

H.H.S. WIN STREAK AT SEVEN AS ST. PETERS AND GREENWOOD BOW

Coach Dick Jeffers' Harrington High basketball Lions continued to eat high on the hog as they racked up St. Peter's High of New Castle 59-49, Friday night on the local court. The H.H.S. jayvee team bowed 45-46.

The varsity triumph, the sixth in a row since an opening game loss to powerful Sanford Prep, of Wilmington, leaves Harrington in second place among the twenty-one high schools in Kent and Sussex Counties.

Jack Porter led the scoring with 22 points followed by Bill Manship, the teams most prolific point-maker, with 15.

Porter's total was his highest in four years of varsity play. Jack was at his demoralizing ball-stealing best in the second quarter marking up six baskets.

Don Garey continued to rebound well as did Ron Collison and Bob Gillette, a 6-5 freshman. K. P. Outten was outstanding on defense.

The locals were strengthened this week by the addition of John Taylor and Dwight Hackett, who are in the neighborhood of 6 ft. 1. Both have played in previous years. The home team has now overcome the three weak spots, which were lack of height, experience and numbers, in one full swoop.

Against Greenwood Tuesday night, on the home court, the home force prevailed in another close, high-scoring battle 74-69.

Harrington led through most of the fray but Greenwood, outscoring the locals 19-10 from the four line, was always within striking distance. Coach Jeffers' lads held a 32-25 bulge in action tosses that brought them the victory. The home team's inability to convert the charity throws has kept them under pressure all year.

The H.H.S. team is exciting to watch as they rely on hustle, speed, long passes, and a fast break down the court.

Ron Collison, showing his best form of the season, led the Harrington scoring with 19 points. Bill Manship notched 17 followed by Don Garey with 12 and K. P. Outten with 10. "Snooky" Collins made three timely field goals as a spot performer.

Collison and Manship were deadly with push shots all evening. Outten and Jack Porter harassed the invaders with their forcing, ball-hawking tactics. Garey played his customary aggressive game under both baskets. Friday night the locals play at Milford, the only time these two rivals meet this year.

Dead 'Voters' Hard to Oust

The Joint Finance Committee was told Tuesday that election officials know there are names of dead persons on the registration lists, but it is often difficult to get them removed.

This came up during the budget hearing of State Auditor Ernest E. Killen, who is also state election commissioner.

Rep. Norman Eskridge (D-Seaforth) said he knew of persons dead three years who are still on the voter rolls, and Rep. Paul E. Shockey (D-Wilmington) said he also knew of such cases.

The State Board of Health is required by law to turn over to the county boards of election the names of deceased persons every three months.

However, election officials say identification details submitted by the health board do not always jibe with the identification available to the election boards, and that where there is any doubt the names are left on the book until the person in question fails to vote in two consecutive elections.

The Ramac electronic accounting machine which the state ordered months ago for delivery in February came in for further discussion Tuesday in hearings on the budgets of the auditor and the secretary of state. One member said that with the machine in operation there will be no need to create a Finance Department, as has been proposed.

Ban Transplanting Of Oysters In Delaware Bay

The Shell Fisheries Commission at a meeting this week at the home of its chairman, Mayor Otis Smith of Lewes, passed a resolution prohibiting the transplanting of sea oysters to and from the waters of Delaware.

Proceeding along lines recommended by Dr. Carl N. Shuster, Jr., marine biologist at the University of Delaware, who made a detailed report on the disease causing heavy mortality among Delaware Bay oysters, the commission also recommended that firms harvesting oysters in the Bay refrain from business activity for a while.

The commission recognized the dilemma facing oystermen—namely, if they "shut down" their operations for several seasons the loss in revenue will be tremendous, but if they fail to then the oysters resisting the disease, which is still unidentified, will not be able to breed a disease-resistant crop.

Dr. Shuster said the disease was first spotted in New Jersey in the spring of 1957. It rapidly spread to Delaware waters causing a 70 per cent mortality rate here.

"If it follows the pattern associated with epidemics, the disease should run its course within a few years leaving the disease-resistant oyster," Dr. Shuster said.

He said that from these immune oysters the industry will have to be rebuilt.

Dr. Shuster also told the conference at Rutgers, N. J., which furnished the data upon which the commission based its action at the special meeting this week, that all organisms known to cause disease are being extensively studied.

He said that pollution, while a factor, is not that direct cause of the disease.

The embargo on transplanting of oysters will be lifted as soon as practical, according to Nathaniel W. Taylor, executive secretary of the Shell Fisheries Commission.

Magistrates' Bonds

The committee was interested in an item of $400 for magistrate's bonds, which cost $10 each. Said Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), committee chairman: "Didn't we find that (former) Magistrate Hatton made as high as $60,000 a year, and the state is paying for his $10 bond?" He added: "We can change that."

General Schulz reported that his predecessor collected travel pay for commuting between Newark and Dover. He said he does not collect mileage.

The committee was told that the Delaware Blue Book has turned out to be a white elephant. The secretary of state has collected a total of $179 from the sale of Blue Books plus some law books. Senator Hoey added that the book is obsolete. General Schulz said he suggested at a recent meeting of the Budget Commission that the books be given out to schools, but a member objected, contending the book is inaccurate. The state spent

14 Injured When Skidding Bus Hits Parked Truck

Fourteen persons were injured Tuesday as a bus skidded into a parked truck near Felton in the worst of the 60 skidding accidents throughout the state, as the three-inch snowfall stopped but icy conditions remained.

The Bridgeville state police troop said the bus accident occurred at 5:10 a.m. on Route 13 about a mile and a half south of Felton.

A truck owned by Webb's Truck Leasing Corporation, headed south, had gone into a skid and turned almost completely around. The driver had it parked properly on the parkway between the lanes when a bus owned by Carolina Coach Company of Salisbury, headed north, went into a skid that ended with a crash, the front of the bus ramming into the parked truck.

Bus Driver Arrested
The bus driver, Harry L. Forbes Jr., 26, of Salisbury was arrested for operating at an unsafe speed under the conditions. He paid a $10 fine after a hearing before Magistrate Elmer Poynter, in Felton.

Forbes said he was all right immediately after the accident, but was later taken to the Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury, where he was treated and released.

Passengers treated and released at the Kent General Hospital in Dover were:

Harold Oldheim, Navy enlisted man of Norfolk, Va.; Mary E. Perry, Hertford, N.C.; Eliza H. Riddick, Elizabeth, N.C.; J. Lynn Walker, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Sadie B. Green, New York City; Cora Lee Brown, New York City; Ethel M. Henry, Brooklyn, N.Y.; J. T. Scranerello, Garden City, N.J.

John R. Gallo, 23, of Harrington, was treated for minor injuries by a doctor in the area after his car skidded off the road and turned over on Route 35 about a half mile east of Harrington at 7:35 a.m. Tuesday.

Among the many cards L. Booker Harrington received, when he celebrated his 82nd birthday Saturday, was one from Jayne Mansfield, a bosom friend. It was signed, "Affectionately, Jaynie."

A $50,000 conditional grant by the Kresge Foundation to The Methodist Country House, Wilmington, Delaware was announced today by Dr. P. S. du Pont, III, a member of the executive committee.

The Country House, a home for the aged, will be located on a tract of land fronting on the Kennett Pike near Wilmington, Del. Plans and specifications are now in the hands of contractors; ground breaking ceremonies are scheduled for March 6, and construction will begin immediately thereafter.

The Kresge Foundation was established in 1924 with an initial fund of $1,300,000 by Mr. S. S. Kresge whose further gifts through the years total some $60,000,000. Grants by the Foundation are made to maintain, expand, and perpetuate existing activities concerned with education, medical research, care of children and aged people, health, and work among young people.

ELECTION OF SCHOOL BOARDS, EXCEPT IN CITY, PROPOSED

School board elections throughout the state—except in Wilmington—would be made elective under a bill introduced in the House of Representatives Friday.

The measure (HB-79) was presented by Rep. Chester Gove, (D-Townsend) with Rep. F. Earl McGinness (D-Forest Brook Glen), co-sponsoring. It would amend the present law, under which most school boards are appointed in New Castle County and elected in Kent and Sussex Counties. Elective boards in New Castle County at present are those at Claymont, Middletown, New Castle and Rose Hill-Minquadale.

Mr. Gove would make them all elective, by making the part of the law specifying school board election apply to New Castle County as well as to the other two, and by repealing the section on school board appointments. This would, however, not affect the Wilmington Board of Education, he said.

All school board members who have been appointed would be permitted to hold office until the expiration of their terms and their successors would be elected.

The bill was among 14 introduced Friday in a busy tenth day of activity which brought the total of bills presented so far to 81.

Rep. Charles F. Richards (R-Dover) the minority leader, with Rep. Charles C. King (R-Smyrna) the majority leader, co-sponsoring, introduced HB-77, proposing a constitutional amendment to permit zoning in Kent County.

Family Court Bills

Two bills on the Family Court were presented by Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) and Rep. Tighman S. Johnson (R-Frankford). One HB-71 would remove from the jurisdiction of the court cases involving unmarried couples living together, who have no children. Such cases, one of the sponsors said, should be handled by local courts such as the Municipal Court in Wilmington. The other (HB-72) provided that if a judgeship vacancy exists a new judge shall be appointed for the full 12 years term rather than the unexpired term.

McGinness put in a bill to bolster the powers and increase the duties of the Budget Commission, and "to make its responsibility crystal clear." In a statement, the legislator said that during the election campaign "there were those who tried to convince the voters that Delaware was in financial difficulty because we did not have a Finance Department. . . . This, he said, "covered over the fact that we already have in the Permanent Budget Commission an executive agency clearly empowered and responsible for sound financial planning."

Other Bills Introduced

HB-73—Makes revocation of driver's license mandatory for second, rather than first, offense of operating under the influence. Supplements HB-67. By Rep. Joseph S. Latina (D-Wilmington).

HB-74—Defines more terms in law on school salary schedule. By Mr. Latina.

HB-75—Provides method for computing a pension for widow of a state employee. By Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Marshallton) and Rep. Norman Eskridge (D-Seaforth).

HB-76—An amendment to the workmen's compensation law. By Mr. Latina and Mr. McGinness.

HB-78—Set up a fund for corporation income tax refunds. By Rep. Charles F. Richards (R-Dover).

HB-80—Requires New Castle County Levy Court to appropriate money to certain fire companies with rescue squads. By Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Landancore) and Mr. McGinness.

HB-81—Fire company appropriations. By Rep. Paul E. Shockey (D-Wilmington).

The House did not meet this week, legislators visiting state institutions. It will convene Monday at 1 p.m.

Teen Script with Barb Payne

Did you ever compare the participation in junior and teenage choirs with the attendance of the senior choirs? In case you haven't noticed, the senior choirs are outnumbered by far.

What is the reason? Could it be that when you graduate from school you feel as if you should graduate from your church choir? Do you feel as if you know enough not only about singing but also about your particular church? I really hope that whatever your reason is, it is a much more sensible one. Actually, I can't imagine any sound reason for not wanting to sing while you can also increase your knowledge of God. And on this subject I'm sure you can't ever be finished or graduated!

It seems to be no trouble at all to get the junior or teenage choirs assembled at the beginning of the school year, but as the teenagers graduate from school they either lose interest in singing or in church.

It may stand true that upon school graduation day you are also graduating from your particular choir group — but — there is always more to do through and for the works of God.

I feel that upon this subject I could write considerably more and still not make myself completely clear, but to those who have absorbed what I have already written—and understood—then they have gotten the point of this script.

Clear Ditches For Drainage

A log one foot in diameter dropped across a typical Kent County drainage ditch will block water for more than 1000 feet. Small blockages and dams can have serious effect on the efficiency of a ditch because of the flat grades. These ditches are not able to wash themselves out with such flat grades and they desperately need hand cleaning.

"Time spent in cleaning trash and blockages out of your ditches, especially those in the woods, can be very rewarding," says Frank Houtman, of Kenton. He is very happy to tell how he saved construction costs and crop loss simply by cleaning out the outlet ditch through his woods. Frank says he had no idea how those little dams and blockages added up to where they were the sole cause of his drainage outlet problem.

Drainage ditches are not expensive for the benefits received. However, they can be very costly, if not maintained properly. For instance, if a drainage system gets in bad condition, the dollar damage to land and crops from one hard rain may be greater than the cost of building the entire system.

Livestock should be kept from grazing ditch banks after heavy storms and during the wet season of the year. Livestock, especially hogs, should be kept out of the ditches at all times. Ditch banks should be checked for eroded areas and the water diverted from such weak spots until they are grassed over. Tillage operations should be kept away from ditch banks enough to allow at least three feet of sod to form a protecting berm. When fences cross open ditches, free swinging water gates are needed so that trash will not accumulate and clog the ditch.

One way that livestock farmers may take advantage of a ditch for watering stock is to build a ramp to a dug out portion along the ditch. A tractor manure loader can do the job at the proper time.

Another innovation which seems practical to Isaac Thomas of Maryland, is a cow operated field pump which can draw water from a stream or well. The cows operate the pump by pressing their noses into a drinking cup where a lever permits a pumping action. The machines are locally available and reasonably priced.

Good drainage systems and maintenance depend on good neighborly cooperative effort and understanding in most areas of Kent County—the lack of which can be the most serious factor in preventing proper drainage and ditch maintenance.

Specific help may be obtained from Fred Mott, soil conservation service technician at 313 S. Governors Avenue in Dover. His telephone number is REDfield 4-2179.

Feeder Lamb Project for Youth

A feeder lamb project is to be developed for 4-H and FFA youth by the Delaware Sheep and Wool Association says the president, Jack Dukes, of Smyrna.

A participating boy or girl will start with two 80 lb. lambs in mid-summer and carry them through to about 100 lbs. of weight in a three or four month period. The animals are to be judged in a state contest, with the winners to compete at the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium, Md., next November.

Mr. Dukes has appointed a committee consisting of Floyd Blessing and Calvin Hollis of Houston, John McQuail of Smyrna, George Vapaa, county agent at Dover, and John Shropshire, specialist at Newark, to develop the detailed plans. In the meantime, boys or girls who are interested in the project should contact any Sheep Association member for more details.

Mr. Shropshire spoke on feeding problems at lambing time to the association members at their regular bimonthly meeting. He said the biggest single mistake is to feed too much grain. Sheep are heavy forage converters and will do an excellent job with good hay and pasture. The average ewe in the lambing and weaning season should receive about a half pound a day of a simple grain mixture to maintain body condition, he said. This, with an average of five pounds of good hay a day should maintain an animal in good shape, he concluded.

Market Report Delaware Food

By Anne Holberton
Agricultural Extension Service,
University of Delaware

The cold weather, floods and general bad weather conditions all over the United States have retarded crops and slowed harvesting as well as slowed shipping of both fruits and vegetables. Squash is up seven cents a pound, snap beans four to five cents a pound, and the following vegetables have increased about a penny a pound—eggplant, kale, spinach and other fresh greens. However, there are still many good buys on the market. For example, potatoes, celery and carrots are all low in price and high in quality. Lettuce, escarole, radishes, and sweet potatoes are all in good supply and reasonably priced.

Oranges and grapefruit continue to be plentiful, and prices are about equal to those of last year, although oranges are slightly higher. Avocado harvesting is increasing, and this fruit is a little cheaper this week. The price of prune juice has advanced sharply due to the short supply of small prunes harvested last year. The large prune supply is about normal, making this size your best choice when you shop for dried prunes.

The weather has also affected the price on fish this week, so shop carefully to get the best buy. Scallops, fish sticks, bluefish, gorgies and cod are in fair supply.

A switch from chicken to pork as a main meat dish is a suggestion since pork prices are showing another downward trend. Since chicken has been in such great demand, the supply has not been able to keep up to this increase. As a result, prices are higher on broilers and fryers. Regardless of the price increase, chicken still remain a good buy.

Weekend specials will again offer us our best buys at the meat counter. Look for continued specials on lamb, bacon, sausage and fresh pork. Though beef prices have advanced, specials on chuck roast and ground meat will give us a chance to have more economical meals with beef on the menu.

(Due to constantly changing market conditions, the above information should not be used after January 31, 1959.)

Watch Temperature In Broiler Houses

A commercial feed company has completed a study on the temperatures of broiler houses and the feed conversion of 15 million broilers.

County Agent George Vapaa, says the report shows broilers required .4 (four-tenths) pound more feed to make a pound of gain during the extreme cold weather than they did during August.

Calorimeter studies show that 65 to 70 degrees F. are about ideal house temperatures for broilers as they approach market age. That temperature may be impractical to maintain during the coldest weather, however, he said.

Well matured broilers may do fairly well if the house temperatures drop to 50 degrees F. for short intervals if there are some warmer brooding areas in the houses. But he says, when broiler house temperatures drop below 50 degrees F., broiler growth is likely to be reduced to a considerable degree.

Buying Vegetable Seeds

Results in your garden next summer will be partly determined when you buy the seed, says county agent George Vapaa.

Although good seed is only one of the factors in yield and quality, it is an important one.

New seed catalogs will list some new varieties along with the old ones. Carefully consider the information in the catalogs, he says but don't forget your own experience. If you have had good results with certain varieties in the past, that is your best guide to buying seeds for this season.

If any new or improved variety looks particularly interesting, it would be a good idea to buy a small amount of seed for trial, rather than completely discarding varieties that have done well in the past. A year's test under the grower's own conditions will show whether the newer strains are superior.

The important thing, Mr. Vapaa said, is for the grower to know what varieties of seeds he wants and to order from the seed house—or shop around in retail stores until he finds what he wants.

Good seed costs slightly more than the common run of seed, but it more than repays the grower for the higher price.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My wife and I are both veterans, eligible for GI loans. If we go in together on a real-estate loan for business purposes, would the amount of VA's guarantee be doubled?

A—Yes. On a real-estate loan for a business, the maximum VA guarantee for an individual veteran is $4,000; so you and your wife could get an $8,000 maximum guarantee. However, VA's guarantee may not exceed 50 per cent of the total loan.

Q—I want to take a college course under the War Orphans Education Act, but cannot complete it by age 23 since I did not even become eligible until I was 21, when my father died. May schooling continue beyond age 23 in my case?

A—Yes. In cases where the veteran-parent dies after a son or daughter is 18 but not yet 23, the eligible orphan has until five years after the death of the parent to complete school. In no case may schooling extend beyond the 31st birthday.

Q—Can the proceeds of a GI insurance policy paid to a beneficiary be attached by creditors?

A—No. Such proceeds are exempt by law from the claims of creditors. They may not be seized or attached to pay debts.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran, with an "RS"-type GI term insurance policy, which I am going to convert to one of VA's permanent plans. Can I borrow against my permanent plan insurance as soon as it is issued?

A—No. You must hold your new permanent plan insurance one year before you have the right to borrow on it.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

The bustle of the holidays is over . . . the gay decorations are stored away for another year, and the pretty, tinsel gift wrappings have been opened and discarded. If your home is like mine, it seems wonderfully tidy now after all the holiday confusion—but it looks just a little drab and lifeless by comparison.

A BRIGHT RED SPARK
Today I'd like to suggest one happy, easy solution to those early January blues, a little brightness where you need it the most—in your kitchen. APPLE ORCHARD is the name of the pattern and that's just what it is, unless you'd like to call it BARREL OF APPLES. Pick any one you like, the sturdy rug, quickly crocheted in double strands of thick China Red cotton . . . the merry little stool cover . . . or, for a really speedy pick-up, a cheery potholder or two. The fruit-like shaping at the bottom of each piece and the pert green leaves are original touches that carry out the apple theme.

BE YOUR OWN JOHNNY APPLES!
Details for your home are never more fun, nor more personal, than when you make them yourself. So why not so . . . our seeds, so to speak, and crochet away to create one or all of these fat, ripe fruits? The materials required are fast to work and the stitches are fundamental, so you needn't be a great expert to do a good job. For free instructions just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper and ask for APPLE ORCHARD, Leaflet No. S-871.

New Look in Living
A talk on "The New American Look in Living", will be given by Miss Beth Peterson, home economist with the duPont Company.

Her talk will be a feature of Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware, Feb. 10, according to Mrs. Florence Y. Smith, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Peterson, of Wilmington, is an authority on chemical developments as they affect the home.

She will show and discuss some of the newest products from the research laboratory, and describe what makes them possible and how they get out of the test tubes into the hands of the public, Mrs. Smith said.

"There's a new look in living today which can best be described as a marriage of individual needs and modern technology," Miss Peterson says. "Because women wanted better things for modern living, they spurred industry to produce them. Women can take much of the credit for our high standard of living today."

This observation grew out of her years of association with duPont and with home economics and extension work. She is a graduate of Iowa State College in home economics. She has also had advanced work on textiles and consumer economics there and at the University of Chicago.

She taught home economics for two years and was a county home demonstration agent in Iowa. Following this work, she joined the staff of the Iowa State College Extension Service as specialist in textiles and clothing.

Good Lighting Required For Study and Reading

Well lighted, cheerful places in the home encourage reading and study, not only by the youngsters but by the adults too, says home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith.

A good desk lamp in the right place will do much to prevent eye strain and reduce fatigue.

All lamps should be equipped with a reflector bowl under the shade to spread the light reducing the difference in brightness between the desk or table top and the rest of the room.

Too tall and too short lamps are unhandy. A low lamp will light only a small area and a tall lamp will shine directly into the eyes. Most people like a lamp with 15 inches between the desk and the bottom of the lamp shade.

Another important factor is the placement of the lamp. If it is on the desk it should be opposite the writing hand. If twin lamps are used, such as two wall lamps, they should be mounted about 30 inches apart.

A single lamp should not have less than a 150 watt bulb. A pair of lamps should have at least 100 watt bulbs, Mrs. Smith said.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

The congregation at St. Stephen's is pleased to note recent improvements in the interior of the church building, the result of some hard work on the part of several members. Messrs. James Hoffman, George Johnson, Earl McColley, and Clyde Perry covered the walls with celotex, repainted the side walls and pews and repainted the chancel and sanctuary. Since the work was done, not only has the appearance of the church been much improved, but also the heating of the building has been made easier for the cold winter days yet ahead.

Last week the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. went to Washington, D.C., on a business mission, where he conferred with Senator John J. Williams and the State Department. He visited Senator J. Allen Frear, and also a number of friends from Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria.

'We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done.' The man dropped into a seat and sighed with relief as he said to himself, 'Thank goodness, I've found my crowd at last!'"

Potatoes Featured At Farm and Home Week

Potatoes and vegetables will be a special feature of this year's Farm and Home Week program at the University of Delaware, according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist.

The special section will be held Thursday, Feb. 12, 9:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Two feature speakers will discuss the maintenance of quality in white potatoes from harvest to retail store.

Dr. L. W. Nielson, plant pathologist from North Carolina State College, recognized as one of the outstanding authorities on transit storage rots of potatoes, will discuss their causes and prevention. Another problem which occurs in Delaware is "jelly-rot" of potatoes which will be discussed by Dr. Nielson.

Dr. P. H. Heinze of the U.S.D.A. has the topic "Factors Affecting the Quality of Potatoes from Harvest to Retail Store." He will discuss harvest and handling procedures that have considerable influence on quality.

Governor J. Caleb Boggs will present prizes and certificates to the champion tomato growers in a ceremony during the afternoon program. This annual event pays tribute to tomato growers for outstanding yields produced in 1958.

E. P. Brasher, E. M. Rahn and R. F. Stevens of the University staff will also discuss timely topics of current interest to potato and vegetable growers.

As a fitting climax to the day's program, a tour of the University campus will acquaint downstate visitors with the recent new facilities of the University.

Social Security Notes

Self-employed farmers may use an alternate method for figuring their earnings from the farm. Edward F. Sullivan, district manager of the local Social Security Administration office, and William B. Davis, agent in charge of the Dover Office of Internal Revenue, reminded farm operators today.

Mr. Davis pointed out that self-employed farmers may figure their earnings for social security in several ways.

(1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1800, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or 2/3 of your farm gross income;

(2) If your gross farm income is more than $1800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1200, you may use either your actual net or $1200;

(3) If your gross farm income is more than $1800 and your net farm earnings are $1200 or more, you must use the actual amount of your net earnings.

Mr. Davis added that use of the option enables farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age and for their survivors in case of death. However, he emphasized that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self-employment earnings) in order to get social security credit for the year.

In addition to the revised optional method, the law provides social security coverage to some farm owners who receive cash or crop shares from tenant farmers. If the farm-landlord under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of production of the farm crops raised on his land, this income may be reported for social security purposes.

Requests for information regarding taxes due and tax return forms should be directed to the Internal Revenue Office at 207 S. New Street, Dover. Questions concerning the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program will be answered by your social security office at 230 W. Lookerman Street, Dover.

THE SENATE DEMOCRATS MAKE PEACE

The Cook and Steen factions, of the Democratic party, have made peace, in the Delaware Senate, and it appears they will begin to do the job for which they were elected.

To brief those who came in late, we give the background. Steen was named, in caucus before the convening of the Senate, to be president pro tempore of the Senate. Of course, this action had to be backed by a vote in the Senate.

When the Senate convened the Cook faction of six Democrat senators, aided by five Republicans put the Kent County Democrat in the chair.

The disgruntled Steen faction proved dissident, in Senate activities, and the Republicans were enabled to appoint two or three attaches and to get more than normal representation on committees.

Meanwhile, work in the Senate suffered. The Steen faction, however, could be disagreeable, but it could not afford to hold out long enough to give the electorate reason to complain. Hence, the smoking of the peace pipe.

The reconciliation saw the Republican attaches fired and members of the Steen faction supplanted some Republican members of the committees. Before the fracas was settled, there were three Democrats and two Republicans on most committees.

Just who was the 75-millimeter gun of the coup coup d'etat, which made Allen J. Cook, president pro tempore, we do not know. When the cheers were being issued, it was said Vernon Derrickson, chairman of the Kent County Democratic Committee, and Samuel Fox, a power in Kent County politics, were responsible for the move.

We do not think so. They would not act except on orders of higher brass. Fox, especially, is a politician who lives up to his name. Congressman Harris B. McDowell was mentioned, in the scuffle in the Legislative Hall, as an instigator of the Cook-Steen tiff. McDowell is also a shrewd politician. Safely ensconced in Washington, he would have little to gain from an interparty row.

But, the brains of some big shot, high in party councils, must have triggered the plot. The lieutenants would seldom undertake anything big without consulting the captain, and so on up the line to the general.

The Republicans were clever politicians in the furnishing of the yeast for the Democratic squabble. After all, being in the minority, they had everything to win and nothing to lose.

Only time will tell whether the Democratic party in the Senate will continue to suffer from the quarrel, or whether it will have lasting, wholesome benefits. For the present, however, the formerly warring members are putting their arms around one another. The hatchet is apparently buried, but there may come a day when it may be buried in a different spot.

EXCHANGE PREMIUM

The last six or eight months of my army service, back in 1945, my company commander was a young fellow named William Dodge. I learned about a year ago that he, like myself, is in the business as editor and publisher of the Vandalia, Missouri, Leader. This week I came upon a reprint of an editorial from his Vandalia newspaper which I thought was pretty good. Here it is:

"It's nice that you don't find this kind in Vandalia. It's the type businessman who thinks the world owes him a living."

"He goes around in his own merry way, ringing up his cash register, happy when his front door is swinging inward every second, on the second, all safe and sound in his own little cocoon."

"Now in his watching up and down Main Street he sees somebody go into another store, he sees somebody go out of town . . . he watches some special business pass him by because he didn't want to do anything to help stimulate the desire."

"Now there is a certain irritability that creeps into his thinking. He asks the people in the street, 'Why don't you come to my place of business, I live here, which automatically qualifies me to get all your benefits as well as Joe Blow down the street.'

"What Mr. Merchant overlooks is the fact that he expects all to come his way and he wants to do nothing in return. He takes no part in any special events, he doesn't give a working hand in civic projects, he belongs to no organization which works for the betterment of the city, he does nothing in his church work, he remains silent on all controversial issues and will serve on no boards because he is just too lazy to do so."

"Yet . . . his thinking remains, 'Why don't you do the same for me as any other businessman because I live here. All the other fellows can do the work but still I should reap the same benefits that they do.'

"It reminds us of the short movie we saw years ago when the grasshoppers ran around all summer singing, 'The World Owe Me a Living,' while the ants worked and slaved to put away supplies for the winter, so that when cold weather came they would be prepared."

"But . . . it's like we say, we don't have any here in Vandalia." Well, we don't have any here in Sacred Heart, either—the type of fellow who's perfectly willing to ride but won't get out and push. Or do we?

49-Star Flag Goes Into Use July 4

As we are all aware a new national flag with 49 stars has been authorized by the President of the United States and goes into general use July 4th, 1959.

The present flag with 48 stars in the field may be displayed as long as it is not too faded, torn or generally soiled or worn.

Senate Battles As Democrats Rename Units

In a wild procedural battle in which Senate rules were suspended and reinstated in rapid order, the recently reunited Democrats Friday cut the Republicans to one member on every one of the 22 Senate committees.

The Republicans actually lost one member from 16 committees on which they had been originally given two by the Democrats.

The battle raged on the floor, in and out of an executive session, and wound up with two adjournments, one Democratic, one Republican, and, as a postlude, with Republican Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson informing Democratic President Pro Temp Senator Allen J. Cook of Kenton that Cook had violated the constitution by calling the Democratic members to order and adjourning during a recess called by the Republicans.

Both houses are now in adjournment to allow for visitations and budget hearings.

The dispute was one Senate Resolution 24, introduced by Cook, which rescinded all previous committee appointments by the president pro tempore, and directed him to appoint the committees as listed.

Cook introduced it and Buckson referred it to the rules committee, headed by Senator Jesse F. Watson (D-Townsend). Minutes later Watson reported it out with three votes favorable and two unfavorable.

With both sides apparently laboring under misapprehension, Senator John E. Reilly, Sr. (D-Wilmington) moved for a suspension of Rule 9, which provides that no bill or joint resolution may be voted on the same day it is reported out of committee.

The vote was 11 Democrats yeas, six Republicans nays, the motion was declared lost for lack of a two-thirds majority.

At this point Senator Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) moved for an executive session, and the motion was approved.

During the 20 minutes of the closed session it was found that actually Rule 10 was applicable in this case, as it provided that a concurrent or simple resolution (as Reilly said, amid laughter, "This one is simple") may be voted on at any time after it is introduced or reported out of committee.

Snowden Blasts Action The minority leader, Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), arose to comment: "This is the first offspring of the union of Lyons-Derrickson factions of the Democratic Party (a reference to the Democratic Senate split which has been attributed to friction between Garrett E. Lyons, state chairman and Vernon B. Derrickson, Kent County chairman."

Mrs. Buckson ruled that SR 24 was out of order, because Senate rules give the president pro tempore the responsibility of appointing the committee, and makes no provision for changing them by resolution.

Buckson then started to read from Rule 7, governing the appointment of committees: "Unless the Senate shall otherwise direct, the president pro tempore . . ."

"Well, what do you think we're doing here?" growled Reilly through his cigar.

Before Buckson could proceed further, Reilly said: "Mr. President, I move we suspend all the rules."

Buckson called for a roll-call vote, and it was again 11 Democrats yeas, six Republicans nays.

Buckson ruled the motion lost because "all the rules" included Rule 9, and Rule 23 stipulates that it takes a two-thirds vote to suspend Rule 9.

Rules Suspended Reilly then moved to suspend all the rules except Rule 9, and this was done.

Cook then moved that Senate Resolution 24 be considered.

Snowden called for an explanation by the Democrats as to why this change was being made.

"We should know what the senators have done or have not done that they should be added to or dropped from the committees," Snowden said.

Cook, making no reference to the prevailing Democratic sentiment that the Republicans tried to drive a wedge into a Democratic split and were merely getting their come-uppance, replied: "We feel it is for the welfare of the people of the State of Delaware. We haven't accomplished much in these three weeks. We feel that this will help us carry on the business of the state. We intend no reflections on any individual senators."

At this point Buckson again ruled that SR 24 was out of order.

Chair Overruled Reilly moved to overrule the chair. Buckson called for a roll-call and to the surprise of no one, the chair was overruled 11-6.

Buckson then called for a roll-call on the resolution which passed 11 to 6.

Snowden then called for a five-minute recess, which was ordered. Fifteen minutes later, at 6 p.m., Cook, the president pro tempore, mounted the rostrum, and gavelled the session back into order with the 10 Democrats present.

A motion to restore the rules was passed, and Reilly's motion to adjourn until Feb. 2 was passed. The Democrats walked out.

A moment later Buckson and the six Republicans walked in. Buckson, stern-faced, pounded the gavel and declared the Senate in session. He then ordered a sergeant-at-arms to notify Mr. Cook personally that the Senate was in session.

A few minutes later, Cook walked in and took his seat. There was not a whisper in the chamber.

Buckson coldly informed Cook that for his information the constitution provides that the lieutenant governor is the providing officer of the Senate, and that the president pro temp shall preside only in his absence.

"You are just a senator as long as the lieutenant governor is present in the building and available," Buckson stated.

able," Buckson stated.

Cook commented that a Republican five-minute recess had stretched to 10 minutes or more, that the lieutenant governor was not in the chamber, and it was the sentiment of the majority that it was time to go home.

Buckson repeated his earlier statement and told Cook that the president pro temp had acted in violation of the constitution.

With no further discussion the Senate adjourned for the second time in 15 minutes, on motion from Snowden.

Felton School News

Basketball News Felton girls beat Caesar Rodney Tuesday, Jan. 20, 44-38. This made three wins and one loss.

Josephine McCloskey led home forces with 26 points followed by Evelyn Walters with 11 points.

Guards Mary Ellen Hughes, Mary Lou Lander and Carol Wright played another fine defensive game.

Friday night the Bridgeville girls caught our girls off guard and beat them 32-20. As in victory the team work together wins, while lack of team play resulted in this defeat which made the record three wins and two losses.

Evelyn Walters scored 16 points in a losing cause. Every good team has their off nights but let's hope our girls make this the last one.

Games this week are against Milton High School Tues., Jan. 27 on Milton's court.

Fri., Jan. 23, the Felton Varsity Team played Bridgeville on Bridgeville's court. The score was 53-44 in favor of Felton.

Billy Rentz came first with 23 points, next was Billy Stubbs with 10 points, next was Richard Steele with 9 and Richard McCloskey with 5. Joe Sherwood, Bobby Edwards and Earl Walters each scored 2 points.

Jan. 30, Felton and Selbyville will play a game on Felton's court.

The Jayvees and Varsity teams will play John M. Clayton on Felton's court Tuesday, Feb. 3.

Felton will travel to Middletown Friday, Feb. 6, where the Jayvees and Varsity teams will play.

Feb. 2, is the opening date of "A Wedding" by the Felton Parent-Teacher acting company. The male lead is being capably handled by Bill Eliason, as the bridegroom. His leading lady is Mrs. Ann Chambers, fourth grade teacher. Richard Adams, president of the PTA is portraying the professional best man. As the bachelor friend of the groom you will see John French.

The bride manages to upset her father, Charles Sheets and her aunt, Mrs. Alice Pizzadili. Perhaps you mothers who have married off your only son will sympathize with Mrs. Dolores Swain who plays as the bridegroom's mother.

Miss Mona G. Lawson, the Junior High English teacher, is directing the play.

The play will begin at 8 following a spaghetti dinner.

High School Band and Chorus The High School Band and Chorus and the school Dance Band are working on perfection for the Winter Concert which will be presented Thursday evening, February 12 at 8 o'clock in the Felton School auditorium. The Dance Band will be presented at a concert for the first time.

Tickets will be sold at the door by the High School Majorettes wearing their new uniforms.

Report Cards The report cards for the third marking period were issued Wednesday.

Pupils who qualified for the honor roll will be listed in next week's column.

F.F.A. This week Felton was honored to have the state F.F.A. president, Rodney Caulk, come to visit our school.

Our F.F.A. have discussed the Parent and Son Banquet, and have had reports on committee work.

Dig Those New Vegetable Varieties The pictures on the new seed catalogs are real pretty and the vegetables are extraordinarily large and colorful at this time of year, according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulture specialist at the University of Delaware.

Part of the beauty of these garden plants is due to the time of the year and the gardener's frame of mind. He is thinking about the garden, all frozen or sloppy with mud, (as the case may be) and those picture book vegetables look wonderful to him.

Every home gardener expects to grow vegetables in his garden this coming year that are just as big and colorful as those new varieties on the cover of the catalog.

The problem is, according to Stevens, that the "best" new varieties are developed for a certain section of the section of the country for particular markets and may not be suitable here.

Stevens suggests trying package of the new seeds this year to compare results with your regular variety.

Some of the new ones worth trying here in Delaware are: Sweet corn—Golden Beauty, a second early variety that is reported to be good quality and resistant to wilt—Gold Cup, a mid-season to late variety producing a good yield of excellent quality;

Cantaloupes—Three new varieties are available which may have a place in home gardens, Harper Hybrid, Supermarket F. and Edisto;

Watermelon—Hope Diamond, is resistant to disease and of excellent quality but seed is scarce and this variety matures late;

Cucumber—Burrpeeana Hybrid is a few days earlier than Burrpee Hybrid.

There are many other new varieties available but it is best to risk only a few each year, Stevens said.

Local Softball League to Meet There will be a meeting of the Harrington Softball League at the Moose Lodge Wednesday evening, Feb. 4, at 8 o'clock.

If you like to play softball or have any ideas that will make this a better league please attend this meeting. Any organization or nearby town interested in sponsoring a team please be present.

At this meeting we will also discuss the possibility of putting up lights for the coming season.

Curbs By State On Conditional Sales Stressed

Regulation of conditional sales contracts is needed in Delaware, Randolph Hughes, state bank commissioner, told the Joint Finance Committee of the General Assembly, as it continued its hearings on appropriation requests of state agencies Wednesday.

"Delaware is one of the few states that does not regulate conditional sales contracts," Mr. Hughes said. In such contracts, used frequently in connection with financing of new and used car purchases, "there is a lot of opportunity to take advantage of the public."

Finance charges and higher charges for insurance than obtainable elsewhere, are added in with the amount to be paid off in conditional sales contracts. In some cases the seller "adds unconscionable charges," the bank commissioner said. He added that the practice is not widespread, and that there is "nothing wrong with conditional sales contracts" unless the seller does add high charges. Pennsylvania, he said, has a law which limits the charges on such contract in automobile financing.

Several committee members said they know of cases where used car buyers have been paying for two years and still owe more than the car is worth.

Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) declared that there are also abuses of conditional sales contracts in sales of homes.

Bank Mergers Lauded
The bank commissioner was also questioned on bank mergers—are they good or bad for the community? There are many advantages, Mr. Hughes replied. They result in larger banks, with greater capital, which are equipped to handle larger loans and render more specialized services than the small banks. An example is the trust department services larger banks may offer. Mr. Hughes said it is essential that people who are handling other people's money be well trained.

The bank commissioner declared he wants "to see adequate banking in our state," meeting the banking needs of the communities. "If they (the larger banks) go down into Sussex and take over the responsibility (of providing banking services) I want to see them stay there and provide adequate banking facilities and I don't want to see them pull out."

He added that mergers have not produced a single complaint from any area affected.

The Finance Committee, with Senator Walter J. Hoey, presiding, also interviewed Wednesday, the new state treasurer, Mrs. Belle Everett, with her deputy, Andrew O'Neal, and the custodian, Edward Wright.

The committee was informed that the Ramac machine, in which it has displayed a lively and continuing interest, was loaded for shipment by truck Wednesday at San Jose, Calif., and should arrive in Dover early next week. The committee has been asking everyone connected with the state's fiscal affairs what he expects from the electronic accounting machine ordered by the Budget Commission.

Mr. O'Neal said he was not sure of the full effects of the big machine, but he thought it would probably eliminate overtime pay in the treasurer's office.

More Funds Needed
That office is going to have to close its doors on April 1, unless the General Assembly provides more funds with which to operate for the final three months of the fiscal year, Mr. O'Neal and Mrs. Everett reported. About $26,000 will be needed for salaries and for equipment rental. Expenses of running the office have been going up, and the administration which just left the office did not leave enough money in the salary and office expense accounts to get through the fiscal year.

The Finance Committee has been making patient inquiries about travel expenses, about the national organizations that state officials belong to, and the conventions they attend.

Said Senator Hoey: "We're not objecting to paying for things we get something out of." He wanted to know what was gotten out of the meetings and also where the state officials got the authority to join the national organizations. Perhaps the officials returning from national meetings should be required to report, it was suggested.

Senator Hoey said that former State Auditor Dale Wheatley "spent $1200 to go down to Miami and we haven't heard of 12 cents worth of value from it."

Mr. Knight, the custodian, asked for a $10,000 boost in his salary account because of increasing responsibilities, as more state buildings are constructed in Dover.

The committee uncovered what appeared to be a duplication when it found the custodian is supplying janitorial services and supplies to the State Armory at Dover, which presumably is covered in the budget of the Delaware National Guard.

Mr. Knight put his jacket on and became an administrator for the hearing. Afterward, he took it off again and was seen pushing supplies around the basement of Legislative Hall on a two-wheeled hand truck.

Tourist Travel Booklets Issued

The Delaware State Development Department began distribution this week of two new pieces of State of Delaware literature as a part of an accelerated statewide effort to stimulate tourist travel into and through the Diamond State during 1959.

Available now through the department is a new state highway map folder that not only offers revised maps of the state and various areas of the state but also being distributed is a two-fold, six panel folder that lists many of the outstanding events scheduled for Delaware this year.

The map folder, prepared by State Highway Department personnel, with the co-operation of other state agencies, is, in the opinion of those who previewed it at a recent meeting of The Delaware Travel Council, one of the most attractive and informative brochures of this nature ever made available for free distribution.

The map is larger than any previous Delaware highway map and is entirely in color. A large insert shows, in detail, the highways, lakes, rivers and ponds, railroads, parklands and communities of northern New Castle County.

Smaller inserts give similar detail for the City of Wilmington and the Dover area. Another small insert shows the position of Delaware in relation to New York City and Washington, D. C., and the principal cities of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia; approximate distances between these points and Delaware communities is also given.

RAn easy-to-read alphabetical listing of Delaware cities, towns and places, coded to facilitate the locating of them on the larger map, also appears as an insert on the map side of the folder.

The reverse side of the map folder contains, in addition to a mileage chart and information on rules for highway safety, sections offering wealth of information on the many attractions of the state; these sections are well illustrated with color photographs of historic sites, recreation areas and other Delaware scenes.

A section, prepared by Development Department personnel, offers, in capsule form, a resume of Delaware's past, a review of its present and a look towards its future. Illustrating this section, aptly titled "Delaware—Yesterday—Today—Tomorrow", are colored reproductions, in miniature, of Delaware's flag, coat of arms and state bird.

Another large panel section, prepared by State Archives, locates and offers pertinent information on some of the many historic places of the "First State." These listings are coded in such manner as to facilitate easy location of the places on the maps that appear on the opposite side of the opened folder.

A third large panel section locates and describes Delaware's parks, fresh and salt water fishing facilities, wildlife areas, state forests and other recreation areas. Information is also given as to where one may write for additional information on Delaware's varied recreational facilities.

A panel that become the outside or cover when the brochure is folded for mailing or for easy storage, pictures, in color, the Legislative Hall and Governor J. Caleb Boggs. A message of welcome from the state's chief executive, and space for inserting of name and address of a proposed recipient completes the cover panel.

While the new edition of the Calendar of Events only covers the first five months of the current calendar year, it lists 171 events, the largest number of state activities ever listed in a publication of this nature.

David S. Hugg, who compiled and edited the material appearing in the new Calendar of Events has advised that he received excellent co-operation from virtually all of the organizations that sponsor events that are of general interest both of Delawareans and to visitors to the "First State."

Mr. Hugg has announced that information for a second edition, covering the period June 1 through December 31, 1959, is now being compiled and all Delaware organizations are being invited to submit information concerning events occurring during this period.

Thousands of maps, Calendar of Events, and other literature on Delaware and its many attractions are distributed annually by the Development Department, which serves as the publicity, information and promotion agency of the state government. Requests for such materials should be addressed to Tourism Division, Delaware State Development Department, 45 The Green, Dover.

Asbury Church Booster Class News

The Booster Class of Asbury Methodist Church, sponsors of the annual venison dinner and associated entertainment, has been very busy the past two weeks. They have completed the interior painting of the auditorium, hallways, and five Sunday-School rooms in the Collins building, under the direction of Ernest Dean.
