Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has posted an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. There are reasons for this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to travel in this one to know just how terrific it is. Try it, this week!

Home Demonstration Agent Understanding young children is a never ending problem. Many articles and books have been written to help mothers of young children, and many more will be.

One excellent booklet on the subject has been written and published by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Health Education and Welfare. The title is: "Your child from one to six," and the revised edition is available, without charge, from my office.

It includes sections to help parents with almost any problem they face in dealing with the one to six-year-old child. The chapter "How Children Grow," discusses physical, emotional, and social growth. Other chapters include: Guiding children's imagination; constructive discipline; children's food needs; things that bother parents; keeping children well, the sick child, emergencies.

If you would like a copy of this booklet, write to: Home Demonstration Agent, Post Office Box 30, Dover, Delaware.

Poultry Culling Profitable

Culling poultry is a profiable practice—for several reasons, says George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

First, culling reduces feed costs -it takes 25 to 30 cents a month to feed a hen. Culling also reduces mortality and gives more room to good layers so they'll lay better. And while the birds are in good condition, they'll bring more money when sold as meat. Finally, the agent adds, culling increases flock egg production.

He suggests five ways of catching birds when culling. A catching hook or net can be used, or the job can be done at night with a flashlight. Birds can be guided into three four by five Phone 3634 Herd Digest Roughage Without
