Taylor Products Moves to Milford

Taylor Products, manufacturers of fibre-glass products, and dispensers of storm doors, storm windows, and boats, is moving to Milford, William Taylor, owner, said Wednesday.

The enterprise, founded here several years ago, is moving from its quarters on Clark Street, near U. S. 13, and is locating in a building on Rehoboth Cutoff and Mispillion River Bridge which was formerly occupied by a plumbing concern.

Taylor said the move was motivated by the desire for better quarters, on a highway, and that such quarters were not available here.

He added that the manufacturer of the fibre-glass products was being carried on at his home near Marvel's Crossroads. He will also continue to sell boats at an outlet in Dover on the U. S. 13 by-pass.

Oscar Wyatt

Oscar Wyatt, 76, retired merchant, died Tuesday at the home of a son, Leslie Wyatt, at Greensboro, following a long illness.

He had lived in and around Greensboro for the past 34 years. He was a member of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the Rawlings Funeral Home at Greensboro with the Rev. Grayson H. Wheatley, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Greensboro Cemetery.

Besides his son, he is survived by another son, Henry Wyatt, of Felton, a daughter, Mrs. Ray Burton; of Delmar, six grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and a brother, Edgar Wyatt, of Llanarch Hills, Pa.

Engaged

Clara L. Andrews

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shockley of Woodside, announce the engagement of their granddaughter, Clara L. Andrews, to Harry Richard Crouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crouse Jr., of Ridgely, Md.

Miss Andrews is a graduate of Caesar Rodney High School and is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at Dover. Mr. Crouse is a graduate of Ridgely High School and is with the eastern Shore Sign Company of Ridgely. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Police Group Sets 3 Dances

The eighth annual ball sponsored by the Delaware Association of Chiefs of Police—a three-day event with dances in Wilmington and Seaford—will be held on Oct. 29, 30, and 31.

Featuring Johnny Long and his orchestra, billed as "young America's favorite," the dances will be held in the Seaford Fire Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 29 and 30, and in the Gold Ballroom of the Hotel Dupont on Thursday, Oct. 31.

Robert G. Cathcart, Westover Hills chief of police and a trustee of Camp Barnes, is chairman of the committee planning the annual ball.

In announcing dates for the dances and the signing of the contract, Chief Cathcart noted that all proceeds from the dances are allocated to the cost of maintaining and operating Camp Barnes, the summer camp for needy boys of the state on Assawoman Bay in Sussex County.

The committee announced also that there will be a "special feature" to be disclosed later after arrangements are closed by contract.

Johnny Long, a southpaw violinist brings with him some of his own stars including blonde Sandee Moore, vocalist, trombonist-singer Mickey Gravine and the Long Glee Club.

Stepped-up Traffic Enforcement
"Motorists returning from vacation trips and visitors going through report stepped-up traffic enforcement all along the way," Clifford T. Foster, Jr., President of the Delaware Safety Council, declared yesterday. He commended local and state police officials for strict enforcement activities.

"The tightening of enforcement measures throughout the country is a result of the Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents campaign—the combined effort of the public and the enforcement agencies to avoid a repetition of last year's staggering traffic toll," Mr. Foster said. "The stepped-up reduction of death and injury if citizens will back it up. Law-abiding citizens who plan motor trips in the near future will especially welcome the assurance of increased protection from the reckless and careless few."

He explained that many careful drivers enjoy motor trips, but they often hesitate to take them because they know they will be exposed to so many irresponsible drivers on the road. The stepping up of police and court action protects the careful driver from the unsafe acts of others, and at the same time it serves as a valuable incentive to him to continue his safe driving practices.

Fire Destroys Minner House

Fire destroyed the residence of Lloyd Minner early Tuesday evening at Masten's Corner. Local, Felton, and Houston firemen extinguished the blaze, which originated in an oil cook stove.

The alarm was sounded here at 5:30 p.m., with trucks returning at 7:30 p.m. Value of the frame house was estimated at $4000, with contents valued at $1500. House and contents were a total loss.

DECREASE OF TEN IN ACCIDENTS INVOLVING FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

There was a decrease of ten in the number of accidents involving damages in excess of $100 reported to the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department during July of this year as compared with the same month of last year.

The total number of these accidents reported during July, as having taken place on the streets and highways of this State, were 661 as compared with 671 for the same month of last year.

Wilmington and New Castle County had 453 of the accidents reported for July, an increase of nine over the same month of last year.

Kent County had 86 of these accidents reported during July, which was a decrease of ten over the total reported for July of last year.

Sussex County had 122 of the accidents that were reported during July of last year.

Of the drivers involved in the accidents reported during July of this year, 238 were from out of the State, and 193 had no insurance. There were 278 persons injured in these accidents.

Total damages resulting from the accidents reported during July of this year was $284,988 as compared with $296,805 for July of last year and $183,975 for July of 1955.

During the month of July the Financial Responsibility Division suspended the registration and operational privileges of 98 motorists for failure to comply with the financial responsibility law.

Traffic Counting Stations Record Increase for July

Traffic at all of the traffic counting stations in operation along the main highways in this State recorded an increase for July in comparison with the same month of last year, except along US Route 13, at a point north of Smyrna.

The traffic along Route 13 at this point has shown a decrease, in comparison with the former year, each month since the new connection with the Chesapeake Bay Bridge was opened to traffic late last fall.

However, the decrease for July was somewhat less than some former months, it being 5.67 per cent, while in some former months the decrease percentage was in double figures.

The traffic count report, as prepared by the Traffic and Planning Division of the State Highway Department, showed the daily average of vehicles counted as being 17,553, which is 1,056 less than in July of last year. The largest single day was Sunday, July 14th when 24,397 vehicles were counted.

As a comparison in traffic at this point, the increase for the month of July of last year over July of 1955, in the daily average of vehicles counted was 1,015.

No traffic count was available at two traffic counting stations for the month of July. The one along U. S. Route 202, the Concord Pike, North of Talleyville, was out of service because of construction activities, while the one along U. S. 113, at a point north of Milford, was out of service due to damage by a motor vehicle.

Along State Route 2, the Kirkwood Highway, at a point east of Newark, the increase was 17.77 per cent with the daily average of vehicle counted being 9,836, an increase of 1,484, over July of last year. The largest single day was Friday, July 19th, when 12,439 vehicles were counted. The State Highway Department is constructing a dual highway along this route at the present time.

Boost Battle Due at Resort

Slaughter Beach plans to fight the local water company's rate increase proposal at a Public Service Commission hearing that began yesterday morning in the Kent County Courthouse at Dover.

Town Council and a group of citizens figure the new rates are exorbitant, and they've hired two lawyers to present their case against the Slaughter Beach Water Company's proposal at Thursday's hearing.

Council's Counsel

Former Judge Daniel L. Layton, Sr., represents council, and a citizen's group has engaged its own attorney in Claud Tease of Milford. The water company, believed to be the state's smallest, is expected to be represented by Houston Wilson of Georgetown.

Th water company, which the PSC says has 147 customers, is owned by George H. Draper of Milford. He has told the PSC he can't make the company a paying proposition on the present rates.

The company proposes a boost retroactive to Jan. 1 in the present rate schedule of $3 for connections, $15 for seasonal use, and $25 for year-round use.

New Rates

The new rates would include a minimum $25 rate for seasonal or year-round service for each house that has a kitchen and bathroom. This would be topped off with charges of $7.50 for an additional sink, $1.50 for an additional washstand; $3 for an inside shower; $3.50 for an additional toilet; $8 for an additional complete bathroom; $1.50 for an additional inside spigot; $2.50 for an additional outside spigot; $9 for an outside hose connection; $2.50 for an outside shower; $5 for an outside shower and spigot; $2.50 for laundry tubs; $5 for a washing machine; $3 for a dishwasher; and $15 for a water-cooled compressor.

The charge for turning off or turning on would be $1.50 and the charge for commercial use (there is none at present) would be $60 for one sink and one bathroom.

Mr. Case participated in the last PSC phone rate case, handling its appeal through Superior Court and the State Supreme Court. Mr. McLean has been a consultant to the commission on several previous cases.

The phone rate hearing is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. in the Kent County Courthouse at Dover. Mr. Baylis said the first phase of the hearing will be given over to introduction of evidence by the telephone company—a process that may carry over into the next day of even longer.

After that, he said, the hearings will be recessed for "five or six weeks" while the state's case is prepared. Individuals protesting the increase will be permitted to voice their complaints when the hearing is resumed for presentation of the state's case.

The PSC Chairman predicted there will be "two to three-week" recess following the hearings second phase, after which it will be reconvened to hear rebuttal and closing arguments.

The telephone company is expected to be represented at the hearing by its vice president and general counsel, J. B. King, and by the Wilmington law firm of Berl, Potter and Anderson.

Diamond State filed a petition for the rate increases with the PSC on June 21. It sought permanent approval of the new rates by July 21, but on July 10 the commission suspended this deadline till Oct. 17.

The suspension order provided time for the hearings, but under a provision of the statute—and not through commission action—it also permitted the telephone company to put the rates into effect, temporarily, on July 21.

The telephone company has posted $1,800,000 bond with the PSC to cover the refund of additional revenues collected under the new rates in the event that they are turned down by the PSC after the hearings.

ADDISON M. BRADLEY

Private funeral services for Addison M. Bradley, age 77 of Crumpton, Md., were held Mon., Aug. 12, at 10 a.m. from Lane's Funeral Home in Church Hill, Md. Mr. Bradley, a retired farmer, died after a long illness. Survivors include two children, one son, William A. Bradley, of Boothwyn, Pa., and one daughter, Mrs. Roland Stanton, of Felton; also one grandchild, Mrs. Roger Minner, Milford; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Finley and Mrs. Ada Poits, of Crumpton, Md.

Interment was in Church Hill Cemetery.

THREE TO HELP STATE PREPARE PHONE CASE

The Public Service Commission has lined up three out-of-state consultants to review evidence and develop the state's case in the upcoming hearings on the Diamond State Telephone Company's rate increase petition.

The hearings are scheduled to start next Tuesday, Aug. 20, with the introduction of evidence by the telephone company, which is seeking a rate increase it estimates at about 3 cents a day per subscriber.

Norman B. Baylis of Lewes, chairman of the PSC, said Tuesday the agency has enlisted the services of Richard W. Case, Baltimore utility lawyer; David A. Kosh, Washington utility consultant, and E. Edward McLean, a consultant from Baltimore, who has participated in previous PSC hearings.

The three outside experts will help Frederick P. Whitney of Georgetown and H. James Conaway, Jr., of Wilmington, the commission's two lawyers.

This is the first Delaware case in which Mr. Kosh himself has been involved, although assistants from his office have participated in previous hearings. Mr. Baylis described the utility consultant as "a rate of return expert, one of maybe a dozen in the country."

Mr. Case participated in the last PSC phone rate case, handling its appeal through Superior Court and the State Supreme Court. Mr. McLean has been a consultant to the commission on several previous cases.

The phone rate hearing is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. in the Kent County Courthouse at Dover. Mr. Baylis said the first phase of the hearing will be given over to introduction of evidence by the telephone company—a process that may carry over into the next day of even longer.

Everyone enjoyed a beautiful day. The picnic lunch included fried chicken, ham, salads, pie, cake, cookies, and ice cream.

The tenth annual reunion will be held the second Sunday in August, 1958, at Wheeler's Park.

Mortgage Financing Offered by VHMCP

If you are having trouble finding mortgaging financing, the Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program may be the answer to your problem.

This is the program established by Congress in 1954, to extend the flow of private mortgage funds into areas where previously it had not been readily available.

VHMCP's services are available to all persons in communities under 25,000 population and to members of minority groups anywhere. The reasons for these limitations are: mortgage money is generally less plentiful in small communities than in large cities, and members of minority groups wherever they live often have more difficulty obtaining mortgage loans than in others.

VHMCP accepts applications for assistance in obtaining financing for the purchase or construction of a one to four family residence and refers the applications to private lenders participating in the program. It does not accept applications to private lenders participating in the program. It does not accept applications for farm loans, home improvement loans, vacation, or business property loans.

The success of this program has been extremely gratifying. During the first twenty eight months of operation ended June 30, 1957, a total of 29,000 individuals has been able to obtain home loans through VHMCP. Nearly $270,000,000 in mortgage funds has been made available to these home buyers by private investors which had never made loans in the areas involved prior to the existence of VHMCP.

For information or applications for assistance to obtain financing relating to properties located in Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, or West Virginia, write to Mr. Malcolm MacFarlane, Executive Secretary, Region IV, VHMCP, Room 827, 811 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

One possible explanation of the dead fish, unofficially was that they may have been trapped between the two low, stone dams and ran out of food in the little area.

Samples of the water are being analyzed in an effort to track down the reason the fish died.

It was reported that a large number of dead fish were found in the same section of the river last Friday.

Bankers to Meet Sept. 6 at Beach

Mrs. Howard Wagner is a member of the Ladies Committee for the fall outing of the Delaware Bankers Association to be held Fri., Sept. 6, at the Rehoboth Beach Country Club.

General chairman of the event is William S. Jefferson, cashier of The Sussex Trust Company, Lewes and Rehoboth Beach.

The committee on arrangements is composed of C. William Hasfings, assistant cashier, Baltimore Trust Company, Selbyville; Charles M. Gee, assistant treasurer, Equitable Security Trust Company, Smyrna, and Reese Wilson, vice president of Colonial Trust Company, Wilmington.

The program includes a golf tournament at 1:30 p.m., with a flower arrangement demonstration by Betty Atkins, of Lewes, at 2:30 p.m., in the dining room of the Carlton Hotel.

A social hour, from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., will be followed by a dinner at 6:45 p.m., at the Country Club, and dancing from 9 to 12 p.m., to the tunes of the Star Lighters.

River Clogged By Dead Carp

Dead fish, predominantly large carp, cluttered a small area in St. Jones River, near the water cooling tower of the Dover Power Plant, Monday.

It was estimated that more than 100 were piled against east of tree limbs and rocks below the north side of the Division Street bridge.

The water area in which the fish came to grief is roughly 100 feet square, bounded by the banks of the stream and two low stone pile dams. The water was comparatively shallow when the lifeless fish were first noticed.

A police officer on traffic duty at the intersection noticed the jam of dead fish about 4:30 and a city crew was called to arrange to clear the stream of them.

The spot where the fish jammed up is some distance south of the High Silver Lake Dam. Water in the lake has maintained about a normal level in spite of the drought, it was said. The dead fish were regarded as obviously inhabitants of the stream and not of the upstream lake.

Carp is not classed as a desirable type of fish. In 1954, an operation to rid Silver Lake of carp and other undesirable types of fish was carried out by the State Fish and Game Commission.

One possible explanation of the dead fish, unofficially was that they may have been trapped between the two low, stone dams and ran out of food in the little area.

Samples of the water are being analyzed in an effort to track down the reason the fish died.

It was reported that a large number of dead fish were found in the same section of the river last Friday.

Hitchhiker, 80, Beaten, Robbed

An 80-year-old Greensboro, Md., man told state police Tuesday he was beaten and robbed of $13 or $14 by four men Monday at the side of a road about three miles northwest of Harrington.

George Elmer McCreeley said the four men picked him up when he was hitchhiking in Denton, Md. Outside of Harrington on the road from Denton, he said they stopped the car, beat him around the face and head and took his money.

McCreeley filed a report that day with Maryland State Police at Easton. Their investigation disclosed that the alleged robbery took place in Delaware, and the case was referred to Delaware troopers at Bridgeville.

The ceremonies will begin at 2 p.m. and are open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

The Harrington High School Band, under the direction of Melvin Brobst, will perform.

Visitors will be conducted on a tour of the $160,000-building and equipment will be demonstrated.

The armory site was provided by the community at a cost of $2000, underwritten by the City. Most of the money has been provided by civic clubs, but additional solicitation is necessary.

Previous to the erection of the armory, the local guard unit, Battery B of the 193rd Battalion AAA, was housed at the Kent & Sussex Fairground. Lt. James Turner is battery commander and Col. Joshua West is battalion commander.

Drivers of School Buses Called to Caroline Institute

In an effort to "improve the service of school bus transportation" the Caroline County Board of Education has scheduled a School Bus Transportation Institute next Tuesday, in Caroline High School at Denton.

"All contractors and regular bus drivers are required to attend the day-long session which begins at 9:30 a.m.," Wilbur S. Hoopengardner, superintendent of schools, announced.

During the morning session the group will be greeted by Elias Nuttle, Denton, president of the Board of Education, and hear a discussion on "transportation in the total school program" by Dr. Paul Cooper, superintendent of schools for Worcester County. A film, "Precious Cargo," will be shown.

AA Man To Talk
During the remainder of the morning, Richard G. Reese, manager of the safety department, American Automobile Association, will discuss "Safety in School Bus Operation." Corp. Garland R. Walters of the Maryland State Police will talk about "What a Driver Must Know about State Traffic Regulations."

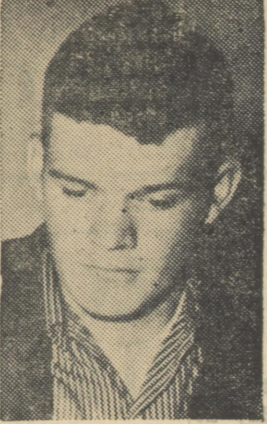

The afternoon will be used for testing drivers on traffic and driving knowledge, and giving tests on depth perception, steadiness, and reaction time. William Evey, instructor of driver education at Preston High School, and Clarence Meiss, former driver education instructor at Caroline High School, will conduct the tests.

Four Delaware 4-H Delegates At Regional Camp

Four Delaware 4-H Club delegates are attending the club's 10th annual regional camp Aug. 11 to 19 on the campus of Howard University, Washington, D. C., along with delegates from 17 southern and border states.

The Delaware representatives Leslie Benson, Bridgeville; Martha J. Townsend, Harrington; Frederic Minus, Woodside; and Marian Heath, Greenwood. An announcement from Miss Mary E. Woods, home and youth agent for Kent and Sussex Counties, said they were selected because of project achievement, leadership ability and community service. Miss Woods is accompanying the 4-H young people.

During the week the 4-H'ers will hear speakers, go on tours, attend meetings and take part in discussions. Speakers on the camp general assembly programs include E. W. Aiton, director of 4-H and Young Men's and Women's Work, Federal Extension Service (FES); C. M. Ferguson, administrator, FES; Miss Emmie Nelson, National Committee on Boy's and Girl's Club Work; Dr. E. B. Evans, president of Prairie View State College, Tex.; Miss Roberta Church, bureau of employment security, U. S. Department of Labor; Jessie Owens, Illinois State Youth Commission, Chicago; and Ervin L. Peterson, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The tours will include the US DA Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md.; a visit to Mt. Vernon, George Washington's home; and a major league baseball game.

Benson has been a member of the Greenwood Helping Hand 4-H Club eight years. He has completed projects in gardening, field crops, craft, junior leadership, home beautification and recreation. The Bridgeville 4-H'ers was a 1955 state winner in gardening. He has taken part in his club's community-cleanup-fix-up-campaign.

Miss Townsend is a member of the Harrington Busy Hands Club. She has completed projects in food preparation, dairy foods, and clothing. The 4-H'er was a 1956 food preparation winner and the 1957 winner in the state dress revue held at Delaware State College, Dover. She has been a blue award winner at the Kent - Sussex Fair, a 4-H member four years, and has been active in church and community affairs.

Minus has been a member of the Woodside Silver Leaf 4-H Club six years. He has completed projects in gardening, room improvement, poultry, recreation, junior leadership, home electric and the junior broiler program. Minus was a 1956 state winner in electric methods.

Miss Heath has been a member of the Greenwood Helping Hand club eight years. She has completed 23 project units in clothing, food preparation, dairy foods, canning, poultry, room improvement, gardening and junior leadership. She was a 1955 state winner in poultry. Miss Heath has entered exhibits in the Kent and Sussex Fair and 4-H achievement day. She has been active in church and community service work, including the Greenwood community cleanup campaign sponsored by her club.

Delaware 4-H, FFA Youth At Colorado Meeting

Four Delaware rural young men—two 4-H Club and two Future Farmers of America members—will attend the 29th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, Aug. 18 to 21, at Colorado State University at Fort Collins.

Representing state 4-H Clubs will be Edward E. Wilson, Blue Hen 4-H Club, and William T. Carter, Green Meadows 4-H Club, both of Newark. Carl G. Vincent, Lewes and Emlyn I. Buffington, New Castle, will be state FFA members at the meeting. The four will be accompanied by Raymond W. Lloyd, assistant Sussex County agricultural agent.

The 4-H and FFA young men were selected from among 45 contestants in a state-wide contest, sponsored by the youth committee of the Delaware Council of Cooperatives. They were named on the basis of their knowledge of farmer cooperatives, farming programs, leadership ability and cooperative activities, according to Paul M. Hodgson of the youth committee.

The Delaware council is financing the trip to stimulate the interest of youth in farm cooperatives. In preparation for the trip, Hodgson said, the youth made an extensive study of state cooperatives.

Wilson has been a 4-H Club member nine years and a junior leader of the Blue Hen club four years. In addition to carrying several club projects, he has been state winner in dairy achievement. He represented Delaware at the National Junior Vegetable Growers' Association demonstration contest in New York in 1951. Wilson was on Delaware's 4-H dairy judging team three years during regional contests in Richmond, Va. He was selected a Delaware representative to the National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D. C., and the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He will be a sophomore at the University of Delaware School of Agriculture this fall.

Carter has been a member of the Green Meadows Club seven years. He has been club president, vice-president, representative and, for two years, junior leader. He has completed 20 club projects in dairy, poultry, field crops, garden, health, safety home improvement, conservation and personal accounts. Young Carter has received county awards in garden, recreation, junior leadership and field crops. In 1956 he was state winner in field crops, winning a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He will be a senior at Newark High School this fall.

Vincent lives on a 360-acre farm near Lewes. He is a graduate of Lewes High School, where he took part in FFA activities. Frear Characterized Record of First Session of Eighty-fifth Congress as Generally Moderate United State Senator J. Allen Frear has characterized the record of the first session of the Eighty-fifth Congress as generally moderate in tone.

In his final weekly statement of the year, Mr. Frear declared that the spirit of compromise was plainly evident in many legislative matters and that as a result probably more accomplishments were obtained than would have otherwise been possible. The Delaware Senator pointed out that the close division of members in the two Houses of Congress accounted for the moderate nature of legislative deliberations.

In a general review of the Congressional session, Frear explained that the number of bills and resolutions acted upon should not necessarily be construed as a true reflection of the legislative record. He noted that many pending measures not acted upon so far will probably be taken up when the Congress reconvenes in January.

The Senator said that through the medium of its unrestricted debate in the chamber and in its open committee sessions, Congress brings before the American people an exchange of views on vital matters of importance which the citizens of our state and nation should know about and help to decide by force of public opinion.

In conclusion Frear announced his intention of resuming his weekly series of Congressional comments when the Second Session of the Eighty-fifth Congress opens next January.

30 Boys Turned Out For Local School's First Football Meeting

Coach Dick Jeffers, Harold McDonald and Bill Smith, greeted a group of some 30 ball candidates for the first organizational meeting of the season.

The coaches were pleased with those that showed up but, there was quite a draught in the 7th and 8th grade group that had signed up in the spring. Coach Jeffers had planned to keep the 100 pound and under footballers separate from the bigger boys during the practice season but as yet just a few in this weight area have signed up.

Things that were done at the first meeting is as follows:

1. Coach Jeffers showed the new equipment to the boys, explained to them that the Board had gone to a great deal of expense to equip the team with the best equipment possible.
2. Proper method of wearing the equipment was explained.
3. Starting time of practice will be the day school starts at 3:45 p.m.
4. The importance of the proper team attitude and getting as many of the boys in the school interested in football was stressed.
5. Practice sessions will not be long drawn out affairs but will be from 3:45 to 5:15 the coach explained.
6. Promptness and punctuality were stressed in order for the team to be as successful as possible.

The boys were thanked for being present, encouraged to interest others in the program and Thurs., Aug. there will be a kickoff program in the high-school cafeteria regarding the season to come. All parents of boys playing this season are invited and interested townfolk, who would like to see football get off on the right foot here, should plan to be there at 8 p.m. Thurs., Aug.

The meeting was closed with the proposal that Coach Jeffers contacts the schools for the four home games and see if they could be moved to Saturday afternoon to facilitate the Harrington people more. This will be investigated immediately.

State Highway Dept. Has 65.13 Miles Dirt Road To Complete

The State Highway Department will have a total of 65.13 miles of dirt roads to complete during the present fiscal year in order to meet the required mileage of improvements provided for in the dirt road improvement law.

R. A. Haber, chief engineer of the Department, in a summary of dirt road construction, prepared for the members of the Department, showed that the total mileage of dirt roads in the State when the improvement program started, including the streets in residential areas, now under jurisdiction of the Highway Department, was 1,623.86 miles.

Of this mileage 148.65 are in New Castle County, 523.3 in Kent County and 951.91 in Sussex County. The mileage to be improved each year totaled 162.38, with 14.86 miles for New Castle, 52.33 miles for Kent County, and 95.19 miles for Sussex County.

For the three years that the dirt road improvement program has been in effect, including the present fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1958, a total of 487.14 miles are to be improved, with 44.50 miles being in New Castle County, 156.99 miles in Kent County and 285.77 miles in Sussex County.

Up until the present time a total of 422.01 miles have been improved, or are under contract for improvement, with 16.27 miles being in New Castle County, 108.62 miles in Kent County and 297.12 miles in Sussex County.

Of the 65.13 miles yet to be improved during the present fiscal year, 28.31 miles are in New Castle County and 48.37 are in Kent County. This work is expected to be underway within the next two months. Since the allocation for Sussex County is now filled, there will be no more dirt road improvement projects started in that County until after the next fiscal year.

Section 2 of the Dirt Road Improvement Act, passed by the 1955 session of the Legislature, reads in part as follows: "In carrying out the purposes of this Act the State Highway Department of the State of Delaware shall in each year hard surface in each County one-tenth of the dirt roads now existing in each County under its jurisdiction to the intent and purpose that all dirt highways under its jurisdiction shall be hard surfaced at the end of ten years."

Through innovations introduced by Mr. Haber in the improvement of dirt roads, the cost of this work has been greatly reduced, but it is also observed that the costs vary according to Counties with the result that the average cost per mile for the improvement of dirt roads in New Castle County is $18,200 per mile and in Kent County it is $14,400 per mile, while in Sussex County it has been $16,200 per mile.

The Dirt Road Improvement Act authorized a bond issue of $10,000,000 for this work to be used as needed, and Mr. Haber has advised the members of the Highway Department that it will be necessary to apply to the 1959 session of the Legislature for an increase in this bond issue in order to complete the ten year program as planned.

Up until the end of the fiscal year, on June 30th of this year, a total of $2,063,803.42 has been paid out for dirt road improvement work. Contract obligations outstanding on June 30th amounted to $2,881,144.56 while contracts awarded in this fiscal year totaled $1,389,702.60. (continued on back page)

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

An enjoyable outing was held at Trappe Pond Sunday by a number of the parishioners. A bit of business was mixed with pleasure during the day by holding a short meeting of the executive board of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. During the meeting it was decided to conduct two classes for the high school of religion during the next school year. The students in the ninth and tenth grades would form one class and those in the eleventh and twelfth grades would make up the other class. It was further decided that new text books would be used this year. "Vital Problems" is the title of the text book for the younger students and "The Sacraments, the Mass, and the Liturgical Year" will be the book the older students will use. Both works are published by the C.C. D. of the Archdiocese of St. Paul, Minn.

This weekend confessions will be heard Saturday evening beginning at 7:30 instead of before Mass Sunday morning. One of the Columbian Fathers will be here both Saturday night and Sunday morning. Mass Sunday morning will be at the usual time, 9:30. During the Mass the Columbian Fathers will speak about the work of his missionary society in such places as Burma, China, Japan, Korea, and the Fiji Islands. The Columbian Fathers are especially interested in missionary activity in these and other places. A collection will be taken up during the Mass to help the missionaries laboring in these various areas.

Thursday evening another class in the catechism will be held for adults. At that time further information will be given out about the sublime doctrine of the Holy Eucharist, the real presence of the body and blood of Christ under the appearances of bread and wine.

Appeal for Milk Price Increase To Drought Stricken Farmers Made at Meeting of Directors

An urgent appeal for a milk price increase to farmers throughout the entire drought-stricken area was made in Philadelphia this week at a meeting of the Board of Directors of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative. A. R. Marvel of Easton, president of Inter-State, declared such an increase is necessary to cover increased costs incurred in replacing the drastic losses of pasture and forage crops suffered during the current drought.

Inter-State's Board of Directors directed its Executive Committee to meet with representatives of the Dairy Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, and the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission early next week, to explore possibilities of increasing the farm price of milk as a means of reimbursing farmers for some of the added costs of production directly traceable to these unprecedented crop losses.

Marvel declared the drought in his area on the Eastern Shore of Maryland to be one of the worst in his 45 years of farming experience. He says many farmers, himself included, have for weeks been feeding hay that they put up last spring to be used for next fall's and winter's feed supplies.

Similar experiences have been reported by directors of Inter-State and other producers throughout southeastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and in Delaware and Maryland, territories from which Philadelphia's milk supply is regularly obtained.

Market Report Delaware Food

Fresh summer vegetables still head the list of best food values in Delaware food markets. There are numerous different kinds of vegetables of good quality available this week, and homemakers who check the display carefully will find many opportunities to add variety to the menus at low cost.

Sweet corn of better quality and flavor is coming in from cooler producing areas to the north. All summer meals, indoors or out, call for corn on the cob. Serve it often. You can buy with confidence in the quality if you look for full ears with plump looking kernels and a bright green husk. Avoid buying corn that has not been kept cold, either on a bed of ice or on a well refrigerated display case. About half of the sugars, which give fresh corn its delicate flavor, will break down and be lost during a single day if corn is held at warm temperatures after harvest. So it is important to keep corn refrigerated at home, too, until it is used.

Eggplants likewise are of good quality and favorably priced. Try crisp pan-fried slices served with french dressing. French fry them like potatoes or even stuff one with ground meat for baking. Other vegetables not to be overlooked are cabbage, squash, beans, onions, cucumbers and peppers. Peaches are steady in price with Triogems, Halehavens, and Elbertas best for freezing.

Meat prices continue to edge higher and now stand 10 to 15 per cent above a year ago. Bacon demand seems to be going up with the price, and good movement is reported by retailers even at 25c per pound more than last August. Frying chickens, turkeys and forequarter cuts of the red meats represent the best values in meats this week.

A quick look at the current price trends on canned goods shows declines on sardines, increases on tomato juice, slight reductions on sweet peas and advances on albacore and light-meat tuna packs.

The key to the Irish problem (South versus North) must be tolerance, said D. Colwyn Wilqueen's University, Belfast. He said he was impressed by the tolerance being shown in Northern Ireland, under terrorist attacks.

Agent Seeks Emergency Sibs

Whoever the sister is, is requested by county agricultural agent to handle 400-gram sample you have no room for the sample.

This emergency site could work especially well for farmers who don't have a regular site and must deal with handling remaining corn they'd planted on Aug. 10, the agent added.

Q-Where can I get some more of these pills for my dog?
A-You can get them at the drug store, or you can order them by mail. I'll send you a list of the drug stores in the area.

Mother Who Abandoned 5 Sent to Jail

Mrs. Helen F. Baker, 23, joined her husband in prison on a six-month sentence handed down by Juvenile Court Judge W. Marion Stevenson Thurs., Aug. 8, for abandoning her five children in an act the judge called "below humanity."

Her husband, John, is serving a term for violation of probation following a larceny conviction. Mrs. Baker was convicted week before last of abandoning her children, the youngest 8 months old, in the woods near the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lena Baker, in the Greenwood-Ellendale area, July 27.

Judge Stevenson said Thursday, "Even a cat will carry its kittens from a place to place and stand by them."

The parents are in the Georgetown Jail. Mrs. Baker will probably spend her six months in the New Castle County Correctional Institution, while her husband will be sent to the Sussex Correctional Institution.

The parents are in separate sections of the Sussex Correctional Institution. The children have been farmed out to several foster parents by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. Baker had pleaded not guilty last week. Among witnesses was her 7-year-old son.

Pathetic Picture

A pathetic picture was painted by the grandmother who described the five children emerging from the woods near her home, dirty and half-dressed, one of them carrying the 8-month-old infant.

The distance the children were deposited from the grandmother's home was one of the hotly disputed issues at the trial, with Judge Stevenson apparently putting most trust in the story told by the little boy.

In his brief comment before passing sentence, Judge Stevenson named the distance as "between three-quarters and a half mile." He emphasized the fact that an infant of eight months had been thrust for its sole protection into the arms of a seven-year-old boy.

'Beach Weekend'

"Then you went off with your boy friend to spend a weekend at the beach," he said, addressing Mrs. Baker, "then you didn't know all weekend what had become of your children—perhaps you didn't even care."

He mentioned that there had been a conflict in testimony at the trial as to whether the five children had been evicted from the place where they had been living along with the mother. Then he said, "There are few people in the State of Delaware who would not have assisted you to find a temporary place for your children or help you contact the welfare department."

Mrs. Baker's attorney, Everett F. Warrington, made application for probation for his client, saying that perhaps she might have shown poor judgment, but that she was desperate and in destitute circumstances and had a very unfortunate life. He said that she had not been guilty of any incorrect conduct toward her children before this instance and that she knew the welfare office was closed for the weekend.

South Africa gained 600 population last year—the "profit" of immigration over emigration—but lost more than that many people through road accidents, Maritzburg reports. Montevideo, Uruguay, now is taking delivery of 53,500 water meters from France.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am an older World War II veteran, and before long I expect to retire from my job. I plan to sell my GI house and move to the south. Would it be possible to have my GI loan rights restored so I could buy another home?

A—Yes. Retirement is considered in the same category as transfer of employment, and would warrant restoration of GI loan entitlement. However, the VA would have to be relieved of liability on the old guaranty.

Q—I have made arrangements to be admitted to a VA hospital for treatment of a service-connected injury. I have no way of getting to the hospital, which is almost 100 miles from my home. Could the VA help me?

A—Yes. Government transportation to the hospital may be authorized. Also, when you are ready for discharge, you may obtain Government transportation home again.

Q—I am a Korea Veteran just out of service. I have a service-connected dental condition that isn't severe enough to warrant compensation payments. Would I be eligible for VA outpatient dental care?

A—Yes, provided you apply within one year after your discharge. If your condition did not result from combat wounds or service injuries, you may be entitled to treatment only on a one-time completion basis.

Q—I am a disabled Korea veteran. If I take vocational rehabilitation training, will I receive one VA check each month, the same as Korean GI Bill trainees, out of which I'm supposed to take care of all my training costs?

A—No. Under the vocational rehabilitation program, VA will pay all training costs directly to your school, and also pay you a monthly subsistence allowance, based on the type of training and the number of your dependents.

JOHN S. DAVIS

John S. Davis, 85, a retired farmer of Felton, died Friday at his home in Felton.

Mrs. Davis was born in Maryland but had lived in and around Felton most of his life. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary W. Davis, and sister, Mrs. Martha D. Friedel, of Milford.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with the Rev. J. E. Parker, a retired Methodist minister of Camden officiating. Interment was in Bethel Cemetery, Chesapeake City.

USDA Secretary to Speak At NASCD Meeting in Wilmington

Ervin L. Peterson, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be the keynote speaker Aug. 19 at a two-day Wilmington, meeting of the northeast area members of the National Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Peterson will be asked to make a policy statement on new farm programs, according to Delaware association secretary George K. Vapaa. The department secretary will give his address that evening at a banquet in the Hotel Rodney. Dean George M. Worrilow, School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, will be toastmaster.

That morning a panel will discuss whether the soil conservation districts should limit activities to agricultural areas. Chairman of the panel on the "Rurban Problem" will be E. A. Norton, field representative of the northeast area districts.

On the afternoon program, the group will discuss the watersheds program and hear soil conservation success stories from Maine, Connecticut and West Virginia.

Tuesday morning the supervisors will go on a tour of the Brandywine River Valley. There they will see demonstrations of cooperative efforts of farmers, homeowners, industry, government and other elements in returning and preserving the natural resources of the area.

Summarizing will be done that evening by Nolan Fuqua, director from Duncan, Okla.; Clair P. Guess, Jr., program advisor of the national association, League City, Tex.; Harold S. Wright, northeast area director from Pawling, N. Y., and Harry H. Rieck, Md., director.

Activities for ladies at the meeting will include a visit to Longwood Gardens, a well-known horticultural attraction near Wilmington.

Social Security Notes

Many women will have an important decision to make when they attain age 62. Under the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act women are able to obtain social security monthly payments three years earlier than under the old law, according to Myron Milbourn, manager of the Wilmington social security office. The amount of the benefit, however, will be reduced for women workers and for wives of retired workers. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months between the time payment start and the time the applicant reaches age 65. This reduction is permanent even after age 65 is attained.

Widows and dependent mothers of deceased workers, however, may receive unreduced benefits at age 62. Before making a decision to start getting benefit payments before age 65, a working woman or a wife of a retired worker will naturally want to know how long she will be ahead in total benefits paid.

As a working woman she will be ahead for the first 15 years as the wife of a retired beneficiary she will be ahead for the first 12 years.

The decision must be made by each woman as to whether it's

Profit In Keeping Yearling Layers Second Year

Market egg producers may find it profitable to keep some of their Leghorn yearling layers a second laying year, if the birds are closely culled and egg prices are satisfactory.

But, pointed out George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, it never pays to keep meat-strain hens for a second year of production. Poultrymen can expect a difference of about 40 to 50 eggs per bird between first and second year Leghorn layers. Since there is no cost for growing a replacement pullet, this makes the yearling layer as profitable as a pullet.

A comparison of costs and income for pullets and yearling shows very little difference, the agricultural agent continued. It costs about $2 to raise a Leghorn pullet replacement, but you get about $1.50 extra value for eggs and $.50 for the cull hen replaced. you get more large eggs from the yearlings, but that is offset by higher mortality.

worth more to her to have the benefits before 65, at a permanently reduced rate, or to wait until 65 and get a higher rate. The social security office will furnish her with all necessary information but the decision must be made by the individual.

To prevent spread of diseases, yearlings should be kept in a separate house from the pullet flock, Vapaa said. The yearling flock should be culled until Nov. 1, since the late-molters are the best layers. Most poultrymen keep only the best 25 to 50 percent of the Leghorn yearling flock for a second year of production, he concluded.

It's America's lowest-priced* full-size wagon, too!

For hauling, for calling, for fun—nothing measures up to a Ford wagon. You pick from 9-passenger, 6-passenger, 2-door and 4-door models. And whichever you pick, you get a boat of a dreamboat that stands nearly 17 luxurious feet long. Inside, there's even more room for kids, friends and cargo. And all Ford wagons have a new built-in velvet ride... thanks to the rock-solid "Inner Ford." To bring you topnotch performance, there's famous Thunderbird V-8 power or Ford's new Mileage Maker Six... the most modern Six in America today. Six or V-8, the going's great in the new kind of Ford. So come on in for an Action Test. See for yourself why Ford wagons outsell them all.

Let's Go Back to the Old-Fashioned Barbecue

We had always thought that the barbecue was identical with what we know from our own, and we were surprised to find that, in some respects, it is not.

Checking in the Thimble-Barbecue Comprehensive Digest, we discovered the definition of barbecue, (pronounced "bah-bee-voor" in the South) have undergone a change. As a noun, the word means 1. a feast at which animals are roasted whole, 2. food such as meat, chicken, or fish, which is prepared in this manner, 3. meat roasted before an open fire.

Definitions 1 and 2 are the ones we always thought applied to barbecue, but times have changed. Beef, pork, and chicken are cooked in an oven, served with a sauce of salt-garlic, ketchup, and pepper, and are called barbecue "table-barbecue" in the South.

Our definition of barbecue means a whole or part of an animal cooked over an open fire, preferably after the flames have died down. The best food is barbecue wood, but we have had good barbecue from a fire of railroad ties.

We were looked for years for good barbecue, our own search for an old-time evidence of barbecue, as we are driven down the nation's highways. We have had good barbecue at two establishments, fairly good barbecue at one, and good barbecue at three.

At a boy, at Meriden, Md., we saw barbecue at its best in a backwoods grove, the evening before the Fourth of July, but pigs were dug in which fires of hickory were kindled.

When the flames had died down, pigs, and were served on open and mired, from time to time, at night long. The meat was basted frequently under the watchful, busy, hungry eyes of the town's children. It was an event in that small town in which, incidentally, there was a much excitement in a Harrington on a Wednesday afternoon when the news are closed.

Next day came the picnic. We remember a crowd pulled by miles, spectators, a band concert. In the afternoon, the barbecue had been eaten by the skin, which were to the children.

We attended a similar picnic, with barbecue, in Columbia, Mo., in 1927.

When the Democrats secured one of their rare victories in the year 1904, we had an election at the Kent at Stone Ridge, Md. We watched that one, too. Some of the boys couldn't wait for an occasional dinner from the outside. We found them in the middle. They were a long line of queuing consumers. "I just want to taste it," we heard. When it came our turn, we received hot food.

We never saw over two commercial establishments which put out good barbecue and they had the simplest of equipment.

In Belleville, Ill., a man named Meyer had a pig in a backyard, scolded him an ally. His pig was made of concrete blocks and had a screen over it. His service was all curb service and he sold the pig in the yard. He could not pick the meat, but he could pick the bones could be seen. In cooking, he added some ketchup. He served, among other items, sandwiches of large ribs or small ribs. He spent his winters in Florida. Our father, J. Harvey Burgess, owned this paper at one time, visited Meyer in 1918. He talked about these ribs as he described in 1937.

We had good barbecue, but not one, as a pig in East St. Louis, Ill., last December. This was another simple affair, made of concrete blocks. The establishment used wood for heat and sold only its products—chicken, beef, pork, the pig bones—over the curb.

So, fancy equipment and a fancy building are not necessary for good cooking in a recipe for good barbecue (pronounced "bah-bee-voor" in the South).

Chamberlain is Back at His Desk After Lonely Vigil in Northern Canada

Sat. July 20 (about 4:30 p.m., E.S.T.) we were on an aerial transect flight from Fort Chimo to Fort Harrison when the left engine of our Grumman Widgeon amphibian started to run rough. We attributed the roughness to plug fouling caused by having to use a higher grade of gasoline than recommended for our engines. However, shortly after this, the oil pressure started to fluctuate and it was observed that there was an oil leak from the left engine. Although there was a rather strong wind it seemed that the best course of action was to make a landing on one of the large lakes in the vicinity and try to repair the oil leak. Consequently, we contacted Fort Chimo Radio and told them of our decision and gave them our position. Because of the strong wind and rough water the aircraft was slightly damaged on landing. The aircraft was anchored and secured in a well-sheltered cove. When the cowl was removed it was found that No. 2 cylinder had blown its top. We then set up camp, with the knowledge that we would spend some time at this location. During the night Evans was able to make radio contact with Esker Lake and get off a message to Washington and also make some preliminary arrangement for one of us to get out to get the necessary parts to repair the engine. (It was later decided that since Evans was aircraft commander and in charge of the operation he should be the one to go out and I would stay with the aircraft.) About 4 p.m. Sun., July 21, a Dorval Air Transport Canoe diverted on his way from Esker Lake to Great Whale River (we were about 40 miles off the regular course) and Evans went out to Great Whale River. He returned with the necessary parts about 4 p.m. Fri., Aug. 2. During the time that Evans was gone I had nothing to bother me except mosquitoes, black flies and loneliness. I had plenty of food, mostly dehydrated, which I was able to supplement with fish. (Fishing in the lake was excellent.) The weather couldn't have been better if I'd ordered it myself. I had some battery and spark plug trouble, but was able to maintain a radio schedule with Esker Lake almost every night, so that although I was 155 miles from the nearest human habitation I was really not completely isolated. After Evans returned we got the aircraft repaired and Mon., Aug. 5, made the flight from Widgeon Lake to Great Whale River. This was 16 days after our troubles started. Note: E. B. Chamberlain, research biologist with the Delaware Game and Fish Commission and Charles D. Evans, Flyway Biologist employed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service left the United States June 28 for the waterfowl breeding grounds in northern Canada. They had completed only a portion of their aerial counts when engine trouble forced them down.

John Copp Appointed Director Of Athletics at Wesley College

John C. Copp, of Strasburg, Va., has been appointed director of athletics at Wesley College, Dover, Dr. J. Paul Slaybaugh, president of the college, announced Wednesday. A former College of William and Mary and University of Virginia athlete, Copp has coached all athletic activities at Triplet High School, Mt. Jackson, Va., from 1953 to 1957, for a combined four-years sports record of 134 victories, 34 losses, and one tie. During his tenure there, Triplet teams also won four of six pentagonal meets in track and several district basketball and baseball championships. Copp started his playing career as a freshman varsity letter-winner in basketball at Elgin Academy, Elgin, Ill., in 1945, where he went on to win the undergraduate award in basketball. Transferring to Stuyvesant Prep School, in Warrenton, Va., he lettered in football, basketball, baseball, and track. With 13 varsity letters, he won the "best all-around athlete" award at Stuyvesant in his senior year. Between 1949 and 1953, he played freshman basketball at William and Mary, scoring over 200 points for the season, ran for the William and Mary freshman track squad, lettered for the University of Virginia basketball team, and played three years of semi-professional and independent basketball in the state of Virginia. He also played six years of independent baseball in several Virginia leagues. Copp received his B. S. in education in 1952 and master's degree in education in 1954 from the University of Virginia.

Fish & Game News

Wardens Tackle New Responsibilities Acquisition and development of public fishing and hunting areas have become an important part of the program of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission. Norman G. Wilder, acting director, recently met with Chief Warden Virgil Hearn and Supervising Wardens William Wideman and E. Cowgill Barnard to present a plan for the operation and continued development of public fishing areas in the state. Supervising Warden William Wideman, Newark, will be assisted by Warden Dawson Sapp, Dover, in maintaining and further developing the areas at Beck's Pond on Salem Church Road, 1/4 mile north of route 40; Lums, State and Craig Ponds on the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, and Garrison Lake south of Smyrna. Supervising Warden E. Cowgill Barnard, Woodside, has delegated work at Griffith's Lake and Haven Lake, Milford and the launching site and parking lot at Fowlers Beach to Clarence H. Reed, Milton, Lionel Hastings, Laurel, will be responsible for any work at Horseys Pond, Laurel and at Phillips Landing on the Nanticoke River. The three launching areas at Assawamon Bay, the one at Quilens Point, on Indian River Bay and Ingrams Pond at Millsboro will be the immediate responsibility of William Truitt, Frankford. This week the wardens are beginning to post inland waters with yellow signs which spell out fishing license requirements. Non-resident fishermen over 15 years of age are urged to obtain a $7.50 fishing license before fishing ponds, streams and all inland water including the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. Women and person under 15 years when accompanied by licensed fisherman or anyone lawfully fishing are not required to have a license. A non-resident is not required to have a license to fish the Delaware River and Bay, Atlantic Ocean, Rehoboth Bay, Indian River Inlet and Indian River and Bay.

It's the Law

All dog owners are required to keep their animals confined from March 1 through Sept. 30. Several children were bitten by dogs running at large in Kent and Sussex Counties in the last few days. Chief Warden Hearn urges everyone to keep his dog securely confined. All dog wardens are carefully patrolling their communities. Thirty-nine persons were apprehended during the first two weeks of August for having unlicensed dogs and dogs running at large. The fine for each offense is $5 and costs.

With an allowance of $154,440 in Federal Aid Funds, the total amount obligated at the present time is $4,116,407.16. This amount, with the funds already paid, and an allowance of $309,010.53 for right-of-way and engineering expenses, brings the total cost of the dirt road improvement program to date up to $6,489,221.11.

Mr. Haber has informed the members of the Department that a request has been made for six million dollars in bonds to be issued during the last week of August.

Caesar Rodney School News

The schools in the Caesar Rodney Special School District will open for the fall term Wed., Sept. 4, with both morning and afternoon sessions. School starts 9 a.m. and will close at 3 p.m. for the first few days. The first three grades will be excused at 2:30 in order to get an early bus. The cafeteria will be in operation on the first day.

The new Star Hill addition will absorb the pupils formerly attending the Dunbar School, which has been closed. Bus service will be provided to the Star Hill School. The Star Hill faculty will meet Friday morning, Aug. 30 at the school. New Caesar Rodney faculty members will meet Fri., Aug. 30 in the afternoon and the entire faculty at Caesar Rodney is scheduled to meet Tuesday morning, Sept. 3.

The faculty is complete with the exception of an instrumental music teacher in the elementary school.

New students in the district are urged to register promptly if they have not already done so.

The school office is open Monday through Friday from nine until four.

At a recent meeting the Board of Education approved 25 cents

as the charge for an "A" lunch for the new school year.

In the light of the rapid progress in home construction the Board expressed concern about the lack of definite progress on the school to be built at the Dover Air Force Base.

The Board received a report from the James H. Wood Company that the sixteen new classrooms at Caesar Rodney would be usable by the opening of school barring unforeseen difficulties.

Senate Notified Of Appointment

Governor J. Caleb Boggs Wednesday notified the Senate that he will reappoint Sussex County Resident Judge James B. Carey and said he will call a special session of the upper chamber, Wednesday, Aug. 28, at 4 p. m. to consider its confirmation.

The Governor wrote Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson and members of the Senate:

"Pursuant to the authority vested in me by Section III, Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Delaware, as amended, I herewith address to you this public letter informing you that I intend to submit to the Senate for confirmation the name of Hon. James B. Carey, resident in Georgetown, Del., as associate judge of the Superior Court and the Orphans Court of the State of Delaware in and for Sussex County for a term of 2 years and to succeed himself in that office. Judge Carey's term expired on Aug. 13, 1957.

"For the purpose of confirming this appointment and the transaction of such other executive business as may become before it, I shall convene the Senate of the 119th General Assembly of the State of Delaware, on August, 1957, at 4 p. m., EDT at Legislative Hall, Dover, Del.

Three Pct. Limit On State Bonds Lifted

The House completed passage of the bill lifting the interest rate limitation of 3 per cent on state bonds shortly before 10:45 tonight.

Majority Leader James R. Quigley (D-New Castle) moved immediately for a recess to the call of the chair so that the bill could be prepared for signing by the presiding officers of the two houses.

The Senate earlier had passed the measure (SB-369) introduced by Senator John E. Reilly, Sr., (D-Wilmington) after the first roll call failed to muster the required three-quarter majority.

The bond bill was signed by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs at 11:20 p.m. This will enable the state to start its advertising Friday of the $21,000,000 issue to be sold Aug. 27. The law requires that advertising start 10 days at least before a proposed sale.

In the House, Mr. Quigley and Rep. Charles P. West (D-Gumboro) answered present on the roll call and Rep. H. Clifford Clark (D-Kenton) voted no. This made the tally 32 yeas, one nay, and two present.

Before the measure was called up in the House by Rep. Paul E. Shockey (D-Wilmington) Mr. Quigley had announced "I was instructed by the majority opinion of the Democratic caucus to disclose that the majority is prepared to act on one bill only—the bond bill."

Asks For Motion

Rep. James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), the minority leader, asked if Mr. Quigley was making a motion. He said he thought it would be correct if a motion was made since the minority side disagreed and wanted the opportunity to discuss.

Mr. Quigley then said he would make his announcement in the form of a motion.

Speaker Harry E. Mayhew then put the motion and Mr. Snowden said "the minority party is sympathetic with this motion, but there is one other piece of legislation which we believe should be considered."

He referred to Substitute for House Bill 154 which would increase the salaries of the constitutional judges $5,000 a year across the board.

Mr. Snowden said that action had been taken by the House at the last session to appoint a committee to consider salaries of all state employees but that the concurrent resolution involved had never been reported out of committee in the Senate.

He added that by action taken earlier the General Assembly has left the judges salaries in "an awkward position."

He then moved to amend the Quigley motion to include consideration of the pay increase for the upper court judges.

years have it. Mr. Quigley's original motion, limiting House action for this session, was then put up again and on another voice vote the Speaker ruled for the yeas.

After falling one vote shy on a roll call that showed 12 yeas, three nays, and two members absent, the proposal went through the Senate under a rules suspension at 10:05 p.m. by a vote of 14 to two.

Holding out in opposition to the measure, which was introduced earlier in the evening by Senate Majority Leader John E. Reilly (D-Wilmington), were Senate Finance Committee Chairman Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) and Senator Jester A. Gray (D-Frederica). Senator Clifford Pryor, who joined the two in opposing the bill on the first roll call, was absent for the second one.

Absent on the first roll call were Senators Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace) and Ellwood F. Melson, Jr., (R-Claymont), both of whom voted for the bill when it came up a second time around, half an hour later.

Immediately after approving the bill the upper chamber recessed till the call of the chair. Senator Reilly announced there would be no further business until the House of Representatives acted to repeal the interest limit.

This maneuver reflected a gentlemen's agreement under which both houses, in a move to prevent the session from dragging on into tomorrow or possibly longer, were operating. Under this agreement no other bills were to be considered until the bond bill (SB-369) was disposed of.

Removal of the three per cent interest limit was recommended by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs. Secretary of State John N. McDowell told legislative leaders last week that market experts had informed the state the bonds—some of which were scheduled for sale later this month—would probably find no buyers at an interest rate lower than three per cent.

The assembly leaders responded to the Governor's appeal by summoning a caucus of the legislature's Democratic majority Monday night where it was decided to resume the session—adjourned last month until Jan. 6—tonight.

Senator Hoey has many times voiced his opposition to removing the three per cent limit, and earlier this week proposed that the state put school construction and other building programs on a pay-as-you-go basis if it bonds won't sell for three per cent or less.

Senator Gray said tonight he feels the state should at least try to sell the bonds for three per cent and appeal to the Assembly for a change if it can find no buyers.

Both chambers had scheduled the start of their sessions for 8 p.m., but it was 9:15 before the Senate went in, and the House waited for upper chamber action on the bond bill before meeting.

The first order of business in the Senate was introduction of the bill by Senator Reilly, who moved for a suspension of rules so it could be reported from committee and acted upon without the lapse of a legislative day.

Senator President Pro Tem Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) referred the measure to the Corporations Private Committee, headed by Senator Allen J. Cook (D-Kenton). Senator Cook sent it back moments later with three committee members signing favorably and one signing "on its merits."

"I guess everybody is very familiar with this bill," said Senator Reilly as he asked for a vote. There was no further comment and this was taken as an indication that Senator Hoey was confident he had the measure beaten. This confidence proved well founded—at least for the time being.

Any bills involving state bonded indebtedness require approval by three-quarters of the members of each house. In the Senate the majority needed 13 votes. When Senator Reilly saw that his proposal was shy one vote, he quickly changed his own vote from yes to no for purposes of reconsideration.

Senator Reilly was joined in this maneuver by Senate Minority Leader Thomas L. Johnson (R-Rehoboth Beach).

Moments later Senator Steen declared the bill lost and Senator Reilly moved for restoration. The Senate then recessed at 9:32 until shortly after 10 when it reconvened and—with out any further comment—approved the bill.

Despite the agreement to limit business—at least in the early stages of this evening's session—to the bond bill, tonight's session was well attended by individuals and groups seeking a vote on other measures.

Among the visitors were some 50 members of the New Castle County Volunteer Firemen's Association, who showed up—many of them in uniform—aboard a score of fire trucks.

The fire trucks, one from each member company of the association, formed a line at the side of the DuPont Parkway north of Dover, and paraded into the Legislative Hall area with red warning lights blinking. There were no sirens.

The firemen moved in a group from their trucks to the hall where they hope to see action tonight on bills establishing a state fire prevention code and increasing the special tax on gross premiums of fire insurance companies from two to three and one half per cent.

While Senate aides were going through the routine of preparing the bond bill for Governor Boggs, a new bill was introduced by Senator Cook.

The proposal (SB-370) would increase the salary of the deputy attorney general in Kent County from the present $6,000 to $6,500. Senator Cook appeared ready to press for action on the bill, but this was protested by Senator McCullough who pointed to the agreement that only the bond bill would be brought up, and there was no roll call.

Building Plans Being Prepared

The State Board of Health officials are meeting with their architects and hope to have preliminary plans for their proposed new building ready for presentation to the Buildings and Grounds Commission when that group meets in September.

After approving the plans for the structure, the Building and Grounds Commission will assign space on the State House Plaza for the erection of the building.

With the recent improvement of Water Street by the State Highway Department, and the contemplated plan of extending Federal Street to Water Street, when the new Dover Army is completed, a number of interested persons have urged that the Board of Health Building be placed on the plot west of the proposed intersection of Federal and Water Streets.

These folks have pointed out that were the building to be placed on that plot, persons going to the health building for clinics would have access to the structure from both Water and Federal Streets. As far as could be learned, no other building ash been planned for this site.

The proposed Board of Health building was provided for by the present session of the Legislature and is making $1,900,000 available for erection of the structure, after many years of effort to have this building erected.

Pope and Kruse of Wilmington, the architects on the project, first prepared plans for the building in 1950 and they are now engaged in revising the plans to fit the purpose of the health department.

Overtaxed and over crowded laboratory conditions have handicapped the Health Department for some years while the Bureau of Vital Statistics has long been in need of a fireproof area to maintain the important records in their possession.

Greenwood Youth Shot by Visitor

Maurice M. Adams, 7, of Greenwood, was accidentally shot in the arm by a 15-year-old youth who was visiting his home shortly before 3 p. m., Wednesday.

The boy was treated at the Milford Memorial Hospital for a bullet wound of the right arm which splintered the bone.

State police said Donald M. Harold, of Hampton, Va., who has been visiting the Adams family, was removing a clip from a .22 calibre rifle when the gun went off. The bullet struck Maurice, who was standing in front of his friend.

800 Witness Farm Day

Hot Georgetown weather Wednesday failed to lessen the interest of some 800 visitors to the University of Delaware sub-station farmland day, high-lighted by tours of promising crops reared plots, the ninth annual Sussex County Artificial Breeds' Heifer Show, a fat hog judging contest and sheep and home gardeners' exhibits.

In a welcoming address, Dr. Carl J. Rees, university provost, said: "I congratulate warmly the people here on their willingness to modify, develop and improve agriculture as they practice it now. This is not an easy thing to do, but necessary in order to keep ahead of competition and to provide food for the state's growing population." He pointed out that the university campus is the state.

Dean George M. Worrioll, School of Agriculture, declared that "here in Delaware, both at the sub-station and the university in Newark, we must continue and even increase our research efforts." This is needed of we are to provide our farmers with the information the yeer to compete successfully with farmers in other states, he noted.

Promising Experiments

Among about 110 agricultural research projects being conducted this year at the Agricultural Experiment Station, several were crops and poultry projects pointed out today. Five of these are being conducted by Eugene Brasher, horticulture department chairman. Reporting on his work, Brasher said that in general it appears that the larger the potato seed piece, the larger the yield. Results so far indicate that a seed potato of size that permits cutting into two seed pieces is better than using a seed potato cut into as many as eight pieces. He found that cutting eight seed pieces from an eight ounce tuber brought a yield of 19,200 pounds an acre. Cutting a two ounce seed tuber in half increased the yield to 21,800 pounds per acre.

A tomato variety developed by Brasher, Delaware 13-2, appears to be outstanding. It was obtained from a cross of Chesapeake and Mustang. The new tomato is resistant to fusarium wilt and produces an "excellent" set of tomatoes under unfavorable conditions. Brasher has obtained a disease resistant cantaloupe from a cross of Indian, Smith's Perfect, and Persian. The fruit has a deep orange color, very small seed cavity and high sugar content.

Castor Beans

Seven varieties of castor beans are being put under test in the state by Frank B. Springer, assistant agronomist at the university. Mostly, they are hybrids and look to be readying a high yield. Hybrid 415 seems best now, he said, but this may not be true at harvest. Castor bean oil is used in jet lubricants.

Agronomist Dr. Henry W. Indyk has found in pre-emergence weed control studies that for four consecutive years sodium pentachlorophenate has given very satisfactory control of broad-leaved weeds in corn and soybeans. Grass control with CDA and CDEC seems very satisfactory, he said. The chemical EPTC is also showing considerable promise for grass control. Indyk declared that Simazin in corn looks good for both grass and broad-leaf weed control.

E. M. Rahn horticulturist, has found two chemicals to be working much better than standard chemicals for weed control in strawberries. They are Neburon and EPTC.

In plant pathology, Dr. Donald F. Crossan has developed a tobacco mosaic virus resistant green pepper. It shows promise of being particularly suited for canning house use.

Working with tomato irrigation, Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse, horticulturist, has found that it is best to continue irrigation right through harvest, rather than stopping when picking begins. He has developed with asparagus irrigation a new bush growth that will store food for next year's crop. His studies with irrigated lima beans show at least a double yield over non-irrigated beans during this drought year.

In the poultry section, Dr. Morris S. Cover, poultry pathologist, has eight different treatments underway for synovitis control. He now recommends either aeromyein or terramycin at 200 grams per ton of feed for reducing mortality and the number of unsalable birds.

Dairy Winners

ling, Kenneth Marvel, Houston, two years old and over, Ayrshire—Wayne Simpson, Houston, junior calf, William Attix, Dover, junior yearling, Francis Webb, Houston, senior yearling, G. Wallace Caulk, Jr., Wyoming, two years old and over, Guernsey—Harry Morris, Felton, junior calf, Donald R. Starkey, Felton, senior calf two years old and over, Holstein—Peggy and Richard Gerardi, Harrington, junior calf, James C. Hudson, Milton, senior calf, Kenneth Moore, Dover, junior yearling, senior yearling, Richard Bennett, Milford, two years old and over.

Breed champion rating winners in the senior division were animals of: Kenneth Marvel, Houston; William Attix, Dover; William N. Hopkins, Lewes; Maurice and Alice Adams, Harrington, Junior division breed champion ratings went to animals entered by: Kenneth Marvel, Houston; G. Wallace Caulk, Wyoming; Donald R. Starkey, Felton; and Richard Bennett, Milford.

Winners in group classes in order were: Morris and Alice Adams, Harrington; George C. Simpson, Houston; William Hopkins, Lewes, and Kenneth Moore, Dover. All entered registered animals, their best three females. Fitting and showing contest winners in the junior division were: Harry Morris, first; Donald R. Starkey, second; and Louis B. Starkey, third, all of Felton.

Senior winner in the fat hog judging contest was Merrill Jones, Felton. Reaching a tie in the junior division were Cashar Evans, Jr., Selbyville; and Roland Hitchens, Laurel. All swine winners received $5 prizes.

31 Teachers Needed in State

A total of 31 teachers are needed in the secondary schools throughout the state at the present time, according to Dr. Howard E. Row, Assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction in charge of high schools.

Dr. Row explained that these totals are subject to change each day as some of the schools procure teachers to fill the vacancies on their instruction staff.

There will be no delay in school activities for the opening of the school due to any of these vacancies, Dr. Row explained, and added that arrangements would be made within the staff at any school to cover a vacancy.

According to information received by Dr. Row, the schools are facing some real difficulty in filling vacancies for industrial arts, agriculture and art.

While there is only one vacancy in the industrial arts field, Dr. Row explained that at least four instructors could be used since several schools are using other instructors in this field. There is one vacancy each for art and agriculture.

All teaching positions in the field of mathematics are filled and only one vacancy exists for elementary English, according to Dr. Row's records which also show the need of our regular course English teachers and one for junior high school mathematics and science combined.

Two instructors are needed for French and English combined and one for biology. Three instructors for business education, two for science and two for girls physical education.

Also needed are one teacher for home economics, one for German and English combined, one for social studies and one for junior high school Librarian.

It was indicated by Dr. Row that many vacancies in their teaching staff following the close of the school year in June which accounts for the few number of vacancies now.

Camden-Wyoming Councils Discuss Sewage System

City Councils of Camden-Wyoming, in a joint meeting Monday night, took preliminary steps toward establishment of a sewage system and a disposal plant after enthusiastically listening to an address by Dr. Kaplovsky of the Delaware Water Commission.

Dr. Kaplovsky spoke on benefits to be accrued from installation of such equipment and also gave Council information on preparatory work to be done in order to secure assistance from the Federal Government for the project.

Capt. Howard F. Eaton was named by the Councils to follow up on the recommendations of Dr. Kaplovsky by contacting several engineering consultant firms to insure that date would be available to the Councils at their next meeting, probably in September.

"THE FOLKS THAT I HAVE KNOWN"

We have a small number of pamphlets of poems of the above title, written by the late J. Harvey Burgess, late owner of The Harrington Journal and self-styled "plitter of infinitives, mixer of metaphors, demoi of the double negative, sorcerer of solecisms, pe oetrator of the world's poorest poetry."

We presume he was also a dangler of participles.

There have been several requests for this booklet, priced at 25c, but we were unable to comply with them. Fortunately, however, we uncovered a limited supply of this valuable booklet recently while looking the effects of the estate.

We also have a number of pamphlets, "Hosses, Hosses, Hosses" written by Mr. Burgess, and depicting Harrington's harness-racing life. The price is 25c.

When the above-named pamphlets have been sold there will be no reprints.
