

Warren Holmes, Harness Driver, Killed in New Jersey Auto Wreck

John Warren Holmes, former resident of Harrington and well-known as a trainer and driver of harness horses, here and elsewhere, was killed Wed., March 26, when the car he was driving crashed into a tree on Route 202 near Bernardsville, N. J.

The information was gained from the Paterson (N. J.) Evening News, a clipping of which was sent to Chief of Police George Hughes by Ted Freeman, Paterson, who wrote he had stopped here in 1945 at a home where Holmes resided.

Jersey police said Holmes apparently fell asleep at the wheel. Identified from a paper in his pocket, he was pronounced dead at the scene. His address was 33 Morningside Circle, Little Falls.

According to his brother-in-law, Gunner P. Carlson, of the same address, Holmes had spent 20 of his 49 years in sulky driving. He raced at harness tracks from New England to Kentucky and was well-known on the Delaware-Maryland circuit. He frequently drove at Yonkers and Roosevelt raceways and held a New York driver-trainer license.

The only lapse in Holmes' racing career came a few years ago when he retired temporarily to aid his ailing father, John W. Holmes, with the operation of his business, the Bailey and Winters Coal and Feed Company, Fairfield Road, Wayne, N. J. Last summer the elder Holmes' health improved and the son returned to racing.

A graduate of Montclair High School, Holmes later took courses at Upsala College in East Orange and New York University but did not obtain a degree. He was divorced from the former Helen Miller, of Butler, N.J., about four years ago. They did not have any children. He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Gunnar Carlson, and his father.

Recently Holmes was stationed at the Miller Stables in Somerville, N.J., awaiting the opening of the racing season this month. He was to drive for the owners of Francis Chevrolet, Westwood, N.J., this year.

Contracts for State Highway Report

Contracts for two projects, for which the State Highway Department received bids recently, have been awarded to the low bidders according to an announcement by R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the Department.

The two projects are the construction of extensions of nine groins along the ocean front at Bethany Beach and the reconstruction of four bridges along a series of roads now being improved along the western section of Kent County.

The contract for the work on the Bethany Beach groins was awarded to Henry C. Eastburn & Son, of Newark, at its low bid price of $189,426. Completion of the project is listed for 260 working days.

The project provides for the present groins to be extended a distance of 100 to 150 feet, making the overall distance of the groins average 300 feet. The groins will have piling covered with sheathing and the area filled with stone and the top will be covered with large rocks.

The contract for the four bridges in Kent County was awarded to Burger Construction Co., of Dover, at its low bid price of $139,964.50. Completion of the project has been fixed for 200 working days.

The bridges will vary in length but will be about 30 feet in width for the roadway with a two-foot walk on each side.

They will have precast, prestressed concrete slabs for the bridge floor and will be erected on concrete foundations.

Work on both projects is expected to be underway within ten days and they are a start of the program of the Highway Department for placing projects in operation to aid in providing employment.

Kent Unit Defers U. S. Aid to Needy

The Kent County Levy Court Tuesday deferred definite action on the request of Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to participate in distribution of federal surplus commodities to needy families.

Emory N. Lynch, president, explained that members of the court feel they need more information in regard to the proposal and that it is a matter that should receive further study.

The court after discussing the subject at length, decided to table it for the time being.

Among the points discussed were that the county does not have money available to carry on the distribution of the commodities, that its only income is from real estate tax, now at the maximum 50-cent rate, and the cost would further burden the taxpayers.

It was estimated that it would cost the county from $10,000 to $12,000 for one or two persons to keep the necessary check on the items and distribution and to pay for transportation. Volunteers would be necessary for the distribution.

The members of the court made it clear that they are not against the proposed help for the needy families, but feel that the State Welfare Department or the state itself is in a far better position from the standpoint of finances and facilities than the Levy Court to carry out the program.

The Welfare expenditures are already a severe responsibility of the county and there is at present official apprehension that the additional output in this direction will even more than eat up what additional income may be forthcoming from the new assessment.

Mr. Lynch went on to point out that Kent County's participation in welfare has doubled the past three years and that when there is an increase in assessment, the extra income is absorbed by the welfare needs.

He stressed that in the interest of the county taxpayers, who are the ones who pay the bills, more consideration and thought should be given the proposal before acting.

It was also brought out that the county's check to those on the welfare rolls would not be reduced by any surplus commodities provided the welfare recipients; that the commodities would be in addition to the money provided by the Levy Court.

Therefore, it was pointed out, the county would continue to pay the welfare checks and also bear the distribution cost under the surplus commodities proposal.

Mr. Lynch said that he has invited Alexis Turamianz, state officer in charge of surplus commodities, to meet with the Kent County Levy Court next Tuesday for discussion of the matter. The subject was proposed to the Levy Courts of the three counties by Governor Boggs Monday.

Motor Fuel Tax Receipt Report

The inclement weather prevailing at various times during the month of January, making travel on the highways rather dangerous at times, did not cause a reduction in the receipts for motor fuel taxes for that month.

According to a report compiled by the Motor Fuel Tax Division of the State Highway Department, receipts for motor fuel taxes for January, which were received during February, were the highest for that month in any recent year.

This report discloses that a total of $627,774 was received in motor fuel taxes for January and this amount was an increase of $39,514.61 over the amount received for January of last year, $91,539.69 more than was received for January, 1956 and an increase of $142,244.65 over the amount received for January of 1955.

According to the report the taxes collected for January represented the sale of 12,555,479 gallons of motor fuel, an increase of 790,292 gallons over the amount sold in January of last year.

The report lists a total of 55 concerns bonded as distributors of motor fuel in this State during January and of this number 12 concerns reported no sales for that month.

On the other hand five concerns reported sales that produced $403,937.11, or about 65 per cent of the taxes collected for the month. These concerns and the amount of taxes collected by each one, were Atlantic Refining Co., $32,918.91; Esso Standard Oil Co., $1117,463.69; Gulf Oil Corp., $102,979.89; Sun Oil Co., $42,723.95; The Texas Co., $57,850.67.

Softball League Organized

Last week at the Harrington Moose Lodge seven representatives of local organizations met and formed the 1958 version of the Harrington Community Softball League.

The league which has been in existence for some years will play their games at the Moose Lodge field. The field, maintenance, and various equipment will again be furnished by the Moose as a gesture of their interest in a community recreation program.

Games will be played at 6:30 p.m. Monday thru Friday. There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited.

Bill Smith, local teacher and coach, who has been elected president of the league, announced that the following teams will comprise the league: American Legion, Bond Bread, Delaware Power & Light, Felton Fire Company, Harrington Athletic Club, Moose Lodge No. 534, and the National Guard.

There are two newcomers to the league this year. One is the Felton Volunteer Fire Department and the other is the newly formed Harrington Athletic Club. The latter team formerly played in the league under the name of the Independents. However, this year the league is restricted to teams representing bonafide corporations and civic organizations.

Chester Short, president of the Harrington Athletic Club, assured the league that his young organization plans to develop into a public service minded group and become a truly civic club. It was on this assurance that the members of the league voted to admit the H.A.C.

The schedule which will be announced later calls for the first game to be played early in May. There will be three rounds of play—giving each team a total of 18 games. At the close of the season there will be a Shaughnessy Playoff among the first four clubs for the championship.

VOTING ON CHARTER REVISIONS HELD UP WHEN RIDER IS ADDED

Harrington's proposed revisions to the City Charter ran into a snag Wednesday evening when an amendment was tacked to it in the Legislature shortly before it adjourned for two months.

The amendment, the sponsor of which had not been learned yesterday, called for the exemption from taxes, property or sewer, of all farmland and buildings thereon, of four acres or more, in the City limits. At present, buildings are taxable.

This amendment is aimed at the controversial sewer code revision to the Charter whereby sanitary sewer can be installed at property owner's expense.

A delegation from Harrington appeared in Dover Wednesday afternoon and evening in an attempt to get the Charter revisions passed. Included was a group from Harrington Manor which had been having considerable trouble with cesspools.

The bill came out of committee Wednesday night and rules were suspended to put the bill on the floor. A Laurel representative then spoke up that he had an amendment and voting was withheld.

Damaged Roads To Be Repaired

With the arrival of clearing weather and sunshine, maintenance crews of the State Highway Department moved into the task of repairing the damage resulting from the storms of the past two weeks.

A survey of the highways of every type throughout the State revealed that the amount and type of road damage is perhaps the largest to ever confront the Highway Department in a single instance.

Main highways, such as Route 13 and Route 40, are requiring a large amount of patching to repair the effects of the recent storms.

Secondary, or blacktop highways have broken surfaces and holes at many places which will require a type of minor rebuilding in order to repair the damage.

Practically every dirt road in Kent and Sussex Counties will require reshaping, grading and drainage work as a result of the snow, followed by rain, placing them in a very wet condition.

Washouts along both the paved and dirt roads have been numerous and will require much work in putting them back in shape.

The patching work along the paved roads got underway during the past weekend and will be continued until it is all completed.

It has been necessary to wait on the dirt road repair work until the mud dried out, and as rapidly as this takes place along a road, the repair work gets underway.

Maintenance crews of the Highway Department, who spent long hours during the past month in battling snow storms to keep the highways open, are now putting their trucks and other mobile equipment in use to repair the effects of that storm season.

The disc jockeys persist in saying they are playing recorded music for one's listening pleasure. What other kind of pleasure could one derive from it?

The preacher was admonishing his flock on the evils of avarice. "And remember, my friends," he said, "there will be no buying nor selling in heaven." At which a businessman on the back seat grumbled: "That's not where my business has gone anyway."

A COMMUNITY FUND WOULD BE EFFICIENT

We believe it would be better if all campaigns, for funds for welfare programs, were rolled up into one. One big campaign, with all civic groups participating, should do the job.

Such programs have been mapped out in other communities where they come under the heading of community chests, red feather, or some other name.

One drive would be more efficient than many. Publicity could also be more efficient. One big lump sum, to be divided among the needy—crippled children, the tubercular, cancer, heart, muscular dystrophy, infantile paralysis—their names are myriad and are likely to increase. Let the donor decide how much money goes to each charity.

U. S. CANNOT SURVIVE WITH ITS CREAM PUFF EDUCATION

Dr. Elmer Hutchisson, director of the American Institute of Physics, warned recently that unless the nation's youth is taught to appreciate the importance of science the American way of life "is doomed to rapid extinction." His remarks were addressed to the National Association of Science Writers.

Dr. Hutchisson went on to point out that scientific education, in any meaningful sense of that phrase, depends on rigorous educational discipline. Skill and knowledge in science cannot be used to protect children against their own laziness or imparted by coddling techniques which seek to inhibit their personalities.

Other educators have said approximately the same thing. Modern science demands knowledge of mathematics and physics. Youngsters cannot be trained for these areas by giving them easy courses in simple arithmetic. If they are pampered in the lower grades, then they simply will not be able to go to the advanced work that is necessary for truly professional achievement.

It is a sad fact of our times that we are in a struggle for survival—scientific survival. We can no longer afford cream puff education.

Letter to the Editor Of Local Interest

Taxes - Taxes - Taxes
 Early this week, I was in the City of Harrington and was an unnoticed bystander to the following: A school teacher from Harrington School approached a School Board member by thanking him for interfering with their spring vacation by having school 2 days this week. Board member tried to explain it was agreed upon between their board, administrators and teacher representatives at a board meeting. The teacher's remark to this member of Board was sure not what could be expected from a teacher.

After investigating about pay for these teachers, I find that The Taxpayers of this District pay 44 teachers $150 each supplementary pay or $6600 a year extra—all from local taxes. I also found out that Milford pays $100 extra with no schools south of us paying anything, too, I hear that our teachers must be paid and has been agreed upon by board that they receive $1.50 per hour for selling tickets at football or basketball games or supervising any dances held at school.

Too, I fully agree with extra pay for coaches because of extra hours put in except for the $600 paid extra to girls physical Ed Instructor because of fact that we cannot see any girls sports at night. How come, Board members, we cannot see our daughters play at night? When can we see them if they always play during day.

I also learned from Board member that their next meeting is Tuesday, April 8 at 8 p.m. All these meetings are open to public. Lets all taxpayers go to this meeting and see what we can do about this $6600. Why should it cost us this much more than it does in Felton, Greenwood, Seaford, Laurel or any other school? Cannot we improve school (white or colored) with this $6600 if it must be collected? Think this over—See you at School Board meeting in Harrington School on Tuesday, April 8 at 8 p.m.

Sincerely Yours,
 J. J. J.

Two Are Jailed For Theft of Bread Here

A state trooper on patrol about 5 a.m. Friday, observed three young men sitting in a car opposite the Dover Air Force Base and he stopped to find out what they were doing where they were.

Observing the approach of the officer the three young men drove their car rapidly into the Air Base with the trooper in pursuit and the car with the trio in it was finally halted by the officer.

Upon looking into the car the officer found three long boxes of rolls and buns of the type that is left in front of grocery stores during deliveries at night. Questioning revealed that the young men got the bakery products in Harrington.

As they were placed under arrest the three young men gave their names as Richard Cage, George Barnes and John Voies, the latter being the owner of the car and claimed that the other two left him out in Harrington and later came back to pick him up.

Cage and Barnes were charged with petty larceny and Magistrate Maurice W. Carrow, of Camden, imposed a fine of $50, plus costs on each defendant. In default of payment they were sent to jail for 30 days.

In addition Barnes was arrested for operating a motor vehicle with improper brakes and Voies was charged with permitting his car to be operated with improper brakes.

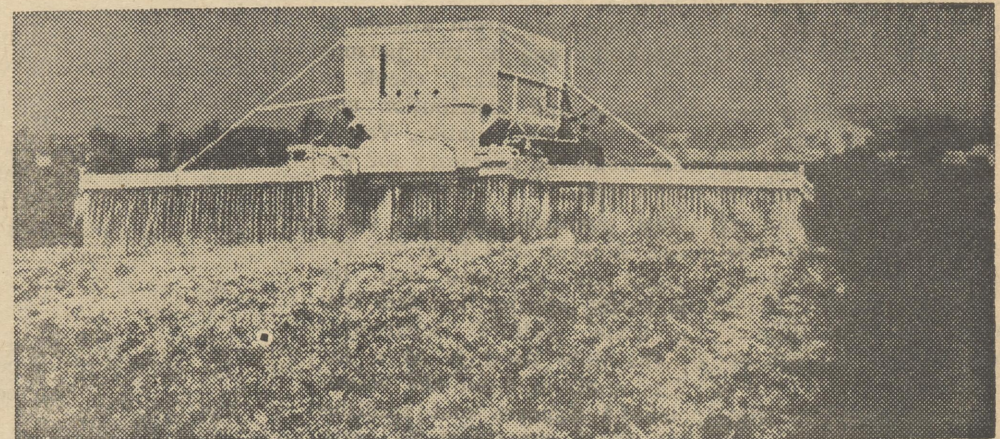

The two men were taken before Magistrate George K. Shockley who imposed a fine of $25, plus costs, on each one and in default of payment sent them to jail for 30 days.

State police are continuing their investigation into Voies part in the theft of the pastry.

T'was on the fourteenth day of Nisan during the festival of spring, When He was placed upon the cross and given to His King.

Laid, was He, in a sepulcher made of the hardest stone, When three days passed He rose again and again God's Power shone.

T'was to this day a name was given by Easter, goddess of spring, The name was Easter and the day was known As the day man accepted his King.

Don't Rely Too Much On Pasture, Dairymen Advised

After a winter in which they purchased more feed than usual, Maryland dairy farmers probably will be more thankful than ever when pastures get far enough advanced to provide most of the feed requirements. Although pastures certainly will be a relief, there is danger in relying on them too heavily, warns University of Maryland Extension Dairyman Bob Appleman.

He says that when too much confidence is placed in pastures, and the farmer takes it for granted that cows are getting something that really isn't there, a reaction known as "pasture starvation" often results. "Often, he says, "we blame May and June stumps in milk production on flies or hot weather. The reason really is that our cows aren't getting enough to eat."

Studies show that proper management practices taken to prevent pasture starvation often result in production increases of 1000 or more pounds of milk per cow during the pasture season. The most important practice is supplementing pasture with hay, silage, concentrate or a combination of two or all three of these, according to Appleman. And he adds that just as important as the supplementation itself, is getting it to the cows early enough to beat the drop in milk production.

Energy is what cows often fail to get enough of from pastures. Summer pastures nearly always supply enough protein. So during the lush grazing season, a concentrate mix made up entirely of home grown grains is an economical supplement to the pasture. No protein supplement is needed in the mix. This can be continued as long as the cow is getting all the pasture she can eat or enough legume hay in addition to pasture to keep her filled.

When the cows get ahead of the pasture, its time to put them back on the winter concentrate mix with enough protein supplement to bring the protein level up to 16 or 18 per cent.

Keep Easter Plants Alive

Many homemakers will receive some type of plant at Easter. Some of these will grow outside, others are good house plants, while a few are not suited for either house or outdoor culture. These facts prompted me to gather information about each of several Easter plants popular to this area, so you might benefit by a reminder on how to keep the plants longer.

Here is what Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware, told me.

Easter lily—Longiflorum, the variety commonly grown by florists as a pot plant, is not very hardy in this locality. The plant should be kept in a cool room out of the sun and well-watered while still in bloom. After danger of frost is past (May 5-10) sink pots in the ground in a protected place with partial sunlight. Keep the plants there about two weeks until they are "hardened off" to stand cold weather. Then remove from the pot and transplant into the garden, using about one-half a handful of fertilizer mixed into the soil before planting. They will often flower again in the fall.

Hyacinths—These are bulbous plants which are hardy in the Delaware area. Keep them in the house in a cool sunny location until after blooming. They can be set in the garden after danger of frost is past. However, hyacinths that have been forced for Easter blossoms often do not bloom in the garden next year, and it may be several years before a bulb regains its vitality.

Tulips—They are hardy in Delaware and may be kept in the garden as soon as frost is past. Put in a good location away from shrubs, and spade in a small amount of fertilizer before planting. Don't cut leaves off until they wither and die. Although the plant may not bloom next year, the bulbs will quickly regain their vitality and provide excellent garden flowers in the future.

Hydrangeas—Most Easter Hydrangeas are of the species hortensis and are French hybrids. Keep them in the house in a cool sunny location with plenty of water while in bloom. After flowering, harden off as for the Easter lily and transplant into the garden. These plants are not too well suited to this locality, as the flower buds often are killed by frost in the early spring. However they will overwinter and produce good foliage.

Azaleas—There are many different types of azaleas sold at Easter. Some are hardy, and some are not. They should be hardened off after flowering, planted in the garden, and provided with soil conditions needed for any outdoor azalea.

Gardenias—This is a house plant only and not hardy in the state. They do not grow well under conditions in most homes. Probably you will want to keep this plant only for a short time after blooming. If you would like to try them as a house plant, place out-doors in late spring in a sheltered spot with partial shade. Take them up in the fall before frost and try to keep them growing as a house plant.

Small Family Hams Now Available

Homemakers with small families or who like meat in small packages will find a convenience food—canned ham—available in a new size. The U. S. Department of Agriculture's meat inspection division has cooperated with the meat-packing industry to develop a processing method that yields one-pound and one and one-half pound canned hams much like the larger six to eight-pound size now on the market.

Small canned hams, many of them imported, have been on the market previously. These hams have been fully processed at a fairly high temperature. Although this allowed them to be stored at room temperature, it also resulted in a large amount of free liquid in the can.

To avoid this problem, a way was found to process the new small canned hams safely at lower temperatures. Like the usual large canned hams, they have good flavor, little excess liquid in the can, and must be stored in the refrigerator.

Production of the new hams is just beginning. They should be popular with those who like the convenience of ready-to-serve boneless hams but find the six to eight-pound hams too large. Miss Marjorie J. Wormeck, extension nutritionist at the Uni-

Mrs. David Jones to Be Speaker at 2nd Workshop of Dover W.S.C.S.

Mrs. David M. Jones, wife of the late president of Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., will be the important speaker at the second workshop planned by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Delaware Conference. The meeting will be held in Wesley Methodist Church in Dover Tuesday, Apr. 15, beginning at ten o'clock. Four members from each society in the district and as many more as will attend are expected to be present for the two sessions of the day. The theme will be "Creating Together A Christ Centered Community" Dr. M. O. Ballard of the Delaware Conference will have charge of the morning worship.

The main feature of the morning session will be a panel entitled "The Church Leads. Mrs. John Trader of Dover, president of the Delaware United Council of Church Women will be the moderator. Members of the panel will be the Rev. William Hackett, pastor of St. John's Church in Seaford, James R. Webb, principal of the William C. Jason High School at Georgetown, Miss Mary Francis Koontz, a senior at the Lewes High School and president of Bethel Church M.Y. F. and Mrs. Walton Nichols, secretary of Christian Social Relations of the Delaware Conference.

Important in the afternoon session will be the address of Mrs. Jones, a mother of four children, a noted speaker and educator, a member of the Woman's Division of Christian Service for two quadrenniums, working in the department of Christian Social Relations. Her wide knowledge of human relations and her work with college students gives her message one of importance wherever she speaks. This workshop will be well attended because of her presence.

Those attending are asked to bring a box lunch and coffee and dessert will be provided by the hostess church. A registration fee of fifty cents will cover the expenses of the day.

University of Delaware suggests a small canned ham in the refrigerator for quick meals. She recommends banking it with homemade potato salad for a buffet supper. Cold or hot, a one and one-half-pound canned ham should serve four to six people.

To save time when serving it hot the nutritionist says to remove ham from the can, slice thin, tie slices together with a string, and cover with brown sugar or with pineapple or apricot preserve for a glaze. Or garnish with canned pineapple slices, canned pear or peach halves, or cooked dried prunes. Heat in the oven at 325 degree F. or until the meat is heated through to the center.

Arranging N. Y. Poultry Market Tour

Arrangements are being made for all interested people to take part in a poultry marketing tour April 16 and 17 in New York City.

Coordinator is W. T. McAllister, extension marketing specialist with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Poultry and Egg National Board. His announcement said tour highlights will be:

1. A visit to wholesale receivers of Delmarva chicken at the 14th Street market. Visitors will see and hear what buyers say about Delmarva poultry and birds from competing areas.

2. Go aboard a passenger ship of the Grace Ship Co. to discuss with tradespeople opportunities for exporting poultry to foreign markets.

3. Visit the New York Mercantile Exchange and the Stock Exchange on Wall Street.

4. Tour kitchens of the Brass Rail Restaurant in the Socony-Mobile building. Purpose will be to learn more about selling additional poultry to restaurants.

5. Learn what chain store people think about Delmarva chickens, where stores buy supplies, why and obtain the answers to other questions during a visit to a leading chain store and a talk with the poultry buyer there.

6. Visits to such places as the United Nations building, Music Hall, Madison Square Garden, television shows, baseball games, and Broadway shows.

The marketing specialist said the nights of April 15 and 16 will be spent in New York. Headquarters will be the Governor Clinton Hotel. All reservations must be made with Mr. McAllister by April 12. Contact the department of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware, Newark, or county agricultural agents.

Cleanup Metal to Avoid "Hardware Disease"

Taking time this spring for a cleanup of cattle feeding areas, pens, lanes and other places animals enter will help eliminate a chief cause of "hardware disease," suggests George Vapaa, county agricultural agent. He is referring to removing such things as bits of metal, nails, wire and fence staples that can get mixed in feed. Cattle cannot separate these materials from feed as drymen well know.

These pieces of metal collect in an animal's stomach, and can work through the wall, piercing internal organs—possibly the heart or liver—and cause death.

If cattle show signs of hardware disease, call a veterinarian. Mr. Vapaa recommends. Harmful metal can sometimes be removed surgically. Disease symptoms include loss of appetite, a sharp drop in milk production, a variable fever, grunting noises made by the animal, and walking with an arched back.

The agent said owners who wish to guard against this condition call a veterinarian who generally inserts a special magnet in each animal's stomach. The magnet collects metal particles and holds them in a position where they can not do harm.

Delaware Farmers May Seed Record Soybean Acreage

Delaware farmers may seed a record soybean acreage this year, 164,000 acres—six per cent more than the record established two years ago.

This report of planting intentions came today from the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service, College Park, Md. Creighton N. Guellow, statistician in charge, also noted that Maryland farmers expect to plant 218,000 acres of soybeans—about the same as the record acre—age of two years ago and five per cent more than last year.

If Delaware potato growers carry out intentions, the report said, they will plant 10,500 acres, the largest acreage of record and 17 per cent more than a year ago.

The reports are based on answers to questionnaires mailed to about 7,000 farmers in the two states. "Farmers were most cooperative in filling out and returning the cards," Mrs. Guellow said.

Summarizing the outlook for acreages of other crops in Delaware, the statistician indicated that Delaware farmers report intentions to plant 141,000 acres of corn. This would be four per cent less than last year, and would continue a downward trend in state corn acreage that started in 1953. Prospective plantings of green peas were placed at 6200 acres, up slightly from last season. Acreages of oats and barley are expected to be unchanged.

Maryland farmers, the report continued, plan to have six per cent less corn acreage and five per cent less tobacco acreage this year than last. Prospects for corn—at 434,000 acres—mean a decrease from 462,000 acres planted for this year, compared with 37,000 last year. Acreage of oats is expected to be down seven per cent from a year earlier.

And if Maryland farmers follow through on present plans to cut back green peas, plantings will total little more than 9000 acres—smallest since 1952. On the other hand, the statistics noted, it now looks like the 1958 barley acreage in Maryland will set a new record of 95,000 acres, up slightly from last year's record. Wheat acreage seeded last fall, at 179,000 acres, is four per cent more than a year earlier.

Every Ready Class To Observe 35th Anniversary

The Ever Ready Class of Asbury Church School will observe its 35th anniversary next Sunday by attending the 11 a. m. church service in a body. At the invitation of Mrs. Fred Satterfield, a group of eight of young women assembled to organize the class April 1, 1923. They were Misses Helen Beckwith, Edith Bryan, Edith Hoover, Irene Rickards, Mary Satterfield, Mrs. J. Willis Clifton, Mrs. Ernest W. Dean, and the teachers, Mrs. W. W. Sharp. On the first Sunday of April every year this class observes the anniversary in this way. It is hoped that everyone who has ever been a member of this class through the years will attend the service next Sunday morning and sit with it as usual. A basket of flowers, in memory of its deceased members, will be presented Sunday morning by the Ever Ready Class.

Prevention Easier Than Cure of Soil Compaction

Constant use of heavy machinery in farming operations tends to pack certain types of soil into hard layers of soil just below har layers of soil just below plow depth.

And, says George Vapaa, county Agricultural Agent, it's difficult to undo this damage once soil become packed to a concrete-like consistency. He recommends avoiding the increasingly common farm problem, if possible, because packing reduces a soil's ability to absorb water at the surface and decreases movement of moisture into lower levels. In some cases, it also restricts normal root development in planted crops.

Subsoiling has not proven satisfactory as a means for correcting the condition. Mr. Vapaa says. He explains that though some farm operators and soil scientists have found this effective in increasing yields, it is still a hit-or-miss affair. Usually not enough is known about the physical condition of the subsoil to make certain that the process will be beneficial or profitable.

According to University of Delaware soil scientist Leo J. Cotnoir, prevention is still the best way to deal with soil compaction. Here are several tips he offers for avoiding compaction.

1. Don't carry out machine operation while the soil is wet. Damage is frequently done when farmers begin work too soon after rain.

2. Build soil's resistance to compaction by adding to its organic matter content through rotation with grass or pasture crops. Cover crops can be grown in off seasons and turned under as green manure before cultivated crops are planted.

3. Develop a minimum tillage system—tilling the soil as little as possible. This requires judgment on the part of the operator, but the county agent can offer advice about minimum tillage methods adapted to your area. In some cases, the ground may be plowed once and the rest of the soil preparation left to natural processes such as freezing and thawing, or wetting and drying. Or seed may be planted in newly plowed ground and weed growth handled with pre-emergence and post-emergence sprays. For those who already have compacted soil, research is slow-

Delaware Food Market Report

Want to make Easter dinner a real spectacular? Then serve a handsome baked ham, attractively glazed and garnished with clusters of pale green grapes or wedges of broiled oranges. A traditional Easter favorite, ham can be made to look very festive, ideally suited for festive holiday meals.

Ham, from the hindquarter of the pig, is sold fresh or cured. You can buy a whole ham, or half of ham (butt or shank half). The pound is higher than the butt half has more bone, the meat is more tender, and the price per pound is higher than that for the shank.

It pays to know what you're buying. If the word portion is used (such as shank portion or butt portion) it tells you that center slices have been removed from the ham. Sometimes all the slices have been removed, other times only part. The word full half ham means exactly that the center slices have not been removed. The smaller size hams averaging 12 to 16 lbs. are usually the ones sold in half.

This size has a small bone and less fat than the larger hams and is a good whole ham buy. The quantity to purchase depends on whether the bone is in, etc; however a good average is 1 lb. of ham with bone in will give 2 to 3 usual size servings. Remember to store ham before and after cooking in the refrigerator. This includes canned hams too.

The big week-end for Easter eggs starts out with prices far above those of a year ago. Grade A large eggs are now averaging 65 cents a dozen, about 15 cents higher than last year. However egg prices are about a penny cheaper than they were last week.

From the fresh vegetable and fruit standpoint especially the vegetable angle, this has been a long bleak winter. However, a change is in prospect in the volume of fresh vegetables coming from Florida are much heavier. There are more snap beans on the market now than there has been since December 10. In turn, peppers, squash, eggplants, cabbage, and celery show some increase too. The thriftest buys, however, are cabbage, carrots and Texas celery.

ly developing machinery and other means to meet the problem more effectively, under varying conditions. More attention to this problem is needed, concludes Mr. Vapaa, if we are to avoid prement and serious injury to some of our best soils.

Junior Broiler Chicks Distributed; Finals in May

About 5500 chicks for contestants in the Junior Broiler Program have been distributed to 110 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members throughout Delaware, Silas L. McHenry, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, reported yesterday.

The educational program is an annual project sponsored for the past nine years by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, and the State Board of Agriculture. Purpose is to teach boys and girls in poultry projects how to raise a good flock of chickens, keep records, and develop responsibility at which hatcherymen, service clubs, vocational agriculture teachers, and 4-R Club agents cooperate.

The top 20 winners are named at a banquet in May. The date will be announced. First place winner receives $25 and a trophy, second $20, third $15, fourth $10, fifth through 10th $7.50, and 11th through 20th $5. Certificates of merit go to the first four winners. Birds from the first four places will be displayed at the Delmarva Chicken Festival June 26 to 28 in Denton, Md. Contestants will be invited to the festival as guests of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

First place last year was taken by a 13-year-old from Woodside, Anderson Gowans. Second was John Thomas, Maryland; third Clark Hastings, Laurel, and fourth Wayne Coverdale, St. Georges. Young Gowans was fourth place winner in 1952, having the heaviest birds ever produced in the program. Each bird averaged five and one-quarter pounds. His birds last year averaged just under five pounds.

Contestants in this year's program are being supervised by county 4-H Club agents and vocational agriculture teachers. The young people receive written instructions from the state extension poultryman, along with training meetings in each county before birds are distributed, and again before the contest finals.

Vocational agriculture instructors acting as advisors are: Samuel Simmons, William Simpson, Wilmington; William Kent, Newark; George Rhoads, T. A. Jeter, Middletown; Robert Young, Dover; Horace Short, Wyoming; Melvin Luff, Felton; John Curtis, Harrington; Leroy Hanna, Seaford; M. M. Price, Laurel; Frank Elliott, George Matthews, Georgetown; Raymond Swadley, Ocean View; Jack Clinch, Selbyville; William Jenkins, Millsboro, and Ralph McDonald, Frankford.

Advisors from the county 4-H Club offices are: Maurice B. Field, Kent County; Mrs. Marion S. MacDonal, Kent County; Miss Mary E. Woods, Kent-Sussex Counties; and James O. Baker, Sussex County. McHenry urged contestants to follow instructions to keep chicks comfortable, give them plenty of water, feed birds according to directions, and to keep records. He said to call an advisor immediately if problems develop in raising the broilers.

Little by little they are leaving and it's beginning to get lonesome here. And only three more weeks for us, that is if the weather is okay up there. We are having so much rain down here, the only thing about it is it's a warm one. It's 74 today, so I hate to leave this kind of weather.

I took in the "Passion Play," at Lake Wales and it was beautiful. And with Easter so near it seemed more impressive to me. And out under the moon light what more could you ask for?

Today we are going over to Daytona Beach and watch the crowds going in swimming. If the water isn't too cold I'm going in. The radio gave the temperature out each hour for the ocean. And with your strong field glasses you can see the Vanguard, from which they fire the missiles. You can drive right past it as long as you don't have a camera.

Here is something which I will quote: "Horsemen make lovely guests. The harness horse owners, their friends who spend several months each year here in Florida make lovely guests indeed. The City of Orlando gets a take of about $2.5 million which we wouldn't get without the Ben White Raceway. There were 556 horses and over 500 horsemen. Not counting the several thousand visitors that were attracted here at the same spot. Some people think the local taxpayers have to foot the bill. Nothing is farther from the truth. The horsemen not only pay their way in the connection with the raceway but in addition drop a small fortune into the hands of the local merchants each year.

Many have bought homes down here and other property, and dislike leaving Florida when times come to more on to the races." But the city of Orlando hopes they will win all their races and hurry back this fall.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Must I include the new Social Security disability payments as income, in figuring my annual income for VA pension purposes?

A—Social Security disability payments should not be considered as income until the payments add up to the full amount of what you personally have contributed to the Social Security fund. After that, the Social Security disability payments will count as income for VA pension purposes.

Q—I have been offered a job as test pilot for an aircraft company. Will my GI insurance policy cover me if any thing happens to me on the job?

A—Yes. Your GI insurance policy contains no restrictions as to hazardous employment. It will protect you no matter how hazardous your job might be.

Q—My husband was killed in active service in March, 1947—after the fighting in World War II had ended but before the war officially was declared an end for purposes of VA benefits. Would my daughter be eligible for War Orphans Schooling?

A—No. The War Orphans Education law specifies that for World War II veterans, death or disability must have occurred between December 7, 1941, and December 31, 1946. Since your husband's death occurred after the latter date, your daughter would not be eligible for the schooling benefits.

Q—Is it possible to take on the job training outside the United States under the Koreans GI Bill? I would like to take my training in France.

A—No. Under the law, foreign GI training may be taken only in institutions of higher learning. Further, courses must be approved by VA.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

A combined junior and senior choir marched in the processional Palm Sunday at 11 o'clock morning prayer. They carried branches of palms and sang the traditional Palm Sunday hymns. The processional was "All glory, land, and honor, to thee, Redeemer, King!" and the recessional was "Ride on! ride on to Majesty!"

On this notable occasion in our church program the Rev. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of Delaware, was our guest preacher and administered the order of confirmation. The Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., vicar of St. Stephen's, presented a class of twenty-three to the Bishop for the "laying on of hands." The following persons were included in the group that knelt before Bishop Mosley and renewed their baptismal vows: Margaret Anne Perry, Clarence Ronald Wooters, George Robert Quillen, Anna-Belle L. McColley, Earl William McColley, Eleanor F. Smith, Hester Elizabeth Johnson, Olen Clyde Perry, Ellen Custis Perry, William Harry Porter, John Edward Porter, Jr., James Edward Porter, Douglas Ray Beene, William Thomas Hopkins, William Edward Carter, Ronald Joseph Porter, William Earl McColley, Robert Sherwood Wooters, Gary Lee Porter, Roy Stephen Porter, Elwood Clarence Wooters, Olive Claire Chamberlain, and Joyce Ann Hopkins. Walter William Winkler, confirmed in another branch of the Christian Church, was received by the Bishop as a member of St. Stephen's.

The Rev. Thomas Dix Bowers, rector of St. James' Church, Accomac, Va., and rector of St. George's Church, Pungoteague, Va., was guest preacher at St. Stephen's last Sunday evening. Mr. Bowers was a classmate of our vicar at Virginia Theological Seminary Alexandria, Va. It was a pleasure to have him with us for the evening prayer service and for a short get-acquainted session afterward at the Parish House.

Acolytes last Sunday were Ralph Wooters, Billy Carter, Ronnie Correll, Ronnie Porter, Wayne Porter, Gary Porter, Albert Lee Ratledge, Billy McColley, Bill Thompson, and Robert Greer.

Flowers on the altar Palm Sunday were given to the glory of God by Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Elton of Milford. Flowers at the front table of the church were given by Mrs. Lillian Rice, and Jim Hoffman, in memory of Caroline M. Hoffman.

St. Stephen's Women's Auxiliary will meet Tuesday, April 8, 8 p.m. at the Parish House.

Miss Viva Reed, Ronnie Correll, and Bill Thompson, attended the annual diocesan youth conference held at St. Andrew's School, Middletown, March 22.

These three representatives from St. Stephen's took part in a worship service, heard the keynote talk, participated in workshops. They heard the views of other young people on group leadership, fellowship, service, worship, study, and they took part in these discussions.

Adult leaders in the youth conference were the Rev. James Lincoln, director of Christian Education for the Diocese of Virginia; Charles Cranford, director of the Department of Recreation for Philadelphia and Norris Weis, administrative director of Camp Arrowhead.

Ronnie Correll of St. Stephen's holds the office of Kent County delegate on the Diocesan Youth Cabinet.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNally entertained at their home near Vernon several guests for dinner on Palm Sunday. Among the guests were the Rev. J. Brooke Mosley of Wilmington and the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., and Mrs. Wright Pearsall of Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Nelson and Miss Nancy Nelson also of Harrington.

Ushers Palm Sunday were Messrs. Archie Ford, Archie Feagan, Robert Baynard, and George Johnson.

Events and services scheduled at St. Stephen's this week and next are as follows: Thursday, 7:30 p.m., Holy Communion; 8:30, Senior Choir rehearsal; Friday, 10 a.m., Anti-Communism and Litany; 12 to 3, Good Friday service at Trinity Church; Saturday, 4 p.m., Holy Baptism; Easter Sunday, 8 a.m.; Holy Communion; 8:35 Breakfast Club; 11 a.m., Holy Communion; 7 p.m., evening prayer and presentation of mite boxes by the children of the church school; Monday 7 p.m. junior choir rehearsal; Tuesday, 10 a.m. Holy Communion and Holy Unction; Wednesday, 8 p.m., Healing service at Seaford.

The Easter morning acolyte breakfast has been cancelled in lieu of a trip the boys will take to Philadelphia in May to see the Phillies play a major league game. The acolyte director, Robert Quillen, and other adults will accompany the young men on the outing.

Congress is Taking A Recess

This week Congress is taking a brief recess from its major legislative activities. The reason for the temporary cessation in its deliberations is really twofold. First, out of respect to the approaching Easter season. Second, to give the membership of the House and Senate an opportunity to return home for consultation with their constituents and thirdly to allow the lawmakers a personal rest from the debate before the on-rush of the major portion of legislative decisions which are always forthcoming during the months of May and June.

In advance of the recess period, the Senate completed work on legislation authorizing appropriations for highway construction, a measure designed to stimulate the Federal-State road building program throughout the nation which in turn should help to ease unemployment at least to a limited extent. With passage of this bill and following earlier approval of the so-called emergency housing bill, Congress has established a partial basis on which huge segments of our construction industry may plan a renewed business activity during the spring and summer months. However, it is quite apparent that economic conditions generally are still far from desirable and undoubtedly further legislative measures will be taken when the Congressional membership returns to Washington.

Meanwhile in addition to our known problems in domestic and foreign affairs, Congress is more and more becoming active in the subject of scientific research as a part of the new era of outer space which our nation is now beginning to actively enter. Within the past few days a comprehensive staff report was released on a proposed bill known as the Science and Technology Act of 1958.

A principal section of this bill would, if approved, create a department of Science and Technology headed by a secretary with cabinet rank. The objective of the Department would be to coordinate and centralize Federal civilian science functions now vested in agencies which carry on scientific activities. At the present time there are a number of individual agencies such as the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Science Foundation and others. The centralization of certain of these agencies into a Department would, in the opinion of some, insure better co-ordination and proper administrative direction.

This proposal is but one facet of the overall contents of this pending bill and, in addition to this legislation there also exists a special committee authorized and directed to continue a thor-

Frear Predicts Congress To Take Up Economic Recession

United State Senator J. Allen Frear predicted that further legislative measures to alleviate the economic recession will undoubtedly be taken up by Congress after its Easter recess.

In his weekly statement Mr. Frear noted that the Congressional recess which begins this week will enable most members of the House and Senate to spend a few days away from the Capitol and among the citizens of their states and districts. This, Mr. Frear indicated, will give them a first-hand opportunity to observe the status of economic conditions in their local areas.

The Delaware Senator called attention to Congressional approval of emergency housing legislation, and the Senate's passage of the Federal Highway Appropriation Bill late last week. He emphasized that these two measures should give segments of the nation's construction industry an opportunity to increase their activity during the spring and summer.

In other remarks Senator Frear called attention to pending legislation which would create a Department of Science and Technology. He emphasized the importance of United States leadership in scientific research and development of outer space, and he predicted additional accomplishments in the solving of outer space problems within a short time.

ough and complete study with respect to problems relating to outer space. Furthermore, other bills and resolutions are also being contemplated with a view to establishing leadership by the United States in the investigation, exploration and development of our interests and objectives in the vast and infinite distances beyond the confines of this planet.

This project is of itself perhaps the greatest challenge that civilization as we now know it, will ever face and although we are only in the pioneering stages at the moment, technical advances are being made rapidly, and we may very well witness startling accomplishments in a very short space of time.

All of us whether as members of Congress or as private citizens should demonstrate a very definite and continuing interest in the fascinating subject of outer space because where once, not long ago, talk of spacemen and space ships was relegated to the comic strip sections of our newspapers, it is now rapidly becoming another remarkable reality of the twentieth century.

In closing may I take this occasion to wish everyone a most happy Easter observance.

Flamer Back In Jail On Threat Charge

James Flamer, 31, of near Woodside who was released from the Kent Correctional Institution Wednesday, March 26, after serving 65 days for assaulting Mrs. Elsie Springer was back in the institution Monday under a total of $1,100 bond.

He was held under $500 peace bond each on charges of threatening to kill Elmira Fisher and Mark Hawkins, both of Woodside.

In default he was placed in the correctional institution by Magistrate Maurice W. Carrow.

Flamer was fined $5 and costs on a charge of trespassing on the property of Ralph W. Wine, near Woodside and placed under $100 trespass bond not to enter the property again for a period of one year.

State Police were called to the Wine property Sunday morning after Flamer refused to pay any attention to a written note from the owner telling him to leave the property.

The single officer who was called was told by Flamer that "it will take more than one cop to move me."

The officer accordingly radioed for help. In the meantime Flamer left the property and the officers had to go to several places before they could locate him.

They arrested him on the trespass charge. Monday Miss Fisher and Hawkins signed warrants charging Flamer with threatening to kill them.

The defendant was held for Superior Court on these charges.

Flamer was held for charges of rape against Mrs. Springer last Jan. 21. Later he was indicted for assault with attempt to commit rape by the Kent County Grand Jury but this was reduced to simple assault last week by Deputy Attorney General James Messick and the defendant was tried in the Court of Common Pleas.

He pleaded guilty to simple assault and was fined $100 and given a suspended sentence of one year in jail by Judge Ernest V. Keith who warned him that any further violations of a criminal nature would mean that the defendant had to serve the year's sentence.

Magistrate Carrow, at the arraignment, deliberately withheld comment saying that the facts "speak for themselves."

Boggs Asks For Food For The Needy of Delaware

Governor J. Caleb Boggs Monday asked the State's three Levy Courts to consider the use of federally-provided surplus foods for needy unemployed people in Delaware.

Gov. Boggs made the request at a meeting called to look into the possibility of obtaining and distributing surplus agricultural commodities to needy families whose bread-winner is presently unable to find employment.

Six such commodities, currently available from the Department of Agriculture's warehouses, are butter, cheese, non-fat dry milk, corn meal, wheat flour, and rice. Suce foods are now being distributed throughout the state to schools and hospitals, but this would be the first time the state undertook to provide surpluses to individual families.

Gov. Boggs made his request to Joseph F. Dayton, president of the New Castle County Levy Court; Emory N. Lynch, president of the Kent County Levy Court; and Clarence Lingo, president of the Sussex County Levy Court.

They, in turn, will bring the subject up at their respective meetings this week and report back to the governor by next Monday on whether they wish to participate in such a program. Those counties which are interested will then work with Alexis Tarumianz, the State's official in charge of surplus commodities, to arrange for distribution. The entire program would be co-ordinated by Mr. Tarumianz with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Monday's meeting in the Governor's office was also attended by James M. Rosbrow and Edward J. Buckley, representing the Delaware Unemployment Compensation Commission; Edgar Hare Jr. director of the State Department of Public Welfare; Kenneth C. Lambert, Mr. Hare's Administrative Assistant; Mr. Tarumianz; and Robert R. Davenport, Administrative Assistant to U. S. Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr.

Mr. Tarumianz, who is currently in charge of distribution of surplus commodities being used by schools and hospitals in Delaware, outlined the procedure that the Department of Agriculture follows in providing the surpluses. He pointed out that it is necessary that the recipients of such foodstuffs be certified as needy, and it is here that the Levy Courts would enter the plan.

The consensus of the meeting was that those Levy Courts which wished to participate would set up a distribution system in the individual counties, largely relying on the use of volunteer help. The certification of needy persons would be co-ordinated with the State Department of Public Welfare.

Governor Boggs asked the Levy Court presidents to report back to him by next Monday on whether they wish to participate, and if so to appoint a representative to work with Mr. Tarumianz and the Department of Agriculture in securing and distributing the foods.

It was reported at the meeting that 39 states are currently making use of surplus foods for needy unemployed persons. The food is provided to the states without charge by the Federal government and shipped prepaid to a central point in the state. The State agency designated to handle the program is responsible for the distribution within the State.

"THE FOLKS THAT I HAVE KNOWN"

We have a small number of pamphlets of poems of the above title, written by the late J. Harvey Burgess, late owner of The Harrington Journal and self-styled "splitter of infinitives, mixer of metaphors, demon of the double negative, sorcerer of solecisms, perpetrator of the world's poorest poetry." We presume he was also a dangler of participles.

There have been several requests for this booklet, priced at 25c, but we were unable to comply with them. Fortunately, however, we uncovered a limited supply of this valuable booklet recently while looking the effects of the estate.

We also have a number of pamphlets, "Hosses, Hosses, Hosses" written by Mr. Burgess, and depicting Harrington's harness-racing life. The price is 25c.

When the above-named pamphlets have been sold there will be no reprints.

University of Delaware Educator Writes Booklet

Dr. Russell G. Stauffer, director of the reading-study center at the University of Delaware, has been chosen as a contributor to the Compton Educational Advisory Service, a project sponsored by the publishers of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.

According to Dr. Charles A. Ford, editorial director, Dr. Stauffer's contribution, a 16-page booklet entitled "Overcoming Reading Difficulties" has proved to be one of the most frequently requested in the series of publications on educational and emotional problems which parents face in rearing children.

"Before this program was put into operation an extensive survey was made to determine which problems parents and educators are most concerned about," Dr. Ford said. "A nationwide search was made for experts to contribute to the Educational Advisory Service, and we are confident that we have secured the best person available to deal with each of the sixty problems we found to be most pressing. Dr. Stauffer is one of the outstanding educators we selected.

"Dr. Stauffer deals lucidly and concisely with diagnosis and treatment of every reading difficulty which parents are likely to observe in their children. Many parents doubtless find the booklet valuable for their own use as well as for correcting their children's difficulties.

"We are very grateful to Dr. Stauffer for giving his valuable time and attention to the Compton Educational Advisory Service. Because the service is available to thousands of parents throughout the country, Dr. Stauffer's excellent advice will reach many people who could receive it in no other way," Dr. Ford concludes.

Copies of the booklet may be obtained by writing to F. E. Compton and Company, 1000 North Dearborn Street, Chicago 10, Ill.

Brownie and Girl Scout News

Ninety-six Girl Scouts and families visited Philadelphia Saturday via Annett's buses.

First, they visited Independence Hall. The girls were thrilled to be able to touch the crack in the famous Liberty Bell and to stand on the very spot that Abraham Lincoln stood to raise our flag in the 1800's.

Next, they visited the Franklin Institute and the Planetarium where they saw a special Easter program.

Everyone had a very good time although the "virus bug" that seems to be reigning in Harrington, attack several times that day.

A note of humor: If you think it is amusing that you find so many strange objects in a woman's purse, you will really laugh when you hear the many sickroom necessities we found on the bus for our sick Scouts - seasick pills, plastic bags, wash basin, and a wet washcloth, to mention a few!

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

"Good Friday" services this evening will be held in St. John's in Milford at 7:30. The official name for today is "Friday of the Passion and Death of the Lord."

It is a day of mourning, of prayerful contemplation of the Cross on which hung the victim of our sins. In Rome, the principal service is celebrated in the ancient church of "Holy Cross in Jerusalem," where the great relic of the true cross is preserved. The service on this day consists of four parts: A. The scripture readings. B. The solemn Prayers. C. Adoration of the cross. D. Holy Communion.

The altar is bare. The celebrant and ministers are vested in sorrowful black. In silent procession they walk through the church to the altar. There they lie prostrate in prayer, while the congregation kneels with bowed heads—in sign of how our sins have made us utterly helpless before the all-holy God.

Confessions will be heard Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 and in the evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The Easter Vigil services will begin at 11 o'clock. Mass will begin at midnight.

This holy night is the most solemn memorial in the entire year, of the central mystery of our redemption: Christ's saving death and glorious resurrection. With gratitude and joy we should take part in it to the best of our ability. It goes without saying that reception of Holy Communion will constitute our most intimate sharing in the feast.

The vigil has three main parts: 1. The Light Service. 2. The Baptismal Service. 3. The Eucharistic Service.

Mass Easter Sunday morning will be at 9:30 at which time the Junior Choir will sing Easter hymns.

There will be no high school religious classes Sunday evening. Classes for grade school children will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 at the parish house.

Group A of the Discussion Club will hold a meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Topic for discussion will be Chapter 4—"Who is God?"

CONSTRUCTION TO BE RESUMED TO PROVIDE JOBS

Just as soon as weather conditions will permit, construction operations on a number of highway projects will be resumed at full scale and provide employment for a number of persons in all parts of the State.

This was the announcement made by R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the State Highway Department, concerning the complete assumption of construction activities by the Department from last fall.

According to L. W. Novinger, Construction Engineer for the Highway Department, there has been some activity on various projects during the winter months, but this was only on a limited basis.

It will be another month, at least, before surfacing of highways with hot-mix asphalt can get underway, according to Mr. Novinger, who said weather conditions must be just right for this work.

Construction activities will soon be resumed on the improvement of more than a hundred miles of dirt roads, located in all three Counties and in almost every section of the State, for which contracts awarded last year and some work completed before winter weather halted activities.

The improvement of these dirt roads is expected to be completed by the middle of the coming summer months, according to Mr. Novinger.

Likewise, there are larger projects in operation, or under contract ready for operations to start as soon as weather conditions permit, located in all sections of the state, and some of them will require a large number of workers when they get underway in full operation.

In the upper end of the State these projects include the construction of a new approach to the underpass at Naaman's, improvement of Sharples Road, improvement of Edgemoor and Marsh Roads, from the Government Printz Boulevard to the Philadelphia Pike, and Marion Avenue, in Bellefonte.

The construction of an additional traffic lane to form a divided highway along Kirkwood Highway, from Limestone Road to Newark, is in the final construction stages and with the completion of this project the Kirkwood Highway will be a divided highway from Wilmington to Newark.

Likewise, within the near future a contract will be awarded for the improvement and widening of the Lancaster Pike, from Center Road to duPont Road.

In Kent County, in addition to a large amount of dirt road improvement work, the project of widening and improving Division Street, in Dover, will soon be in operation, as will also be construction work on some bridges throughout the county.

Dirt road improvement work will be the main operation in Sussex County for a time, although work is underway on the rebuilding of Route 4, from Indian River Inlet through Bethany Beach and the construction of a new bridge at Fenwick Island, this project planned to be completed for use of traffic during the coming summer season.

In addition to the projects now in operation, or under contract, the Highway Department is working on plans for a number of other projects on which work is expected to be started during the coming spring and summer season.

The provisions of the Federal Aid Highway Act as amended are applicable to Federal-aid projects.

The employment agency for these contracts shall be the Delaware State Highway Department Service, whose offices are located at 601 Shipley Street, Wilmington, 134 Dover, Delaware Street, Dover, and North Race Street, Georgetown.

Performance of contract shall commence within ten (10) days after execution of the contract and be completed as specified.

Performance of contract shall commence within ten (10) days after execution of the contract and be completed as specified.

Monthly payments will be made for ninety (90) percent of the construction completed each month.

Bidders must submit proposals upon complete forms as provided by the Department for bidding purposes.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a surety bond, certified check, or money to the amount of at least ten (10) percent of the total amount of the proposal.

Indian River Drawbridge Creates Problems, Naturally

The opening and closing of the Indian River draw-bridge over the Indian River Inlet, particularly during the four summer months, is a great handicap to traffic using Route 14, the records of the State Highway Department reveal.

According to records maintained by Joe S. Robinson, Assistant Chief Engineer of the Highway Department, in charge of the Bridge Division, the draw-bridge will be opened about 1,600 times during the summer months.

This record reveals that during the month of June the bridge will be opened more than 400 times, over 500 times in July, almost 400 times in August, and more than 250 times in September.

Mr. Robinson explained that the excessive openings of this draw-bridge are coincidental with peak highway vehicular traffic, the highway traffic using the bridge during a typical summer weekend day will exceed 12,000 vehicles.

Mr. Robinson cited that the increased traffic along Route 14, combined with the frequent openings of the draw-bridge, results in almost continuous traffic jams along Route 14, both north and south of the bridge.

The State Highway Department is now seeking approval of the United States Army Engineers for the erection of a fixed high level bridge to replace the present draw-bridge.

Previously, a request for the operators of fishing craft, moving through the bridge, to lower the masts and poles of their vessels, particularly those with fishing outriggers and radio antennae, so as not to require unnecessary openings of the bridge, by the State Highway Department and the Corps of Engineers did not prove successful.

In their plans for the improvement of Route 14, the Highway Department now has under contract a project extending from Indian River Inlet through Bethany Beach, which will be graded for four lanes with two lanes to be paved initially.

Studies have been made to establish a four-lane highway extending northward from Indian River Inlet, and joining with the existing four-lane highway at Rehoboth.

A traffic and engineering study has been completed for the construction of a new highway from Fenwick Island to Bethany Beach, which would also eventually provide for four lanes of traffic.

These reports all stress that because of the nature of the area served by Route 14 that traffic will be continually increasing each year and should no improvement be made in the existing situation regarding the opening of the draw-bridge at Indian River Inlet, the increased traffic will provide more and extremely serious traffic conditions along the entire route.

A plague of caterpillars, after ravaging hundreds of square miles, invaded New South Wales and swarmed over beds and curtains in the tourist Chalet on Australia's highest mountain. Mr. Kosciuszko (7,316 feet), Melbourne reports.

Because "geese are better than watchdogs," most smallholders around Johannesburg, South Africa, now keep a flock. They eat one now and then too, and one goose egg makes an omelette.
