Century Club News

Using the theme "No Man is an Island, No Man Stands Alone," the chorus of the Harrington New Century Club under Mrs. Oscar J. Nemesh as director, with Mrs. Earl Sylvester accompanist, presented one of the most enjoyable programs of the club year at the meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Nemesh, as narrator, gave a short resume of early music, from the Eastern Rockbound coast to the Pilgrims, with "God of Our Fathers" sung by the chorus to illustrate the type of music. Following the coast through the southland where ballads were sung 40 or 50 years ago, the chorus used an old glee club song, "Ora Lee" to illustrate how the modern singers turn to the old songs and with new words make them popular as Elvis Presley's "Love Me Tender" is the old "Ora Lee" with new words.

No Music Americana would be complete without the negro spirituals and the lullaby "Sleepy Hollow Tune", and "Standing in the Need of Prayer", spiritual, were delightful.

Continuing on through the western section and Spanish Mission music, the chorus gave a "Mexican Clap Hands Dance" song. The only truly 100 per cent Americana music is the nature worshipping American Indian with their songs of water, and Mrs. William Simpson sang "In the Land of Sky Blue Waters" by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

American music is a composite from many lands and many peoples, and for the wide open spaces of America, the chorus was joined by the club members in "Home on the Range."

With the theme in song, "No Man is an Island, No Man Stands Alone" by the club chorus, "Music Americana" ended.

The railroad appreciates the interest shown by the Century Club on improving the station surroundings by suggestion of a flower bed at the spot where the nativity sign was during the Christmas holidays.

COPS AND ROBBERS

"Too many motorists play the game of cops and drivers!"

That statement was made yesterday by Col. Harry S. Shew, Superintendent of the Delaware State Police, in connection with the "Know and Obey Traffic Laws program" being emphasized this month by the Delaware Safety Council.

The Colonel asserted that drivers and pedestrians who are always cheating in traffic are the real accident makers. "Fortunately," he said, "most motorists and pedestrians obey traffic laws and regulations most of the time. If they didn't, our accident rates would soar to even greater heights."

"Statistics show that traffic law violators figure largely in traffic fatalities. In four out of five fatal accidents one or more driver violations are reported," Colonel Shew said.

"Many of these violators feel that only suckers obey the laws. They know all the angles and short cuts. You know these characters—the ones who always overdrive the posted speed limits. They jump the red lights at intersections. They weave from lane to lane and sneak by on your right if you slow down at an intersection. They never really stop at stop signs."

Citing the record, the Superintendent said the most frequent violations reported in fatal traffic accidents are excessive speed, failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line and disregard of an officer or traffic control device.

Well-meaning motorists and pedestrians who take unnecessary risks also came in for a verbal lashing by Colonel Shew.

"Even under normal conditions," he said, "traffic can give you plenty of headaches. But drivers and pedestrians who risk their lives and the lives of others to gain some slight advantage or save a few seconds really give you extra jitters and contribute to many accidents."

The colonel said law enforcement agencies need the support of the entire community in building greater respect for traffic laws.

"It is only through a sense of responsibility on the part of each individual that we can hope to reduce traffic accidents," he said.

JUST A MEMORY

Experts in memory research are finding that your memory is no better today than that of the average citizen of ancient Greece. In early Greece, before there were town clerks and county recorders to keep records, the busiest man in town was the professional "rememberer" who was paid to remember various transactions and details. Today, too, there are firms which remind their customers of birthdays, anniversaries, business and social engagements.

Psychologists are finding that some people remember better than others, and, generally, women remember better than men. There have always been persons of amazing memories. Napoleon could remember thousands of names and during battles remembered the exact placements of hundreds of his army's artillery pieces. Barthold Niebuhr, a Prussian historian and banker, immediately set up from memory all 1800 of his bank's accounts after the bank burned down destroying all records.

Mozart, as a boy, wrote down the complete score of a lengthy oratorio after hearing it once. The English author, Lord Macaulay, could memorize and repeat a complete book after one reading. Ethel Barrymore got her big chance when a stage manager discovered she had memorized every part of his play and could step into the leading-lady role immediately. Toscanini was "discovered" the night he substituted for another conductor on a few minutes' notice. He memorized the score of each opera he played because his eyesight was too poor to depend upon the written score. Winston Churchill has memorized two-hour speeches on several occasions. James Farley said at one time he could call 50,000 persons by their first names.

A German scientist, Hermann Ebbinghaus, in 1885, conducted the first recorded memory experiments. He found that 40 per cent of what we try to remember is forgotten in 20 minutes and 75 per cent forgotten within a week. Experiments today prove about the same.

The most difficult things to remember, psychologists find, are numbers. Numbers, they say, are difficult because they lack concrete meaning. A noted University of Chicago psychologist found in experiments that only the most superior adults can repeat eight numbers backwards after hearing the numbers once.

One of the numbers most persons believe they remember is their social security number. The Social Security Administration's experience has been that account numbers given from memory are too often incorrect. Psychologists have some favorite rules for remembering numbers, but rather than expect everyone to learn and practice such rules, the Social Security Administration has issued an account number card to each person who had made an application for a social security number.

Social Security people stress that the card be shown to the employer whenever an employee begins a new job. It is important that the card be checked when a self-employed person makes out his social security tax return. Trusting to memory may result in loss of social security wage credits, and, in the end, loss of benefits to the worker or self-employed person. Incorrect account numbers create additional expense to the employer who must spend time later to get the correct information from the worker's card and then correct his own records.

Another important reason for the employer to see the card is that he can be sure that he is recording the correct spelling of the worker's name.

If you have lost or misplaced your card, you can get a duplicate card—or change your name if it is incorrect on your present card—by writing or visiting your social security office at 504 W. 10th St. in Wilmington. And do it now—remember, we forget 75 per cent of the things we want to remember within a week.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Sunday morning we celebrate Communion. In the evening, the 7:30 service has the usual hymn singing, and a sermon by the pastor on "The People Called Methodists." This is the last in a series of Sunday evening talks in preparation for and strengthening of an understanding of church membership among adults, which has occupied Lenten Sunday evenings.

The Church School meets at 10 a.m. This has been showing an increasing attendance, due partly to the contest initiated by the O.U.R. Class. This is a contest between the Blues and the Golds, men and women of the class respectively, to bring in more members. It will continue until Children's Day, the second Sunday in June.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship meets at 6:30. In this session of the MYF the lesson leader is Barbara Minner. The pastor gives his final Lenten talk on the meaning of church membership for young people.

Tuesday evening, the O.U.R. Class holds its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lare on the Vernon Road.

Choirs are usually scheduled Thursday, 6:45 - 8.

There are a number of events scheduled for Holy Week to which we may look forward. All who intend to join the Church should plan to do so on Palm Sunday morning, at the 11 a.m. service April 14. Maundy Thursday, April 18, there is to be a service for Trinity and Asbury, at Asbury. Good Friday, there is to be a service at Trinity from 12-3, in which seven pastors are participating, and to which all are invited, for at least part of the program.

Monday, the Pastoral Relations Committee met; Thursday, the Commission on Education at 7, and the Nominating Committee at 8.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

Next Sunday there will be incorporated into the 11 o'clock service, the spring "ingathering" of the United Thank offering for the women of St. Stephen's. This offering will be presented in the familiar blue boxes, as a gift above a woman's regular contribution to her church. Each day as she has gone about her regular duties, she has found many little things, as well as big things, that have brought her joy. Instead of taking these blessings for granted, she has expressed her thankfulness by putting a coin in the box, by saying a brief prayer, consequently sharing with others some of the good things she has enjoyed. This aggregate offering will be presented at the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary Meeting in May. Although the thank offering of each woman may be small, the United Thank offering is large. At the last Triennial meeting of the Episcopal Church in Honolulu, the amount was over three million dollars. This fund is used to train women workers, to send them where needed, to supply new buildings and equipment, to pay the salaries of church missionaries and teachers, to provide retirement for women workers, and to support various other projects. Each church woman feels that she is a part of a great missionary effort. The important thing is turning to God each day with a prayer of gratitude and with a gift for others.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's is happy to have acquired a large silver tray to complete to set of coffee pot, sugar bowl, and cream pitcher, for use at our coffee hour sessions and at other receptions. Members of our church wish to thank all those who made this gift possible. Mrs. Granville Hill and Mrs. Robert McNally were coffee hour hostesses last Sunday.

We all appreciate the twelve extra chairs donated to our Parish House furnishings. The chair seats have been attractively covered by the donor, and the chairs have already been put to good use by various groups meeting at the Parish house.

Last Sunday, the fourth Sunday in Lent, our vicar used the service of the Litany, or General Supplication, instead of morning prayer. The congregation responded to each entreaty with the familiar phrase "Have mercy upon us," "Good Lord, deliver us," or "we beseech Thee to hear us, good Lord." In addition to the Litany, the Ante-Communion service was also used, which comprises the first part of Holy Communion—the Lord's Prayer, the Collect, and the Decalogue, the Epistle, and the Nicene Creed. Services and classes for this week include three periods of instruction for confirmation: Monday, 7:45 p.m., Adult Inquirer's group at the vicarage; Tuesday and Friday, 4 p.m., Confirmation instruction primarily for the young people at the Parish House. There will be Holy Communion as usual Wednesday, 9 a.m.

Palm Sunday, at 11 a.m. the Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of Delaware, will administer the sacrament of "The Order of Hands upon Those that are Baptized, and come to Years of Discretion." Easter Sunday there will be Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and morning prayer at 11 a.m.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am planning to sell my house and let the buyer take over my GI loan, provided VA will release me from liability. Once I receive my liability release, would I automatically be entitled to another GI loan?

A—No. Obtaining a release from GI liability does not entitle you to another GI loan. The only veterans whose GI loan entitlement may be restored are those who must dispose of their property for certain compelling reasons such as condemnation by the Government or ill health.

Q—Is there any deadline for applying for disability compensation for the service-connected disability?

A—There is no deadline. You may apply at any time. However, if you file your application within one year following your discharge from service, the payments may be made retroactive to the day after your discharge, providing your disability was compensable at that time.

Q—I have a Korean GI term insurance policy. Will I get dividends on this policy?

A—No. Under the law, Korean GI insurance is non-participating; it does not pay dividends. However, your premiums are lower than the premiums for GI policies that do pay dividends.

Q—I lost my sight in the Korean conflict, and I am planning to take vocational rehabilitation training. Will VA provide me with reader service?

A—Yes. Reader service may be provided if it is necessary for the successful pursuit of your vocational rehabilitation. The number of hours of service will depend on the amount of reading required in your course.

Cub Scout News

The red faces attending the Pack meeting of the Cub Scouts Pack 76 Friday evening was not from embarrassment but from Indian war paint. The red faces, Indian costumes, and dances carried out the March theme "Indians". After a grand march the cubs seated themselves around the camp fire as the well-dressed Indian Akela, Cubmaster Robert Masten, presented awards to the following: Bobcat badges, Donnie Knox, Donald Wells, Tommy Simpler; David Greenly, wolfe badge and gold arrow; Glen Smith, wolfe badge, gold and silver arrows; Mike Kohel, wolfe badge, gold and 2 silver arrows; Chuck McNally, gold arrow; Jim Cain, silver arrow; Mike Wamsley and Renny Frank Welch, lion badge and gold and silver arrows; Roger Betts, 2 silver arrows; Jack Dickerson, gold arrow, and Marshall Hatfield, silver arrow. Denner stripes; Chuck McNally, Marshall Hatfield, Bobby Smith, and Glen Smith. Assistant denner stripes, Billy Lord, Roger Betts, Donald Wells, and Frank Cain.

The cubs having March birthdays and receiving Bear books: Alex Argo, Billy Lynn Dill, Chuck McNally, and Bobby Matthews. Lion books: Gary Harris and Lee Vincent.

Graduation Certificates, transfers and Webelos badge was presented to Barry Fry, Doug Moore, and Tommy Lord. Webelos badge: Herbie Barlow and Fred Greenly.

Cubmaster Robert Masten announced the Cub Scouts will start the sale of Breakwater Soap April 1 and the campaign will continue throughout the entire month. The Cubs worked very hard last year on this campaign and we hope this year it will be a greater success.

The next committee meeting will be held Friday evening, April 12 at the Trinity Methodist Church at 8 p.m.

A NEW CONCEPT in motorcar excellence awaits your inspection in the ROADMASTER 75 just introduced. You will see what we mean the first time you glimpse the interior. The impeccable tailoring and taste of the rich appointments are as obvious as the comfort is opulent. The seats, for example. Delaware Food Notes

Vegetables are selling at such wide price ranges that it pays to shop around. One of the top buys is fresh greens, all kinds, including spinach, kale, and mustard greens. You may buy these greens prepackaged or loose, which ever you prefer.

The biggest price change on any fresh vegetable has been made by string beans. The supply has been large and the quality is quite good, however, the price will range from 2 pounds for 25 cents to 29 cents a pound. Eggplants have come down in price, ranging from 13 cents to 25 cents a pound. Cabbage has vanished this week from the good buy list. It is way up in price almost twice as high as this time last year.

Other good buys to consider this week are lettuce, celery, carrots, yellow onions, radishes and old potatoes. New potatoes are coming in now and are selling around 8-10 cents a pound.

Fresh asparagus is more plentiful, but it pays to watch the length of this vegetable. If you are one of those people who cuts off at least 3 to 4 inches of the asparagus and tosses it in the garbage can then it pays to buy the shorter length. However, these cut off sections can be peeled and cooked for soup - a delicious creamed soup is made from these often thrown away pieces of asparagus.

Chicken is definitely the best buy in sight at the meat counter for Sunday dinner. Lamb chops (loin chops), on the other hand, are about the fanciest item on the meat counter. These have increased at many stores as much as 10 cents a pound in the past two weeks. Leg-of-lamb, though, has been selling at fairly reasonable prices and on weekends, the prices have been even lower.

Look for good buys among meats offered on weekend specials. Chuck roasts have dropped 2 cents a pound and will be featured again. Ham, bacon, sausage and some steaks will all be cheaper because of specials.

Still Time to Apply Lime Farmers who haven't put lime on their land can still do the job, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent. Most vegetable and field crops need lime because it supplies calcium and magnesium—and soil acidity. And probably many soils in the county need lime this year, since heavy rains last year caused much lime to leach out of soils. Lime is probably needed particularly by asparagus, lima beans, cabbage, broccoli, soybeans, and possibly corn, he pointed out, although it's best to have soil tested to determine lime requirements before any is applied. The soil testing laboratory at the University of Delaware tests soil free. High magnesium (dolomitic) limestone containing from 10 to 23 per cent magnesium oxide is the best form to use, the agent said. The limestone may be plowed or drilled in when fertilizer is applied. Lime can be put on soil any time of the year—and especially during early spring or fall. The amount needed can be found through a soil test, but most soils need limestone every three to five years. When other forms of lime have been used, applications should be made more often. For advice on liming your land, see the agent at the Kent county extension office, Post Office Building, Dover.

Soil Supervisors To Be Hosts at Dinner The Delaware association of soil conservation district supervisors will be hosts to other supervisors from other Northeastern area states at Wilmington next August, announces Isaac Thomas of Maryland, the state president. The invitation was extended by Cashar Evans of Selbyville while attending the recent national convention at St. Louis, Missouri. The first planning session to make arrangements will be a dinner meeting of the Delaware supervisors at the Hub Restaurant in Dover Wednesday, April 10. Harold S. Wright of New York area, vice president, is expected to attend, as is Harry H. Rieck of Maryland, the director who represents the Northeast area at national meetings. Soil and water conservation problems affecting the Northeast will come in for special study. Probably the development of watershed projects will receive most attention. Pasture Crop Needs Care A grass crop for pasture needs care just like a cultivated crop.

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

Sunday morning Mass will be at 9:30. Confessions will be heard before Mass. High School Student instructions will be given Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Parish House.

Saturday will be the first Saturday of the month and Mass will be heard at 9 o'clock. Sunday will be Passion Sunday. It is the fifth Sunday of Lent and is so called because it is the beginning of Passiontide, when the mind of the church is directed entirely to the sufferings and death of Christ.

ful in some way to faith or morals. A short business meeting was held. The topic for next month will be "Education of the Child." There will be a scripture reading from the book of Ecclesiasticus.

At the devotions last Friday evening, Tony Perrone was cross-bearer, Charles Moore and Tyson Wroten were Acolytes. Saturday morning Tony Perrone and Tyson Wroten served at Mass. The Altar boys Sunday morning were Tony Perrone and Edgar Wroten. We were pleased to have as visiting Oblate, the Rev. Charles Hartis, O. S. F. S. of the Salesianum School in Wilmington, to celebrate Mass Sunday morning. Father Hartis teaches science and chemistry.

Father Corrigan, Mrs. Anna Wroten, Mrs. Mary Fair and Mrs. Matilda Kukulka spent Sunday in Wilmington. They attended the special services held at St. Peter's Cathedral for the presentation of certificates to those who completed the C.C.D. teachers course. The Most Rev. Dr. Hubert J. Cartwright coadjutor bishop of Wilmington presided in the sanctuary. He presented the certificates in the name of the Most Rev. Dr. Edmund J. Fitz Maurice, bishop of Wilmington. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter W. Curtis, S.T.D. director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the Archdiocese of Newark, N. J. preached the sermon.

In his sermon he remarked that Pope St. Pius X had stated that "ignorance of Divine things is an immeasurable evil." St. Pius was Pope from 1903 to 1914 and during this time he continued to teach the catechism himself. Those who have qualified to be lay teachers of religion are in a true sense auxiliaries to the Bishop.

Monsignor Curtis stated that "the secret of a good teacher is not natural ability, but thorough preparation." The Rev. Henri J. Foltz diocesan director of the C.C.D. read the names of the 153 men and women who received the lay catechist certificates. One from each of the 29 parishes advanced to the altar rail to receive the certificates from coadjutor Bishop Cartwright. Representing St. Bernadette's was Mrs. Anna Wroten. Some of the neighboring parishes attending were Georgetown, Rehoboth, Milford, Ridgely and Dover.

the Rev. John H. Dewson, S.T.L. was sub-deacon; Father Foltz was deacon of exposition and Rev. James T. Hammel, first assistant pastor of the cathedral parish was master of ceremonies. Two Monsignori, about fifteen priests, pastors and assistant pastors of various parishes in the diocese were also present in the Sanctuary. The 152 new lay catechists attended a reception afterwards in the school hall where they had the honor of personally meeting coadjutor Bishop Cartwright.

Those of St. Bernadette's receiving certificates were: Robert J. Nelson, William Kohel, Mrs. Anna Wroten, Mrs. Mary Fair and Mrs. Matilda Kukulka. After the ceremonies and social hour at the cathedral, the group representing Harrington which was present, visited several other churches in Wilmington including St. Anthony's, St. Elizabeth's and the Chapel of the Visitation Nuns Monastery. They also made a tour of the new Salesianum School for boys. The tour was directed by the Very Rev. Thomas A. Lawless, O.S.F.S., Rector of the school and the Rev. Joseph F. Niedermaier, O.S.F.S., Chaplain of the V. A. Hospital.

6 Fire Alarms In March; 3 Rural

There were 6 alarms for the month of March. Three alarms were rural and 3 were city. Two of the fires originated in chimneys, 2 in cars, 1 brush, and 1 grass.

The total hours in service were 3 and the total men in service were 20 with 36 hours and 30 minutes total man hours.

There were 24 miles traveled. The ladders were raised 65 ft. The hose laid was 450 ft. 1 inch hose. Property involved $9,600 with no loss. Trucks no. 2 was used 6 times; No. 3 6 times, and No. 4 2 times.

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company has purchased the corner property that formerly belonged to Mrs. Agnes Collins, located on the northeast corner of Mechanic and Dorman Streets, adjacent to the Harrington Fire House. The company feels this purchase was necessary so they can expand with a new and larger building to offer the growing city of Harrington better protection. We wish to thank each and everyone at this time for the donations given during our annual Fund Drive, and throughout the year, and we hope we may continue to get such highly appreciated response from you.
