Soil Conservation District of Kent County Enters National Soil Conservation Awards Program

The Soil Conservation District of Kent County has entered the National Soil Conservation Awards program. It was announced today by District Chairman L. D. Caulk, of Wyoming.

Members of the Kent County District will compete against other soil conservation districts in the Delaware and New Jersey area. Non-partisan judging committees, selected from Delaware and New Jersey's outstanding exponents of the soil conservation movement, will determine the outstanding district for the period May 1, 1957 to April 30, 1958, on a basis of total points scored in performance of regular district duties.

Grand award for one member of the winning district governing body in each of the 50 competing units, and the top cooperating farmer named by that district, will be an expense-free, vacation trip to the Wigwam Guest Ranch on Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Arizona, in November or December 1958.

Members of the Soil Conservation District of Kent County governing body who will compete for the Goodyear award are: L. D. Caulk, Wyoming; C. Arthur Taylor, Harrington; Isaac H. Thomas, Maryland, and Charles Blendt, Smyrna.

National winners of the Goodyear Soil Conservation awards will be honored at the seven regular area meetings of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. Plaques will be awarded at State Conventions to the first and second place winning districts.

The very active Kent County District received second honors for the 1955-56 contest period. The results the 1956-57 contest period have not been tabulated.

Sumner Music Classes Begin June 24

For the fifth consecutive year, the Harrington Special School District is sponsoring a Summer Music School beginning Monday, June 24, in the Music Room of the high school.

Mr. Brobst, music instructor, is offering instruction in all band instruments for beginners, intermediates, and advanced students. To date, there are 89 students enrolled for this free lesson period.

In addition to the instruction periods for private teaching for the more difficult instruments, and small ensemble groups, those who qualify will meet with one of the three bands being organized for the summer. The grade school band, meeting Monday afternoons at 2 p.m. will include children who have had one or more years of instruction, the Junior High School Band for those with the same qualifications, and the Senior High School Band who are justly qualified to play the more advanced music.

Included in the program will be ball games, picnics for the grade school band, and parades for the senior band.

This instruction if offered to all children who desire to participate, the only qualifications being that their regular school work be satisfactory, find the instrument most adapted to them, and promise to practice daily. The only charge is a small application fee, although all books and pertinent materials must be purchased by the child as it is needed.

The program ends with an outdoor concert by the three bands on Saturday evening, July 20, when an old fashioned ice cream festival is held sponsored by the Band Booster Club.

Chevy's come up with the newest, sweetest, smoothest automatic drive—Turboglide. It's the first and only triple-turbine transmission!

When you see a steep downhill stretch ahead, you set the selector at "Gr" (Grade Retarder) and Turboglide helps slow you down. Try Chevy's new, nothing-like-it automatic drive. It's optional at extra cost—and worth it.

Turboglide is something really new and different in automatic drives. In the first place, there's only one forward-speed position on the control panel. There's no "Low" needed. Turboglide handles everything with the oil-smooth action of triple turbines. You travel from a standstill to top cruising speeds with never a lurch or lag to mar your motion.

Kent Home Doings

KENT COUNTY
Home Demonstration Agent

All homemakers like to make beautiful and useful things for their home. In September and October, Kent County Home Demonstration Club members will learn to make hooked mats, using the same techniques and materials that are used to make hooked rugs.

A leader training meeting on this subject was held June 4, with the second session scheduled for June 14. Mrs. John Scott, a member of the Happy Homemakers Club of Milford, assisted in teaching the class. She has had a great deal of experience in hooking rugs, and did a wonderful job of teaching.

These are the homemakers who attended the training meeting and will be teaching their clubs in the fall:

Mrs. Irene S. Raughley, Mrs. Lillian D. Johnson, Canterbury; Mrs. Florence Scott, Mrs. Mae Hayes, Houston; Mrs. Mary M. Cooper, Mrs. Ruth Nemesh, Harrington; Mrs. Mary L. Stephens, Mrs. Bertha Barber, Hartly; Mrs. Lillie M. Webber, Mrs. Edna M. Long, Cowgills; Mrs. Anna Webb, Country Lane; Mrs. Margaret S. Evens, Mrs. Ruth E. Stokes, Viola; Mrs. Marie Oughletree, Mrs. Lillian Dubin, Chestnut Grove; Mrs. Laura Griffith, Andrewville; Mrs. Emma Tarburton, Mrs. Margaret Meredith, Mrs. Emily C. Ward, Oak Grove; Mrs. Ada Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, Clayton; Mrs. Lucille Burrows, Mrs. Anne Knotts, Leipsic; Mrs. Joan Winkler, Mrs. Mary Martin, Merry-makers; Mrs. Lucy Davis, Happy Homemakers; Mrs. Lola D. Cole, Mrs. Nan Bradley, Smyrna; Mrs. Mary Weik, Mrs. Mildred Porter, Cee-W-Dee; Mrs. Helen Wolstenholme, Mrs. Mary Felty, Friendly Homemakers; Mrs. Emily Jacobsen, Smyrna.

Odd Facts

A boycott was declared against the Mai Mai beerhall for natives, in Johannesburg, South Africa, when natives heard prices might be raised. Management denied the report.

M.O.T.H. history was made in South Africa when the fourth "women's shellhole" was organized in Maritzburg. Its 10 women members named it after Nurse Cavell.

Letter to the Editor

(From Journal-Every Evening)
Sensible Aid

TO THE EDITOR: This is one housewife who doesn't agree with the league of Women Voters, who in their recent letter to you urged us to write our congressmen showing our approval of the Eisenhower foreign aid program.

Why must this present foreign aid package be an all or nothing proposition as President Eisenhower says. To support that argument is to argue that our allies and friends lack determination and capacity to help themselves and will fold up before the communist threat the moment we reduce our subsidy. Must we subsidize all non-Communist nations as a general proposition and must this help continue unlimited?

This argument, to me, gives support to those who would abandon all foreign aid. If we are just pouring our aid into a bottomless pit, what hope is there?

Our hope must be in sensible foreign aid, restricted and restrained in a businesslike but humanitarian way.

All groups who have made any serious study of the subject agree to the basic merits of economic assistance to needy nations. Granted—but must economic assistance be used as a tool for free loaders digging in for perpetual tenure?

As Mr. Charles Sawyer, President Truman's secretary of commerce and one who helped set up the first Marshall Plan program said, "Permanent strength and stability for the Western European Allies do not lie in continuing United States subsidies and grants but in expanding production and trade. We have embarked upon a program we cannot sustain, even if our gifts were wisely bestowed and effectively used."

And the facts prove our foreign aid has not been wisely bestowed, nor effectively used.

Consider: The Italian village we built that nobody wants to live in. The Iranian road that leads nowhere. The 14-mile, $3 million highway around the great hydro electric dam that doesn't exist. In Portugal, the 6-lane highway 15 miles long connecting Lisbon with the gambling resort of Estoril. The superhighway connecting King Saud's summer and winter palaces, on which he can use the 100 gold-plated Cadillacs he took home on his recent United States visit.

Is all this extravagant foolishness—saving the world from Communism? Let's see an example:

We supplied $42 million to Indonesia advocating their independence and thus angering the Dutch. But we were asserting ourselves for freedom! Indonesia, once independent, we financed from 1951 through 1956.

So—a few weeks ago, Indonesia's President Sukarno made a public speech urging his people to a "feeling of duty, national conscience, and loyalty." To whom? The Soviet Union.

No wonder that poor Marine stationed in Indonesia went berserk. The papers say he was inebriated, but surely that red carpet treatment given Russian ambassadors drove him to it.

It is hardly possible in this space to examine the administration's program in detail, but there are financial experts who say foreign aid can be cut, not sanctioned as a permanent policy.

And, if there is to be any tax relief, cut it must be.

Britain received $7 billion and a few weeks ago we excused the British government from a billion dollars worth of interest payments on their debt to us. England immediately announced tax cuts for all British taxpayers.

On Oct. 22, 1952, Mr. Eisenhower, in his first election campaign, said, "They say, 'You cannot cut taxes, you cannot end or minimize Korean losses, you cannot stop inflation—'What kind of stuff is that—don't and can't? Of course, we can and will."

Heed these words: "The United States cannot be an Atlas—it cannot, by its financial las—it cannot, by its financial sacrifices, carry all other nations of the world on its shoulders. We should stop give-away programs." This wisdom was spoken in 1952 by Dwight David Eisenhower.

We can get tax relief and the budget can be cut, starting with foreign aid.

So housewives who, like me, find it harder and harder to stretch a tax-riddled dollar, write your congressmen for tax relief and budget cuts. For, excessive taxation, as history records, has ruined many nations before.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am a totally disabled veteran and the premiums on my GI insurance policy are under waiver. If I die, will my beneficiaries get the full amount of insurance, or will something be deducted to cover the premiums I haven't been paying?

A—Your beneficiaries will get the full amount of insurance, even though your policy is under disability waiver and you are not paying premiums. Nothing will be deducted to cover the premiums you haven't paid.

Q—My deadline for starting Korean GI training comes in August, but school doesn't begin until September. Is there any way I can file my application before my deadline and start my schooling afterwards?

A—Under the law you actually must begin your GI schooling before your starting deadline. It is not possible to apply beforehand and commence training after the deadline.

Q—I am eligible for War Orphans schooling. I am living with my mother who is planning to take a Government job in a foreign country. Could I go to college in the foreign country under the War Orphans program?

A—The law specifies that War Orphans schooling must be taken in an educational institution only in the United States or its possessions. That rules out a foreign country.

Q—Is there any deadline for applying for disability compensation?

A—There is no deadline. You may apply at any time in your life. However, if you apply within one year following your discharge from service, it may be possible for compensation payments to be backdated to your first day in civilian life. If you wait longer than a year, payments may be effective only as of the date of application.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

As racing moves into June the horses are going faster and faster. The crowds are beginning to pick up now. The weather doesn't seem to bother the spectators.

No matter where I go I am always running into someone from Harrington. And, if you read the Harness Horse you'll find Emil Adams doing a very good job here. The last two starts with Braraway has made him first. The odds were good too, $24.00, $6.80 and $5, win, place and show. Harry Adams was like an old hen with her biddies. Because I stood next to him along the fence, as we had our horse, Flashy Fellow in same race. Harry was very excited.

Irene was here, but as usual I am so busy helping Dave, I don't get to visit much. Would have enjoyed taking her around. I only get to go Sundays. I don't think Irene enjoyed it too much up here. Her heart is in Harrington where her home is.

I asked, Paige Floyd, who is from Birds Nest, Va., how he liked it here. The answer I got was "It will do."

By the time this goes to press Carl Rook, who works for Mr. Clukey will be back to Harrington. He also is another that doesn't get excited about Hamburg. Ned's a very busy boy, but always ready to chat and very pleasant to everyone.

Dave is very well pleased with our two year old, Scott's Janet, out of Broadway Janet, by Ronald Scott. She was never behind in the start, but as several others said, she wasn't going to let the gate leave her. She took the top and stayed there to win her first start in 2:16.

Speedster, who is staked in the Grand Circuit all the way also won same night, but not my Flashy Fellow. Poor me.

Fourth Grade Visits Philadelphia Zoo
On Friday, May 17, the three sections of the fourth grade left Harrington about 8:30 a. m. for the annual educational trip to the Philadelphia Zoo. The three buses for transportation were supplied by Mr. W. O. Dawson of Wyoming.

The groups were chaperoned by their teachers: Mrs. Minnie Slaughter, Mrs. Amanda Quillen, and Mrs. Rhea Tatman. Many mothers of each homeroom also accompanied the group which made the trip more enjoyable.

Upon arriving at the zoo, all ate lunch on the picnic grounds. Then each small group with a chaperone started on a tour around the zoo. Several brought along their cameras and took many pictures of various animals, etc.

Refreshments and souvenirs were on sale, and many bought things for themselves, as well as gifts to bring home to other members of the family or their friends.

We met at three o'clock to start our journey home. We arrived at school about six o'clock tired, but enjoying the trip very much.

Fish & Game Notes

Fishing Report
Large bass are being caught this season from Delaware ponds. The latest report from Warden Wideman is that Col. Ephraim P. Jolls, 225 E. Park Place, Newark, caught a 7 pound 2 oz. bass at Sunset Lake near Newark.

Flounder fishing at Massey's Landing on the Indian River has been very good. Homer Weller, Boyertown, Pa., caught the largest flounder last week weighing 8 pounds, 6 oz. Jack Ayres who operates Massey's Landing awards a prize each week for the largest fish caught. Others who have been consistently landing large ones are George Donoway, Millsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin East, Seaford.

Party boats are coming into the Indian River Yacht Basin with over 100 large blues weighing from two to three pounds. The first marlin of the season was spotted this week. It will be recalled that the marlin fishing out from the Inlet was excellent last season. Some catches of porgies and seabass up to 600 and 700 per boat have been reported.

Russ Gallo, U. S. Game Management agent, reports 152 cars with boat trailer parked in the commission owned parking lot at Fowler's Beach Sunday. Trout fishing on the Coral beds has been fair.

Annual Training School For Game and Fish Personnel
Alan W. Souder, U. S. Game Management agent from West Virginia who has been teaching sessions on phases of game laws enforcement conducted a mock trial this afternoon at 2:30. Chief Warden Hearn, Supervising Warden William Wideman and Cowgill Barnard, and assistant to the coordinator, Austin D. Smith assisted Souder in the trial that drew on the information that came out in enforcement sessions during the week.

Sessions Thursday led by Game and Fish managers Henry Cofer and Robert Grahad stressed the importance of variety of food and cover conditions. It was pointed out that most of Delaware's farmland lacks suitable nesting and rearing cover for rabbits. This type of cover can be supplied by Commission sponsored wildlife plantings.

Mrs. Elizabeth Caulk, Chief of Information Education urged the group to make use of the educational facilities within the department. The department has an outstanding conservation library, some of the best films in the conservation field and educational literature for distribution. Personnel must be, first, well-informed themselves before they will be in a position to assume their full share of responsibility in their communities in help people pursue and enjoy their outdoor interests to the fullest. Mrs. Caulk further stated that multiple use on all public lands administered by the Game and Fish Commission is the policy of the department. Examples of this policy can be seen every day throughout the state. This weekend at the Petersburg Wildlife Area, 200 Kent County Boy Scouts will hold their annual camporee. Sunday the Wyoming - Camden Lions Club will hold its annual family picnic on another part of the area.

E. B. Chamberlain instructed members of the class individually in the operation of the department's movie projector.

The telephone company must be financially strong in order to continue to grow

The demand for telephone service in Delaware keeps on growing—and we must keep on expanding to meet the demand. Our yearly retained earnings cover little more than a penny of each dollar we spend for expansion. And our rate of earnings—the amount we earn from each dollar invested in the business—has been declining. So we cannot even begin to finance expansion from our earnings.

In the last three years, we have spent $19 million to expand
At the end of 1956 the total amount invested in the equipment for Delaware's telephone system was more than $50 million. In the last three years alone we have spent $19 million for telephone expansion and service improvements. It has taken this much to match telephone growth with Delaware's growth. But our job is far from finished.

Growth in the next five years should be even greater
Over the next five years it will take about $39 million more in construction expenditures for us to keep pace with the booming growth of Delaware's industry and population. We will need more buildings and building additions, more central office equipment, more wire and cables and telephones.

The money for our expansion must come from investors
Since we cannot finance expansion from our earnings, most of the money must come from investors. People will invest in telephone expansion so long as, and only so long as, they are confident of a fair return on their investment. That is why we must be financially strong. For only a financially strong telephone company can fulfill its responsibility to provide the best possible telephone service to everyone who wants it . . . and at the lowest possible cost.

Youth Burned in Fire

At Bowers Beach

Richard Clothier, 16, of Lansdowne, Pa., ran through flames from the second floor of a cottage at South Bowers Beach Sunday morning and was burned on the back and arms while escaping from the doomed summer house.

Firemen said the bay resort might have been wiped out if the wind hadn't made a fortunate shift, blowing flames away from neighboring cottages.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Clothier, escaped more easily by climbing out a second-floor window to a porch roof. Neighbors got them down with ladders.

Fire companies fought the fire, which is believed to have started from hot embers in the fireplace which were scattered by winds coming down the chimney.

Clothier was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital and was reported in good condition. Volunteers came Magnolia, Frederica, North Bowers, South Bowers, and Carlisle of Milford.

News Notes

Nine Students To Attend Music Camp

Nine students from the Harrington High School will attend this year's Vocal Section of the Delaware Music Camp held at Wesley Junior College for one week beginning next Monday, June 17.

The singers are all members of the high school glee club, and each have had a sponsor who contributed half of the tuition fee, the other half being provided by the students themselves.

The students and their sponsors are as follows: Dwight Hackett, Philip Holson - Harrington New Century Club; Geraldine Reed, Jane Hughes, Anne Perry, and Mary Jo Pitlick - the Horace Quillen Student Fund provided through the Asbury Methodist Church Chancel Choir; Emily Ann Brown, Frances Tharp - the Harrington Rotary Club; Kitty Lou Smith - Trinity Methodist Church.

Melvin Brobst, instructor in music education at the local high school, will be on the staff this year as a counsellor and instructor, as will Miss Elva Rae Smith, an alumnus of the high school as well as the Vocal Camp and who is presently enrolled at Hiram College in Ohio.

This year's music camp will have two sections, a vocal section in Dover, and a string section at the St. Andrew's School in Middletown. The vocal section will be in charge of Don Craig who was present last year and is an instructor at Fred Warring Summer Workshop, choral director for the Telephone Hour. The string section is in charge of Powell Middleton, assistant Professor of Music and director of Symphony Orchestra at State Teachers College, West Chester, Pa.

A public concert by the vocal camp chorus and the string orchestra will be given Sunday afternoon, June 23, at the Field House in Dover, beginning at 2 p.m. and to which there is no admission charge.

The chorus will also sing at the Vesper service the following Sunday, in Philadelphia during the convention of the National Education Association at Convention Hall. They will later in the evening attend a concert by the Robin Hood Dell Symphony Orchestra being directed that evening by Dr. Howard Hansen at the Dell itself.

This is a very valuable musical experience for these young people, and they are to be congratulated that they have an opportunity to be a part of this state-wide program. Their sponsors and parents are to be commended for their interest in this worthwhile endeavor.

State Contests at 4-H Short Course

Three state contests, public speaking, talent and a dress revue, will be held during the state 4-H club short course June 26 to 29 at the University of Delaware, according to Wayne Bath, acting state 4-H club leader.

County winners, one boy and one girl, will vie for state honors in public speaking during the general assembly June 29. Contestants from New Castle County will be Stephen Patterson, Forest Oak 4-H Club; and Janet Pierson, White Oak 4-H Club. Nancy Thistlewood, Houston Cardinals 4-H Club; and Fred Gramp of the Oak Grove Blue Hens will be Kent County entrants. From Sussex County, the contestants will be Robert Lord, Greenwood Hi-Flyers 4-H Club, and Bonnie Milspaw of the Dublin Hill Club.

Three talent groups from Sussex County to compete June 28 are Barbara and Linda Messick, Dublin Hill; Ailenn Short and Neta Lutrell, Bridgeville Live Wires; and Janet Lloyd, County Seat Club.

Talent contestants from Kent County will be Sharon Johnson, Houston Cardinal 4-H'er; Fred Wiebel, White Oaks club; and Linda Conrad, Oak Grove Blue

Hen club.

New Castle County contestants will be selected later this month.

Public speaking contestants will give a five to ten minute talk on some phase of club work. Talent contestants will perform acts of their choosing.

The girl winner in the public speaking contests will receive a set of silverware, and the boy a 19-jewel wristwatch. The three top talent entries will be presented with Schaeffer pen and pencil sets, given by the State Link Association.

Bath said the dress revue June 28 will be open to any 4-H member enrolled in a 4-H clothing project.

Entomologist Urges Checking For Wood Ticks

"People walking outdoors, especially in uncultivated fields, should check themselves—and their children—for wood ticks that might have been picked up along the way."

So says a University of Delaware entomologist. Dr. Richard F. Darsie, Jr., warns that the ticks, also known as American dog ticks, are prevalent and active right now in Delaware.

"Although some of the ticks aren't more than blood-sucking pests, others may be carrying the germ that causes Rocky Mountain spotted fever," Dr. Darsie explains.

Usually the ticks will be found on dogs, he adds, that won't be harmed except by being bitten. The ticks get on dogs—and people—by sitting on the tips of grass and weeds. The ticks do this in search of a blood meal.

When people find unattached ticks on their bodies, they should carefully remove the pests and kill them in a bottle of alcohol or kerosene.

Ticks that have imbedded themselves should be removed only with tweezers. Fingers may squash the insects, possibly releasing the fever germ in the wound.

Wood ticks have eight legs, are dark or reddish brown, have some white coloring, and are up to one-half inch long.

Dr. Darsie recommends seeing a physician as a safety precaution when imbedded ticks are found.

He suggests a new repellent, diethyl toluamide, to use when entering an area known to be infested with ticks.

Two ounces of 50 percent diethyl wettable powder, or one ounce of 40 percent chlordane wettable powder in one half gallon of water per 1,000 square feet of vegetation makes a good killing spray.

Improvement in Soil and Water Technique Expected

Improvement in soil and water management technique are expected to result from the recent visit of two eminent Dutch scientists to the Kent County Soil Conservation District.

Dr. C. H. Edelman, a soil scientist, and Dr. J. M. van Staveran, an engineer, are on a month's tour of coastal areas in nine states from Texas to New Jersey. In each state they have observed local problems of water control and soil management with Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Fred Mott, Soil Conservationist for Kent County, acted as host for the two internationally known experts while they visited several local farms with the conservation service specialist in soils and drainage engineering.

The Francis Bergold farm, east of Dover, was the first stop where irrigation to tomatoes and potatoes from a dugout pond was observed, and irrigation water management problems were discussed.

The next farm visited was the Ernest Zimmerman farm, east of Dover, where irrigation of potatoes from a deep well and various rotations of potatoes were discussed. The growing of potatoes on poorly drained soil was of great interest to the visitors.

A complete form drainage bedding system was seen on the White land Garrison farm on the White Oak Road. The last stop was at the Bombay Hook Migratory Waterfowl Refuge where the group observed large dams that control salt and fresh water for better wildlife management.

When asked if our marshlands would make good cropland, Dr. Edelman observed that, "By draining the water out of the marsh soil it will allow air to enter the soil, and oxidation will occur to form a very acid soil. This acid condition would pose a tremendous problem to bring the pH of the soil up to required amounts for agricultural crops."

The field studies will conclude with a seminar at Soil Conservation Service Headquarters in Washington May 29 and 31.

Havana, Cuba, expects to more than double its hotel accommodations during 1957.

Of Nicaragua's 1,250 miles of all-weather road, only 245 miles are paved thus far.
