The Pennsylvania Railroad expects to discontinue passenger service on the Cape Charles line south of Delmar early in January.

The request for discontinuance has been approved by the Virginia Public Service Commission, and the Maryland Public Service Commission is expected to give approval within the next few days.

Freight service will continue over the entire line.

Railroad officials said they have been averaging less than one passenger a day over the 110-mile stretch from Delmar to Cape Charles, about 80 miles of which are in Virginia.

There is one passenger run per day each way. The schedules between Philadelphia and Delmar will remain unchanged, the railroad said, the southbound train leaving Philadelphia at 12:20 a. m., Wilmington at 12:50, and arriving in Delmar at 4:55 a. m. The northbound train will leave Delmar at 6:15 p. m., Wilmington at 9:50, and arrive in Philadelphia at 10:40.

Last Friday, A. E. Hantwerker, mayor of Delmar and a representative of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, accompanied by E. Bloxom Daugherty, also of the brotherhood, went to Richmond to protest the elimination of the service to the Virginia Public Service Commission.

Rebekahs Hold Christmas Party

Despite weather conditions Friday night, the Rachel Rebekah Lodge No. 7 held a most enjoyable Christmas party in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Members and friends were here from Wilmington to join the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows on this social occasion. The hall and tables were beautifully decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

Following the supper, gifts were exchanged which was a pleasure to witness.

A very brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Angie Potter, Noble Grand. During January there will be a membership drive. Also a drive to revive the attendance of the older members.

A social hour followed, Sister Hopkins winning the door prize, Sister Hutson the pig and Brother Williams from Wilmington the boo-bie.

We are always glad to welcome our Sister and Brother members.

Pilgrim Holiness Church Notes

Much work and careful planning has been put forth to make this year's program interesting and full of meaning. The program will include recitations by the children, special songs by the junior choir, and the church choir. An outstanding feature of the program will be a dramatization entitled, "What Does Christmas Mean to You?"

Clarence Coulbourne Dies at Seaford

Clarence Coulbourne, of Seaford, father-in-law of Mrs. Ada Coulbourne, died Tuesday afternoon. He had been in ill health for some years. Funeral arrangements had not been completed as The Journal went to press.

Century Club Notes

Christmas in story, tableaux and song was presented at the Harrington Century Club at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Emery Hedgecock was chairman of the program. The club house was beautifully decorated and added to the program.

The Rev. R. S. Gibson was the narrator, reading the Christmas story from the scripture. The tableaux were inspiring and beautifully executed. The scenes depicted were: the Shepherds with Mrs. William H. Miller, Mrs. Norman Oliver and Mrs. Joseph Konesey, the manger; with Mrs. Arnold Gilstad and Mrs. James Fair, and the wise men with Mrs. William A. Nichols, Mrs. Fulton Downing and Mrs. John Walls.

Miss Bella Ward and the Rev. Robert L. McKim, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Dover, assisted with the stage settings and costumes. The Century Club chorus sang a Christmas cantata while the story and tableaux were being given. Members of the chorus were: Mrs. Jehu Camper, Mrs. Robert Creadick, Mrs. Abner Hickman, Mrs. Leon Kukulka, Mrs. William Minner, Mrs. Floyd Nasser, Mrs. Charles Peck Jr., Mrs. William W. Shaw, Mrs. Larry Simpson and Mrs. William Simpson. Mrs. Oscar Nemesh directed and Mrs. Leslie Wix was at the piano.

The afternoon was concluded with refreshments served by the other members of the committee who were Mrs. Kukulka, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Luster Rogers, Mrs. Earl Sylvester, Mrs. E. W. White, Mrs. Frances Winkler, and Mrs. Konesey.

Former Deputy Sheriff Of Kent County Dies

Funeral services for William Clifford Raughley, age 65 years, who died Monday night, Dec. 16, will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington, Friday afternoon at 1:30 in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Chester E. Wilcox, assisted by the Rev. Frederick H. Truitt of Sharptown, Md., and a former pastor of the church.

Mr. Raughley was born near Denton, Md., the son of Joshua Burton and Annie Marie Raughley and had resided in Harrington 25 years.

He was a member of Trinity Methodist Church and a member of the official board and had served as treasurer of the church for many years. He was also a member of Temple Lodge No. 128, Denton.

Interment will be in Denton Cemetery, Denton, and Kent Chapter No. 11, A.E.S. of which he was a past patron, will hold graveside services.

He served as deputy sheriff of Kent County, under William G. Bush, Jr., and also William Paskey, Jr.

He later worked in the Internal Revenue Office, Wilmington as field man and also as a cashier.

He was an accountant and for several years has been helping persons of this vicinity with their income tax returns.

He is survived by a sister: Miss Mary E. Raughley, Harrington; and two brothers: P. Seldon Raughley, Frederica, and Ernest B. Raughley, Rehoboth, also several nieces and nephews.

Kent Home Doings

Several members of the Happy Homemakers Club of Milford last week were tasters at the Lima Bean Tasting Panel held at the Legion Hall in Milford. Those taking part at the afternoon session were Mrs. Dorothy Callaway, Lucille Mercer, Lois Pecht, Theresa Webb and Dorothy French.

Christmas Cards
With the bulk of Christmas cards being sent and received this week, have you wondered how people started sending Christmas cards? The first cards were made by English schoolboys. Before school let out for the holidays, the students wrote expressions of good will to their teachers to demonstrate their good penmanship. They decorated them lavishly with scrolls, curlicues and pictures drawn in the borders around the message. Sir Henry Cole, an English Gentleman, saw one of these and had an artist design a card for him to send to his friends. A few Christmas cards were sold in 1858, but did not become common practice until 1862.

Christmas 1957 — Christmas gifts from the kitchen have that special made-just-for-you air that puts a special meaning around the remembrance.

Fruit cakes head the list of such gifts, with cookies a close second. Plum puddings are good too, since they keep well and can easily be reheated for serving.

For next door neighbors, a pan of cinnamon rolls, a loaf of homemade bread, or a basket of fresh doughnuts are a happy way of saying "Merry Christmas." Holiday Hints-1) Plump and freshen dried out raisins, figs or prunes by steaming in a sieve over boiling water for 5 minutes. 2) For a quick fruit bread for Christmas tea sandwiches, add two cups of chopped candied fruits and nuts to packaged muffin mix and bake in a loaf pan. 3) Dress up pancakes and waffles by adding chopped nuts just before baking. 4) Easy dessert: one package gingerbread mix combined with one package mince-meat. Serve with custard or apple sauce. 5) For a colorful and tasty spread for nut bread sandwiches, mix finely chopped maraschino cherries and cream cheese; moisten with cherry juice.

Christmas Music In Churches This Sunday

Two Christmas musical services receiving widespread attention in Harrington will be presented this Sunday morning and evening in Trinity and Asbury Churches.

At Trinity Methodist Church, the Rev. C. E. Wilcox, pastor, the morning service beginning at 11 a. m. will present the senior choir in the cantata, "The Echo of Christmas" by Ellen Jane Lorenz. The singing of the carols which make up this cantata will be supplemented with the showing of the nativity story in a film strip of famous paintings.

The cantata is a compilation of old carols from France, Austria, Holland, Poland, and Germany. Soloists will include Miss Jeanne Homewood, Mrs. Ruth Gilstad, and Miss Kaye Moore. A mixed quartet will include Mrs. Gilstad, Mrs. Bernice Shaw, Melvin Brobst, and Oscar Nemesh.

At Asbury Methodist Church, Richard Gibson, pastor, the evening service beginning at 7:30 p. m. will again present the three choirs of the church in their annual carol service which has become a tradition since it was inaugurated twenty years ago.

The Chancel Choir of 40 young people of high school age included in the candlelight procession, will sing "O Lord Most Merciful" from Concone's "Mass in F", "The Song That the Angels Sang" by Soechtig, the "Cherubim Song No. 7" by Bortniansky, and "Christmas Alleluia" by Marjorie Elliott.

The Junior Choir of 43 grade school children, under the direction of Mrs. R. Gibson, will sing three anthems: "To Bethlehem," "The Seven Joys of Mary," and "Unto Us a Boy is Born."

The Cathedral Choir of adults will sing "Shepherds Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep," "Lo How a Rose E'er Bloomed," and "What Child is This," the latter an arrangement of the Green-sleeves' carol of early English origin.

The Junior and Cathedral Choirs will combine for the singing of Yon's "Gesu Bambino," while the combined Chancel and Cathedral Choirs will join in the singing of "Cantique de Noel" by Adam, with Mrs. R. Gibson as soprano soloist.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Church School 10 a. m., Howard Wagner, superintendent. "The Wonder of the Incarnation" will be the theme of the lesson in the adult department. Christmas means the Incarnation. Paul says, He "emptied himself taking the form of a servant, being found in human form." Christmas is more than sentimentalism. It takes real thorough and study plus faith to see its real meaning. Why not learn its meaning by attending the church and church school of yours.

Morning worship 11 a. m. "When will Christmas Come?" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon based on the Christmas story as told by Luke chapter 2. The service will feature the singing of Christmas anthems by the Junior and Cathedral choirs. We read how the Wise Men came to worship the Christ Child. It is still the "wise man" who worships Him.

The MYF will meet at 6:30 in the chapel.

The annual Christmas carol and candlelighting service will begin at 7:30 with the three choirs combining for this outstanding service. Through the years this service has been the highlight of the year. We try to make it better each year and believe that this year it will be better than ever.

Junior and chancel choirs will not rehearse next Thursday, however the Cathedral choir will rehearse at the regular time of 7:45.

Next Sunday will be Student Recognition Day. Students away in school and our service men will participate in the service.

The altar flowers for this Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott Sr.

Egypt has found good lead and zinc deposits at Om Gheib, Cairo reports.

The climax of the annual Christmas program of Harrington civic interests will be reached next week.

The fun organization of the American Legion, the 40 et 8, of Laurel, will operate its locomotive here Christmas Eve, from 12 a. m. to 2 p. m. Children can meet at the firehouse for free rides.

Santa will be on the streets Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening and on Christmas Eve. Treats will be dispensed to children from the ambulance room of the Firehouse.

A drawing for a pony and gear will be held at 8 p. m. Monday at the pony pen at Dorman and Commerce Streets. Ballots may be secured, without cost, from co-operating merchants. The pony and gear were purchased by Earl Thomas, transported to Harrington and cared for by him at no cost, and sold to the Chamber of Commerce at cost.

Incidentally, Earl had one or two more ponies when we saw him last.

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company will sell Christmas trees and wreaths tomorrow at Harrington School. Proceeds will go for its sick fund.

While no date has been set, judging of the Christmas lighting contest, for decorated homes, will be held next week. Lighting must be on until 10 p. m. until New Year's Eve to be eligible. A community-wide prize is $25, with winner ineligible for district prizes. Prizes of $10 and $5 will be awarded in each section. Th districts are as follows: All east of railroad track; all between the railroad and Commerce and Dorman Streets, and all west and south of Commerce and Dorman Streets.

The German Civilian Sings a Carol

"Stille, Nacht, Heilige Nacht," (Silent Night, Holy Night) was written by an Austrian Catholic priest and poet, Joseph Mohr. He was born in Salzburg, Dec. 11, 1792, and died at Wagrain, Dec. 4, 1848.

As curie of the newly established parish of Oendorf, the Silent Night, Holy Night, which on Dec. 24, 1818, he asked the village schoolmaster and organist, Franz Xaver Gruber (1797-1863) as the latter recalled, "to set to suitable music for two solo voices, chorus and guitar accompaniment." The organist composed the simple melody in a few hours and brought it to Father Mohr. The same evening it was sung with great success at the Christmas Eve service, the priest and organist singing the solo parts. A guitar accompaniment had been suggested because the church organ had broken down.

In a few years this nostalgically tender Christmas carol had attained so wide a popularity that it was translated into most modern tongues and became perhaps the best known of all Christmas carols.—Courtesy J. C. Messner and from Encyclopedia Americana.

The time was August, 1945, and no one was kidding himself that the Allies had won the war, except the politicians. Without them, (good ones, not sinkers), we would lose all we had gained! "Sputnik, Oh! Sputnik." We should have brought the German scientists over here to keep the other foreign countries from getting them!

At the Austrian-German border, up comes a truck with a man with his German army discharge papers in four pieces. Ordinarily, AMG passes, German army discharge papers, (Ablutment papers) were good, and the guards usually let 'em through anyway even with Hitler passes. "What was the difference? They had no place to go anyway!"

Desiring a trip into town, the author takes a trip in with the German. The German started talking in his language about Stille, Nacht, Heilige Nacht. It did not register at all. Couldn't understand the man and he knew no English. The man mentioned Obendorf, where the author was stationed, and finally, seeing that we were getting no where, the German finally cut loose and started to sing, "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht." He then mentioned the town of Obendorf, and from him the author learned where the song, "Holy Night, Silent Night" was written. That man was really proud of the song and so was the author for telling him that it was written right there in Obendorf.

Miss Florence Peterson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peterson and A/1 Edward Fannin of Dover Air Force Base, were married Friday evening, Dec. 13 in Baptist Church of Dover. They are residing near Dover.

Clarence Abbott, U.S. Navy, who has been stationed in Cuba, is spending his furlough with his mother, Mrs. Louise Abbott.

Retired Felton School Teacher Dies in Hospital

Mrs. Maude A. Reynolds, 74, retired school teacher and a leader in church and community affairs, died Saturday night in Milford Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

The widow of Wallace Reynolds, she taught the first grade in Felton School for 41 years, retiring in 1954 and the same year the new elementary wing of the local school was named in her honor.

She was honored, along with 16 other teachers, at this year's convention of the Delaware State Education Association in Wilmington on Oct. 25. She received a citation for leadership in education, not only in the school room, and also for her efforts in raising professional standards and service to her profession.

Mrs. Reynolds was a member of the Avon Club, the Felton Methodist Church, and the church's Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Surviving are three daughters: Miss Margaret Reynolds, Wilmington; Miss Mary Reynolds, Alaska; Mrs. Allen Woodring, Smyrna; two sons, John W. Richmond, Va.; Robert W., Wilmington; a brother, Harry Angstadt, Pittsburgh, and three sisters, Mrs. Donald Morton, Wilmington; Mrs. Clifford Simpler, Felton; and Mrs. Annabel Morrow, Dover.

Services were held from the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, Tuesday at 1 p.m. The Rev. Larry Renner, pastor of Felton Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. E. Parker, retired minister, of Camden, officiated. Interment was in Lincoln Cemetery.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by nine sons: Charles and Harvey, both of Wilmington; Marvin, Los Angeles, Calif.; Walter, Boothwyn, Pa.; Peter A. Jr., U.S. Air Force, Springfield, Mass.; William, Baltimore; John, Dover; Ralph, Winchester, Va.; Henry Rising Sun; three daughters: Mrs. Mildred Stewart, Camden, N. J.; Mrs. Florence Attel, Lincoln; Mrs. Catherine Morgan, Lincoln; 25 grandchildren, 2 great-grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. Rose Coffin, and was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery near Frederica.

May the age-old but ever-new story of Christmas recapture your spirit and inspire you anew with all the joy and wonder of the Day.

HARNES HORSE OF THE YEAR

Torpid, Max Hochberg's mercury-footed Irvington, N. J. pacer, has been named Harness Horse of the Year in the annual poll of turf writers conducted by the U.S. Trotting Association. The son of Knight Dream registered an overwhelming victory, collecting 734 points on a 10-5-3-2-1 basis with runnerup Galophone earning 213. Torpid received 66 of the 69 first place votes.

Torpid, who won 19 of his 22 starts this year, was also designated Three Year Old Pacer of the Year with 76 votes in that category against three for Meadowlands. Other divisional champions were:

Two Year Old Trotter: Yankee Lass, Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky.; Three Year Old Trotter: Hickory Smoke, Sheppard & Mudge, Hanover, Pa.; Aged Trotter: Galophone, W. T. Maybury, Dexter, Me.; Two Year Old Pacer: Corsican, Robert Metzner, Albany, N. Y. and Aged Pacer: Diamond Hal, S. A. Camp Farms, Shafter, Calif.

Torpid, who succeeds the two-time (1955-1956) champion, Scott Frost, banked $113,000 this year and won two legs of pacing's Triple Crown. He knocked off the $12,000 Little Brown Jug and the $60,325 Cane Futurity but was drawn from the third leg, the $100,000 Messenger, after suffering a nosebleed in a qualifying heat.

The New Jersey sidewheeler rattled off 16 straight successes before meeting his first defeat in September. In the three times he did not win he was once second and twice third. He also posted nine race miles in 2:00 or faster, the most in that category ever registered by a horse in a single season.

Torpid was bred by Hochberg, a lawyer and accountant who has been in harness racing less than 10 years. The colt was voted Two Year Old Pacer of the Year in 1956 and was third to Scott Frost in the Horse of the Year balloting.

Rounding out the top five behind Torpid and Galophone were Yankee Lass (149), Hickory Smoke (135), and Belle Action (71).

(Harness Horse of the Year Poll (1957)

Balloting by 85 turf writers on (10-5-3-2-1) basis. 1st place vote (1).

AUTOMATIC RECORD KEEPING USED ON 4000 MD. COWS

The management of about 4000 cows in Maryland dairy herds is being influenced by an electronic machine that tells a farmer more about his cows than the most observant mother knows about her own child.

These cows are in about 140 Dairy Herd Improvement association herds that are enrolled in an automatic record keeping program started 10 months ago. It is the first major change in record keeping methods since the DHIA program started in the state, according to Robert D.

Appleman, University of Maryland extension dairyman. DHIA records give information that is used as a basis for culling low producers, selecting herd replacements and comparing the value of available sires.

All these records were computed manually by DHIA supervisors before the automatic system was available. The machine does the same work formerly done by hand, but is faster and more accurate, and in addition gives some information that is not available from the manual method.

This machine has stimulated much interest in more economical feeding, Appleman says, since it makes recommendations on how much concentrate to give each cow. This is done by studying the amount of milk given, the percent butterfat, the size of the cow and how much and what quality forage she gets each day. The machine also advises the dairyman when it is time to dry-off the cow, tells him how many dollars are spent for feed to produce 100 pounds of milk and gives him several measures of feeding and labor efficiency.

The automatic record keeping method is available on a volunteer basis; any DHIA member may get the service in place of the manual method by asking for it. Interested farmers can get information from county agents or the supervisor of production testing, University of Maryland dairy department, College Park.

DELAWARE FARM, HOME PROGRAM SLATED

Agriculture's future in the urbanizing northeast United States, needs for tomorrow's agriculture, and ways farming and home-making will change in Delaware are some of the major features of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Week program at the University of Delaware Feb. 11, 12, and 13.

Designed by university school of agriculture and home economics staff members to interest and inform city as well as farm people, the sessions will highlight well-known speakers on topics ranging from vegetable profit ideas to cooking in electronic ovens. Prominent speakers are being engaged to appear at a general session each day.

Livestock will take the spotlight the morning of Feb. 11, when interest will center on self-feeding of complete rations to cattle and sheep, followed by a discussion of the effects of clovers, alfalfa and other forage crops on livestock fertility. Talks on a three-year corn irrigation study, and the amounts of fertilizer to use on crops next season are scheduled that morning. How family life is conducted in Egypt, and today's opportunities for women in home economics will round out the morning sessions.

Included on the afternoon program are three talks on crop irrigation. Subjects are the need for irrigation, will it pay, and the state's water supply. A "social" visit to the school of home economics, with a look at a kitchen of tomorrow featuring an electronic oven will be offered to women visitors that afternoon.

Dairy and fruit topics will get the Feb. 12 sessions underway, with discussions on setting up a roughage program on a dairy farm, the nutrient intake of cows on Sudan pasture, and ways to feed out roughages. A panel discussion on planting and care of new orchards is planned for fruit growers. Panel topics are promising new apple sports, choosing and spacing pollinating plant varieties, improved planting methods, and cultural practices to use after planting. One talk will be on factors affecting color in apples. Homemakers interested in travel will receive tips on how to travel, along with fashion hints for clothing the mature figure. Also that morning, state 4-H Club members will compete in their annual cherry pie baking contest.

Dairy discussions that afternoon will cover combating the cost-price squeeze, economics of farm merchandizing, and ways to reduce feed costs. A discussion by university entomologists of a 1958 fruit spray program will highlight the fruit program, as will a talk on how to control mites on apples. Homemaking activities will again share in the program with discussions on making better home management decisions, and on senior members of the family.

Poultry will step into the spotlight the morning of February 13, when specialists will speak on new concepts in trace mineral feeding, and the application of energy values to poultry feed in-

SUSSEX ASC COMMITTEE RECEIVES OUTSTANDING AWARD

The Sussex County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee last Friday (Dec. 13) received the Outstanding County of the Year award from the state ASC office awards committee.

George C. Simpson, chairman of the Delaware ASC committee, presented the county office staff with a plaque during a ceremony held at the Georgetown ASC office.

A certificate was given to of-formation. A discussion by school of agriculture entomologists of 1958 recommendations for control of diseases, insects, and weeds, and a talk on profit making ideas in the production and marketing of vegetables will fill out the vegetable sessions that morning. Parent's responsibilities to teen-agers, a panel discussion, and a speaker on meals for all ages make up the morning's home economics program.

During final sessions of the three-day program that afternoon, vegetables, poultry, and home economics will share time. Scheduled are presentation of a 15-Ton Tomato Club awards, and a panel discussing changes necessary in Delaware's vegetable industry. Trends in feed formulation, the role of additives in modern poultry feeding, and recent developments in feeding layers are on the poultry program. Home economics visitors will hear talks on understanding tensions, and on working with crafts.

The program announcement from the school of agriculture said further details of the annual program will be reported. These will cover general session speakers, agricultural and home economics speakers and exhibits. Most sessions will be held in Agricultural Hall, Newark.

rice personnel and county ASC committee members.

Chairman Simpson said the award was granted for service to farmers, planning and organizing work, getting work done, understanding program objectives, efficient operation of the office, and maintaining satisfactory relationships with other organizations.

Sussex County workers who received certificates were Silas Dukes, Laurel, county committee chairman; Rollie N. Lewis, Millsboro; and Earl White, Bridgeville, committee members. William H. Henderson, Sussex County agricultural agent, an ex-officio committee member, was presented with a certificate. Dukes, Lewis, and White are county farmers.

Full-time office workers who were given awards are Hylon C. Smith, county office manager; J. Thomas Elliott, Doris S. Carmean and Betty F. Hearn, Lois K. Betts, and Loretta T. Warrington.

Operations of the county office have included: Cooperating with about 1,100 farmers, extending about $262,000 in price support loans on barley, corn and soybeans, and participating in corn and wheat Soil Bank agreements totaling $439,925 in compensation to farmers. Simpson noted that production adjustment activities carried on by the county office "take quite a lot of work."

OUT-OF-STATE RETAILERS IN FOOD COURSE SIGNUP

Registrations from Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia—as well as Delaware—are being received for Delaware's first food retailers' short course next March 30 and 31 at the University of Delaware, an announcement from Robert L. Bull, agent in marketing at the university's school of agriculture, said today.

In noting that registrations are still being accepted, Bull said arrangements are being made to bring in outstanding speakers from both independent and chain firms in the midwest and New England, with others scheduled to come from nearby states.

He urged additional registrations without delay, since facilities are limited. The program promises to be one of the year's outstanding trade events in the eastern United States, Bull said.

Keynote addresses at banquets each evening of the course will be made by a food manufacturing executive and a food chain executive. Topics will be the qualifications of a good chain store operator, and the true meaning of management.

Course sessions planned are: How retailers adjust to changing times, the retailer's stake in state prosperity, an independent supermarket's success story, what the "new look" in wholesaling means to retailers, cost-cutting tips for handling groceries, successful promotions, how to get the most out of refrigeration equipment, financial planning as the key to expansion, loans from the Small Business Administration and local banks, and the role of non-foods in grocery stores.

Discussions scheduled include produce profit pointers, merchandising frozen foods, cutting and selling the beef forequarter and hindquarter, new ideas in dairy and poultry retailing, and baked goods' role in building profits.

Bull said exhibits and special programs and tours for ladies are planned.

For further information and short course registration forms, contact Bull at the Retail Marketing Section, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware, Newark.

Merry, Merry Christmas

Christmas is so many wondrous things, so many splendid, shining things to lift the spirit and the hopes of men. It is a warmth and a presence. Now more than ever the human heart is humble and kind. Christmas is the joy heart-deep in the eyes of a sleep-warm child dazzled by the splendor of it all. Christmas is a slow and tender smile in a sleeping home as parents trim the tree and memories of all their Christmases together rush upon them. There is a force drawing families close. Holly wreaths are open eyes at windows. There's magic in the early morn, in the story of Bethlehem told the eve before. This is Christmas. This is Christmas when the universe, a cathedral without dimension, its black dome sequined with stars, houses a hushed humanity. And the wonder and the glory are again. Now a man is tree-tall upon his knees. He reaches confidently beyond his grasp. His spirit climbs beyond the customary landmark of perception. He knows more than he can tell. All this is Christmas. May it be yours. Merry, Merry Christmas.

Fish & Game News

Charles J. Biddle, vice president of Philadelphia Conservationists, Inc., a private organization whose activities are dedicated to the preservation of wildlife's habitat in the Delaware Valley area commented recently on a report of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service concerned with the problems of maintaining waterfowl grounds along the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton.

"My principal comment is that the author of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife report is a confirmed optimist. He says that the dredging will be disastrous to the upper Delaware as a habitat for wild fowl upon this migration. I would amend this by saying that it has been. If you are going to preserve a migration route, it is essential that enough of it be preserved so as to make it attractive to wild fowl. Keeping a few spots here and there, although it is worthwhile, nevertheless does not solve the problem. For example, this year waterfowl along the upper Delaware have been so scarce as to be almost non-existent, as compared with what they were 25 years ago. And yet this year there is no general shortage of birds.

"One thing they forget is that you cannot leave small spots here and there and expect them to supply the needs of wild fowl. In the first place, they are too small to permit birds to be undisturbed, and in the second place they soon stop furnishing the food necessary to attract the birds. For example, in the Torresdale-Andalusia area, with the constant dredging and the filling of the major marshes in the neighborhood, the areas left have picked up so much sand from the water that where twenty-five years ago you would walk at low tide in mud up to your ankles, you now walk on hard sand. This has destroyed the food-bearing aquatic plants, such as the wild rice, so that there remains little or wild fowl to feed upon.

"It is indeed a tragic result of a program, the cost of which is far in excess of any possible economic gain and which has, in addition, caused immense damage. I have done my best to point this out to Congress and the Budget Bureau, but without success. Anything—to minimize the damage which still remains to be done will be distinctly worthwhile, but unfortunately the major damage has already occurred."

Allston Jenkins, president of the Philadelphia Conservationists, Inc., had this to say: "Mr. Biddle is a keen outdoorsman and has lived all his life on the shores of the Delaware River at Andalusia above Philadelphia. No one is in a better position than he to judge the effects on wildlife of the disposal of dredged spoil on the river shore.

"I believe his is a timely warning to all of us that we must not let the situation get out of hand on the Lower Delaware (Philadelphia to the sea. If our section of the Atlantic Flyway is to be saved at all the disposal of spoil on the Lower Delaware must be planned by the State Conservation Departments and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and not by the Army Engineers or any other similarly minded agency."

The Delaware Board of Game and Fish Commissioners believes that it is high time that all persons in the state interested in waterfowl either for hunting or for the pleasure that they afford to those that merely watch should be fully aware of what is happening along the Delaware. By instinct nearly all waterfowl arriving in Delaware from the North fly down the Delaware River valley. A steady decline in the number of ducks reaching our marshes has been documented by eight years or aerial observations made by the commission.

Over 100,000 ducks were in Delaware marshes by late November, 1950; two weeks ago less than 23,000 ducks could be located. This happened despite reports of successful brood production on the northern breeding grounds. It is beginning to appear that ducks in migration have been by-passing our state. It is difficult to pin-point all the reasons for this steady decline but loss of resting and feeding grounds along the Delaware River between Trenton and Delaware City is certainly a major factor. One begins to wonder whether the waterfowl in Delaware will go the way of the shad.

This commission has taken vigorous steps to bring key waterfowl areas into public ownership. This by itself, however, will not guarantee the maintenance of waterfowl populations adequate to sustain either present hunting or bird watching. It is little wonder that Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, once the principal mecca for nature enthusiasts in this area, is giving way to Brigantine National Wildlife Refuge near Atlantic City. The Delaware refuge today is attracting less than 15,000 ducks and geese whereas the New Jersey refuge is accommodating over 200,000.

Unless the following steps are taken Delaware will have soon lost one of her great natural heritages.

(1) All Delawareans in public office must be made fully aware that there are many people in this state who insist on waterfowl for themselves and for their children.

(2) All Delawareans must be made fully aware that public works which drain, fill or pollute the remaining wetlands of the state contribute to the elimination of waterfowl. These public works include channel dredging and marsh ditching under the guise of mosquito control.

(3) In conjunction with public officials at the federal level and those of neighboring states, Delawareans must work to maintain and restore waterfowl grounds on both the upper and lower Delaware River.

URGES TREATING CATTLE TO WINTER-KILL LICE

County dairymen and beef cattle growers were urged today to treat animal that were not sprayed to kill lice before cold weather.

George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, suggested using a one-half to one percent rotenone dust on both types of animals. Beef cattle also can be dusted with 10 per cent methoxychlor.

He cautioned against using insecticides on dairy cattle, since milk can become contaminated by chemicals entering the cows' bodies through the udder.

All cattle can be well sprayed with .025 to .05 per cent pyrethrin and .25 to .5 per cent of a

Farm News ADVISES "CODDLING" HOUSE PLANTS THIS WINTER

Pamper house plants all winter and they'll reward you by thriving, the county agricultural agent suggested today.

George Vapaa urged preventing chilling that can do most harm in cold weather.

Two other points he emphasized were watering with warm water at about body temperature, and keeping plants out of drafts. The agent recommended putting plants on a window shelf, rather than on the sill. If no shelf is available, stand pots on wooden blocks or inverted saucers on the sill. Water thoroughly to make a big difference in a plant's response. Suggestions were: Use the same amount of water as one-fourth the volume of earth in the pot. If the plant takes all of this up, add half as much more.

The agent said too much water is being used when more than one to three tablespoons run out of the bottom of the pot. The reverse is true if none runs out.

One guide to watering is the "look of soil in the pot," Mr. Vapaa added. When the soil seems dry, wait a day more and submerge the pot in water for about 10 minutes. Then let it drain fully. Do this once a month, in addition to regular watering, the agricultural agent concluded.

synergist, or .006 per cent rotenone, provided the weather is warm enough.

Lice on beef cattle can be killed with back rubbers saturated with five per cent DDT or methoxychlor mixed with fuel or diesel oil. Mr. Vapaa cautioned again—this time against using lubricating or crankcase oil. His recommendation was one gallon of diesel or fuel oil on each 20 feet of rubbing cable, retreated every two weeks. He said not to use DDT within the last 30 days before slaughter.

For additional information on winter-treating cattle for lice, call the county extension office or your local veterinarian.

COUNTY AGENT TO BE "IN" ON FRIDAYS

Farmers wanting to talk with the county agent in the next couple of months can expect to find him at the Dover postoffice (2nd floor) on Fridays from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"So many people concerned with farm planning or farm record problems at this time of year are best helped in the offices where bulletins and other supplies are kept," said George Vapaa.

The agent finds himself involved in so many day meetings during the winter months that only a few farm visits are possible in any event. Visitors are always welcome at anytime, and should feel free to leave a message if the agent is not in the office.

A great deal of new free bulletin information is available just for the asking—by telephone or mail as well as by an office call. Some of those of most general interest include:

ASC ELECTION RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Newly elected community committees to serve with the 1958 agricultural stabilization and conservation program were announced today by Lister Hall Jr., Kent County ASC office manager, as follows:

1st District—chairman, John G. Tarburton, Dover; vice chairman, Samuel Dixon Jr., Dover; regular member, Edward S. Wilson, Jr., Smyrna; 1st alternate, Arthur N. Short, Smyrna; 2nd alternate, Joseph P. Moore, Dover.

2nd District—chairman, Medford Davis Jr., Clayton; vice chairman, Wm. H. Powell, Hartly; regular member, Gilbert Downs, Cheswold; 1st alternate, Francis Thomas, Maryland; 2nd alternate, James Virden, Smyrna.

3rd District—chairman, H. Kline Lingo, Dover; vice chairman, Samuel Walker, Woodside; regular member, Olin Gooden, Felton; 1st alternate, B. Lee Currey, Wyoming; 2nd alternate, Byron W. Frazier, Felton.

4th District—chairman, W. Elwood Jester, Harrington; vice chairman, Paul B. Hughes, Felton; regular member, H. Ray Collison, Harrington; 1st alternate, Fred B. Greenly Jr., Felton; 2nd alternate, Clarence Jarrell, Harrington.

5th District—chairman, George

A. Robbins, Milford; vice chairman, Floyd Blessing, Houston; regular member, Earl Holleger, Milford; 1st alternate, Lawrence Jarrell, Magnolia; 2nd alternate, William H. Webb, Milford.

These men will serve in their various neighborhoods to advise and encourage farmers to promote soil and water conservation on their farms. Many programs are available to cooperating farmers, including the Soil Bank and the ACP, or agricultural conservation program. Participation in Kent County has been very good as a result of the support given by previously elected committee members.

The members were elected by mail balloting which closed early in December. They serve for a period of one year.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

The word, "casual," has found a new prominence in our vocabulary during the last few years. At one time it meant "accidental, haphazard, or without plan," but we now apply it to a way of entertaining, a style of home furnishing, or a type of apparel. What is considered "casual" today is usually far from being haphazard or unplanned. Casual fashions, for instance, require careful planning, serve a definite need, and are smart-looking as well as practical.

four most important things to remember about knitting from a pattern are: Use the exact size and type needles specified, use the yarn recommended, follow the gauge indicated, and block carefully.

VERSATILE CARDIGAN

Illustrated above is a hip-length unbuttoned cardigan with flattering long revers. Aptly named the SOPHISTICATE, its smooth good looks make it ideal for wear in town or in the country. It is knitted of a modern yarn that's a blend of wool and nylon and lies through your fingers as you work. The stitch is simple—a basic ribbing of knit one, purl one. Directions are given in sizes 10, 12 and 14.

KNIT-TO-ORDER

Knitted clothes fit perfectly into the busy pattern of the American woman's life. For day-in, day-out comfort and good looks, they are the fashion that never goes out of fashion. Indeed, knitwear seems to be more popular now than ever before. It is as true today as ever that for beauty, luxurious feel and best wearing quality, handmade articles are unsurpassed. You can order these custom-made, but the cost is usually rather prohibitive. It is far more expensive and satisfying to knit the articles yourself. You select your own pattern, yarn and colors, and have the enjoyment of doing something creative, useful and relaxing. The

Plans Underway To Conduct Canadian Canoe Trip

According to an announcement by Lewis H. Talley, activities chairman of the Del-Mar-Va Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Hon. James M. Tunnell, Jr., has consented to serve as chairman organizing an expedition of Explorer Scouts from the Del-Mar-Va Council, Boy Scouts of America, to spend ten days of wilderness adventure canoeing in the Canadian lakes this summer from the Charles L. Sommers Canoe Base located in the Arrowhead country of Minnesota 22 miles northeast of Ely and 3 miles by water from the Canadian boundary. The area to be explored is accessible only by water and is reportedly a fisherman's paradise. These Canadian lakes team with Northern Pike, Walleye Pike, bass and lake trout while the countryside is teaming with bear, deer, moose and many smaller animals.

The expedition will consist of thirty-nine Explorers and four leaders, Mr. Tunnell reported. Those leaders making the trip are the Rev. Henry Jacobs, Concord Presbyterian Church of Wilmington, Donald W. Griswald, Post Advisor in Wilmington, Roland Hitchens, Post Advisor of Post No. 76 of Harrington, and Dale L. Nolan, Sussex District Scout Executive who will serve as expedition manager.

On first release of the news of the expedition there are already 12 Explorers registered to make this trip from the Caesar Rodney-Mid-Del, Sussex and Virginia districts. They are Bernard L. Ward and H. Peter Burrows III of Troop No. 48, Wilmington; Pat Weaver of Post No. 29 of Dover; John F. Tarburton, Troop No. 122 of Dover; David R. Hitchens, Paul H. Wagner and James J. McDonald of Troop No. 76 of Harrington; John B. Marvil of Troop No. 249 of Seaford; Durk L. Mumford of Troop No. 281 of Millville; Paul Ersler, Troop No. 311 of Birdnest, Virginia; and Steven Jacobs, Troop No. 28, Wilmington; and Donald Taylor, Post No. 95 of Georgetown.

Those making the trip will spend several weekends of expert training on the use and handling of canoes and camping. A preliminary itinerary of activities will consist of several weekend canoe trips before leaving on the expedition the last week of June; the first day of the Expedition will commence with a trip from the Council by Trailway Bus to Lockbourn Air Force Base in Columbus, O.; the second day from Lockbourn Air Force Base to Selfridge Air Force Base in Mt. Clemens, Mich.; with a tour of Greenfield Village, Ford Museum; the third day from Selfridge Air Force Base to Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Ill.; the fourth day from Great Lakes to a Boy Scout camp near St. Paul, Minn., and the fifth day from Boy Scout Camp to Ely and Canoe Base. Here they will spend ten days of wilderness adventure. On the return trip the 1st day they will start from Ely to Boy Scout Camp near St. Paul; 2nd day they will start from St. Paul to Chanutte Air Force Base at Rantoul, Ill., with a stop for a tour of Indianapolis Speedway; the 3rd day from Chanutte Air Force Base to Lockbourn Air Force Base, Columbus, O.; and the fourth day from Lockbourn Air Force Base to home.

Applications to make the trip may be had by contacting H. Bruce Ayers, director of exploring, at the Wilmington Boy Scout

Caesar Rodney School Notes

Residents of the Caesar Rodney School area are enjoying an unusual Christmas display, erected as a joint project of the high school art classes, and the electricity class.

The display include a panorama of the area around Bethlehem during the birth of Christ. This painting, eight feet tall and ten feet wide, is framed in blue light. A cut-out of one of the wise men and the star over Bethlehem are flooded with white light adding a dramatic touch to the scene.

According to local critics, the entire display has a very professional appearance and the members of the art class, and electricity class have been congratulated for a fine job.

The art class designed the display, and did all of the painting, while the electricity class constructed—erected the display and planned and executed the lighting.

Art class members who contributed to the painting and designing are Louise Logan, Marie Gibe, Georgianne Delfanthal, Pamela Lickman and E. R. Scheidt, instructor.

CHRISTMAS SYMPATHY

Remember Christ, that He was born; Even if birth was in a barn; If He was born in a manger, He intended not for you, To be in any danger: What He did for us we should not forget, For I'm sure He did not regret. It is good advice to any man, To serve your sympathy best you can: So on Christmas Day, people Near and far, remember Christ wherever you are.

By Norman Wesley Parris Sr.

DON'T FORGET MOTHER

Don't forget mother on Mother's Day, Even though near or far away: Think of the things she has done for you, Even though very hard to do If her work is done and she is deceased: Let us only hope she rests in peace; If you are lonely for her as on your way, Keep up the right spirit: You might meet her someday.

are happy to have them in our school.

James Joseph John Sheehan Jr.

Jim, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sheehan, Sr., was born Dec. 13, 1938, in New York City. Jim is taking a scientific course and his favorite subject is "Problems of Democracy". His favorite sports are baseball and football. Jim is very much interested in music. His hobbies are dance band. One of his pastimes is dancing, and the other is girls.

Jim is a member and serves as secretary of Harrington Automobile Activities Club.

He plans to enter the mechanical field in industry when he finishes high school.

Mrs. Brobst—5th Grade

We gave the Christmas assembly for the grade school. The program chairman and narrator was Rusty Jack. The Bible was read by Charles Tribbett. Our first play was called: "Raggedy Ann Helps Santa Claus". The characters were: Jean, Jeanne Anderson; Carl, Jackie Abbott; Susan, Darlene Clark; Johnnie, Doug Mills; Raggedy Ann, a doll, Albert Ratledge; Santa, Ronnie Hughes; group of children, Nyneen Callaway, Cheryl Warrington, Marilyn Sherwood, and Billy Lord.

Our second play was called "Santa Found Us Out". The characters were: mother, Gale Umphlett; dad, Billy Lord; Jack Gary Harris; Jill, Susan Brown; Peter, Kenny Melvin; Patty, Cheryl Warrington; Santa, Ronnie Hughes.

Our last play was called: "The Meaning of Christmas". The characters were: Janet, Betty Jane Masten; Mother, Nancy Callaway; Jimmy, Fred Parker; Angel, Hazel Rash; Shepherd, Bruce Collins; Mary, Marilyn Sherwood; Innkeeper's wife, Nyneen Callaway; Joseph, Richard Black.

The Christmas Grade School chorus sang for us. Richard Black had charge of the stage and curtains. The boys and girls from Mrs. Brobst's fifth grade wish everyone a merry Christmas.

Mrs. Gibson—Grade 5

This Friday night Harrington is going to have a Christmas concert. These are the people from our room who are going to participate.

Sharon Walls, Mary Ann Jones, Dianne Webb, Christie Simpson, Sharon Dalzell, Roger, Bets, Nancy Bradley.

Christie Simpson, Dennis Simpson, David Coverdale all had birthdays this month. We are going to have our Christmas party Dec. 20.

Mrs. Mann—Grade 6

We are getting ready for Christmas. We have our Christmas card box, and it is just about full. We have decorated our room. It has Christmas scenes on the windows and have put some on our bulletin boards. We put a pretty Christmas scene on our blackboard.

This week we are starting our fractions, which is a continuance of the fifth grade work.

Miss Knopp's Homeroom

We held a homeroom meeting Dec. 11. George Pfeifer, our president, called the meeting to order.

We decided to have a Christmas party on the Friday that we get out of school for our Christmas vacation and we drew names. We elected committees as follows:

Refreshment committee—Audrey Lord, Iris Warrington, Christine Taylor, Kathy Holloway. Entertainment committee: Susie Collins, Anna Mae Baker. Mrs. Dolby's Homeroom

We hope our new girl, Mari-belle Crosby, likes Harrington very much. She is very pleasant. During our homeroom meeting Wednesday we drew names for Christmas. We also finished the game that we started at Halloween. Mrs. Dolby had her fortune told also.

We are studying about the cononuts. Mrs. Dolby brought some in with the husk partly removed for us to see. While we were studying about shells, our teacher brought some shells and a shell book in from which we read several pages about them. They were beautiful and had such pretty colors.

Math Club News

The meeting was called to order by Connie Biddle. The minutes were read and stood approved as read. Roll was called and one was absent. For new business we said we would draw names for Christmas. We are also going to have a party. The committees are as follows:

Agnes Morgan, Bonnie Porter, Warren Bader, for refreshments. Gift committee—John Masten and Roger Wix. Game Committee—Patsy Cox, Eddie Layton, Nancy

Morgan.

There was no old business. We have a new member in the club. Her name is Carolyn Griffith. We also have another new member, Penny Caserta. The meeting was adjourned.

Christmas Program

Last Friday night in the school auditorium, we gave our annual Christmas program to a very large audience. Once again the girls of the Glee Club formed a candlelight procession to the carols "Adeste Fideles" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

The children's chorus of 45 children from grades 5 and 6 sang three carols with solos by Doug Moore, Herbert Barlow, Bobette DeVroy, and Lois Larimore.

The high school glee club sang a group of carols and popular Christmas songs, among which were "Winter Wonderland", and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah by Handel.

The band was very ably represented on their new risers, making it possible for everyone in the band to be seen by the large audience. Tony Perrone played two solos in selections from "H. M. S. Pinafore" and "Around the World."

Accompaniments for the children's chorus and the glee club were very ably provided by Bill Manship, Anne Perry, Mrs. Richard Gibson, and Leon Donovan.

We like to feel that this program is a Christmas present from all the students in our school to all the parents and friends in the community.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Mrs. William Hearn has been appointed to take care of the flower fund, which project was started to supply money for altar flowers, especially in months when no home gardens can be relied upon and the altar guild must use bouquets from the florist.

Coffee hour hostesses for last Sunday were Mrs. Clarence Reed and Mrs. George Thompson.

Members of St. Stephen's were sorry to hear that Clarence Reed became ill while at work in Wilmington last Tuesday and was taken to Milford Hospital Wednesday. Mr. Reed underwent an operation Friday morning. We all hope the news about him will continue to be encouraging and that he will soon recuperate.

Acolytes for the third Sunday in Advent were Ronnie Correll, Ralph Wooters, Charles McNally, Roy Porter, Bobby Greer, Rodney Morgan, Billy McColey, Bill Thompson.

Ushers for last Sunday were Messrs. George Johnson and Herbert Chamberlain.

Saturday, at 10 a.m., St. Thomas' Day, there will be a celebration of Holy Communion for Mrs. Mary Lucho, mother of Mrs. Robert McNally at the McNally home near Vernon. Members of the congregation are invited to come to the home for this service, which will be the only opportunity for Mrs. Lucho to participate in a regular worship service at this Christmas season.

This Sunday, immediately after the Evening prayer service, there will be the hanging of the greens when the church will be decorated for the coming of the Christ Child. The creche will be set up at this time also.

Mrs. Edward C. Brown Sr. has volunteered to be part time secretary for the vicar and remain at the parish house office five days a week from 9 o'clock until noon. She will receive calls and relay messages as well as address correspondence for the vicar.

St. Stephen's Church School Christmas party will be held on Thursday, Dec. 26 at the Parish House, immediately after the Holy Communion service which will begin at 10 a.m. There will be games for the boys and girls, refreshments and distribution of gifts. This week the following ladies met to plan the goodies for our boys and girls: Messdames Herbert Chamberlain, Gilbert Keim, Robert McNally, William Smith, and W. W. Welch. The following ladies of the Women's Auxiliary met several times and worked together on a sewing project—making of caps and collars for the acolytes and choir: Messdames Herbert Chamberlain, James Coady, William Hearn, George Johnson, Earl McColey, Gilbert Keim, Robert McNally.

Last Thursday evening there was an unusual event at St. Stephen's: the Rev. John J. Lloyd, a missionary of our church, now in the United States on a short leave of absence, spoke to us about his work in Japan. He compared the Christmas preparations now going on among Christians in Japan with our Christmas and Advent activities. He stated that the candlelight service, Church School celebration, church family supper, etc., are much the same as ours, but there is a feeling in the background quite different from our feeling here. Christianity is a lonely thing in Japan, he said, for there will be only one Christian to every 200 persons.

He reviewed the history of the church in Japan, the persecution, torture and very limited underground activity. He said the whole Japanese nation was inoculated against Christianity. Teachers had to teach children that Christianity was anti-Japanese and its acceptance would ruin the country. It is only in the last few years that missionaries have found a slight opening in the minds of the people, who seek help from the church. The opportunities are so great for Christianity to grow in this sad country.

Mr. Lloyd stated that when World War II ended, the meaning of life collapsed for the Japanese; there was a great vacuum in the heart of the Japanese. There was a feeling of guilt, too, and the cry from many "What can I do?"

Mr. Lloyd stated that only 25 clergy out of three hundred fifty in our church in Japan are not native Japanese. It costs so little in terms of our support to train these native men for the ministry. The meagerness of what these dedicated people have to work with and the hardships they undergo were brought home sharply to all of us.

After the talk a check for $50 was presented to the Rev. Mr. Lloyd, which included the offering taken that night from the group who heard him speak plus a contribution from the Women's Auxiliary and one from St. Stephen's General Fund. This check Mr. Lloyd said would be sufficient to send a young man to the seminary for one third of a term.

Mr. Robert McNally made the trip to Wilmington to meet Mr. Lloyd and to bring him back to Harrington. After the talk at St. Stephen's Mr. Lloyd had dinner with the McNally family and was driven back to Wilmington later Thursday night.

Services and activities for this week remaining and the following week are as follows: Thursday, 8 p.m., choir rehearsal; Saturday, 10 a.m. Holy Communion; for Mrs. Lucho, and friends; Sunday, Dec. 22, 8 a.m. Holy Communion; 8:35, breakfast group; 9:30 a.m. Church School; 11 a.m. morning worship; 12:15 p.m. coffee hour; 5 p.m. teenage club; 7 p.m., evening prayer; Monday, 7 p.m. junior choir; Tuesday, Christmas Eve festival service; 11 p.m.; Wednesday, Holy Communion, 11 a.m.; healing service at Seaford, 8 p.m.

Delaware Food Market Report

"It's less than a week before the big day - time to buy food for the holidays ahead. This holiday season offers a lot to choose from at the grocery store. Turkeys will again be featured at prices comparable to those at Thanksgiving. However, there will be other meat "specials"; for instance, ham, rib roast, as well as broilers and fryers.

Some hams will come gift-wrapped for Christmas giving; others will be cooked and decorated, ready to put on the Christmas dinner table. Still other hams will be partially cooked, some will be raw—there's one to meet you every need. In many stores prices will be very reasonable and quality is good to excellent in most cases with a wide variety of hams to choose from. Be sure to buy ahead on citrus fruits if you have storage space. The recent freezes in Florida have caused considerable damage to all their fruits. The Florida Government has stopped shipment on oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and lemons to make further checks to assure the consumer that they are not buying damaged fruit. This will naturally cause a shortage and prices will increase. When buying look carefully and choose wisely. Raw or roasted nuts give a festive air to dinner dishes. This season offers a bounty of some nuts, and a less than usual amount of others. There is a record crop of filberts and almonds, with prices reflecting this fact. However, walnuts, pecans and peanuts are not so plentiful and prices are higher on these nuts than they were a year ago. Try almonds or filberts in creamed turba or chicken or left-over turkey—sliver them, add to melted butter and spoon them over asparagus, green beans, broccoli, sweet potatoes or cauliflower.
