

BULK OF CHARTER REVISIONS APPROVED AT CITIZENS MEETING

An energetic and well-informed electorate, at the annual Citizens Meeting in the Firehouse Friday evening, approved the bulk of the proposed revisions to the City Charter scheduled to go before the current Legislature for passage.

It was brought out that the suggestions were in no way binding on the Council but merely for its guidance. However, some changes were written into the proposed revisions.

One revision, that of taxation on farm land, was not voted on because it was being studied by the city solicitor.

A delegation from Harrington Manor disapproved of a change in the sewer code whereby the City, at its discretion, could charge the cost on installation of sewers to the owners of property particularly affected.

A spokesman thought the mayor residents had been paying, thru taxes, on sewers constructed elsewhere by the City at no cost to the resident, and thought it should not pay. The City countered with the claim that installation of sewer would inflict onerous financial burden on the community.

After a short caucus, the delegation's spokesman, L. Gooden Callaway, said his backers would go along with the revision.

An amendment to pay councilmen, not more than $15 for any regular meeting, and the mayor, not more than $25, was disapproved by four votes. This measure stipulated the exact amount could be determined by the Council. A move for no compensation at all won by one vote. This measure will probably go before the Legislature.

Action on Other Revisions
A revision, stipulating that candidates for mayor and council must be freeholders, lost.

A change in election hours, from noon to 4 p. m. to noon to 7 p. m., was approved. In the event of no contest, polls were to close at 1 p. m.

Compensation—A resolution that compensation of city employees can be changed during the year. Heretofore, the rate had been set at the annual reorganization meeting which is held the next night after the annual municipal election.

Approved—City manager may use other bonds, including his own, as well as surety bond. Heretofore, he could be bonded only by a bonding company.

Approved—Increase in limit of total amount of taxes, which may be raised, to $75,000. Heretofore, the Charter specified the City could only raise $40,000. This measure was not one to increase the tax rate, for which it would not be necessary, but to enable the City to gain additional revenue with its growth. It was brought out that, with growth, the City would also have additional expenses.

Approved—Paying a discount of 3 per cent on taxes before May 1, as heretofore, and discontinuing the 2 per cent paid before June 1, and 1 per cent before July 1. To every tax paid after the first day of September in each year there shall be added and collected one per cent for every month or fraction of a month. The present provision stipulates penalties after Sept. 30.

Approved—An addition to the powers of the city manager in collection of taxes, providing he may sell delinquent property without exhausting other means among which was a 30-day jail sentence.

Approved—Increase in bonded indebtedness from 15 per cent to 30 per cent of last assessment. City assessment is more than two million dollars. Bond issues must be voted on at a referendum.

Approved—Amendment to permit City to require registration and taxation of dogs.

Approved—Increase in amount of money City can borrow to pay current expenses to a limit of $35,000, to be paid from current revenue.

Sylvester is Chairman
The meeting elected Earl Sylvester, former mayor, as chairman, and City Clerk Mrs. Kathryn Simpson as secretary. Councilmen Charles Peck Sr., John Apt, and Norman Oliver were present, with Councilman George S. Graham out because of sickness. Sylvester read a letter from Graham expressing his regrets at being unable to attend the meeting.

Good - Pearson

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Brethren Church, Denton, Tues., Jan. 7, when Eveyln Lucille Good, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Good of Harrington, became the bride of Gordon Lewis Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pearson of Denton.

The bride wore a pretty turquoise blue silk dress with white accessories and a bouquet of white pom-poms and carnations. The bride's only attendant, Miss Laura Belle Sharpneck of Felton, wore a brown print dress and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Leland Short of Denton was best man. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Galen Blough of that church. The bride will remain home with her parents while the bridegroom is in the service.

Banco Venezuela, in Caracas, now ranks as Latin America's leading commercial bank, with capitalization of $33,000,000.

H. H. S. Tops Bridgeville; Loses To Greenwood

In a game probably as exciting as any in Harrington's recent basketball history the Lions beat Bridgeville Varsity, 58-55, and the JV's, 43-26.

Coach Bill Smith's Junior Varsity, sparked by K. P. Outten's 17 points, were too much for the much bigger Bridgeville reserves. Fine team play by Snooky Collins, Jim Temple plus good rebounding from Ron Collins and Dwight Hackett spelled the victory. Robert Gillette, 6 ft. 2 inch 8th grader was a welcome surprise for Coach Smith as he scored 6 points in his first game effort.

In the Varsity game Dick Jeffers' squad played a terrific brand of team play plus an excellent effort on the foul line. The crowd which was predominately Bridgeville, was excited throughout as the see-saw game changed hands often. The score by quarters was: 17-11 in favor of Bridgeville in the first quarter; 28-26 in favor of Harrington at halftime and at the end of the third quarter it was 32-35 in favor of Harrington and the final, 58-55 in favor of the Lions.

Coach Jeffers praised the fine effort of the entire squad and singled out Jackie Porter and Jim Schiff as outstanding play makers, setting up the big boys for the scores. Roger Hendricks, Bill Manship and Dave Coady gave the Lions an excellent 1-2-3 punch with 18-15-14 points respectively. Such teamwork was really enjoyed by the Harrington cheering section as they cheered continually for the Lion's success.

Wednesday night Greenwood was able to capitalize on 25 of 33 foul shots in order to run away with the local boys from both the field and the foul line. Harrington had little offensive power until the second half when Coach Jeffers inserted mostly next year's squad who immediately pressed and made the game a little closer. Jim Temple sparked the Varsity bid as well as being high scorer on the Reserve. He had an evening's total of 25 points in two games.

The Reserve team won its third straight, 39-29 as they rolled in the 4th period with 19 points over the Greenwood squad. Jim Temple paced the squad with 16 points.

Tonight the local squad takes on Felton at Felton. Game time: 7:00 p.m.

Harrington School Notes

SENIOR PERSONALITY
Harvey Ivins, sometimes known as Harv or Hewitt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Ivins. He was born in Harrington Dec. 23, 1939.

Harvey is taking a commercial course. His favorite subject is bookkeeping and his favorite sports are basketball, baseball, and football. Harvey's favorite pastime is dancing and rabbit hunting. He enjoys popular music also.

Harvey is in the Agriculture Club. One of Harvey's pet peeves is people who brag about what they are. Whenever you hear the expression "Just one more time", you must know Harvey would be around.

Upon graduation he plans to join the Navy.

Mrs. Goodwill's Eighth Grade
Mrs. Goodwill's room had many go to the farm show that was held at the Reese Theatre on January 8. Robert Gillette won a scale model of a tractor, and Ralph Wooters also won a scale model of a farm wagon. One of our eighth grade pupils has moved to Dover.

Miss Morris' Eighth Grade
We had a science demonstration of the sound barrier Tuesday for the Harrington Junior and Senior High School. It was very interesting.

We will have our mid-year exams the 22, 23, and 24. We think we all want to get them over with.

Sophomore Class News
Don't forget the Sophomore class dance on January 24th. We hope you will all attend.

We should like to extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Mary Cahall in the bereavement of her brother.

6th Grade—Mrs. Mann
On Friday we had our class election. We elected the following: President, Phoebe Bullock; vice president, Marilyn Jarrell; secretary, Nancy Harrington; treasurer, Stuart Greenburg.

We are preparing for six-week tests and examinations. We decided to have arithmetic first and social last. In social Mrs. Mann assigned reports to some people. Reporters: Nancy Harrington, Barry Fry

6th Grade—Mr. Smith
Our class met in our room on Jan. 8th at 11 a. m. The meeting was brought to order by the vice president, Frank Collins. The minutes were read and approved. There was no old business so new business was discussed. The new business was our assembly. Each person is to make out a program, and they are to be discussed at our next meeting. Since there was no more business the motion was made that the meeting be adjourned.

Reporter, Alice Hearne

7th Grade—Mrs. Dolby
All the boys and girls of 71 class had a very nice Christmas and a Happy New Year. Most of them got everything they wanted. Some of them were away for Christmas. Mrs. Dolby went to Florida and had a very nice time. She brought some things back with her to show us and gave each of us a taste of an avocado pear. It seemed to have little taste or flavor. She sent everyone in the room a postcard which we all enjoyed.

Four new councilmen swept into office, in the municipal election Tuesday, with a good turnout of voters, despite the heavy rains.

Elections were held in four wards, with competition keen in the three wards having contests.

Thomas E. Brown was unopposed in the First Ward.

Alan Rutledge, schoolteacher, defeated the incumbent, Charles Peck Sr., veteran of 20-years' service in the city government, in the Second Ward.

George Exley, retired DuPont employe, nosed out Raymond Dean in the Third Ward.

Clarence Collins, clothing merchant, received the nod in the Fourth Ward with the closest of saves. Collins and Kenneth Aiken, fuel oil dealer, each garnered 32 tallies to top the voting. A drawing Wednesday morning, by an election judge, made Collins the winner. George Graham received 28 votes in the same ward where he had been councilman for two terms. Sickness slowed down his campaign.

The Vote
First Ward
Thomas E. Brown 7

Second Ward
Alan Rutledge 32
Charles Peck Sr. 73

Third Ward
George H. Exley 47
Raymond Dean 45

Fourth Ward
Clarence M. Collins 32
Kenneth G. Aiken 32
George S. Graham 28

Brown will serve the year remaining in the term of Walter Messick who moved beyond the city limits.

Exley serves the year remaining in the term of Charles Jerread who resigned.

The other victors serve the usual three years.

One voter in the Third Ward stated, "I ain't a goin' to vote unless they come and ask me." No one came around!

Col. West Clarifies Use of Armory By Outside Interests

When civic interests use Corbit Armory and charge an admission fee, it is the policy of the National Guard to also charge a basic fee.

When an admission fee is not charged, it is the policy of the guard to charge one or two nominal fees.

Thus, Lt. Col. Joshua T. West, commander of the 193rd Battalion AAA, told representatives of civic groups at the armory Thursday night, Jan. 9.

Where civic interests charge an admission fee to an event held in the Liberty Street armory, the basic fee is $35. In addition, there will be a $5-fee to pay a guard representative who is required to be on hand when the building is being used by outside interests. There is also a janitor's fee of $10, but this can be waived if the organization using the armory does the janitor's work.

Where civic interests do not charge an admission fee, the only fees are the $5, for the guard representative, and $10 for the janitor. In the latter case, this can be waived if the group does the cleanup work.

Outside interests promoting, for example, wrestling or boxing matches, are not solicited, Col. West said, but they may use the building at $100 per night, plus other charges.

The meeting, which proceeded harmoniously, was the outgrowth of uncertainties as to charges for the use of the armory by outside groups.

Persons interested in using the armory may see Sgt. William M. Coverdale at the building from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. He will transmit their request to Lt. James Turner, commander of Battery B, based at the armory.

School to Close During Extreme Weather Conditions

Harrington Special School District will continue on the program which the State Board of Education requires of it that school will be open unless otherwise indicated by broadcast over WKSB. This will only be under extreme weather conditions. This was decided at the meeting of the local board Thursday evening, Jan. 9, at the home of the superintendent, J. C. Messner.

In other business, a letter was read from the Senior Class asking permission for Mrs. Margaret Homewood and William Fox to act as chaperones during the trip to New York. The board was agreeable.

The school platform will be held at revival services to be held in the Armory.

The use of the school cafeteria will not be granted to outside organizations if they interfere with the use of the cafeteria during the school day.

Cots and a refrigerator will be bought for the trainable class.

Spring vacation this year will be from March 3 to April 7 inclusive.

Salary supplements and extra pay for school activities was discussed for the following year. The present supplements continue for the duration of the school term. Norman Cotter, president of the local teacher organization, was present and presented views of the teachers on the subject of extra duties.

NEW COUNCIL REAPPOINTS ADAMS AS CITY MANAGER

Penny Employees Honor W. C. Miller

The career of W. Cliff Miller, who retired recently as supervisor of communications and signals of the Delmarva District of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is virtually a history of 50 years of these devices.

Miller, whose retirement after a half-century service on the railroad, was signaled at a dinner Saturday evening in his honor at the Shrine Club, Wilmington, told the diners of the changes he had witnessed from manually controlled to automatic signal, the highball, in operation at Hurlock when Miller came here from Baltimore after World War II.

A crowded dining room saw Miller's friends, relatives, and business associates from over the city. At the close of the meeting, he was presented a handsome gift.

Art Crawford, engineer in communications and signals, of Pittsburgh, a friend of many years, was master of ceremonies.

Among those present who were formerly stationed here, were Bernie Seims, manager in real estate of New York City; Bruce Miller, district engineer, Pittsburgh, and Ham Frew, freight agent, Wilmington.

Others present included the following from Harrington: T. J. Murray, district engineer; J. M. Fair, E. W. Webster, Herman Ryan, Nyle Callaway, Ernest Homewood, Donald Vincent, Alton Collins, H. L. Chamberlin, Milt Culver, O. T. Perry, George Rapp, J. I. Adams, Fulton J. Downing, T. Brinton Holloway, Jack Thomas, Marion Brown, Tom Clarke, and Wade Mitchell.

Also present were H. C. Brown, Magnolia, and Dan Queen and W. J. Foor, Dover.

The committee in charge of the dinner was as follows: C. R. Bergman, K. M. Lockerby, G. H. Ward, Fulton Downing, V. E. Wannag, E. W. Webster, W. N. Pippin, W. E. Benfer, and T. J. Murray.

The Council split its votes, on the reappointment of the city manager, but Mayor Smith cast the deciding vote in favor of the motion.

This motion was rescinded and the city manager and another passed, 4 to 2, reappointing Adams and raising his salary $500 to $500 per year.

Other Appointments
City Clerk Kathryn Simpson was reappointed at $3120 per year, to be paid on a weekly basis.

City Treasurer Howard Wagner was reappointed and stipend increased $50 per year to $200 per year.

H. C. Brown was appointed city solicitor, replacing Max Terry.

L. Gooden Callaway was reappointed alderman and Norris C. Adams was appointed acting alderman.

A. B. Parsons was appointed chairman of the Auditing Committee, with Arnold Gilstad, and incumbent, and Ernest Killen as other members.

Thomas Clendingen was named chairman of the Board of Health, with Dr. Robert Smith and Dr. W. T. Chipman as other members.

Jonathan W. Hopkins and W. A. Stafford were named assessors at $240 each. They will handle the general assessment this year.

Mrs. Frances Rifenburg was reappointed custodian of the waterworks at $35 per month.

Douglas Mills was reappointed custodian of the Delaware Avenue sewer pump at $50 per year.

Chief of Police George Hughes was reappointed at $72.50 per week. Patrolmen L. O. Bowden and Ernest Kohland were reappointed, with a raise of $5 each to $60 per week.

C. Douglas Mills was reappointed fire marshal.

Mayor Smith named the Police Commission but he accepted recommendations of the Council. The city manager was named chairman, with other members being the chief of police and Councilman Collins.

The street crew was reappointed, with Bayard Smith, as truck driver and laborer, receiving $1.20 per hour, and Willard Hill and Lawrence Rust, helpers, $1.10 per hour.

Ted Dean was appointed janitor of the City Hall at $7.50 per week. He is also janitor of the Firehouse.

Wilbur Pearson was reappointed custodian of the sewer pumping station at $10 per week. In the same motion, it was voted to put shields over the driveshafts and lock the trapdoors at the station.

Mrs. William Humes was named chairman of the Zoning Commission, with power to select its other members. She will also be requested to make a report by March 31.

The Council also voted to continue storing the city truck at Pitlick's Garage. The garage receives no rental but services the vehicle.

The cement company at Caraboo now is Venezuela's third largest and is planning to double the capacity of its subsidiary, Ceramica Carabobo, which makes tiles and other ceramic products.

In Rome, the Pope urged Jesuits to give up smoking and public holidays and to avoid "pleasant but expensive journeys."

NEW COUNCIL REAPPOINTS ADAMS AS CITY MANAGER

Norris C. Adams was reappointed city manager, at the annual organization meeting of the City Council Wednesday night when four new councilmen, victors in the election the previous day, assumed their posts.

Sworn in were Councilmen Thomas E. Brown, First Ward; Alan Rutledge, Second Ward; George H. Exley, Third Ward; and Clarence M. Collins, Fourth Ward. Incumbent councilmen are Norman Oliver, Fifth Ward, and Jack Apt, Sixth Ward.

An insight on what may be expected, in Council activities this year, was gained when, after the new members were sworn in, the first appointment of a city manager came up. Applications were read from Adams, the incumbent, and from William F. Smith, former city manager.

Councilman Rutledge voted for a deferment on the appointment, saying he was new on the Council and that he wished to know more about the applicants. He asked for a deferment until the meeting of Feb. 3. Though the Charter says the city manager must be appointed on the organization night, a motion for deferment was voted on and defeated when Mayor Hewitt W. Smith cast the deciding vote after the six councilmen had split their votes.

The Council split its votes, on the reappointment of the city manager, but Mayor Smith cast the deciding vote in favor of the motion.

This motion was rescinded and the city manager and another passed, 4 to 2, reappointing Adams and raising his salary $500 to $500 per year.

Other Appointments
City Clerk Kathryn Simpson was reappointed at $3120 per year, to be paid on a weekly basis.

City Treasurer Howard Wagner was reappointed and stipend increased $50 per year to $200 per year.

H. C. Brown was appointed city solicitor, replacing Max Terry.

L. Gooden Callaway was reappointed alderman and Norris C. Adams was appointed acting alderman.

A. B. Parsons was appointed chairman of the Auditing Committee, with Arnold Gilstad, and incumbent, and Ernest Killen as other members.

Thomas Clendingen was named chairman of the Board of Health, with Dr. Robert Smith and Dr. W. T. Chipman as other members.

Don't Overwork Farm-Home Wiring

Don't overload farm and home electrical wiring, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, cautioned today. If you do, the pay will be poor service, increased costs—and maybe a fire.

In suggesting this time of year to overhaul circuits, the agent pointed out that about 100 volts on a line meant to handle 110 means 30 per cent less light from bulbs, a 20 per cent drop in appliance heat, and 19 per cent less motor power.

Waste come when electricity is spent heating wires as the current is battling to overcome resistance. You'll know lines are overloaded, if correct size fuses blow frequently. Circuit breakers will trip without apparent cause.

You can also determine when a circuit is overworked by watching lights on appliances. Motors run hot and dim lights when starting, home cooking appliance will heat slowly, the TV picture might shrink, and lights may wink while milking machines and pumps run.

Mr. Vapaa's recommendation is to cut the overload on recent circuits by installing more wiring. Larger appliances and pieces of equipment will likely run more efficiently on a separate circuit, where voltage is kept at maximum.

Purchase 1958 Dog Licenses, Now

Chief Warden Virgil Hearn urges all dog owners to license their dogs as soon as possible. Dog licenses for 1958 may be purchased at most sporting goods stores, justice of peace offices and the Dover office of the Game and Fish Commission.

Mr. Hearn stressed the importance of securely attaching the 1958 aluminum tag on the dogs collar. It is almost impossible to identify a lost, strayed or stolen dog that is not wearing a current license tag.

A dog license costing $1 should be obtained for all dogs over four months of age. North of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, a current rabies inoculation in mandatory.

The following regulations affect all dog owners outside the city of Wilmington:

- 1) Purchase dog license (costing $1) immediately. Dog licenses for 1957 expired Dec. 31, 1957.
- 2) All dogs over four months of age must be licensed.
- 3) North of the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal all dogs must be currently inoculated for rabies before a license will be issued.
- 4) Attach 1958 aluminum dog tag securely to collar.

Farm "Check-Up" Meeting Set

"It's time to give your farm a check-up," reminds W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

"One of three educational meetings designed to help farmers examine their plans and goals will be held at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover Wed., Jan. 22, from 1:15 to 3 p.m.," he adds. Dr. William McDaniel, chairman of the agricultural economics department at the University of Delaware, will team up with McAllister in a presentation stressing farming for profit through improved management.

This is a program aimed at the farmer who feels that some changes are indicated in his program. Situations will vary on every farm, and plans must be tailored to meet these varied conditions. Some farmers are thinking of expanding a given enterprise, or adding a second enterprise to spread the risk, or even changing the operation so that a man might use a special skill for a steady pay check in town. The solution starts by first isolating the specific problems, examining alternative solutions, and picking the course of action calculated to provide the most profitable returns. It is, or can be, a family program involving Mrs. Farmer as the co-pilot helping to chart the course of action.

The solution starts by first isolating the specific problems, examining alternative solutions, and picking the course of action calculated to provide the most profitable returns. It is, or can be, a family program involving Mrs. Farmer as the co-pilot helping to chart the course of action. Mrs. Ruth Adams, Kent home demonstration agent, and George Vapaa, Kent county agricultural agent, propose a kind of assistance wherein the extension service team provides technical help and a fund of experience to help local farm families resolve their problems. This will be a farm and home management service patterned after the Greener Pastures program idea. The emphasis is on the immediate objectives—but aimed at ultimate realistic management goals.

School Administrators To Discuss Course Of Science, Math Education

A meeting of several school administrators in the state will be held in the offices of the State Department of Public Instruction, Dover, today at 10 a.m.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., state superintendent, is to discuss the status of science and mathematics education in the schools of the state and to try to determine the direction that such education should take. This committee will act as a steering committee for the statewide meeting of all administrators to be held in the near future.

Kent Poultrymen To Consider New Unit

Kent County poultrymen are invited to a covered dish supper followed by a meeting to consider reorganization of local poultry groups into enterprise interests within a county unit, says Edward Laramore, president of the host Dover local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association. The supper will start at 7 p.m. Thurs., Jan. 23, at the Caesar Rodney School cafeteria.

The poultry business has become so specialized that turkey growers, egg producers and broiler growers find their problems as diverse as if they were comparing the dairy or swine enterprise with poultry. Likewise, TV and the trend toward integrated operations has changed farmer habits and procedures. Larger farm-size units intensify poultry problems when they occur. The reorganization proposals hope to meet the present needs of poultry interests in line with the changing conditions. Heretofore, much of the local D.P.I.A. work has been handled through generalized meetings. Less emphasis on meetings and more stress on specialized committee work would seem to be indicated, adds Mr. Laramore.

Membership in the D.P.I.A. is open to anyone with an interest in some phase of the poultry industry. The supper is planned as a family affair. The association will furnish the meat course, and each family should bring a covered dish.

Committees are being designated to provide for a successful event. Further information may be obtained from any Kent local D.P.I.A. officer or from George Vapaa, Kent county agricultural agent, at the Dover post office building.

Callaway Heads Kent Heart Drive

L. Gooden Callaway, of Harrington, who has accepted chairmanship for the annual Kent County Heart Fund Drive will be host to his Campaign Committee chairmen, or their representatives, at a luncheon to be held at Alexander's Friday, Jan. 17.

At this time Mr. Callaway will announce the names of his Kent County chairmen who will head their respective communities in the Heart Fund Drive which takes place on Heart Sunday, Feb. 25.

Protect Home Garden Investment

Protect your home garden equipment investment, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent, suggested today.

Explaining the statement, the agent said: If tools and machinery were put away in a hurry last fall, it will pay to check now to sure they are safe against rust or other damage. You also can get the equipment in condition for the coming season.

The county agent said the winter equipment check can go along well with reading a revision of a Delaware home gardening publication being prepared at the University of Delaware School of Agriculture. Now at the print shop, the publication should be ready for issue some time in February. Home gardening from beginning to end is explained. An announcement will be made when the revision is available.

Continuing the discussion of garden equipment, the county agent advised being sure all metal parts are clean and dry. Mud left on tools, or fertilizer or insecticides left standing in contact with metal is likely to corrode the equipment during winter.

The garden fertilizer spreader will rust out quickly unless all leftover fertilizer is washed off, and the metal dried and covered with oil. Fertilizer attracts moisture, inviting rusting, Mr. Vapaa explained. If mud has been left on tools, remove it and rub down rusty spots with steel wool. Then coat the metal with oil. If paint has worn off, you could reapply it.

Many a sprayer has been ruined in one winter simply by leaving insecticide standing in it. The metal may get so corroded the sprayer will need replacing.

As for a garden tractor or power mower, he said, drain all leftover fuel from gas tank and carburetor to prevent gum deposits. Drain the oil while the engine is warm and refill the crankcase with fresh oil of the weight you'll use next spring. Remove the spark plugs, squirt a teaspoon of oil into the firing chamber, roll the flywheel a few turns to distribute oil, and replace the plugs, cover the exhaust pipe to keep out moisture.

Have your lawn mower repaired and overhauled now, the agent recommended. Mowers usually need sharpening and repairing at least once a year, and shops have more time to do it now than in the spring.

Social Security News

January 31, is the deadline for reporting the cash wages paid in 1957 to farm employees, H. Leland Brown, District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Wilmington, stated today.

Delaware farm operators or farm owners who have paid as much as $150 in cash wages to any farm worker in their employ during 1957 must file an employer's tax and information return for such farm employees. They must also report each farm employee who worked for them on 20 or more days during 1957 regardless of the amount of those wages if they were figured on a time rather than a piece rate basis.

For 1957, the social security tax rate is 4 1/2 per cent (2 1/2 per cent for each employer and employee.) This tax applies to cash wages paid to a farm worker up to a total of $4200 in the year. The tax amount must be entered on form 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return For Agricultural Employees) together with the total amount of cash wages paid to the farm worker. It is required that the farm employer do this and file the return with the Delaware District Director of Internal Revenue at Wilmington on or before the due date mentioned above.

Mr. Brown points out that when a farm employer meets the 20-day a year test the farm employer should count only days for which the employe works for cash wages figured on a time basis. However, if the worker meets this test, the farm employer must pay social security taxes on all cash wages paid the employe during the year (whether on a time, piecework, or other basis).

Farm employees include household workers if they are employed on a farm operated for profit.

AGRONOMISTS' TOPICS: CORN IRRIGATION, FERTILIZER

Corn irrigation and recommendations for applications of fertilizer on next season's crops are the speakers at the 9:45 session at Agricultural Hall, Newark.

University of Delaware agronomists Dr. Henry W. Indyk and Leo J. Soino, Jr., will be the speakers at the 9:45 session at Agricultural Hall, Newark.

Dr. Indyk, who has conducted a three-year study of the need for corn irrigation in this area where the average rainfall is 40 inches or more, will unveil detailed findings. In a preliminary discussion today, he said an important factor in the need for corn irrigation has been the poor distribution of rainfall, resulting in drought conditions when soil moisture was most needed by crops.

The agronomist indicated he will give a report on the pros and cons of corn irrigation, based on research findings.

Cotnoir, when questioned about fertilizer recommendations for next season, noted that some fertilizers used on last year's crops still remains in soil. He attributed this to the dry season that caused crop failures.

Considering that some fertilizer remains in soil, he said, this year's applications can be reduced in some cases. Recommendations will be made on this basis when an evaluation of coming needs is completed, Cotnoir concluded.

U. D. AGRONOMIST ASKS SOYBEAN SEED TREATMENT

An agronomist at the University of Delaware school of agriculture suggests soybean seed treatment to give some assurance of proper seed germination in next season's planting.

During an interview today, Frank E. Springer said treatment is necessary, since weather during harvest was not ideal for producing high quality seed. There was so much moisture that seed could have been infected with organisms that could reduce germination.

Treating usually is done when seeds are cleaned after harvest, he said. If not done then, the agronomist advised waiting until just before planting to treat. This will be more expensive because of labor costs, but will be most effective in eliminating organisms that reduce seed germination. Labor is saved when seed is treated at cleaning time, Springer stated.

Simplest way to treat soybean seed on the farm, he said, is to put seed in a large tub or other container. Dampen the seed a little, put the seed-treating compound in the tub, and stir thoroughly. Springer cited this method as being simplest for the farmer who cleaned and wishes to treat his own seed. If treating is done at one of the commercial plants in the state, the job is best done at least expense when seed is cleaned.

The agronomist recommended using one of the mercury compounds sold under several trade names to treat seed.

To always have one guarantee of quality seed, he said to buy certified seed. For the grower using seed harvested on the farm, Springer advised having a simple seed germination test run now to determine the percentage of germination—and to learn if the seed is worth planting.

Germination tests are made free at the State Board of Agriculture seed testing laboratory, Dover.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE TO RECEIVE $40000 FROM DUPONT COMPANY

Washington College in Chestertown, Md., has been selected to receive $4000 for the next academic year from a fund established by the DuPont Company as an annual program of aid to education.

DuPont will distribute nearly $1,150,000 to 135 universities and colleges, almost $100,000 more than the grants in last year's program.

More than half of the entire program consists of grants for strengthening the education of scientists and engineers. The grants will support the teaching of science and mathematics as well as other subjects.

As in past years, colleges selected to receive the grants were chosen on their records of strength in chemical education, to help them maintain the excellence of their teaching.

The $4000 grants consist of $2,500 for chemistry teaching and $1500 for other courses that contribute importantly to the education of scientists and engineers.

Other major parts of the program include grants for fundamental research and grants for fellowships.

TIMELY RESOLUTION CALLS FOR SPECIAL CARE OF SOWS

A resolution is easier to keep if it can be followed up before the good intentions have a chance to wear off, and a resolution that this timeliness calls for swine producers to give special care to sows during the latter part of their winter pregnancy periods.

Between one-half and three-fourths of all the individual nutrients contained in the pigs at birth are deposited during the last month of pregnancy, according to Dr. Francis Wingert, University of Maryland animal husbandry department. "Therefore," he explains, "any deficiency during that period has a serious effect on the litter. The same thing is true in summer pregnancies, of course, but in the summer sows get many of the nutrients that are critical for the developing pigs from pasture and soil."

"In the winter, especially if the sows are confined most of the time, these critical nutrients must be included in the ration." In a severe mineral deficiency, for example, the litter may be reabsorbed and the sow come back into heat as if she never had a litter developing. In less severe cases, abortion, or the birth of dead or small and weak pigs are other possibilities. In any case, the possibility of profit become pretty small.

There are many suitable winter rations for pregnant sows, and the best choice depends on which ingredients are available and economical. Here's a sample guide: whole oats with just enough corn to keep the sow in good condition, a minimum of 1 pound of protein supplement daily, with free access to a good grade of legume hay and mineral mixture.

As important as a balanced ration is, Dr. Wingert points out, water is just as important. A continuous supply of clean, ice-free water is the first essential for strong live pigs at birth.

PIG CROP IN MARYLAND LAST YEAR WAS 9% BELOW 1955

Maryland's 1957 pig crop, at about 307,000 pigs, was 9 per cent below 1956 and 19 per cent below the 1946-55 average. The 9 per cent drop from 1956 was due to a 5 per cent smaller fall crop and a 12 per cent smaller spring crop, according to a year-end report issued by the Maryland Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

Although no new records were set for litter size last year, the average of 7.3 pigs per litter in the fall crop was equal to the fall crop record set in 1956 and the average for the spring crop, at 7 pigs per litter, was second only to the record of 7.2 for the spring of 1954.

Maryland's smaller pig crop last year was part of a general drop in the Middle Atlantic region from 1956, but the Corn Belt and some Western states increased production over the previous year. For the country as a whole the 1957 crop of 89 1/2 million pigs was about the same as in 1956 and one per cent above average.

New national records were set last year in the average number of pigs saved per litter, both for the spring and fall crops. The new records are 7.06 pigs for the fall crop, and 7.12 pigs for the spring crop.

In the outlook for next year, Maryland farmers have indicated intentions to have 24,000 sows farrow during the spring months of 1958—4 per cent more than in the spring of 1957 but 20 per cent below average for spring farrowings. Intentions indicate that 7,801 sows will farrow in the nation in the spring of 1958. This would be an increase of 6 per cent from last spring, but 6 per cent below average.

HANDBOOK EXPLAINS HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK

Delaware home demonstration work is explained in a new home economics extension publication, Mrs. Alice M. King, state home demonstration leader, announced today.

Primarily a handbook for present and potential club members, the booklet developed by state and county home demonstration council members also is intended for those who wish to become acquainted with home demonstration work.

In an attempt to answer questions frequently asked about home demonstration work, the handbook defines extension and how it is organized from community to federal levels. The setup of the Delaware staff and locations of offices are indicated.

Sections specifically tell what home demonstration work is, its objectives, and aims and purposes. The organization of home demonstration clubs and councils in Delaware also is discussed.

Elaborating further, the handbook outlines who is responsible for a successful club, standards of clubs, suggestions for successful club meetings, responsibilities of club members and local leaders, and how leaders are selected. One section explains how the home demonstration program is planned by homemakers.

Single copies of the booklet will be mailed on request. Ask for the handbook on home demonstration work in Delaware when contacting the county extension office.

Nat'l Officer To Be At Grange Leaders Meeting

Edward F. Holter, lecturer of the National Grange, will speak at the Delaware State Grange Leaders Conference, Tues., Jan. 21, in Capital Grange Hall, Dover.

He will address the luncheon assembly and will sit in on the lecturer's workshop during the session, which runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Holter, a former dairy farmer, of Frederick, Md., has been lecturer of the National Grange 10 years. He was secretary of the Maryland State Grange 12 years and for several years served both as Maryland State Master and national lecturer.

He now works full time in the National Grange Office in Washington, D. C.

The leaders conference includes masters, secretaries, lecturers, home economics chairmen, youth chairmen, and juvenile matrons from the 25 subordinate Granges and three Pomo-Granges in Delaware. Can you remember the first time you saw place mats on a table? They have become increasingly important, and rightly so, to the modern housewife. They add color, distinction, and a gay note of informality to table settings. They are also great time-savers, in a way that no machine can match. Beautiful dinner and luncheon cloths will never go out of fashion, but place mats have definitely come into their own as a part of today's household conveniences.

TIME WAS

Man's age-old struggle for progress has, among other things, developed any number of time-saving devices. We are inclined to take all of these for granted because our life today is geared to high speed and complexities. It is only with nostalgia and romanticism that we sometimes think "those were the good old days." Those were the days without frozen foods, electric irons, can openers and ready mixes. In this country, at least, no matter where we live, TIME can only be spelled in capital letters. That accounts, also, for the importance and popularity of hobbies—whether it be stamp collecting, bird watching, or home carpentry. One thing that has never changed, however, is the popularity of needlework as a hobby. Women have always realized this—instinctively, perhaps—and we don't need any words like "therapeutic" to convince us that needle work is relaxing, stimulating, and creative.

BACK TO PLACE MATS

As we started out to say, place mats are great time savers to the housewife. They are also attractive, practical, and fun to make. The maple leaf design shown here is an example of the great variety of mats you can make for your home. It is crocheted of white or spangled cotton and is simple to make. If you would like

Home Week Cra't Speaker Interviewed

Reasons for the important role of crafts in life today, along with the need for developing a creative approach instead of imitative approaches, will be among observations made by Mrs. Marion Johnson, educational director of the Delaware Art Center, Wilmington, during her discussion Feb. 13 on the women's portion of the Delaware Farm and Home Work program at the University of Delaware.

In an interview with Mrs. Johnson today, I learned that we are experiencing a popular movement in arts for the layman. Mrs. Johnson will discuss the position crafts took in the lives of earlier people in comparison with the importance placed upon craft work today. Mrs. Johnson explained that crafts are important since the machine age has eliminated the need for much individual creative work.

The educational director will show slides of work done by adults at the Delaware Art Center. These will include crafts in pottery, weaving, silver, and other types. Some completed objects also will be shown. Adults and children attend classes there in painting, drawing, sculpture, printmaking, ceramics, metal work, weaving, and enameling. Main purpose of the classes at the non-profit institution is to provide expert instruction for those wishing to participate in the arts, and to develop perceptive and imaginative abilities.

Mrs. Johnson is a council associate member of the National Committee on Art Education. She has a master of art degree from Columbia University, and has been at the Art Center 15 years where she originated the educational program.

Included in Women's sessions during the three-day event will be talks on family life in Egypt, opportunities for today's women, how to travel, fashion, efficient time management, senior members of the family, parent's responsibilities to teenagers, meals, understanding tensions, and an open house at the university's school of home economics. Visitors will see new equipment in the home appliance laboratory, including an electronic oven.

ZONING CHANGE CLEARS WAY FOR NEW 4-H CENTER

Delaware's four delegates sent each year to the National 4-H Club Conference are expected to attend the 1959 conclave at a new National 4-H Club Center in Chevy Chase, Md., even though zoning regulations seemed for a time to prohibit the move from Washington, D. C.

According to Norman C. Minard, executive director of the National 4-H Club Foundation, a special exception to zoning regulations in Montgomery County, Md., has been granted to give the foundation permission to establish the center. The exception was granted the foundation, as a private, educational institution.

Immediately after the property was purchased in February, 1951, by the foundation, it was rented to the Defense Department. Zoning limitations were imposed providing use of the property only by individuals and groups attending planned and scheduled educational events. Before purchase by the 4-H foundation, the property had been occupied by Chevy Chase Junior College, which closed its doors.

It is expected the center will be established early this year.

SOIL SUPERVISORS TO MEET IN DOVER

Delaware's State Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors will hold an annual meeting January 21 at the Dover Hotel to review last year's work and co-ordinate activities this year, Isaac Thomas, Maryland, association president, announced today.

Speakers invited are Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, Dean George M. Worrlow, University of Delaware school of agriculture; Norman Wilder, director of the Delaware Fish and Game Commission; Edward P. Neilan, president of the Equitable Security Trust Company, Wilmington; Harold Wright, National Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors vice-president, Pawling, N. Y.; E. A. Norton, field representative of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, Washington; Paul Mitchell, state administrative officer of the Delaware Agricultural S'abilization and Conservation Committee; and Richard S. Snyder, state director of the Soil Conservation Service.

A bronze plaque award by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for outstanding work in soil and water conservation will be presented to the Sussex County soil conservation district. First place in the Delaware-New Jersey area in national competition was awarded the district on the basis of organization, education, planning, promotion and accomplishments in soil and water conservation.

Individual winners in the 10th national contest sponsored by the Goodyear Company will report as part of their award, a vacation trip last November to the Wigwam guest resort and Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Arizona. Farmers Joseph N. Elliott, Laurel, and Earl White, Bridgeville, also will receive plaques. Outstanding farms soil and water conservation from each district have been invited to receive certificate of achievement awards at the meeting.

Topics of speakers will be a welcome by Gov. Boggs, a report of national association activities by Wright, wildlife and state soil conservation districts by Wilder, soil and water conservation and the banker by Neilan, a report from the State Soil Conservation Commission and status of Delaware water resources legislation by Dean Worrlow, a discussion of soil conservation matters pertaining to district programs by Norton, a talk by Mitchell on the 1958 Agricultural Conservation Program and Soil Bank, and a report of state soil and water conservation activities by Snyder.

During a business meeting and election of officers, the chairman of each district board will report on last year's activities. District chairman are Marvin Klair, Wilmington, New Castle District; Arthur Taylor, Harrington, Kent District; and Alden Short, Georgetown, Sussex District.

RED CLOVER SEEDINGS OFTEN FAIL BECAUSE OF LOW pH LEVEL

If you knew the pH level on all the 50,000 acres of land that Maryland farmers are expected to seed red clover this year, you would have one good clue for estimating how much of this seeding will fail to make a good stand.

It's not the only important factor by a ymeans, but if the soil is too acid, red clover doesn't have much chance. Soil tests should show a pH level not lower than 6.0, according to Charles P. Ellington, University of Maryland extension agronomist. If it's up to 6.5, so much the better.

The agronomist says that many farmers, realizing how critical pH is—and also aware of the fact that it takes time for lime to react in the soil and raise the pH—applied the necessary lime several months ago.

To be most effective, lime should be applied several months before seeding. That means that if farmers are going to seed red clover in February—as many of them do—they already have lost valuable time if the soil needs liming. But that doesn't mean it's too late for lime to do any good, Ellington says.

"If tests show the soil needs lime, get it on as soon as possible," he recommends. "Also use the soil tests as a guide to fertilizing. If the phosphate and potash levels are low, then a fertilizer such as 0-20-20 or 0-15-30

3 Injured In Auto Accident

Three civilian employees of the Dover Air Force Base were injured, one seriously, in a skidding accident Friday on icy-slick U. S. Route 113 three miles south of Frederica.

Victims of the Route 113 accident are Roy Lafontaine, 33, of Milford; Joseph Maloney, 41, of Harrington, and James Gilmore, 35, of Milford.

State police said Lafontaine, who was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital, suffered fractured vertebrae and a broken nose. The others were cut and bruised.

Troopers said the car, driven by Gilmore, skidded off the road and slammed into a tree after going out of control on a patch of ice. They said its entire right side was demolished.

should be applied this spring to obtain high yields."

Among other things that determine the success of the red clover crop is the choice of variety. "By all means," the agronomist says, "get certified seed. And in selecting the variety, consider Chesapeake, a new variety just released by the Maryland Experiment Station."

In tests, Chesapeake generally has been more persistent and higher yielding than other varieties popular in the state. About 80,000 pounds of seed has been released for sale by retail seed dealers.

CONSTRUCTIVE CLUBS FOR TEENAGERS

We have been hearing the first chirping of a move for the organization of a club for teenagers. So far, it appears the agitation is for a social club. That is all right, as far as it goes, but how about something constructive, too?

A high-school boy in New Jersey, an amateur radio operator, is one of the main contacts with our expedition at the South Pole. Elsewhere, we hear of rocket clubs, hot rod clubs, auto-mechanic clubs. Why not something like that around here?

Why not clubs for painting, mechanics, radio and TV, manual training, photography, journalism, chemistry, physics, marksmanship, stamp collecting, butterfly collecting, hiking and nature?

Down here in the country we have the environment and facilities for all these things.

W. CLIFF MILLER RETIRES

In the Shrine Temple near Wilmington Saturday night, a group of railroad employes and friends stood and gave an ovation to W. Cliff Miller, who had just described his 50 years on the Pennsy. The dinner, in fact, was given in honor of Mr. Miller's retirement.

The retired supervisor of communications and signals of the Delmarva District, operating out of Harrington, was honored by officials from all over the Pennsy system, from Chicago to New York. His son, his grandsons, his two sons-in-law, and many Delaware friends were present.

We like to see a man take an interest in his job. Mr. Miller lived and breathed the Pennsy, the office of which is just across the tracks. We in the newspaper field are accustomed to working at night for a newspaper, like a railroad, cannot observe an eight-hour day.

Thus, our father, the late J. Harvey Burgess, before us and the present staff were accustomed to stop for a chat with Mr. Miller before turning in. It was our habit to look for the light in his office. Sometimes we gave him a cigar and sometimes he gave us a cigar. And, always, we talked railroad.

Sometimes, we found Mr. Miller nodding over his desk. He might have dozed off while working. Or maybe he was waiting to take the 3 o'clock train, which was running in those days, to Cape Charles, where the district office was until it came here two years ago.

He was interested in everything to do with the railroad. He was instrumental in securing the removal of the high ball signal from Hurlock to Cape Charles where it is on display. This signal once stood on the New Castle-French town Railroad. Saturday night, T. G. Murray, district engineer, thought the signal was there in 1832 and that it was removed to Hurlock about 1890 and did service there until after World War II. Now, Murray said, they were trying to get it into the Smithsonian Institution. The signal was featured in a railroad magazine and on the menu of a dining car, all because of a man who felt his duties did not stop when the whistle blew.

Off and on, Mr. Miller has written a railroad column for us. We hope he can write it for us regularly now. In fact, he telephoned Monday and said he would have a column.

But the best news of all is that this native of Pennsylvania, who thought there was nothing like Pittsburgh and Blairsville, his birthplace, has built a home here, as has his son-in-law, Tommie Clark. The Pennsy and the civic and fraternal organizations, in which Mr. Miller took an active part, will continue to benefit from his presence.

REJOICE! REJOICE! REJOICE!

And there is good reason for rejoicing, too!

Sunday before last, an event of monumental significance to Christendom occurred in our community. Because of heater trouble, it was impossible to hold services in Asbury Methodist Church on Weiner Avenue. Determined not to miss this bounden duty to worship God regularly, several members of the Asbury congregation led by the Reverend Richard S. Gibson and his charming wife, Judy, walked the half block to St. Stephen's Episcopal Church to participate in the 11 o'clock service there. This is an almost unheard of action and one of unparalleled value in terms of church unity.

The service at St. Stephens was that of Holy Communion with sermon. After this first great move by the Reverend Mr. Gibson, the Reverend John R. Symonds followed through by inviting the members of Asbury Methodist Church to join with his own congregation in receiving Holy Communion. This second act is of equal importance because of the long established tradition of the Episcopal Church of offering communion only to confirmed persons. Many efforts have been made in recent years to make the Church of Christ one. Usually these efforts have remained on paper or in convention only. Until the effort is applied on the level of the individual parishes, the movement is doomed to failure.

The Reverend Messrs. Richard Gibson and John R. Symonds have made a notable step in this direction and they are to be commended for it.

The unhappy discussions found in Christianity will someday cease to be as long as fellow Christians set aside differences and wholeheartedly work together for church union. May God grant that that day be not too far off.

CHARTER CONSCIOUS

The annual Citizens Meeting Friday night was a successful one, in our opinion. A lot of people got things off their chests; meanwhile, the meeting proceeded harmoniously.

The Council's proposed revisions to the Charter were approved, as a whole, with few changes.

The citizens were well-informed on the Charter and represented a good cross-section of the electorate.

They had, evidently, spent a good deal of time reading the Charter and so had the Council.

This awakening to the Charter, the basic laws of our community, is a revelation.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

I wonder, how many wished they were in Florida this past week? If you did, you were silly. Gosh, it was cold. The winds were really strong. We had to take our awning down and put up the flowers.

Now for the snow, we were out riding down to Kissimmee about 18 miles south of Orlando and we didn't see the snow.

But the papers of Lakeland really showed it on the cars. That's 50 miles from here only on west side.

The following day we drove to Spring Garden Ranch and all the Yankees were all in by the fire. Johnnie Baker, who is from Buffalo, N. Y., said, "They say Florida is a warm weather training place." Then he laughed as that moment in Buffalo it was down to freezing.

If you wanted to see a deserted town all you had to do was to drive over to Daytona Beach. No one was out on the beach drive, not even a place to get a hot dog. Only the sea gulls looking for a handout.

The stores over there looked like a holiday. Most of the time you couldn't buy a parking place. We drove around 10 miles up the beach road, turned and came home.

But today as I write this, it's up to 73 again. So hope it stays that way. One thing about it here at Seminole, it's an all weather track. Just wish it would rain all day so we would get a rest.

Maybe when the waters warm up the fishing will be better. Everyone here has a pole of some kind.

I have a Myuah bird that really talks and the boys at the barn have him saying, cold as h—, That's no good. I get after him and out he will come with, "All right." When the TV is on Dave has to turn out the lights to keep him quiet. He talks and whistles all the time.

Now of all things that Christmas is over and what does he greet you with, nothing else, but "Merry Christmas, or hello sad sack. If I sell him it will be because of that darn wolf whistle. We don't drink but gosh, someone comes in and Joe, will say, "One drink coming up." He cries like a cat, and barks like a dog. You better feed him or he will keep saying, Joe's hungry. I like to keep him at the barn. They learn so much. Another thing he says is cute. Oh shut the door. Pat Patterson, who works for Dave has taught him to say, "Come on untie the horse." Dave will think he's talking to him. He's a pistol. He is just a good talker. Billy Haughton's stable wants him so I don't know. He talks too much for me.

Austin you should hear him. You have never had anything like him. I don't dare leave him out under my awning at the trailer as he starts yelling. Help, help, then some one comes over to see about him, out he comes with "Hello there." Bet they could ring his neck. He's better than one that was on Grocho Mark's show.

Well so much for the Myuah bird and the weather. The barns are all full here except one and a half. Heard they were keeping that one for horses if they raced here. Certainly doing lots of work around here. Cutting through a direct road from Winter Park, which is a large town only 5 miles from here.

Billy Haughton wanted to send over 60 colts and they wouldn't let him. So you don't know. The Sanford, Orlando dog track is sure fighting the Harness Track.

Any way they have put on Harry Pyle the starter for Batavia Downs, and other tracks, to take care of the track.

They are working on a new half-mile track now. Sundays and every other day. They put in the Harness horse they have stable room, there when someone calls here no stalls. They should know. How is anyone going to have their horses ready. We for one wouldn't.

Course there are some here that have worked horses ever since they have been here. For why we don't know. Most everyone is just joggling five and six miles.

But all in all it's a pretty good place. For sure the sun is out in all its glory today.

It looks so sinful to see all the beautiful yellow oranges and grapefruit lying on the grounds like one big blanket of fruit. I always think of so many poor children in orphan homes, and hospitals that would do anything just for a few. Even if they didn't freeze, you better not stop and go in a grove if they catch you. One orange is as bad if you had taken a crate.

For me, nothing could be worse in Florida than a dull day.

I still like Harrington. At least you can go to Philadelphia or Baltimore and keep up with the big shows.

Anyway, I just like everyone in Harrington.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I have a World War II GI term insurance policy. Do I have the right to borrow on this policy?

A—No. GI term insurance has no loan value. However, you may convert to a permanent plan or GI insurance, if you wish. Permanent insurance does build up a loan value, after it has been in force for one year.

Q—I am getting VA compensation for a service-connected condition. Recently my condition got worse. What steps must I take to get an increase in compensation?

A—You must submit new medical evidence, such as an adequate statement from your physician or a medical report of a recent period of hospitalization. Q—I plan to take flight training under the Korean GI Bill. At what rate will I use up my GI entitlement?

A—Your entitlement will be used up at the rate of one day for each $1.25 paid as a GI training allowance.

Q—The television station in my town in co-operation with a local college, is conducting a college course for which credit will be given. I am eligible for War Orphans schooling. Could I take this TV course under the program?

A—No. The law does not permit courses given over radio or television.

 PRODUCTIVE ENERGY
 in Southern States
 BROILER FEEDS

...For Even Greater Profits!

Productive energy in Southern States broiler feeds is up 5-10% for faster, more economical growth. This extra energy at no extra cost will grow larger birds with broad, meaty breasts . . . thick, sturdy legs . . . fully feathered and a fine finish bloom. Fiber guarantee on tag has also been reduced from 4.50 to 4.00 (maximum); actual fiber content of feed is much less.

All this means still more meat in every bag of Southern States broiler feed . . . even lower feed conversion . . . more profit for you. 2,099,720 broilers were recently marketed on Southern States broiler feeds . . . every one with a feed conversion of less than 2.60; average—2.48 lbs. And this was before productive energy was raised 5-10%.

Feed these new, high energy broiler rations starting now, and watch your profits grow.

March of Dimes Program on Parade

Despite any rumors to the contrary the March of Dimes program for Harrington, Farmington, and vicinity is on parade and once again the citizens of this district are urged to contribute liberally to his great cause. Such contributions will be received at the First National and Peoples bank.

The campaign starts immediately and will close Jan. 31. The National Quota for 1958 is forty-four million dollars and this district is asked to contribute $1400 approximately the average contribution for the last 12 years. The Salk anti-polio vaccine has made dramatic inroads into the disease that once left thousands of youngsters and adults totally disabled each year and your previous contributions have been a factor in the promotion of the great preventative operation.

The crippling phase is practically under control among those who have taken the necessary shots and the United States Public Health Service, the Delaware Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis urge all persons to immediately take the necessary shots.

The 70,000 polio disabled did not have this opportunity and the money must be raised this year to treat and care for these unfortunate. Generous early contributions have been received from H. E. Quillen and the Taylor Hardware Company and you are urged to join them and not delay.

The 1958 March of Dimes is being sponsored in this district by the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley "Tea Post No. 7, American Legion and it auxiliary unit. The committee consists of Earl Sylvester, chairman; Leonard Horleman, treasurer; Benjamin W. Emory and Mrs. Roselle Humes, president of the auxiliary unit.

It was also voted to build another creche.

Kesler M. Farrow and Levin H. Brittingham, both Harrington men, have this week been awarded pins in recognition of completing thirty five years of service with Delaware Power and Light Company. W. S. Moore, Jr., personnel director of the company's southern division, presented the pins at a safety meeting held in Harrington for the operating personnel.

Mr. Farrow is well known to the town's citizens in his role of district manager. He started as a helper in Harrington in 1922 and has since had experience with such jobs as storekeeper, meter reader and collector. In 1943 he was made district manager in Laurel. He has served the company's customers in that capacity in Harrington since 1945.

Mr. Brittingham has also served the company and customers well since the day he started in 1922. He has worked in line crews both as lineman and as foreman. Presently he is division line foreman at Harrington.

John Franklin Aptt, engineer's helper in the Harrington division office, received a five-year service pin.

The hole, in the rear of the Post Office, was about a foot and a half in diameter, at the top, but considerably wider beneath the blacktop.

Exact cause of the cave-in was not known, but it was thought the street base was weakened when a nearby manhole was inserted.

Ladies Auxiliary of Harrington Fire Company installed officers for the coming year at its monthly meeting. Mrs. Eva Raughley presided at the meeting. The officers were installed by the past president, Mrs. Elsie O'Neal. Present, Mrs. Eva Raughley; vice president, Mrs. Pauline Price; secretary, Arta Masten; recording secretary, Iva Banning; treasurer, Angie Potter.

A Leicester, England, school is training girls in technical drawing for careers as designers in the aircraft, engineering and building industries.

In Upper Egypt's newly opened Assuit University, 12 girls are students of science and 16 of engineering—the only subjects thus far offered.

Members of St. Stephen's Church School are engaged in studying Epiphany themes in their weekly sessions during January. The pre-school children have learned to fold yellow paper several times and cut out pretty stars to illustrate the story of the Wise Men and the fact that these three were led to the Baby in the Manger by the shining of a star. The older children are also learning that Epiphany means Christ came to the whole world, not to any one group of people. They also note that the five-pointed star is called "The Star of Jacob," "The Star of Bethlehem," or "The Star of Jesse."

Parents and friends are invited to visit the children at the Parish House on any Sunday morning following a short service in the church at 9:30, when everyone is also welcome.

The Diocesan Board of Missions meeting was scheduled to be held at the Dinner Bell Inn, at Dover, on the evening of Jan. 7, but the date was advanced to Jan. 21, same time and place. A representative from St. Stephen's will attend this meeting.

The annual corporate communion for the women and girls of the church will be held on this Sunday, Jan. 19, at 8 a. m. The men of St. Stephen's will plan, prepare and serve breakfast to the ladies, following Holy Communion, at the Parish House. It will also fall upon the men's organization to assume the task of washing dishes and cleaning the Parish House kitchen. Officers of St. Stephen's Men's Club are Robert L. Nelson, president; Robert Creadick, vice-president; Leon Porter, treasurer and secretary.

Ushers for last Sunday were Messrs. George R. Johnson and Herbert L. Chamberlain.

The vestry will meet on Monday, Jan. 20, at 8 p. m. at the Parish House.
