

H. H. S. Wins At Milford Homecoming Game Sat.

K. S. BURGESS

"Tuesday Morning Quarterback" Harrington High's surprising football team won its fourth straight game in a row by downing Milford High's Jayvees, Monday night, 19 to 6. The host team included ten men from the varsity. Most of these were used frequently in Milford High's regularly scheduled games. Since they were all sophomores, they were eligible to play against Harrington. Their presence kept the game closer and consequently more interesting.

The locals kicked off to Milford to start the game. After containing the Milford attack, Harrington scored on the second play from scrimmage. Quarterback Jimmy Schiff rolled out around right end and with the aid of timely blocking and a jolting stiff-arm, was soon in the clear, racing 64 yards for the touchdown.

H. H. S. scored again in the first half when Ron Correll plunged through the line. Milford threatened twice in the first half, but was stopped by Harrington's aroused defense. Speedy Wayne Sullivan, Milford track star, who is used often by the varsity, was headed for an apparent touchdown when Jack Porter made a last ditch tackle. Soon after Milford drove almost to the goal line but were stopped by Harrington's line on a fourth down and two-to-go situation. The half ended with our team in front 12-0, having missed both extra point tries.

Early in the second half H. H. S. was deep in our own territory and unable to move the ball. Joe Kliment got off a kick that was partially blocked but still traveled a good distance. John Taylor was Johnny-o-the-spot, when he dashed swiftly up the field and pounced on the ball as it rolled between enemy players' legs. Coach Jeffers boys threatened again soon after, when bruising Bobby Wilson, bowling over would-be tacklers, was stopped by the last man between him and the goal line. Milford stopped this threat but soon after made the mistake of passing deep in their own territory. Ron Correll intercepted and made a beautiful run-back, bolting almost to the end zone before he was finally downed. Milford halted a couple of plays, but Wilson then tore through center and took half the Milford team with him across the goal. As he trotted off the field after this feat, he told the delighted H. H. S. rooters that "They had made him mad." Jack Porter added the extra point on a line plunge to make the score, H. H. S. 19, and Milford 0.

Coach Jeffers, in the waning moments of the game, cleared the bench of the clean-suited reserves, and it was only then that Milford was able to avoid a coat of white-wash. Wayne Sullivan took the kick-off and raced 85 yards for a T. D. without a hand being laid on him. Perhaps the boys didn't want to get those clean uniforms dirty with the game virtually over.

Sullivan, the son of Harry Milton Sullivan, formerly attended Harrington school.

Harrington's passing attack looked better with Ron Collison completing one to Jim Temple for twenty yards, and Schiff connecting on one to Porter for 9 yards. The latter pass set up a first down when Milford had slowed down the running attack.

Long, Long Ago, Long Ago

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD STATION IN THE SEVENTIES — Information from Harrington's oldtimers indicates this picture might have been taken in the seventies, and that the wooden depot stood on the site of the present brick structure. So far, the individuals in the picture have not been identified. Can the readers identify them? The picture was lent us by George Jupiter Swain, now in the hospital. On the back of the photo is the name, "Mr. J. T. or J. S. Tharp." William W. Sharp, still spry at 86, says this is Jehu Tharp, who owned considerable land north of Liberty Street from Fleming Street for building lots. He was infatuated with a Mrs. Weiner, widow of a wealthy Philadelphia silk merchant, and named Weiner Avenue for her. Mrs. Weiner was connected with the Hardestys and the Franklins. Annie Hardesty married Will Franklin. Annie Hardesty's mother and Mrs. Weiner's mother were sisters. Mrs. Weiner never lived here but visited here occasionally. She bought and improved a residence at 8 Dorman St., the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Derrickson. The late Martha Callaway also lived in it. When Mrs. Weiner owned the property, it was next to Harrington's first schoolhouse, on the southeast corner of Dorman and Mechanic Streets. The Methodist Protestants held their first meetings on the second floor of the school. Mr. Sharp said he was no more than 8 years old at the time.

Railroad News

Old 559 sat silently in the Pennsylvania Railroad roundhouse at Enola, Pa., dreaming the dreams of a retired steam engine. The diesels and the electricians had taken over all the runs, and there was nothing left for the old Iron Horse to do but wait for the scrapper's blow torch. But wait a minute. Along came a road foreman, and an equipment supervisor. Old 559 heard some one say, "That one will do."

Old 559 almost snorted through the smoke stack. "They mean me?" was the incredulous thought. They did mean Old 559, an LS-1 type of steam locomotive, and steam is what was wanted by the Eastern Shore Rendering Company of Cambridge, Md. A recent boiler failure created an emergency, and the company requested assistance from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

All sorts of wheels, organizations, communication and actual locomotive driving wheels went into action. Old 559 was brought out of storage, inspected, fired up and dispatched to Cambridge, 434 miles away.

Old 559 proudly answered the throttle for Engineman W. W. Thorn, who had charge of the old steamer from Enola to Edgemoor. Here Engineman F. B. Haines took control for the remainder of the run to Cambridge.

Now Old 559 sits on a siding, pumping the needed steam into the factory while the needed repairs on the regular system are made. The Iron Horse will continue to provide service at the terminal end of a long and honorable service for about three weeks more. Then, back to Enola and return to the dreams of the days when steam was supreme.

He added that the law would be enforced.

Micro Midget News

For three weeks the weather man has reported the same news toward the end of the week. At the Blue Hen Speedway the sun always seems to shine through even though its in the thin form of contingency—"Just one more race before it freezes over!" With the mud knee deep and the winds high, townspeople are very faithful with their presence at the track. Some new cars have made their debut lately, some new motors, increasing membership, all adding to the track's continuance. The boys may have to protract for a few weeks this winter, but so far the weather has faced undaunted men and shivering spectators.

The Blue Hen organization is not a fancy passing bauble. This short season of racing has formed opinions that the track is here to stay. It is getting strength through each member as two or more "bolts" are stronger than one on a racer, and so it is with membership. Membership combines skill and work and consumes much time. There have been problems as rough as the track sometimes is. With each meeting of the organization, these chasms are filled. Other perforations are bound to follow in both the track and personal opinions. If you like to see competition between men and motors the new racing time is 1:30, south of Harrington at the Blue Hen Speedway.

Sunday's results were as follows, and reported by the pit steward, Stanley Clark.

Two Airmen From Dover Held in Thefts

Two airmen from the Dover Air Force base who state police detectives say, broke into five places in New Castle County, one near Harrington, two in Maryland and a number of others in Pennsylvania, have been arrested in Doylestown, Pa.

Marvin H. Komer, 21, of Allentown, Pa., and Ezra E. Doty, 19, of near Warwick, N. Y., were arrested by police of Doylestown, Pa., for a number of Pennsylvania burglaries and are being held in the Bucks County, Pa., jail in default of bail.

Detectives from State Road Troop 2 visited Doylestown Saturday, conferred with authorities there, and questioned the two youths. Detainers will be lodged against the two airmen by Delaware state police.

Detectives said the youths broke into the following places: Samuel Kirk's Texaco Station and Sporting Goods Store, Newark, on May 28; Gulf station at Milford Cross Roads, Kenneth Taylor, prop., Sept. 26; Pleasantville Market, Anthony Barone, prop., on the Har's Corner - Christiana Road, July 9; Ogle-town Liquor Store, Stanley Rosen, prop., July 9; Park Pharmacy, Milton Salkind, prop., and Callaway's Furniture Store on Route 13 north of Harrington.

Two places in Cecil County, Md., were broken into and articles were stolen.

State police detectives said the youths made frequent trips between the base at Dover and Komer's home in Allentown and broke into a number of places on the way back and forth.

They are both members of the 1737 Ferrying Squadron at the Dover base. In their lockers, police said, a variety of articles stolen in Delaware, Maryland, and Pennsylvania have been found.

The Callaway establishment was entered thru a rear door the last week in July, and windows and small appliances were stolen.

Early Heifer Care Important

Care of heifers for the first two years is mighty important, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, said today, pointing out that a heifer with good care can be a high-producing cow.

For the first six months cleanliness, dry stalls, plenty of light, and freedom from drafts are essentials. Even though mother's milk is excellent, calf starters are satisfactory substitutes if fed as directed, he said.

High quality forage supplemented with enough grain to keep growth normal is all right the second six months, the agent continued. Only limited use should be made of pasture and silage. He reminded to have calves vaccinated for Bangs and blackleg diseases near the end of the first year.

Good quality forage alone is okay from one to two years of age, Mr. Vapaa noted. Animals during this period can be fed in large groups if enough feeding space is on hand.

Along with all the good quality forage they will eat, offer enough grain for growth and thriftiness to animals that don't grow properly. In cases where unthriftiness continues with good feeding of roughage and grain, call a veterinarian to check for stomach and intestinal parasites, the county agent said.

And remember to start offering plenty of salt and minerals when heifers are about four-months-old and particularly after six months.

Swine Growers To Meet Nov. 19

Delaware swine producers will meet on Tues., Nov. 19, to hear a New Jersey swine specialist, according to Ray Lloyd, Sussex County assistant agricultural agent. Professor George Vandernoot, Extension Livestock Specialist of Rutgers University, will talk on swine feeding and management practices of interest to the breeder and feeder. The speaker has been a member of the New Jersey Livestock Department for the last twenty years with wide experience in swine production work.

The subject of legislation concerning Hog Cholera vaccination will also be covered by Charles Mills, Lewes. Mr. Mills has met in Washington with House Agricultural Committee members for a hearing on this pending legislation. All swine growers should be interested in this topic.

This meeting is being held jointly by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service and the Delaware Swine Producers' Association. New association officers for 1958 will be elected at a short business session after the program.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the Poultry Building of the Delaware Agriculture Sub-Station on the Laurel - Georgetown highway. All swine

Social Security News Notes

Some elderly couples in Delaware will receive notice this month that their social security checks will be combined into a single check, beginning in January, Myron Milbouer, district manager of the Wilmington social security office announced today.

Altogether 4000 couples in the State who are receiving separate social security benefit checks as husband and wife will be notified in subsequent months, Milbouer said, usually at least two months before they will be paid their first combined checks.

This new payment procedure is expected to save the Government about $1 million a year. Payment of only one check, representing the combined monthly benefit amounts of a retired worker and his wife, was started on a trial basis in September 1956, but was limited mainly to families in which the wife first became entitled to benefits in September of 1956 or later. In its 10 months of operation, the new payment method has proved successful and productive of substantial savings, Milbouer said, and will therefore be extended, beginning in January, 1958, to elderly couples who were on the social security rolls before September 1956.

No combination of social security benefits payable to a husband and wife will be made where they are not living together or where all or part of the wife's benefit is based upon her own record of work under social security. Any person who has a special need for separate check may, when he gets his notice, arrange with his social security office for his payments to continue by separate check.

With more than 10 million men, women and children receiving monthly social security benefits, and with the number increasing each month, the total cost of issuing checks has become a major concern of the Social Security Administration and of the Treasury Department. It costs more than 5 cents to prepare and mail each check, including postage, check stock, envelopes, manpower, and other supplies and equipment.

If payment by separate check was continued to the more than 1,700,000 wives (or dependent husbands) of retired workers now on the social security benefit rolls, he noted, it would mean the issuance of 20,400 checks per year. Even with the continued issuance of separate checks to couples who are living apart and to those who for some other reason prefer to be paid separately, savings are expected to amount to at least $1,000,000 annually.

Milbouer pointed out that the combination of a husband's and wife's benefits into a single check in no way affects the right of either one of them to his or her benefit, or the amount of that benefit. Both of them must sign their names on the back of the check before it can be cashed.

Frederica Man Killed on Road

Wingate Hoffington, of Frederica, was killed when struck by a car while attempting to cross Route 13 about one-half mile south of Canterbury. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Kent General Hospital in Dover at 8:35 p. m.

State troopers at Dover said Hoffington walked directly into the path of a car operated by Nancy Moore, 23, of Bivalve, Md. The vehicle was traveling south, police said.

The impact knocked the man several feet away, police said. Hoffington was taken to the hospital in the Harrington ambulance. He died of a head injury, and also suffered fractures of both legs and hip.

Some Delinquent Kids Are Passing the Buck

Some Delinquent Kids Are Passing the Buck. Recently a high school boy was being subjected to questioning on a misdemeanor in which he had been caught, the time of the wrongdoing almost midnight. Why, asked the questioner, did you do it? And the boy replied: "There's just nothing for us kids to do! "Do you think," asked the teacher, "That Pella people should have a program of recreation for you through the night?" There was of course, no reply.

And just recently a group of boys and girls was chided by an elder for creating a disturbance in the evening—ringing doorbells, calling names, shrieking like little mobsters. Asked an elder, "Why do you behave like this? You know better." And the reply: "It's your fault. We haven't got anything to do!" The same children had attended the recreation program at the schools in the morning and had enjoyed the pool in the afternoon.

"We've talked so much about recreation programs for the children and let our concern for them be so evident that the kids are using the business against us. The word has passed around: "Just tell them we haven't got anything to do and you can get by with anything."

Don't Be the Sucker For "Bait" Advertising

George Reynolds, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, cautions homeowners to be on guard against the "bait" advertisers in the purchase of combination storm-and-screen windows and doors. Reynolds stated that although a majority of combination storm-and-screen window and door industry are trustworthy, a small minority in the industry are making use of "bait" advertising and other types and misrepresentation. Lack of public information about the scheme has made it highly profitable to the promoters.

The chamber executive noted that, in many cases, misleading advertisements in this field feature a "sensationally low price" for a complete combination storm window, often including installation. Actually, he said research indicates that a good quality installed window cannot sell for "the sensationally low" prices quoted by such promoters in their ads.

These low price quotations may be a type of bait advertising according to Reynolds. Frequently the promoter has no intention of selling any windows at the "sensationally low" advertised price. Instead, the salesman will attempt to "switch" the prospective customer to a higher-priced item.

Salesmen for unscrupulous firms will frequently state that the advertised window is of extremely poor quality. Such salesmen will sometimes say that delivery of the advertised window will take many weeks or months. Other disparaging statements are made about the advertised product, in order to make it easy to "switch" the customer.

The Chamber Manager states that firms which employ bait advertising frequently prove to be untrustworthy or unscrupulous in overcharge for the windows that they do sell to the customer. Also unscrupulous firms frequently enter into installation contracts with untrained or unskilled workmen. The result is that the windows and doors may be so poorly installed as to render them useless.

The "guarantees" given by such firms may also prove to be of little or no value, according to Reynolds. Such guarantees are sometimes elaborately printed, and they appear to be very generous in their provisions. However, when difficulties arise, the customer may find that the company has moved or has gone out of business. If the company can be located, efforts to secure service and adjustments in accordance with the guarantee may prove to be completely futile.

Sussex Boy, 13, Is Fatally Injured by Companion

A 13-year-old Greenwood boy, who walked about 100 yards to the office of a physician after being mortally wounded by a shot fired by a companion, died shortly after being admitted to the Milford Memorial Hospital at 6:25 p. m. Thurs., Nov. 7.

The victim, Ronald Wayne Willey, suffered the accidental wound while in the living room at the home of a companion, Raymond K. Conway, 15, who state police at Bridgeville said, was displaying his newly acquired .22 calibre rifle to Ronald and another youth.

Police said the boys had been shooting at birds before returning to the house. The mother of the Conway youth was absent at the time and the three youths were seated in chairs in the living room when the weapon was accidentally discharged.

The bullet pierced the right jaw of the Willey youth and came out the left side of the neck, cutting the jugular vein.

Troopers said Ronald left the house after being shot and walked to the office of Dr. C. Greylock Noble on Pennwell Street, about 100 yards away, for aid.

They said the physician was not available at the time and a call was made for the Bridgeville ambulance.

The boy lost considerable

Reduce Soybean Harvest Loss

Soybean harvesting losses can be cut in half, increasing yields two to three bushels an acre, estimates George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Farmers now lose about 16 per cent of the bean harvest from shatter, cutter bar and reel, cylinder, separation and cleaning mishaps, the agent pointed out.

He added that it takes only four beans left per square foot to total a bushel an acre.

To reduce shatter losses to about one per cent, Mr. Vapaa recommended harvesting before the beans get too dry. Cut as close to the ground as possible to reduce cutter bar losses, he said, because each additional inch in height of cut means an average loss of 1.4 bushels an acre.

The agent noted that cutter bar losses also can be cut down by adjusting the reel speed 25 to 50 per cent faster than ground speed. His higher speed does a better job of laying beans on the platform, but adds to losses from shattered pods. Three or four extension fingers on each bar also will help prevent pile-up on the cutter bar when you work in lodged or down vines.

Cylinder losses show up in cracked beans, the county agent said, especially if the beans are too mature. They should be threshed at a cylinder speed about one-half normal, or as low as 400 to 500 rpm's. To reduce separation losses, use more air than when combining wheat. Don't let too many beans get into the tailings, since they will probably be cracked the second time they go through the cylinder.

For cleaner beans, use larger weed screens than with wheat, the agricultural agent advised, saying that if you can get a premium for clean beans it will pay to get a cleaning attachment for the bin elevator. If you use some beans for seed, leave these pods unthreshed rather than over-threshing and damaging the beans. Mr. Vapaa said cracked beans will germinate poorly.

The agent has one final suggestion to reduce harvest losses. He urged level and clean cultivation next summer, leaving little if any ridge.

Worrilow Receives Honor Award

The Grand Council of Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity of cooperative extension service workers, yesterday (Nov. 10) paid tribute to Director George M. Worrilow of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Director Worrilow was presented with a certificate of recognition for outstanding service in extension work in Delaware, the announcement said.

He was given the award yesterday in Denver, Colo., at the 71st annual convention of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities.

Worrilow, who also is dean of the University of Delaware School of Agriculture and director of the state Agriculture Experiment Station, has served on the University of Delaware staff since 1927. He was appointed professor of dairy husbandry and extension specialist in 1941.

He was named associate director of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service in 1943, and director of the experiment station and extension service in 1948. In 1954 he was appointed dean of the School of Agriculture.

He was honored in 1954 by his alma mater, the University of Maryland, with the degree of doctor of agriculture for leadership in his own state. The degree also was conferred for distinguished and effective service in furthering educational and research programs in agriculture. The dean's state posts have included membership on the governor's committee on the reorganization of the state government, secretary of the Delaware State Poultry Commission, and chairman of the water resources study committee appointed by the governor.

Dean Worrilow's career as an agriculturist has included interests outside Delaware. He holds a number of committee posts in the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities, is a member of the Council of State Governments and is associate director of the Atlantic Dairy Association.

In 1922, Dean Worrilow was a member of the American 4-H Club dairy cattle judging team that represented the United States at the Royal Livestock Show at Cambridge, England, and won the London Dairy Mail-gold cup. He was active in 4-H Club work in Maryland.

He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, Epsilon Sigma Phi, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honor society for men.

Dean Worrilow was born and reared on a Cecil County, Md. farm and attended public school there.

N. C. County Schedules Farm-City Program

A New Castle County Farm-City Week program has been scheduled Nov. 20 by the county agricultural extension service in cooperation with the Wilmington Kiwanis Club.

"The agriculture-business" afternoon session will be held at the Penn Manor Farm, Corner Ketch. An announcement by Edward H. Schabinger, county agricultural agent, noted that city people are especially welcome.

Farm-City Week activities will continue in Dover Nov. 25 and 26 with a Delaware Chop Improvement Association-Dover Kiwanis program. A crops show, crops and soils short course, and awards and service club banquets have been slated for the two days at Capital Grange Hall.

Farm-City Week will be observed Nov. 22-27 in the United States and Canada.

After registration and a tour of Penn Manor Farm at 2 p. m., visitors will hear Dean George M. Worrlow, University of Delaware school of agriculture, speak on how the state is changing.

City visitors will be asked to "compete" by judging farm machinery, cows, grain, and farm buildings to estimate costs and production. Schabinger said the purpose is to familiarize urban people with farm costs and production. In a final contest, people will be asked to guess what it costs to begin farming today.

Agricultural exhibits will be set up by the county Soil Conservation District, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, and 4-H Clubs.

The object of a Farm-City Week is to bring about better understanding between urban and rural people.

U. D. Agronomist to Speak at Atlanta Meeting

Leo J. Cotnoir, Jr., University of Delaware agronomist, will speak at the 50th annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy Nov. 17-22 at Atlanta, Ga.

The school of agriculture researcher will be among over 400 speakers during the five-day golden jubilee sessions in the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel there.

Cotnoir will discuss the effect of residues and related materials and environmental factors in the production of microbial gums and soil aggregation. His topic is the result in cooperation with Dr.

L. Lynch, university research agronomist, and Miss J. K. Barczewski, graduate assistant in agronomy.

Some 1,500 society members and guests are expected to attend the Atlanta meeting. Representatives from the University of Delaware will be Cotnoir, Dr. Henry W. Indyk, agronomist; Dr. Peter B. Dubach, agricultural chemist; and Dr. Lynch.

Meeting speakers will come from various colleges experiment stations, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and commercial organizations located throughout the country. They will report on farm crops and soil improvement research.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson will deliver the principal address at a special program Nov. 19. He will talk on new frontiers in agriculture.

The sessions will include special business meetings, divisional election of officers, annual committee reports, panel discussions, and meetings of associated groups.

Univ. Spec. to Attend Outlook Conference

Three specialists from the University of Delaware school of agriculture will attend the 35th National Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington, D. C.

They are Miss Patricia A. Middleton, extension home management specialist; Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics; and Willard T. McAllister, extension marketing specialist.

The trio will attend the November 18-21 conclave with extension service economists and home management specialists from 46 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The four-day meeting will be devoted to study of the national and international economic outlook long-time agricultural trends, and the immediate outlook for agriculture, including specific agricultural commodities.

Representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's marketing research, foreign agriculture, forestry, commodity stabilization, and federal extension services will participate in the meeting.

Topics of the November 18 program include the world situation as it affects the outlook for agriculture, a discussion of the implications of the world situation to agriculture, and a study of the national economical situation and outlook for 1958.

Nov. 19, the program will center on the agricultural and family living outlook for 1958, and the effects of marketing changes on the outlook. Discussion topics will include nutrition research and education, marketing costs, and domestic and foreign market development.

Discussions the last two days will be on the outlook for specific agricultural commodities and for family living.

Choose Home Color Scheme as Wardrobe Planned

Choose colors for decorating your home as you would plan a wardrobe, suggests Miss Patricia A. Middleton, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

In planning a color scheme that characterizes your family, she said, select a foundation color to dominate and tie a room together. Other colors in the room should not create unrelated spots, but blend the whole pleasingly.

Three colors are sufficient for an interesting room color scheme, Miss Middleton advised — but these should not be used in equal quantities. The scheme might be one color dominating, with smaller parts of the second blended with accents of the third.

Think of the room as having three major color elements, the home specialist said. These are the background, secondary, and highlight colors. The background color, or walls and ceiling color, sets the mood of the room. To create an effective room with bright, eye-catching wall color, she recommended keeping furnishings simple, not overcrowding, avoiding elaborate accessories, and keeping other colors to a minimum.

Secondary colors are used in draperies, upholstery, or floor coverings, Miss Middleton continued. Since these cover a smaller area than background colors, they may be brighter and more intense.

She pointed out that a small room can be made "larger," by putting background color on both walls and the woodwork, while having a slightly deeper or lighter color for furniture.

The highlight color, used in accessories, can have a bright note. Highlight colors should never be used only once, the specialist concluded.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

The women of St. Stephen's will present their United Thanks offering at the eleven o'clock service, Sun., Nov. 17. Those who wish to contribute to this great missionary effort of our national church will turn in their blue boxes or an envelope marked "U. T. O.", after the regular offering. These special gifts will also be presented at the altar. Last year's United Thank offering in our diocese amounted to $12,600, which will be part of the sum credited to us at the 1958 Triennial Convention. Schools and hospitals and churches have been built with money received through the United Thank Offering. The airplane used by the Bishop of Alaska, called "The Blue Box," was purchased by means of contributions from our Women's Auxiliary.

The Every Member Canvassers met last Thursday evening at the Parish House. After they enjoyed the supper especially prepared for this group of willing workers, plans were laid out for contacting every member of our church, and for visiting every family connected with our church organization in any capacity. The visitations will be for the purpose of securing pledges for our 1958 church program, as well as for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with one another.

It was decided to schedule the canvass for one day only, possibly a Sunday, so that the work may be done promptly and all returns quickly assembled and tabulated.

Conscientious Episcopalians who find themselves undecided as to what amount they should pledge may be helped by reading an editorial in the October issue of "Now" on the subject, "Is Tithing Christian?" Perhaps the core of the matter may be summed up by stating, "What the Gift Costs the Giver Is What Counts!"

It is only on the basis of the pledges made by our church people that a working budget for next year can be formulated. An organization like our church, in order to function effectively, from a business standpoint, must have some tentative budget to work with.

Mrs. Edward C. Brown, Sr., and Mrs. Gilbert Keim helped prepare the supper for this Every Member Canvass Meeting. Acolytes for the twenty-first Sunday after Trinity were Robert Quillen, Frank Welch, Robert Grier, Charles McNally, Wayne Porter, Ronnie Porter and Albert Lee Ratledge.

The annual diocesan Acolytes' Festival will be held Sunday at St. Paul's Church, Georgetown. The service will begin at 4 p. m. with the Rev. Brewster Yale Beach as preacher. A covered dish supper will follow the evening prayer service. There will be a color film of the 1956 professional football championship game.

It is hoped that a large group of young men will represent St. Stephen's at this festival, where it will be possible to become better acquainted with boys from other parishes, interested in serving their churches in this particular capacity.

Because of the Acolytes' Festival, there will be no meeting of the Teens' Group on Sunday afternoon. The next scheduled session will be 5 p. m., Nov. 24. Coffee hour hostesses last Sunday were Mrs. William Hearn, and Mrs. Granville Hill.

St. Stephen's Women's Auxiliary met at the Parish House on Tuesday, at 8 p. m., Mrs. Robert McNally presiding. After a devotional session, various items of business were considered, among them, the sale of Christmas cards, ribbon, and paper, the Church school Christmas goodies, decorations for the holidays, toys for the children at the hospital for the Mentally Retarded.

Announcement was made of the Women's Auxiliary Education Day to be held at Christ Church, Dover, on Friday, Nov. 22. All Episcopal Churches in Kent and Sussex Counties will participate. Holy Communion will be celebrated at eleven o'clock in the morning. The Rev. Victor A. Kusick will talk on the healing services held each week at St. Luke's Seaford, sponsored by five churches in this area. At the afternoon session Mrs. Dora Chaplain will speak on "Christian Life and the Woman of Today."

The dance committee composed of Mesdames James F. Coady, Gilbert H. Keim, George R. Johnson, Miss Irene Ford, Herbert L. Chamberlain, Robert Creadick, Robert Nelson, Robert Quillen, Granville Hill, and Robert McNally have announced that square dancing will be given at the Parish House on Thurs., Nov. 14, 7:30 p. m. Robert McNally will be the caller.

The Junior Teens' Group met for the first time last Sunday at 5 p. m., under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creadick. This enthusiastic group of young people enjoyed their get-together. The girls cooked and served the refreshments while a business session was held. After the gathering, the boys and girls took their places in the Junior Choir procession at evening prayer.

Robert McNally will represent St. Stephen's at the Parish Life Conference, held Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15-16 at Memorial House, Rehoboth. The Conference will work toward the definite goal of "involving all participants in thinking through and responding to the basic claims of the Christian Gospel in their lives." Clergy from within our own diocese and from other dioceses will be leaders of the discussion.

Church events and services for this week and next are as follows: Thursday, square dance instruction at the Parish House; Sunday, 8 a. m., Holy Communion, 8:35 a. m.; Breakfast Club, 9:30 a. m.; Church School, 10:40 a. m.; choir assembly, 11 a. m. Gathering for the Acolytes' Festival at Georgetown; 7 p. m., evening prayer; Monday, 7 p. m., Junior Choir rehearsal; Tuesday, 10 a. m., Holy Communion with intercessions for the sick; 7 p. m., Acolytes' meeting; Wednesday, 8 p. m., healing service at St. Luke's Seaford.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

The flowers this month are presented by the O. U. R. Class. held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Knox, Jr.

The Commission on Education, of which Mrs. Tharp Harrington is chairman, met at the church last Monday and discussed plans for the Christmas program.

The last session in the study course in "Mark," which the women of Trinity and Asbury are taking together and which is taught by Rev. Richard Gibson, is held tonight.

Every Thursday evening the senior choir rehearses under the direction of Melvin Brobst (8:00). Every Thursday afternoon at 3:45 the junior choir assembles for practice with Mrs. Wm. W. Shaw. They are both busy on Christmas music.

The women of the W. S. C. S. meet each Monday at 10:00 a. m. in the church for a weekly prayer meeting, and make intercession for particular needs of the community, families, and individuals as requested.

For Sunday, November 17, services are at the usual times: Sunday School at 10:00, morning worship at 11:00, and evening service at 7:30. However, the Methodist Youth Fellowship meets a little earlier than it has been doing, that is it is to meet from 6:00 to 7:00 p. m. This hour is filled with games and worship. An interesting program is arranged every week for young people, and they are all invited. Remember, if you are twelve years old and up to twenty-two, this is your particular group to attend Sunday evening.

On Sunday the pastor preaches on "The Angel in the Sun," in the morning, and on "The Witness is Yourself," in the evening.

Hackett Competes in Cross-Country Event

by K. H. Burgess

Dwight Hackett, Harrington High's ace distance runner, competed in the high school state championship cross-country race at Rockford Park in Wilmington on Wed., Nov. 6. The event is over a distance of 2.3 miles. Dwight performed creditably, finishing 20th in a field of 45 runners. He was the only downstate entry. All the other runners had been over the course many times, and have had much experience, while Hackett has run only one mile race and has run only a half dozen or so half-mile races under his belt as he is a member of the high school football team, and is unable to practice running enough to realize his maximum potential.

He is entered in the State open cross-country championship run Saturday, at Rockford Park.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Hoberton

Sharp winds and crisp air are here and with them has come an increased supply of pork. Prices tumbled on such things as fresh pork roast, chops, shoulder roast and also on bacon. Most prices lost 2c to 4c on a pound so look around and shop wisely. Fresh hams are not dropping in price, but some smoked shoulders are. Beef will be on the bargain counter also this weekend. Look for good buys on chuck roast, serloin and porterhouse steaks and ground meat. As far as lamb goes, look for a price drop on lamb chops and in some stores leg-of-lamb.

Poultry remains low in price. The quality is excellent and for as little as 89c you can give the family a beautiful golden brown fried chicken for dinner. Turkey supplies are still increasing and prices remain relatively low, the best buy being among the heavy birds. There is a tendency toward increasing prices on the small Beltsville-type turkey which are relatively scarce right now.

The leafy green vegetable remain the best buy quality-wise as well as price-wise. Beautiful supplies of all kinds are available; Kale, spinach, some mustard greens. Root vegetables are also good buy. Cabbage, cauliflower, dried onions, sweet and white potatoes make the "good buy" list this week.

Other vegetables have gone up a little in price this week, such as eggplant, peppers, tomatoes, celery and cucumbers.

Glazed fruits and packaged nuts are in evidence in all markets both big and small—all reminding us of the holidays to come. Fresh coconuts are selling for 19c each; chestnuts for 33c a lb.

Apples and oranges are excellent buys this week. You can buy most any variety of apple now with prices ranging from 9 to 18c a lb. Oranges are small but full of juice and averaging 33c a dozen.

(Due to constantly changing market conditions; the above information should not be used after November 16.)

Asbury Church To Hold Dinner

Four years ago an annex to the Collins Educational Building of Asbury Methodist Church of Harrington was erected to relieve the overcrowded conditions of the Church School at a cost of $35,000, besides many hours of labor donated by the men of the church.

In this lovely annex are the class rooms for the Beginners, the Primary, and the Junior Departments, a room for a class of young adults, the kitchen and rest rooms. The debt has been reduced to $2850, and a movement has been planned to liquidate the balance on December 8, so that the note can be burned. As one means to that end, the entire church will unite to serve a turkey dinner Wednesday, at 4:30 p. m.

Because it is hoped that every member and all its organizations will want to make a contribution to the paying of the debt, there will be no solicitations for donations for the dinner. It will be served on a cash basis and will be an event of good fellowship in the community. However if any one desires to make a donation of cash or of provisions which will be needed, they will be gratefully accepted. The entire net proceeds from this dinner will go to the Building Fund.
