs. Nelson Wright. A. E. Humes of Milford is chairman of the disaster division. Mrs. George Baynam may be contacted for any inquiries about home services of the Red Cross in area six.

Four hundred dollars has been collected so far in Harrington, toward the $700 quota. The following persons have been added to the original group of volunteers published in the Harrington Journal, March 15: Mesdames Francis Winkler, Paul Vinyard, Oscar Nemes, and Hyland Webb.

AREA CLERGYMEN FORM MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

At a meeting held Tuesday morning in Asbury Methodist Church, the clergymen of this area founded a ministerial association. The present membership includes the following clergymen: the Rev. William H. Miller, Pilgrim Holiness Church, Harrington; the Rev. Richard S. Gibson, Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington; the Rev. M. Held on Threat Charge
Russell Messick, about 40, was confined to the Kent County Correctional Institute Tuesday, after he was held for Superior Court on charges of threatening his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Messick, Monday, at their farm home in Mispillion Hundred.

Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway held Messick on a $1,000 peace bond and he was committed in lieu of his ability to raise that sum.

According to state police, who made the arrest, arraignments will be made to have Messick committed to the state hospital.

He threatened his parents with a penknife, claiming they "talked all the time."

Several motorists were also fined by Magistrate Callaway. Joe Lee Williams, 28, of Milby Street, Harrington, was fined $10 and costs for operating without a proper license.

Lester A. Draper, 18, of Greenwood, was fined $25 and costs for speeding and Warren John Price, 31, of Harrington, was fined $50 and costs for driving a car while his license was revoked.

Charles A. Franklin Dies in Wichita

Word has been received that Charles Albert Franklin passed away March 13, at his home, 605 N. Broadview, Wichita, Kan. He was born Sept. 10, 1877, in Harrington, the son of Omar and Nettie Andrus Franklin. After marrying, he left Harrington with his wife, Frances Tatman Franklin, and his infant daughter, Hazel, for Colorado Springs, Colo.

Returning East, he entered business with his father at Colonial Beach, Va. In 1913 he left Delaware for Wichita, where he owned and operated the Franklin Grocery until 1929, when he retired.

Many friends and relatives in both Harrington and Milford have looked forward to his frequent vacations in Delaware. His wife, Gladys Franklin, and daughter, Hazel A. Miller, both of Wichita, survive him.

Services were conducted Saturday, March 16, in the Gill Mortuary, Wichita, and interment was in Old Mission Mausoleum in the same city.

Mrs. A. M. Taylor, Harrington, and Mrs. Hester Reed and Mrs. Pauline Newton, both of Dover, were cousins of Mr. Franklin.

The Franklins were a prominent family here in the early days. William H. Franklin and his brother, Omar, had a furniture store where the Delaware Power & Light Company has its local office on Commerce St., a basket factory on the present site of the Harrington Lumber & Supply Company, and a stove mill across the railroad from the basket factory. Omar Franklin lived at Milby and Hanley Sts. in the house now occupied by the Misses Oda and Heba Baker.

Discussion of the immediate purpose of the council, which is support for the proposed "Right to Work" Law, (House Bill 55), was led by Jack Smyth, Dover publisher, who is serving as organization chairman.

Other visitors at the meeting here included Joshua M. Twilley, Dover attorney who is executive secretary of the SBC; William G. Davis, also of Dover who is treasurer and Baker Taylor, Wilmington, who is New Castle County chairman.

Ferry Group Given Funds

A $5,000 appropriation to the Lewes-Cape May Ferry Commission was passed by the Senate Tuesday despite the dogged questioning of Senator Clifford Pryor (D-Blackbird), who expressed fear that the money is being dealt off to "private hands."

Sponsored by Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), the proposal mustered 12 votes in the upper chamber and was dispatched to the House of Representatives. There were no nays, Senator Pryor was recorded as not voting, and four members—Senators William B. Behen (D-Dover), Elwood F. Melson, Jr. (R-Claymont), Wilmer F. Williams (R-Roselle), and Jester A. Gray (D-Frederica) — were absent.

Senator Hoey is chairman of the General Assembly's Joint Budget Committee, which has been casting a banker's eye on the financial requests of state agencies for the coming biennium. The Lewes-Cape May Ferry Commission, as nearly as could be determined from Tuesday's debate, is neither a state agency nor a corporate entity of any kind.

Senator Hoey called for action on the proposal (SB 25) after noting that the commission has been trying for the past 12 months or so to promote the ferry proposal. "I don't recall the exact number of members of the commission has," he said, "but it has held many meetings; what I recall is it has cost each of us a considerable amount of money. This appropriation would be used for further studies of the proposal."

But Senator Pryor immediately wanted to know if "this money is going into private hands or is the ferry to be built by the state?"

Senator Hoey replied: "They hope to make it a joint commission along the lines of a port authority. It would have members from both New Jersey and Delaware. It is not working as a private concern."

"I still don't know who's going to get the money," observed Senator Pryor.

"It will go to the commission that is already functioning," interjected Senate President Pro Tem Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) from the chair. "It has already held 10 meetings, and I believe one is scheduled for Saturday in Atlantic City. These meetings cost money."

"Well," persisted Senator Pryor, "who created the commission? The General Assembly?"

"No," conceded Senator Hoey. "The Governor?"

"No."

Who Created It?
"Then how did it come to be created?" Senator Pryor demanded. "Did it create itself?"

"It was created by the interest of several senators," replied Senator Hoey. "From New Jersey there were Senators DuMont and Sandman, among others; (Continued on back page)

CALLAWAY OPENS FURNITURE AND HOME IMPROVEMENT ESTABLISHMENT ON U. S. 13

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Sulky Slants
There isn't anything very exciting around here this week. In fact it's very still and lonesome. All the bigwigs from all the other tracks are all handshaking and saying goodbye-see you at the races.

Most all the ones that are racing at Yonkers are pulling out, and that includes the ones here also at Ben White's.

All equipment is all painted up, and the stable awnings all put in their bags, even the old time grooms are just as excited as a little boy.

The big trucks stand by, and don't think the older horses don't know what is going on. The boys with the boats are putting them in drydock, or letting some one look after them this summer. All my fishing pals have also stored their reels and rods till next fall.

You should see the different animals that are making the races from Ben White Raceway this year. Here are just a few that I have seen. Johnny Simpson, has a monkey, goat, a pony, parrot, chickens, and two ducks. If you would happen to be strolling around the grounds you might see more. They will be all crated and go right along.

In the horse paper it stated Mollica, trainer, was staying here until June. Well, he shipped out a week ago, with 10 head for Yonkers. Also the Ayau stable has been gone over a week now. The news is slow. There are only two stables from the Seminole Raceway that will be here till 10th of May, and that's Lou Huber, Jr., and Harold Hanks, and they race up around Cleveland and Chicago. We don't leave till the last of April unless it gets too hot, and it's certainly been that way all winter, around the 80 degree mark. For sure you have to wash a horse everytime he comes in. But no walking, as most all are getting away from that down here.

Was over to the quiet pleasant town of Sebring that lies beside the beautiful Lake Rex, with the shaded big trees which shelter the city park. In the surrounding hills at this time of the year, in Highland County the orange groves are just loaded with orange blossoms, and does it smell good. I think this part of Florida has the only rolling hills in the whole state. This happens to be the place where all bus drivers will tell you that you may be a little seasick, for why I don't know. But I, do know I was on a bus coming from Miami and don't think I wasn't just as sick as could be. That lasted for half a mile. To me it felt like I was on a boat. But what I want to see was all the different sports cars that come from all parts of the world. It seems now to be the No. 1 event of it's kind in the world.

There are throngs of weirdly dressed men and women that began to appear in the most outlandish garbs I've ever seen. You would think you were living in the world of the most exciting people. But when you call it a day you can say, and I do mean say, "What a Day." I'll never forget it. Or neither will the rest of the newspaper crowd that went down to visit Sebring.

The program planning committee of the Cub Scouts Pack 76 held a meeting on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Masten. The plans were completed for the March pack meeting to be held Friday, March 29 in the Collins Building of the Asbury Methodist Church.

Mexico expects to earn over $120,000,000 on its biggest-ever coffee crop this year.

A plane has taken 1,600 Rhesus monkeys from India to America for the polio program.

The construction of the furniture and home improvement establishment of Paul Callaway has been completed on U. S. 13, a mile and a half north of Harrington.

The place is open for business, but a grand opening will take place some time in May, Mr. Callaway said, with free gifts for all.

The native of Harrington, who has been conducting a business in awnings, storm windows, and linoleum a number of years from his home in Harrington, will continue to handle the same lines, in addition to aluminum fencing, jalousies, a full line of Felton-Sibley paints, and a "miracle" paint, with a silicon base, known for its waterproofing qualities.

Mr. Callaway added he is installing a complete line of furniture and household appliances, the latter including Hot Point TV sets, ranges, refrigerators, washers, and dryers.

The new establishment will also manufacture aluminum awnings and assemble aluminum picket fencing. It will carry a complete line of windows, and doors, and all the letters of the alphabet in grills.

Paul says he is a little concerned that much of his living room furniture and lamps, tables and unpainted furniture hasn't arrived yet. He hopes to have it by the weekend.

Railroad News

Railroading on the Delmarva Peninsula during the past five years has been going through what might well be termed a "Retirement Age."

Let's see how that term applies locally. First they retire all the steam engines, which in turn permitted retirement of all water stations, with their associated treating plants, coaling facilities, engine houses, etc.

Diesel operation replacing steam, and the highways replacing passenger trains and a large portion of local freight made it necessary to retire several stations and one track throughout the entire division.

The passenger station at Delmar was retired last month and has been removed entirely, making room for parking vehicles. Today is the last day for Arms Interlocking Tower north of Middletown. Along with these retirements, the following local railroad men have retired over the same period: Trainmen Joe Cordray, Jobe Pridle, Les Rogers, Bill Jester; Enginemen, Bill Davis, Walter Lekites and Pete Wilson. Len Watson has also retired from the local ticket and yard office.

Now the diesel engines have replaced steam and younger men are filling the places of older employees, the railroad is still able to survive on the peninsula and will continue to serve wherever possible as the most essential form of rigid transportation in the world.

To sum up the situation briefly, diesel engines have done for railroads what tractors have done for the farmer and the country at large.

The 21-year-old soldier attended Henry High School.

Harrington in The Dear Days Not Beyond Recall

This picture came from a postal card mailed in 1908. It shows Main, or Commerce Street, looking south. The structure in the foreground is Fleming Hotel which stood on the present site of The First National Bank and the portion of Fleming Street adjacent to it. Taking out the trees, the porches, and the telephone poles, the business district appears somewhat as it does today. The frame building on the corner, now the home of Harrington Package Store, housed the confectionery of John Harrington. The huge frame building, with the two gables, on the east side of the street, is a mercantile establishment which was formerly Harrington's first school. It was moved there from the southeast corner of Dorman Street where it stood on the site of the Al Spurry property.

TEMPORARY FIRE PHONE NUMBER

Since Dr. Hewitt Smith will be away from March 24 to April 7, his telephone number will not be used for night calls. Instead, fire calls will be received from 5 p. m. to 7 a. m., at Harrington 8327.

Delaware Food Notes

Up again on meats, down again on chickens, is this week's news of the price changes at the meat counter. An easy and traditional spring dish is fried chicken. There is an abundant supply of the 2 to 2½ pound broiler-fryers in the market now. Stewing chickens, also, are good buys. A main dish salad full of tender chicken meat will help bring spring along.
A wide variety of fish can be found now at the market. At 39 cents a pound you will find such fresh fish as butter fish, black bass and croakers. Other types cost a little more. Fish sticks are also increasing in popularity these days. Look for the many new frozen styles in the stores, there's something there to suit the taste of every member of the family. Many stores are featuring fish sticks this week-end.
Do your Lenten menus need new inspiration, dairy products have a lot to offer in variety and flavor to every day's menus.

Salmon steaks served with lima beans, onion rings and potatoes, and topped with a sour cream sauce will add interest to any meal.
The sour cream sauce adds an unusual flavor to this dish. It also adds important vitamins. The lightly browned steaks make a colorful contrast to the tender-green lima bean and onions. Another interesting combination of vegetables you may like is fresh asparagus (now on the market) and onion rings or green peas and small boiled onions topped with a sour cream sauce.
Another dairy food to help the menu planner is cottage cheese. It can be found at any store at reasonable prices. This cheese can be eaten by itself or it can be combined with a wide variety of foods to make different and interesting dishes.
Vegetable prices look good again this week. Look for good buys on kale, cabbage, potatoes, celery (an outstanding buy), lettuce, carrots and radishes.

SAVE YOUR CONFEDERATE MONEY, BOYS;
 THE SOUTH IS RISING AGAIN

Some nations are taken by conquest; others, by assimilation, or absorption. The South lost the War Between the States but, in the past 40 years it has been doing a good job in taking over the North on the latter's own grounds. Save your Confederate money, boys; the South is rising again. World War I was responsible for the exodus of many Southerners to Northern cities. During the Depression, they went back to the South.

During World War II and the postwar period the Southerners flocked to the North. When we encountered a Tennessee waitress who had moved to Pennsylvania, Sunday at the Mansion House in West Chester, it caused us to think of the exodus from the South.

We read recently that Arkansas, Mississippi, and one of the smaller New England states had been losing in population. We then recalled what we had witnessed on a two-weeks' vacation in December and January in East St. Louis, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo.

En route, we stopped at DeKalb, Ill., to visit an aunt who had moved up from Arkansas after living nearly 60 years in the section where she had been born. The husband was working in a pipe-organ factory.

"Why did you leave Arkansas to come up here among these Yankees after so many years?" we inquired.

"I was making $12 a month as janitor in a courthouse," he replied. "Folks couldn't live on wild salad (greens)."

"We've been up here several years, making a good living. When I get my social security, we will go back to Arkansas where we can live cheaper."

He came from Lawrence County, Ark., in which we lived as a boy. He explained that those from the western part of the county flocked to Rockford, Ill., while those in the eastern part went to Geneva, St. Charles, DeKalb, and Elgin, Ill., to work. And, so many went to Detroit that every year they hold a Lawrence County reunion.

In East St. Louis much of the personnel in hotels, restaurants, barrooms, and night clubs appeared to have come from Arkansas, western Tennessee, and western Kentucky.

On our return, we stopped in Indiana and Ohio and were told their newcomers were coming from Tennessee and Kentucky. In Washington, D. C., we were told "the North Carolinians are all over the place."

The South's former dependence on cotton has depleted its soil. It will be many years before its present agricultural economy will restore the fertility of its soil. Meanwhile, it has been making a strong bid for Northern industry. Furthermore, states like Florida and Texas have been growing rapidly.

On the whole, however, industry in the North is attracting much Southern labor.

Getting back to DeKalb, our uncle-by-marriage, said there were so many persons from his home bailwick there, that they established their own Baptist Church. "I can look around on Sunday morning," he said, "and see the same ones I used to see in church back home."

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I understand that payments under the Survivor Benefits Act depend on the base pay of the rank held by the veteran. My husband died as a result of wounds incurred in World War I service. His rank was captain in the Army. Will the amount to which I am entitled be based on the military pay he received many years ago, or the pay received today by an army captain?

A—Survivor Benefits Act payments are based on the current pay scale of the military, and not on the amount actually received by the veteran while he was in service. Your payments, then, would be based on what a captain receives today; not on what he received in World War I.

Q—My wife and I both signed a note when we received our GI home loan. We now want to sell our house and let the buyer take over the loan. I plan to apply to VA for release of liability to the Government. If this release is granted, will it also include my wife?

A—Yes. If you are released of liability, your wife, too, will be released.

Q—Is it possible to go to a school below college level, under the War Orphans Education program?

A—Yes, provided you already have completed or quit your regular high school, and the below college course will equip you for a specific vocational goal.

Q—I am going to school under the Korean GI Bill, and I expect that my entitlement will run out before I finish my course. The school does not operate on a quarter or semester basis. Is it possible for my entitlement to be extended so that I can complete the course?

A—If you have completed the major part of your course, your entitlement may be extended to the end of the course or for nine weeks—whichever is the shorter period.

Q—I am a disabled Korea veteran and I would like to take vocational rehabilitation training in a European college. Is this possible?

A—Under the law it would not be possible. Vocational rehabilitation is not available in foreign countries, except in the Philippine for eligible U. S. citizens living there.

Q—I have just come out of military service. Will the VA find me a job?

A—Finding employment for veterans is not one of VA's functions, under the law. What you should do is apply at your nearest public employment office.

Q—My World War II permanent GI insurance lapsed, and VA automatically continued it in force under extended term insurance. I want to reinstate my permanent policy. Will I have to take a physical examination?

A—If you reinstate within five years of the date the extended insurance would expire, you will not need a medical examination or any medical evidence of good health. If you reinstate after that time limit, you will be required to take an examination.

Q—If a school was approved to train veterans under the World War II GI Bill, will it also be considered approved to train Korea veterans?

A—Not necessarily. World War II GI Bill approval does not carry over. The school's courses must be approved specifically for Korea veterans.

K. C. 4-H'ers Receive Chicks

Twenty Kent County 4-H'ers have received their chicks for the Junior Broiler Program. These 4-H'ers will raise their fifty chicks for a period of nine weeks. Over that period they will be recording the feed costs and mortality rates. At the end of the nine weeks each member will select six cockerals for the final contest. The cockerals will be taken to a processing plant where a team of extension workers and FFA advisors will begin the long hours of judging. The birds will be weighed in for live weight and tagged to keep the contestants birds in lots. After being processed the birds are then put in iced trays for the final judging and display. A banquet is then held for contestants, parents and poultrymen at which time the awards are announced. Edward Strauss, Westville 4-H'er and Leanna Becker, Honey Bee 4-H'er placed first and second in last years contest with 5.0 and 4.9 weights respectively.

The following Kent County 4-H'ers are participating this year: Wayne Morris, Edward Strauss, Larry Davis, Leanna Becker, Billy Lyons, Tom Robbins, John Benson, Sally Daisy, Lillian Dixon, John Thomas, Danny Anstine, Susan Benson, Kenneth Marvel, Raymond Marvel, George Pierson, Tom Moore, Alton Hendon, Sandra Hendon, Nancy Wright Alice Wright.

Pet lovers in Rhodesia are angry at the shooting of 20,000 dogs and the need to have permits before they can move their dogs and cats. Authorities in Salisbury point out, however, that this is the only way to meet a rabies outbreak.

Corn Borer Control Program Planned in County

In connection with a state-wide corn borer control program being organized by Dr. L. A. Stearns and Donald MacCreary entomologists at the University of Delaware, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, has announced that plans for borer control in Kent county are about complete.

We hope to add up to $174.00 to each average farm income in the county, the agent said. This was the bite taken by borers from each average farm income from corn last year, as reported by Dr. Stearns. Total state damage by borers in 1956 was an estimated $849,194.

getting every farmer to plow under all old corn stalks by May 1. The university entomologists said earlier that this is the least expensive way of controlling the corn pest.

So far, the agent has been taking pictures and talking to farmers who are now plowing under corn stalks and whose stories will be used later in news releases. The plan, too, is to post fields of cooperating farmers.

Farmers who have indicated that they will plow before May 1 include Jacob Zimmerman of Dover, Harvey and James Opdyke of Dover, Isaac Thomas of Marydel, L. D. Caultk, Sr. of Wyoming, Charles Blendt of Smyrna, and C. A. Taylor of Harrington.

Covered Dish Dinner

The Felton Faculty is holding a covered dish dinner Thursday, April 4, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the National Education Association. Raymond Dill will show slides of Delaware and other historic scenes in the United States. Husbands and wives of the faculty members are invited.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

Eleanor Kemp

Although she weighs only 96 pounds, this sparkling senior girl makes her presence felt by her ready wit and bounding energy. Brown eyes, dancing with laughter lights, and a mischievous smile are always ready to greet any puzzling task that might arise in the class.

Eleanor is a commercial student and hopes to use the education she has gained in office work post-graduation. During her high school years, Eleanor has participated in all F.H.S. sports, the F.H.S. Student Council, and took active part in this year's junior-senior play.

Now what would an attractive girl such as Eleanor be interested in along the sidelines of her schooling? Her main and most important interest concerns a certain senior boy from Caesar Rodney High School. The two most important months in her future are June and December, and, who knows, that size 12 ring hanging on the chain around Eleanor's neck may soon be replaced with a sparkler on her third finger, left hand. Curiosity about this pressing question has all her senior classmates counting the days to that eventful graduation date, too!

Dorsey Hammond

If a census were to be taken in Felton High School in a search for best all around boys, Dorsey Hammond would be a top choice. During his F.H.S. years Dorsey has participated in every sport, club, and organization within his Alma Mater's walls. He has taken upon himself any duty stemming from these social obligations and gone outside his school to fulfill them when called upon to do so.

For the past four years, Dorsey has studied under the academic course. After graduation he plans to attend the Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa. His favorite subject at the present is English, which explains his standing as one of the best writers in the class.

HARRINGTON LIONS HOLD FARMERS NIGHT

The local Lions members had as their guests on Monday evening, farmers from the Harrington area at their regular meeting held at the American Legion home here. The Legion Auxiliary served the meal.

Lion Senator, Peter Nechay, introduced Dean George Worri- low, Dean of Agriculture, University of Delaware, as speaker of the evening. He delivered an excellent talk on problems and conditions that Delaware farmers are confronted with. The speaker stressed the fact that lower cost of production of a product means as much to the farmer as a price increase for his finished product.

He made mention of the vast amount of valuable farm land in Delaware that is going into housing developments, especially in New Castle County.

Eighty-four Lions and their farmer guests attended their first Farmer's night of the club. Lion President 'Outen, announced that the Lions' annual pancake supper would be held on THURSDAY, April 11, at the Harrington firehouse, with serving from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. Proceeds from the supper will go for civic improvements.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Another week of grand weather and the horses are really going to town. Some are working them in the most unbelievable time, getting ready to ship to Yonkers.

Was up to Spring Garden Ranch last Sunday, but they didn't seem to be going too fast. They really had a turn out for the Lions Club. Cars were parked three deep all around the fence of the half mile track.

This past Saturday saw the last of Ben White's Raceway matinee. There were over 2,000 people over there. But the horses didn't set any speed records. For this place, all I can see is a lot of talk. Course now, there wouldn't be enough horses here to put on a race.

Yesterday two truck loads shipped out for Maywood Park. One stable was on the other side of us. Sure will miss them. Very good winter neighbors. They had worked their horses in 2:06, 2:08 and 2:10, 2:12, and others in less time. We have about four stables moving out to Yonkers in another week. We don't leave until around April 25. But it is sure hard putting a horse away down here. Never come in without being so hot.

It's 85 today and it doesn't seem to be getting any cooler. As for me, I've been sick again this past week. These lakes are something, if you happen to not like the fog. And it really is a thick pea soup fog.

But one thing for sure, they really do the fishing down here. Our harness man went out in one of the lakes beside our trailer and came back with a 10 pound bass. Course he goes out in a boat of his every evening and he doesn't do bad for himself. Keeps everyone in fish that likes them.

The Orlando Auto Show is going on and everyone I think has been down to see the new cars. The new Fords are really something this year.

I guess by the time we are ready to leave here the darn road will be ready to go over. It's been terrible all winter. Making a six lane drive from Jacksonville to Orlando. It's about finished.

Since the dog track closed, it's really been lonesome. You know all you have to pay to get in on the passes was 25 cents. At least it was some place to spend an evening. I think the three tracks were having the time of their lives.

Gosh, its tough to be so you can't go with the crowd that's going out in a big boat to fish. But I'll stay back and talk about what I might have caught. Some are in bathing suits, shorts. They'll about end up to Sand-lando Springs. That's where most of us go, as the pool is a natural spring hot water. Just 2 miles from here. Since I've finished this little bit of chatter Dick, who lives next door and Dick Storm from the Ben White Raceway just came by to tell me they've hooked another 10 pound bass. Along with 5 others they caught. What a gang. Dick Williams is going out in his new motor boat up to Lake Dora. He's the one that drives Lord Stewart. We were invited, but I'm afraid of boats as I can't swim very good. I'll take mine from the banks.

Camp Barnes Building Fund Campaign Still in Progress

4-Hers in Kent County are still at work raising funds to build and furnish one cottage in the Camp Barnes recreation area.

The latest report by Marion MacDonald, county 4-H agent, set the fund figure at $1327.00, $873.00 short of the $2,200 goal.

Fund raising activities of the county 4-H Clubs have included dances, bakes, skating parties, pen set sales, and greeting cards. They will continue the effort during the next few days to raise funds to meet the $2,200 goal by April 1. Bids for building 11 new camp cottages at Camp Barnes will be let during April.

The Delaware Association of Chiefs of Police operates the camp for underprivileged boys and will build eight of the new cottages, with 4-Hers from each of the three Delaware counties supplying funds for the other cottages.

The 4-H agent urges county residents to help 4-H youngsters meet the building fund goal by sending contributions to the Kent County Extension, Post Office Building, Dover.

Cocoa-bean production promises to become a "big deal" in North Borneo, Tawau reports.

Some of the best cooks on Delmarva tell us that there's nothing like chicken fried in an electric skillet. It comes out pretty as a picture, juicy and tender.

Be sure to see the new electric cooker. It makes stew - bakes beans - cooks chicken and dumplings. No. pot watching - the temperature is controlled.

Social Security Notes

People who have become unable to work because of severe and long-lasting disabilities have a new type of protection under the social security law, but according to the Bureau of Old-age and Survivors Insurance, which administers new provisions, many are not applying for their rights.

"For many disabled people, failure to file an application with the social security district office before the end of June will mean the loss of all their social security disability protection, and for some it will also mean the loss of their rights to any old-age and survivors insurance benefits for themselves and their families in the future," Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington Social Security office, stated today. "Should a disabled worker die without having filed and application to protect his social security disability rights, the survivors benefits payable to his family under the social security law may be greatly reduced."

An estimated 700,000 severely disabled men and women in the country have worked long enough under social security to be eligible to have their social security records frozen under a 1954 provision in the law. When a disabled worker's record is frozen, the years when his disability keeps him from working are not counted against him in figuring the social security benefits due him in the future or payable to his family in case of his death. Of the 700,000, about 400,000 people—those between 50 and 65 years of age—are eligible for monthly disability insurance benefits beginning with July.

Although the Delaware social security office in Wilmington has been accepting applications from disabled workers since January 1, 1955, many of those eligible have not yet applied. Under the law, workers who were already disabled were given 2 1/2 years to apply to protect their social security rights.

After June 30, 1957, the end of that 2 1/2 year period, an application will be effective to freeze a worker's social security record for no more than one year back. A disabled person must meet certain requirements at the beginning of his official period of disability. He must have social security credit for at least 5 out of the 10 years before he became disabled, and at least a year and a half of the credit must have been earned in the three years just before his official period of disability began.

If application for the disability freeze is not made before June 30, 1957, many disabled workers may no longer meet these work requirements at the beginning of the earliest period of disability which can be entered on their social security records. In this case, they would not be eligible to have their social security records frozen, and in addition, they would be ineligible to receive monthly disability insurance benefits at age 50. These disabled workers would have to wait until regular treatment age to receive any social security benefits and those benefits would be reduced because the years in which they were unable to work would lower the average earnings upon which their social security benefits are based. For some younger workers, delay in making application might also mean a complete loss of all social security benefit rights.

Disabled workers who believe they are eligible under these disability provisions should complete and mail the coupon printed with this article to the social security office.

Delaware Sheep Growers To Have Lamb Pools

Delaware sheep growers voted to organize a pool for market lambs at their regular meeting last Tuesday. Market days will be Wednesday. The minimum pool load will be 50 lambs, the maximum load in each shipment 130 lambs. Plans are being completed by John McQuail, lamb chairman.

Bert Willis of Milford presented a very attractive proposition for handling our market lambs. He represents Esskay Packing Company of Baltimore, who prefer to have lambs of from 60 to 90 lbs., docked and castrated. Lambs would be graded in Baltimore; growers would get Baltimore market price; checks would be mailed direct to growers within two days after market; and a charge of $1.10 per head would cover entire cost.

Lambs would leave Milford at 10 o'clock in the morning. Lambs must not be picked up by their fleece thus bruising the flesh which shows up at dressing and lowers the grade of their meat, but must be handled carefully in order to be associated with the Delaware Lamb Pool. Individual owner's marking will be put on lambs by Mr. Willis at time of delivery.

Dr. Teeter assured us that the two scabies infested flocks in Kent County have been treated and that it is very much under control and danger of spreading is over. He also offered to secure the latest film on scabies and show it at one of the meetings.

Fair chairman, Calvin Hollis, outlined plans for having a better showing of lambs and sheep by arranging classes in which any interested sheep raiser in Delaware can participate. A bulletin covering rules and instructions will be sent to all members of the association.

Conservation Reserve Contracts in Effect April 15

Conservation reserve contracts farmers sign to begin in 1957 will become fully effective not later than April 15, according to George C. Simpson, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

April 15 is also the final date for signing conservation reserve contracts to begin in 1957.

The time the contract goes into effect is important, the chairman explained, because compliance with the contract requires that the designated conservation reserve not be grazed or cropped. Unless the conservation practice has been started earlier, any livestock grazing on the designated conservation reserve must be removed from the acreage by April 15.

On farms where the application of an approved conservation practice has been started on the designated conservation reserve before April 15, the contract goes into effect when the practice is started.

Farmers who have an approved cover crop on land they intend to designate for the conservation reserve of the Soil Bank may choose a contract covering as short a period as three years, according to Simpson.

Land already having an acceptable cover may also be included in conservation reserve contracts running for five or 10 years. Land on which the cover crop must be established after the contract is signed can be included only in contracts for five or 10-year periods.

Farmers electing five or 10 year contracts have a wider selection in designating their conservation reserve, since they can include land already having a cover as well as land on which the cover crop is yet to be established.

India Airlines has sent 36 pilots and six radio officers to train in Britain to operate 10 four-engined turbo-pressurized Viscount planes which it has on order.
