Trinity Methodist Church Notes

We hope to have the regular attendance pins, which were ordered over a month ago and were to have been given last Sunday (which we observed as Promotion and Rally Day), here by next Sunday, Oct. 13, for distribution. Meanwhile, the record of attendance for next year started last Sunday.

After Sunday School at 10:00, Trinity has Morning Worship at 11:00. Miss Jeanne Homewood is to sing a soprano solo, "Adore and Be Still" by C. Gounod. The choir sings for its anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord" by Dr. J. V. Roberts, with Mrs. Ruth Gilstad as soloist. Our organist, Melvin Brobst, plays for his prelude, "In a Garden" by Stairs, and for the postlude, Oberg's "Chorus of Praise." The pastor's sermon subject is "Shepherd of Tender Youth."

In the evening, the Methodist Youth Fellowship meets at 6:30. This is a change of time from the hour previously prevailing. We are to view a film. Sponsor of the MYF is Mrs. Evelyn McKenzie, and president is Miss Jean Walls.

The hour for the Evening Service is also changed, to 7:30 p. m. Pastor's topic, another hymn by Chas. Wesley, "A Charge to Keep I Have."

The Junior Choir rehearses after school, at 3:45 on Thursday. Director is Mrs. Wm. Shaw, and pianist is Mrs. C. Tharp Harrington. Senior Choir meets at 8:00, with its director, Melvin Brobst.

Flowers for last Sunday were supplied by Mrs. Joseph Fleming. This month, members of the Loyal Workers Class furnish altar flowers.

Coming: O.U.R. supper, Oct. 19; Layman's Day, Oct. 20.

The mothers of Junior Choir members met at the church last Wednesday evening at 7, to discuss the formation of a Junior Choir Auxiliary to help the director, Mrs. Wm. Shaw, with the choir business. The meeting was called by Mrs. Marie M. Callaway.

Church School 10 o'clock, Howard Wagner, supt. "Moral Standards in a Church" will be the theme of the lesson in the adult department based on Paul's letter to the Church at Corinth. The early church was constantly plagued with the creeping in of sub-Christian standards of morals which brought danger to the church. We haven't licked the problem yet for we face the same dangers today. The problem of what to do when it is discovered should be a good subject for discussion.

Morning Worship 11 o'clock. "A Pastor's Prayer" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon based on Paul's prayer for the Philippians. The service will feature the singing of the anthem "Teach Me to Live" by the Junior Choir and the anthem "At Worship" by the Cathedral Choir. Evening Worship 7:30 o'clock. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Joseph V. Holliday, pastor of Queenstown Methodist Church of Queenstown, Md. The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Melvin Brobst, will sing "Give Us" as their anthem for the evening.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship (MYF) will meet Monday evening at 6:30 for a "Sack Supper" to be followed by the worship service and recreation. All youth of the church are welcome. The Booster Class and other men of the church have just completed sanding and refinishing the floor of the Collins building for recreation for the youth and other groups of the church. So young people come out Monday evening for a good time.

The choirs will rehearse Thursday at 3:30, 6:30, and 7:45 o'clock.

The study course on the book of Mark will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Junior Department of the educational building. Everyone is welcome.

Altar flowers for this Sunday will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stauffer in memory of their daughter, Evelyn.

Crop Sale Boosts Delaware Farm Income

Delaware's gross cash farm income rose from 101 million dollars in 1955 to nearly 113 million dollars in 1956, according to a report made recently by Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware.

Dr. McDaniel said the 12 million dollar increase was chiefly from the sale of crops. Two-thirds of the advance came from the sale of corn, soybeans and potatoes. The increase in livestock and livestock product sales was less than one million dollars.

Gross cash farm receipts in 1956 were the largest since 1951, when Delaware farmers had receipts of 116 million dollars.

The net farm income of 81 million dollars in 1956 exceeded the 1955 net income by seven million dollars. This was two million dollars greater than the net farm income in 1951, the economist said.

Comparing past average net farm income figures, Dr. McDaniel noted: $4,761 in 1956, $3,577 in 1955, $2,460 in 1954, $3,493 in 1953, $3,453 in 1952, $3,617 in 1951 and $3,320 in 1950.

Net farm income figures for 1957 are not yet available, he said, but cash receipts from farm marketings for the first seven months of the year were 61 million dollars. Dr. McDaniel compared this to 57 million dollars for the same time in 1956.

Effects of this summer's drought will lower receipts considerably during remaining months of 1957 he pointed out.

"Return to Eden", Movie Available For Showing To All Organizations

A new movie, "Return to Eden", is available for showing to local farm organizations, service clubs and other groups. It describes the story of Soil Conservation Districts and the Soil Conservation Service.

It is presently being shown by Bruce Frazier, SCS farm planner, here in Kent County to several Grange Booster Night programs. The film is a 20-minute documentary story, and is supplemented with local applications by Mr. Frazier.

Conservation farmers increase conservation and build fertility while producing good crop yields.

Publication Explains Poultry Inspection Law

Features of the new compulsory poultry inspection law are explained in a new U.S. Department of Agriculture publication, "Questions and Answers on the Poultry Products Inspection Act".

The eight-page non-technical pamphlet discusses the major provisions of the law, how poultry processors will be affected, and the procedure for installation of inspection service.

Single copies of the publication may be obtained from the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C. Mention the title and ask for publication AMS-208.

FARM AND GARDEN QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Questions directed to the county agent on farm and garden problems in the public interest will be answered regularly in these columns.

Question: As I do not have any corn, due to drought, I would like advice as to which would be cheaper to buy—corn or dairy feed? B.M., Goldsboro, Md.

Answer: The answer must be qualified. If you have or can get other grains to mix with it, then it's cheaper to buy corn. Too, you can mix local corn with concentrate dairy feed to mix a 16% ration. The trick is to hold down the cost of any green feed—by using good silage and hay (which is also scarce). We are sending you more detailed information separately.

Question: What is the planting time for sweet clover seed? Can it be sown with barley? J.S., Frederica.

Answer: Fall seedings should be made in August or September. Chances for success are less as danger of frost increases. Spring seedings would probably be better now. It can be sown with any small grain, but will do better if the grain seeding is not too heavy.

Question: Please identify these worms. They are eating up the clover and there is a heavy infestation. J.S., Clayton.

Answer: These are fall armyworms—the second brood of an earlier infestation that must not have caused much trouble. You can spray with toxaphene, heptachlor or DDT—but not any hay crop you plant to harvest this fall.

Question: I have some amber cane. Does frost effect it like it does sudan grass? I. T., Marydel.

Answer: Yes, but both amber cane and sudan can be made safely into silage. Do NOT attempt to graze or pasture any of the sorghums after a frost. Prussic acid poisoning will affect the livestock.

Question: Would like you to send me a copy of the 1957 Yearbook of Agriculture, "Soil". J.Z., Dover.

Answer: I am forwarding your request to Senator Frear at Washington.

Centreville Dairyman Has Top Herd

Dairyman W. Levis Phipps, Centreville, has the highest producing herd in Delaware, according to a Dairy Herd Improvement Association report given today by Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware.

The report named the 10 highest producing herds that completed the past 12 months on DH IA test. Production records were taken from the Delaware DHIA summary received from the dairy husbandry research branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Phipps's registered and grade 40-cow Holstein herd averaged 12,427 pounds of milk, four per cent fat, and 502 pounds of fat per cow. H. Wallace Cook and Sons, Elkton, Md., developed the second highest producing herd.

Their registered Holsteins averaged 12,665 pounds of milk, 3.9 per cent fat, and 490 pounds of fat per cow.

The eight remaining, according to rank and total production were:

The church supper for their Saturday evening, Oct. 12, sponsored by Grace M. E. Church includes chicken salad and fried oysters, and features a gift tableber of pretty and useful items. 4-H Project

Winners Being Selected

State 4-H Club project winners are being selected from among 56 county winners chosen last month during an examination of project record books sent to the county extension office by Kent County club members.

County and state winners will be announced at the annual county 4-H achievement banquet this winter.

Selection of winners is more difficult this year than in past years, because record book quality has "improved very much." Also, County 4-H'ers are participating more in county and state activities.

4-H'ers who did not enter project books in competition still have time to receive credit for projects completed.

Four-H'ers wishing credit for current projects should get record books to the county extension office right away.

Although these records will not be eligible for county awards members must complete a project to receive the 4-H year pin.

him with the following guests: Miss Mary Lou Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman and children. The affair was not only a farewell dinner but also celebrated Eddie's 18th birthday.

Fertilizer Tells

Its Own Story

Three corn fertility plots are about ready for harvest in scattered farms of Kent County. Frank Springer, an agronomist at the University of Delaware, will be summarizing yield data in the next week or so.

One plot has been marked so that observers can check the various fertilizer treatments for themselves. It is along the main road immediately to the left of the William Attix home on the road from Cheswold to Kenton.

This plot seems to show the expected results to best advantage—namely, that heavier fertilizer applications can be expected to give greater yields if—a big if—sufficient rains come during the growing season.

The 100-bushel per acre corn yield contest of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association has demonstrated that over a period of time one can predict yields if given a normal growing season by varying the rates of fertilizer use.

The other two plots are located on the farms of James Tatman on the Canterbury road to Milford, and that of B. Lee Currey, which is on the Willow Grove road west of Wyoming. It remains to be seen, however, whether the lack of rainfall on these farms hurt development of the crop differences. Total yields are down over all of the county because of the dry growing season.

Fact Sheet on Girls' Coats Ready

Tips on selecting girls' coats for fall and winter are offered in a new fact sheet available on request at the county extension office or the University of Delaware School of Agriculture in Newark.

This one-sheet publication describes fabrics now popular on the market. Fabrics discussed are tweeds, fleece, sibilines, plaids and fur-type piles. Included are explanations of available car, storm and rain wear type coats.

Since labels can help you make a wise purchase and care for a coat properly, explanations of commonly-used label terms were listed in the fact sheet.

These include: All wool, reprocessed wool, reused wool, mitin, milium, orlon, dnyel, darlan, cashmere, alpaca, yarn repellent, fur-type pile, and silicone.

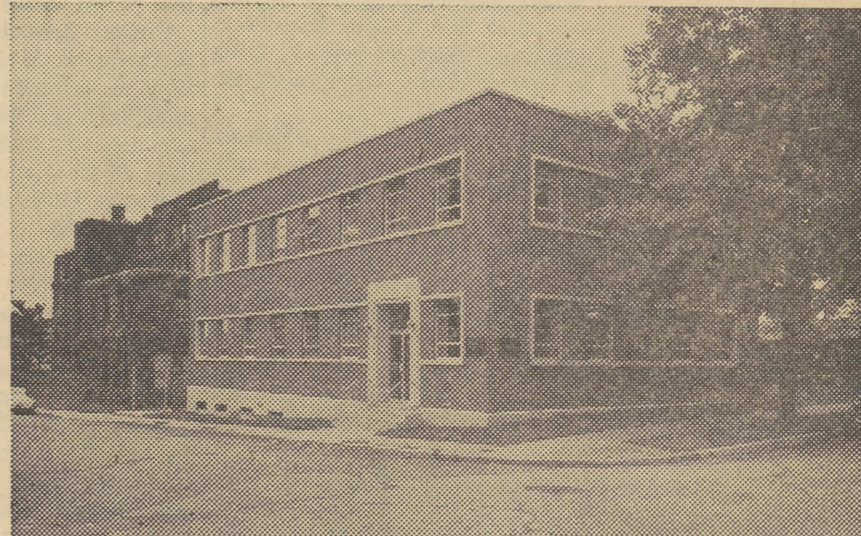

When requesting the new publications, ask for the recipe for better farming, better living "Girls' Coats for Fall and Winter," HE-2 (C1).

India will spend $6,400,000 to extend runways at airports in Bombay and New Delhi.

These plots are similar in that of 32 selected rows of corn, eight were treated with enough lime and fertilizer to provide plant food for a 100-bushel crop, eight rows for a 75-bushel crop, eight rows as the farmer normally treats his crop, and eight rows without any added fertilizer or lime at all.

Zack W. Wells, Former Vehicle Head, Is Dead

Zack M. Wells, 66, former city auditor and state motor vehicle commissioner, died about 4 p. m. Friday in the Delaware Hospital.

Mr. Wells, a former school teacher and Methodist minister whose forceful oratory and deep interest in public affairs made him one of the most widely known of Delaware Democrats, had been active in the party for 48 years and mentioned as a likely candidate for state senator and mayor of Wilmington at various times.

A life insurance broker in Wilmington for 30 years, Mr. Wells taught elementary school at Roxana following graduation from Wilmington Conference Academy, Dover, (now Wesley Junior College) and later entered Drew Seminary in Madison, N. J. from which he was graduated.

For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Wells had maintained a summer home at Fenwick Island and had been there since May of this year. He became ill during the summer and spent about three weeks at Beebe Hospital, Lewes, before being removed to the Delaware Hospital here last Sunday. His condition had been critical since Monday last week.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a brother, Thomas F. Wells of Cranberry, N.J., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the chapel of the Watson and Gray Funeral Home, Frankford. The Rev. Paul Methodist Church, Wilmington, McCoy, pastor of St. Paul's officiated. Interment was at Barratts Chapel Cemetery, near Frederica.

Soup Season Here Again

Summer's past, and soup season is here again.

Soup is recommended, because it can be served in minutes—and many homemade soups are easy to prepare.

For the weight-watcher, clear bouillon or consommé adds no calories, so is good with any meal or snack. Bouillon and tomato soup heated together with a few cloves is delicious and low in calories. Consommé julienne can be made quickly by adding shredded carrots, green beans, celery and onions to canned consommé.

For a wonderful Friday night dinner, serve hearty homemade oyster stew with a big vegetable salad and crusty rolls. Cook one pint of oysters, including liquids, in one-quarter cup melted butter. When the oyster edges curl, combine with one pint of milk and one-half cup cream. Season with a teaspoon of salt. Heat and serve immediately.

Potato soup is a favorite for family lunches. Chop and brown an onion in butter. Add a cup of mashed or cubed potatoes and two cups of milk. Then salt and pepper, and simmer five to 10 minutes.

Soup, like every food, tastes better if it looks good. Sprinkle paprika, chopped or dried parsley, chives or watercress on each steaming bowl or cupful before serving. Or garnish with papertin slices of lemon or lime.

Grated cheese melted or buttered toast strips makes a tasty accompaniment to soup. Maybe, you'd prefer sprinkling caraway seeds or thyme on buttered bread triangles before heating them under the broiler.

Plant Fall Bulbs For Winter Flowers

Fall bulbs planted in pots now will give you flowers this winter, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

He suggested tulips, narcissus, crocus or hyacinths. Plant five large bulbs in each six-inch pot, and bury the containers just underground outdoors. Cover the pots with a mulch—straw, evergreen trimmings or sawdust—so they will be easy to lift out of the ground this January.

Bring the plants indoors about mid-January, and you'll have flowers about six weeks later.

For potting soil use a mixture of three parts soil, one of sand, and one part peat. Put two level table-spoons of garden fertilizer, say a 5-10-10, in every six-inch pot, the agent advised. Pot bulbs with the nose just under the soil.

Some annuals that are still flowering in the garden can be potted and brought indoors to add color for a few weeks, Vapaa said. These will not usually grow indoors all winter because of insufficient light.

When potting the annuals, take smaller plants from the garden. Dwarf marigolds or petunias were suggested. Lift the plants carefully to disturb roots as little as possible, and plant in a "suitably-sized" pot.

Social Security News

The right of a woman to change her mind is well known the world around, and the Social Security Act now gives women reaching age 62 a chance to exercise that traditional right.

Take the case of the woman who recently called at the Wilmington social security office a few days after her 62nd birthday. She had worked as a stenographer for many years, but gave up her job two years ago to devote more time to her home and grandchildren. She called at the office to find out what her social security payments would be, and when she could begin receiving them.

A little figuring disclosed that her payments would be $78.50 a month if she applied at age 65, or $62.80 per month if she applied now.

The $16 a month difference made her decide to wait until age 65 to make application.

Two weeks later, however, she was back in the office, and made this statement: "I've decided that I can use the money now, that I'll be ahead for the first 15 years." She filed her application and is now getting her monthly checks at the $62.80 rate.

Women workers, and wives of retired workers, between the ages of 62 and 65 have the choice of taking a reduced rate prior to age 65, or of getting full benefits at 65. Once the choice is made, and application is approved, however, the decision is final, and the woman cannot change her mind again. The amount of the monthly benefit will not be increased when they reach age 65. Women who qualify for widow's benefits, or benefits as dependent mothers, can receive benefits at age 62 without any reduction being applied.
