CITY APPROVES COMPROMISE OF THEATRE TAX SETTLEMENT

The tax suit between Reese B. Harrington and the City of Harrington, involving the Reese Theatre, was settled Tuesday night when the City Council, at its final meeting before the municipal election next Tuesday, agreed to accept a compromise offered by Harrington thru his attorney, H. C. Brown.

Last week, suit against the defendants was dismissed, in the court of Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway, on a technicality, by three referees. The Council, at a special meeting Dec. 31, had considered appealing but had come to no decision.

Terms of the compromise stipulated that Harrington was to pay taxes for 1956 and 1957, on an assessment of $18,000 for the theatre. The City had sought payment on an assessment of $25,000.

In his presentation, Brown began: "We're a little tired of this ruckus of the last three or four years and want to get it settled."

He suggested the Council see if the settlement met with the approval of the city solicitor, Max Terry, of Dover. Mayor Smith said he thought it would.

Tax Suit History

The background of the tax suit is as follows: The theatre burned during the war. When it was rebuilt, the same assessment of $18,000 was placed on the new building. Harrington contended it was for an indefinite period and had been offered by the City. In 1950, the assessment was $35,000, but was reduced finally to $25,000 in 1951, on which taxes were paid, on this basis, in 1950, 1951, 1952. In 1953, 1954, 1955 taxes were unpaid on a $25,000-assessment, but paid on an $18,000-assessment after an improper listing of ownership on assessment lists. In 1956, taxes were unpaid on an assessment of $25,000 and in 1957, City offered an assessment of $18,000 if the 1956 assessment was agreed to. It was not, hence the tax suit on the 1956 and 1957 taxes.

After Attorney Brown had said his piece, Harrington told the Council he was offered free water by the City in 1946. He said he had not asked for it, however, and said he would not contest paying for it now.

Trailer on Center Street

Brown had another client at Tuesday's meeting, Earl Quillen, owner of a grocery store on West Center Street. A trailer, to be the home of Quillen's parents, had been moved next to the store after the city clerk had said it was all right. The city manager, however, refused to grant permits to hook up to the sewer and water. The Council gave permission for the permits Tuesday night, at usual fees, with trailer to use mains of the Earl Quillen property because, otherwise, it would have been necessary to tear up a concrete street.

Later, the Council was informed Councilman Jack Apte had a copy of the Milford trailer ordinances. It was agreed to show the laws to the recently appointed Zoning Commission and, if that group approved them, to make them legal.

Other business: The Council appointed Mrs. Townsend Masten and Joseph Penny judges, at $10 each, for Tuesday's municipal election.

It refused a permit to move a shanty, from the country, onto a lot near the water tower.

It approved the use of the City Hall, by the State Board of Health, as a diabetic detection center for two dates, to be determined, in February.

It voted to turn off the water at the residence of Mrs. Everett Harrington, on Delaware Avenue, in ten days if the water rent is not paid. The property was billed for one year's rent and the City said she stated she only had to pay for one quarter. The residence, a new one, had not been on the City books and water rent had never been paid on it, City Manager Adams said.

Charter Revisions

The Council discussed some 12 revisions to the Charter, to be placed before the current session of the Legislature, and spent much time considering revisions on the revisions. It will, undoubtedly, see them again in their final form before they go to the Legislature. Roughly, the revisions were as follows: 1. Compensation of Mayor and

Deed Is Upheld In Court Opinion

Care tendered by a grandson to his ailing grandmother, was found to be without intent to influence her deed of property to the grandson, by Vice Chancellor William Marvel, in an opinion handed down recently in which he refused to set aside the deed executed by a Kent County woman.

The deed, in question was executed and acknowledged on Dec. 30, 1954. It conveyed in fee simple the farm and home of Fannie B. Luff, consisting of 93 acres of ground valued at approximately $10,000 to her grandson, William Luff Townsend, subject to the reservation of a life estate to the grandmother.

On Nov. 3, 1954, at the age of 86, Mrs. Luff suffered a stroke. It was subsequently to this that she executed the deed which according to the vice chancellor's opinion was revealed to have been executed in presence of proper witnesses.

On June 17, 1956, William Luff Townsend, the grandson, died leaving a will under the terms of which the farm was left for life to his wife, Mary L. Townsend, a defendant in the case. The same will empowered the widow, as executrix of William Luff Townsend's estate, to sell any remainder of the property to Dr. Charles J. Townsend, Dr. Townsend was appointed guardian for Mrs. Luff and after appointment brought action to have the deed set aside, contending incompetence on the part of Mrs. Luff and "confidential relation" on the part of William Luff Townsend.

Father agreed that the deed should be set aside if the grantor lacked mental capacity to understand the nature of the act of conveyance.

In dealing with this phase of the case the vice chancellor says in his opinion: "I conclude that Mrs. Luff, although extremely old and ill on the critical date, was competent to sign the deed under attack."

Attention is called by the vice chancellor to assistance tendered Mrs. Luff by her grandson, both before and after her illness. It was claimed that these acts created no "confidential relation" but were evidence of a grandson's concern.

Herman C. Brown and W. W. Harrington, of Dover were legal representatives in the action for Charles J. Townsend. George M. Fisher of Dover and David F. Anderson of Wilmington were attorneys for Mary Louise S. Townsend.

Fair Association Names 2 Directors

Two directors were elected and 78 incumbents re-elected Monday night at the annual stockholders meeting of the Kent & Sussex Fair Association, in the cafeteria of Harrington High School.

The new officials are G. Wallace Caulk, Woodside, who fills a vacancy created by the death of his father, L. D. Caulk, and Edward Schabinger, Newark, filling a vacancy created by the death of Fred Powell.

The directors will meet tonight (Thurs., Jan. 9) to elect officers.

Some 380 persons attended the meeting, which followed a dinner, after which entertainment was furnished by George A. Hamid.

Milford Mayor Changes Mind

Mayor William R. Murphy announced Monday that he will seek another term in the city election Jan. 20.

The mayor's announcement reversed an earlier stand and came, he said in response to many requests that he run again. Murphy said he had been contacted by many individuals and received several petitions signed by "hundreds of citizens" after telling City Council several weeks ago that he wouldn't seek a second term.

The mayor said he considered it his "duty as a citizen" to change his mind in light of the reaction that followed.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 5. Miss Loretta Paskey's social studies class will discuss an appropriate topic.

Municipal Election Tuesday For Four Council Posts; Two More Candidates Enter Race

Woman Killed Near Greenwood In Auto Crash

A woman was killed and several injured as skidding accidents pushed past the hundred mark Tuesday night in Delaware's third heavy snowstorm in a little more than a month.

Mrs. Zelmira Pardini, 56, of New York City was the victim of the fatal crash near Greenwood.

Sussex was the hardest hit with six to eight inches, with Kent getting about four, and New Castle about three inches.

Mrs. Pardini was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Albert Pardini, 71, when the car, traveling south on Route 13 hit a patch of ice and snow at a spot where the road curves and rises slightly.

State police said the driver lost control of the car, which went into a side skid off the roadway with its right side, where Mrs. Pardini was sitting, crashing into a Delaware Power & Light Company pole. Time was set at approximately 11:30 a. m. by Bridgeville state police, who investigated. The site was a bare tenth of a mile north of the limits of Greenwood.

Husband and wife were both rushed to the Nanticoke Hospital, Seaford, in the Bridgeville Fire Company ambulance. Mrs. Pardini was pronounced dead at 2:03 p. m. by Dr. John P. White. She had head and internal injuries, plus shock.

Mr. Pardini was admitted for treatment of fractured ribs, multiple contusions and back injuries.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bessie W. Hargadine, two sons, William A. Hargadine, Jr., of Philadelphia, and John Hargadine of Bethany Beach; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth H. Palmer, of Claymont; a brother, Henry W. Hargadine, of New Castle; a sister, Mrs. Oscar W. Allen, of Seaford, four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be in charge of the Rev. Larry Renner, pastor of Felton Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. E. Parker, of Cambridge, retired. Burial will be in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, near Frederica. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

Funeral services were from the Berry Funeral Home yesterday afternoon. The Rev. W. Edwin Tull, pastor of the Church of God, officiated. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Martin is survived by one son, Lester R. Martin, Detroit, Mich., three daughters, Mrs. Helen Dutton, Lewes; Mrs. Anna May Shea, Milford and Mrs. Ruth E. Kaiser, also of Milford, three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Cohee, Pleasantville, N. J., Mrs. Della Moore, Philadelphia, Mrs. Anna Bock, Cleveland, O., a granddaughter, Mrs. Betty Moore, and a great-grandson, Gregory Moore, Milford.

The child is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Owens, Jr., of Ellendale, three sister, Sallie Faye, the deceased's twin, Ida Irene, and Joann, two brothers, George and James and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Owens, Sr., and Mrs. Norris James C. Smith, all of Ellendale.

Solar Battery To Be Shown To Lions Club

A lecture-demonstration, featuring one of the most significant scientific discoveries of our time, the solar battery, will be given before the Lions Club at a meeting to be held Monday at the Wonder R. by Albert S. Barnes, supervisor of customer information of the Diamond State Telephone Company.

Following a discussion of the structure and general characteristics of the battery which converts light into useful amounts of electrical energy, and is a development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Barnes will present a series of interesting demonstrations in which the battery will be used, among other things to power a small electric motor and a miniature telephone line. He will also discuss some of the possibilities which this revolutionary new development holds for the future.

W. A. Hargadine Dies in Felton

Services for William A. Hargadine, 80, president of the Felton Bank, who died at his home Monday night of a heart condition, will be conducted from the Berry Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Friday.

Mr. Hargadine had been president of the bank for 25 years, and was seen at his office there daily until his recent illness.

He had been retired from the milling business since 1944, and before that was a school teacher. He was a graduate of the Wilmington Conference Academy, Dover, now known as Wesley College.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bessie W. Hargadine, two sons, William A. Hargadine, Jr., of Philadelphia, and John Hargadine of Bethany Beach; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth H. Palmer, of Claymont; a brother, Henry W. Hargadine, of New Castle; a sister, Mrs. Oscar W. Allen, of Seaford, four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

London's famed Shot Tower on the Thames will be demolished and the surrounding site used as an underground parking garage.

Interest mounted this week when three additional aspirants announced themselves as candidates in the municipal election Tuesday which will see four Council posts to be filled, with contests in three.

The newcomers are Clarence M. Collins and Kenneth G. Aiken, in the Fourth Ward, and Raymond Dean, in the Third Ward. Also a candidate in the Fourth Ward is the incumbent, George Graham, service station operator, who is seeking his third term.

Collins operates a clothing store, while Aiken is an oil dealer. Both are participants in Chamber of Commerce work.

Dean seeks to serve the year remaining in the unexpired term of Charles Jerread who resigned, for personal reasons, after serving the usual three-year term and parts of two others. Jerread first held office when Councilman J. Edward Taylor moved out of the Third Ward.

Dean, an exterminator, will oppose George H. Exley, 105 Commerce St., a retired employee of the DuPont Company at Seaford.

The third contest will be in the Second Ward where Councilman Charles Peck Sr., a member of the governing body for more than 20 years, will battle Alan Rutledge, teacher in Harrington schools. Peck is associated with his sons in Peck Brothers Farm Supply.

At press time there is no contest looming in the First Ward where Thomas Brown, trouble-shooter for the Delaware Power and Light Company and former president of the fire company, is a candidate.

Brown seeks to serve the year remaining in the unexpired term of Walter Messick, who has moved just outside the City limits.

Normally, there would only be two vacancies to be filled this year.

Holdover councilmen are Norman Oliver, Fifth Ward, and John Apte, Sixth Ward. Mayor Hewitt W. Smith is also a hold-over, with his two-year term expiring next year.

Candidates' petitions may be presented at the City Hall or at the annual Citizens Meeting at 7:30 p. m. today at the Firehouse. Petitions must be signed by not less than ten, nor more than 25 voters in the Ward in which the candidate resides.

The municipal election will be held Tuesday, at the City Hall, from noon to 4 p. m.

Mrs. Ada B. Coulbourn Weds Martin Graham

Mrs. Ada B. Coulbourn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brown, was married Saturday evening, at Denton, to Martin B. Graham, of Georgetown. The Grahams will reside on West Liberty Street.

Thirty members of our Senior Band are going to Philadelphia this Saturday to see the Ice Follies. They will be accompanied by their director, Melvin Brobst. Bus service is being provided by Dawson's of Camden and they are taking the driver into the show as their guest. They will leave at 10:30 Saturday morning and take a box lunch. After the show, they will be stopping at Howard Johnson's Restaurant south of Wilmington where a room has been reserved for them for dinner that evening. They will return to Harrington at approximately 9 p.m.

8th Grade—Mrs. Goodwill
Mrs. Goodwill's class had their Christmas party Friday. The class elected different committees to take charge. Warren Bader brought in the Christmas tree.

Ralph Wooter's father was a patient in the Milford Hospital.

Chemistry Club
We boiled cranberries in water and made an indication. Acids made the cranberries juice red; bases made it greenish black. Lye, ammonia, and lime water are bases. Vinegar, boric acid, and oxalic acid are acids.

1st Grade—Mrs. Howard's
We are all glad to be back in school for the year of 1956. Oscar, Tommy and Rilehard are out sick. We are going to read in new books and learn more numbers.

3rd Grade—Mrs. O'Neal
We all had a very pleasant and happy vacation. We are glad to be back in school. We talked about all the good things we are going to do to start the New Year right.

4th Grade—Mrs. Quillen
The honor spellers for December were Margaret Fyvie, John Greenhaugh.

The boys had 100% in attendance for the month of December.

4th Grade—Mrs. Tatman
Everyone in the room reported a very nice Christmas vacation. After vacation we shared some of the gifts we received with the class, such as games, dolls, books, globes, and etc.

Donnie Knox brought his new trumpet to school and played several selections for us. Donnie also had a birthday during the holidays. He celebrated it by having some of his friends in for a party.

Donald Minner celebrated his birthday Christmas day and Wayne Porter had a birthday Dec. 28.

Marie Pitlick has been absent since the holidays. We hope she will soon be back in school. In art class we made pictures of exploring outer space.

5th Grade—Mrs. Mann
We had a meeting Friday, Dec. 13. We had our party the following Friday. Each person brought their own soft drink, and the following people brought refreshments: Wayne Carson, brownies; Ruth Ann Holden, potato chips; Lois Larimore, potato chips; Marilyn Jarrell, surprise; Charles Taylor, surprise; Nancy Harrington, brownies; Janet Anthony, fudge.

Four people gave out the presents and four gave out the cards. The following people were on the entertainment committee:

Stuart Greenberg, Linda Smith, Charles Taylor, and Marilyn Jarrell.

Delaware Food Market Report

If preparing fancy holiday meals has left you just a bit weary of kitchen duty—if you'd like meal plans to be quick and easy for a while—boilers and fryers offer the ideal solution. These tender young chickens are easy to prepare and, at the same time, they are easy on the budget.

Here's something new that may simplify things even more. Chicken and gravy may be served steaming hot in the dinner plate in a few minutes after being taken out of the freezer, reports the Maine Experiment Station, as a result of recent research. The secret to this is packaging the meat and gravy in a special plastic pouch just large enough to hold one serving. The laminated plastic of these pouches can endure extremes in temperature without change. This makes it possible to take the pouch from the freezer and drop it into boiling water. In a very few minutes the contents are ready to serve. The preferred thickening is waxy rice flour, best for preventing gravy from separating in freezing.

More lamb is appearing on the meat counter. Spring leg-of-lamb is selling as low as 49 cents a pound in some stores, however, the average is 55 cents. Pork still rates the good buy label with loin roast being the outstanding buy. Bacon has dropped a penny or so a pound in many stores.

Wise meal planners who heed the advice of nutritionists, will use three to four pounds of fresh vegetables every week for each member of the family. Don't just buy it, make sure each person in the family eats his share of fresh vegetables. Served raw or cooked, these vegetables offer health, color, variety and economy—celery, lettuce, carrots and cabbage. White potatoes remain a good buy also.

Look for specials on such canned goods as corn, green peas and green beans, for those of you who are trying to balance the budget the plentiful supply of pinto beans and blackeye peas will help do the trick. These two thrifty vegetables can be used in such dishes as chili-con-carne and hopping john to substitute occasionally for meat on the menu.

son Steward were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wright of Milford, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gamble and daughter, Carolyn, of Hedgesville, W. Va., and Mrs. Ruth Woodall of Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes and sons, Paul, Jr., Teddy, Joe and Bob, were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. Hughes' sister, Miss Nellie Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. East, who left for Lakeland, Fla. Saturday will visit Mr. East's relatives in Virginia enroute.

Robert Goodnow after spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Agnes Goodnow returned to school in Germantown, Pa., Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. McGinness and family gave a surprise birthday dinner for Mrs. Henry Herr Monday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herr, and son, Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. George Harrington, and son, Butch, and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Ray Smith.

THRIFT REPLACED BY FINANCING MAY BECOME A VIRTUE AGAIN

The economists are in a dither. There are as many theories about the future economic well being of the country as there are magazines or newspapers to publish them. Democrats say the Eisenhower boom is wearing thin at the edges, pointing to continued increases in the cost of living.

Republicans in turn point to new employment records and the highest average individual incomes in history. But every one of us has felt the bite of inflation. A home which could be built for $10,000 in 1940 costs $26,000 today.

It appears that the money lenders are going to teach lessons in thrift and personal money management. Families which have bought and bought as long as they could sign a deferred payment agreement may learn the value of good credit, if not the value of money in the bank.

Perhaps the day will return when thrift will again be one of the American virtues. The Martinsburg (Pa.) Morrison's Cove Herald

THE CITY OF HARRINGTON IS TRYING

We hardly hear anyone nowadays saying a good word for the City Government. However, that is nothing unusual; the powers that be are expected to perform their duties faithfully. Consequently, they receive little praise for doing what they are supposed to do.

It is a thankless chore, governing the City without pay, other than the desire for good government, and receiving a verbal kick-in-the pants in return.

However, we believe the outgoing City Council, and Mayor Dr. Hewitt W. Smith; William Smith, former city manager, and Norris C. Adams, present city manager, have much in their favor.

Uncollected taxes, other than those involved in a tax suit, were some $346, a record for Harrington. Furthermore, the City did extensive work on the streets, sewers, and water mains.

Here are some improvements: Blacktopped Railroad Avenue, from Liberty Street to the ice plant, thence to Weiner Avenue; Franklin Street, and East Milby Street. Blacktopped and curbed entrance to Benjamin Street from Delaware Avenue.

Installed water mains on Smith Avenue, Harrington Manor; Liberty Street, from Delaware Avenue to the Armory; from the southbound lane of U. S. 13 to the northbound lane; Second Avenue extended.

Extended sewer mains on West Milby Street, West Street, Second Avenue, Liberty Street.

The City also bought and installed a new sewer pump and a site for the City dump, though the latter has not been utilized and search is on for another location.

The City has not been too sharp, on some matters, due to negligence, but it has been prodded by the taxpayers and has been trying to straighten things out. In the matter of assessment and collection of taxes, it has been paying more attention to the Charter and has made considerable improvement in this area, notwithstanding the dismissal of its tax suit against the Reese Theatre property last week.

One can rest assured it will pay more attention from here on out. More will probably be heard about it this evening at the annual Citizens Meeting at the Firehouse.

At this meeting, petitions will be presented for the nominations of four councilmen; the City financial report will be read, and proposed projects for 1958 revealed. Then the fireworks will start. Up until the last few years, only a handful of citizens attended these affairs, but "it ain't that way now."

The meeting last year was most fruitful, with a number of citizens protesting suits on capitation taxes. The city won their point and more attention was paid to collection of taxes according to the Charter.

Tonight, there will undoubtedly be some other questions raised on taxes, but the City is girding its loins and should be able to combat the issues. In all, we believe it will be a healthful meeting for everyone. The City will probably settle some issues, if they arise, by pointing out that a number of remedial measures are involved in the proposed amendments to the Charter which will go before the current Legislature.

It is the duty of all voters to attend the Citizens Meeting tonight, and to vote in the Municipal Election Tuesday. Tonight is the time to speak and Tuesday is the time to vote.

FARM MANAGEMENT SESSIONS SCHEDULED

"Farming for Profit through Improved Management" will be the theme of three educational sessions planned this month by the Delaware Agricultural Extension service for all state farmers and their wives.

Willard T. McAllister, extension specialist in farm management at the University of Delaware, today said meetings are slated January 21 at Middletown High School, and Jan. 22 at Georgetown High School. Both start at 7:30 p.m. The third session is scheduled Jan. 23 at 1:15 p.m. at Capital Grange Hall, Dover.

Asking attendance by county people at the session in their area, McAllister reported three speakers and a movie will be on each program. Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics at the university, will suggest giving farms a "check-up" to determine the most profitable enterprise, possible weak spots, and how these can be found.

McAllister will consider what makes a farm pay from the point of view that some farmers are more successful than others. He will suggest what can be learned from them, along with "keys" to successful farming. Dr. McDaniel and McAllister will team up on a discussion of how farmers can develop better farming plans.

The county agricultural agent will close each session by explaining how the county extension service farm management program for 1958 can help farmers operate more efficiently.

The movie—"Things Keep Changing"—will lead into the discussions by showing what can happen unless farmers keep abreast of new management practices.

W.S.C.S. News

During January the six zones of Dover District W. S. C. S. will have interesting, informative and inspiring meetings throughout the district for the members. A "Promotion workshop" will use the theme "Meeting Our Task Today" and the program committee of the district has planned the program to help achieve and promote the theme. Reports of local societies as to its achievements, a panel discussion on the phase of responsibility in the local church, the presentation of the May program as given in the program book, and the presentation of the 1958-59 Missionary Pledge Card will make up the program for the evening. This will be an important meeting for each zone, beginning at 7:30 and concluding at 9:30. The meetings will take place as follows:

- Zone 1, Jan. 14, Asbury, Blades Circuit, program presented by St. Paul's, Laurel; Zone 2, Jan. 15, Trinity, Harrington, program presented by Cedar Neck, Lincoln; Zone 3, Jan. 21, Frederica program presented by Sardis, Frederica Circuit; Zone 4, Jan. 22, Sound, Roxanna Circuit, program presented by Salem, Selbyville; Zone 5, Jan. 23, Odessa, program presented by Hartly; Zone 6, Jan. 16, Goshen, Milton, program presented by Harbeson.

A social hour will follow each meeting.

Farm Week, Poultry, Vegetable, Fruit Speakers Named

Delaware Farm and Home Week speakers on the poultry, vegetable, and fruit programs were named today in an announcement from the University of Delaware's school of agriculture.

Speakers during the annual event Feb. 11, 12 and 13 in Agricultural Hall, Newark, also will discuss livestock, crops, fertilizers, dairying, irrigation, and some economics.

On the poultry program T. D. Runnels, university poultry nutritionist, will report on new concepts in trace mineral feeding. Dr. G. F. Combs, University of Maryland, will tell how to calculate energy values of different ingredients of feed when formulating rations. An explanation of trends in feed formulation will be given by Tom Coulton, Southern States Co-operative, Bridgeville. H. L. Wilcke, Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis, Mo., will discuss the role of additives in modern poultry feeding. A. F. Kish, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Co-operative, Harrisburg, Pa., will cover recent developments in feeding layers.

Vegetable growers will hear Dr. J. W. Heuberger, chairman of the plant pathology department at the university, and Donald MacCreary, university entomologist, aided by staff members in the two departments and the department of horticulture, outline 1958 recommendations for plant disease, insect, and weed control.

An out-of-state speaker, Dr. J. H. Carew, Michigan State University, will suggest profit-making ideas for producing and marketing vegetables. The vegetable sessions will end with a panel discussion of changes in Delaware's vegetable industry. Panel members will be H. P. Cannon, II, H. P. Cannon and Son, Inc., Bridgeville; E. M. Abbott, Jr., E. M. Abbott and Son, Inc., Laurel; J. R. Draper, the Brakeleys, Inc., Milford; Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the university; and Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics there.

A feature following the vegetable discussions will be awarding of 15-Ton Tomato Club awards. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs has been invited to present the awards.

Visitors at fruit sessions will hear a panel discussion on planting and care of new orchards by Stevens, Dr. V. J. Fisher, university horticulturist, and Dr. A. H. Thompson, University of Maryland horticulturist. Scheduled for discussion are promising new apple sports, choosing and spacing pollinators, improved

Fresh Barn Air Important

Fresh air in closed dairy barns is important in cold weather to remove moisture given off by cows, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

This moist air is unhealthy for cows, and condenses on walls and floors—causing rotting of wood and corrosion of metal fixtures.

Mr. Vapaa cited electric fans as being most successful to ventilate barns in cold weather. An automatic ventilation system solves the problem by continuously removing stale air and bringing in dry fresh air without causing drafts. State air can be removed from the floor where it is coldest, and fresh air can be brought in and distributed evenly at the ceiling.

Fan capacities are based on the average number of cattle being housed, the agent explained. Capacity should be provided at the rate of 80 cubic feet of air per minute for each 1000 pounds of cattle. If possible, provision should be made so the quantity of air can be reduced to 40 cubic feet per minute for each 1000 pounds of cattle. Multi-speed fans will provide air delivery at a maximum when the barn is warm and a minimum when the barn cools. The fan runs all the time at low speed, except when the barn temperature rises above 55 degrees.

Call the county extension office for a ventilation system in an individual barn, since needs vary.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Any time of the year is a good time to start new projects and hobbies, but January seems particularly ideal. Sometimes it's a result of gifts received for Christmas. In other cases it's because all the shiny new resolutions we make are still fresh in the mind. A wonderfully clear and entirely new year stretches out ahead, and it's ours to file as we choose. What better time to plan things which will add new interests and accomplishments to our lives!

NEEDLEWORK AS A HOBBY

Needlework is a creative, exciting and useful hobby. This applies to every phase of the art: knitting, crochet, sewing, embroidery, and others. It is one of the best investments of time and money you can find, and with each completed article comes a sense of achievement. Remember, always, to justify this investment by using the best available threads, yarns, and fabrics. When crocheting, for instance, be sure to look for the mercerized cotton threads as they make up into articles which will retain their original beauty and last longer. In knitting and crocheting, it is also important to buy enough thread or yarn at the outset to complete the article, as dye lots vary, be it ever so slightly.

WONDERFUL WEARABLE WOOLENS

Fashion was added to the practicality of knitwear back in the 1920's, and now there are knitted styles to fit almost every occasion and season. Wool has always been a prime favorite with knitters of course, and the gay, casual, wrap-around scarf shown today lives up to this tradition. Knit it in bold, vibrant colors of your choice. If it's campus bound, you might knit it in the school colors. It measures all of 68 inches, excluding the fringe. If you would like

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Don't know why I passed up last week unless too much New Years. Which I was asleep when the old year went out and the New Year in.

We were invited to several parties, but Dave, has always had someone to run into him on New Years Eve. So we just rode around Sanford for there's always so much to see.

Lake Monroe and the St. John's River join there and its about 35 miles from end to end. Also the Sanford Zoo is very large and always a crowd, just about every kind of birds and beast are in there.

Then there's the fishing at Lake Monroe, if you should see crowd of colored people on the banks, you can bet your last dollar fish are biting. Then you go a mile out on the pier you'll get your limit.

Another thing, nearly everyone has a motor boat, or a cabin cruiser. Dave won't let me go out in any boat—I can't swim. So all my fishing is from the banks. Any way I get (excuse the expression) really drunk.

So when he went to Coca, Fla. out on a deep sea fishing trip I had to stay on the pier. "Said he, wasn't paying $10 for me to spend the day down in the room, because I couldn't take the rocking of the boat. But I have a good time anyway.

About the funniest antics I've ever seen was last Monday night at the American Legion, was the Midgets and the Gals in a mixed tag team. They certainly had the crowd in stitches. A holiday crowd of 1883 were on hand. The fans laughed until tears ran out of their eyes. Sure were rough and ready.

It was the little things that made the girl midget tag bout so funny, like one little fellow climbing up the second strand of rope to confire with his girl partner.

When they announced that Don Eagle of the famed Mohawks was going to wrestle this next Monday, the applause was out of this world.

The city officials of Orlando really go for the sports. We are so lucky to have front row seats, when we decide to go. That's just when the Indian or the midgets are there.

Now the whole town is in a tizzy about the play that's coming to town, with Faye Emerson, Tyrone Power, in "Back to the Future." I have tickets so I like it. For the title it doesn't sound so hot. But guess we were lucky to get them. Been sold out for two weeks.

There isn't too much horse news yet as things are very quiet around all three tracks. Will live up now that the holidays are over.

Just couldn't help sending in this article I found in an old newspaper so here goes. Hope you'll find it as odd as I.

A 75-year-old law has just been changed from the year of 1882 in De Land, Fla. Which read: The Marshal, plus getting $500 a year, also received 25¢ for killing each dog that didn't have a license, besides costing the owner a $5 fine.

Another law back in the olden days in DeLand was this: "A speed limit was set in 1881 for hot-rodding horse drivers. Anybody who floor boarded a horse or other animals was liable to a $3 to $15 fine or one to five days in the pokey (jail I guess).

It was forbidden to hitch horses to a tree or let them stand on sidewalks. A law also stated that no horse, mule, jackass, bull or steer, cow or hog, or other animals could go at large. 20 days in the pokey or a $25 fine was placed upon the owner. Oh, there were many more (which sounds silly to us) crazy city ordinances back in the gay old days. This seems to be my hobby to look for all this.

I have a friend on the Orlando paper is just like me. So I call him and chat to see what ticks back in the olden days.

Thanks for so many cards from all my friends. This year I collected over 150 cards and made them into a scrap book and sent them to the Children's Hospital here.

Gee, Mrs. Warrington, when I asked you to send the calendar, I thought maybe I'd get it and maybe I wouldn't. They are so handy and so neat for a home. Only you sent me two. I'll use one in the barn office. What's new in the furniture store business this year?

A little late but, Happy New Year everyone.

RAYMOND DEAN FOR COUNCILMAN

From the THIRD WARD

MUNICIPAL ELECTION
TUES., JAN. 14

Your Support Will Be Appreciated

YOUR RIGHT TO WORK— AN AMERICAN FREEDOM PROTECT IT!

Attention all Delaware Citizens:

A Right to Work Bill is now being drafted for the State of Delaware. It will be introduced during the present session of the General Assembly at Dover. It is a bill every Delaware citizen should support—regardless of his occupation, whether he works for an employer or is self-employed. Here are the facts behind this bill.

What is Right to Work? Right to Work means simply that you may, or may not, join a union—as you see fit. It means you cannot be forced to join a union in order to hold your job; cannot be prevented from taking a job because you do not belong to a union; cannot be fired from a job for having joined, or for having refused to join, a union.

Don't we already have Right to Work? Fundamentally, yes. But it is fast disappearing. Compulsory unionism is in effect in many places in Delaware.

Is Right to Work Anti-Union? No. We are not attacking unions. We are not against unions, but we are against compulsory unionism. You should have the right to join a union if you wish. You should not be compelled to join in order to get and hold a job.

Why is Compulsory Unionism bad? For the reason that nearly everything compulsory is bad—because it takes away the liberty of individuals to think and act for themselves. Compulsion belongs to dictatorships. It has no place in our democracy. The only thing we should be compelled to do is obey the law.

Why are Delawareans especially concerned? Compulsory unionism has its most harmful effect on industry—and Delaware is a key state in the Atlantic seaboard industrial area. A right to work law will help industry grow in Delaware, and result in more jobs and improved economic conditions.

What states now have Right to Work laws? Eighteen states have right to work laws or include them in their state constitutions. These states are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia.

Will Right to Work cause a decrease in wages? No. U.S. Department of Labor statistics show that wages have increased in all states where a right to work law is in effect.

Will Right to Work provide more job opportunity? Yes; and it will protect employees from being fired for belonging, or not belonging, to unions.

Will Right to Work forbid employers to hire union men? No. Employers will be free to hire whom they want, union or non-union.

What do Unions think about Right to Work? Most union leaders don't like it. They believe the goal of unionism is complete monopoly control of all jobs, compulsory submission of all employees. Without compulsory unionism, union membership would have to be sold on its own merit—which might be difficult in some cases. Yet it has been proven that right to work legislation actually tends to strengthen unions. Statistics prepared at Columbia University show that unions have made greater membership gains in some of the states that have right to work legislation than in many non-right to work states.

Will Right to Work interfere with lawful Union activity? No. Right to work involves a single issue—compulsory unionism. It will not restrict the right of employees to organize and bargain collectively, will not interfere with present contracts, will not ban strikes or picketing.

What about "free riders"? Union leaders claim that employees who benefit from unions without supporting them are "free riders." This is unfair, when the "free rider" does not seek nor want union benefits. There is no moral ground for turning "free riders" into "forced followers."

Does Right to Work concern Industry and Unions alone? No. Nearly everybody is concerned. No matter what your occupation, organized labor probably affects you, or will affect you, in some manner.

What about the Farmer? He's affected, too; for example, in trucking services subject to union rule, or if he wants to take a part-time off-season job in industry.

What about the Butcher, the Baker, the Banker? Everybody in business is concerned with the right to work. Census Bureau figures show that between 1948 and 1954 the combined increase in retail sales was 28.4% greater in states having right to work laws than in the rest of the country.

What can you do? In the near future, when an adequate Right to Work Bill is introduced in the General Assembly, you will have the opportunity to support it by endorsing it to your elected representatives. Meanwhile, if you believe in the right to work, fill out and mail the coupon on this page. If you want to give active expression to your belief, join the Delaware Citizens for Right to Work, Inc.

Felton School News

Mrs. Margaret Phelps has replaced Mrs. Annie Ruth Spencer as Junior High English teacher. Mrs. Phelps holds an A-B degree from Women's College, University of North Carolina, and taught for two years in North Carolina high schools. Mrs. Spencer resigned at the end of the year in order to go with her husband and family to Scotland where Mr. Spencer has been ordered to new duty.

The Board of School Trustees is seeking an administrative assistant to the supervising principal who will also teach a number of high school classes. Applications from candidates for this position to the faculty are now being received.

Girls Sports

The Felton Girls Varsity played their first game of the season Friday afternoon with Milford. It was a very close game all the way. At the end of the first quarter Milford lead with 7 points and Felton only 6. Milford was even gaining more at the half with 15 points, leaving Felton with only 12. The girls started to fight even more in the third quarter and they were succeeding. The score was Milford 20 and Felton leading with 23 points. Felton was victorious and defeated Milford 32 to 24. Jean Keen was high scorer with 17 points.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The music department will hold an instrumental music clinic Thurs., Jan. 16, for the elementary grades 3, 4, 5, and 6. The clinic will be given by Scharman's Music Co. of Sinking Springs, Pa. This clinic is held to give students a chance to start on a musical instrument. The same clinic will be held Thursday evening for the parents of those students who are interested in learning to play a band instrument. The clinic will be held in the music room of Felton School.

High School Assembly

Wednesday the high school assembly program will feature an outstanding new film produced by the National Education Association. The film is entitled "Not By Chance" and it shows how attractive teachers are trained in our American Teachers College and Schools of Education for their professional duties. It has been hailed as one of the finest films ever made to develop respect for and understanding of the professional training required to create good teachers for our public schools. The film has been obtained through the courtesy of the University of Delaware Memorial Library. Parents are invited to attend this assembly at 8:50 a.m. Wednesday morning. Howard E. Henry, supervising principal, will conduct the assembly.

Senior Class

The seniors sent in the first section of the yearbook and will soon start work on the second section which will be due soon. This year the seniors hope to create an entirely different yearbook.

MENU

Monday—Creamed beef gravy on toast, candied carrots, milk, pears. Tuesday—Hamburg barbecue on roll, buttered peas and carrots, milk, prunes or pudding. Wednesday—Vienna sausages, baked beans, milk, fresh fruit, bread and butter. Thursday—Hot beef sandwich, whipped potatoes, milk, fruit or pie, bread and butter. Friday fish fillets, cole slaw, milk, cherries.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Acolytes for the second Sunday after Christmas were Albert Lee Ratledge, Wayne Porter, Ronnie Porter, Bobby Wooster, Ralph Wooster, Rodney Morgan, William McCooley, William Thompson.

Jan. 19 at 8 a.m. a corporate communion for the women and girls of the church is scheduled and afterward there will be breakfast at the parish house. It will be prepared and served by the men and boys.

The congregation of St. Stephen's extends sympathy and love to the family of Robert L. Nelson, on the death of his uncle, John C. Singleton, Sunday morning. Mr. Singleton had made his residence in Harrington with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson for a number of years. Services were held at the Berry Funeral Home Wednesday. The Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., of St. Stephen's officiated. Ushers for the second Sunday after Christmas were Messrs. Robert E. Baynard and Granville J. Hill.

It is with much pleasure that we welcome Mr. and Mrs. David Cleveland and their daughter, Cynthia, who have transferred from Christ Church, Milford, to St. Stephen's, Harrington.

Coffee hour hostesses for last Sunday were Mrs. Edward C. Brown, Sr. and June Thompson.

We were happy to have some members of Asbury Methodist Church visit St. Stephen's at the 11 o'clock Holy Communion on Sunday. Because of heating difficulties no service was held at Asbury.

Monday, was the Epiphany or Feast of Lights. It was on this day that the three wise men presented their gifts to the Christ child. It is also called the "Manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles," and the event is usually celebrated in the church by the administration of Holy Communion. The service at St. Stephen's was held Monday at 10 a.m.

Since the church holiday season is actually terminated at Epiphany, the greens and other Christmas decorations were taken down Monday afternoon.

Sunday there will be an exchange of ministers among the churches of Harrington, a move in anticipation of the United Crusade in this area. The Rev. R. S. Gibson will be guest preacher at St. Stephen's and the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., at Asbury. There will be similar exchanges in the other Harrington churches.

During the holidays members of St. Stephen's presented their vicar with a new mimeograph machine as a Christmas gift. It is hoped this addition to our church will aid in the publishing of the weekly bulletin as well as in the issuing of notices for Women's Auxiliary, vestry, youth groups, choir rehearsals, etc.

Church events and services for this week and next are as follows: Thurs., 8 p.m. choir rehearsal; Sunday, 8 a.m. Holy Communion; 9:30 a.m. Church School; 11 a.m. morning prayer and sermon with the Rev. R. S. Gibson, of Asbury, as guest; 12 p.m. coffee hour; 5 p.m. teen's group; 7 p.m. evening prayer; Monday 7 p.m. junior choir; Tuesday 10 a.m. Holy Communion and intercessions for the sick; 7 p.m. Acolyte meeting; Wednesday, 8 p.m. healing service at Seaford.

MRS. WILBUR CLEAVES SR.

Mrs. Nora Butler Cleaves, 71, died in the Milford Memorial Hospital Wednesday where she was taken Monday following a heart attack. She had been in poor health for some time.

A native of this state, daughter of Laben and Mary Carwright Butler, but had lived near Greensboro, Md., for several years.

Services will be held in the Boyer Funeral Home, Harrington Saturday at 1 p.m. in charge of the Rev. C. E. Wilcox, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington. Interment will be Hopkings Cemetery near Felton.

Besides her husband, Wilbur H. Cleaves, Sr., of near here, she is survived by two sons, Wilbur H. Jr., Denton, Md., and Elsworth of Harrington, two daughters, Mrs. Martha Haymond, Trenton, N. J., and Miss Mary Cleaves of Milford, also four brothers, Samuel, Barton, and Reuben Butler all of Milford, and William Butler of Harrington and a sister, Mrs. Elsie Benton, Milford, and nine grandchildren.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Fire Company Gets 3 Calls Saturday

The Harrington Fire Company answered three alarms Saturday, with no damage resulting from the fires. It extinguished a chimney fire at the farm of Mrs. Edna Morris, Weiner Avenue extended, at 9:15 a.m. At 10:45 a.m. it put out a fire in the car of R. Yoder. At 5 p.m. it answered an alarm on U.S. 13 just north of town. A Home Improvement truck, of Salisbury, had discovered some trash in the vehicle, burning and had put it out at the side of the road. The truckdriver did not send in the alarm. Cause of the fire was unknown.
