

Governor Signs Newport Plan

The Municipal Aid Street Fund bill was signed into law Wednesday afternoon by Gov. J. Caleb J. Boggs, making possible, starting July 1, the distribution of $1,200,000 in each of the next two years to incorporated communities for road work.

Co-sponsored by Speaker of the House Harry E. Mayehw, and Rep. Harvey B. Spicer, Republican mayor of Georgetown, the measure (HB-157) is in several respects similar to the Newport Plan bill that was knocked down seven times by the House in the last session.

The new item permits such additional expenditures as are required for the purchase of cars for traffic law enforcement and the employment of enforcement officers.

It has been estimated that Wilmington will receive between $460,000 and $500,000 a year under the provisions of the bill.

Although the title of the bill proclaims that the aid fund shall derive from proceeds of the five-cent a gallon motor fuel tax, proponents of the measure have been giving it a new slant the past several days.

They now say that it is a straight appropriation from the General Fund and is not really tied in with the tax. Others who feel that if the session gets spending-happy a gasoline tax increase may be required aren't so sure about this new look. In any case the bill appropriates $2,400,000 for the biennium starting July 1. In his estimates last fall of expenditures, Mr. Boggs had allotted $1,000,000 for the plan, indicating his belief it would pass this year.

"The $1,000,000 was set up for the second year of the biennium and the way the bill first passed the House the distribution wasn't to start until then—that is, as of July 1, 1958. A House amendment changed that, directing the disbursement to begin after June 30, this year.

Other bills signed by the Governor are as follows:

To appropriate $5,000 to the Board of Post Mortem Examiners to meet office expenses for the rest of this fiscal year (HB-90).

To revise the charter of Clayton (SB-180).

To add the words, "under God," to the Salute to the Flag (HB-212).

To appropriate $200 to Sally Glynn Paris for additional salary to which she was entitled as a teacher in the Marshallton School District (SB-47).

To remove that part of Lewes known as Highland Acres from the town limits (SB-126).

To appropriate $100,000 to the State Welfare Home at Smyrna to enlarge and equip the laundry and the main kitchen (HB-131).

Man Held on Charge of Putting Ties on Track

A 24-year-old Harrington, R.D. man has been committed to the Kent County Correctional Institute in default of $500 bond after he admitted to Delaware State Police and detectives of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company that he placed two ties across the tracks, a mile-and-a-half north of here, which almost was responsible for a train accident April 11.

Thomas Griffith was arraigned Tuesday before Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway and bound over for trial to Common Pleas Court on the charge of placing the ties across the tracks.

He told police and detectives that "he just wanted to see what would happen."

The train actually hit the ties but the engineer was able to stop before the engine was hurled from the tracks.

Also investigating the case was the Federal Bureau of Investigation but the United States Attorney declined prosecution in favor of local prosecution.

State Police said they have recommended that Griffith be given a psychiatric examination. They claimed he is of sub-par intelligence and did not even know his own age.

Griffith's father is now in the Kent County Correctional Institution serving time for the slaying of a welfare worker several years ago.

Senate Passes Bill to Provide Yearly Sessions

The Senate Wednesday afternoon approved a proposed constitutional amendment requiring annual sessions of the General Assembly, which now meets every two years.

Sponsored by Senator Peter Nechay (D-Willow Grove), the proposal went through by unanimous vote of the 13 members present and with hardly a word of comment.

It now goes to the House of Representatives. To become law, it must be approved by the lower chamber this session and by both the Senate and House of the 1959 Assembly.

The proposed amendment—similar in principle to one recommended by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs—provides for sessions of 90 legislative days devoted to general business in odd years, and 30 days in even years.

Business at the even-year sessions would be limited to "bills having to do with budgetary, revenue and financial matters; legislation dealing with an acute emergency, and legislation in the general public welfare."

The last few words of this session appear to equip the bill with a built-in loophole, but none of the senators raised any questions about it Wednesday.

Would Limit Sessions
The senators accepted Senator Nechay's explanation of the proposal's intent—namely, to clamp a limit of some kind on the length of Assembly meetings. There is no limit on the length of sessions at the present time, and the 1955-56 General Assembly dragged on until the eve of last year's general election.

Limiting the number of legislative days, of course, does not necessarily limit the length of a session. A legislative day is normally counted each calendar day the Assembly meets—but it is possible to stop the legislative clock while time marches on. This could result in prolonging the 90th legislative day, for instance, for weeks or even months.

The Nechay proposal (SB-110) would make the annual session provision operative starting in 1961. It also permits the Governor to summon special sessions of no longer than 30 days.

The Senate deferred action on a bill appropriating $100,000 for flood control along the Little Mill Creek in Christiana Hundred after Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) asked if the State Soil Conservation Commission doesn't have a program of some kind in mind for that area.

The proposal (SB-200) was called up by its sponsor, Senator Wilmer F. William (R-Roselle), with the comment that he has been trying to get a flood control program under way along the creek for the past six years.

Senator Williams recalled the severe floods that followed a heavy rainstorm in the Brack-Ex area several years ago, and said residents of the area have faced only slightly less crucial problems on several other occasions.

In Control Program
He said a commission appointed by the Governor is preparing a general flood control bill that will include a program for Little Mill Creek, but as a means of being doubly sure the area gets relief he is pushing for enactment of his bill, too.

Senator Hoey slowed the measure up by recalling that representatives of the Soil Conservation Commission had said something about a Little Mill Creek program when they appeared before the Joint Budget Committee, which he heads. He said he would appreciate deferment while he checked to see if his recollection is correct, and when Senator Williams agreed the bill was set aside.

Other bills passed: Senator Williams—Exempting the Brookland Terrace Civic Club from taxation. (SB-193).

Senator Allen J. Cook (D-Kentton)—Authorizing the Kent County Levy Court to appropriate $500 to the Mid-Del Association for Retarded Children, for operational expenses. (SB-204).

Rep. Elmer Betts (D-Felton), Charles C. King (D-Smyrna), and George W. Cain (D-Harrington)—Authorizing the Levy Court of Kent County to appropriate $500 to the Kent and Sussex Association for Retarded Children for operational expenses. (HB-123).

Minimum Wage Bill Introduced

Senator Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace) Wednesday introduced a bill that would provide Delaware with a minimum wage law.

The proposal (SB-227) would require the wages of all Delaware employers to meet the dollar-an-hour minimum spelled out by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. The federal law is applicable to workers involved in interstate commerce.

It also provides for the establishment of state-wide minimum wage standard for different occupations, and these standards would be permitted to exceed the federal minimum.

The job of administering the minimum wage law would be handed to the State Labor Commission, which would be authorized to appoint wage boards to fix the minimums for any occupation.

The wage boards would consist of five persons representing a given occupation, five persons representing employers in that field, and five representing the general public.

The 14-page bill, which would be known as the "Wage and Hour Act," would be effective July 1, 1957.

Other new bills:
Senators Lemuel H. Hickman (D-Frankford), Earle M. Tull (D-Seaford), Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), and Curtis W. Steen (D-Frankford)—Giving the Governor, instead of the Sussex County Levy Court, authority to remove members of the Sussex Board of Assessment of lawful cause and to fill vacancies. (SB-228).

Senator McCullough—Appropriating $12,000 to the Christiana School District No. 44 to erect a fence around the Christiana School property.

Senator John E. Reilly (D-Wilmington)—Relating to the service of process on non-resident owners, drivers, or operators of automobiles. (230).

James Flamer Gets 6 Months In Jail Escapes

James Albert Elijah Flamer, whose home is in the Harrington area, and who during the past 10 years has spent most of his time in various jails, was sentenced to serve six months in jail when he pleaded guilty to two charges of escape in the Superior Court at Dover Monday by Judge Caleb R. Layton III.

In 1947 Flamer was sentenced to serve three years in jail on a larceny charge and on Oct. 19, 1949, he escaped from the Dover jail. He was returned to Dover from a Florida prison in August, 1951, and on Jan. 2, 1952, he escaped again.

Indictments charging him with escape were returned by the Kenty County grand jury in February of 1952 and it was on those indictments that he was brought before the court.

Flamer had been serving a sentence in the New Castle County Correctional Institution which expired Sunday and he was brought from that institution to Dover for trial on the escape charges.

Marvin V. Marker, 18, of Harrington was placed on parole for three years on a charge of robbery after his attorney informed the court that this was the youth's first criminal offense and in committing it he was guided by an older person.

Marker, with James H. Hamilton, 20, also of Harrington, had been indicted by the grand jury on robbery charges arising from their attack on Louis Outten, an aged Felton man, Jan. 16 when more than $300 was stolen from Outten.

Most of the stolen money was recovered when the two men were arrested a few days later by state police. Hamilton has already pleaded guilty to the charge but the court ordered a mental examination for him before sentence is imposed and that is not completed.

Deputy Atty. Gen. James E. Messick presented the evidence in these cases for the state.

Caesar Rodney School Notes

The Caesar Rodney Board of Education, acting as a building commission, awarded contracts for pupil desks for twenty new classrooms at Caesar Rodney and Starr Hill Schools at a special meeting held Tuesday evening April 23.

The furniture is scheduled for delivery August 15 for all twenty of the rooms, which are expected to be ready for use by Sept. 1. Sixteen classrooms are being added at Caesar Rodney and four at the Starr Hill School.

Robert E. Shilling, Elementary School Principal at Caesar Rodney, has charge of the school furniture purchase program.

The commission authorized the purchase of 350 units of combination desk and chair from the American Seating Company at $30.75 per unit; 100 desk and chair units from Garrett Buchanan Company at $19.20 per unit; and 100 desk and chair units from Brunswick Balke Collender Company at $22.42 per unit.

Messner revealed that Patsy Billings, a 1st grade teacher, has resigned, effective at the end of the school year. He said she would move to St. Louis. Mrs. William Parker, of Harrington, has been appointed to take her place.

A conference or executive session is merely for discussion and require no minutes, and none were made of the April 10 meeting, Messner said. The active work of a board must be performed in a normal meeting, open to the public.

However, Messner continued, no attempt was made to have a closed meeting April 10. In fact, he pointed out, Mrs. James Coady presented petitions for the retaining of Snow, at the meeting.

This explanation was made when Messner said he had received a letter from the Delaware State News,

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Easter services at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church consisted of the order of Holy Communion, a festival Eucharist, morning prayer, and evening prayer with presentation of Lenten mite box offering by church school pupils. Two other activities Easter day were the acolyte breakfast in the parish house and the church school egg hunt in the parish house yard.

At the early Communion service, the Rev. Edward Cosbey of Claymont was the celebrant. He and Mrs. Cosbey spent Saturday evening with our vicar and Madeline, and joined our acolyte group for breakfast Sunday morning at the parish house.

Our organist for all the Easter services was Mrs. Walter Winkler.

Our vicar's message was based on the text "And Peter."

Flowers for the altar were white—Easter lilies, colla lilies, carnations. Tulips were arranged on the organ and potted azaleas and lilies at the rear of the church. Tall green added much to the decorative background.

The following boys served as crucifers, acolytes, servers, and torchbearers at the Easter services: Robert Greer, Ralph Wooters, William McColley, Ronnie Correll, Richard Seely, Frank Welch, David Brobst, William Thompson, Ronnie Porter, Wayne Porter, Albert Lee Ratledge, Charles McNally.

A sizable group of our young people enjoyed the church school egg hunt Sunday evening. Among items to be searched for were our vicar's autograph, an article the same color as the color used in our church at Easter, the numbers of three Easter hymns, a printed program for St. Stephen's service, a blade of grass from the church yard, copy of a prayer often used at the eleven o'clock service or in the evening. William Thompson won the scavenger hunt with Carol McNally a close second.

Prizes for finding the most eggs went to the following children: John Winkler, beginners department; Charles McNally, Primary; and Roy Porter, junior.

Maundy Thursday evening Holy Communion was celebrated at St. Stephen's with the Rev. Victor Kusik of St. Mary's, Bridgeville, assisted by our vicar.

An enjoyable feature of our April auxiliary meeting was a surprise shower given in honor of one of our members, Mrs. Mabel Donophan.

It was announced at this month's auxiliary meeting that the profit from our last rummage sale and bake amounted to $65. A generous donation of sugar, flour, butter, and eggs for coffee hour sessions was also acknowledged and a vote of thanks given to the donor.

Our next auxiliary meeting will be the second Thursday in May, the night after the Diocesan convention adjourns.

Services and activities for this week remaining and next week are as follows. Tonight at 7:30, choir rehearsal; Sunday, 9:30, church school; 11, morning prayer and sermon; coffee hour at the parish house; 5, supper club; 7, evening prayer.

A gift that means a great deal to our auxiliary and our whole church is a set of 36 plates and cups of handsome imported china to be used for all parish house activities. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pippin of Wilmington, gave the china to the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's. Mr. Pippin is one of the faithful lay readers, who held services for us during the period before our vicar came to Harrington. Mrs. Pippin came with her husband to visit us Feb. 10, when a committee of the Diocesan Department of Missions came to Harrington to appraise our church and its need for new buildings.

At the Sunday service of evening prayer our church school pupils presented their mite boxes to help further God's work among needy children. During Lent members of St. Stephen's church school classes had studied the conditions of life on the island of Haiti, and the need of their Haitian brothers and sisters to know about Jesus. It is to this island that the mite box offering will be sent. The money contained in these boxes represents nickels, dimes, pennies saved from allowances, or money earned by performing special jobs at home or for a neighbor, saved by doing without candy, gum and movies. It is this sacrifice that makes the little boxes and their contents so significant. Two girls were given the honor of taking up the collection at the evening service: Cheryl Smith and Gail Keim.

Oil is sought off Nicaragua's coast.

Social Security

"What proofs do I have to get social security?" is one of the most frequently asked questions we get," Myron Milbourn, manager of the Wilmington social security district office, stated today. "It is especially important to women now that they may receive benefits at age 62 instead of 65. Knowing what proofs to submit saves time and speeds benefit payments.

"As to proof of age," he explained, "bring an old and reliable document. If you have it, bring your birth certificate or baptismal record. If not, the Family Bible or an old life insurance policy will do very well in fact any document that is both old and reliable will be of help.

"Women applying as widows, who have never failed as wives, should also bring some proof of their marriage. If the marriage certificate has been misplaced, you may obtain a certified copy of the marriage record from the county courthouse of record. In some instances, widows are also required to submit proof of age—so bring some proof along when they come in to file an application.

If you have a problem on age or marriage proofs, telephone or write your social security district office, at 504 W. 10th St., Wilmington.

Explain Mow Early Plowing Kills Corn Borers

If growers have been wondering how plowing in April can kill corn borers, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, has the answer.

He says the borers live in various stages all year, that the pests don't die when winter comes. During spring damaging borers in your corn turn into pupae—something that looks like a long narrow, brown bean in a pod. Later on, the pupae become moths that lay eggs in May and June, making worms that attack corn, peppers, potatoes, and many other plants. In July and August this cycle is repeated.

These worms then pass the winter in your old corn stalks. Unless you plow under old stalks before May 1, the worms become pupae that will turn into moths that lay more eggs, bringing corn damaging worms again. The cycle repeats itself twice a year, the agent emphasizes.

What you do by plowing before May 1 is trap most of the borers under the ground. Those worms that reach the surface will find no home, and birds and other predators will kill them.

County Agent Points Out Dairy Success Factors

An efficient, profitable dairy business depends upon the amount of milk produced per cow and the size of the herd, says George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Perhaps most important is the ability of each cow to convert feed into milk, he believes.

Vapaa cites a study at Michigan State University to back up the importance of high milk production as a money maker for the dairyman. In the study, the net income from 25-cow dairy herds was more than three times greater when the cows produced an average of 10,000 pounds of milk as compared with herds of the same size that produced only 7,000 pounds.

The study also showed the value of a good forage program in reducing feed costs and increasing the dairyman's income. When farmers used recommended forage practices, net income from herd averaging 25 cows producing 13,000 pounds of milk per cow were greater than incomes from herds averaging 48 cows and producing only 10,000 pounds per cow.

The agent points out that a dairyman should try to combine these two important factors of size of herd and high production. This is the real test of the dairyman's ability as a farmer and as a herdsman, he says. Here good records that show the response of each cow to different levels of feeding and the costs of producing milk with different feeding and forage programs become very important.

The successful dairyman today is one who studies his herd and records carefully; has enough hay, pasture, and silage when it's needed; has the cows bred when they should be bred, milks his cows dry on a regular schedule, has a planned improvement and breeding program, and is a manager of his business as well as a dairyman and farmer.

Americans bought about twice as many Italian-made shoes last year as in 1955.

Three dealers in Colombia now are handling glassware from Czechoslovakia.

Two-way Radios Purchased For Wardens' Cars

Most of the enforcement men are now equipped with two-way radios which are tied in with the State Police network. The Game and Fish Commission has been purchasing radios gradually as funds have permitted. By early fall all wardens will have radio communication in their cars.

Well-equipped and well-trained men are essential in Delaware where our staff is a small one. While the basic job is still law enforcement, a conservation officer must be a man of many talents for he is the front line of the department. A week's training course for the entire warden staff is planned for early June.

Fond Fishing is Excellent These Warm Days

Freshwater fishermen were out in large numbers over the long Easter weekend. At Wyoming Lake over thirty anglers were fishing at once catching bass, bluegills, pickerel and yellow perch. A 5½ pound bass was landed at Haven Lake, Milford Sunday morning.

Nice catches of blue gills were taken from Lake Como, Smyrna, Silver Lake, Milford; crappies from Mudmill Pond, and white perch from Garrison Lake, Smyrna.

Jake Chamberlain and his two oldest boys enjoyed a little Sunday fishing. Alfred, aged eight, is ahead so far with a catch of four crappies in one afternoon.

There is a lot of good fishing going to waste in Delaware ponds—they just aren't fished hard enough. Our state is one of the few which has virtually a family fishing license. For $1.25 a man may take his wife and children under 16 years fishing.

Delaware's fishermen should be reminded of public use facilities available to them. There are parking and launching facilities at Lum's Pond near Kirkwood, Haven and Griffith's Lakes, Milford and Fowler's Beach on the Delaware Bay south of Milford.

Trout fishermen may expect good fishing in White Clay Creek this weekend. Commission personnel made the second stocking of legal sized trout on April 23.

Live bait continues to be the most successful lure used by freshwater fishermen. The lowly fishing worm is used by more fishermen than any other type of lure and accounts for more fish being caught.

Proper Plant Spacing Brings High Vegetable Yields

Research and field tests have illustrated the importance of correct plant spacing to bring good vegetable yields, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

The seeding rate is determined by the plant stand desired and many other factors, he said. For example, lima beans in rows 36 inches apart should have about three plants per foot or row, requiring at least 40 pound of seed per acre.

For many years, watermelons have been planted 10 feet apart in rows 10 feet apart. Recently, tests have shown increased yields from planting much closer. This is also true with tomatoes, the agent said. Last year's Ten Ton Tomato Club growers who produced over 20 tons per acre put in about 4,000 plants an acre in rows five feet apart, with two-foot spaces between plants.

Tests in California have indicated larger yields of asparagus planted in five-foot rows, with the roots 10 to 12 inches apart. Current tests in the east show that similar results may be obtained here.

Closer spacing of vegetables and other crops means more fertilizer and water needed for higher yields. These factors must be considered before planting closer than usual.

For information about seeding your vegetables, contact George Vapaa at the county extension office in the Postoffice Building in Dover, or write the department of horticulture at the University of Delaware in Newark.

Control Bill Also Given Final Vote

The bingo amendment Tuesday became part of the State Constitution.

The Senate completed its two-year-long course through the General Assembly on a dramatic roll call late Tuesday afternoon. The show-down vote was 13 to 3, with one member absent.

A few minutes earlier the upper chamber had approved by an identical vote the companion bill aimed at clarifying the amendment's provisions and providing a system of controls.

The amendment, permitting bingo to be played on a local option basis when sponsored by volunteer fire companies, veteran's organizations, religious or charitable groups, or fraternal societies, had been approved by both houses last session and by the House of Representatives this year. It became law the moment Senate President Pro Tem Curtis W. Steen (-Dagsboro) announced that it had received more than the required two-thirds majority of 13 votes.

The companion bill, which establishes a five-member Bingo Control Commission and embodies several statutory limitations on how the game may be played, must be signed by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs before it becomes law.

Games Illegal Until Vote

Action on the two measures was preceded by release of a 13-page opinion in which Chief Deputy Herbert L. Cobin held that the amendment would not permit bingo to be played lawfully before approving referendums in the three counties and the city of Wilmington during the 1958 general election.

Copies of the opinion were handed around by Senate Majority Leader John E. Reilly (-D-Wilmington) to lay to rest the frequently-voiced argument that the amendment would permit the games to start immediately and before effective controls can be established.

The opinion, however, fell far short of silencing Senator Elwood F. Melson, Jr. (-D-Claymont), who continued his fight against both the amendment and the control bill in what amounted to a one-hour last-ditch stand against the proposals.

Senator Melson was joined by two Republican colleagues—Senators Thomas L. Johnson of Rehoboth Beach and Jacob A. Correll of Newark—in voting against the bills. Senator Clifford Pryor (-D-Blackbird) was absent for both roll calls.

Vote Comes Late

The vote on the amendment came late in the afternoon—and it was an on-again-off-again display which drew a gasp of relief from the preponderantly pro-bingo gallery.

As the names of members were called off by Senate Secretary Thomas F. Bayard III, it became obvious that the amendment wasn't going to get the 12 votes required for a change in the State Constitution.

In addition to Senators Melson, Johnson, and Correll, negative replies were voiced by Senators S. W. Harrison (-D-Wyoming) and Steen. Senator Walter J. Hoey (-D-Milford) went on record as not voting. The unofficial tally showed only 10 yes, and proponents moved to change their votes to "no" for purposes of reconsideration.

First to switch was Senator Reilly, and he was quickly followed by Senators Peter Nechay (-D-Willow Grove) and Lemuel H. Hickman (-D-Frankford). Senator Reilly was about to accept the amendment's defeat and move for restoration to the calendar—where it would be ready for another try some time in the future—when Senator Harrison called for recognition from the presiding officer, Senator Steen.

"I would like to change my vote from 'no' to 'yes,' said the soft spoken Wyoming Democrat. His move stunned everybody but Senator Hoey, who brought everybody to the realization that this was the turning point by asking that he, too, be counted as voting yes.

There was a quick scramble among those who had switched their votes for reconsideration to get back in the "yes" column. The result was confusion, and Senator Steen ordered another roll call. It came out 13-3.

The bingo bills had gathered terrific momentum with the receipt of Mr. Cobin's opinion—which had, been requested, through the attorney general, by Senator Reilly. In indication of how hot they were came in the afternoon, when members of the Genate took little or no interest in the House hearing on the "right to work" bill.

"THE FOLKS THAT I HAVE KNOWN"

We have a small number of pamphlets of poems of the above title, written by the late J. Harvey Burgess, late owner of The Harrington Journal and self-styled "splitter of infinitives, mixer of metaphors, demoa of the double negative, sorcerer of solecisms, perpetrator of the world's poorest poetry."

We presume he was also a dangler of participles.

There have been several requests for this booklet, priced at 25c, but we were unable to comply with them. Fortunately, however, we uncovered a limited supply of this valuable booklet recently while looking the effects of the estate.

We also have a number of pamphlets, "Hosses, Hosses, Hosses" written by Mr. Burgess, and depicting Harrington's harness-racing life. The price is 25c.

When the above-named pamphlets have been sold there will be no reprints.

THE APPLE TREE

"Don't sit under the apple tree with anyone else but me," goes the words of a World War II song. Anyone who sits under the tree in front of The Journal office had better beware.

We hauled cinders to make a solid foundation beneath it for a parking space, but found our car needed cleaning frequently, especially when the tree was in the dormant stage.

Now that the leaves and blossoms are out, the risk has been lessened, but it is still a risk.

Easter Eve there were few signs of leaves or bud. At three o'clock Easter afternoon there were numerous buds and a few blossoms from which the bees were gathering nectar, thus pollinating them to assure us of a fruit crop.

The temperature was around 90 degrees, the hottest Easter we have seen since we were a boy. By ten o'clock in the evening, the tree was almost in full bloom, a thing of beauty silhouetted against the streetlight.

As we gazed up at the tree in the night, we were surprised to see numerous gray moths flitting from blossom to blossom. How nice, we thought. Later in the evening, reading an article about caterpillars, we were astonished to learn that these moths preferred the nectar of white blossoms, that they were nocturnal, and that they would soon lay eggs from which the tent caterpillars would emerge to wage warfare on our beautiful tree.

We reminisced as to the origin of this member of the rose family. We first noticed a seedling some ten years ago beside an old fence which formerly surrounded our grass plot. The plant probably originated from the core of a store apple. The tree produces a type of Red Delicious apple seldom raised around these parts. It is large and beautiful but does not have the tartness we like, such as that found in Winesaps. Too, since we cannot afford to conduct widespread spraying operations for a single tree, the fruit is usually wormy. However, that has not stopped the children from knocking it off when it is half green.

The tree is twisted, but this appears to have strengthened it, just as the twist gives rope, twine, and thread their strength.

The tree has always had an affectionate spot in the heart of the Burgess family. Our parents came from the country and were always close to the soil. The late owner of this newspaper, J. Harvey Burgess, conscientiously checked the yield of the tree, telling us of its abundant yield. Our brother, Byron Burgess, also keeps an eye on it.

It was a calamity when Hurricane Hazel knocked off most of its fruit, but not all.

Possibly, there will come a time when it will have to go to make room for an addition to our venerable brick building. But that is in the offing. Once again, as the pink and white blossoms appear, we are reminded of Keats' "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." And again, for a short time, dreary Commerce Street has its beauty spot, the fruition of an apple-core, tossed carelessly aside by a passerby.

Delaware Food

The vegetable picture is a little better this week. The unusual weather has not affected most vegetables as much as was expected. Celery dropped in price and may be found in many stores as low as 14 cents a bunch. Lettuce is down also. Most greens are on the good buy list, as well as radishes, onions and carrots. All of these vegetables are good to excellent in quality, so with real spring weather here, why not serve lots of crisp refreshing vegetable salads.

Tomatoes, both in the carton and loose, are selling in a wide price range. For carton tomatoes the price ranges from 14 cents to 33 cents - look carefully when buying.

Fresh asparagus is more plentiful and it is time to think of freezing this vegetable. More and more of the fresh asparagus is from near by states as well as our own. Prices are beginning to drop so look over your freezing equipment, make sure you have enough container space in the freezer for fresh asparagus in general be ready when the peak of the asparagus season is here. This should be in the next two weeks.

Just about everything in the meat line went up this week, so make the most of weekend specials. Look for good buys on chuck roast again this week. Leg of lamb will be featured as well as turkey, broiler fryers and some steaks.

When buying fresh poultry, it is wise to buy those from iced or refrigerated displays and to use them fairly soon. Broiler and fryers may be kept satisfactorily for two or three days in a home refrigerator, but freezing is recommended for longer storage. The film wrapped cartons used by self-service give poultry adequate protection for freezing for a week or so, but for longer periods, a special freezer-wrap wrapper is needed to prevent excessive drying. The same thing applies to all prewrapped meats.

Cuba will have a chain of motels.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Church school 10 o'clock, Fulton J. Downing, superintendent. This coming Sunday marks the end of an era and the beginning of a new one. Mr. Downing has been superintendent for eleven years. At the recent Fourth Quarterly Conference, Mr. Downing requested that he not be re-elected for the coming year. Howard Wagner was elected superintendent and will be installed as superintendent for the coming year along with other Church School officials.

Morning Worship 11 o'clock. "The Risen Lord" will be the subject of the pastor's sermon. Anthems will be sung by both the Junior and Cathedral choirs.

The MYF will meet at 6:30 in the Chapel.

Evening worship 7:30. The Chancel choir will sing "Praise Ye The Lord" as its anthem. The "Holy Catholic Church" will be the first in a series of post Easter sermons on the development of the church. The sermon will be followed by an informal question and answer period. The decision to present such a series came as a result of numerous questions on the subject which were raised when the pastor was preaching a series of sermons on "Church Membership" just before Easter.

The choir will rehearse Thursday evening as follows: Junior choir 3:30, Chancel choir 6:30 and Cathedral choir at 7:45.

The celebration of Easter was marked by very large attendance at Asbury Church. One hundred and twenty-six persons came to the Sunrise Service at 6 o'clock. This service was a joint service of Asbury and Trinity congregations and pastors. The Chancel choir under the direction of Melvin Brobst sang "Hosanna" and "Unfold Ye Portals."

The Church School and morning worship also had record attendance. It is wonderful to see so many people in church on Easter, but every Lord's day is a celebration of the Resurrection of our Lord. Every Sunday is a miniature Easter and we need to spend part of every Sunday worship Christ in public worship with others who believe. In and through the church we have the continuation of Christ's life and ministry.

India will spend $416,000 to develop handicrafts in five of its states.

Q-What kind of pots are the best to use for African Violets, the ordinary clay flower pot, the plastic or the ceramic?

A-An experienced grower can use any type of flower pot and have success. However, I think the average person has longer and surer success by using the clay flower pots. The clay pot is porous and allows the soil to be aerated and the excess carbon dioxide to escape from the root area. These pots also make it possible for the soil in the lower half of the pot to dry out somewhat between waterings. This prevents a real problem-soggy soil.

Q-Are you going to have a vegetable garden this year?

A-If you are interested in a list of vegetable varieties, you can secure it by writing or calling the Agricultural Extension Office, P. O. Building, Dover.

The list of recommended varieties has been prepared by Robert F. Stevens, Extension Horticulturist of the University of Delaware, and includes all of the vegetables usually grown by the home gardener. A list is also available of the commercial vegetables for the commercial truck crop farmers.

Q-What is the best way to water and fertilize a tree? W. S., Dover

A-Punch or auger holes perhaps a foot deep around the drip line of an established tree and use perhaps 10 to 20 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer. Watering of established trees is rarely needed. But in newly planted trees, soak them heavily each time and regularly during dry spells.

Q-Which makes a better lawn for looks-Zoysia plugs or seeding with a prepared mixture?

A-Zoysia gives a dense-but coarse looking lawn when it becomes established. Most people prefer the finer leaved grass mixtures for appearance. The latter calls for much more care.

Q-You mentioned proportions of cow and poultry manure per sq. ft.-what amount of rabbit manure?

A-All manures vary widely in composition, but rabbit manure would compare closer with poultry manure in composition. See Farmers Bulletin 1730 on Rabbit Production for suggestions in using rabbit manure.

Q-What is the best way to replant a lawn which is too good to be completely replaced and the soil is heavy?

A-Patch it-or spot work those bad spots either in early spring or early fall. Check our lawn leaflet for details.

Q-Do you recommend pruning boxwood?

A-Only to shape up the plant or to cut out dead or diseased material. Boxwood grows very slowly.
