

CITY AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS

The City Council awarded a number of contracts Monday night, at its June meeting, for improvements on Shaw and Milby Streets.

The total of the contracts, awarded to the Delmarva Asphalt Company and the Tri-State Concrete Company, was $8231.40, divided into seven lots, as follows:

- 1. Curbing Shaw Street from U.S. 13 to Dixon Street, $1350.
2. Curbing Shaw Street from Dixon to Benjamin Street, $1350.
3. Preparing roadbed of Shaw Street from U.S. 13 to Dixon Street, $1510.
4. Preparing roadbed of Shaw Street from Dixon Street to Benjamin Street, $845.
5. Blacktopping Shaw Street U.S. 13 to Dixon Street, initial coat, $1427.30.
6. Blacktopping Shaw Street from Dixon Street to Benjamin Street, initial coat, $1091.30.
7. Blacktopping sides and patching center of Milby Street from Commerce Street to West Street, $657.80.

Each contract involves one block.

The City Charter calls for work involving $2000, or more, to be placed by public competitive bidding. This was not done and a councilman explained it by saying the Council was technically within its rights in not advertising for bids since the price of each contract was under $2000.

The cost of the work on Shaw Avenue, from U.S. 13 to Dixon Street, amounts to $4287.30, of which $1350 is for curbing, half of which is to be paid for by the owners of abutting property.

The cost of the work on Shaw Avenue, from Dixon Street to Benjamin Street, will be $3286.30, of which $1350 will go for curbing, half of which will be paid for by owners of abutting property.

The Council has received prices on other street improvements but no action was taken.

In other business of the lengthy meeting, it was revealed that W. B. Mitten & Sons, which received a contract for installation of sewer and water mains on several streets, had received the sewer tile and was now waiting for the water pipe before beginning construction.

The Council voted to see what it could get for timber on a tract it bought on the Blades Crossroads road some time ago as a dump site. The motion was amended to get a price on bulldozing the part of the tract for a dump site.

In other business: Voted to put up a call box for a telephone near the station of the police car on the northwest corner of Fleming and Commerce Streets. The telephone was formerly in the shirt factory of George A. Sherwin Inc., but the factory is now housed on Clark Street.

Voted to remove a stop sign at Hanley Street and Reese Avenue and replace it with a "Slow" sign.

Agreed to suggest to the state highway department it erect a large directional sign on Delaware 14 at Commerce and Clark Streets to aid out-of-town motorists.

Agreed to suggest to the department that it erect a sign at Liberty Street and the south-bound lane of U.S. 13 so that traffic from the street does not turn north on the highway.

Made preparations for a referendum, June 17, on a sewer and water authority.

Voted to get a new tapping machine for tapping water mains. Voted to repair the foundation of a parking meter in the 100 block of Commerce Street and another on Mechanic Street, and to install meters in front of the former factory of George A. Sherwin on Commerce Street, now used as a warehouse by the same firm. It was added that "No Parking" signs could be erected at times when the trucks were backing up to the warehouse. It was agreed, however, before any action be taken, that the firm be contacted.

The woman, Mrs. Nellie B. Steward of Felton, was taken to the Kent General Hospital at Dover and pronounced dead on arrival at 9:10 p.m. Police said the woman died almost instantly.

The death raised Delaware's highway fatalities so far this year to 30 as compared to 37 for the corresponding period of last year.

State police conducting the investigation, said the woman had been to the DAR meeting and had left the lodge at the Canterbury Crossroad to use a telephone across the highway.

On the way back to the lodge, police said the woman apparently became confused when she saw the approaching car, which was traveling north. The driver, Charles P. Ferraro, 47, of Woodbridge, N. J., said the woman ran into the path of his car when he attempted to serve out of her path. The Torbert ambulance was summoned and took her to the hospital.

"THE FOLKS THAT I HAVE KNOWED"
We have a small number of pamphlets of poems of the above title, written by the late J. Harvey Burgess, late owner of The Harrington Journal and self-styled "splitter of infinitives, mixer of metaphors, demon of the double negative, sorcerer of solecisms, perpetrator of the world's poorest poetry."
We presume he was also a dangler of participles.
There have been several requests for this booklet, priced at 25c, but we were unable to comply with them. Fortunately, however, we uncovered a limited supply of this valuable booklet recently while looking the effects of the estate.
We also have a number of pamphlets, "Hosses, Hosses, Hosses" written by Mr. Burgess, and depicting Harrington's harness-racing life. The price is 25c.
When the above-named pamphlets have been sold there will be no reprints.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Sunday School at 10 begins our June 8th services; there is a class for everyone, from the Nursery to the Adult Department.

At 11 we have Morning Worship. Today is Methodist Student Day, and the pastor preaches on "Education Adequate for These Times." One of the emphases this day is on the Conference Scholarship Fund; last year, Trinity donated $25 to this fund, for the aid of deserving Methodist college students. The organ prelude is "Sketch," by Clifton; the anthem by the senior choir, "Just for Today," by Abbott; and the organ postlude, "Give Thanks Unto God," by Alford. The Junior Choir also sings.

The MYF is to be omitted this evening, because of the Children's Day program at 7:30, to which all are invited. Miss Virginia Black, superintendent, and the Primary Department of the Sunday School are presenting this program of recitations and songs.

The altar flowers for June 8 are presented by Mrs. Frank C. O'Neal Jr., in memory of her brother, Jim Callaway.

Mrs. John Walls leads the W.S.C.S. prayer meeting in the church Monday at 10 a.m.

Tuesday evening, the O.U.R. Class (Charles Lare, president) holds its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shockley.

Thursday the choirs rehearse: Junior at 3:45 and Senior at 8. Every Friday Mrs. Charles Cox and Mrs. Jack Redden lead the Intermediate MYF in their program of worship and games at the church from 6:30 to 7:30. All young persons ages 12-14 are invited to attend regularly.

Mrs. Brinton Holloway is giving a picnic for the Junior Choir at Wheeler's Park, Sat., June 7 at 11.

There will be no more Sunday evening services after June 8, and no more regular MYF meetings.

The interior of the church is being painted this week. The painting committee consists of William Edgar Layton, Mrs. F. C. O'Neal Jr., and Mrs. John Walls, elected by the Official Board at its last meeting.

The Junior Choir had a picnic at Wheeler's Park last Sunday, 3-6, given them by the Choir Mothers, Mrs. Gooden Callaway president. Many parents were also present.

Trinity has 28 registered for Camp Pe-Co-Meth this summer season.

The Loyal Workers held its regular monthly meeting at the church in the annex last Monday evening. The officers were installed by Mrs. Earl Sylvester. They are: president, Mrs. Orrie Hobbs; vice president, Mrs. Willard Wright; secretary, Mrs. Wilbur Jacobs; assistant secretary, Mrs. Mary Williamson; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Boyer; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Sadie Emory.

Letter to the Editor

I am writing this article with the hope that all mothers will read this to their children so that they will understand what kind of treatment that they should give their grandmother. A grandmother's love for her grandchildren is just as great as a mother's love. She will always be interested to their welfare, especially if they are children of a deceased parent. She will feel that she has a double responsibility to her grandchildren.

If the time arises that a grandmother feels that she has a good reason to try and have good examples set for you, don't get angry and tell her things that almost break her heart, when she isn't responsible. Place the blame where it belongs, in this case, on the MOTHER. Never tell a good, generous grandmother that you are glad that you don't have a drop of her blood in your body, that is most disrespectful to your father, who perhaps has passed away; and maybe the best blood in your body comes from that grandmother's side. Don't ever be so rude to a grandmother that you will tell her that you want nothing to do with her and tell her if she even sends you a graduation present you will send it back to her, then insult her further; as well as your own dear father, who was a real pal to you, by never even inviting her or sending her an invitation to your graduation exercise.

Parents impress upon your children when they are young that some day they will be grandparents and whatever they sow they will have to reap. This is not a man made law, but a law of God. No right living grandmother wants to see her grandchildren associated with the commonest scum of the earth, she will fight for your future. Regardless of how common a man is that your mother cares to go with, always remember, it is not the mother's doings that she is interested in, but her son's children. If a man can't be good to his own 9 children and leaves them and poses as a single man, and ruins the life of another girl when he isn't divorced even, don't do such a dastardly thing as to tell a good grandmother that you like a man of this character. Discourage him even entering your home - this is what a good grandmother knew to do for her two grandsons. I sincerely hope this will be read as a real true statement, and help other grandmothers to be respected.

Delaware Food Market Report

The strawberry season is here. Local berries are on the market now and when added to the shipments from California, New Jersey, Virginia and a number of other southern states the supply is plentiful. Prices are reasonable and for the most part the quality of the berries is good. If you plan to freeze strawberries, now is the time to do it. It is a very simple job and how wonderful it is to have strawberry shortcakes in December. Remember though, that strawberry preserves are good too, and can make an ordinary breakfast a real eye opener. So enjoy the fresh berries now, but buy extra ones for freezing or preserving. In that way you can enjoy this fruit all year.

If you are hunting for some good buys on frozen foods for your freezer, then look for special sales on fruits and vegetables that are in season now - such as frozen strawberries, green beans and peas. Corn will be on special too.

Numerous vegetables are plentiful at reasonable prices. Asparagus and sweet corn continue to be excellent buys. There are lower prices on beets, iceberg lettuce, radishes and tomatoes. Other vegetables to check when you are marketing are: yellow and acorn squash, mushrooms, broccoli, green cabbage, cucumbers and yellow onions.

Broilers remain an outstanding choice among meats, with supplies larger than last year. Prices are slightly higher than a year ago, however, they have not increased as much as on most other meats. So since this is the season for barbecues why not make it a chicken barbecue - grilled in the back yard or at your favorite picnic spot. Other meats to be weekend specials will be some steaks as low as 79 to 85 cents a pound, ground beef and ham. Turkeys continue to be fairly reasonable.

To help the meat budget are specials at the fish counter. The supplies of whiting and flounder are good. Among the shell fish, clams and lobster are plentiful and prices should be more reasonable.

Barbecue School Is New Event At Chicken Festival

More than 50 students of mass barbecuing will attend a barbecue school scheduled for the first time this year at the Delmarva Chicken Festival in Denton, June 26-28, it was announced by Festival Chairman, John Asher, Jr. The school will be sponsored by the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council and the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Agreement is already reached with this year's Barbecue Chairman, Norman Irwin, that the more than 50 students under the expert supervision of qualified instructors will turn out over 2000 barbecues for hungry Festival goers.

Poultrymen from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey are expected to participate in the school which specializes in teaching poultry barbecue techniques involved in feeding groups ranging in size from 10 to 10,000. The course has been designed to meet the tremendous demand for poultry barbecues at church and organizational functions.

Those trained in the course will be qualified to put on professional cook-outs and their final examination will consist of preparing a complete barbecue for visitors attending the 11th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival. The course covers the complete range of barbecuing - from organizing and promoting, right through to the construction of pits and equipment. Secret recipes for sauces and in the cooking procedures are part of the program. The barbecuing of ducks, turkeys and Cornish game hens is covered, as broiler.

Joining with NEPPCO in conducting the school is the New York division of the Poultry and Egg National Board, national organization for increasing poultry and egg consumption, and the University of Maryland Extension Service.

The Denton, Md., program will be held at the Caroline High School grounds, the same site as the Delmarva Chicken Festival. In past years, students have traveled hundreds of miles to be present at these unique schools.

Four Delaware 4-Hers To Attend National 4-H Conference

Four Delaware 4-Hers have been named to attend the 28th National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D.C., June 14-20, according to Wayne Bath, acting state 4-H Club leader.

The four are: Janet Pierson, 19, of the White Oak 4-H Club near Hockessin; Bill Davis, 20, of the Millwood Club; Laurence Jestice, 20, of the Sycamore 4-H Club near Laurel; and Joyce Elliott, 18, of the Wesley-Cannon Club.

Bath says the delegates were named on the basis of outstanding project achievement, demonstrated leadership ability, community service and citizenship activity.

Miss Pierson has been in 4-H work eight years and attended National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as state dress revue winner in 1956. Janet is a home economics student at the University of Delaware and was President of the New Castle county 4-H junior council. She has entered many exhibits in the Kent & Sussex Fair, and has been president and secretary of her local club.

Her project interests are in clothing, foods, freezing and dairy products, and she is now a junior leader.

Bill Davis, a 10-year veteran of the 4-H Club work, has worked with dairying every year and has been on the state 4-H dairy judging team three years. He is a junior leader and has served as president and vice president of his local club.

Bill has exhibited at the Kent & Sussex fair and has won several trips to 4-H camp with his dairy and vegetable judging.

Laurence Jestice has had field crops, tractor, poultry as major projects and has also done some cooking and frozen foods. He has had several first at the Kent & Sussex Fair and was the Delaware delegate at the Junior Poultry Fact Finding Conference in Kansas City in 1957.

Laurence hopes to become a 4-H leader in the future. He was on the state 4-H poultry judging team at Richmond, Va., in 1955 and was at Richmond again in 1956 in the regional tractor driving contest. He has only been in 4-H work three years.

Joyce Elliott has been a 4-H'er eight years. She has attended the National Club Congress in 1956 as state foods preparation winner and has won several other state awards for foods, judging and demonstrations.

She has had projects in cooking and canning and gardening. She was recreational winner in 1957 and was awarded a pen and pencil set. She is a junior leader and was made a member of the state Link's last year. She won a trip to the NEPPCO exposition in 1957 for her poultry foods demonstration. Joyce has been very active in school and community activities and was a candidate for the Miss Delmarva title last year.

Tours will be made to the Capitol, the White House, the Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md., the Department of Defense at the Pentagon, Mount Vernon, the Supreme Court and points of educational interest.

English IFYE Anne Weightman who is visiting the Howard Workman family near Laurel will also be attending the conference along with six other IFYEs.

Some of the objectives of the conference are: learning about the federal government and national problems, gain a better understanding of world problems, and meet and share ideas to make plans for the future. The theme of the conference is "Focus on the

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My only active military duty was seven months in Federal service with a National Guard outfit during 1916, when we were sent to the Mexican Border in the days of Pancho Villa. Does this qualify me for a VA pension?

A—No. VA pension may be paid only to eligible veterans of a war or the period of the Korean conflict. Your Mexican Border service does not qualify as "service during war," under the law.

Q—What are the rules for getting admitted to a VA hospital? Is there a priority system?

A—There is a priority system, and first priority goes to veterans who have a service-connected disability. After that come veterans with non-service-connected conditions, if there is a bed available, and they certify they cannot afford private treatment.

Q—A friend of mine applied to VA disability compensation in 1956, but didn't show up for a physical examination when he was asked. Can he reopen his claim now?

A—He cannot reopen the original claim, since claims are considered "abandoned" when no action is taken by the veteran to comply with a request from the VA within a one-year period. He can, however, file a new application. If his second application is approved, payments will begin from the date of the new application, not the old one.

Q—The new house I am thinking of buying with a GI loan is in a development with similar houses, all built under VA standards. Do I need to have a VA-approved appraiser go over the house to be sure I'm getting reasonable value?

A—No. If the house has been built to VA standards, there should be no need for a special appraisal. The builder will have what is called a Master Certificate of Reasonable Value from VA, to cover all the houses.

'59 Wheat Support Level Depends on Quota Vote

The level of price support for the 1959 wheat crop will be determined by the outcome of the June 20 referendum on marketing quotas for next year's crop, Joseph W. Ennis, chairman, Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, declared today.

"Aside from a choice between a marketing quota program and no marketing quotas, the big issue to be decided by the June 20 vote will be the level of price support available for the 1959 wheat crop," the chairman stated. "Acreage allotments will remain in force no matter how the vote goes, as a means of determining eligibility for support."

As announced May 1, price support for the 1959 wheat crop will be available in the commercial wheat area at a national average of at least $1.81 per bushel, or 75 percent of parity, if marketing quotas for the 1959 crop of wheat are approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum. This minimum will not be reduced, but may be increased if a combination of the wheat parity price and wheat supply relationships as of July 1, 1959, indicate a higher support price.

If quotas for the 1959 wheat crop are not approved by at least two-thirds of the voters, however, the support level in the commercial wheat producing area will drop to about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 percent of parity, as directed by law. Compliance with allotments would continue to be a condition of eligibility for the lower price support.

Those farmers who vote in the referendum will be the ones who decide whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1959 wheat crop, chairman Ennis points out. All farmers are eligible to vote if they will share in the 1959 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat harvested for grain in 1959 will exceed 15 acres and provided they did not take part in the 1958 feed wheat program.

Another feature of the tour will be visits to two pre-packaging companies where fruits and vegetables are custom packaged into consumer units. The group will meet the produce buyer for a chain store and discuss the problems and opportunities of selling Delmarva grown products through chain stores in this area.

"We plan to mix some pleasure into the trip too," Mr. Henderson said. Plans are being made for the Wednesday night Phillies-Dodgers baseball game.

Vegetable producers who wish to make the trip should contact their county agent immediately. The trip is June 18-19 and the deadline for signing up for the trip is June 10.

Wednesday night, June 18, the group will visit the Dock Street market to observe the operations of commission merchants and brokers. Here growers will see some of their own products in the market place and can make comparisons between them and the produce of competing areas. Several Dock Street merchants will explain the selling methods.

Early Thursday morning the group will visit the Pennsylvania Produce Terminal where vegetables and fruits arriving by railroad are sold. They will also see fruit sold from sample displays at auction.

The Kent County Soil Conservation District has entered the national Soil Conservation Awards program sponsored by The Goodyear Company, it was announced today by District Chairman, C. Arthur Taylor, of Harrington.

Members of the Kent County District will compete against other soil conservation districts in the state. Non-partisan judging committees, selected from Delaware and New Jersey's outstanding exponents of the soil conservation movement, will determine the state's outstanding district for the period May 1, 1958 to April 30, 1959, on a basis of total points scored in total performance or regular district duties.

Grand award for one member of the winning district governing body in each of the 50 competing units, and the top co-operating farmer named by that district, will be an expense-free, vacation trip to the Wigwam Guest Ranch on Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Arizona in November or December, 1959.

Members of the Soil Conservation District of Kent County governing body who will compete for the Goodyear award are: C. Arthur Taylor, Harrington, Isaac Thomas, Marydel, Charles Blendt, Smyrna and David Robbins, Milford.

National winners of the Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards will be honored at the seven regular area meetings of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. Plaques will be awarded at State Conventions to the hundred first and second place winning districts.

Barwick said the tour would cover Leo Tammi's 8000 bird operation near Newark, Lee Hoffecker's four story poultry house near Red Lion and Holt Pratt's hatchery with his egg vending machine near Middletown.

A visit to the University of Delaware's poultry farm for a look at the research projects is scheduled and will be topped off by a barbecue (chicken of course) along with a visit to the Plymouth division of Chrysler corporation across the road from Agricultural Hall.

Marketing Tour For Vegetable Producers Planned

A trip to Philadelphia to study marketing methods is being sponsored by the Peninsula Horticultural Society for area producers, William H. Henderson, Sussex county agricultural agent and chairman of the tour committee, announced today.

The tour is designed to give vegetable producers on the Delaware Peninsula a better understanding of the marketing processes for produce raised in this area. "We know we can produce good quality vegetables that are wanted by consumers, but we must learn more about marketing our vegetables if farmers are to get the best returns possible for their products," Henderson said.

Another feature of the tour will be visits to two pre-packaging companies where fruits and vegetables are custom packaged into consumer units. The group will meet the produce buyer for a chain store and discuss the problems and opportunities of selling Delmarva grown products through chain stores in this area.

The right of the Superior Court to now hear and dispose of the cases that were nolle prossed in the Court of Common Pleas and later indicted by the grand jury, is questioned by Herman C. Brown, counsel for some of the defendants in a brief he has filed in support of a motion to dismiss the cases.

Mr. Brown filed a joint brief in argument in behalf of four cases, Fount Billings, Jr., Ernest B. Riddle, and John T. Dennington, all indicted for drunken driving, and Smith Seeny, indicted for assault and battery.

The history of the cases shows that they were first listed for action in the Court of Common Pleas, some of them going to that court upon waiver of trial before a magistrate, and that all of the cases were nolle prossed in the Court of Common Pleas and later indictments were returned by the grand jury on the same offenses.

Mr. Brown, in his brief, states that there are two questions involved, one as to whether the Superior Court now has jurisdiction to hear the case, and the other whether the defendants were denied their constitutional rights for a speedy trial.

Another feature of the tour will be visits to two pre-packaging companies where fruits and vegetables are custom packaged into consumer units. The group will meet the produce buyer for a chain store and discuss the problems and opportunities of selling Delmarva grown products through chain stores in this area.

"AFGHANISTANISM" IN POLITICS

Aspirants for political offices are girding themselves with platitudes, histrionics, and an occasional reluctance to discuss issues fairly and squarely as they prepare to combat for posts in the fall elections.

Generally, they show unwillingness to stand up and be counted, though there usually comes a time in the affairs of men when such a course should and must be pursued.

Political candidates, all too often, argue too carefully about issues afar from their home bailiwick. On local issues, when forced to, they tread as carefully as a barefoot boy walking across a cow pasture or a callow youth sent to gather eggs.

We were that way when we first went to work in the East St. Louis stockyards but soon found it was better to plough on through.

In newspaper parlance, we have a term, "afghanistanism," usually mentioned in discussing editorial writers who avoid controversial local issues in their scribbles and rave on events and problems far afield from their home territory.

Many of these writers and political candidates, in the home arena, will condemn only communism and sin.

In this approaching election, particularly in Delaware, we would like the candidates to take a stand on local issues.

Particularly, we would like to know where they stand on the problem of public welfare. The financial report of the Department of Public Welfare for Delaware reveals that, as of April, $4,303,013.82 had been spent in 10 months in our three counties, with $1,146,674.24 remaining to be spent in two months.

Furthermore, the welfare department has requested more funds for the next fiscal year beginning in July. It is time to call a halt.

These funds come from federal, state, and county coffers. Consequently, it is up to our candidates for United States senator, United States representative, and Legislature to speak out and say what they will try to do to elargeness to the unworthy.

This will take some changing in federal and state legislation.

We look askance, in particular, on those features of the public welfare program relating to aid to dependent children and to spongers, especially from out of state, who come here to work a few months of the year and live the remainder of the period on the state.

There is no place for "afghanistanism" in politics.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. took part in the largest ordination ceremony in diocesan history at the Cathedral Church of St. John, Wilmington, Saturday, May 31. Mr. Symonds read the epistle for the ordering of priests from Ephesians 4:7: "And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers for the perfecting of the Saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ."

The six ordinands were the Reverends A. Hugh Dickinson, Pinckney M. Corsa, Charles Penningman, Jr., John W. Shockleton, Quay D. Rice, and E. John Dyer. The Rev. Bennett J. Sims, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Baltimore, spoke to the candidates and used the symbol of the campfire to challenge them in their forthcoming careers: "And of, my brethren, this can be promised. If you keep your campfires aglow, God will send you many close companions—men and women in your parishes—to multiply the hands on the helm you hold."

Trinity Sunday was the anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. to the priesthood. The ceremony took place at Christ Church, Dover, Saturday, June 1, 1957. In the 11 o'clock communion service there was included a prayer asking God to bless the ministry of the vicar of St. Stephen's.

St. Stephen's Church School will have its closing exercises June 15 at the 11 o'clock service, when all pupils are asked to be present to receive certificates of promotion.

There has been one major change in the arrangements for the ice cream festival sponsored by the church. Instead of the Parish House lawn the place will be Quillen's Shopping Center, where more room will be available, also better facilities for serving customers. The time will be Fri., June 6, 4:30 p.m. Home made ice cream and cake will be sold. An advertisement appears elsewhere in this same issue of the Journal.

Flowers on the altar Sunday were given to the Glory of God and in loving memory of Mrs. Alice M. Anderson and Asa L. Chamberlain by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Chamberlain.

Land Bought For Pipeline

A pipeline firm has picked up options it took last December on some 2,000 acres of lands northeast of Milford.

The purchase includes about a mile of bay front, and involves land owned by seven farmers. The price was reportedly in the neighborhood of $400,000.

The purchaser is the Sinclair Pipe Line Company. Reliable source report that the firm wants to build a $40,000,000 oil pipe line from the waterfront tract through Delaware to Philadelphia.

The line has been suggested as an alternate to dredging the Delaware River channel deeper to accommodate the new tankers too big to navigate the present channel.

The farmers said they had been assured there would be no refineries in this area but that there probably would be storage facilities for crude oil, with one storage facility for every 40 acres.

The exact route of the proposed pipeline has not been announced but it is expected to parallel the west shore of the bay and river.

a.m., Morning prayer; 7 p.m. Evening prayer; Monday, 7 p.m. junior choir rehearsal; Tuesday, 10 a.m., Holy Communion and Holy Union; Wednesday, 8 p.m. Healing service at Seaford.

Carlo Gallo
 Carlo Gallo, 70, husband of Theresa Gallo, died Monday in Milford Memorial Hospital after several months illness.

Services will be held at St. Bernadette's Catholic Church, Harrington, at 10 a.m. Friday, the Rev. John A. Corrigan, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, Milford, will officiate. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery, near Harrington. Friends may call at the J. Milard Cooper Funeral Home Harrington Thursday when rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m.

Surviving besides his wife are seven children, Ernest, Emil, Jesse, Anthony, Carmine, and Mrs. Mildred Vockel, all of Harrington, and Mrs. Ida Lounge of Marydel, and 13 grandchildren.

Micro Midget News

The big race week came to Harrington, it's over for now, but memories linger on. I know as there where many new faces as Sunday brought out our largest crowd of the year, although Friday being Memorial Day was the largest race day.

I believe the people that came out to the Blue Hen Speedway instead of going to Indianapolis Memorial Day, enjoyed themselves almost as much, seeing their own local boys drive. As advertised we had thrills, chills, and spills. The spills came when two boys from Vineland, N. J., came as guests with their cars and put on a special match race for the spectators.

Alexander went up the bank and turned over, but came out of the dust unhurt.

As Memorial Day was trophy day for the club boys, the boys from Jersey did not compete in the qualifying heats or feature race. Good thing for the boys too. If you were there you know what I mean.

Howard Brown driving his own car No. 9 took the first trophy, Jimmy Mills came in for second place driving car No. 30, and Joe Lane came in third in his car No. 49. I knew we should have had a fourth prize, then Joe Gray would have gotten it. It was a good race though, and we can't all win.

Sunday we had almost the same results on the feature race. Howard Brown in car No. 9 came in first again. "Its all luck he keeps saying," Paul Legates was second in his car No. 191 Pig special. Stanley Clark took third in the air-cooled special car No. 97, and old faithful Joe Gray came fourth again in car No. 1.

He keeps hoping his luck will make a change for the better. We should have another car back on the track this Sunday.

Gene Jarrell has purchased Joe Loilands car from Milford, so there will be one more car to watch.

Everyone is invited over every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Blue Hen Speedway. Admission is free. Come see racing at its best with local boys driving cars they built as a hobby. See you at the races!

$25,000 Added Kent Stakes at Delaware Park

He's not a Tim Tam—not yet, anyway. But the colt who might come up favorite in Delaware Park's $25,000 added Kent Stakes Saturday is being referred to as possibly the most improved racehorse of the year.

The chestnut flyer's name is Backbone, and he has shown plenty of it. Last year, as a juvenile, he got one victory, four seconds and one third in eight starts and certainly caused no furore. This season, he's lost no time accounting for five triumphs, three of them in stakes events, getting better all the time.

It appears certain that Backbone will have plenty of backing in the mile and a sixteenth Kent, first of Delaware Park's major fixtures for 3-year-olds.

His owner and breeder is New Jerseyite C. J. Devine, a noted dealer in bonds, who races in the name of Boncris Farm. After Backbone scored his first stakes win in the Chesapeake April 19, many thought the colt would try for the rich Preakness—second of the triple crown classics. But owner Devine decided to pursue a "discretion is the better part of valor" policy with his colt—and it proved a wise move. Letting Tim Tab and Lincoln Road fight it out in the Preakness, Backbone was sent to New England. There, he promptly captured two $25,000 added stakes—the Hartford at Lincoln Downs and the first running of the Suffolk Downs Stakes. In the latter, he revealed exceptional courage.

Carrying topweight of 121 pounds, Backbone drove to victory in that special after being badly interfered with in the stretch by the riderless favorite, Brookfield Farms' I've Got Rhythm, who had tossed his rider at the start. So—how good is Backbone?

Could be that I've Got Rhythm will get another crack at Backbone in the Kent, since both he and Isendu are Brookfield Stables eligibles.

Templeton Stable's Clandestine, fourth in the Suffolk Downs Stakes, may also be in the Kent line-up. Other well known nominees include Plion, Nala, Rose Trelis (1957 Hopeful Stakes victor), Noble Gem, Colonel R.S., Wirey Marks and Palisade 2nd, to name just a few.

Monday, the $10,000 added Tom Roby Steeplechase will usher in the jumping phase of Delaware Park racing, which also includes competition over hurdles.

Thanks Extended To Highway Dept. On Snow Removal

An expression of appreciation is extended by the State Highway Department to all who assisted in any manner in the work of snow removal during the past winter, in a notice issued by R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the Department.

Copies of this notice have been forwarded by the department to the various county divisions, the contractors and the National Guard, who joined forces with Highway Department men in combating the storms.

Mr. Haber lists, in this notice, the costs of snow removal and patching frost damaged roads, as the greatest in the history of the department.

The Chief Engineer also extends thanks to the public, who recognized the task and showed patience and understanding. The text of Mr. Haber's notice follows.

"Although the temperature and the weather now tend to make up for the past winter, the final tally is just beginning to take shape. The costs of snow removal and of patching frost damaged roads are the greatest in the history of the department and are a direct result of the worst winter in the 50 year records of the Weather Bureau."

"The people of the State of Delaware are indebted to all of you who worked long, cold, hard hours to open our roadways, to meet emergencies, and to render service. The job was well done and you can take a very real and personal pride in its accomplishment."

"Our contractors in providing men and equipment assumed their share of the problem and without their help the job would have been much longer in getting done."

"We extend our thanks to the men of the Department, the contractors and their men, the National Guard, the Utilities Organization, the private companies who helped, and last, but not least, to the Public, the vast majority of which recognized the task and showed patience and understanding."

Senate Continues to Debate Extension of Mutual Security Program

By U.S. Sen. J. A. Frear

The Senate this week is continuing to debate the proposed extension of the Mutual Security Program.

We have already discussed this matter to some extent in previous statements but because the issue is now current, it seems in order to make a more specific appraisal of some part of it. Mutual Security is virtually an established part of this country's foreign policy. It grew out of the necessity on the part of freedom loving nations in Europe to resist aggressive tendencies of the Soviet Union which became increasingly evident soon after the end of World War II.

Its first real application came in the historic Marshall Plan which literally held Western Europe together until the war-ravaged economies of those countries could be restored. The Program took on an even more specific meaning when President Truman—through the creation of the Truman Doctrine—made economic and military assistance available to the people of Greece and Turkey in order to resist the threat of international communism. As we all know this bold and decisive step was eminently successful.

Later on, as the Soviet threat of aggression continued, the United States and its free allies joined in establishing the North then, when open communist aggression came in Korea the United States exercised its leadership to halt this most grave challenge to the entire Pacific area. Thus, in these post-war years we have been instrumental in preserving not only the existence of many free governments but in making it possible for them to develop and expand their economic resources.

It would seem—in the natural course of events—that having given so much and so generously of our hard-earned tax dollars abroad, the people of the United States should be able to either end the Mutual Security Program or sharply curtail it. But events of the moment would appear to some to prevent such a decision.

I am fully aware that many of our citizens are indignant over the recent incidents in South America and feel that some of the countries which we have tried to help are ungrateful. Certainly we cannot purchase friendship, no matter what the cost.

But the issues here are larger than the attitudes of some individuals or political organizations in the various nations where anti-American violence has erupted. Actually, in helping our friends abroad we are trying to build a stronger system of international defense by keeping these nations free of communist domination and as a part of our over-all collective security system.

In past years I have supported Foreign Aid although from time to time it has been my feeling that the extent of such aid could be reduced. At the present time some members of the Senate believe that the current request for approximately 4-billion dollars can be lessened without jeopardizing the welfare of the Foreign Aid Program abroad. Many of us would perhaps be more willing to support the entire appropriation as requested by the President were it not for the present economic recession in the United States.

As the leading nation of the free world we can and must exercise our responsibilities in maintaining freedom and human liberty. Though the cost is high in material goods, yet by any standards it is far less costly than another war. This is not to suggest that the cancellation of our Foreign Aid Program would automatically bring on another conflict but no doubt it would give the communist bloc tremendous encouragement.

Against the background of the present upheaval in France and the Middle East, America's role in world affairs becomes increasingly dominant. Foreign Aid is hopefully one of our insurance factors. It is, therefore, logical to expect that the program will be carried on at least to a reasonable extent.
