SNOW LIKE WE HAD BACK WHEN

The snow and cold, such as we haven't had in these parts for many a year, occasions reminiscence about the days "when we really had snow."

I remember particularly the difficulties the rural mail carriers had during the long, cold snow filled winters. Along about mid-afternoon we could start looking for the mailman's rig.

His light sleigh drawn by a faithful team got through if anybody could, but there were days when he could make only half the route before darkness overtook him. Many places he would detour off the road into fields to avoid huge drifts across the way.

We lived at the intersection of two roads, and almost every winter the snows would completely cover the corner boxes, and temporary containers would be set out where the mailman could get to them.

I often wonder if it snows there now as it did then. I remember one winter when the long, tall row of lilacs that bordered the north edge of our farm yard was completely covered with snow as were the trees on the north side of the apple orchard. Just the wee tops stuck through the snow as I skied over them.

I was lucky that I had only a mile to walk to "District No. 118" school, over a road that usually had a track. Often frozen cheeks required a bit of snow rubbing on arrival at school, and dinner pail contents were our first experience with frozen foods.

The chore of running to the nearest neighbor to get the day's pail of water for the earthen fountain was not sought out on those rigid winter days as it was in the sunny spring and fall. If a real blizzard started brewing, we usually got out early, and if it was bad enough we'd all get to pile into the first bob sled that came from the direction where we lived.

The big excitement of every winter was watching the train break through the snow filled cuts on a little spur track that ran near our home. The track ran from a mainline to a little mining town about four miles off. The railroad was obliged by contract to make the run once every week. During the winter months this was no simple feat. Big rotary plows backed by two engines erupted volcanoes of snow, steam and smoke as they chugged their way through the mountainous drifts. Sometimes it took the crews nearly a week to get through, with derailments and other difficulties. The cuts they made were veritable snow tunnels, which filled up quickly when the wind would blow.

No one ever thought of using a car during the winter months. Carefully set up on blocks to protect the tires it had a long rest until the thaws of spring put it back in operation.

I recall one spring when father took the car out for the first spin. It just wouldn't start. He cranked and cranked and finally hitched a team to it. They dragged it around the yard for hours, but it wouldn't even fire once. Finally, a neighbor happened by. Checking things over, he discovered that father had turned the little copper switch on "battery" instead of on "magneto"—it had been such a long time since. With the little key set right, it started right off.

It may be that modern snow removal equipment automatic heat and all such have reduced the impact of winter so we don't notice it as much, but I still don't think it snows like it did in those days.

RELIGION BEHIND THE WHEEL

"There is no place religion is more practical than behind the wheel of a car."

That assertion was made yesterday by the Rev. Edmund F. Julien, Diocesan Superintendent of Schools and a director of the Delaware Safety Council.

"The problem of traffic accidents is not merely a technical problem of engineering, licensing and enforcement," Father Julien said. "It is basically a human problem. Accidents are caused by drivers, not by automobiles."

"All the advances made in automotive design, better and safer streets and highways, and new techniques and devices for efficient traffic movement will not solve the traffic accident problem until drivers really become aware of their moral and social obligation behind the wheel of a car."

"Deliberate or unintentional violation of a traffic law or sign, or of the dictates of common sense or courtesy, takes the 'accident' factor out of traffic accidents. Such actions place the burden of guilt upon the negligent driver. And if death results, the guilty driver also has broken the Commandment—'Thou Shalt Not Kill!'"

Father Julien said this Commandment is not restricted to deliberate murder, but includes the gross carelessness which results in highway deaths.

"It is time for all persons who profess any religious faith, to accept their moral responsibilities in helping to prevent traffic accidents," he said.

"Anger, impatience, selfishness—have no place on the roads. They lead to accidents and often to death. Love, courtesy and consideration, on the other hand, will reduce traffic accidents."

Canteen Club Notes

On Sat., March 28, we had a dance with Morty Marker, which was a great success, thanks to the support of all the teenagers in our neighboring towns. We held two jitterbug contests which were won by Tommy Holloway of Milford and Barbara Spicer of Harrington. The second was won by Toby Ross and Mary K. Mitchell, both of Ridgely, Md. Another dance has been planned for April 11. Morty Marker will again be with us. We hope you will again support the dance and see if we can't have more than 120 teenagers there.

At our last meeting we received the resignation of our secretary, Marlene Hoffman, and Billy McColey was elected our new secretary. Also, we elected junior officers. As president we elected Dawn Hopkins, vice-president, David Brobst; secretary, Christy Coady, and Sandy Walls as treasurer.

Elizabeth Greer, Milford, to Represent State at Cherry Festival

When the Nation's Capital traditionally marks the blossoming of its cherry trees with its Cherry Blossom Festival, April 7 through April 12, the State of Delaware will be officially represented by one of its fair daughters, Miss Elizabeth R. Grier.

Unanimously selected as Delaware's 1959 Cherry Blossom Princess by the Delaware State Society of Washington, D. C., the 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Grier of Milford will participate in all of the events comprising the six-day festival, including the Parade of Princesses, the traditional pageant and the crowning ceremony. Her many friends in the "First State" naturally hope that she will be center figure when the last-named event occurs.

The 1959 Delaware Cherry Blossom Princess is no stranger to Washington, having been employed in the Nation's Capital since last September, initially as a secretary in the office of former Congressman Harry G. Haskell, Jr., (R-Del.) and, since January 1 of this year, as a secretary in the office of Congressman Perkins Bass (R-N.H.).

The auburn-haired native of Milford weighs 130 pounds and stands 5 foot 6 1/2". She has hazel eyes and what her friends refer to as a "winning smile."

She was born March 6, 1938, at Milford and is a graduate of Milford High School. During her high school days Miss Grier was active in many fields, including athletics and student government. She also was a member of the May Court for four years; served as a delegate to Girls' State and as an alternate to Girls' Nation.

Following graduation from high school, Miss Grier enrolled at Centenary College for Women in Hackettstown, N. J. Among her college accomplishments and activities were: Vice president, freshman class; membership in Student Council; orientation committee; Phi Iota Society, Presidents' Club, Guild Club, and Delta Sigma Sigma Sorority, and president of the senior class.

Her interests include enjoyment of music and of traveling. In the latter category have been two summers spent in Colorado at the Young Life Ranch, a non-denominational camp, and two spring vacations spent in Bermuda visiting a college roommate. She is "fascinated by the hustle and bustle of Washington" and enjoys her work on Capitol Hill.

In addition to being entertained by her sponsors, the Delaware State Society, the Delaware Princess will participate in the following Cherry Blossom Festival events:

The official opening of the 1959 Festival at 3 p.m., April 7, at the Stone Lantern located on the north side of the Tidal Basin opposite the Jefferson Memorial; The State Societies' Dance at the Sheraton Park Hotel the evening of April 7;

The Cherry Blossom Festival Luncheon and Fashion Show at the Mayflower Hotel on April 8;

The Festival High School Band Contest at the National Guard Armory the morning of April 9, and, at 1 p.m., the same day, the major league baseball opening at Griffith Stadium, where President Eisenhower will throw out the first ball;

The R.O.T.C. Drill Team Contest at the National Guard Armory the morning of April 10;

At 2 p.m., April 11, the National Cherry Blossom Festival Pageant at the Jefferson Memorial on the south side of the Tidal Basin, which will be climaxed by the crowning of the 1959 National Cherry Blossom Queen; and at 7:30 that evening the Parade of Princesses, including more than 7,000 participants, throughout Washington.

On Sunday, April 12, beginning at 2 p.m., the pageant of the day previous will be repeated in its entirety. This year's pageant will be in the nature of a musical show featuring many well known entertainment personalities including TV singing star Steve Lawrence.

Among those present and "rooting" for Delaware's Princess will be the hundreds of transplanted Delawareans employed in the Washington area and many visitors from the "First State." All in all, the 1959 festival will be something long remembered by the thousands who annually witness this outstanding event and particularly by a pretty little girl from Milford.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

When spring and summer come along I have to put on my thinking cap to decide about a little wrap to compliment my light weight clothes. I have sheer woolen dresses, then later on there are summer linens, chambrays and other thin fabrics to consider. My requirements are endless. But, fortunately, this year I've come up with a wonderful multi-purpose solution, and I'm very excited about it.

A BULKY KNIT SOLUTION

My little bulky knit jacket does all the things a jacket is supposed to do. First and foremost the softness of knitting worked has the feeling of the milder weather. The classic style is precisely what you need to wear usually during the day and for going out of an evening in the spring. Whenever I think of summer, I think automatically about warm weather, and I guess that you do too. But, the evenings are often chilly, and I can see now that my bulky woolen jacket will be a treasure. The wide open lapels are such a gentle setting for a rich bronze sun tan and pretty white or pink coral jewelry. When you want to be more covered up, the shawl collar closes neatly with a pin.

COMFORT IS THE KEYNOTE

There's something about a comfortable jacket like a devoted friend, that makes you never want to give it up. You can count on the roomy easy-moving lines of this jacket, with its boxy fit, not to take the perkiness out of your freshly ironed cottons. You can wear the cuffs turned up. Or, when you wear a long sleeved dress, unfold them to the wrist. When fall rolls around, your warm weather jacket worn with a woolen skirt, becomes a new fall suit. I was delighted most of all because this is a truly simple project that uses your crocheting know-how for quite a while. As a matter of fact, the straight pieces, with no shaping or precise measuring to do, make it an easy-to-make surprise gift for a young niece or an older aunt. The style knows no age limit at all. You work your pattern in sizes small, medium or large and finish it off with covered buttons that give your bulky jacket a very expensive look. To receive the free instructions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Dept. of this newspaper and ask for BULKY JACKET, WITH WIDE LAPELS Leaflet No. PC-9712.

Then there was a great earthquake and an angel came and rolled away the stone and sat upon it. At this the guards did "Shake and became as dead men." The final part of the cantata was "The Dawn of the Kingdom" with a brilliant solo by Carrington Burgess, "Go ye then and save the nations, 'tis your Risen Lord's Command." Other soloists were Ken Aiken, Kenny Hoffman, Arthur Hoffman and Jewel Hoffman. The organist and director was Mrs. Richard Gibson. Publication on Weed Control in Vegetables Out

A revised publication on chemical weed control in vegetable crops is now available for commercial vegetable growers from the county agent, George Vapaa.

The publication is called Agricultural Extension Circular 84.

Some of the changes in recommendations include a discussion of Eptam, a new herbicide effective in preventing germination of annual grass seed and the tubers of nutgrass.

Eptam has been successful in strawberries in tests over the last two years, he said. It is a granular material applied by mixing into the soil.

Though expensive, Eptam is practical in potatoes where nutgrass is a serious problem. It has been tested only one year in potatoes, tomatoes and peppers and should be given only a trial run on a limited acreage this year, he says.

Other new chemicals discussed include Kloben, for strawberries; Endothal in beets; and recommended use of various herbicides for weed control in spinach, asparagus, cabbage, broccoli, lettuce, etc.

The five-page publication contains much more information on other herbicides, their application and use, Mr. Vapaa said.

Delaware Food Market Report

April showers not only bring May flowers but hungry people to the table as well. Capitalize on those spring-time hunger pangs with the array of pork now on the market. The continued bountiful supplies of pork predicted for April by the United States Department of Agriculture provides lots of delicious menu leeway. Pork heads the list of best buys for April. This week look for specials on bacon, spare-ribs and roasts.

A host of other solid foods round out April's Plentiful Foods List. Canned peas remain abundant. For fresh vegetables, look for cabbage, celery and potatoes. Also plentiful are peanuts and peanut products, walnuts, lard and honey. And you will find eggs, milk and dairy products also in abundant supply. Remember to shop for the plentiful foods. It pays!

Continued rain in Florida has hampered the harvesting of many vegetables that come to the market at this time of year. However, the increasing shipments arriving from other sections of the country have helped keep prices down. This week the leafy green vegetables are abundant, so put them on your shopping list! Escarole, broccoli, snap beans, and tomatoes, spinach, endive, chicory, kale, collard, lettuce, cucumbers, carrots are also plentiful — and prices are reasonable.

Increased supplies of apples from controlled — atmosphere storage are on the market now and prices reflect this. Here is something that is very interesting about these apples—they taste like fresh ones, not "cold storage" ones. You see, these apples have been stored since harvest under conditions of controlled temperature humidity and ventilation. Such conditions maintain the quality of the apples similar to that at harvest time.

Pineapple supplies are rolling in. Twenty to 25 cents will buy an excellent quality fresh pineapple this weekend. Bananas continue to be a good buy at ten cents a pound, and quality remains high. Citrus fruit still offers a lot for your money also.

Don't forget to check the frozen foods when shopping. Stocks of frozen peaches are up 37% from a year ago, and frozen strawberries holdings are about equal to that of last year. Both fruits are "feature items" in many stores this week.

The Delaware School Custodians' Association is making a three-pronged suggestion for increased safety of school students against fire hazards. William E. Caldwell, president, said, "In view of some of the fires that we have had in various parts of the country in schools, our association believes it, along with the educators and the legislators of Delaware, can do much to eliminate some of the possible dangers which can so easily exist in any school. It simply narrows down to some basic requirements of training to be acquired by those of use in the school custodial field."

The three points suggested for consideration and adoption by the Delaware School Custodians' Association are: 1. Custodial co-workers, regardless of title or classification, who are responsible for the operation of steam or hot water boilers in a public school, where State funds are involved, be required to pass a satisfactory examination prepared and conducted by the Delaware State Board of Boiler Rules.

2. That a certificate be issued

School Janitors Suggest Against Fire Hazards

3. That the certification be renewed every five (5) years, according to the Delaware State Board of Boiler Rules recommendation. "While this is not a full-proof method of assured fire safety," Caldwell explained, "it is a step along the way toward working out any needed measures creating increased safety against fire hazards in schools. Statistics indicate that a major number of school fires start because of some boiler breakdown, and we feel that a man trained in that field will often be able to detect such difficulties before they result in some serious fire outbreak."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My World War II permanent GI life insurance policy lapsed two months ago and I am making application to VA to reinstate it. Must I pay interest on my premiums in arrears when I send them in?

A—Not if your application and the premiums in arrears are submitted to VA within three months of the due date of the first premium you missed. Interest is charged only if application is made after three months from date of lapse.

Q—I get two VA benefits: my monthly training allowance, and compensation for a service-incurred disability. Do I have to report either on my 1958 Federal income tax report?

A—No. Veterans benefits are tax-free. Interest on GI insurance dividends left with VA on deposit, however, should be reported.

Q—My father died as a result of war service, and I am eligible for schooling under the War Orphans training in uniform?

A—No. Under the law, persons in military service may not receive War Orphans schooling. You would have to wait until you were discharged before you could enroll.

Q—I have a service-connected disability. Can my family doctor treat my disability and send his bill to the VA?

A—If he has prior approval from VA, yes. Under law, that is necessary before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

Delaware Grown Certified Seed Plenty Good

The best source of seed is certified seed says George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Certification guarantees you seed, grown in Delaware, has been tested by research workers at the University of Delaware and it measures up to, and above some, seed brought in from out-of-state.

This is true of Delaware grown certified hybrid corn as well as small grains and soybeans, Mr. Vapaa said.

If you plan on using your own seed, get it tested by all means, he said. A representative sample should be sent to the State Board of Agriculture seed testing laboratory in Dover for a germination test.

This service is free and it is the only sure way of knowing how well the seed will grow.

For example, with soybeans, germination percentage should be at least 80 percent to insure a good stand in the field when the recommended planting rates of 30 to 40 pounds are used.

If you are buying your seed, be sure to check for the tag on the bag listing variety, purity, weight per bushel, percent disease, percent weed seed, and germination percentage. All seed dealers in Delaware are required to have their seed tagged with this information.

The certified seed tag is a guarantee of quality. The cost of seed is a very small part of the production costs of any crop, Vapaa adds. It is not worth the small difference in price, between cheap and certified seed, to take a chance on having to replant a whole field . . . too late.

Hints on Tree and Shrub Planting

A little care at planting time will put you on the road to success with your trees and shrubs according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Many people think that you just dig a hole, stick the plant in, add fertilizer, replace the soil and finish the job with several waterings. It is not that simple, unfortunately.

The first thing is to dig your hole big enough. Make it at least six inches deeper and 12 inches wider than needed to hold the roots or the ball of soil on the roots.

If the soil removed from the hole is a packed clay, it should be mixed with one-fourth peat and one-fourth sand before filling in around the root system. In Kent County, most soil is light enough without the peat and sand.

Another important point is to fill in under the plant until it is at about the same depth it was before transplanting. Remember that it will settle and this may drop it down too deep.

Fertilizer should NOT be added at planting time as many people think, he said. Wait until the tree or shrub is established in its new location before applying the fertilizer. There is less chance of burning the roots then.

The bare-rooted trees and shrubs should be planted sometime between now and April 15, Mr. Vapaa said. The plants with a ball of earth around the roots should be planted by the end of May for the best results.

Harrington Girl Injured in Crash

A Harrington girl and two Hartly youths were injured at 2:15 a.m. Friday when a car ran off Mill Branch Road, between Chesterville and Millington, Md.

The injured, all sent to Kent and Queen Anne's Hospital at Chestertown, are: Ruth Ann Melvin, 18, of Harrington, double fracture of the pelvis and multiple bruises ad cuts; William Biddle, 17, Hartly, the driver, fractured skull and multiple cuts of the face and arms, and his brother, Woodrow, 19, fractured jaw and cuts of the face and arms.

Trooper James E. Gorman of Easton Barracks, said the 1952 Oldsmobile ran off the narrow, winding back road, rolled over several times, came back on the road where it stopped, demolished.

Gorman took the least injured of the three, Woodrow Biddle, to the Chestertown hospital. Miss Melvin and William Biddle were taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

All three were to be transferred to Wilmington General Hospital Friday in the Centreville, Md., Fire Company ambulance.

Maryland troopers at Easton asked Delaware troopers at Bridgeville to notify the families of the three victims.

How's Your Motor Feeling?

Are your electric motors ready for the coming summer work? County agricultural agent George Vapaa says one of the most important jobs in maintaining electric motors around the farmstead is keeping them clean.

The National Safety Council says that before cleaning an electric motor you should consider the safety angle. Of course you should disconnect the motor from the electrical power. That may sound pretty obvious but a lot of shocked people have forgotten to do it, he says. If you use compressed air for cleaning, protect yourself with safety goggles. A vacuum cleaner works pretty well, too.

When using compressed air, make sure there is a separator in the line to remove all impurities and moisture. Pressure should not be over 40 pound per square inch. When pressure is above that amount there is a danger of damaging the electric motor's insulation.

"For safety's sake, clean electric motors, but clean them safely," Mr. Vapaa concludes.

Surplus Food Cards Mailed Wednesday

State Treasurer Belle Everett Wednesday enclosed postcards, for surplus food from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the check being sent each person receiving public assistance through the State Department of Public Welfare.

Although each person receiving public assistance is tentatively eligible to receive surplus food, it is necessary that they sign the card indicating their desire to receive the food and to be able to certify that they maintain cooking facilities and eat their meals at home.

D. Preston Lee, director of the food distribution program, is emphasizing the urgency of having the cards completed by the recipients immediately upon receipt and getting them into the mail without delay.

It is expected that the food certificates will be mailed with the May 1 check.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Flowers on the altar Easter Sunday were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of all the faithful departed members of the parish by the congregation.

Acolytes who took part in the Easter services were Charles McNally, Frank Welch, William McCole, Gary Porter, William Porter, Albert Ratledge, Roy Porter, William Carter, Terry Porter, Robert Greer, Ronnie Porter, William Thompson.

Easter lilies that decorated the church Sunday were given to the Glory of God and in loving memory of E. Wright Pearsall by Mrs. May Pearsall; L. Robert Hopkins by the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., Joseph Hoffman and Caroline Hoffman by Mrs. Lillian Rice; Susan Hill Opel by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Symonds; Taylor E. Goodley and Hannah M. Goodley by Howard L. Harrington.

St. Stephen's Church School had its annual mite box presentation service at 5:30 p.m. Easter Day. After appropriate prayers and hymns, the boys and girls marched to the altar and laid their mite boxes thereon, a special offering in keeping with the Lenten tradition of the church for many years. Each little green box adorned with pictures of children around the world had this prayer on it: "O Lord, hear and bless thy children of every place and nation as they pray." Some boys and girls had given up candy, movies, or other pleasures to have extra coins for their mite boxes.

Any church school pupils who were not able to attend the service on Easter may take their offerings to church school at 9:30 a.m. next Sunday.

The superintendent and staff wish to thank those persons who so gladly donated eggs and candies for the Easter egg hunt that followed the mite box service. The older boys of the church school hid the eggs in the parish house yard and in the church yard, and the other children participated in the hunt.

The Men of St. Stephen's will hold their next meeting Wednesday, April 15, at the parish house.

All the parishioners of St. Stephen's wish to extend their love and sympathy to the James F. Coady family in their bereavement.

The Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of Delaware, will be guest preacher at the 11 o'clock service Sunday and will confirm the candidates presented to him by the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., vicar of St. Stephen's.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

This time of year I always like to start planning my Spring entertaining, to catch up with some of my relatives and old friends whom I haven't seen for a long while. Spring is just the beginning of so many beautiful months out-of-doors that I always feel its the ideal time to invite guests to my home.

LINEN AND LACE AND EVERYTHING NICE

Spring is such a busy season—with Spring cleaning and storing winter clothes away—that I picked a crisp sparkling pattern that I could make in a jiffy. But, I insisted on a pattern that would be just as appropriate in the Summer time when I open the dining room doors right out into the garden and put up the glass top tables on the terrace. The fully gathered linen apron skirt means that there are only eight crocheted motifs to make. The placemat cuts and points so jauntily that if you have some extra time after you've made ten motifs for each place setting, you can even make a few extra to give as shower gifts to June brides. To receive the free instructions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Dept. of this newspaper and ask for STAR OF VENICE, Leaflet No. 908.

A LOVELY FIRST IMPRESSION

I really think that the prettiness of any party begins with the hostess. After all, you're the first person your guests see as they arrive, and your outfit is just as important for creating a warm inviting atmosphere as the food and drinks you serve. This is why I'm devoted to the hostess apron—that first note of loveliness—and the hostess placemat to match—the perfect way to carry out a delicate feminine theme.

Don't Let Those Easter Plants Die

Did you receive a plant at Easter time? Now you wonder what to do with it? According to Dr. Charles W. Dunham, University of Delaware horticulturist, some of these plants will grow outside, others are good house plants and a few are not suited for either house plants or outdoor culture. The following list of some of the Easter plants will give you an idea of what to do with them.

The species of Easter lily, Longiflorum, which is the one commonly found, is not reliably hardy in this locality. They will often flower again in the fall if put outdoors, however. After danger of frost is past, (May 5 to 10), sink the pots in the ground in a well-protected place with partial sunlight. Dr. Dunham suggests.

They should be kept in this location about two weeks until they are well-hardened off. After that remove from the pot and transplant into the garden, using about one-half handful of fertilizer well mixed into the soil before planting.

Hyacinths are bulbous plants which are hardy in this climate. Keep them in the house in a cool, sunny location until after blooming. They can be set in the garden after danger of frost is past. However, hyacinths which have been forced for Easter blossoms sometimes do not bloom in the garden the next year and it may be several years before the bulb regains its vitality.

Tulips are hardy in this area and may be kept in the garden as soon as frost is over. Put in a good location away from shrubs and spade in a small amount of fertilizer before planting. Don't cut the leaves off until they wither and die.

Most Easter hydranges are of the species hortensis and French hybrids. Keep them in the house in a cool, sunny location with plenty of water while in bloom. After flowering, harden off as for Easter lilies and transplant into the garden.

These plants are not too well suited to this locality as the flower buds are often killed by frost in the early spring. If protected with a bushel basket over the top during the winter, most will come thru and flower.

There are many different types of azaleas sold at Easter time. Some are hardy and some are not. They should be hardened off after flowering and then planted in the garden, providing soil conditions as needed for any outdoor azalea.

The gardenia is a house plant only and not hardy in this area. It does not grow well under conditions in most homes. If you would like to try them as a house plant, plant them outdoors in late spring in a sheltered spot with partial shade. Take up in the fall before frost and try to keep it growing as a house plant.

liam N. Hopkins, Lewes, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

As in the past, farm prices for milk and butterfat will be supported through offers by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to purchase butter, cheddar cheese, and nonfat dry milk in carlot quantities.

The purchase prices under the program will be: 58.75 cents per pound for butter, U. S. Grade A or higher, at New York, N. Y., and Jersey City and Newark, N. J. (U. S. grade B butter is two cents per pound for cheddar cheese, U. S. Grade A, or higher, standard moisture basis, and for nonfat dry milk, U. S. Extra Grade or higher, spray process in barrels and drums 14.25 cents per pound, spray process in bags 13.40 cents per pound, roller process in barrels and drums 12.25 cents per pound, roller process in bags 11.40 cents per pound.

In announcing the continuation of next season's dairy supports at present levels, Mr. Hopkins said Secretary of Agriculture Benson pointed out that 1959 production is not expected to be significantly different from 1957 or 1958 levels, increased consumer incomes are in prospect, and the commercial use of milk products per person is expected to be at least as large as in 1958. With the rise in population, supply and the commercial use of milk products are expected to be more nearly in balance—on a fat basis—than in several years, although there will still be some surplus of nonfat dry milk solids.

Based on analysis by dairy technicians, the secretary said "it would appear that retention of the present support levels is desirable to provide the level of production with a margin of safety to assure an adequate supply."

"For good nutrition," Benson declared, "we need to consume more dairy products. We will, of course, continue to assist the dairy industry in every sound way to expand its markets, reduce costs and help it build on a firmer foundation."

The funds provided by this measure will be used by the Highway Department to replace the matching money that was used last year in order to take advantage of extra Federal-Aid money through the recession highway construction program authorized by Congress at the request of President Eisenhower.

Delaware procured six projects as a result of these extra funds and was the first state in the nation to have the projects under contract in accordance with the provisions outlined by Congress.

The measure just signed by Gov. Boggs will make possible a highway construction program having a total estimated cost of $11,930,000, since $9,545,000 of Federal-Aid funds will be available for use with the state matching money.

A total of ten projects have been listed by the Highway Department to be constructed with these funds with three of them being interstate highway projects and another project in New Castle County being the approaches to the new Summit Bridge over the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal.

The projects in Kent County are the widening and resurfacing of Route 10, from the Maryland Line to Willow Grove and the widening and resurfacing of the highway from Kenton to Bishop's Corner.

In Sussex County the projects are the widening and resurfacing of Route 18, east from Georgetown the widening and resurfacing of Route 14, from Road 38, near Waples Pond, to Milford and the widening of Washington and Main Streets in Millsboro, which are a part of Route 24.

The Highway Department indicated that bids for some of these projects would be advertised within a few days.

to studies involving financial estimates, the current tax structure and possible new sources of revenue.

The studies will take up the present deficit and what it is likely to be by the end of the fiscal year. They will go into estimates of 1960 and 1961 income from present sources. And they will consider what revenue can be derived from changes in present laws or from various new sources.

This group of studies also includes inquiries into the impact of present taxes on individuals as compared with business firms; and the efficiency of revenue collecting agencies.

The committee set May 1 as the target date for completion of all those studies. It also moved toward getting some volunteer and some professional help in making them.

The committee was informed Wednesday that the Budget Commission has offered to cooperate with it. The committee plans to call the commission in for a talk on practices used in the state's financial estimating.

The Delaware State Education Association, through its executive director, Charles Harris Wednesday offered its aid in research, and complimented the committee in its "realistic view" of the task it faces.

The committee members went home late Wednesday afternoon with enough reading material to keep them busy over the weekend. They had publications from the DSEA, a report from the Budget Commission, and the famous, but thick, report on fiscal affairs in Delaware prepared by McKinsey & Company, management consultants.

The group with incomes from $10,000 to $19,999 numbered 7,500 or 5.1 per cent of the total returns paid up $3,790,765 or 16.4 per cent of the total received by the state.

In the income bracket from $5,000 to $9,999 were 42,924 income tax returns yielding the state $4,042,115. The group includes 30 per cent of the income.

In the lowest income bracket, from zero to $4,999 in taxable income were 68,549 persons, or 47.9 per cent of the total returns. They paid $1,741,818, or 7.5 per cent of the total.

The state also received $1,245,708 or 5.4 per cent of its income tax revenue from 11,534 taxable non-residents who turned in eight per cent of the total returns. There were also 9,614 returns from non-taxable residents and 259 returns for non-taxable non-residents making up 6.9 per cent of the total returns but contributing nothing to the revenue.

The returns analyzed in the report by the Budget Commission are the first year's returns under the state's new income tax rates. The rate boost was made retroactive to the beginning of 1957. Returns are currently being received by the State Tax Department on 1958 income.

Second Airman Dies in Hospital; Child Is Killed

Delaware's highway toll has climbed past last year's corresponding period, reaching 14 compared to 13.

Two additional deaths were recorded in the past 24 hours.

Included are Bobby Garrett, 26, of the 1607th Maintenance Squadron at Dover Air Force Base, the driver of one car involved in a crash in the fog early Tuesday morning near Magnolia. One passenger in the car Garrett struck was dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital.

The other killed Tuesday was Richard Shoupe, 3, of New Castle.

The little boy was killed instantly when the left rear wheel of a loaded sand truck crushed him as his horrified mother looked on from the sidewalk.

Still in the Dover Air Force Base Hospital from the Magnolia mishap are Gordon Burton, Bob Wilcher, and John W. Prewitz. All are in "satisfactory" condition, the hospital reports. Killed outright in the accident was Rodney Walley.

Garret, the father of two young daughters who make their home with their mother in Devine, Tex., died some 14 hours after the crash. Among his survivors are his wife, Carol Ann, 4, and Deborah Kaye, 2.

Meanwhile, reports that another airman from the base had died in Philadelphia Naval Hospital from injuries suffered in a crash five minutes prior to the Magnolia accident turned out to be untrue.

Billy L. McNerling, 38, who suffered multiple fractures of the back after an accident near Bowers Beach, is in "good" condition, the hospital reported Wednesday.

Maple Dale to Elect Officers On April 14th

The Maple Dale Country Club, Dover, will elect four new members to its 12-member board of directors at annual elections scheduled for Tuesday night, April 14.

The directors will then reorganize by electing a president to succeed Harry R. Jackson and naming other officers. The club's directors are divided into two categories, those elected by bond-holding members and those named by associate members.

Of the four to be named to succeed Jackson, Atty. David P. Buckson, Athos Besosa and Harold McMichael, three will be named by the bond-holders and one by the associate members.

A bond-holding nominating committee of W. E. Barnard, chairman, Hayes Wilson and B. F. Courtright have selected Vernon B. Derrickson, Bob Grohman and Dr. James Porter to take office.

The associate member nominating committee of Mrs. Maurice Abraham and Henry Forsman have selected Harry Cross to succeed McMichael.

However, further nominations may be made from the floor the night of the election before actual balloting gets underway.

Two More Charged With Illegal Sales

State's Attorney James Ower Knotts, Caroline County, Md., revealed this week that he has formally charged Bertha Pippin and George Kelley with violation of the Alcoholic Beverage Law of Maryland on two counts (a) serving beer to minors, and (b) allowing minors to possess and consume beer on the premises of the establishment.

The State's Attorney said he actually has 16 charges against Kelley and four against Mrs. Pippin, who is owner of the establishment in which the violations allegedly occurred.

He said, however, that the number of charges will be cut in the interest of judicial expediency.

On arraignment before Trial Magistrate W. A. Stewart Wright in Denton, last week, Mrs. Pippin and Kelley pleaded not guilty to all charges and asked for trial by the Magistrate's Court. The State's Attorney, however, moved for trial by Circuit Court and his motion was granted.

In a similar case, Marvin H. Smith, attorney for Dawson and Louise Ellwanger, has demanded a bill of particulars with reference to charges against his clients.

Treasurer's Force Is Working No Salary Funds Are Available

It's business as usual in the State Treasurer's office today, even though there are not sufficient funds on hand to pay any more salaries to the clerical help in the office.

An emergency measure is now before the Legislature to provide $26,600 for the operation of the office during the remainder of the present fiscal year and efforts will be made to have this measure approved for the next payroll payment date on April 15.

In the meantime, Mrs. Belle Everett, State Treasurer, and Andrew O'Neal, Deputy State Treasurer, report that the clerical staff has agreed to continue work as usual, with the full knowledge that in event this supplementary appropriation measure is not approved, there will be no funds available to pay them.

It was also learned from the State Treasurer that several school districts, whose funds were almost depleted in some accounts, and were in danger of not being able to meet their salary needs for today, were aided by the Permanent Budget Commission.

Funds were transferred pending final approval of an emergency school appropriation, in excess of $2,000,000, which has been passed by the Legislature but has not yet reached the Governor's office for approval. These funds will be transferred back to the Permanent Budget Commission when this measure is approved.

The measure provides emergency fund for the operation of the State Treasurer's office the latter part of January, but some objections to it were created through the fact that $8500 loan to the State Treasurer's office from the Contingency Fund, will be returned to that fund.

Everett reports that the money was procured from the Contingency Fund with the understanding that they would be returned. The fiscal difficulties of the State Treasurer's office are not new but stem back to the time when the Legislature directed that State employees be paid twice each month, instead of monthly.

This action required the treasurer's office to prepare more than 22,000 payroll checks each month and involved considerable overtime operations for which, it is claimed, adequate provisions were never made.

In addition to the double amount of work required in preparing the payroll checks, the number of welfare relief checks and in addition this month the Treasurer's office will have the task of enclosing cards for surplus food distribution with each welfare relief check mailed out.

Renewed efforts will be made when the Legislature resumes Monday to have the emergency appropriation for the State Treasurer's office passed and also to have the emergency appropriation measure passed.

Butch Miller, of Hickman spent Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Smith. Mrs. Miller and Barbara Jean, joined him later in the day.

Mrs. Ira Hoffman and son, Alan, have returned after a visit in Philadelphia with relatives.

Corporate Tax Returns Filed

The deadline for filing final corporate returns for 1958 and estimated returns for 1959 on the state's five per cent corporate income tax passed Wednesday night, but State Tax Commissioner Alex R. Abrahams believes it will be Friday at best before all the returns are in.

A great many extensions are being granted, he pointed out, but only with good reason. As one reason he quoted a letter from one firm asking a 90-day extension.

The company said it did business in 47 states and the District of Columbia and is required to meet the varieties of tax needs in all of them. A check with an estimate of the amount to be paid was included. The extension was granted.

Payment of some amount of the estimated tax due is necessary, the commissioner pointed out, to have an extension approved.

Four trips were made to the Post Office yesterday to pick up the heavy mail for the office. But with returns valid if post-marked before Wednesday midnight, Abrahams believes it will be Friday before all mail arrives.

The largest check received Wednesday was one for $170,000. The largest check from a corporation received so far is $225,000.

Business in the office is also heavy, with personal income tax payers, with the April 30 deadline now just a month away. There were 350 persons who visited the office Tuesday to pick up forms or to seek assistance in filling out returns.

Bandits Gets $126 From Dover Liquor Store

Another armed robbery took place in Kent County Tuesday afternoon when a lone bandit held up Spencer's Liquor Store, along the dual highway, near Garrison's Lake.

Paul Spencer, proprietor of the business, was alone in the liquor store, about 1:45 p.m., when a man came in, approached the counter and suddenly brandished a blue steel .32 caliber revolver and told Spencer to keep still.

The intruder then went to the cash register and took $126 dollars in paper money after which he ordered Spencer to go in a back room and fled.

The intruder, a white man about 25, was described as about 5 feet, 10 inches, with light hair combed straight back on his head. He wore a light colored sports coat and was driving a 1953 or 1954 Chevrolet car, medium blue.

Police believe he was familiar with the store, knew the time when not many customers appeared and was also familiar with the location of the cash register and the back room in the store.

All police agencies have been alerted to be on the lookout for the man.

This was the second armed robbery to take place at a liquor store in this area during the past several months. On Jan. 24 five men entered LePore's Liquor Mart, on the dual highway and at a point of a gun held up Louis Pisipia, a clerk in the store and took $7 from his person.

The men were apprehended and have been indicted by the Kent County grand jury on charges of robbery but are still awaiting trial.

A British firm has given $20,000 to Birmingham University for a residence for graduate engineers.

FHA Will Outline Property Standards

The Federal Housing Administration will discuss its new minimum property standards with representatives of the Home Builders Association of Delaware at a meeting scheduled for April 16. The new standards apply to loans guaranteed by the FHA as well as those guaranteed under the Veterans Administration.

The new standards go into effect July 1, but may be used at the option of home builders immediately. Mr. Judge describes them as more efficient and up to date than the old requirements.

The new standards are the result of a three-year study by FHA technicians in consultation with builders, architects and materials producers. FHA and VA personnel will use visual aides and information kits in their analysis of the new standards for home builders.
