

J. GORDON SMITH HEADS KENT-SUSSEX FAIR; GRANDSTAND TO HAVE MEZZANINE FLOOR

J. Gordon Smith was elected president of the Kent & Sussex County Fair, Inc., Thursday night, Jan. 8, at a meeting of the board of directors in the Fire House.

At the same time, the go-ahead signal was given for the construction of a mezzanine floor in the grandstand.

Smith, formerly 1st vice-president, had been acting president of the fair since the death of Jacob O. Williams Sat., June 7, 1958. He becomes the fourth president of the fair since its organization in 1919. The first fair was held in 1920. The previous presidents were Charles D. Murphy, B. I. (Pete) Shaw, and Mr. Williams.

The new president has been prominent in the fair and in the Kent & Sussex Racing Association for many years. His interests are varied and many. He is chairman of the State Highway Commission and has been a member of that group for many years. He operates the Kent County Motor Company, Buick and Oldsmobile dealers, and been an owner of top-flight horses in harness racing.

Other officers elected Thursday night are as follows: 1st vice president, J. Edmund Harrington, Felton; 2nd vice president, A. B. Parsons, Harrington; 3rd vice president, R. Allen Cannon, Seaford, and 4th vice president, George C. Simpson, Houston.

Re-elected were treasurer, C. Tharp Harrington, assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Earl Thomas, and secretary and general manager, T. Brinton Holloway.

William Chambers, Viola, and Ernest E. Killen, Harrington, were elected members of the Executive Board, replacing Mr. Williams and William Swain, both deceased. Other members of the Board, all re-elected, are as follows: Parsons, Cannon, Fulton, J. Downing, Smith, Jehu F. Camper, Holloway, Simpson, John H. Holloway, Arnold Gilstad, Harrington, C. D. Murphy Jr., W. W. Shaw, Earl Sylvester, and Harold Schabinger.

The Executive Board, Thursday night, approved the installation of a mezzanine floor to the grandstand, which will include toilet, parimutuel betting, and concession facilities. The parimutuel windows will aid betters during the harness meet of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association.

President Smith appointed a building committee to proceed immediately with the installation. The committee is as follows: Arnold B. Gilstad, chairman; Camper, Harrington, Parsons, J. Edward Taylor, Downing, and W. B. Layton.

The estimated cost of the grandstand is approximately $55,000 and the structure is expected to be completed for this year's fair.

The fair will open Sun., July 26, with a gate admission of 50c for the day, and run for a week. The Anderson Patrol Service will again be employed to collect admissions and perform special guard work.

General Manager Holloway left Friday for Columbus, O., to attend a three-day meeting of the United States Trotting Association, of which he is a director for District 8. He was accompanied by Dale Fetrow, also a director for District 8, of Carlisle, Pa. Mrs. Holloway spent the weekend in the Pennsylvania city with Mrs. Fetrow. Fetrow is well-known here as a starting judge at the Kent & Sussex Raceway.

The March of Dimes Campaign Is On The "March For 1959"

Sponsored by the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tea Post No. 7 and its Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion the March of Dimes campaign is again on the "March for 1959." It is of particular interest this year because of the expanded scope of the national foundation. In addition to polio it is also undertaking research and treatment of diseases of the central nervous system, certain virus diseases, arthritis and birth defects.

Harrington, Farmington and vicinity have an enviable record in contributing to this great cause and it is hoped that this year will be no exception as $65,000,000 is the goal for 1959.

Sandra Kates to Compete For Student Award

Miss Sandra Lee Kates was selected as the Harrington High School representative in the Delaware High School International Student Award Competition on Tuesday evening of this week. Miss Kates, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis E. Kates, of near Harrington, is a Junior in the high school and an honor student, standing first in her class.

Judging of the winner was based on scholastic performance, adaptability, human understanding, outgoing personality, scholarship and desire to participate. Scores in a college board examination which the contestants took recently were also a factor in the selection.

Miss Kates will now compete against seven winners from the other high schools in Kent County. The winner on the county level will become a part of a group sent abroad under the American Field Service "Americans Abroad" program of study during the first semester of their senior year of high school. The project is a joint one of the American Field Service and the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs.

Miss Jane Hughes and James McDonald were the other contestants for the Harrington selection. The high caliber of each of the students made a final selection by the judges a most difficult one. The grades in the competitive exam for each student were very close. Each one had more than average ability in the required categories; are to be congratulated for their interest in the contest.

The judges were Mr. J. C. Messner, Superintendent of Schools, Mrs. William A. Taylor, an officer of the P.T.A.; the Rev. William Miller, pastor of Pilgrim Holiness Church; Mr. C. Tharp Harrington, representing a service club, and Mrs. William A. Miner, chairman of the sponsoring organization.

Willard E. Lane

Willard Earl Lane, 55, died unexpectedly Monday at his home at Denton. He was the son of Robert E. and Linda Warren Lane.

Mr. Lane is survived by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Covey Lane, a brother, Edward, Harrington; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Carroll, Denton; Mrs. Julia Wronciz, New Castle; Miss Blanche Lane, Wilmington, and the following children: Robert, Willard N., Paul, Mrs. Jean Todd, Miss Phyllis Lane, Miss Bonnie Lane, all of Denton; Calvin Lane, Wilmington, N. C., and Dawson Lane in U. S. Air Force, and eight grandchildren.

Services will be held from the Moore Funeral Home, Denton, at 2 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Thomas J. Turkington, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Denton Cemetery.

BETROTHED—Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seward Sr., of Felton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Norma Lee, to Mr. Robert L. Messick, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Messick, of Farmington. Miss Seward is employed by the City of Dover. Mr. Messick is employed by Steiner & Company, of Milford. No date has been set for the wedding.

3 DIE FROM INJURIES SUFFERED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT LAWS

A highway accident Friday, at Laws Church, killed one person, with another dying of injuries Sunday night, a third dying Wednesday, while the condition of a fourth was listed as fairly good.

Thomas E. McNabb, 30, of 101 Commerce St., driving an auto whose speedometer had just recorded five miles' died in the Milford Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car crash at the intersection of County Routes 386 and 35, about two and one-half miles west of Frederica.

McNabb suffered a fractured skull and brain injury. He died at 6:55 p.m., about four hours after the accident. He was the driver of one of the cars.

Mrs. Frances Colell, 68, wife of the driver of the other car, died Sunday night in the Milford Memorial Hospital of injuries described as fractured ribs, collapsed lung, and shock.

Her husband, Carl Colell, 69, of Milford, died in Milford Hospital a half hour after the funeral of his wife Wednesday afternoon.

He suffered a laceration of the scalp, fractured ribs, a collapsed lung, and shock. A passenger in the Colell car, Mrs. Beatrice Bessellieu, 47, also of Milford, suffered lacerations of the leg and shock.

State troopers at Dover said McNabb, driving a new 1959 four-door Ford for delivery to an airman at the Dover Air Base, was traveling northeast on Route 386. They believed Colell failed to heed a stop sign at the intersection and his car was struck by the vehicle operated by McNabb. Colell was traveling southeast on Route 35.

Both cars were thrown from the roadway by the impact, the Colell car smashing into Laws Church, a frame structure, and damaging it slightly, and McNabb's automobile rammed into a tree. Both vehicles were damaged extensively. The new Ford had only five miles on the speedometer.

The Colells, who troopers said, are interested in religious work, were returning home with Mrs. Bessellieu from a church meeting in Dover. Mrs. Bessellieu is the wife of the Rev. Henry T. Bessellieu of Milford. She was riding with Mrs. Colell on the rear seat of the car.

McNabb, married and the father of four children, was alone in the car he was driving. He was an automobile salesman for Simpson Motors of Harrington.

The injured were taken to the hospital by the ambulance of the Milford and Harrington fire companies.

Funeral services were held Monday in the Faries Funeral Home, Smyrna, with services in charge of the Rev. W. H. Ravelle, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, Smyrna. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Smyrna.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion McNabb, the victim is survived by his wife, Ruth Smith McNabb, and four children, Kathleen, (Continued on back page)

Desegregation Plan Unveiled

The State Board of Education Wednesday unveiled a seven-point desegregation plan—a gradual process beginning with first grade next September and extending through additional grades each year until the scheme is completed by 1970.

The board is acting under orders of the U. S. District Court as a result of litigation originally filed in the spring of 1956 to open public schools to Negro students.

The proposed plan effects some 40 districts in the state which have not so far yielded to the 1954 U. S. Supreme Court decree that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

U. S. District Court Judge Caleb R. Layton III, who is piloting the plan, has called for a hearing on March 17, which is 13 days after it is to be submitted to him. Meetings between the state board and the local boards are to precede the court session.

Other features of the seven-point proposal are:

Schools may speed up the grade admission process with the state board's approval.

Pupils have a choice of attending their nearest school or one they would have attended prior to the effective date of the plan.

Application for admission will be regulated by available classroom space on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

This fifth point permits local boards to postpone or deny admissions due to lack of facilities or for other reasons recognized as a basis for exclusion under (Continued on back page)

Marion Beach Named Superintendent of Transportation at ESPS

Marion Beach of Salisbury has been named superintendent of transportation for Eastern Shore Public Service and southern division of Delaware Power & Light Company, according to a statement by E. S. Mortimer, manager of operations. Mr. Beach fills vacancy created by the recent death of Harry Wood.

He joined the electric company in 1947 as assistant superintendent of transportation and has served in that capacity since then. Prior to that he worked for Victor Lynn Lines for 15 years.

Transportation department at Eastern Shore Public Service is responsible for keeping about 240 passenger cars and trucks rolling in the twenty-one different districts served by the company. The cars and trucks are essential in carrying on the routine business of serving thousands of customers. (Continued on back page)

Frear Introduces Antitrust Bill

United States Senator J. Allen Frear has reintroduced legislation designed to assist the federal government in carrying out its antitrust policies without confiscating the savings of American investors.

The bill—first offered by Senator Frear last June—was presented to the new Congress with a statement in which the senator declared that "enactment of this measure is a simple and just solution to grave problems created recently by the Supreme Court's novel interpretation of Section 7 of the Clayton Act."

Origin of the bill grew out of the 4-2 decision by the United States Supreme Court which held, some 40 years after the fact, that the DuPont Company's acquisition of 23 per cent of General Motors constitutes a "reasonable probability" that (Continued on back page)

by Keith Burgess
The Harrington High basketball team made its record two wins in three starts by defeating Bridgeville 54-43 on the latter's court Friday night.

The home team matched or exceeded the H.H.S. total in three of the four quarters. However, the locals, sparked by the ball-stealing and scoring of K. P. Outten and Jack Porter, compiled a fantastic 21-2 edge in the second quarter to prevail easily.

Porter led the Harrington scoring with 16 points. Bill Manship, playing his usual fine game, was next with 15 followed by Outten with 12.

Don Garey led the H.H.S. lads in the rebound department with the excellent total of 17.

George Pfeiffer was outstanding in defeat as the Harrington Junior Varsity bowed to Bridgeville, 46-23.

Charles L. Peck Sr. Defeats Neeman For Mayor by Large Majority in Hot Election; 3 Councilmen Unopposed

Norris C. Adams Reappointed As City Manager

The mayor and three councilmen, elected at the municipal election Tuesday, were installed at a reorganization meeting of the City Council Wednesday evening, at which time practically all City employees, including City Manager Norris C. Adams, were rehired.

The outgoing mayor, Dr. Hewitt W. Smith, installed Charles L. Peck Sr., as mayor, with Peck installing the incoming Councilmen—Thomas E. Brown, incumbent, from the First Ward; Raymond Dean, from the Third Ward, and Charles W. Hopkins, from the Sixth Ward.

Dr. Smith was presented a handsome gavel by the previous Councilman Alan Rutledge, Second Ward, made the presentation.

Application for City employment were then read and acted upon.

City Clerk Kathryn Simpson was rehired, with her salary being increased from $60 to $65 per week.

The application of the incumbent, Norris C. Adams, was the only one presented for the position of city manager. Before it was acted upon, however, Councilman Clarence Collins, of the Fourth Ward, said he did not want his name on a blanket bond which, last year, included all City employees and officials. No reason was expressed nor was any requested.

Pointing to the budget of Gov. Boggs, which did not include the Newport Plan, popularly known as Municipal Aid, Councilman Alan Rutledge, Second Ward, said, "If we do not get the money we are going to be in a very tight spot."

While the deadline for written applications for City employment was listed at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Rutledge thought it was still legal to make an oral application and followed it up by recommending that City Clerk Kathryn Simpson be appointed city manager, at an increase in salary, until "we find out about the Newport Plan." He explained a previous city clerk, Grace Wanda Quillen, had one time held down the positions of city clerk and city manager.

In support of his recommendation, Rutledge pointed out "if you check the bank balance you will find it practically nil. Money will have to be borrowed to meet City expenses the next few months."

Mayor Peck replied that under the City Charter the city manager must collect taxes. Rutledge suggested: "Then appoint Mrs. Simpson as city manager and not as city clerk." Peck replied he thought Harrington was big enough to have a city manager and that, if the money was handled right, there would be enough to pay one.

On a vote to hire Mrs. Simpson as city manager, the measure was defeated, 4 to 2, with Councilmen Rutledge and Collins voting "yes", and Councilmen Hopkins, Brown, Oliver, and Dean voting "nay."

Councilman Hopkins then motioned that Mr. Adams be reappointed to the post. He was seconded by Councilman Dean. The motion passed, 4 to 2, with Councilmen Oliver and Brown siding with the petitioners and Councilmen Rutledge and Collins opposing.

Previous to action on the motion, Councilman Collins said Adams was a very poor city manager, in his opinion and in the opinion of others. "He won't handle city money. There are so many things I would have to ask you to look this thing over. I don't think he measures up to what the City deserves. The City business has become more complicated, and the city clerk has had to do more work and have extra workers."

Mayor Peck replied "My understanding is he didn't have many privileges. Don't do this, don't do that." Councilman Dean replied he thought the manager would have done a good job if the Council hadn't butted in.

In addition to the appointment of the city manager, other appointments were as follows: (Continued on back page)

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. William P. Cluley Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Mr. Gene Hilger, of Sharpstown, Md. No wedding date has been set.

Charles L. Peck Sr., is back in the municipal saddle again: he was elected mayor in the election Tuesday. Last year, after many years as councilman, he was defeated in a Second Ward contest.

Three Council posts were filled Tuesday without opposition. The battle for mayor, however, brought out 612 eligible voters for the largest turnout in years. Election personnel were kept stepping, since the voting hours were only from noon until 4 p.m.

Peck tallied 405 votes, against 207 for Paul Neeman, a last-minute candidate. Responsible for the large turnout were the activities of Democrat leaders for Peck, though Neeman, also a Democrat, did considerable campaigning.

Councilmen elected, all without opposition, were as follows: First Ward, Thomas E. Brown, incumbent; Third Ward, Raymond Dean, and Sixth Ward, Charles W. Hopkins. Hopkins will serve the year remaining in the term of Jack Apt, who resigned. The other councilmen will serve three years; the mayor, two. Holdover councilmen are Alan Rutledge, Second Ward; Clarence Collins, Fourth Ward, and Norman Oliver, Fifth Ward.

The annual Citizens Meeting Friday night, in the Fire House, saw Charles L. Peck Sr., and Paul Neeman nominated for mayor in the municipal election Tuesday.

Other nominations, all for councilmen, were as follows: First Ward—Thomas E. Brown (incumbent); Third Ward, Raymond Dean, and Sixth Ward, Charles Hopkins.

Neeman had told The Journal last week he had been solicited as a candidate but had made no decision. As of Thursday afternoon, he thought it was too late to get into the race.

The petition for Brown was signed while the meeting was underway. Brown was unable to attend the meeting because he was working as an auctioneer. He had announced his candidacy, but thought the petition had been secured.

In the Third Ward, Raymond Dean will be unopposed for councilman, Homer Sherwood having withdrawn. Dean was defeated by George Exley last year for the year remaining in the unexpired term of Charles Jerred who had resigned.

The Sixth Ward saw Charles Hopkins as the sole nominee for councilman. Hopkins, chairman of the Ninth District Democrat Committee, for the upper part of the district, is a former city manager and is an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Sixth Ward has not been represented since summer because of the resignation of Jack Apt, who moved from the City. Efforts to find a replacement had been unsuccessful.

Luther Hatfield presided at the Friday-night meeting. Arnold B. Gilstad was secretary.

Mayor Dr. Hewitt W. Smith thanked the Auditing Committee of A. B. Parsons and Gilstad after copies of the City financial statement had been read and approved by the citizens.

Mayor Smith refused a nomination to run again, saying he felt he had discharged his civic duty the past two years. He told of the considerable work, in the mayor's office, and stressed there was a conflict between duties as a physician and as a mayor.

A rising vote of thanks was then given to the Mayor and the Council on the motion of Earl Sylvester.

Mayor's Report

Mayor Smith, in summing up his administration, pointed to the improvements. He added they could be found in the City financial report and that they included 2187 feet of water main, 1001 feet of sanitary sewer, some storm sewer. Outstanding taxes, at the end of the fiscal year, Sept. 30, he pointed out were only $245.20. He had attended, he said, during the year, 12 regular meetings of the council, 18 special meetings, 2 citizens' meetings, and one reorganization meeting.

He thanked the Council for its support, after which the mayor's report was accepted by the meeting.

Delaware Food Market Report

The best way to beat the high meat prices this week is to eat chicken. Broilers-fryers continue to be an outstanding buy, selling as low as 29c a pound on weekend specials. These chickens are sold cut up or whole, making it possible for more variations in preparation of this meat. Look for "new chicken dishes" and take advantage of the present low prices on the top quality chickens.

Beef prices are mostly a penny or so lower at wholesale level, but prices are still high. Most of the beef on local markets is quoted as choice grade so it is good and tender for the most part when you buy it. Weekend specials offer the best opportunities to find beef roasts and steaks at less than average prices.

When shopping for beef this week, look at the miscellaneous cuts such as beef plate, beef brisket, flank beef cubes, and knuckle soup bone. These cuts are usually lower in price and with proper cooking are just as tasty and good as the popular cuts of beef.

Veal remains high and scarce. The only price change is on veal liver - it is up 2 to 3c a pound. Lamb prices are steady with weekend specials definitely offering the best buy. Leg-of-lamb is up a penny at the wholesale level and so are loin lamb chops.

Pork prices are lower on some cuts with pork loin roast offering the best chance for a good buy. Bacon and sausage are being featured by many stores at prices that are very attractive to the consumer. Since pork is in season now, continue to look for good buys.

Celery is perhaps your best buy at the vegetable counter this week. Of course potatoes remain an outstanding buy and will continue for the next month or so. Peppers, radishes and escarole are all more reasonable than they have been. In general, however, all prices advanced slightly during the past week, but prices as a whole are less than a year ago on most vegetables. Among the canned vegetables the following are plentiful: tomatoes, tomato products and peas.

Under the impact of heavier shipments from Florida, juice oranges have declined in price. Grapefruit is more plentiful and can be found as low as 4 for 29c during weekend sales. Banana supplies will begin to increase this month and prices will be lower, so look for features on this fruit to get a good buy.

People in India are complaining loudly against the ban on foreign razor blades.

C. of C. Wants Chicken Festival Here in 1960

The Chamber of Commerce would like to have the Delmarva Chicken Festival here in 1960, it was revealed Monday at the January meeting of the organization at The Wonder R.

The chamber asked for the festival this year, but it will go to Dover. Selection of a site for 1960 will probably be determined soon, hence the chamber made the request that the community be considered for next year. The festival was held at the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds in 1954 and the fair association has a standing offer of the use of its grounds for the event.

Tom Clendening, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, which sponsored a drawing of a pony and merchandise during the pre-Christmas season, reported receipts of $583.50, of which $17.50 is to be collected, and expenditures of $602.62, for a deficit of $31, plus a bill still to be received for the lumber in the pony pen.

President William W. Shaw, president of The Harrington Development Corporation, said the group was waiting for stock. Shaw also requested the Retail Merchants Committee to agree on three community-wide sales per year.

The Delaware State Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting and dinner Thurs. Jan. 29, at 7 p.m., at the DuPont Country Club, Wilmington. Guest speaker will be Perry M. Shoemaker, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad. Tickets are $10. Reservations should be made as soon as possible with the secretary, C. H. Burgess, at The Journal office.

City Manager Pays City $77 in Dirt Squabble

City Manager Norris C. Adams said Monday that he had reimbursed the City for $77 in payment for dirt dumped on the yard of Lester Emory, Second Avenue. The City Council, Tuesday evening, had motioned it be taken from the city manager's salary because the work had not been authorized by the Council.

Emory had complained of water flooding his lawn from the street, and the city manager had said it was reaching his doorstep.

Constitutional Convention Referendum Bill Submitted

A referendum on whether a constitutional convention should be held is called for in one of the 21 bills introduced in the House of Representatives Monday, as the House received its first large batch of bills.

Most of them were routine appropriation bills to provide grants in aid. There were also two proposals for constitutional amendments—one to prohibit retroactive taxes, and another to provide "home rule" for Delaware municipalities. The House also received a resolution to pay some bills left over from the 119th General Assembly.

Democratic members submitted the appropriation bills Monday, while Republicans proposed the constitutional amendments and the first step in calling a constitutional convention. All three Republican-sponsored proposals are designed to carry out recommendations in the message delivered by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs on Thursday.

Rep. Charles F. Kleinbach (R-Cooch's Bridge) submitted the proposals (in House Bill No. 22) calling for submission to the voters at the next general election the question of a convention to revise and amend the state Constitution. Rep. Edgar T. English (D-Greenwood) cosponsored the bill.

The lengthy procedure provided in the present constitution sets up several steps to be taken for holding a constitutional convention—which would be held in September, 1963, at the earliest, if the legislature approves the bill and the voters approve in the referendum. The referendum would be held at the 1960 general election. The next step would be arrangements by the General Assembly for the election of 41 delegates to the convention. They would be elected at the 1962 election. They would meet the following September, under the Constitutional provision.

Mr. Kleinbach's bill calls only for the referendum—the first step.

Rep. Harry G. Lawson (R-Wilmington) presented the two proposals.

Russell Boyce, 20, of Laurel, state winner in the 4-H Poultry program, received a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the first week in December. The trip was provided by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Boyce's chickens have since won seven first places at the Kent & Sussex Fair. Named Delaware's outstanding poultry boy, Boyce has also won the Sussex County poultry award four years in a row.

posed constitutional amendments Monday, and was joined by Rep. Norman Eskridge (D-Seaford) as co-sponsor of the one on "home rule."

The briefer of the two (House Bill No. 8) specifies: "There shall be no retroactive tax for any preceding year." That sentence would be added as an amendment to Article 8 of the state Constitution, on revenue and taxation.

The "home rule" proposal submitted Monday is one of at least two on that subject to be presented to the General Assembly. It is known that City Solicitor Stewart Lynch of Wilmington has been working on one to be submitted later. The early arrival Monday is similar to the home rule proposal which passed the House of Representatives at the last session, Mr. Lawson, its sponsor, reported. He said it is based on a model bill prepared by a national organization concerned with municipal government.

"Home Rule" proposals are designed to relieve the legislature of the biennial avalanche of bills calling for charter changes for Delaware towns and cities. The proposed constitutional amendment would permit the towns and cities leeway in their own internal administration.

The Lawson proposal would permit the legislature to classify Delaware municipal corporations in four groups based upon population, with no group including less than two cities or towns. Then the General Assembly would enact laws applying to entire classes of municipalities, rather than individual cities and towns as it does under present law.

Among the appropriation measures introduced Monday was one (House Concurrent Resolution No. 1) to provide $1,751.41 to pay for sundry services and supplies of the 119th General Assembly. The items included telephone service and office supplies.

Among the measures introduced from the Democratic side Monday was a proposal (House Bill No. 15) from Rep Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) that the state treasurer pay the salaries of the Family court semi-monthly and expenses of the court monthly within the amounts appropriated by the General Assembly. Mr. Shockley said the measure will "open the way for the more realistic administrative budget" proposed for the court in the budget bill (House Bill No. 1) which suggests $200,000 a year.

The largest of the appropriation bills presented Monday would provide $874,775 for each of the next two fiscal years as grants in aid to 10 hospital—including one that does not exist. The bill mentions $6,600 for "St. James Hospital" with 12 beds. This was the proposed Catholic Hospital planned for a site near Ogleton, but it has not been built.

The hospital grants are based on $550 per bed per year. The money is to be used for maintenance, equipment, and operations of the hospitals. Amounts specified for the others are: Beebe, $64,075; Delaware, $207,350; Kent General, $62,150; Memorial, $194,150; Milford Memorial, $41,250; Riverside, $29,700; and Wilmington General, $132,000. The measure (House Bill No. 16) was proposed by Mr. Shockley, and co-sponsored by Mr. Lawson.

The other bills submitted Monday are as follows:

NEW BILLS

House Bill No. 3—To appropriate $750 a year to Sussex Post No. 8, American Legion, for ambulance operation. By Rep. Joseph B. Walls (D-Milton) and Rep. W. T. Best (R-Behoboth Beach).

House Bill No. 5—To appropriate

$1,000 to the American Legion, Department of Delaware, and $1,000 to the legion's auxiliary, to hold Boy's State and Girl's State in 1959 and 1960. By Rep. Chester Gove (D-Townsend) and Rep. Charles F. Richards (R-Dover).

House Bill No. 6—To appropriate $1,750 each year of the biennium to each fire company in the state, outside Wilmington. By Rep. William W. Opydyke (D-Dover) and Rep. R. Lees Bartleson (R-Lindamere).

House Bill No. 7—To appropriate $1,500 each of the next two fiscal years to the Belvedere Volunteer Fire Company. By Rep. F. Earl McGinnis, Jr. (D-Forest Brook Glen), Mr. Bartleson and Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington).

House Bill No. 9—To appropriate $13,500 for the biennium to pay for tuition, fees, board, and room rent, and school supplies for education and training of children of veterans of World War I, World War II, or the Korean Conflict, who died while in service or from disabilities resulting from service. By Rep. Russell D. P. Dinesen (D-Wilmington) and Mr. Lawson.

Earn State 4-H Achievement Honors

A foundation for the future has been built by two Delaware 4-H Club members. State winners of the 4-H Achievement award for 1958 are Edward E. Wilson, 20, of Newark, and Joyce Warrington, 17, of Bridgeville.

Both received certificates of recognition for their contribution in club and community activities. Wilson was also a state delegate achievement every year. For the past eight years, he has been county medal winner for his garden record. In 1956 he was the state award winner in leadership.

Dress Revue Champion

Miss Warrington was not quite 10 when she joined the Dublin Hills Yellow Jackets 4-H Club. She got off to a fine start, winning first prize at the state fair for the apron, skirt and housecoat she exhibited.

In 1957 she attended the club congress in Chicago as state winner in dress revue and for the past four years has been a state winner for her demonstrations on clothing, dairy foods, breads and poultry foods. This year Miss Warrington won the state cherry pie contest.

4-H Club President
Miss Warrington has been president of her local club and has served on many state and county planning committees. She is also a member of the Bridgeville Consolidated High School band, and is the church organist.

1958 State Dairy Winner
In 1953 he attended the Chicago club congress as winner of the state dairy achievement award. Since 1952, he has won the county medal for dairy only by agricultural technology as it advances in the area of marketing and distribution of agricultural products improving material handling, packaging, and merchandising at farm, wholesale, and retail levels.

Speaking of the research program of the school of agriculture, Dean Worrlow said the basic research program has been expanded greatly, partly as a result of the expansion of the graduate program. Our goal has always been to establish a research program which could consistently solve problems of concern to our agricultural economy, he said.

We have accelerated the application of our findings via the agricultural extension program. To those who have followed our progress during the past years, this will be self-evident.

Research now underway or in prospect give high hopes of still greater advances in the future. Research has different meanings to different people. To the city dweller it may bring to mind atomic energy, miracle drugs, or television.

To the farmer research means corn hybrids; better control of insects, diseases, parasites, and weeds; more productive soils; more efficient tools and working methods on the farm and in the home; farm animals and poultry that grow faster and use feed more efficiently; cows that produce more milk; greater knowledge of farm investments and management problems; and more efficient ways of planting, handling, harvesting, storage, processing, and marketing agricultural products.

The greatest significance, the Dean said, lies in the abundance of cheaper and better food, feed, and fiber that comes out of this research work and its application. Research is an investment. And it pays.

U. of D. Receives Grant for Computer Research

A grant of $30,000 has been awarded to the University of Delaware by the National Science Foundation to support the operation of the university's computing center under the direction of Dr. Robert F. Jackson.

The announcement of the grant, effective Dec. 16, 1958, was made by Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the Foundation. It covers a three-year period, 1958 to 1961.

The primary function of the National Science Foundation is the support of basic research, but as a part of this effort, the mathematical, physical and engineering sciences division of the Foundation offers assistance to facilities which are used as tools for research or which are the subject of investigations designed to increase their capabilities.

The computing center of the University of Delaware was opened in Sept. 1957, under the supervision of Dr. Jackson, professor of mathematics. An original grant from the university's board of trustees was supplemented by a $10,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Since that time the use of the computer has developed steadily. It has been used for research projects in chemical engineering, mathematics, statistics, chemistry and mechanical engineering, as well as by several non-university commercial organizations. In preparation are major research studies by the school of agriculture and the department of civil engineering and additional projects by departments already using the equipment.

Under Dr. Jackson's direction, courses have been offered in automatic digital computation which involves instruction in machine coding and operation. Demonstration programs designed to show the inner workings of the computer by machine language codes have been written, and it is planned during the coming year to cover all possible forms of the complex Bendix G-15D command structure. These demonstration programs will be made available to all campus users of the computer to enhance the efficiency and utility of the machine.

It is planned that the $30,000 grant will be used in amounts of $15,000, $10,000 and $5,000 in the three-year period, the subsidy required decreasing as the use of the computer by campus and outside organizations increases.

If you have some questions, he has copies of a special treasury department publication that is written for farmers in particular. It is called the "Farmers' Tax Guide" and deals with the farmers' income tax forms.

It is not easily available so you may want to contact George Vapaa at the Dover Post Office or phone for a copy at RE4-1448. Ask for it by name or by number which is Internal Revenue Service publication No. 225.

Roses are Red . . . And Other Colors Too!

"Roses are red . . . and Other Colors Too!" That's just one of the topics on the Home Gardeners Short Course, Feb. 10-11, which is part of the Farm and Home Week program coming at the University of Delaware, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

The talk mentioned above will be given by Richard Thomson, Wynnewood, Pa. He is consulting rosarian for the American Rose Society, co-author of "Roses for Pleasure," author of "Old Roses for Modern Gardens," and many articles for periodicals.

He is regular speaker before the National Convention of the American Rose Society and other leading floricultural organizations. Mr. Thomson is part of the Tuesday evening program, Feb. 10, which begins at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Agricultural Hall, Mr. Vapaa said.

Another home gardeners program will be held Wed., Feb. 11 in the afternoon. One of the afternoon topics will be "Add a Room to Your Home . . . Outdoors" by Hugh Peeling, nurseryman and owner of Handwrought Gardens, Concordville, Pa.

He is one of the outstanding authorities on garden design in the northeast. He will discuss and illustrate the latest ideas on design of the outdoor living room, Mr. Vapaa said.

Other speakers at the Home Gardeners Short Course are: Mrs. Merle A. Roemer, The Plant Shop, Newark, who will give hints on culture of African violets; Mrs. Ernesta Ballard, Philadelphia, will speak on "Indoor Gardening"; and Curtis Wallace, Newark, will talk about broadleaved evergreens and their culture and propagation.

Notify ASC Office Of Farm Transfers

A person who buys or sells farm land for which an acreage allotment has been established has the responsibility for notifying his county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of the change, according to R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Kent ASC County Office at Dover.

Until a request is filed by an interested producer, the county committee is not in position to make the combination or division of allotments which may be required.

Mr. Wilson urged that lawyers or real estate agents handling the sale or purchase of farm land become familiar with the regulations on allotments before advising their client or completing any transactions.

New Kent County Home Demonstration Agent on Job

Mrs. Florence Yetter Smith returned to the position of Kent County Home Demonstration agent Jan. 2 after a 13-year absence. She was agent in 1941-45.

Mrs. Smith will share responsibility for the county extension program with the county staff of agricultural agent George Vapaa, 4-H agent Mrs. Marion MacDonald, and home and youth agent, Mrs. Mary Sudler.

Mrs. Smith is available to Kent county groups and individuals with programs and information ranging from "Making a Family Budget" to "Outdoor Cookery" to "Furniture Arrangement for Family Living" to "Making a Best Dress from Wool or Synthetic Fabrics."

She hopes to continue and expand the program of educational classes open to county homemakers on subjects of interest to them.

She will also give timely information on radio programs and in the newspapers.

The extension office is in the Post Office in Dover and the phone number is RE4-1448.

Mrs. Smith returns after teaching at Caesar Rodney, 1949-54 and at Dover High School, 1954-58. She is a graduate of Wilmington High School and of the University of Delaware.

Mrs. Smith has two children, Leroy Kenneth, Jr., 11 and Sallie, 8.

"Brotherhood Love" Taught By Example In The Home

Love is one of the mental wishes of every man, woman and child. This is true regardless of their age.

Mrs. Jeanne Moehn, family life specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service, points out that because of our American society, the family should be the main institution for first meeting that love wish.

Youngsters in school show a desirable attitude toward friends if they have been shown love and consideration within the home. In this same way teenagers and adults can learn a brotherhood love that is so necessary today, she said.

She defined love this way: "When the satisfaction or the satisfaction or the security or another person becomes as significant to one as is one's own security, then the state of love exists."

Mrs. Moehn goes on to say that when a person experiences love, he has a feeling of being valued for himself, not just for the things he does for someone else. Because he is loved, he learns to respect himself, and through this respect, he learns to have love and respect for others. "How," she asked, "is one to love and be thoughtful of others if he has never been shown this side of life?"

The tiniest child needs to be cuddled and held close to give him a feeling of security. This small child grows up in a home that gives him love in ways that let him feel he belongs to the family and is necessary within that family group. He will learn to return that type of love for other persons. The love learned is the type of love he will show as he grows into adulthood.

Individuals build their relationships to others by the type of love they have learned to give, says Mrs. Moehn. She adds the happy are the children in a home where they realize Dad and Mother need to demonstrate their love for each other every day by being considerate and loyal, and by showing understanding and sympathy.

4-H's Make The Best Better

Delaware's 4-H'er, Joan Brown, 18, of Newark, won the state award in the 4-H Clothing Program. In recognition, Miss Brown received an all-expense trip, awarded by Coats & Clark Inc., to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago the first week in December.

Miss Brown's very first dress won her a place in the Queen's Court at the county achievement day fair. She has since exhibited at the New Castle County and Delaware Fairs every year and has usually entered from three to 11 garments in the achievement day and Kent-Sussex Fairs.

This talented young seamstress has completed more than 100 garments in her six years as a member of the White Oak 4-H Club. She does not hesitate to select difficult and complicated items for her projects.

Miss Brown is a freshman at Goldie Beacom College.

Russell Boyce, 20, of Laurel, state winner in the 4-H Poultry program, also received a trip to the congress provided by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

During his first summer as a poultryman, Boyce noticed his birds drooping in the heat. Realizing that the hot weather might claim some of his birds, he made two fans for his chicken house and saved his project from heavy losses.

Boyce's chickens have since won seven first places at the county fair.

Named "Delaware's Outstanding Poultry Boy" of 1956, Boyce has also won the county poultry award four years in a row.

Patty Goff, 19, of Mount Cuba, won the state award in 4-H Girls' Home Economics and a trip to the congress, provided by Montgomery Ward.

In 1951, Miss Goff joined the Y's Owl 4-H Club and started an ambitious home economics project. She has since made 52 garments, completed nine home improvement projects, and exhibited canned and frozen foods at the fair. She has given some 12 home economics demonstrations before local and county groups.

In 1957, Miss Goff was New Castle County home economics medal winner.

Donald Ray Starkey, 17, Felton, is a firm believer in the importance to agriculture of modern scientific discoveries and newest technology. Chosen state winner in the 4-H Boys' Agricultural program, he was awarded a trip to the national congress, provided by International Harvester Co.

A productive livestock project and an excellent tractor maintenance record put this ambitious teenager into state limelight this year.

When Starkey joined the Houston Cardinal 4-H Club in 1954, he had one heifer as a project. This year, he raised his herd to 12 animals, completed a tractor project, and grew six acres of soy beans.

At the 1958 Kent County Fair, Starkey had one grand champion, tied for first in dairy judging and won the tractor title. Later, he placed second in the state tractor finals. He also won a top prize for animal fitting and showmanship.

These 4-H programs are conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Nomination Blanks for "Mother of Year" Now Available

Official nomination blanks for designating entries in the search for Delaware's "Mother of the Year" are now available, according to Mrs. William N. Cann, state chairman for the American Mother's Committee.

Mrs. Cann has pointed out that, while nominations will be accepted up to an April 1 deadline, her committee hopes that those making nominations will submit completed entry forms at an early date so as to allow ample time for the processing of nominations and verification of qualifications. Official nomination blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Cann at 1508 Pennsylvania Avenue, Wilmington.

Contest rules provide that nominees should have the following qualifications, which are to be verified by family members, friends, organization officials, church groups or other sources:

1. That she be a successful mother as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children.
2. That she be an active member of a religious body.
3. That she embody those traits highly regarded in mothers—courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness and understanding and a home-making ability.
4. That she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts of the Golden Rule.
5. That she have sense of responsibility in civic affairs and that she be active in service for public benefit.
6. That she be qualified to represent the Mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as the National Mother.

Each of the forty-nine states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, will select a Mother of 1959. The folios of these chosen Mothers will then be sent to the National Headquarters of the American Mothers Committee, Inc., in New York, where a special Board of Judges will select from among the total number the American Mother of 1959.

Announcement of identity of the American Mother for 1959 will be made on the opening day of the annual Mothers' Conference, Tues., May 5, 1959, at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York. All the 1959 state mothers and the 1959 Mother of the Year will be especially honored at a luncheon to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Plaza, New York, Fri., May 8. This is the Silver Jubilee anniversary of the American Mothers Committee, the first Mother of the Year, Mrs. Fletcher M. Johnson, of Gainesville, Ga., having been chosen in 1935.

It is customary for the chosen Mother of the Year to be presented at the White House during the week immediately preceding National Mother's Day, according to Mrs. Cann.

Liama. The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: Worthy Matron, Pearl W. Prettyman; Worthy Patron, John H. Walls; Associate Matron, Jessie Calloway; Associate Patron, Thomas C. Rodway; Secretary, Marie L. Roberts; treasurer, Ruth Martin; associate conductress, Dana Rose Simpson; chaplain, Dorothy I. ### Leptospirosis on Farm and Home Week Program

Leptospirosis (more commonly called leptos) is one of the topics scheduled for Wednesday's dairy program at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week, Feb. 10-12, according to Mr. Edward Schabinger, New Castle county agent and chairman of the Wednesday morning program.

Both Dr. H. L. Easterbrooks, veterinarian at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. W. R. Teeter, Delaware's State veterinarian, will discuss leptospirosis which Mr. Schabinger says has become more prevalent and is an increasingly important problem.

Dr. Clyde R. Richards, professor of animal and poultry industry at the University of Delaware, will also appear on the morning program reporting on the effect of feed additives.

Dr. Richards will report on his own research work with the use of sodium propionate as a preventative of ketosis. He will also discuss other studies using sodium and calcium lactate for the same purpose. He will also mention the effects of these materials on milk production.

The afternoon program will feature Dr. Joseph F. Sykes, head of the dairy nutrition and physiology section of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, speaking on factors affecting reproductive performance. He will be followed by George M. Newlin, manager of the Hill Girt Farms, Chadds Ford, Pa. He will talk about raising herd replacements.

Dr. J. T. Reid, professor of animal husbandry at Cornell University, will also be an afternoon speaker, discussing the effect of early feeding on later growth and production levels.

The grand ending will be put on the Farm and Home Week dairy program by Henry Huff, Clover Dairy, Wilmington, representing the National Dairy Products Corporation. He will present awards to five Dairy Herd Improvement Association members selected for the honor by their efficient production records and outstanding management ability. Four DHIA supervisors in Delaware will also be honored by the National Dairy Production Corporation.

Co-operative Extension Service Sets New Records During Year

New records in assistance to farm and urban families, homemakers and youth highlight the year-end report of the Co-operative Extension Service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture and the State Land-Grant Colleges and Universities.

A record 11 million families were assisted in solving farm, home, and community problems. An additional 10 million persons, mostly homemakers, were assisted in the selection and use of agricultural products. And 4-H Club membership reached an all-time high of 2.2 million members.

This follows the strong upward trend since 1953 in the number of people participating in extension educational programs. Calendar year reports show that during 1957, 6 percent more farmers were assisted in solving farm problems than the year before, while assistance to homemakers in solving problems related to home management foods, nutrition, housing, clothing, and family financial planning was up 5 percent over the previous year. (Reports for 1958 will be available in mid-1959).

The scope of Co-operative Extension work can be seen in the number of people who sought assistance last year from the Extension Service in solving problems related to agriculture and home economics, or who were involved in extension educational programs. Some 22,712,000 personal contacts were made by extension workers during 1957—310,000 more than the year before.

Farm and home visits were up 93,000 for a total of 4,324,700, office calls numbered 8,175,000, and telephone contacts totaled 10,212,532.

But by far the largest number of people were contacted through group meetings. During the year extension workers and volunteer local leaders conducted more than 2,688,000 educational meetings attended by 75 million persons.

In addition, extension workers assisted several thousand farm co-operatives, agricultural supply and marketing firms, county and community groups in solving problems affecting their operations.

Extension workers placed major emphasis last year on helping farm families increase their efficiency through improved managerial and technical skills. More than 1.6 million farm families were assisted in some phase of planning and managing their farm business.

Bulletin on Farm Income Tax Is Available

"Farmers Tax Guide," will help farmers clear up many income tax questions, and for some it may mean considerable savings in incomes taxes, says Art Hamilton, University of Maryland farm management specialist.

The Tax Guide is a new bulletin recently issued by the University of Maryland Extension Service. You can get a copy of "Farmers Tax Guide" from your County Agent, who has a supply which are free for the asking, Hamilton said.

If you have a gross income during the year of $600 or more, you must file a report. Gross income means the sale of products before expenses are deducted, he added.

If at least two-thirds of your gross income is from farming and your business year starts January 1, you have two choices in filing a report:

1. File your return and pay the tax on or before February 15.
2. File an estimate of your tax and pay by Jan. 15, then file your return by April 15. Hamilton recommended the first choice.

For help in filling out the tax report and answers to questions on forms; capital gains and losses; cash or accrual basis; farm records for tax purposes; patronage refunds; and social security taxes, see your County Agent for a copy of the new tax bulletin.

The Outlook for Family Living

New foods and old foods in new forms will continue to appear on the supermarket shelves, according to an outlook report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports Miss Patricia Middleton, home management specialist with the University of Delaware.

Miss Middleton passes on the word that such items as potato flakes for mashed potatoes; dehy-dro-frozen fruits, vegetables and fruit juice powders will be turning up on the grocery shelf this year.

Part of this will be due to an increase in away-from-home jobs by wives, Miss Middleton reports. Research work by the USDA with four small Georgia cities showed that about 40 percent of the money brought home by working wives was spent on expenses relating to their jobs. This is just one aspect of the problems surrounding the working wife.

Maryland Takes Part in National Dairy Record Keeping Campaign

During January, Maryland, in co-operation with all other states, will campaign to encourage dairy farmers to consider how keeping records may benefit their program.

Leading off the campaign, on the national level, Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, said that "dairy farmers have made great strides in improving their efficiency. But the need for making continuous adjustments has never been greater in this rapidly changing field. Certainly, sound decision must be based on sound information of the type provided by accurate record keeping."

Robert D. Appleman, University of Maryland Extension dairyman, listed five reasons for the need for a nationwide dairy record-keeping campaign.

1. Technological developments milking parlors, labor-saving equipment, etc.—are increasing the investment per herd or per cow necessary for an efficient dairy operation. These revolutionary changes, along with others, make it all the more important that dairy farmers have basic herd information upon which to base their management decisions.
2. The National Co-operative Dairy Herd Improvement Program provides a plan suitable for any dairy farmer in obtaining this basic information. However, in 1957 only 16.9 percent of the total cows in Maryland (10.3 percent of the U.S. total) were enrolled in these plans, including DHIA, Owner-Sampler, and Weigh-a-Day-a-Month.
3. Dairy records are essential in assisting dairy farmers with their breeding, feeding and management problems. Educational problems are strengthened when dairy records are available on the farm.
4. Culling unprofitable cows is one of the most effective ways of improving efficiency of production. These cows cannot be located and removed from the herd unless dairy records are kept by the farmer.
5. Many people have opportunities to discuss dairy records with dairy farmer. A nationwide campaign will make it possible to co-ordinate the efforts of everyone in selling the merits of dairy recordkeeping.

"The beginning of the New Year traditionally is a time for reviewing the past year's business and examining the possibilities for improving operations in the months and years ahead," Secretary Benson noted. "Many dairy farmers have already found that this task becomes easier and more rewarding if they have a detailed account of the past year's operations at their fingertips. This is the kind of information a DHIA record keeping plan provides."

Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, according to Herman Hunter, University of Maryland Extension vegetable specialist. Hunter is secretary-treasurer of the association and editor of its monthly publication.

Harold Hoeker, University of Maryland agricultural economist, will moderate the panel composed of Harry Newmann, Trappe, Md.; Vernon Rictor, Baltimore; Don Solley, Baltimore, and Dudley Woodfin, Washington; all prominent in the fields of processing and retailing of vegetables.

Phillip Corkan, Rhodesdale, Md., president of the association, will preside at the 11:30 a.m. business session and election of officers.

Taking part on the afternoon program centered around the use of insecticides and herbicides will be Dr. Lewis Ditman, University of Maryland entomologist, who will discuss the newer insecticides.

Progress report on the Baltimore Produce Terminal will be made by W. Dale Hess, Jarrettsville.

Farmers Bank Plans Parking Area And Drive-In

Acquisition of the largest plot of real estate in downtown Dover was revealed Tuesday, Jan. 6 by the announcement that the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware through its real estate holding affiliate had made arrangements to purchase the Edgeworth property on South State Street. This will give the Farmers Bank ownership of the entire State Street end of the block between Lockerman Street and North Street with the exception of Bryans Drug Store and the Capitol Theatre.

No definite plans have been formulated for its use as yet, according to William K. Paton, chairman of the Board and President. He stated that the increasing business of the Bank made it necessary to secure more office space. The present building which was erected in 1953, with the thought that it would care for the needs of the banking institution for many years to come, has already proved to be too small. The bank has been forced to lease additional space in nearby buildings.

Two years ago, the Farmers Bank bought the Index Building and adjoining properties on North Street as well as the Old Dover Tea House property on South State Street. These all border on the Edgeworth property. This gives the Bank frontage on all three streets. The driveway along side of the present bank building on Lockerman Street will give access to South State Street and to North Street. "For some time," said Paton, "we have recognized the need for an adequate and large customers parking area as well as a Drive-In and Motor Bank. We now have a plot which will provide the largest private parking area in the business section, Drive-In facilities accessible from three streets, and space for an addition to our present bank building." The Bank has retained the firm of Victorine and Samuel Homsey of Wilmington as architects. The price paid for the additional property was not disclosed.

WALTER A. CONNELL
U. of D. Professor Honored

Dr. W. A. Connell has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Entomological Society of London, according to Dr. Dale Bray, chairman of the entomology department at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Connell has been teaching entomology and doing research on vegetable insects at Delaware since 1946. He is particularly interested in the habits and classification of beetles.

Only a handful of Americans have ever been elected to membership in this British organization which celebrated its 125th anniversary last year, Dr. Bray said.

To become a member of the Royal Entomological Society of London, the name of the candidate must be submitted and voted upon by the membership three times by unanimous vote.

Dr. Connell attended the University of Maryland where he received his B. S. degree in 1933. He received his M. S. from the University of Minnesota in 1941 and his Ph. D. from the University of Maryland in 1957.

Dr. Connell is president of the Delaware Sigma Xi Club, a science honorary society.

He commanded an army malaria survey unit in the Pacific during World War II. He now is a lieutenant colonel with a reserve research and development unit.

He also worked for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in insect 1933-39.

Professor Connell and his wife Eleanor, have a son, John, 12-years-old.

Agricultural Research Is An Attractive Professional Career

"Challenge, new experiences, and an unequalled opportunity to try out and put to use one's own original thinking and ingenuity make agricultural research one of the most attractive of all professional careers," says Dr. R. E. Wagner, head of the Agronomy Department of the University of Maryland College of Agriculture.

Writing for a recent issue of a national magazine, Dr. Wagner added, our need is for the enthusiastic young people who will be the men and brain power behind the agricultural research of tomorrow.

One of the most encouraging and stimulating developments in agriculture is that the advanced ceiling has been raised considerably. Opportunities for advancement today are almost unlimited for those who are well-trained and have proven that they are productive.

Research, he added, is a small proportion, but vital part of the total field of our present day diversified agriculture.

There are about 15 thousand jobs available to less than 8,500 graduating from agricultural colleges each year. Roughly these jobs are broken down as follows: Research, 1000; agricultural industry, 3000; agricultural business, 3000; agricultural education, 3000; agricultural communications, 500; agricultural conservation, 1000; agricultural services, 1500; and farming and ranching, 2000.

"If we are to continue to progress agriculturally with improved soil, crop and animal management practices; better crop varieties; more effective control of weeds, insects and diseases, and other improvements which can contribute to more efficient production and new and better ways to use farm products," he said, "then more graduates for research work will be needed."

"More graduates in agriculture will also be needed to effectively relay the technological developments to farmers. We must maintain strong extension, educational and service programs. Without effective extension and teaching, research information can benefit very few. Without good research, all extension and teaching programs are of little consequence. They can be no stronger than the research programs on which they are so dependent. We need the team approach today more than ever before," he said.

King Heads Appropriations Committee of State House

Rep. Charles C. King (D-Smyrna), the majority leader, was named chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives last week.

While it is unusual for the majority leader to take on the chairmanship of this important committee, Mr. King has accepted the responsibility. He will be aided by Rep. Paul E. Shockey (D-Wilmington) who was chairman at the last session and did not wish to serve in that post again because of his duties in Wilmington as clerk of council.

Mr. King will also be aided by Rep. Norman A. Eskridge (D-Seaford), Rep. George W. Cain (D-Harrington), and Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Lindamere). Every member of the Appropriations Committee is a veteran with previous service in the House, although only Mr. King and Mr. Shockey previously served on the committee.

The committee appointments were announced by Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt during a session devoted to routine actions. Aside from the committee appointments, there was the appointment by the House of one more attaché, Irving H. Brinton of Richardson Park, who was named parliamentary. Mr. Brinton is the Christiana Hundred Democratic chairman and is the executive of the Home Builders Association of Delaware.

The House made its first appropriation of the session when it approved a resolution providing $500 for postage stamps. Other resolutions provided for stationery, name cards, copies of the Delaware Code and other details.

The first two appropriation bills were submitted and both were assigned to the Appropriations Committee. House Bill No. 1 is the budget appropriation bill, which would appropriate $66,453,122.43 for the next fiscal year and $68,893,976.57 for the following one, in accordance with the Governor's budget. It was submitted by Rep. Charles F. Richards (R-Dover), the majority leader.

House Bill No. 2 is the contingency appropriation bill which would appropriate $347,350 for the next fiscal year and $408,750 for the following one. The bill specifies certain contingencies for which the money may be used, and fixes limitations on its use.

Mr. Tribbitt announced the following committee appointments, in addition to the Appropriations Committee:

- Accounts, English, Chairman, Pryor, Opydyke, Livingston, Bartleson; Agriculture & Forestry, Long, Chairman, Gover, Paskey, Clifton, Best, Charlton, Livingston, Pryor, Wright, Davidson, Pawson, Claims, Walls, Chairman, Robbins, Cain, Davidson, Best

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, died recently of complications from injuries received in service, and I wish to make application for death compensation payments. Will my present income have any bearing on my eligibility?

A—No. So long as you are otherwise eligible, you will receive death compensation payments regardless of your income. It is death pension payments, based on death not due to service, where income limitations apply.

Q—I have listed my mother as beneficiary of my GI insurance policy, and have designated that she receive the proceeds in a lump sum. Would she have the right to change to some other method of payment if she desired?

A—Yes. She may change the method of GI insurance payments from lump sum to any of several installment plans available.

Q—Is a peacetime veteran who is blind in both eyes eligible for special aid from VA, even though his blindness is not service-connected?

A—Yes. If the peacetime veteran is entitled to compensation for any service-connected disability, though not necessarily for his blindness, he may receive special aid such as approved electronic and mechanical equipment, as well as a seeing eye or guide dog.

Q—Now that it is legally possible to convert my Korean GI term insurance to a permanent plan, I intend to do so. But what about some of the other advantages of the other advantages of permanent plan GI insurance? Will I be able to borrow on it?

A—Yes, provided your policy is in full force, under the law. The policy also will have other advantages of permanent plan insurance, such as a paid up and a cash surrender value, and, of course, a stable premium rate.

Firement Elect At Greenwood

John Blackiston is beginning his second year as president of the Greenwood Volunteer Fire Company.

Other officers who were re-elected at the annual meeting are: Arthur Jones, secretary; Harry N. Torbert, treasurer; Harvey Dickerson, chief; Charles Donovan, engineer; and Medford Smith, fire recorder. New officers are Harold Shea, vice president, and Paul Webb, custodian.

The fire company has selected Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21 as the dates for their annual fund-raising supper.

The fire company will be hosts for the meeting of the Delmarva Firemen's Association executive board Sun, Jan. 25. A lunch will be served by the Auxiliary. Making arrangements are Mrs. Esther Hynson, Mrs. Clayton Johnson and Mrs. John Blackiston.

Summer Institute for Teachers of Science and Mathematics at U. of D.

A summer institute for high school teachers of science and mathematics will be held at the University of Delaware under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation.

All courses in the institute have been planned especially for secondary teachers and are designed to acquaint them with recent developments in science and technology. The courses are intended to broaden the teachers' scientific knowledge and increase their capacity to motivate high school students to pursue scientific careers.

Courses, including a limited number of field trips, may be taken as a part of master's degree programs, except for a required seminar which carries no credit. Four visiting professors in the fields of science and mathematics will teach special courses and will also offer a series of public lectures in their respective fields which will be open to all university students and to the public. The duration of the institute will parallel the regular summer session at the university.

The non-credit science and mathematics seminar will involve the presentation of new materials in science and mathematics in relation to the secondary school classroom. Participants also will hear lectures on topics of special interest by guest consultants.

Other courses available to students include Organic Chemistry for Teachers of Science, Basic Concepts in Chemistry, Animal Science Workshop, Fundamental Concepts of Mathematics, Fundamental Concepts of Geometry, and Basic Concepts in Physics.

To qualify for admission to the institute program, applicants must currently be teaching science or mathematics in a secondary school with the expectation that they will continue in this work. Applicants will be selected on the basis of need and ability and it is expected that students will take part in all activities of the institute, thus making residence on campus desirable. Recreational activities of the regular summer session, including concerts, lectures, movies, swimming tennis and tours of nearby points of interest, will be open to institute members.

Generous stipends and allowances are available for participants in amounts up to $450, plus $90 for each dependent up to $360 and a travel allowance not to exceed $80.

Applications for admission to the institute must be postmarked on or before Feb. 16, 1959, for consideration by a selection committee. Persons desiring additional information and application forms are invited to write Dr. Cecil C. Lynch, director, Summer Institute for Teachers of Science and Mathematics, University of Delaware, Newark.

Ice Cream in Home Freezers

How long will ice cream keep its fresh quality in the home freezer? How does freezer temperature affect the keeping quality of ice cream? Does the type of package affect the quality?

Florence Y. Smith, Kent County Home Demonstration agent says so many of these questions came to dairy specialists at the Minnesota Experiment Station that they recently made a special study to learn the answers. The distribution of ice cream has changed considerably in the past 10 years, says the report. Previously it was sold mostly for immediate consumption. Today a large percentage is sold in containers from self-service cabinets of retail stores for storage in home freezers.

The Minnesota studies showed that at a uniformly low temperature of 20 degrees F., changes in ice cream occur very slowly. But at higher temperatures, such as are common in home freezers or freezer cabinets, changes are more rapid and ice cream should not be kept so long. Ups and downs in temperature, especially if they are above zero, cause ice cream to lose its smoothness and become coarse or icy in texture. Packaging counts, too, in how long ice cream holds its best quality. Unless it is packaged in moisture-vapor-resistant containers, ice cream will dry out enough to shrink away from the side of the container. Usually when this happens the surface becomes gummy and a change of flavor may develop.

The station advises home freezer owners that ice cream can be stored satisfactorily for about one month in the home freezer if it is firmly frozen and is protected from melting in transferring from the store to the home freezer; and if it is stored at a uniform temperature of zero or below.

Mrs. Smith said the best storage conditions were found in the lowest level of freezer cabinets. At the top of the cabinet temperatures were highest and fluctuated most.

Felton School News

Felton Basketball Teams
 Felton Girls team led by Evelyn Walters and Josephine McCloskey won over Greenwood last Tuesday night 52-37.

They lost a squeaker to a much larger Caesar Rodney group 29-26.

Mrs. Doris Fry, a coach of the Felton squad has rebuilt a fine young team that only had one letterman returning this year.

The record to date is two wins and one loss with a game with Harrington carrying the spotlight this week.

In three games to date Evelyn Walter has a fine 59 point out-pout, Josephine McCloskey sharp-shooting freshman is second with 34 points and Barbara Hoffner a sophomore has 19 points. With every good offense there also must be a good defensive unit and Felton has three in Mary Lou Lander, Mary Ellen Hughes, and Carol Wright.

The Felton Jayvee boys traveled to Greenwood Tuesday afternoon hoping to win a very easy game, and they did with a score of 44-33. Bobby Edwards was high scorer with 23 points, Bobby Don-awer was next with 10, Wayne Walters followed with 6, and Earl Walters with 5. This was a very exciting game.

The Jayvees also played a hard game with Caesar Rodney Friday afternoon. The score was 46-30 in favor of Felton. The high scorer was Bobby Edwards with 21 points, next was Earl Walters with 20, and Wayne Walters with 2.

The Varsity boys played a very exciting game with Greenwood Tuesday evening with a total score of 48-42 in favor of Felton. Billy Rentz was high scorer with 19, Billy Stubbs was next with 14, Richard Steele with 7, Richard McCloskey with 4, and Dale Hammond and Joe Sherwood with 2.

The Varsity boys also traveled to Caesar Rodney Friday evening to try their luck. Although Felton lost they are willing to try again. The final score was 66-45. Billy Rentz was high scorer with 18 points, Richard McCloskey followed with 14, Billy Stubbs was next with 9, Joe Sherwood had 2, and Dale Hammond and Richard Steele had 1 each.

Killen Tells Rotarians of Aims Of Committee on Government

Employers should incite their high-caliber employees to take an active part in government, Ernest E. Killen, state auditor of accounts, told the Rotary Club Tuesday night at The Wonder R.

Speaking as a member of the Non-Partisan Committee for Good Government, Inc., Killen added: "There is nothing political about it but it doesn't mean we straddle the fence in the search for good government."

In the beginning, he described the work of the organization and advanced a reason for its foundation last year as the public indifference to the effects of government on the economy of the state and nation.

The committee had two nationally known speakers in Wilmington last year—Raymond Moley, adviser to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and U. S. Rep. W. Ginn, of New York. Moley said business wasn't taking as much interest in government as was organized labor. Killen explained, however, the better-government committee was not against labor, but did view the rising costs of government. "In 1952," he pointed out, "the state government spent 64 million dollars, as against 13 million dollars in 1946."

Soon after its foundation, the committee formulated 12 objectives of better government. Of these, the committee hopes to see six obtained during the present session of the legislature. They are as follows:

1. A pledge to reduce State operating costs to the point that the budget can be balanced without increasing taxes.

2. That a modern system of accounting of State funds be installed under the direction of a Department of Finance. (Killen said a bill to this effect was put before the 119 General Assembly and that it also included establishing a purchasing committee.)

3. Assurance that only essential governmental services will be provided and that those be maintained at a high level of efficiency and at a minimum cost to the taxpayer. (Killen said the committee was interested in lowering the costs of education, particularly school structures.)

4. That there be no further hastily enacted tax measures; that the public be given the opportunity to be heard on such important legislation and that if additional taxes are necessary that they will be broad-based and eliminate the inequities of the present progressive State income tax.

5. A pledge not to further impair the State's competitive position through the imposition of new or higher taxes on business.

6. Elimination from the Unemployment Compensation Act those provisions for benefit payments now being drawn by those on pensions.

The state auditor commented that memberships in the committee, at $5 per year, were being solicited. They should be sent to Non-Partisan Committee for Good Government, Inc., 1114 King St., Wilmington 1, Del.

Program chairman, for the evening, was Dr. Robert Smith.

Preceding the speaking, Rotary President Gayle Smith introduced Edwin C. Moore, a member of the New Castle club. Smith also read a letter from Harry V. Holloway, Dover, chairman of a committee of sponsors to provide a $400,000-wing to the building of Kent General Hospital, Dover. It was also brought out, at the meeting, that Milford Memorial Hospital had expansion in mind.

President Smith also made note of the Rotary convention in Atlantic City April 17-19, inclusive.

The Boy Scouts have built a tent near McColey's Pond, it was revealed when the sponsoring Rotary Club voted to pay $22.76 for lumber and nails involved in the tent's framework. The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr., said the Scouts hoped to raise money during Easter by selling Easter eggs.

It was mentioned that the annual Friendship Dinner would be held in the school cafeteria Monday evening, Feb. 23, with the New Century Club as sponsor. Civic clubs take turns in sponsoring the event.

Caesar Rodney School News

P.T.A. Has 1073 Members

Mrs. Nellie H. Stokes' section of the first grade won the Caesar Rodney P.T.A. Membership contest with 100 percent of the parents joining, according to a report given by Miss Sue James, membership chairman, at the January meeting of the Caesar Rodney P.T.A. held recently. Mrs. Virginia Foresman's section of the first grade placed second and Mrs. Virginia Dewey's section of the second grade third. Miss James reported a total of 1073 members for the school.

Miss Maude Jester's section of the second grade won the attendance banner for January for having the most parents present at the meeting.

During the business meeting presided over by Harold Parker, president of the organization, Dr. Simpson reviewed the annual financial report of the district and distributed copies to those present. The total expenditures of the district for the year ending June 30, 1958 amounted to $616,292.43 exclusive of Capital Improvement or construction funds. Of this total the State appropriations amounted to $530,741.02 with $85,531.41 being paid from local funds of the district. Debt service required $50,970.34 of the local fund expenditure and $34,681.07 was expended for current expense items.

The bonded indebtedness of the district as of June 30, 1958 was $588,200 with $32,600 in bonds being retired during the year. The real estate assessment is $12,385,833.13 with 4211 persons listed for capitation taxes. The current tax rate is 35 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation of real estate plus a $7 capitation tax. During the year the district received $2,190 from the trailer tax.

The program was divided in two parts with the parents of elementary school pupils hearing Dr. Donald J. Diffebaugh, director of guidance of the State Department of Public Instruction, speak on "Developing Social Ability in the Elementary School Child." He was presented by Mrs. Virginia Dewey, program chairman.

The high school section met in the junior high school study hall with Charles H. Callaway introducing the program led by Clement Noble, president of the Student Council. The following members of the Council presented reports on activities of the organization. Wayne Callaway, vice president; Peggy Dill, secretary and chairman of the noon dance committee; Orville Basinaki, treasurer and chairman of the charter committee; Peggy Holland, chairman of the lost and found committee; Jane Kesselring, chairman of the school supplies committee; Penn Emerson, chairman of school grounds committee; Bill Pickering, chairman of the canteen committee.

Following the reports a movie on "Developing Citizenship" was shown.

Mrs. Russell Perry, chairman of the second grade room mothers was chairman of the refreshment committee, which served both groups in the new cafeteria.

High School Studies Being Completed

John R. Flinn, principal of Merchantville High School, Merchantville, N. J., recently visited Caesar Rodney High School in connection with arrangements for the visiting committee of the Middle State Association of Secondary Schools. Mr. Flinn is chairman of the committee and George V. Kirk, superintendent of the Smyrna Special School District will serve as vice chairman.

The Caesar Rodney High School faculty is completing a series of self-evaluation studies and reports to be submitted to the committee for review March 3, 4, and 5 when the committee visits the school.

Under the direction of Thomas E. Shaffer, instructor, the senior social studies classes are assisting with community and student surveys to secure up-to-date information for the report.

Earl R. Scheidt, as chairman of the Steering Committee of the high school faculty held a series of meetings before the end of the last school year to review the subject matter areas of the school.

Following is the list of faculty chairmen in connection with the evaluation: Pupil Population and School Community—Richard W. MacFaddin; Educational Needs of Youth, Dr. William B. Simpson; program of studies, Mrs. Dorothy B. Townsend; agriculture, Horace E. Short; art, Earl R. Scheidt; business education, John R. Ryan; English, Mrs. Mary W. Cool; foreign language, Mrs. Rita Ryan; health and safety, Mrs. Ann B. Cleaves, R. N.; home economics, Mrs. Janet R. Scheidt; industrial arts, Miller Gibe; mathematics, Mrs. Dorothy B. Oscar Melvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Melvin. He was born March 20, 1941, and has attended Harrington School for 12 years. Oscar is taking the vocational course. He has been a member of the F.F.A. for the past four years and now holds the office of vice president.

His favorite subject is agriculture and his favorite sport is baseball. He has been active in athletics for the past two years. At the present time his plans are indefinite.

Ice Follies
Last Saturday the Junior High School Girl's Glee Club went to the Ice Follies in Philadelphia by chartered bus for the afternoon performance. They had lunch at the bus terminal where each member ate from a box lunch with drinks purchased at the milk bar. After lunch they continued to Philadelphia where they saw a wonderful performance on ice of the Ice Follies of 1959, at Arena.

On the return trip they stopped at the Howard Johnson restaurant south of Wilmington where reservations had been made for dinner.

The entire trip was in charge of Mr. Brobst, music instructor, who was assisted by Mrs. Brobst, Mrs. Norman Hopkins, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Charles Cox, and Mrs. Needles, who accompanied him as chaperones for the 25 girls.

In addition to those mentioned, others in the party were: David Brobst, Kathy Hopkins, Nancy Blades, Susan Dennin, Dawn Hopkins, Lois Larimore, June Thompson, Michele Jack, Nancy Harrington, Ruth Ann Holden, Susan McDonald, Joanne Murphy, Jacquelyn Rissum, Carol Willis, Faye and Kaye Needles, Carol Smith, Sandra Whisler, Marilyn Minner, Bobette DeVroy, Linda Smith, Carole Ann McNally, Marilyn Jarrell, Shirley Cox, Cheryl Clarke, Carole Jean Wirlick, Sharon Kibler. Transportation was provided by Dawson bus.

Mid-Winter Formal
The Mid-Winter Formal will be held in the Harrington High School Auditorium, February 13, from 9-12 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased from any Student Council member for $1 per couple.

Senior Class News
The members of the senior class have ordered their name cards and announcements. They are, also, selling "Patron Membership" tickets to both the school and children's plays. Contact any senior for tickets.

First Grade—Marvel
We wish to invite our parents and friends to our assembly program Jan. 20 at 9 a.m.

Several children are out with the chicken-pox.

A new pupil came to us from Florida after the Christmas holidays. His name is Charles Leon Matthews, but he likes to be called Roddy.

First Grade—Mrs. Howard
The boys and girls are happy to be back in school. David Krouse and Sandra Wyatt are out with chicken-pox. We miss John Fyvie, he has moved to the Air Base.

We have two girls, Norma Baker, from Georgetown and Mary Harvey, from Accomack, Va., to join our first grade this month.

Grade Three
We are practicing for our assembly program which will be Feb. 5 at 9 a.m.

This month is a busy one, we also must review for our mid-year exams.

Mr. Donovan—Fifth Grade
We are studying about birds in our class room. We know that records are kept on all wild birds, but they do not keep records on canaries, parakeets, and other cage birds.

Sophomore News
The Sophomore's bake will be held Saturday, Jan. 31.

ELECTION

cleaned. Sylvester had attended a regular meeting of the Council and complained the ditch had flooded his lawn.

Councilman George Exley answered the question by saying the State Highway Department said it would clean the ditch. It was implied that water from state-maintained Delaware Avenue flowed into it. Exley said city representatives had also conferred with the Kent County Levy Court and had achieved no satisfaction. It was the opinion that formation of a tax ditch company was the only solution. Councilman Alan Rutledge said that Brown's Branch, into which the ditch flowed, was clogged up and was backing water into municipal ditches.

In a symposium, Richard Bullock wanted to know why police were not on traffic duty at Harrington school Wednesdays. He was told that police had to have time off and they took this time Wednesday because the stores were closed in the afternoons.

Attempts had been made to hire auxiliary police but they were not interested because they would be on traffic duty at the school only one-half hour, when school opened, and another half-hour when it closed. It was added that the regular patrolmen did not like to work but one hour on their off days.

Mayor Smith says the problem had been bandied for years but had received no co-operation from school authorities. Luther Hatfield, president of the school board, and Paul Neeman, a former president of the board, said they had no knowledge of the problem being presented to the school board. Hatfield concluded by saying, in alluding to school maintenance employees, there was no reason why someone shouldn't be on duty and that he believed the problem could be taken care of.

When the presiding official, Luther Hatfield, asked the Council if it had any remarks, Councilman George Exley thanked the Council and the mayor for their help.

Councilman Rutledge said he thought the mayor's report sounded so good, but "it doesn't mean we can sit back and rest. With the support of the mayor, citizens and Council, we can have as good a report next year."

Voting Hours
Frank O'Neal wanted to know why a separate bill could not be passed in the Legislature permitting a change in voting hours. He explained that the present hours, of voting in Harrington City elections, from noon to 4 p.m., did not give him, and others time to vote. A change in voting hours had been incorporated in a bill to amend the Charter last year but the Legislature never acted on it.

When O'Neal asked, "Is there any reason why another bill should not be presented?" Councilman Exley replied, "I think it would be wise." O'Neal added, "I think it is only fair Council, citizens, and our legislative representatives enter the bill (changing the voting hours to noon to 7 p.m.)."

Mayor Smith retorted, "For several years the City tried it and our legislative representatives doublecrossed us. That is one reason the Mayors' Association is for a home rule bill. This bill, which may be entered at the present Legislature, would permit municipalities to change their Charters without going to the ### Legislature."

Earl Sylvester suggested the incoming City administration make a request to change the entire Charter, written in 1935.

CITY COUNCIL

Treasurer, Howard Wagner; police chief, George Hughes; patrolman, Ernest Kohland (with a $5 raise to $65 per week); patrolman, Nelson Carey; street department—Byard Smith, truck driver; street help, Willard Hill and Herman Kohland Sr., with the last named on approval for six months. Applications for street help were also read from Harrison Scott and Herman Wheeler, the latter being employed last year.

Sewer pump custodian, Wilbur Pearson; waterworks custodian, Frances Rifenburg; scrap assessor, Jehu Camper; alderman, L. Gooden Callaway; acting alderman, Norris C. Adams; Board of Health, Dr. Robert Smith, Dr. Hewitt Smith, and Thomas Clendenning; fire marshal, C. D. Mills; police commission, Norman Oliver and the city manager; street commission, Councilman Raymond Dean and Charles W. Hopkins; janitor, Ted Dean; city solicitor, Herman C. Brown.

Appointment of an auditing committee was not made because pending further study. The former committee, of Allen Parsons and Arnold Gilstad, had expressed its desire to relinquish the task after several years at it.

Councilman Rutledge was appointed secretary of the Council after it had been turned down by Councilmen Hopkins, Oliver, and Brown.

Fire Chief C. D. Mills said he had received complaints on the condition of a house, owned by William Townsend, at Dorman and Mechanic Streets. He had investigated, he said and found it to be a fire hazard. He asked the Council to send a letter of complaint to the owner.

Mills also said a fireplug, at Gaines Alley and Hanley Street, was so low that a suction hose could not be attached to it. The city manager said the City's firm of engineering consultants, Richardson Associates, of Dover, had sent for equipment to repair the plug and also a leak at Delaware Avenue and Center Street.

Mills had tendered his resignation, last month as custodian of a sewer pump on Delaware Avenue but reconsidered when the Council gave him the authority to have it put into operation with his specifications. He said the 300-pound lid was too heavy for one man to lift; that the sump pump had no float and that the manhole had to be entered and a switch thrown to put the pump into operation.

FREAR

DuPont is likely to obtain a monopoly of General Motors' purchases of fabrics and finishes. In reoffering the bill Tuesday Frear told his colleagues that since introducing the legislation last June the Treasury and Justice Departments have been studying the proposal, and he now hoped they would be in a position to give their support and encouragement to its enactment.

About 15,000 DuPont stockholders in Delaware stand to be directly affected by the proposed taxation on the forced distribution of General Motors stock on which they would be required to pay both federal and state taxes. Collectively, some 194,000 holders of DuPont common stock are involved and if relief is not forthcoming this group would be sub-subject to a federal tax estimated at 700 million dollars. Frear also warned his colleagues that "other economic consequences resulting from this enforced distribution could be even more disastrous, for competent financial analysts have estimated that forced sales would result in a five-billion-dollar drop in the market value of DuPont and General Motors stock."

The senator said he plans to seek hearings on his bill before the Senate Finance Committee during the present session of Congress in the hope that both the Senate and House will, after hearing the testimony, be willing to give their approval to his bill. Added the senator, "we should act, and act promptly, to give all parties in this case, as well as future cases certain to arise, the benefit of a simple solution which is fair to the government, and to its citizens."
