

E. Y. Williams, Veteran Officeholders, Retires After 41 Years

E. Y. Williams, of Dover, terminated a career of 41 years of public service Thurs., Dec. 18, when a party was tendered for him by county officials and members of their staffs at the Board of Assessment offices in the court house.

Williams began his career of public service, in both appointed and elected offices in Kent County back in 1917 when he was elected as a member of the former ten member Levy Court for the Third District. At that time he resided in Kenton.

Upon the completion of that term of service, in 1923, Mr. Williams moved to Dover and became Deputy Recorder of Deeds, an office he filled for a number of years until he was elected Recorder of Deeds.

Upon the completion of his term as Recorder of Deeds he became Deputy Recorder for a time and then moved into the Sheriff's office to serve as Deputy Sheriff. Next he was appointed as a member of the Board of Assessment and when that term expired in 1957, he continued to serve in the office of the Board of Assessment in charge of valuations.

Williams served as Democratic District Committeeman for the First Election District, in Dover for about 33 years and upon his retirement from that post a few years ago, he was made an honorary member of the Democratic County Committee.

Because of his long public service in the court house, and the variety of the services he rendered, Williams became well acquainted with county affairs and was frequently called upon for information.

Williams left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., for an extended visit with his daughter. He told his friends not to look for him to return until after next March.

Mrs. Willard Warren

Mrs. Mabel Vincent Warren, 58, wife of the late Willard Warren, died Thurs., Dec. 18, in the Crozer Hospital, Chester, Pa., where she had been a patient six weeks. She was a native of Farmington, but had lived in Marcus Hook, Pa., 40 years.

Mrs. Warren was the daughter of George B. and Georgeanna Jones Vincent.

Services were held at the Boyer Funeral Home Sunday afternoon in charge of the Rev. William Smith, pastor of Bethel Methodist Church, Andrewville. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

She is survived by a son, Vincent Warren, Marcus Hook, Pa., a daughter, Mrs. James Baker, Claymont; six grandchildren and six brothers, Hugh Vincent, George B. Vincent, Jr., and Albert Vincent, all of Farmington; Homer, Louder and Phillip Vincent, all of here and three sisters, Mrs. Earl, Griffith, Harrington; Mrs. Gladys Jewell, Wilmington; and Mrs. Fritz Bruner, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Switzerland is importing Italian labor.

Know the Score Before You Make a Move

Putting lime or fertilizer on your land without having a soil test to show you how much of what should go where is about the same as hunting quail blindfolded and shooting by ear, says county agent, George Vapaa.

On your hay fields, for example, Mr. Vapaa says you can get four to five tons of hay, or hay equivalent of grass silage, by applying the right amounts and proportions of fertilizer.

Be sure to indicate the proportion of legumes and grasses in the mixture on the form. This is important because the fertilizer recommendation is based on the amount of legumes or grasses in the hay or pasture mixture. In general, the higher the proportion of grasses the higher the nitrogen requirement.

Five years of research in Delaware have shown a return of two pounds of crude protein for each pound of nitrogen applied to grasses. Other tests in Pennsylvania last summer showed that 100 pounds of actual nitrogen applied in March gave yield increases of 3,400 to 3,500 pounds of dry hay per acre.

The agent says you can get some detailed advice on soil sampling along with the how's and where's and why's of soil sampling by writing or calling him and asking for a new bulletin he has called, "Don't Guess, Have You Soil Tested."

The bulletin is the result of a joint effort of the Agricultural Extension Services of Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Cyd Charisse as "The Party Girl" at Reese Dec. 28-29-30

It's holiday time. It's time for the big time of the year. Forget your troubles, and follow the Santa Claus trail to Movie Center and enter "never never" land where happiness and enjoyment takes you by the hand.

According to the management of the Reese Theatre, the biggest holiday hits will be waiting Delaware and Maryland theatre fans. Imagine "Houseboat" with Cary Grant and Sophia Loren teamed with Rory Calhoun on a single bill, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 25-26-27, and at regular prices.

Imagine Robert Taylor and Cyd Charisse in "The Party Girl" scheduled for Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Dec. 28-29-30.

And to add to this galaxy of entertainment, Tom Ewell and Mickey Rooney in "A Nice Little Bank That Should Be Robbed," said to be the rib-tickler of the year. Arlene Dahl in "She Played With Fire," the co-feature listed for Dec. 31 and Jan. 1—two shows each evening at 7:15 and 9 p.m. No New Year's Eve Midnight show this year.

Soybean Oil Content May Become Important Marketing Factor

Soybeans have recently become quite important in the Maryland agricultural picture—just as in many other areas of the country.

With ever increasing production of soybeans, buyers, such as processors and exporters, can afford to be more particular about the product they pay for. More and more specification buying is being done and transactions are not as simple as many people believe, says John L. Crothers Jr., marketing specialist, Department of Markets, College Park.

A buyer doesn't just agree on a price with the seller and say, "O.K. deliver me 50,000 bushels of soybeans." More than likely this large buyer will contact several grain brokers or dealers and get comparative prices on such specifications as "No. 2 yellow soybeans with no more than one percent foreign material and an oil content of a specified percent."

This oil content specification isn't particularly new, Crothers points out, but more and more stress is being placed upon the yield of oil from soybeans. Oil is the most valuable and usually the main by-product being sought.

From all indications, Crothers said, soybean oil content will eventually be included as one of the grade factors in buying or selling beans. How soon this may happen is anybody's guess, but Maryland soybean producers should be ready to jump the gun in this situation, in order to get their share of the market, he added.

It might be well for soybean producers to give serious thought to the importance of oil content in the soybean variety they raise, as well as yield and harvesting qualities, he concluded.

In a raid on the "tough" district of Warsaw, Poland, police arrested over 300 black market traders, speculators and racketeers.

Management Can Beat Mastitis

The best answer to the mastitis problem is simply good management, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

He says dairymen should check the following questions to see if he is providing the best antimastitis program he can.

Do the cows have comfortable stalls, wide enough to allow them to stretch their legs when lying down and long enough to prevent hangover?

Do the cows have a layer of bedding on the cold concrete to protect the udder against chilling and injury?

Do your cows have a farmer who plugs up the opening where the gutter cleaner leaves the barn, shuts all hay holes and silo chutes, replaces all broken windows and doors for fresh air causing drafts which may chill delicate, sensitive udders?

Do the cows have a clean barnyard without mud and trash, old walls or ledges, steps and the like that could bruise udders and cause injury?

Are the cows dehorned?

Are the cows bred for improved type, ruggedness, and udders?

All these things are important,

Mr. Vapaa says, but there is more, you are not through yet.

Do you practice managed milking with warm water, using a strip cup, attaching the machine as soon as the milk has let down and removing it promptly after the milk flow stops?

Do your guard against quick changes in feeding that may produce digestive disturbances?

Do you care for your cows gently and with regularity to prevent stresses that might lead to mastitis?

If you have been answering yes to these questions, you have a pretty good insurance policy against mastitis the agent says.

Poultrymen Seek New Frontiers

Opening new frontiers can solve the problems facing the broiler industry, according to George E. Coleman Jr., Nichol's Poultry Farm, Exeter, N. H., told the regional poultry meeting at Laurel, Wednesday morning.

"...we are being squeezed out of profit in all phases of our industry and there is good reason to believe that integration in itself cannot hold the line," Coleman told nearly 100 poultry growers and businessmen.

"We need a reasonable margin that will allow all segments of the poultry industry to operate with a reasonable return, comparable with investment in any other field, and an opportunity to lay up reasonable reserves to provide for the ever present need for change and a second future, without going to the government for hand-outs," he said.

The first place to look to solve the problem is the same old place—per capita consumption, Coleman said.

Coleman said per capita consumption can be increased if the industry will do a better job on quality, flavor, grading and promotion of their product.

He said the consumer can and will eat more chicken of top quality and they will pay more money for dependable quality broilers.

Another "frontier" which could be opened by the industry is the export market, Coleman said.

Another speaker at the all-day session was Richard C. Larkin, poultry division of the agricultural marketing service of the Department of Agriculture.

Speaking on the topic, "Can You Make a Dime in '59?," Larkin said it all "depends on what course of action the industry takes in the weeks ahead."

"Current prospective broiler production, in relation to the expected demand, indicates a January-March national average price of about 16 cents as compared to an average of 20.5 cents during the same period a year ago," he said.

"This may come as a shock to the industry," Larkin continued, "and thereby help reduce production in the months following."

Lower production costs, increased demand and a halt to increased production are three things that might increase producer returns, he said.

Population increase and a higher standard of living along with promotion could increase consumer demand he pointed out to the producers.

"Production must vary seasonally to match the seasonal variations in consumer demand," he said. The industry must produce to suit the market not just sell what is produced."

"The market is continually changing and it is possible that market prices will become more erratic in the year ahead," Larkin added.

Participating on a panel discussion were Dr. L. M. Greene and Dr. M. S. Cover, poultry pathologists with the University of Delaware School of Agriculture; Dr. Thomas Coulton, Cooperative Mills Research and Evaluation Farm, Greenwood, and Dr. I. M. Moulthrop, Livestock Sanitation Service, Salisbury, Md., who also served as panel moderator.

Other speakers were Joseph A. Friedman, broker, New York Mercantile Exchange—"A Futures Exchange for the Selbyville Auction"; Dr. G. F. Combs, University of Maryland—"Recent Developments in Broiler Nutrition"; Harold M. Williams, president, Institute of American Poultry Industries, Chicago, Ill.—"Managerial Planning"; and Dr. Alfred Van Wagenen, Managing Director, Northeastern Poultry Producers Council, Inc., Trenton, N. ### Gift of Love Is Greatest Gift to Children

Christmas time is a happy time for children.

All kinds of toys will be given to them this Christmas. A number of the toys will cost many dollars. Some children will receive more than others. Many children will be given more toys than they can really enjoy, at one time.

When we think of the real meaning of Christmas—the gift of God's Son—it might help us to realize that the greatest gift we can give to our children is the gift of love. This gift will cost no money.

Love is shown in many ways. Some ways to show love for a child are:

1. Give him good consistent discipline. He needs your guidance in learning to live a happy life.
2. Take time to listen to a child's interests. Help him feel he is worth listening to. Sometimes his talk may not be of his interests, but about something that is troubling him.
3. Take time to be at home with him—both daddy and mother together. In our busy world we go here and there—perhaps mother works or dad holds down two jobs and the child sees us rarely together or only when we are in a hurry to get some place. Make this Christmas time a happier time for your child by giving him more than just material gifts.

Fish & Game News

Rabbit Propagation Project

Personnel of the Game and Fish Commission, after careful study of several experimental rabbit propagation projects throughout the country, initiated an experimental cottontail rabbit propagation project early in 1957. Realizing the many limitations of such a program as a supplement to natural production, the commission hoped to demonstrate methods of furnishing a healthy rabbit for field trial and dog training purposes.

Rearing pens have been in operation for two years on the Denny Farm near Leipsic, the Woodland Beach Wildlife Area and the Hastings land near Laurel. The production from native cottontail rearing young in captivity was sufficient to supply stick to beagle clubs for fall trials and for experimental releases prior to and after the hunting season.

Pen-reared rabbits are not difficult to raise in limited numbers provided tested procedures are strictly followed and sufficient money is available. Adequate space, good food and cover, early separation of young from breeding stock, and predator-proof pens are the secrets.

Dog Licenses for 1959 Go On Sale
Dog owners are urged to license their pets early for 1959. For the convenience of persons in Delaware, outside the city limits of Wilmington, most hardware and sporting goods stores and some Justices of Peace are selling the $1 dog licenses.

Owners of dogs north of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal must present a current rabies inoculation certificate when purchasing the new license. In former years there has been some confusion regarding the length of time for which the dog was immunized. Check the rabies certificate at clinics in the New Castle area were given a three-year serum.

The 1958 Deer Season The Sixth For Delaware

Following is a summary of the deer reported to the checking stations during the shotgun season, Nov. 14, 15, and 17, 1958. The tabulations below show the number of deer killed in each day and the sex of the reported kill:

New aCstle County—Nov. 14, 63 male, 27 female; Nov. 15, 36 male, 29 female; Nov. 17, no deer killed.

Kent County—Nov. 14, 53 male, 37 female; Nov. 15, 45 male, 38 female; Nov. 17, no deer killed.

Sussex County—Nov. 14, 31 male, 14 female; Nov. 15, 13 male, 13 female; Nov. 17, 18 male, 6 female.

The total was: Nov. 14, 147 male, 78 female; Nov. 15, 94 male, 80 female; Nov. 17, 18 male and 6 female.

The kill in Kent County continues to be the highest and Sussex County, even with a three day season, continues to be low. The low kill is probably a result of less hunting pressure.

The Family Christmas Tree

Before anybody gets the do-it-yourself for the term of immunity for your animal. All dogs inoc- yourself urge to cut a Christmas tree, he should remember it is illegal to cut trees on any state lands, or on any private lands without the owner's permission.

Anyone wanting a Christmas tree should either get it from a reputable dealer, or with the permission of the landowner.

Christmas trees have their origin in pagan ceremonies where the tree was worshipped as a symbol of fertility. Christians took the tree in medieval times to represent the new spiritual life, offered by Christ's birth, and

Merry, Merry Christmas

Christmas is so many wondrous things, so many splendid, shining things to lift the spirit and the hopes of men. It is a warmth and a presence. Now more than ever the human heart is humble and kind. Christmas is the joy heart-deep in the eyes of a sleep-warm child dazzled by the splendor of it all. Christmas is a slow and tender smile in a sleeping home as parents trim the tree and memories of all their Christmases together rush upon them. There is a force drawing families close. Holly wreaths are open eyes at windows. There's magic in the early morn, in the story of Bethlehem told the eve before. This is Christmas. This is Christmas when the universe, a cathedral without dimension, its black dome sequined with stars, houses a hushed humanity. And the wonder and the glory are again. Now a man is tree-tall upon his knees. He reaches confidently beyond his grasp. His spirit climbs beyond the customary landmark of perception. He feels more than he can express. All this is Christmas. May it be yours. Merry, Merry Christmas.

From your friends and neighbors, the men and women of

Plan For a Safe Christmas

Electrical hazards can be eliminated by knowing what to look for state Al Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer for the University of Maryland. Knowing this, injuries, death, houses gutted by fire during the holiday season seem all the more tragic and deplorable to the engineer. Here are his ten suggestions for a safer and happier Christmas.

- 1. Be sure you select a freshly cut tree. 2. Place the tree in a stand filled with water. Be sure to keep the water level above the cut. 3. Check your tree light sets before using for loose connections, for broken insulation or sockets. Make sure your Christmas set of lights and cord sets carry the Underwriter's Laboratories label. 4. Be sure the extension cord from the outlet to the tree has large enough wire to carry all of the lights without heating. 5. Do not use candles on the tree. 6. If you use cotton at base of tree, make sure it has been treated to make it nonflammable. 7. Always turn off the Christmas tree lights before leaving the house or when no one is going to be in the room for any length of time. 8. Be sure if you decorate out-of-doors to use sets designed for out-door use. Hang sockets downward so they will not catch water or collect snow or be sure gaskets are used between socket rim and bulb. 9. Check for frayed cords and defects on all electrical toys before using. If buying new toys, be sure they carry Underwriter's Laboratories seal of approval. 10. Keep a screen in front of fireplace. This keeps sparks from flying out on the rug, and little tots from coming too close.

Miller Named USTA Director

Howard A. Miller, president of Brandywine Raceway in Wilmington, has been appointed a director of the U. S. Trotting Association from District Eight. The states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware and the District of Columbia comprise this USTA district.

The appointment was announced today by Gage B. Ellis, T. B. Holloway, Dale Fetrow and Lawrence B. Sheppard, other USTA District Eight directors, who pointed out that the steady increase in USTA membership in the area now entitles this important harness racing region to another director under the proportional system of representation utilized by the organization.

Miller has been president of Brandywine Raceway since April, 1957, and served as vice president prior to that time. He also has had extensive experience in business, law and public affairs. An honors graduate from Harvard Law School, he practiced law for 11 years in Wilmington prior to World War II and was with the Judge Advocate General branch during his military service.

Miller's appointment raises to 42 the membership of the U. S. Trotting Association's National Board of Directors from 11 districts in this nation and the Maritime Provinces of Canada.

Brunch Plays Host to Luscious Leftovers From Your Christmas Turkey

Leftovers needn't mean dreary repetition of exactly the same meal. They can be made into dishes that are deliciously different from the food's first appearance. Since entertaining at Christmas time has a flexibility uncommon at any other time of year you may find yourself hostess to anything from a midnight supper to a New Year's breakfast. Between these extremes brunch finds favor as a bright informal way to entertain a few friends.

Let's have a go at it using some of the leftover Christmas turkey to make:

Christmas Salad

1 1/2 cups leftover roast turkey, in large chunks; 1/2 cup sliced celery, 1/2 cup diced green pepper, 1 cup cubed, pared, cucumber, 1 medium grapefruit, sectioned, 1/4 cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing, 1 tsp. curry powder, 1 tsp. grated onion, 1 tsp. snipped parsley, 1 tsp. snipped chives, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. milk.

Lettuce cups

1. In large bowl, combine turkey, celery, green pepper, cucumber, grapefruit. 2. Into mayonnaise, stir curry powder, onion, parsley, chives, salt, milk. 3. Serve in lettuce cups. Makes 4 servings of 1 cup each.

Cups of hot Consomme served first and then cranberry sauce, hot French bread and coffee served with the salad will give you top rating as a hostess.

Erie is working on unofficial strikes.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Dec. 28, last Sunday in the old year, is designated by the Methodist Church as "Student Recognition Sunday." Several college students will be given parts in the service. The pastor's sermon will be suited to this and to the coming new year: "Stop, Thief!" The senior choir's anthem will be "Move Love to Thee" by Nordman. The organ prelude is "Poeme" by Rasley, and the postlude, Nordman's "Postludium in F."

Mr. and Mrs. John Minner are giving the altar flowers for this Sunday and are also serving in the vestibule to welcome worshippers.

Evening service 7:30. Talk, "One Sure Bet."

Monday the W.S.C.S. prayer meeting will again be led by Mrs. John Walls at 10 a.m.

The Official Board's regular monthly meeting is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 29, at 8 p.m.

Last Sunday the chairman of the Commission on Education, Mrs. Tharp Harrington, presented gifts for good service to the superintendent of the Sunday School, Randall Knox Jr., to Charles Lare, its treasurer, and to Miss Doris Black, its secretary. Candy, apples, and oranges were handed out to all pupils and teachers who were present. The Junior Department, began using three new, sturdy metal tables which had arrived the week before.

During the morning worship service, we were very much pleased to receive Mrs. Pearl Nichols as a church member on confession of faith. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams, who recently transferred their membership to Trinity, were also given the hand of fellowship by the pastor.

Smyrna Youth Tops In 4-H Field Crops Program

Producing quality crops may be just luck for some farmers, but for George Brown, 17, of Smyrna, it requires proper soil management, good seeds, and control of insects, diseases, and weeds.

For his achievements in the 4-H Field Crops program, he won honors and a trip awarded by the Arcadian Products Department of Allied Chemical Corporation.

A conscientious field crop project built up a steady flow of Kent-Sussex County awards for this ambitious teenager. Brown has been a consistent winner since 1954. In six years, he worked 14 acres of spring oats, 10 of soybeans, and three, of tomatoes.

Now in his seventh year of 4-H work with the Clayton Clodhoppers 4-H Club, Brown also demonstrated a prize-winning electricity project. He has served as president and junior leader of his club.
