

Big Car Sale Has Gotten Underway At Local Dealer's

A big late-winter sales of used cars starts today at Harrington Motor Company on Clark Street. An advertisement concerning this sale is found on the back page of this newspaper.

In asking Gayle Smith, the proprietor, about this sale, we found he had a great deal to say. The firm has an unusual volume of sales of new Chevrolts and, consequently, has a large number of used cars on hand. Since this is a volume sale, the firm can afford to pass on large savings to the customer.

The whole organization of Harrington Motor Company has been planning for this big late-winter sale for some time. Mechanics have been busy getting a large number of outstanding used cars ready for this sale. Careful attention has been paid to pricing to make them unusual buys. Now is the time to get a wonderful deal on a used car.

With the current economic recession, softened by unemployment compensation, let us not forget who started it.

Harrington Wins From St. Peters

The Junior Varsity fought uphill to notch their 8th win of the season with Ken Collins supplying 14 points as the Saints went down to defeat, 28-26.

Coach Bill Smith has done an excellent job this year, and followed his predecessor, Norman Cotter, who coached the reserves to a good 8 and 3 record last year. The reserves closed the season with 8 wins and 5 losses, and Ken Collins, K. P. Outten and Ronnie Collison have sparked the squad all year. Jim Temple's loss was felt at midyear and the squad had to adjust to new men. With Phil Holson being sent down from the varsity for more experience, and he filled in quite capably. Dwight Hackett and Robert Gillette give Harrington some size and experience for the future as will Bruce Smith, George Pfeiffer and Sammy Minner, who came along so well at the end of the year.

The varsity under Dick Jeffers' leadership came through with one of Harrington's best seasons in quite some time, wins and 8 losses.

Harrington had an exciting game with Saint Peters and ended on top with their season high game of 66 points to the Saints' 38. Dave Coady had the season's high game points with 21. Coach Jeffers praised the entire 8-man varsity and gave the 5 Seniors a special vote of confidence for their spirit and effort. Bob Wilson, Dick Sapp, Dave Welch and Roger Hendricks did an excellent job for their final high school basketball game.

Coach Jeffers was pleased with the fact that 2 high scorers for the season are both Juniors, Bill Manship with 133 points and Jackie Porter with 122. Teamed with one of the most improved players, Don Garey, they should give Harrington some good basketball in the future.

The coaching staff wishes to thank those in the community who supported our athletic program during the basketball season. We appreciate your support and are hoping for even more good backing in the future. Harrington has done a fine job in its sports program this year and McDonald will be getting his baseball players going in about three weeks with a veteran team returning should give the opposition quite a bit of trouble.

Hit and Run Case Solved In Felton Area

On the morning of January 15th, a car operated by Mrs. Lillie Baker, of Felton RD, was proceeding east on Route 12, about 2.7 miles west of Felton, when another car, proceeding west, sideswiped the Baker car.

The driver of the other car stopped for a few moments and then drove off. State police were notified and a search for the hit and run driver was started.

The search ended on Saturday when Allen Overstreet, 18, of Felton, was taken into custody as the driver of the car that figured in the accident.

The youth was taken before Magistrate Carl Poynter, of Felton, where five charges of violation of the motor vehicle laws were preferred against him and the magistrate imposed fines, plus costs, as follows:

For failing to yield one-half of the roadway, $10; failure to have valid license, $10; operating an unregistered car, $25; leaving the scene of an accident, $10; and failing to report an accident, $10; or a total of $65 in fines plus costs.

Six acres of land, with buildings on U.S. 13 across from the fairgrounds, realized $5000; a house on Mispillion Street went at $500, with a lot on East Street at $50 and 37 acres of bush near Farmington at $50.

Persons interested in forming a softball league are invited to attend a meeting at the Moose home, on U.S. 13 north of town, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

CITY TAX RATES REMAIN THE SAME--SEWER PLAN PRESENTED

Harrington Fire Co. News

On Saturday, March 8, the members of the fire company are planning to start tearing down the house which they recently bought at the corner of Dorman and Mechanic Streets. All members are expected to be on hand to help with the project.

At the March meeting held Monday night, the annual treasurer's report shows that in 1957 the company spent a total of $26,000 for new equipment, repairs and maintenance of the firehouse.

For 1957, the income of the company amounted to $17,700, $8,300 less than income.

This large expenditure was made possible by the generous donations made by the people of Harrington during the fund drives held in Harrington for the last few years, and also the generosity of the Kent and Sussex Fair Board in allowing the fire company the use of the race track each year to hold stock car races. The stock car races have been a huge success.

The money received from the fund drive and stock car races, saved over a period of years, has enabled the fire company to purchase two new trucks and a new ambulance since 1954, an approximate cost of $42,000.

The company responded to 6 alarms during the month of February, a total of 13 for 1958. An average of 20 men were present at these fires.

The ambulance made 12 trips in February, a total of 21 for 1958.

Mayor Appoints Street Committee

A street committee was appointed by Mayor Hewitt W. Smith Tuesday evening at a special meeting of the City Council.

The meeting had been called to check over the tax assessment list with the assessors, Anstine Stafford and William G. Wechtenhiser. However, after the meeting got underway, it did not wind up until 10:45 p.m.

The Street Committee includes the city manager, Norris C. Adams, chairman; Councilmen Allan Rutledge and Tom Brown.

The Council voted that no money be spent from the Municipal Aid Fund unless the work for which it is to be spent is classified as capital improvements. The Street Committee is to decide what is capital improvement and what is repair up to $150. Repair work will be paid for out of general funds.

Work estimated to cost $150 or more will be referred to Council. The Council also voted to bond the city manager for $5000 in accordance with the present Charter.

It approved the installation of a new type of streetlight, on trial, on the 100 block of Clark Street. It also approved the closing of Mechanic Street, from Fleming Street to Dorman Street, Saturday morning while the fire company demolishes a building at the corner of Mechanic and Dorman Streets. The building site will be used as a parking lot.

Carl Hill, of Harrington Manor, presented a plan for installing sewers in the manor. In it, the residents would pay for the sewers and get refunds of taxes and water rentals to make up for it. Acceptance of the plan might hinge on the passage of a charter revision, now before the Legislature, by which property owners must pay for the installation of sewers abutting their holdings. Owners of residences in Harrington Manor, for the most part, accepted the charter revision but owners of lots favored it with little, if any, favor. Monday night's proposal was turned over to Councilman Allan Rutledge, of the manor, for study.

In a busy meeting, the Council voted to have prisoners taken to the Kent County jail by city policemen instead of a constable, as has been done.

Smith, in a letter of thanks from the State Board of Health. The clinic was supposed to have been held at the city hall but the office was busy on the appointed date.

Other business: The Council voted to pay $25 dues for membership in the Delaware Mayors Organization.

It revealed $1302.78 in delinquent water accounts for 1957 and requested City Manager Norris C. Adams to collect the money within 30 days or shut the water off. It requested the same procedure for 1958.

Mayor Smith appointed Councilman George Exley and Clarence Collins to modernize the printed form used in the collection of water accounts.

The mayor also appointed Councilman Exley to the Police Commission to replace Chief of Police George Hughes. Other members of the commission are the city manager, the chairman, and Councilman Collins.

The city manager was authorized to install a sump pump to accommodate drainage into a sewer pump on Delaware Avenue.

The city manager and Councilman Exley were requested to check on a piece of land, on the Blades Crossroads road, which the City had purchased as a site for a dump.

The Council voted to pay for costs of the removal of snow from the business district from the parking meter fund.

It approved the installation of a new type of streetlight, on trial, on the 100 block of Clark Street. It also approved the closing of Mechanic Street, from Fleming Street to Dorman Street, Saturday morning while the fire company demolishes a building at the corner of Mechanic and Dorman Streets. Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Sure lots of things going on around here. Since the weather has broke things are really on the move. Dave was over to the Beh White raceway to watch the matinee. Said they had a wonderful crowd there. Now that all races are for qualification at the tracks it was more interesting.

Thaddeus Hanover breezed to his fastest mile, east of the Rockies this season in the sixth race at the seasons opening matinee, in 2:11, the fastest time for the pacers was, 2:15 taken by Poplar Kenny.

Stanley Dancer, drove J. Gordon Smith's Adios Dee to the victory in the fifth race. Adios Dee fought off a challenge at the 3/4 pole to win by three lengths. All proceeds were turned over to United Appeals of Orange County.

Another thing of interest down here is, the Maitland Deluxe subdivision to be called Delroy Park, on the beautiful Lake Maitland. Delvin Miller and Roy Amos who is in the plastic business in Edinburg, Ind., have taken over 59 lots to start their business of building homes in the $25,000 to $45,000 business. Miller owns 25 per cent and Amos 75 per cent. The streets to be known as Trotters Dr. (north, east and south.) Course all homes are on the lake. So Miller says, and I quote, "A good place for the trotting horse fans to live."

Adios Ave., of course is named after the wonder horse Del Miller sold a few years ago to the syndicate for $500,000. Course everyone knows what the Adios colts won last year in the $1.3 million bracket. So Miller has started another adventure. I wonder if it will turn out like the horse business has.

You think you have your worries in downtown Harrington. I just read down here it is estimated that 1500 parking places near the downtown business areas are taken all day by executives, employees and professional offices. You can hardly find a place to park even on the metered lots. I think Orlando has the slowest traffic in the world. Unless its St. Petersburg, Fla.

Another thing helped here this past week we had the warmest weather in the nation. The mercury jumped to 80 degrees. You should have seen the fishing reels and rods coming out. I for one tried all the lakes around here but I didn't get anything. But Mr. Ricks that has horses of his own caught a 17 inch bass in the lake by the mile track. Another thing all the boys here went to the Dog Track, some felt pretty good, (nothing to say).

This crowd gets around pretty much. Dogs, matinees, and all other places of amusements. For it won't be long before we will be going in different directions. And that means long, hard work. Be just as glad when the last race is over to be going back to winter quarters where ever that will be.

of Bridgeville and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones were Sunday dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones.

Ellen Hatfield's Saturday afternoon guests were Lora Wise and Nancy and Sandra Eshleman of Ephrata, Pa. The Eshleman girls are staying for a time with their aunt, Miss Esther Miller.

Mrs. Myrtle Calhoun spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Millard Calhoun in Newark while Medford attended the bank meeting there.

Mr. and Mrs. Medford Calhoun visited Mrs. Benjamin West in Laurel on Sunday.

The Willing Workers Class of Grace Church will meet the second Wednesday in March with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mills.

Congratulations to the Greenwood boys and girls basketball teams for defeating Laurel on Friday evening. Boys score, 50-47—girls, 41-32.

Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, Mrs. Pauline Burris and Mrs. Julia Davis were Saturday afternoon callers at the home of the Jacob Hatfields.

There will be a bingo party for the benefit of the Polio Fund held in the Bridgeville Firehall, March 14 at 7:30. There will be a door prize and also other prizes given during the evening.

Another bingo party for the benefit of the Polio Fund will be held in Greenwood, March 24 at 7:30 at the firehall. A door prize and other prizes will be awarded.

Regional Poultry Speakers to Look Ahead, Discuss Activities in Industry

A look into Delmarva's future along with views of general industry conditions now will be covered by speakers at a regional poultry meeting and short course at the Elks' Home in Salisbury, Md., March 12.

General topics on the 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. program are feed, hatching eggs, marketing, diseases, promotion, inspection, production controls and production costs. Displays will be seen.

S. Higgins, Exeter, New Hampshire, "How Close are We to PPO-Free Flocks"—and two panels of experts discussing the Delmarva marketing system and giving a roundup to current developments in the industry.

Mr. McCauley will predict the future role of feed dealers and integration changes. In regard to reviving hatching egg production, Mr. Weber will consider the advantages and disadvantages of Delmarva's competitive position. Mr. Higgins will note whether PPO-free flocks are probable and when, while pointing to vital management practices.

The first panel that morning will discuss whether the Delmarva marketing system is good or bad from the standpoint of it being fair for all and if it hinders competition with other areas. Panel members will be W. T. McAllister, extension marketing specialist, University of Delaware, moderator; John Hargreaves, Federalsburg, Md.; Bouds Phillips, Hebron, Md., and Charles Williams, Bridgeville.

Disease, organized promotion, mandatory poultry inspection, and government poultry production controls will be topics of the second morning panel doing a roundup of current developments. Speakers will be Dr. I. M. Moulthrop, Salisbury, Md.; J. Frank Gordy, Georgetown; D. Ernest Matthews, Laurel, and H. P. Klahold, president of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council.

At an afternoon broiler session feeding trials at the University of Maryland will be discussed by Dr. G. F. Combs. He will report on experiments using four types of added fat at two and 10 per cent levels in both mash and pellet form. Prof. Wade H. Rice, University of Maryland, will predict how past happenings in the industry will affect future dealing.

A panel on reducing Delmarva broiler production costs will be taped for radio broadcast. R. W. Lloyd, assistant Sussex County agricultural agent; Richard Webster, Laurel; John Tighman, St. Michaels, Md.; Elmer Hearn, Bridgeville; and Earl White, Princess Anne, Md., will be the panel.

On a program for market and hatching egg producers, Dr. Norman Helbacka, University of Maryland, will tell how to make more profit from well-designed egg rooms. A representative of the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, W. Springfield, Mass., will discuss managing laying flocks.

A panel in this section will tell why they produce hatching eggs. They will consider whether the

Delaware Has Over 20,000 Acres For Public Hunting

According to the State Development Department, Delaware now offers unusually fine facility for sportsman. A recent survey, made with the co-operation of other agencies, has disclosed that Delaware now has over 20,000 acres available for public hunting.

Recent acquisitions have increased the acreage under Board of Game and Fish Commission administration to 13,610 acres. This is in addition to 4,945 acres under State Forestry Department control or administration, and 1,600 acres of beach land administered by the State Highway Department.

The largest public hunting tract is the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal Wildlife Area, 5,000 acres bordering the C. & D. Canal in New Castle County. In addition to hunting, dog training and field trials are permitted in this area and camping is permitted under certain conditions.

Next largest among Game and Fish administered tracts is the Woodland Beach Wildlife Area, 3,400 acres on the Delaware Bay, about 6 miles east of Smyrna. Hunting of both waterfowl and upland game is permitted.

Other large tracts administered by the Game and Fish are the Petersburg Wildlife Area, 2,800 acres 11 miles southwest of Dover, and the Assawoman Wildlife Area, 1,400 acres southeast of Bethany Beach. Public hunting is permitted on both these tracts and camping under certain conditions. Petersburg also includes dog training and field trials areas, and lent fishing and crabbing.

Other wildlife areas, administered by Game & Fish and available for public hunting, are: the 800-acre Little Creek Area; the 100-acre tract at Garrison's Pond, 5 miles south of Smyrna on U.S. 13; the 35-acre tract, where the Appoquinimink Creek enters the Delaware River, and Reedy Island, a 75-acre island in the Delaware River opposite Port Penn. Public hunting is permitted in the following State Forestry Department administered areas: Redden State Forest and Ellendale State Forest, in Sussex County, and Blackbird State Forest, in New Castle County. Redden State Forest includes a well equipped lodge accommodating up to 20 people; use of this facility is restricted to civic or fraternal groups and prior permission for use must be obtained from the forest ranger station.

practice is more profitable than market egg or broiler production. Advantages, disadvantages and whether changes are recommended will be covered. Panel members listed are Earl Kelley, Salisbury, Md.; Merrill Lockfaw, Pocomoke, Md.; E. F. Smith, Kenton; Oren Lewis, Greensboro, Md., and Samuel Sloan, Harbeson.

A chicken barbecue will be served at noon, coffee and doughnuts that morning. The program is being sponsored by the Universities of Delaware and Maryland and poultry organizations in the two states.

there. Public hunting is also permitted on the state owned and highway Department administered beach lands between Dewey Beach and Fenwick Island.

Hunting on privately owned rural uplands is permitted at the discretion of the owners and some privately owned marsh lands are available for rental to waterfowl hunters.

Licensed hunters, in season, are permitted to hunt the following game: rabbit, squirrel, quail, pheasant, raccoon, deer, red fox, dove, several species of duck, Canada goose, woodcock and rail. Most of these species are found throughout the state, although pheasants are confined to the northern and eastern portions. The largest deer concentrations are found along the coastal area from Delaware City to Milford.

Additional information regarding hunting, fishing and camping in Delaware is given in a new brochure prepared jointly by the Board of Game & Fish Commissioners and the Delaware State Development Department. Requests for copies of this new pamphlet should be addressed to either of these agencies at Dover.

DEEPEST RED—No zoning rings, deep red color throughout, other superior characteristics indicate new beet developed by Prof. Eugene P. Brasher, chairman of horticulture department at University of Delaware, may be regarded as nation's best processing beet.

Long Research Rewards U. of D. Horticulturist

Fourteen years of research has paid more than regular "interest on principal" for the chairman of the horticulture department at the University of Delaware.

Prof. Eugene P. Brasher, who began a project with Prof. L. R. Detjen, horticulturist, now professor emeritus, has developed a beet, Deepest red, that could be regarded as the nation's best processing beet.

Deepest Red is the result of a cross involving an unnamed, long-season beet and a popular variety, Perfected Detroit. In overall ratings, the performance of Deepest Red at Newark has been best among eight top commercial varieties tested. Its color, sugar content, and texture are particularly outstanding. Deepest Red's yield is comparable with or superior to varieties tested. It has a low fiber content, its flavor is among the best.

So said a recent university report announcing completion of tests last season. Testing began in 1945 when the university librarian, William D. Lewis, brought the unnamed beet to Prof. Brasher to determine its culinary qualities. The beet had been propagated for generations by relatives of the librarian in Indiana. Although the unnamed beet had good color, a high sugar content, and fine texture, its shape and extra large size (6 to 8-inch diameter and 12-16 inch length) prohibited commercial use.

At any rate, Prof. Brasher decided to try a cross with Perfected Detroit, hoping to retain good qualities of the unnamed beet and the form of Perfected Detroit. This was done during the 1945 season by Prof. Brasher and Prof. Detjen.

After the cross came the tedious procedure of selecting beets with the correct combination of inherited characteristics of both parents. The unnamed beet was the female, Perfect Detroit the male. Selection went on in several generations for 14 years, many grown in the university greenhouse.

By 1954 the researchers had 51 selections that looked "pretty good." They retained six of the 51. These six selections compared with the best standard varieties in production. From the six four later were discarded. Deepest Red, known during the tests as Delaware 3, was the final result last season.

The most significant feature of Deepest Red was stated by a large commercial processor: "That beet has the deepest color of 11 varieties in our trials." (Deepest Red has been under test in widely separated areas of the United States.)

Prof. Brasher said the beet has no white "zoning" rings. Early in the growing season very dim zoning rings are evident in the roots. As the season progresses, the rings disappear.

Prof. Brasher said Deepest Red could replace some older varieties planted on the 200 to 300 acres of beets now grown in Delaware, since processors are looking for new crops. This also could happen in New York, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Minnesota—states where great amounts of beets are processed.

Prof. Brasher said Deepest Red will probably not become popular as a fresh-market beet, because it is not as attractive as some other varieties. Home gardeners might like Deepest Red because of its high quality.

Describing the new beet further, Prof. Brasher said it grows two or three inches taller than Detroit Dard Red, with both the exterior and interior of deep red. This suggested the beet's name. Deepest Red is a vigorous growing variety with smooth greenish purple leaves and roots which are almost round. Even the very large beets are tender and excellent for dicing or slicing. The sugar content is one of the highest among table beet varieties.

The Delaware researcher said seed for the new beet will not be commercially available until the 1960 planting season.

A Delaware 4-H Club Featurette

State 4-H'ers From 12 To 1,648 in 42 Years

What is the story of the growth of the 4-H Clubs in Delaware since the youth program began here in 1915 with 12 members in the Houston Cardinals 4-H Club?

Today, during National 4-H Club Week, there are 70 clubs located throughout the state, over 200 adult volunteer leaders, and more than 65 junior leaders.

Young 4-H members—1,648 of them—work at 63 projects offered in a variety ranging from livestock and poultry raising, growing gardens and field crops, conserving soil, sewing, cooking, preserving food, and improving their homes.

(The Houston Club is still operating—with over 60 members!) From 1947 to 1957 there has been a 20 per cent membership growth in clubs, reflecting swift advances in the most recent 10 of the 42 full years clubs have been in Delaware.

Generally greater percentages have been tallied for each county during the 10-year period. New Castle County members increased 32 per cent from 385 to 563. The Kent County membership grew 28 per cent, 250 to 348. Sussex County clubs had the second highest per cent increase—31, with numbers growing from 300 to 433. Only drop noted in membership was a 21 per cent decrease from 385 to 304 in Negro enrollment in Kent-Sussex County clubs.

Last year 830 state 4-H'ers lived in farm homes, 594 in rural nonfarm homes, and 224 in urban homes. There was 532 first-year members, 311 second-year, 246 third, 194 fourth, 166 fifth, and 175 in the sixth-year and over membership.

Ages of the young people last year ranged from 10 to 20 years. Enrollment by age ran this way: 10 years, 272; 11, 238; 12, 241; 13, 215; 14, 217; 15, 162; 16, 145, and 17 to 20, 159.

Cattle Club Announces State Leaders

Five dairymen and seven Guernsey cows were mentioned today in a report from the Delaware Guernsey Breeders Association announcing 1957 state leaders in milk and butterfat production. The dairymen are C. D. Buck and Wills Passmore, Wilmington; Steven Barczewski and Peter Zeitler, Newark; and Dr. H. J. White, Middletown.

All herds except the White cattle were on Herd Improvement Record testing. Dr. White's herd had the distinction of being the only Guernsey herd in Delaware on Advanced Registry testing last year. Mr. Zeitler's Sun Set Eldorado, 11-years-old, produced 12,201 pounds of milk and 679 pounds of butterfat testing 5.6 per cent. Mr. Barczewski's Rexas Topsy of Wycomia, a Jr. 4, milked 9,933 pounds, and 543 pounds of fat testing 5.5 per cent. As a Jr. 3, the animal produced 9,787 pound of milk, and 580 pounds of fat at 5.9 per cent. Lynthwaite Chucks Nora, a Jr. 3, owned by Mr. Passmore, milked 9,786 pounds and 499 pounds fat testing 5.1 per cent. Mordington Berry, a Jr. 2 in the Buck Herd, milked 9,040 pounds and 502 pounds of fat at 4.4 per cent. A second Zeidler cow, Butterfingers June, a Sr. 2, milked 9,682 pounds and 490 pounds of fat at 5.1 per cent. All animals were milked twice a day for 305 days during the test. Butterfat leaders, in addition to those named, were owned by Mr. Buck and Mrs. Passmore. A Jr. 4 in the Passmore herd, Lynthwaite Chucks Taffy, produced 559

Grass, Legume Seed Plentiful This Year

Pasture grass, legume and lawn seed is plentiful this year, meaning prices should be low and choice wide, according to George K. Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

A report to the agent from the U. S. Department of Agriculture said current supplies of some varieties are twice the average annual amount planted. These include Merion Kentucky bluegrass, bentgrass, perennial ryegrass, Sudan grass, Ladino clover, and Chewings fescue. Seed for these varieties should be widely available at very favorable prices, compared to recent years, the county agent said.

Supplies also are abundant for buyers of Kentucky bluegrass, smooth brome grass, white clover, alsike clover, alfalfa, orchard grass, common ryegrass, and lespedeza.

Less abundant are red fescue and red top, Mr. Vapaa said. For a few varieties—red clover, tall fescue, timothy and sweet clover—local shortages could develop because the supply is close to average requirements. This could happen, too, with alfalfa seed of specified state origins.

If you are planning to plant varieties in shorter supply, it would be wise to get your order to the seed dealer early. Farmers who wish suggestions about the best pasture seeds are welcome to call the county extension office.

Certified seed is always a good buy, the agent reminded. The certification tag and seal are insurance the seed will be true to type.

Peru has had a meat shortage.

Conservation Workers Honored

Three people were honored by their coworkers for length of service to farmers in Delaware agriculture. R. Harry Wilson has served for 25 years in the conservation and stabilization programs of Kent County, most of the time as county chairman. Mrs. Emma McVaine has served for 15 years in the Dover office. Hylon Smith was recognized for 10 years of service to farmers in Sussex County where he is now the county office manager.

Certificates and pins were presented by Harris Soule, northeast director of the stabilization program of the United States Department of Agriculture. The awards were given at a meeting of state, county, and community leaders together with the representatives of related farm agencies at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover.

Main purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the leaders with current phases of the soil bank, the practices available for cost sharing, and with the methods of keeping farmers and the public informed. Listed among the speakers were Mr. Soule, Dean George M. Worrlow, Roland Crumpler of U.S.D.A., George Vapaa, Kent County Agent, Silas Dukes, chairman of the Sussex County committee, Thomas Hamilton of U.S.D.A., and J. Frank Gordy, who summarized the proceedings.

George Simpson of Houston was in charge of the program as chairman of the state ASC committee.

State 4-H'ers Invited To Square Dance

Delaware 4-H'ers, State Link Association members, club leaders and other interested people have been invited to a statewide square dance Saturday March 8 evening at Capital Grange Hall, Dover.

The 8:30 p.m. dance is being held during National 4-H Club Week, March 1-8, observed in Delaware by some 1,600 club members. More than two million club members in the United States are observing the week.

State activities during the week included a visit yesterday March 5 by several members, parents, and local leaders to the office of J. Caleb Boggs in Dover. A state-wide window display also has been entered by several clubs. State and county will be announced next week. Local clubs throughout the week have been engaged in special activities in a salute to parents for their contributions in guiding and influencing youth.

The square dance, a recreational portion of National 4-H Club Week activities in Delaware, is being sponsored by the University of Delaware 4-H Club in cooperation with the State Link Association.

Spearheading details for the dance are F. Eugene Thomas, Maryland, president of the University 4-H Club, and Edward Wilson, Newark, Club treasurer. Refreshments will be served.

The Cow of Tomorrow

What kind of cow is needed to meet modern standards of milg production? Harvey Shaffer, dairy specialist at Penn State University, raised the question and suggested some answers at the annual meeting of the Delaware district of Southeastern Pennsylvania Artificial Breeders Co-operative at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover last week.

Tomorrow's cow will need to produce at a highly efficient level. DHIA records show that herds average up to 550 lbs. of butterfat per cow are the most profitable, Mr. Shaffer said. Heifers should be grown out so they can freshen at 24 months of age. We should stress 12 month calving intervals with at least a 60 day dry period, he added. Finally, it will be necessary to keep cows in the herd for a longer period of time. The present life span is less than 6.5 years or less than four complete lactations. It takes two lactations just to pay for raising a heifer to milking age. Much of this can be accomplished by careful sire selection thru artificial breeding, by sound feeding and calf raising practices, and by overall good management, he concluded.

Levis Phipps, of Centreville, was revoted as director on the board of SPABC for a three year period. Four delegates were also selected to represent the district at the Lancaster meeting in March. They are Woodrow Haas, of Wyoming, Horace M. Woodward of Middletown, Paul B. Hastings of Georgetown and Edward Ockels of Seaford.

The following sire reporting committeemen were also elected: for the Ayershire breed, G. Wallace Caulk of Woodside; for Guernseys, Henry Kozicki of Clayton; for Brown Swiss, Vaughn Ginn of Middletown; for Holsteins, Howard Wilkins of Milford; for Jerseys, A. Bailey Thomas of Dover.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I took out my GI insurance January 31, some years ago. What is my premium due date for months which do not have 31 days?

A—Your premium due date for months without 31 days would be the last day of the month.

Q—When I enrolled in Korean GI Bill training, I put down as my goal an AB degree in history. Now I want to go on for my MA degree in the same field. Since I wouldn't be changing fields, would this count as my one- and-only change of course?

A—Yes. The reason is your original objective was an AB degree. You now are changing to an MA degree. This would count as a change of course, even though you do not change your field of study.

Q—My employer is transferring me to another city. I want to sell my GI house and get my GI loan eligibility restored. What evidence do I have to submit to VA?

A—To restore your eligibility, you should write VA a letter setting forth all details of your move. Include your certificate of eligibility if you received one; if not, your discharge certificate. Include a statement from your employer, giving reasons for your move. You also must relieve VA of liability on the original loan, either by paying the loan in full yourself or the new purchaser must do so.

Q—May a student under the Orphans Education Program take a series of unrelated courses in college?

A—No. Under the law, he must establish a goal and must take a program of education leading to the goal. Unrelated courses leading to no goal would not be permitted.

Home Vegetable Garden Location Important

Home gardner, like actors, can waste a lot of time and energy on a poor plot—and the results will be equally disappointing.

No matter how good the seeds you buy, now how much time and care you give them, they won't grow into fine vegetables unless the seeds are planted in a reasonably favorable location, says George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

That would be a level, well-drained, sunny spot with rich, deep, friable sandy loam soil, free from rocks and debris. Most suburban enthusiasts have to make do with something less than this. So, the agent adds, there are a few important things for every gardener to look for in planning the location of a garden plot.

One of the most important is good drainage. Vegetable plants will drown if allowed to stand too long in water, or really wet soil. Too much moisture in a badly drained areas deprives plant roots of air and nutrients needed for healthy development. Presence of a green scum on the soil surface is one indication of excessive wetness.

Another important ingredient for garden success is an open space with plenty of sunshine. Direct sunlight for at least 8 hours a day is a must for leafy crops like lettuce, collards, spinach, chard and kale. Others like tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, and lima beans will need more.

One more important consideration the agent urges in choosing a location is a source of water supply. A garden hose or a few lengths of temporary piping will afford protection against summer droughts that can cut a gardener's production.

Generally speaking, a soil that is well-drained and produces a rank, quick growth of weeds or grass can probably be developed into a good garden plot, Mr. Vapaa says.

For home vegetable gardeners who wish detailed information, the agent suggests contacting him or the school of agriculture in Newark for Extension Bulletin No. 55, revised, "Home Vegetable Gardening in Delaware."

Social Security Notes

"Speed-up the payment of your first benefit check by bringing along all your copies of forms W-2, withholding statements, or other record of your 1957 earnings" is the advice given by Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington social security district office to workers who plan to file early in 1958.

1957 earnings are required for the computation of benefits for claims filed in 1958. Employers have had until January 31 to file their quarterly social security returns for their employers with the Director of Internal Revenue. Therefore, Social Security Administration records for individual employees will not reflect 1957 earnings completely for several months.

Form W-2, withholding statement, however, shows complete earning and social security contributions for 1957. It is given to the employee in duplicate. One is for attachment to the income tax return and one is for the employee's files.

Self-employed individuals who plan to file in 1958, Mr. Milbouer stated, should submit a copy of their 1957 tax returns including Schedule C and SE, plus a cancelled check or other that the tax was paid.

Four-H Agent Invites New Members, Clubs

County boys and girls from 10 to 21-year-old were asked today to join a 4-H Club or to band together in new clubs.

The invitation came from Marion MacDonald, county 4-H Club agent, during National 4-H Club Week being observed from March 1-8 by Delaware's 1648 4-H'ers.

For those who would like to join a club, there are 14 clubs with a membership of 350 located mostly in or near centers of population in the county. Two new clubs were organized last year, the agent said.

Four-H Clubs carry on a wide variety of farming, homemaking, community service, and other projects. They raise livestock and poultry, grow gardens and field crops, conserve soil, sew, cook, preserve food, make things for their homes, and work for community betterment.

Outstanding 4-H'ers receive trips to the annual National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and to the National 4-H Club Conference each year in Washington, D. C. For poultry and dairy judging teams there are out-of-state trips. Major activities in Delaware are the annual state 4-H camp and short course. Judging and demonstration contests and project exhibits are held at the Kent-Sussex Fair. Ribbons and various other prizes are given.

In noting that 4-H Club work is a family activity with 63 different projects offered to young people, Mrs. MacDonald asked parents and children to call the county extension office, Dover 2621, to discuss joining.

BILLBOARDS SPOIL NATURAL BEAUTY

To all people concerned over defacing of the landscape alongside the new federal highways by billboards and signs, something said by Artist Bertrand T. Tallamy, Federal Highway Administrator, to members of the American Society of Civil Engineers in convention recently is timely.

Meat of his proposal was that the beauties of the landscape should be framed—not masked. He argued, "It is just as cheap or cheaper to use the advantages nature has provided . . . Use different levels, put in islands, open up vistas down into the valleys."

Mr. Tallamy is the man who laid out and built the New York Thruway from the outskirts of New York City to Suburban Buffalo, four hundred miles through rugged mountains and rolling valleys. Through his expert framing travelers are made aware of scores of lovely pictures which they might otherwise pass unnoticed.

A hue and cry is rising throughout the land over the reluctance of Congress, harried by lobbyists for billboards, to lay down hard and fast rules for the new highways. But the general public has not yet awakened to its opportunity to make its influence felt. Members of House and Senate would go from indifference to enthusiastic support of highway beauty if scores, hundreds and thousands of citizens would write them. "Landscape beauties should be framed—not masked!" would be an excellent rallying slogan.

Choose Best Credit Plan for You There's nothing wrong with buying on credit, one established way of doing business in this country, but make sure you can afford it—and choose the best credit plan for you.

In choosing a credit plan, consider what is being bought, money available and obligations to pay it out, and your personal habits when handling money.

The ordinary charge account usually must be paid in full 15 to 45 days from the date of purchase. The greatest advantage is convenience. Paying charge accounts at the end of each month enables you to balance your accounts and to keep a record of all purchases made during the period.

This form of credit is not recommended unless you can pay every month—and unless you curtail excess family spending. And don't use the ordinary charge account if you have much trouble budgeting income and payments, if you have debts, or if you spend too freely.

Installment credit or long-term credit is used for basic purchases—a washing machine or other large items. A down payment is usually required, along with regular monthly payments for one, two, or even three years. You must sign a contract before the goods are delivered, and interest rates are part of the plan.

The disadvantage with installment credit is that you can overspend easily when cash is needed elsewhere. When using installment credit, always read the contract and be sure credit charges are known. The interest rate can be 12 per cent or higher. Banks and credit unions may lend for less than you will have to pay on the installment plan, so shop around.

A third plan is revolving credit, which allows you a certain amount for purchases not to be exceeded at any time. A monthly payment is made about one-sixth of the balance. Interest rates are about 12 per cent. This method may lead to wasteful buying and continuous debt. Children's Clothes Now Sized on Height, Weight Mother shopping for children's clothes are gradually having one big problem solved.

The outmoded system of sizing youngster's clothes according to age is on the way out. Some manufacturers are adopting a sizing system based on height and weight. Over past years the new system has come into use since age has little to do with size while height and weight lend themselves well to a more uniform method of sizing.

Many clothing retailers who have consistently had trouble with manufacturers who have adopted U. S. Department of Commerce standards. The department has spear-headed work on the new sizing system. Work on the system began in 1939. Now the sizing study of children all over the country has been interpreted into accurate average sizes based on height and weight. Using the new size standards, a mother today can buy all clothing needed by her baby in one size. For children up to 59 pounds, this typical chart can be used:

Table with 3 columns: Size, Weight, Height. Rows include sizes 0, 1/2, 1, 1 1/2, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 6X with corresponding weight and height ranges.

Harrington, Delaware, March 3, 1958

Editor The Harrington Journal: In summing up the success of the 1958 March of Dimes this writer inadvertently failed to commend Troop No. 76, Boy Scouts of Harrington for their material assistance under the supervision of Howell Hitchens. This scout troop delivered posters containing information on the Mothers March on Polio to every home in the City of Harrington and did this service on an incentive day. They have assisted in this campaign for several years and I sincerely regret this oversight. It should be a particular pleasure to any citizen to assist in the scout program which does and will continue to have a great influence in the American way of life. The 1958 March of Dimes committee hereby publicly recognizes their most willing co-operation.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church News

Last Sunday evening the Rev. Richard M. Trelease Jr. rector of St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington was guest preacher at St. Stephen's 7 o'clock service. Mr. Trelease is a graduate of the church Divinity School of the Pacific. He served as Dean of St. Andrew's Cathedral, Honolulu, before coming to the Diocese of Delaware as rector of St. Andrew's, Wilmington. He is a member of the Diocesan Department of Christian Social Relations, the Department of Christian Education, and the Executive Council. When the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. was ordained to the diaconate, Mr. Trelease prepared the service and presented the candidate to the Bishop for ordination.

Ushers for the second Sunday in Lent were Messrs. Clyde Perry and Robert Creadick. A number of ladies from St. Stephen's attended the luncheon and meeting held at St. Luke's Parish House, Seaford, Tuesday. Mrs. Paul Kellogg, Dover, diocesan president of the Women's Auxiliary, was the afternoon speaker. She had recently returned from a visit to Puerto Rico, where she and Mr. Kellogg spent several weeks in carrying out their message to fellow Episcopalians there, and in gathering much of value to bring back to us from the island. She showed colored slides of the wonderful experiences they had on this trip and of the great church work going on in Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Robert McNally, president of St. Stephen's Women's Auxiliary, has announced that Mrs. J. Edward Tikioh of Rehoboth, Diocesan Educational secretary, will be speaker at our March auxiliary meeting on the 11th at 8 p.m., Parish House. Acolytes who served last Sunday were Billy McColley, Ronnie Porter, Bobby Wooters, Ralph Wooters, Charles McNally, Frank Welch, Robert Greer, Billy Carter.

Mrs. Robert McNally attended a luncheon and meeting Friday, Feb. 28, at Christ Church Parish House, Dover. Other officers of the women's auxiliary present at this session were Mrs. Cyrus Day, of Newark; Mrs. J. Edward Tikioh, of Rehoboth; Mrs. John R. Goehring, Seaford; Mrs. Paul Kellogg, Dover. This group composed a nominating committee for the diocesan women's organization with the specific duty of drawing up a list of eligible and qualified persons for 1958-59 offices. Voting will take place at the 173rd annual convention which will be held at Christ Church, Greenville, May 13 and 14.

Our church school classes are engaged in a Lenten program of studying the church in the diocese of Salina, Kansas and in Japan. Each teacher has maps, leaflets, and pictures to help familiarize the boys and girls with living conditions and needed church work in these two missionary districts, where our mite box offerings will be sent. The children are becoming aware of the actual use to which their contributions will be put, and are using the short prayer on the blue box each time a coin is dropped in: "O Lord, hear and bless thy children of every place and nation as they pray."

All of us know that the mite boxes will also be mite boxes in the mighty work we can make possible through our sacrificial giving. A clean up project has been planned by the men of the church Saturday, Mar. 15, to begin the job of clearing the new church property. Much accumulated underbrush, many dead limbs, and a variety of trash need to be hauled away. It is hoped many of the men and boys will have the day, or part of that day, free to take a turn at the task. The group will probably begin work on the Raughley Hill side of the church lot.

This coming Sunday, the Rev. Joseph Koci, Jr., rector of St. Anne's Church, Middletown, will be guest preacher at the 7 o'clock evening prayer service. Events and services for this week and next are as follows: Thursday, 8 p.m. Senior choir practice; 6:30 p.m. men's club at Parish House; Sunday, 8 a.m. Holy Communion; 9:30, Church School 11 a.m. Morning Prayer and Sermon; 12:15, coffee hour;

Springtime

Winter will soon be over. Spring will come once more.

Up with the windows

And open the door.

Grass will be green

Flowers in bloom

It'll all be so nice

Gone will be gloom

Spring makes me happy.

Spring is never sad.

When winter is over,

I can't help being glad.

Delaware Food Market Report

On the many meatless days during Lent, why not serve a variety of egg dishes.

Top quality eggs—Grade A and A—are best for poaching, frying and cooking in the shell.

When appearance and delicate flavor are so important. But eggs of the lower quality—Grade B and C—have dozens of uses—scrambling, baking and combining with other foods.

A meeting will be held Tuesday evening for all the men of the parish for final preparation of the diocesan census to be taken Sunday, Mar. 16.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, group B of the newly formed discussion club will meet under the leadership of Mrs. William Lord, Chapter III, "Who Will Tell Me," which will be the topic for discussion.

Sunday is the third Sunday in Lent. In the Gospel chosen for the day, that of St. Luke Chapter 11, verse 14-23, our Lord said, "He who is not with Me is against Me."

If we do not serve Him, pride and selfishness will enslave us. "Blessed are they who hear the word of God and keep it."

The final meeting in preparation for the Survey for Souls will be held in St. Bernadette's Parish house on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will be conducted by Messrs James Coady and William Kohel, the parish chairmen for the survey.

The survey is being held throughout the entire Diocese of Wilmington on the afternoon of Sunday, March 16th.

This includes the entire Delmarva Peninsula. The area that will be covered by the men from St. Bernadette's extends from Felton to Greenwood and from the Maryland State line to Houston.

Because this is meant to be a thorough census of the Catholic population, each house is to be visited. The first question—and in many instances the only one—that will be asked is "Are there any baptized Catholics living here?"

If a negative answer is received, no further question will be asked. There is no intention of asking what the householder's name might be or what his or her religion is as long as there is no baptized Catholic living in the house.

The survey is being conducted for the purpose of obtaining an exact count of the Catholics at the present time living in the area that comprises the Diocese of Wilmington.
