Fred B. Greenly, Jr., of Harrington was installed as Worshipful Master of Temple Lodge No. 9, A.F. & A.M. at the regular meeting June 27. Mr. Greenly is the son of Mrs. Mary M. and the late Fred B. Greenly, Sr., of Harrington. He is married to the former Miss Betty Pooley of Jacksonville, Fla., and is the father of three sons. Mr. Greenly is engaged in poultry raising, operating a large poultry and turkey farm between Harrington and Felton. Mr. Greenly is a member of Asbury Methodist Church of Harrington, a stockholder and director of the Kent and Sussex County Fair Association and a past president of the Lions Club of Harrington. He is a graduate of the Harrington Public Schools and served his country in the Navy in 1944-46 during which time he served as Navy electrical aviation instructor. In 1954-55 he served as Kent County Levy Court Commissioner. Other than being a member of Temple Lodge No. 9 he is a 32 degree Mason, member of the Delaware Consistory, Shriner, member of Boumi Temple AONMS of Baltimore, Evergreen Forest No. 49, T.C.L., and the Square and Shield Club of Delaware.

Other officers installed were: Charles O. Gleason, senior warden; Henry Kurale, Jr., junior warden; P. M. Eugene M. Sharp, Jr., secretary; P. M. Edwin P. Messick, treasurer; Ward T. Hitch, senior deacon; Chester C. Coffin, junior deacon; James C. Holland, senior steward; Forrest F. Banning, junior steward; and George Davis of Geo. "E", Tyler. Members of the Property and Finance Committee are: P.G.M. M. Haswell Pierce; P.M. Calvin W. Wells, and P. M. Allan C. Lynch.

Worshipful Master Greenly and his staff of officers are looking forward to a busy and eventful year for Temple Lodge No. 9 during the coming months.

Noble Grand Robert Price is general chairman of the event.

The British pound is now worth less than a third of its pre-war value.

The basic wage in Australia's capital cities now is $29 a week. Greece has eased income taxes.

Ena Evans Weds George VonGoerres

Miss Ena I. Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evans of Williamsville Road, Houston, became the bride of George M. VonGoerres, son of Mrs. Herbert VonGoerres, of Harrington, at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Saturday, June 22 at 2 o'clock. The Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. performed the double ring ceremony. It was Mr. Symonds' first wedding since he was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood June 1.

The church was banked with tall green shaffleria. Flowers on the altar were white Easter lilies, magestic daisies, and gypsophyllia. White lilies were used on the organ and in the baptismal font the traditional seven-pronged candelabra, as well as the office lights on the altar were lit just prior to the service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Harry W. Evans. She wore a gown of white lace and net, the full skirt in tiers of lace, and the fitted bodice encrusted with pearls, with a high neckline and long sleeves. The veil was three-quarter length and her cap was of lace and pearls. She carried a white orchid on her prayer book.

The matron of honor was, Mrs. Nancy J. Parsons, Jr., of Garden City, Pennsylvania. She wore a blue brocaded silk gown with chiffon outlining the neckline and a very small hat of velvet with yellow flowers and veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white flowers.

The junior bridesmaids, Misses Pamela Parsons and Gail Ann Evans, both of Garden City, Pa., wore blue dotted swiss dresses with full skirts and halos of yellow snapdragons. They also carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white flowers.

Herbert Von Goerres of Georgetown, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Russell Legates of Harrington and M. Palmer Evans of Garden City, Pa.

The bride's mother was dressed in dusty rose chiffon and wore a purple orchid corsage and white accessories. Her hat was small and covered with flowers. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk dress and had a purple orchid corsage and white accessories. He hat was also white.

Roy Soukup of Wilmington played the wedding music including "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

After the wedding a reception for the families and close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents on Williamsville Road. Approximately 65 guests enjoyed seeing the bride and bridegroom cut the three-tiered wedding cake.

The bridal couple left on a honeymoon after the reception, their destination a secret. After a week's trip they will be at home in an apartment at 114 Doran Street, Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holloway and Mrs. Maude Hill have been spending some time at Rehoboth as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lord.

Trash Collections

The city trash will be collected Wednesday, west of the railroad, because of the 4th of July holiday. Trash, east of the railroad, will be collected on the usual Friday.

There are now 17 jute mills in East Pakistan, Duca reports. Haiti fears that its 1957 coffee crop will be the poorest in years.

Brazil hopes to produce 23,415,000 barrels of cement a year by 1960.

FEED EFFICIENCY IN BROILER PRODUCTION

Remarkable progress in feed efficiency in broiler production in past few years is illustrated here by Dr. Arthur T. Ringrose, poultry scientist with the University of Delaware School of Agriculture Substation Division at Georgetown.

Broiler today, weighing 3 3/4 pounds, goes to market at 9 weeks of age, after consuming only 7 1/2 pounds of feed, (pile at left). In 1954, 9-week-old broiler weighed only 2 3/4 pounds and consumed 8 1/4 pounds of feed. Improved rations and strains of birds have made possible 15 per cent more growth on 10 per cent less feed. Feed saved is represented by pile at right. Reports on poultry research will be feature of annual Farm Field Day, August 14 at Substation Division farm.

JOS. GRAY HURT IN TRUCK WRECK IN WHICH ONE PERSON IS KILLED

Joseph Gray, 34, of Harrington, was injured and another person killed early yesterday morning in a rear-end collision of trucks on U. S. 13 south of Laurel.

Gray is in Nanticoke Hospital, Seaford, with a deep laceration of the forehead, laceration and swelling of the left ankle, and severe shock. His condition was described by state police as satisfactory, but X rays are to be made.

The fatality is Ken Orsburn, 28, of 1316 Chesapeake Ave., South Norfolk, Va. He was pinned in the wreckage and pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Medical Examiner, Dr. Joseph Elliott, of Laurel. The body was turned over to Vollie Gray, of Sussex County.

State police at the Bridgeville station said the accident took place at 4:30 a.m., 2.4 miles south of Laurel. Police said both vehicles were proceeding north.

The leading vehicle was a truck owned by Norman J. Johnson, of Onancock, Va., and driven by William T. West, 30, Negro, of Daughtery, Va.

Behind it was a tractor and semitrailer, owned by V. E. Green, Inc., of Norfolk, and operated by Gray. Graham was a passenger in the Gray vehicle.

State police said the accident occurred when the right front of the Gray vehicle struck the left rear of the truck driven by West.

West is being held on a $500 bond as a material witness. Manslaughter charges are pending against Gray, police said.

Gray's vehicle was demolished and considerable damage was done to the truck driven by West, police said.

COTTON FITS HIS SUMMER CLOTHES NEEDS

The clothes a man owns are not necessarily what he would prefer if he could buy exactly what he wanted. Ask the man on the job or the man at leisure about his summer shirts and slacks and he'll mention cotton first. He owns more slacks of cotton than any other fiber. Practically all his business shirts and most of his sport shirts are cotton.

These conclusions, says Miss Lavonia Hilbert, clothing specialist at the University of Maryland, are based on a personal interview survey conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Over 2000 men, 16 years-old or older, were asked for their preference in several summer wardrobe items.

Cotton was by far the favorite for shirts and for Bermuda shorts. Cotton also edged out rayon and wool for top performance for summer slacks. Swimming trunks were preferred in knitted fabric.

But for two other important items in summer clothing—suits and sport coats or jackets—wool took the lead. Men owned more summer shirts and jackets in wool than any other fiber, with cotton and rayon second.

When asked why they liked cotton for shirts and slacks, they said, "It's cool."

Hi-Grade Dairy Sold To Parker & Hughes

Parker & Hughes this week announced the purchase of Hi-Grade Dairy, effective July 1, from Fred S. Bailey.

Bailey, a retired railroad man, was one of the founders of the firm, which has been in business some 20 years.

Benjamin Hughes, of the Parker & Hughes firm, said that the personnel of the dairy company would be retained. Hughes added he would manage the dairy firm while his partner, William Parker, will manage the firm's other enterprises which include a canning factory and farmland on the Burrowsville Marshy Hope road and farmland near Sandtown.

The dairy will maintain its present services, delivering milk in Harrington, Felton Farmington, Houston, and rural areas.

Those present were Mrs. Doris West and Mrs. Caroline O'Brien both of Seaford, Miss Ruth Pederson, mother and daughter, New, Mrs. Ethel Lawler, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Golden, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bischoff and son, and Mrs. Elizabeth West all of Wilmington and Mrs. William G. Wechtenhiser of Harrington.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Mable Toland, Mrs. Susie Messick, Mrs. Mable Lewis, Mrs. Ethel Lawler and Mr. and Mrs. George Goldner stopped for ice cream and cake.

Felton Man Hurt In Scaffold Fall

A 40-year-old Felton man is in serious condition in Delaware Hospital following a six-foot fall from a broken scaffold while at work Monday.

Herman Short, Jr., R.D., Felton, was rushed to Kent General Hospital and later transferred to the Wilmington institution, where he was found to be suffering from lacerations and possible head injuries.

Short, a long-time employee at George and Lynch, Inc., contractors, was working on a sewer list station being constructed at South Governors Avenue and Wyoming Avenue, Dover. He was down in the 28-foot pit, rubbing concrete, when the scaffold collapsed and he plummeted down.

His condition is listed as "serious," according to a Delaware Hospital spokesman.

Sgt. Jehu M. Davis To Train at Ft. Knox

Sgt. Jehu M. Davis Jr., of Harrington, a member of the Seaford unit of the 317th Tank Battalion, USAR, will leave tomorrow for two weeks' annual unit training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Leaving from Milford will be Capt. Wayne W. Kline, Pfc. William H. Davis, Pfc. Parker L. Turner, and Pvt. Norris L. Kinnikin.

Jeffers to Coach Three Teams

Brad Jeffers, former Wilmington High athlete, will coach Harrington High's first football team, J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington schools, announced this week.

Jeffers also will coach the basketball and track teams, and direct boys' physical education. He succeeds Dave Snow in these capacities.

Harold McDonald will assist Jeffers in the football venture and continue as baseball coach. Norman Cotter will be an assistant coach in basketball and baseball.

A graduate of Muskingum College in Ohio, where he excelled in football and track, Jeffers returns to Delaware after coaching four years in Urbana and West Liberty, O.

He was called the winningest coach in his area. During the last two years, his football teams won 18 of 19 games, varsity basketball 33 of 38, and reserve basketball team earned a place in the district basketball tournament in 1956. His West Liberty team last season was ranked 12th in Ohio's Class AA.

Jeffers is married to the former Mary Elaine Honeychurch, a registered nurse from Wilmington. They have two children, James Thomas and Mary Elizabeth. They plan to move here about mid-August.

Harrington will play eight games in its football debut. The schedule:

*Sept. 30, Millsboro, away; Oct. 7, Lewes, home; Oct. 14, Bridgeville, home; *Oct. 21, Caesar Rodney, away; Oct. 28, Caesar Rodney, home; Nov. 4, Seaford, away; *Nov. 11, Milford, away; Nov. 18, Laurel, home; *Night.

U. S. firms in Scotland now employ 12,293.

Air service Portugal to Brazil, set for 1956, thus far has not been started.

ASSEMBLY ENDS WITH SCHOOLS, ROADS BILLS HANGING FIRE

The first part of the 119th General Assembly came to a fitful end shortly before 7 a.m. Tuesday, with a number of items of legislation, generally accepted as important hanging fire.

In this group were the $45,000,000 school construction program for 1957, the $22,000,000 highway construction program, the omnibus bond measure authorizing the state to borrow $7,805,000 for the erection among others, of a State Board of Health building and buildings at both the University of Delaware and the Delaware State College.

May Return in August Although the legislature is in adjournment—after 94 legislative days and one calendar day—until Jan. 6, it was considered likely the members will be called back before that time. For one thing—the Senate is certain to be convened by the president pro tem to consider a judicial appointment by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs in August.

The last legislative day began at 2:35 p.m. Monday in the House and ended about 6:45 a.m. Tuesday in the Senate. It was conducted in a Babel-like confusion of rumors, angry conversations, difficult conferences, noisy fans, disappointed advocates of dozens of bills that got nowhere, and hard talk on both floors.

Until midnight it appeared that the session would be recessed again for two days, a week, two weeks—nobody was sure. For a while there was a Senate move to quit until July 8. There was no magic in the date except that it is a Monday.

Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle), the House majority leader, got wind of that and started to pack up. "I've got to get a job. I can't get along much longer on this $19 a week," he said. But then he accosted several of his House colleagues and got a firm agreement to oppose a two-week quit.

Board Measure Fails The session ended finally simply because the members couldn't pass any more bills. The last item called up in the House, for instance, House Bill 419 sponsored by Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington), was the omnibus bond measure. It needed a three-fourths majority, or 28 votes. It collected 16 which melted to 13 as three members changed for reconsideration.

"That's it," muttered Mr. Shockley, "I'm going home." He stayed around a while, as did most of the House members. But that was 6:20 a. m. and 20 minutes later, seeing that business at the old Trading Post was at a standstill, Mr. Quigley made the parting motion.

Within a few minutes the Legislative Hall was almost empty. Only in the press room and in the janitor's lounge was there any activity.

One reason the members couldn't transact any more business was that the Democrats and the Republicans were stalemated on the school construction bill. This was the crux of the difficulties. The Republicans insisted that the $45,000,000 program, contained in House Bill 296 which the House had passed, had to pass the Senate. The Senate came up with its own version—a bill sponsored by Senator Walter J. Hoye (D-Milford), chairman of the Finance Committee, calling for a $6,765,000 program. The Senate defeated this bill shortly after midnight, and the Senate majority would have nothing to do with the House bill, That was it.

Political Conferences There were more conferences, of course, with former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel and former U. S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell, Jr., together with Garrett E. Lyons, Democratic state chairman, representing the Democrats from time to time. For the Republicans Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson, Henry J. Ridgely, Jr., the Legislative Reference Bureau attorney, Ellwood S. Leach, aide to Governor Boggs, Senator Thomas L. Johnson (R-Rehoboth), and Rep. James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), House minority leader, did most of the talking for the Republicans.

At one point the conferees came up with a list of 27 bills that looked like an agenda for getaway. Although none of these bills was marked it was significant that at least four were foiled.

Corbit Armory Here Named For Civil War Hero

The new Delaware National Guard Armory at Harrington, which will be dedicated this summer, is named for one of the bravest but lesser-known Civil War heroes of America, Capt. Charles Corbit of Delaware.

As head of the First Delaware Calvary's Company C, with the Union Army in Virginia, and only 130 men under his command, Corbit provided one of the most courageous and spirited episodes of the war between the states at a time when Confederate forces could not afford even an hour's marching delay or loss of a single man.

The Corbit engagement with Stuart's southern forces, then en route to Gettysburg and a meeting with Lee's main units, took place at the small country town of Westminster, Md. Official war records of both sides pay tribute to the small Delaware band which, about 4 p.m., on June 29, charged boldly into Stuart's line of march just outside the town.

Corbit, then only 25 years of age, was a volunteer soldier, a descendant of Englishmen who had been with William the Conqueror and William Penn in their settlements. Branches of his family settled in Pennsylvania and Delaware, and although Quakers in later years, "they were never afraid to risk life, fortune, and liberty in the cause of human right," a contemporary historian of the Civil War wrote.

The flurry at Westminster, Md., in which several Delaware officers lost their lives, took place in the town which connected both Washington and Baltimore by branch railroads. Lying 45 miles north of Washington, the town lay directly in the advance path of the Stuart forces en route to Gettysburg, 30 miles distant.

Stuart's troops, having crossed the Potomac, were noticed approaching Westminster, and Corbit, acting on what later was termed his own spirited responsibility, activated his small squadron of some 70 men, most of them inexperienced. Stopping only at the town tavern to request orders from his commanding officer, which were freely given, Corbit and his crew dashed wildly down the main street, careless of whether it was a mere detachment or Stuart's whole division, of whose actual presence he (Corbit) was still entirely ignorant.

Corbit called "draw sabres" and led the charge against the astonished enemy," according to Maj. Gen. James H. Wilson's account of his U. S. Volunteers' activities.

"The daring and the shock of this movement were not only surprising but overwhelming to the enemy. It necessarily overthrew his head of column which it is said had already been massed at a turn of the road, and compelled it to recoil and to reform under cover of the oncoming reinforcements."

Corbit was quickly checked, his horse shot from under him, and the Delawarean captured. About half of his men were taken prisoner. Stuart, an admirer of courage, freed the Delawareans the next day, after telling them they should be fighting for the Confederacy, not against it.

Aftermath of the skirmish had its historical importance, for it was one of several interruptions suffered by Stuart, delaying his meeting with Lee at Gettysburg. Historians vary in their emphasis on this point, contemporary Civil War accounts mention the Corbit charge and its value in delaying Stuart who subsequently met with other engagements and had to leave his schedule path to the major battle.

JOHN WESLEY COOK

John Wesley Cook, 77, Woodside, died in Kent General Hospital, Dover, Tuesday morning. He was born in Delaware and was a retired farmer. He was the husband of the late Lillie Cook.

He is survived by a son, Bryan Cook, Woodside; three daughters, Mrs. Ethel Billings, Woodside; Mrs. Hazel Hutchins, Dover, and Mrs. Mildred Berghorn, Smyrna, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; three brothers, Thomas, Clayton, Earl, Dover, and James, Clayton; three sisters, Miss Viola Cook, Kenton; Mrs. Mamie Shockley, Clayton, and Mrs. Sallie Carter, Riverside, N.J.

Funeral services will be held from the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, today at 2 p.m. Interment will be at Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

The Rhodesian Railroad handled a record 10,401,521 tons of freight in 1956.

Now Operating Milford Hospital Its New Laundry

Monday the Milford Memorial Hospital will officially commence operation in its new laundry. This latest addition to the ever expanding facilities of our local hospital was the direct result of the progressive thinking of the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation. The total cost of this project came from the Ford grant made to the hospital under the Foundation's $200,000,000 hospital program which was announced in December of 1955. Our hospital was one of 3200 voluntary non-profit, non-governmental hospitals in the United States and its possessions which received such grants. They were given for the extension of any program of improvement of hospital service. The fund could be used for: 1. Improvement of or addition to facilities or service. 2. Addition to or training of personnel. 3. Research.

In announcing completion of the new laundry building, G. R. Lorenz, Administrator of the hospital, stated, "This was one of the most vitally needed additions to our hospital since completion of the new drug wing and nurses' residence in 1953."

The building is of cinder block and brick construction, matching the already existing buildings on the hospital grounds. It was designed by Calvin Clendaniel of Lincoln. John L. Briggs & Co., of Georgetown were the general contractors.

The equipment, the latest design of the American Laundry Machine Company, includes a new washer, tumbler, extractor, flat work ironer, and press unit. Since the new wing was opened in 1953 the continuous increase in the number of patients being cared for has nearly approached the point of exceeding the potential output of the present laundry. In fact, to keep up with the tons of linen needed, it was being operated on a nine hour day as a matter of routine.

The new laundry, with its new equipment, cost $44,374. This new facility, with its modern equipment, promises a great increase in the efficiency of the laundry operation.

Clarence Abbott

Clarence Abbott, 71, husband of Ella Abbott of Felton, died Saturday in Smyrna. A retired painter, he had been a life long resident of the Felton area.

Surviving are two brothers, William G. of Houston; Rodney Abbott; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Moody, Mrs. Florence Harris, and Mrs. Emma Jones, all of Chesapeake, Pa.

Services were held in the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, Tuesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. Larry Renner officiated and interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

Caesar Rodney School News

Caesar Rodney School officials are still in need of teachers to complete the 1957-58 staff. In the high school an English teacher and a social studies teacher are needed. In the elementary school at least five teachers are needed, mostly to take care of additional sections. The school also needs an instrumental music teacher in the elementary school grades.

Letter to the Editor

The city is a lonely place. For a boy or girl with no place to play but the crowded streets, it can be very lonely. Tall buildings are no substitute for tall trees. Throwing a ball against tenement brick wall doesn't give the feeling of freedom that throwing the same ball in a neighborhood sand-lot does. A garbage-strewn alley doesn't compare favorably to the grassy green of a backyard.

The life you and I take for granted is not available in a broken home, or a home where six children share one room, a home where the cost of sickness often takes what money there is for food. This is the background of many of the Fresh Air Fund children.

It is again nearing the time when these children from New York City will be coming to our community under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary. Wouldn't you like to ask a child to share your home life for a period of two weeks? Your generosity will do something rewarding for you too.

The two arrival times this year are July 10 and July 24, and your invitation should be extended at least ten days prior to these dates. Call Mrs. Frank O'Neal, Jr., Harrington 8855, for further information. You'll be glad you did.

Wool Pool Prices Show Premium

Sixty Delaware sheep growers delivered 17,375 pounds of wool into a pool at Kent Sussex Fairgrounds, July 15, and demonstrated once again the value of selling farm products cooperatively on a graded basis. For the fourth consecutive year, pooling growers have received a premium in price ranging from 8 to 17c per pound for their wool.

The pool was conducted by the Delaware Sheep and Wool Association, a non-profit organization which also has held two lamb pools, conducts a sheep show each year at the fair, and holds regular meetings to learn about latest management practices. William Gray of Harrington is the president, Mrs. Vera Rambo, of Houston, the secretary, and Mrs. Don Concilio of Dover the treasurer.

The price this year was 64c per pound for the best grades of wool, and about 90% of the graded wool brought this price. Ungraded wool the same weight brought only 49 to 50c per pound at the farm or at the local auctions.

"It stands to reason that when a group can deliver a large quantity of a graded product to one place, then buyers will be interested in paying higher prices," say Don Concilio, who was in charge of the pool this year.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

The ice cream festival held last Friday evening was a success. Besides serving many friends and church members at the tables in the parish house yard, we sold a number of packaged quarts of cream to those who wished to put the home-made ice cream in their freezers for future treats. Four flavors were available — pineapple, vanilla, cherry, and chocolate. The cakes included different flavors of chiffon and angel food, besides the usual devil's food, spice, yellow, and white cakes. For our next festival, we hope to have the use of a deep freezer that can be put in the parish house to keep the ice cream firmer in hot weather. Mrs. Gilbert H. Keim was general chairman of this affair. At the June vestry meeting, held last Monday at the vicarage, announcement was made that the church had acquired a booth at the fairgrounds for this year's Kent-Sussex Fair. Members of the vestry discussed drawing up committees to take turns serving food at the booth, during this last week in July. Mrs. Clarence Reed made the white satin kneeling cushion, which was used for the Von Goerres—Evans wedding at St. Stephen's Saturday. Mrs. Reed has given the cushion to our church for use at future weddings. To help with the Vacation Bible School program, three volunteers from St. Stephen's have spent each morning these past two weeks at the Harrington Elementary School, and have assisted the boys and girls in their lessons, recreation, handicraft, and singing. Miss Viva Reed, Miss June Thompson, and Mrs. George A. Thompson are members of the primary department staff. There will be a final program tonight at eight o'clock at the school auditorium, when the children will receive certificates for attendance and participation in the 1957 Vacation Bible School. Approximately 100 boys and girls are enrolled. Acolytes who took part in the 11 o'clock service Sunday were Robert Greer, Gary Porter, Wayne Porter, Billy McColley, Bill Thompson. We are pleased to know that Mrs. Robert L. Nelson is in Milford with her sister, Mrs. Connor Mitten, North Walnut Street. Mrs. Nelson was discharged from Wilmington Memorial Hospital last Saturday and will remain at her sister's home during her convalescence. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Soukup, Jr., of Wilmington were guests of the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. at the vicarage Saturday. Mr. Soukup, organist at Union United Presbyterian Church, played for the wedding at St. Stephen's Saturday afternoon. Mr. Symonds will be at Camp Arrowhead, the Episcopal camp of the diocese, on Rehoboth Bay, for the next two weeks. He will give the young people there religious instruction and take part in all the other camp activities as well. Each night he expects to drive back to Harrington, in order to resume his many duties at St. Stephen's. Service and activities for this week and the next are as follows: Sunday, 8 a.m., Holy Communion, 11 a.m., morning prayer and sermon; 7 p.m., evening prayer; Tuesday, 10 a.m., Holy Communion; Wednesday, 8 p.m., healing service at Seaford. Veterans News QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Q—I want to sell my GI house because I just got a job in another city. Is it possible to find out in advance whether VA will restore my GI loan rights? Or must I wait until after I sell, and then find out? A—You may find out in advance whether your GI loan benefit will be restored by making a request to the VA office that guaranteed your original loan and furnishing the reasons why you want to sell. Remember, however, your GI loan benefit cannot be restored until VA is relieved of responsibility on the original loan. You can accomplish this by paying the loan in full, or by having the new purchaser do so. Q—My GI term insurance policy lapsed a month ago because I forgot to pay my premium. Will I need a physical examination in order to reinstate it? A—Not necessarily. You may reinstate within three months from the date of lapse without taking a physical examination, provided you are in as good health as you were when the policy lapsed, and submit a signed statement to that effect to the VA. Q—Part of my Korean Conflict military service was spent as a cadet at West Point. Does that time count toward my eligibility for Korean GI training, A—No. Under the law, time spent as a cadet or midshipman in one of the Service academies may not count toward GI training eligibility. Q—I am a six-month enlistee, and I have just completed my active training duty. If I need VA hospital care, under what conditions could I get it? A—For you to be eligible for VA hospitalization, you must have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions for a line-of-duty disability, or you must be receiving compensation for a service-connected disability. This warning came from Myron Milbouer, district manager of the social security office in Wilmington. He explained that an application filed before July by a disabled worker could be effective as of the time his disability actually started if certain work requirement were met a tha time. After June 30, a disabled person cannot freeze his social security record for a period beginning earlier than 1 year before the date he applies for the freeze. This means that many workers who have been disabled for a long time will not be able to get their record frozen if they do not apply before June 30. Any person in the area who is severely disabled and who worked regularly in work covered by social security before becoming disabled should immediately contact the social security district office located at 504 W. 10th St. in Wilmington. For the convenience of local residents, a representative from the Wilmington office is in the City Office Building, Milford, the first, second and third Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Get in the fine-car swim at the low Ford price! There's no need to pay a "fancy price" to enjoy fine-car luxury. Ford is lowest priced* of the low-price three, yet offers values you'd expect only in cars costing far more! To start with, you can easily pay twice the money, and not find lines that can hold a candle to Ford's for loveliness, or just plain good taste. Fine cars are smooth—and that's another place Ford really shows its stuff! Ford delivers its famous V-8 power smooth as a whisper. That's because only Ford takes the pains to electronically balance each engine while running under its own power. Not even the makers of the most expensive automobiles go this far to bring you super-smooth performance. Ford rides fine-car smooth and quiet, too. You can thank the new "Inner Ford" for that. Ford, for instance, has a swept-back front suspension that actually "rolls with the punch" of every road bump. Ford's rear springs automatically adjust to give the right ride for every road. And Ford keeps things quiet, with the most sound insulation in its field. Fine cars are built to stay solid. So's Ford! Ford has the only frame in its field to make use of rugged tubular steel beams. No car at the price offers so many roof-strengthening beams. Expensive cars aren't built of thicker body steel or with sounder engineering skill. Then, of course, in Ford you can have all the power assists and other conveniences found in fine cars. And they cost far less in Ford. *Yes sir! In every feature, every part, Ford is the fine car at half the fine-car price. Come in and see! Get in on the fun and savings now in the new kind of FORD SIMPSON FORD, Inc. PHONE 3234 P. O. 296 U. THE GOOD OLD FOURTH OF JULY

The days of the good old Fourth of July, in Harrington, float lightly on the sea of reminiscence. In fact, were it not for the recess from labor, there would be little to remind us of the Declaration of Independence which released us from foreign tyranny.

Most of the celebrations of yesterday are but a memory. Fortunately, the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post No. 7, American Legion, has been doing much the past few years in promoting sales of the Flag and advising citizens of the days on which it should be displayed. On the Fourth of July, this display is about all that reminds us of the Fourth of July that used to be.

We regret the passing of those times, but we find no cause for public condemnation. The hard roads and the automobile have provided other forms of diversion.

But, in the early twenties, it was different. The town baseball team usually played two games—one here and the other away. The local game was played on the high-school diamond.

During the afternoon, there might have been a matinee harness race at the fairgrounds. And at one time, baseball games were played in the infield of the race track. We remember it well because a fellow from Greenwood, one Byron Gibson, who played for Harrington, stole second when it was occupied. The late Pop Richards shouted, "Where in the blank did that feller come from?"

We have always liked fireworks. They are illegal now, but we had them in those days. They were lighted on the Fourth and night before. We remember vividly one third of July. As we came in town, it began to rain but the boys were out with the firecrackers. Right along where Book Harrington's Hardware Store is, a group of miscreants were throwing the explosives under the heels of prominent citizens. After one particularly loud detonation had scared the daylight out of a citizen, who was not known for his generosity, the afflicted one shouted, "I'll give $10 to find out who threw that firecracker."

No, the Fourth of July is not what it used to be.

Youth, Girl, 16, Hurt in Crash

A Wilmington youth and a teenage girl were injured when thrown from an automobile in an accident about 4:40 a.m. Saturday near Greenwood on Route 13.

They are Randolph L. Williams, 20, of 1300 North Madison Street, and Grace Clayman, 16, of 111 Clayton Street, Wilmington.

According to state police, Williams' car, going north, ran off the highway, slid about 273 feet on its right side, came back onto the road, turned over, and slid another 85 feet on its top and side, and then came to rest on its wheels.

Williams, police said, suffered a possible brain concussion and cuts and bruises. The girl suffered a fractured collar bone and bruises. Both were in satisfactory condition Saturday in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

State police said Williams apparently was traveling in excess of 75 miles per hour. Charge are pending.

Delaware Food Market Report

It's a small step from June weddings to Fourth of July celebrations and with the hot summer days here it takes planning to get it all in without being worn out. These are the days that need a bit of foresight. Plan your Independence Day now using the abundant supply of meat and seasonal fruits and vegetables. Try to plan the menu for the Fourth with an eye for ease, freedom and holiday fun.

The Fourth is just one week away so let's plan a day of Independence for you, "the chief cook and bottle washer." To start the day off right, serve heaping bowls of fresh berries glistening with sugar and rich, fresh cream. Blueberries and raspberries are plentiful, the quality is excellent and prices are low enough for everyone to have a "heaping bowl full." Serve these berries separately or combine them. The next course could be eggs; toast (spread with golden fresh butter) and plenty of cold milk and hot coffee. Even though eggs are continuing to climb in price, they are still "cheap" so give everyone two eggs instead of one.

Your family picnic can be fun in your own backyard. Or you may have the spirit of adventure and want to search out a new spot far afield. Whatever your choice, here's a good picnic rule—keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. For that main meat why not serve barbecued chicken. Dad will enjoy helping with this, so will the rest of the family. These young tender chickens are selling around 39c a pound. Steaks are also a choice meat to broil over a camp fire—look for special sales featuring them for 69c to 79c a pound. Of course hot dogs, cold cuts and other picnic foods are on special sales now. With white potatoes so plentiful, why not make a big bowl of potato salad? Be sure to keep it cool, though. To go with the barbecued chicken and potato salad, have plenty of crisp celery, cauliflower and carrot sticks. For dessert serve big wedges of cold watermelon. Oh yes, have plenty of ice tea for the grown-ups and ice-cold lemonade for the children.

If you are at home at snack time give everyone a big tall glass of their favorite milk shake—put plenty of ice cream in to make it thick. This, with cup cakes, is a wonderful way to end a lovely day.

Farm Field Day To Be Held August 14

Preparations are underway for the annual Farm Field Day to be held August 14 at the Georgetown substation division of the University of Delaware School of Agriculture.

J. Frank Gordy, substation director, reports that a number of demonstrations have been started that will be at their peak at the time of the Field Day. In addition, visitors will get a first-hand look at actual experiments in poultry, field crop, vegetable and fruit production. Gordy urged all Delaware farm families to mark the date August 14, on their calendars and reserve it to attend the educational event.

A batch of 4500 chicks will be started June 18 on a nutritional experiment that will be used by research workers to study new aspects of trace minerals and other additives in poultry diets. This experiment will be one of several Farm Field Day attractions for poultrymen, Gordy said.

Another batch of chicks—4000 of them, will be started on July 2 in a demonstration of synovitis control. Synovitis is one of the more serious diseases of poultry and effective control measures can help poultrymen avoid losses. The demonstration will show the effect of high- and low-level antibiotic content in feed, and will include additional treatments recommended in the broiler area. The start of the chicks is timed so there will be a visible difference among the different groups of chicken August 14—the Farm Field Day date.

Experiments in which irradiated lima beans are being used in a search for new strains more adaptable to Delaware growing conditions will be of interest not only to growers, but to the general public as well, Gordy said.

Many of the standard varieties are not suitable due to hot, dry conditions during the blossom period. As a result, many of the flowers drop off before the pods are formed. The irradiated beans produce mutations, and it is among these that School of Agriculture scientists hope to find strains that will have good pod set and produce high yields under Delaware weather conditions.

Other experiments and demonstrations that will be highlighted on the day-long program include: use of chemicals to control weeds in tomatoes, asparagus and strawberries; testing of fungicides to control disease on late-planted potatoes and to control crown rot of cantaloupes; rotational practices to control root-knot nematodes, which stunt or kill many valuable commercial

Crops

Irrigation of potatoes and tomatoes; breeding work in peppers to find varieties resistant to tobacco mosaic virus; cucumber variety trials; variety tests on grain sorghums, barley, rye, wheat, and oats; corn breeding and hybrid evaluation; castor bean variety tests; soybeans; use of green manures to determine the influence of nitrogen and cover crops on corn yields; insect control; and many others.

Current field work at the Substation division farm includes routine cultivation, spraying for weed, insect, and fungus control, as well as the special work required in carrying out the experiments.

FIRST among Delaware bankers to recognize the value of BLUE CROSS!

The five gentlemen shown above represent the five largest banks in Delaware with the longest record of group membership in the Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. For a combined total of 106 years they have continuously offered the protection of Blue Cross-Blue Shield for their employees, groups now numbering more than 1,300 men and women and their eligible dependents.

Convinced that Blue Cross afforded the most health care for the money, these five banks enrolled in the Delaware Plan twenty or more years ago. They have continued with Blue Cross because, as their organizations grew and developed a diversity of health insurance needs, Blue Cross also grew—and developed the flexibility to meet their changing requirements.

These men are representative of the many Delaware executives whose sense of business management and appreciation of health investment values led to their choice of Blue Cross-Blue Shield. May we furnish you the facts about the Delaware Plan? Write or phone your nearest office for information.

The Wilmington social security district office, at 504 W. 10th St., will be open all day Saturday, June 29, in addition to its normal week-day schedule...

Milbouer pointed out that people who have been disabled and unable to work for a long time must apply before June 30 for disability benefits...

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with the Wilmington district office right away...

"To get social security disability insurance benefits at age 50 or over, or to have your social security record frozen," said Milbouer, "you must have social security credit for at least 5 years of work in the 10 years before you became disabled..."

"In addition, you must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes you unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity. It must be the kind of physical or mental condition which will show up in a medical examination or tests, and it must have lasted for at least 6 months and be expected to continue for a long and indefinite time..."

Boggs Proclaims Independence Day

Urging Delawareans to display national and state flags and to "pause long enough during the holiday period to give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings we enjoy as citizens of this Great Republic," Gov. J. Caleb Boggs today called for observance of Thurs., July 4, as Independence Day.

In his proclamation, the chief executive said, "the people of the thirteen original colonies first gave expression to the ideal of the inherent right of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" through the Declaration of Independence, signed in Philadelphia, July 4, 1776.

Governor Boggs also pointed out that the State of Delaware through Caesar Rodney and others, played a prominent role in bringing about adoptions of the Declaration, which he said "was conceived in the Spirit of Spirit of Freedom under God" and provided "a fount of hope and promise for generations yet to come."

The full proclamation follows: Whereas, the people of the thirteen original colonies first gave expression to the ideal of the inherent right of man, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and whereas, the Declaration of Independence proclaimed to all the world that this nation was conceived in the Spirit of Freedom under God, guaranteeing to all men certain unalienable rights and promise for generations yet to come; and whereas, Thurs., July 4, 1957, is the 181st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the "General Congress assembled" in Philadelphia; and whereas, the State of Delaware, having had such patriots as Caesar Rodney and others, who played important roles in bringing about the adoption of the Declaration and ultimately paving the way for Delaware to become the First State in the young union; now therefore, I, J. Caleb Boggs, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby proclaim that Thurs., July 4, 1957, shall be properly observed as Independence Day in Delaware and order that our national and state banners be properly displayed from all state and public buildings, and urge our citizens to pause long enough during the period to give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings that we enjoy as citizens of this Great Republic.

Illegal To Sell Caps For Cap Pistols

It is illegal in the State of Delaware to sell caps for cap pistols, which were once among major items as noise-makers for the celebration of Independence Day. This warning comes from Acting State Fire Marshal William R. Favinger, who said he had been queried on the subject recently.

Mr. Favinger said that his interpretation of the state law regarding sale of fireworks has been upheld in a recent ruling by Attorney General Joseph Donald Craven who wrote on May 29 as follows: "You are correct in your interpretation that the word 'cap' in Title 16, Section 6902 (Delaware Code) means rolled caps for cap pistols. You should continue to inform people that they should not be sold in this state."

Mr. Favinger pointed out that some people raised exception to his interpretation of the law and for that reason wanted to quote it in full for any persons in doubt. The two sections of the law follow: Title 16, Chapter 69, Section 6901 - Selling or possessing fireworks; exceptions - No person shall store, sell offer or expose for sale, or have in possession with intent to sell or use, discharge or cause to be discharged, ignited, fired or otherwise set in action within this State, any fireworks, fire crackers, rockets, sparklers, torpedoes, roman candles, fire balloons or other fireworks, or substances of any combination whatsoever designed or intended for pyrotechnic display except after having obtained a permit as provided in section 6903 of this title. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any person established and manufacturing fireworks of any or all kinds in this state on September 5, 1939.

Section 6902 - Discharging rifle, etc., or other explosives; exception - No person shall fire or discharge...

WHEN YOU BUY AN AIR CONDITIONER

BARGAINS CAN BE EXPENSIVE

When the weather gets really hot, don't get caught with a "bargain" air conditioner that's built to be a bargain - or is a relic of a discontinued line - an appliance that just can't take it.

Room air conditioners differ in performance. Some give you greater cooling capacity than others. Some give you greater dehumidification than others. Some are more efficient than others... while many don't give you anything near what you paid for.

But with General Electric you know you'll get what you pay for... They're designed to give you superiority in all areas of room air conditioning performance; tested by the rigid standards of the American Society of Refrigeration Engineers; and listed by the Underwriters' Laboratories. So buy the brand you know it pays to buy - General Electric... it's your assurance of cooling comfort and dependable top performance. Prices are competitive, too!

Telephone Company Asks For General Rate Increase

A petition for a general increase in telephone rates throughout the state was filed Friday before the Public Service Commission by the Diamond State Telephone Company.

The proposal increase would provide $1,800,000 additional revenue annually for the company. But, the company stated, "after reflecting taxes and other expenses related to income will provide about $900,000 additional net earnings with which to pay interest and dividends."

The commission is studying the proposal and has promised public hearings on the matter "to determine the reasonableness of the company's request."

The rates are to become effective July 21, if approved.

The average increase for residence subscribers would be approximately three cents a day.

The petition and tariffs provide for:

1. A statewide increase in the level of exchange rates.

2. Increases in service connection, move and change charges.

3. Increases in the rates for extension, branch exchange and private line stations, for chargeable alphabetical directory listings, for supplemental equipment, for foreign exchange mileage between contiguous exchanges, for suspension of residence service and for local channels furnished with private line telephone, teletypewriter, and leased interchange channels.

4. The application of the present charges for time-of-day service—10 cents from public and semi-public telephones, 5 cents from other telephones—in the exchanges in which such service has heretofore been furnished without charge.

5. Extensions of the base rate areas of the Bedford, Dickinson, Milford and Seaford Exchanges.

For the Dover Exchange in Kent County the increase would be from $4 to $5.05 for a private line; from $3.50 to $3.95 for a two-party line and from $3 to $3.25 for a multiple line along with the 10 per cent tax. The Georgetown exchange does not have two party lines.

Albert E. Rose, manager for the company, pointed out that total telephone plant investment in Delaware has more than tripled since 1945.

Need New Capital
"Over the next five years," he said, "we plan to spend about $39,000,000 on construction, or almost $8,000,000 each year. Such a program represents nearly twice the average annual amount spent during the past 11 years. Funds for this new construction must come largely from new capital invested in the business."

"In the past four years, our plant investment increased 62 percent; our expenses increased 52 per cent and our revenue increased only 43 per cent. As a result, the rate of return has decreased 37 per cent.

"Because of this," he said, "the company's ability to attract additional capital on terms which are fair to its existing investment has become impaired."

The commission, in its petition to the commission, said that a large portion of the additional investment has been required in the past and will be required in the future to provide more building space, switching equipment and lines with which to interconnect telephones, as well as more telephones "and to replace retired telephone plant at current prices, which are much higher than the original cost of the replaced facilities."

"The net income resulting at existing rates from additional plant investment does not keep pace with the increase in investment, and the company's rate of return continues to be on a declining trend," the company stated.

Public Hearings

Commission Chairman Norman B. Baylis said:

"Undoubtedly, the commission will hold public hearings on this rate application to determine the reasonableness of the company's request. As the commission pointed out in its last biennial report to the Governor, it is a matter of commission policy that all proposals by utility companies to increase rates or fares are made subject to public hearings in order that the various interested parties may be heard and the commission's determination of the matter may be based on all the relevant facts that can be developed."

The telephone company last requested an increase in rates in 1953. At that time the commission granted only one-third of the request. Diamond officials appealed to Superior Court, which granted a higher increase in rates.

This decision was appealed to the State Supreme Court which handed back to the PSC the question of what the rates should be. The PSC maintained the rates as recommended by the Superior Court. In 1955 they granted a request by the company for a continuance of these rates to improve and expand its equipment.

Public Auction Sale

The State Highway Department of the State of Delaware will offer at Public Auction Sale on FRIDAY, JULY 12 At 1:00 P.M. (DST) Rain or Shine at the site a one and one-half story frame (gabeston shingle siding) bungalow, having an approximate size of 36' 4" x 24' 4" with a rear attached kitchenette of 7' 6" x 9' 6" including an entry porch having two bedrooms, one kitchen, one living room, one dining room, one kitchenette, one bath, and having a basement heater (hot air). An entire new roof was installed in 1956.

The purchaser will be expected to remove the building from its present location on or before August 15, 1957. All masonry foundation walls are to be removed to the natural ground line and placed in the seller's yard.

The State Highway Department will provide a moving permit to the successful bidder to move the building a distance not to exceed a one mile radius from its present location.

The successful bidder will be required to pay to the State of Delaware 20% of the purchase price at the time of the sale by either cash or certified check made payable to the State Highway Department.

The State Highway Department reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids obtained at the time of the sale.

The building will be open for inspection from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 11th (Thursday) and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 12th (Friday).
