Frear Thinks Iron Curtain Might Crumble

United State Senator J. Allen Frear says despite the endless and frustrating negotiations between East and West over the German issue and other major international problems, there is always the possibility that as some time or other the diplomatic dam will crumble and light and understanding will penetrate the recesses of the Iron Curtain.

In his weekly statement, Mr. Frear discussed the Foreign Ministers Conference now taking place in Geneva where representatives of the allied nations and the Soviet bloc are attempting to reach some sort of understanding which will pave the way for a later Summit Conference of the Heads of State.

Mr. Frear said that Russia fears a reunited and fully armed Germany because of the devastation reaped on the Soviet Union in World War II. However, the Senator pointed out that the rebirth of West Germany has taken place under a Democratic form of Government, one closely allied to the other free countries of Europe as well as the United States. The Delaware lawmaker emphasized that the Kremlin's biggest concern is not a German military threat but a further demonstration that its puppet state of East Germany and its other captured satellites would gladly exchange their present status for real self-government at a moment's notice.

Senator Frear declared that Russia would probably like to have some affirmative results from the Foreign Ministers meeting in order not to discourage the later gathering at the Summit. The Senator recalled his own meeting with Russian Premier Khrushchev several years ago brought an indication from the Russian leader at that time that

Felton Student Drowns in Pond On Field Trip

A 16-year-old Felton High School student was drowned Tuesday in an irrigation pond on the University of Delaware experimental farm near Middletown despite heroic attempts of a teacher and schoolmates to save him.

The drowning victim was Paul Edward Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schreiber of Whitesburg.

State troopers said the youth, who apparently could not swim too well, jumped off a float into the pond where other students had been swimming, and drowned in about 35 feet of water. The drowning occurred about 12:35 p.m.

Paul was one of a group of 20 students in the vocational agricultural class and a member of the Future Farmers of America, who had gone to the experimental farm, located on Bunker Hill Road, three and two-tenths miles northwest of Middletown, on a field trip. They were under the supervision of the vocational agricultural teacher, Melvin Luff, 37, of Camden.

After the morning tour of the farm, the group ate its lunch near the irrigation pond and permission was given some of the students to go swimming. About six of the youths went into the water at the time but the Schreiber youth was not among them.

About 12:30 the swimmers were informed they had better come out and dry and dress themselves as the trip was to continue at 1 p.m. Mr. Luff and some of the other students walked across the side opposite the float to look at a spillway of the pond, which is about 50-by-130 feet, when he heard a splash.

It had been caused by the Schreiber youth who had taken off his outer clothing and jumped into the water from the float. Police said he started to struggle when about 20 feet from shore.

When it was evident he was in trouble, two students, Raymond Melvin, 16, and Lowell Farrow, also 16, both of Felton, who had just come from the water, plunged back into the pond and started swimming to the struggling youth who had already gone under the water once.

Mr. Luff ran around the pond, peeled off his trousers and shoes, and observing the Melvin and Farrow youths were experiencing difficulty with young Schreiber, dived into the pond and started swimming to render assistance.

However, the two rescuers were unable to restrain the struggling swimmer, and one was almost carried under himself, police said. By the time Mr. Luff reached the spot the Schreiber youth had disappeared and, despite diving attempts, he could not locate him.

Meanwhile, the Middletown Fire Company rescue squad had been summoned and grappling operations were started. In about

by Keith S. Burgess

Coach Dick Jeffers' Harrington High track team ended its season with a quadrangular meet victory on the local field Wednesday afternoon. The locals had 71 points to 65 for Caesar Rodney. Smyrna was third with 22 and Millsboro trailed with 12.

Jim Schiff running in the quarter mile for the first time in his career set a new school record of 53.6 seconds as he led all the way for an easy triumph. The writer knows of no other cinderman who ever negotiated 440 yards that fast downstate.

Hill of C. R., winner of the Seaford Invitational and Cole of Smyrna, second in the Milford Invitational were soundly beaten. Garey of H.H.S. was fourth.

Schiff also won the 100 yard dash in 10 second flat and the 220 in 23.4 second to score a "triple" for the locals.

Harry Knotts lowered his own school record in the mile to 4:50.8 as he fought off the challenge of Caesar Rodney's Wayne Callaway.

George Pfeiffer set a new school record in the broad jump with a leap of 18 ft. 11 1/2 inch. Walt Lekites and K. P. Outten were third and fourth.

Don Garey, pole-vaulting for the first time this year, after an early season broken arm, tied for first with teammate Bruce Smith, each clearing 9 feet.

John Taylor, Pfeiffer and Bill Manship were 2-3-4 in the high jump.

Taylor and Phil Holson were 2nd and 3rd in the discus, while Outten was 3rd and Holson 5th in the javelin. Holson also took 3rd in the shotput.

Harrington scored 36 points to take the junior high division. Smyrna was second with 27. C. R. had 24 and Millsboro 15.

George Balderson won the shotput with a toss of 41 ft. 6 in. Tom Jones was 5th. H.H.S. nabbed the 880 relay with a quartet consisting of Bill Thompson, Bob Gillette, Don Rothermel and Bob Winkler.

Thompson won the broad jump with a fine leap of 17 ft. 10 in. Rothermel was third in this event.

Walt Lekites was the winner in the high jump.

Rothermel, who is looking better all the time, was 4th in the 100-yard dash and third in the 50 plus his fine 220 yard leg on the winning 880 relay team.

ELECTION UNITS SENATE TARGET

The Democrats Monday turned their attention again to county election boards, introducing bills in the Senate to knock five Republicans off the New Castle County Board, and insure continuing control of the Kent and Sussex Boards.

The House, meanwhile, was passing two bills which would put some teeth in the laws affecting the New Castle County Levy Court's power of regulation over garbage and waste disposal.
 Senator Jesse F. Watson (D-Townsend) handed up the bill to "reorganize"—some observers referred to it as "unripping"—the New Castle County Department of Elections.

Four years ago, the heavily-Democratic Assembly gave the party control of the board by increasing its membership from nine to 17 and naming the new members. Republicans cried "ripper."

The new bill (SB-184) would cut the number back to 12, by providing that the offices of members whose terms expired last April would be abolished.
 All five offices are held by Republicans, Wayne C. Brewer, Alexander DeStefano, Robert A. Groves, Leon H. Ryan, and Harry E. Vincent. The reconstituted boards would include nine Democrats, three Republicans.

The Kent-Sussex bill (SB-85) handed up by Senator Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) would not change the political complexion of the boards, now Democratic-controlled. However, it is, according to "don't quote me", comments from a number of persons, in recognition that a good many terms on both boards expire on July 1, enough so that if Governor Boggs waited until the end of session, he could appoint enough Republicans to take over control.

Terms of four members of the eight-member Kent Board run out July 1, and the fifth spot is vacant. The four are L. Winfred Hughes, president, Roland Wilkinson, Sr., George B. Vincent, and J. Harry Latchum, all Democrats. The other members are Earl N. Faulkner, Democrat, and John F. McDonald and Hazel W. Harrington, Republicans.
Would Appoint 5
 The bill would appoint five members to serve from July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1963, all Democrats. They are Mr. Hughes, Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Latchum, Howard R. Rawley, and Norris Graham.

The Sussex Board is currently Democratic controlled, but litigation is pending in superior court challenging the Democratic control. Presumably, the new bill, if successful, would end the litigation.
 The current board includes Elmer Dickerson, Donald J. Hickman, and J. Fred Miles, Democrats, and Lewis Trivits and Frederick A. Walls, Republicans.

For Sussex County, the bill would increase the board membership from five to eight. Mr. Dickerson and Mr. Trivits are serving as lame-ducks, their terms having run out, and Mr. Walls' term expires next year.
 The terms of Mr. Hickman and Mr. Miles expire July 1 and they would be renamed and three others appointed, Norman Jester and Woodrow W. Steen, Democrats, and William B. Morgan, Republican. This would make the board five to three, Democratic.
 A Republican attempt to embarrass the Democrats on the subject of attaches came a cropper Monday. At the outset of the session, Senator Walton H. Simpson (R-Camden) issued a statement in which he criticized the Democrats for holding a skeleton session last Thursday, the day of the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, so the attaches could be paid.
 This, he said, cost the state $900 and he said he had decided to test the Democrats' desire for economy.
 He thereupon introduced a resolution calling on Senator Watson, chairman of the rules committee, to fire 30 per cent of the attaches.

Senator Watson spiked this maneuver by moving that the resolution be referred to his committee "so I can give it some study." He is expected to study it for several months.
 Senator Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace) also issued a statement in which he was highly critical of the proposed 1959-60 budget, cuts for education, and said he intended to vote against the bill (HB-271) when it gets to the Senate unless the cuts are restored.

The Senate also passed three bills:
 HB 96—Making certain changes in registration dates and regarding changing party affiliation.
 HB 97—Making changes in dates for new registrations.
 HB 232—Exempting a Pennsylvania Railroad resort home for retired employees in Rehoboth Beach from taxation.

The trash and garbage bills were called up by Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Lindamere), co-sponsor with Rep. Charles C.

Penalty Provision

HB-254 adds a penalty provision to the law giving the county government power to regulate or prohibit dumping of waste material, and to adopt rules and regulations for that purpose. The penalty provision, adding teeth to the law, specifies a fine of up to $200 and a prison sentence of up to 30 days, for each violation. In the case of continuing violations, each day is to constitute a separate offense.

The bill would give the county power to license public garbage collectors who comply with its rules. An amendment to HB-254 adopted Monday would empower the Levy Court to charge $100 a year for the license. The bill specifies that it does not authorize the Levy Court to undertake public garbage collection itself.
 The second bill, HB-252, would change a law to authorize the Levy Court to issue bonds to build a garbage disposal plant. The bill would make that include sanitary land fill and other means of garbage disposal.
 John I. Cahalan, assistant county engineer, was present to explain the bills to the majority members in their caucus. There was no discussion of the bills on the floor. Cahalan explained later privately that the Levy Court plans to set up land fills for garbage disposal, using its bonding power if necessary, to purchase equipment. The land will be rented or purchased. Through the license fee and dumping fees, the court hopes to make the operation self sustaining.

Resolution Passes
 The only other measure passed was HJR-3, sponsored by Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Marsheaton), to create a committee of three House members and three Senate members "for the purpose of investigating and determining the classification of employees of the State of Delaware; examining their salaries and their qualifications for the same, and for the purpose of making recommendations for a uniform salary schedule for all employees" of the state, and to report by Jan. 1.
 King commented that the purpose of the resolution was "a large order" and Mrs. Manning replied it is "time we started taking hold of some of these large orders."

Mrs. Manning requested a voice vote on the resolution, but the result was indefinite and Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt ordered a roll call. The result: 18 yeas, 16 nays, and one absent. The speaker declared the resolution passed.
New Bills
 HB-298—Setting the annual municipal election at Harrington for the second Tuesday in January from noon until 7 p.m. By Cain and Betts.
 HB-300 — A corporation law change on power of directors to declare dividends. By Davidson.
 HB-301 — To eliminate the requirement that a typewritten transcript be made in condemnation proceedings. A Bar Association bill. By Shockey.

What studies are most useful? Of course, those studies that enable one to earn a living are useful. But is that all? Can we say that bookkeeping is useful and trigonometry is not?
 I would say that high school students of today are more interested in the studies that give them a sense of relation of men around them and those who have lived before them. We need to know not only how the other half lives, but how the other half thinks. We must exchange ideas before we can exchange goods!
 Why do you think a factory worker usually find their work dull? Simply because he cannot see the use of his work. He may sew hundreds of buttons on a shirt in a day—but he probably has no idea where his material came from or where his product is going.
 When you can see what you have done and others know what you have accomplished — then you have made progress with your studies.
 Whosoever acts on what he knows will soon come to know more!

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Spring and summer are just about the best seasons of the year to enjoy the company of your family and friends. There are so many things that you can do together—so many wonderful experiences to share. Picnics, hikes, lawn parties, outdoor barbecues are a few of the ways for everyone to have a really good time while storing up a host of beautiful memories until the next gathering.

FANCIFUL ACCESSORIES FOR SAFETY AND FOR FUN
The pot holders that you see are in the spirit of a party. They're the ideal accessories for taking hot pots of baked beans or french fries, for example, right from the barbecue pit without a worry in the world. The thickness of speed-crocheted cotton is your protection against singeing your skin. The closeness of the crocheted work, in these patterns particularly, will assure even greater safety. I think it's such a comfort, especially when youngsters become enthusiastic about helping, to know that you've taken careful precautions against unhappy accidents.

TWO APPROACHES

The pot holder to the left is the traditional one that begins at the center and is worked out in rounds and rounds. I chose white, rose, green and black as my colors, because I think they suggest the tones and hues out-of-doors during the warm months. But, you can, of course, pick any shades that you like best, or experiment with colors that you've never used before. The mitt is a favorite with children, because it's easy to use. It's a project that youngsters would like very well to perfect their skillfulness at crocheting. The large stitches mean that the mitt is fast working, a temptation to the most energetic child. And, the playfulness of the watermelon slices, designed with seeds and all, suggests there might be a special treat for dessert. To receive the free instruc-

Micro-Midget News

Saturday night the midgets ran once again at the Blue Hen Speedway. The weatherman was trying very hard to break things up, but we still got to run seven races with luck.
Speaking of luck, Walter Schiff and Spanky Vincent's must be in the same orbit. Spanky didn't even get his car No. 71 warmed up when they had to pick up the bolts. Walt's did win the consolation race but in the feature race what a let-down when in the 22nd lap, bingo went the points. Don't give up boys there's a long road ahead in this game of racing. This winter we can all look back and laugh at all this.
It's nice to see some of the old boys getting back into the swing of things. Harry Porter was back driving Walter Messick's car No. 13, and drive he did. He made a good showing in all three of the races he drove.
I hear Hallowell will have his car down from Wilmington this Saturday night. For those who didn't know, this spring Hallowell ribbed his motor up in his work shop and the fly wheel broke loose and went through a rafter. During the ordeal his hands were injured very serious, putting him out of the driving this season. He hopes to be able to drive Thanksgiving Day races. We all hope he can make this wish come true.
McKee should have his car No. 00 back soon to give us some more competition. Competition is what we want at the Blue Hen Speedway. The best and fastest Micro Midget track on the Eastern Shore. We also have a 1/4 midget track built now for the little boys. They have as much fun, if not more than the big boys.
The Blue Hen Micro Midget Club has now paid for their lights which they bought from Mac McWilliams. So you can see where our money goes, which we collect by passing the hat among you spectators. The more you drop in the better improvements we can make at the track.
In the third race Saturday it did a lot of peoples hearts good to see Joe Gray's racer No. 1 come in first driven by his brother, Clarence Gray.
We are all hoping for a warmer Saturday night this week, so everybody will be a little more comfortable sitting out under the lights for the races. For an excit-

Get Your Flowers Ready for the Show

If you are planning on entering this year's Delaware Flower Show at the University of Delaware, Dr. Charles Dunham, associate professor of horticulture, has some suggestions to help you get your plants and exhibits ready.

Starting with roses, Dr. Dunham said good gardeners are preparing for the show already. One of the important things that should be done now is disbudding. The side buds should be removed leaving only the terminal bud which usually produces the largest and best flowers.

Removing the lateral buds while they are still small will allow all the strength of the shoot to be diverted to the terminal flower. It also allows time for the scars of the disbudded laterals to heal, producing a more perfect specimen.

If you would like to pick up some pointers, there will be a meeting of the newly formed Delaware Rose Society at Agricultural Hall in Newark, May 27, beginning at 8 p.m., devoted to preparing roses for show. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

Another perennial which may need attention, with what appears to be an early season this year, are Delphiniums, Dr. Dunham said.

If you plan on entering Delphiniums in the show you should stake them up now while they are still small. This will prevent them from bending in the wind and rain as they get larger. This will produce straight spikes for the show. There are two classes for Delphiniums, number 36, for one spike of any color and class 37, for three spikes of one or more colors.

In the African violet classes, Dr. Dunham says you can hurry your blossoms along if they seem to slow by placing them under a table lamp for a few hours each evening.

If you plan on entering a collection of broadleaf evergreens, they should be sprayed to protect them against leaf spot and leaf miners, he said.

One of the most popular divisions of the show year after year is the junior section. Exhibits in the junior section must be staged and arranged by the children themselves. Dr. Dunham says there is lots of time now for parents to help the youngsters select classes to enter and to practice on them.

For example, class 79 is a dish garden planted by the exhibitor. Class 80 is a terrarium planted by the youngster. There are several classes with dried leaf and flower collections which can be collected now.

Practice arranging now, in the containers to be used in the show, will help make a winning arrangement when the big day comes.

When gathering wild flowers, Dr. Dunham warns that entries will be disqualified if they contain: ground pine, arbutus, bunchberry, laurel, native dogwood or jack-in-the-pulpit.

According to Delaware conservation law, it is illegal to use any shrub, tree or flower without the owner's written consent.

For programs and entry blanks write to "Flower Show", Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

34 Wool Growers Applied for Incentive Payment

A total of 34 Kent County Wool growers have applied for incentive payments under the national wool program for the 1958 marketing year, according to Lister V. Hall, Jr. of the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office at Dover. The deadline for applications was April 30.

On the basis of wool applications received throughout the country, the national percentage rate of payment will be calculated, and payments will then be made to growers through their country ASC offices. Payments are expected to be made some time after July 1.

Payments will be made at the percentage rate necessary to bring the national average farm price of wool up to 62 cents a pound, which is the announced incentive level. That percentage will be applied to each grower's marketings to calculate his payment. On unshorn lambs, payment is made as a rate based on the wool rate.

The purpose of this program, Mr. Hall points out, is to increase U. S. production of wool, of which this country produces less than it needs. This is done by means of an incentive payment to growers, which is applied on a percentage basis to encourage growers to do the best possible job of marketing their wool.

Flower Hints

Roses will need regular watering and fertilization during the warm summer months, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Plants will do better with a monthly feeding of a 5-10-10 fertilizer up until August 1. Sprinkle a handful of this balanced plant food around each plant, scratch it into the soil surface and water it in, he suggests.

Applying a mulch in June will help keep the soil cooler, reduce the loss of soil moisture, and help to control weeds too. Possible mulching materials are peat moss, composted leaves, ground corn cobs, and well-rooted hardwood sawdust.

Hardy chrysanthemums need additional feeding now and again in August, he says. Scatter a handful of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer around each plant and work in lightly.

"Spraying for insects and diseases is also a regular summer chore," Vapaa said. Roses and mums both need to be protected for best results.

A combination spray of DDT malathion, karathane, and parzate will control most troubles on these plants.

Perennials also need staking for the best display, he said. Discarded string or ribbon can be used for tying the plants to the stakes. Keep well ahead of the new growth with the staking. Tie them up before they are in bloom and before they are knocked down by wind or rain.

Bedding plants of all kinds can still be planted to fill in vacant spots. Plants will withstand the shock of transplanting better if a starter solution is applied. Water before and after transplanting and mulch as soon as they are placed. Vapaa advised.

Do You Like Cows?

If you're a dairy farmer who just likes to have a lot of cows around to keep you company, this advice won't mean much to you, says county agent George K. Vapaa.

But if you want to operate your dairy business efficiently, better take a close look at that herd of yours. Some of your cows may be lying down on the job.

For example, it's estimated that of the 24 million milk cows in the United States, eight million, or one out of three, do not produce enough milk or butterfat in a year to return a profit on the feed and labor they require.

Vapaa says you might make more money with fewer cows—that you'd be better off to get rid of some of your unprofitable cows and divide up the remaining feed among the better producers.

"You'd have higher profits, less work to do and more time to improve your general management," he says.

However, he warns that you probably won't be able to do a very accurate job of culling your low producers without records. "You can't do a good job just by looking," Vapaa said. "Relying on memory to spot the low producers isn't a good idea either."

Most dairymen tend to remember the high day of a cow's production period—not her overall record. Many cows produce at a high rate early in lactation but falter in the stretch. It's the longtime, consistent producers that builds up the herd average.

Vapaa says dairymen who keep records seem to become better dairymen because their records show the way for possible improvements in management. This is borne out by the fact that in 1957, the national average production of all cows was 6162 while cows enrolled under the Standard DHIA recordkeeping plan produce an average of 9173 pounds of milk.

Will You Be One of This Year's Statistics?

One American farmer out of every six will suffer a disabling injury this year according to a report from the National Safety Council.

Agricultural engineer, Ernest Scarborough, with the University of Delaware, says American farmers will spend about $40,000,000 and 20,000,000 work days, on injuries this year.

The accident rate among farmers is four times as high as among factory workers. This is because of the intensive safety program carried out in industry, according to Scarborough.

He says the National Safety Council urges every farmer to carry out his own campaign against accidents. It's cheaper and doesn't hurt at all.

Wheat Disposal Deadline Near

Farmers of Delaware have only until May 31 to dispose of wheat planted in excess of their acreage allotments, Mr. William N. Hopkins, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said yesterday.

Hopkins cited several advantages for the wheat growers who disposes of excess acres and brings his acreage for harvests down to the allotment. These include eligibility for wheat price support and Soil Bank payments, freedom from a marketing quota penalty on wheat and credit for acreage diverted from wheat this year in computing his allotment in future years.

Grain dealers are not permitted to buy a farmer's wheat unless he presents a 1959 Marketing Card. Wheat Marketing Cards are only supplied farmers who comply with their acreage allotment or grow under 15 acres or produce less than 200 bushels of wheat.

Farmers who have applied to their county ASC office may harvest up to 30 acres without a penalty, provided they use it all for feed or seed on their own farm. None may be sold or traded.

Farmers who have any questions about excess wheat disposal are urged to get in touch with the county ASC office for further information.

Veterans May Apply to VA for Direct Loans

The Delaware loan guaranty activity now is under the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia Regional Office. Since Philadelphia has no direct loan activity, Mr. Whittier said that the direct loan function for Kent and Sussex Counties will be the responsibility of the Baltimore Regional Office. Mr. Whittier made it clear that it is not necessary for a Delaware veteran to make a personal visit to Baltimore to apply for a direct loan.

Veterans wanting to apply for direct loans should write to the VA Regional Office, St. Paul and Fayette Streets, Baltimore 2, Maryland. Mr. Whittier emphasized that

"New" Delaware Park Invites Public For Open House Day

Delaware Park, now completing arrangements for the gala opening of its race meeting May 29, has set aside Saturday, May 23 as open house-visitors' day. The public is invited, children included, to preview results of the $3500,000 physical improvements program aimed at greatly increased spaciousness, facilities, comfort and convenience.

For this pre-meeting occasion, visitors are advised to use the Stanton entrance or the easterly Oglethorpe Road approach. They have read and heard much about the magnificent four-tiered clubhouse comparable to the finest in the land, but this is by no means the only innovation to be seen at the 700-acre plant famed for its greenery and countryside setting.

The expanded grandstand now has 70,000 square feet of dispersal area. An outstanding highlight is a 700 ft. promenade along the rear of the mezzanine (mutuels division side)—more than twice the length of a football gridiron. It extends 50 feet out from the previous boundary and covers 35,000 square feet. For those who like to visit the paddock and walking ring before a race, there's a colonnade all the way from the grandstand. These patrons, like those in the club house, are served by an exceptionally large, air-conditioned cafeteria. The entire rooftop is equipped with "April Showers" automatic sprinkling system and ventilating fan units as part of a general cooling project.

Down at the finish line is a newly-constructed winner's circle 30 feet in diameter. Removal of the old judges' stand stand (now atop the stands) and submerging of the scale room for jockeys weighing in and out affords an unobstructed view. Four of the 10 new escalators are in the grandstand.

The largest parking space east of the Rocky Mountains has been increased by eight acres this season for a total of 88.

Veterans News QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—When I come out of service next month I will be eligible as a Korea veteran for a GI home loan. Will I lose this eligibility if I sign up for re-enlistment?

A—No. You would not lose eligibility for a GI home loan by re-enlisting. However, you would be bound by the deadline of Feb. 1, 1965, like any Korea veteran.

Q—If I should add the total disability income rider to my World War Two GI insurance policy, and become disabled, would the amount my beneficiaries would receive from the policy in case of my death be reduced in any way?

A—No. Disability payments made under the rider in no way decrease payments made to beneficiaries of your GI insurance policy.

Q—Is a "peacetime" veteran with a disability rated 50-percent entitled to more compensation for dependents?

A—Yes. Peacetime veterans rated 50-percent or more disabled may be entitled to additional compensation for a wife, minor children, or dependent parents.

Q—I was in a Japanese prison camp during the fighting in Korea. I have a dental condition traceable to my service, but for which I do not receive compensation from VA. Is there a deadline in my case for applying for VA out-patient dental treatment?

A—No. You may apply at any time, and receive as many treatments as needed.

600,000 Children Poisoned Annually!

About 600,000 children swallow poison each year, according to home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith.

Three fourths of these children are less than two years old. This is the age when children will put anything and everything into their mouths. They will chew on objects which are too big to fit into their mouths.

The most basic method of protecting the very young from themselves is to keep poisonous substances out of their reach.

Use high shelves or a locked cupboard for such dangerous items as bleaches, lye, garden sprays, rat bait, coat oil—kerosene—insect powders and sprays, ammonia, permanent wave solution, turpentine, moth balls and crystals, cleaning fluids and furniture polish.

Don't keep poisons, sleeping pills, aspirin, iron tablets, or other drugs in a bathroom cabinet unless it is locked, Mrs. Smith says. One mistake is too many.

Drain contents of old medicine bottles down the toilet before putting them in the trash.

If you store cleaning fluid, bleach, soap, detergent and the like, in a cupboard under the sink, be sure your child can't get to them.

Children between 1 1/2 and 3 years old sometimes chew on painted surfaces, or they may pick up and chew blistered or dried paint.

Be sure painted toys, walls, woodwork or furniture in your child's room—or anyplace in the house—are painted with a paint containing less than one percent lead.

Outdoor paint usually contains more lead than indoor paint. Outdoor paint should never be used on toys, furniture or anything inside the home.

If your child is accidentally poisoned, call the Delaware Poison Information Center, Olympia 5-3389. If you have a transportation problem, call the State Police.

Delaware Food Market Report

Vegetable prices look better this week. Supplies are increasing as neighboring states start to harvest. There's a lot of New Jersey Asparagus on local markets and prices have dropped about 4 cents on the bunch. Snap beans as well as squash are down in prices. Dried onions have dropped about 2 to 3 cents a pound. Spinach and lettuce both are a penny a pound cheaper. For other vegetables, prices are about the same as last week. Old potatoes, one exception, are up in price this week. Weekend specials offer lower-than-average prices on many vegetables and fruits. Though prices have dropped on asparagus they are even cheaper during the weekend sales. Corn-on-the-cob, lettuce, celery, radishes, mushrooms and new potatoes are other vegetables wearing cheaper price tags. Fruits to look for this weekend are strawberries, fresh pineapples, bananas, oranges, and in a few store, watermelons. Meat in general shows no sharp price change—things are about as they were last week with "specials" continuing to offer the best opportunity to save. The list of "better buys" are Rock Cornish Hens, broiler-fryers, beef roasts, sausage, frankfurters, smoked picnic shoulders and ground beef. A few stores may also offer steaks at 79 cents a pound. Eggs continue to be an excellent buy. Grade A large eggs are "specialized" again this weekend and are as cheap as 40 cents a dozen. Be sure to buy eggs that

Delaware Food Market Report

Vegetable prices look better this week. Supplies are increasing as neighboring states start to harvest. There's a lot of New Jersey Asparagus on local markets and prices have dropped about 4 cents on the bunch. Snap beans as well as squash are down in prices. Dried onions have dropped about 2 to 3 cents a pound. Spinach and lettuce both are a penny a pound cheaper. For other vegetables, prices are about the same as last week. Old potatoes, one exception, are up in price this week. Weekend specials offer lower-than-average prices on many vegetables and fruits. Though prices have dropped on asparagus they are even cheaper during the weekend sales. Corn-on-the-cob, lettuce, celery, radishes, mushrooms and new potatoes are other vegetables wearing cheaper price tags. Fruits to look for this weekend are strawberries, fresh pineapples, bananas, oranges, and in a few store, watermelons. Meat in general shows no sharp price change—things are about as they were last week with "specials" continuing to offer the best opportunity to save. The list of "better buys" are Rock Cornish Hens, broiler-fryers, beef roasts, sausage, frankfurters, smoked picnic shoulders and ground beef. A few stores may also offer steaks at 79 cents a pound. Eggs continue to be an excellent buy. Grade A large eggs are "specialized" again this weekend and are as cheap as 40 cents a dozen. Be sure to buy eggs that

SCHIFF LEADS

(Continued from page one) Bob Winkler was second by a nose in the 100 yard dash as he was clocked in 11 seconds flat probably a new personal best. Saturday, May 30, Schiff and Knotts will compete in the State Championship Meet at the University of Delaware. They may be the only Harringtonians to compete as only the top dozen in each event in the state are allowed to enter. Rod Labert of Mt. Pleasant High in Wilmington is the only state runner with a better time in the 100 yard dash than Schiff. However Labert has a pulled leg muscle and may not be in top form. In the 220 yard dash the local lad could win regardless of the Green Knight's condition. Schiff might be a threat in the 440 also if it doesn't conflict with his efforts in the dashes. Knotts the best of the down-state milers is still some 15 seconds away from the top upstate times. Harry is only a sophomore while the two premier state milers are in the junior and senior classes. It might be interesting to see how the Harrington star will fare on the much better U. of D. oval.

FELTON STUDENT

(Continued from page one) 45 minutes the body was found. It was taken to Middletown where Dr. S. S. Bjorson, state medical examiner, had been summoned. Dr. H. L. Hoch of Middletown pronounced the youth dead. The tragedy caused a cancellation of the remainder of the field trip and the group returned home.

FREAR

(Continued from Page One) he would like to see the United States. The possibility has been mentioned that a Summit Conference meeting might take place in this country. In the course of his statement, Mr. Frear took note of numerous letters from Delawareans and other citizens currently being received which emphasize the necessity for a balanced Federal budget and a reduction in government expenditures. He pointed out that against the background of the German crisis and other unsettled crisis abroad, the United States has no course but to be militarily prepared for any emergency. The Senator added, "The uncertainty of the future is what requires our staggering military budget each year. If it were possible to safely reduce this great expenditure, Congress and the President would have less difficulty in achieving a balanced budget in all Government operations. Many people in recent weeks have written me urging Congress not to overspend and thus force the Government in the red. May I assure everyone that both major parties are equally anxious to keep our national fiscal affairs in order and will certainly strive to do so, consistent with their obligations to provide adequate defenses and necessary other services to the American people."

RELIEF CASES

Aid to dependent children also decreased in April, going down 20 cases from 1787 in March to 1767. This year saw an increase in the number of such cases with the caseload up 104 cases or 6.3 per cent over April, 1958.

The department reports that this category trend from now until fall should also be downward, both compared with the previous month and with the same month in 1958. Because of the nature of the cases that fall into this category, however, the department predicts that the decreases will not be as substantial as in general assistance which is more directly and immediately influenced by employment conditions.

Old age assistance kept decreasing in April. This category also dropped 20 cases, going from 1477 to 1457. The decline since April, 1958, in this category was from 1544 cases or 5.6 per cent. Aid to the disabled was the one category that increased in April. It jumped nine cases going from 314 in March to 323. A year ago, this category's caseload was 295.

Budgetwise, the department yesterday reported that it had spent $4,637,837.71—or 81.5 per cent of funds available—through April 30.

This represents an increase of $334,823.82—or 7.8 per cent—over the same 10-month period last year. The department operates on a fiscal year from July 1 through June 30.

As reported in previous months the major part of overall increase in disbursements has occurred in general assistance, where costs for 1958-59 to date are $194,332 higher than for the same period in 1957-58. This increased cost is shared equally in state and county funds, and is 58 per cent of the total increased costs.

County funds required for aid to dependent children have increased $11,324.12 this year over the same period last year.

Excluding general assistance, disbursements in state funds to date in 1958-59, are $14,675 higher than last year. Federal funds disbursed to date this year have increased $115,239.30 over the same period a year ago.

By way of over-all comparison disbursements in 1957-58 for this ten-month period were about $800,000 greater than the same period in 1956-57.

Available state funds, except for general assistance, but including regular, supplemental, contingency, and encumbered funds, total $1,635,782. Considering that disbursements for May and June will be substantially the same as for April, it now appears that total net disbursements for 1958-59 in state funds regular will be $1,425,000. This indicates unused balances totaling $210,782.

Trooper Chief Urges Cars Get Safety Checks

"Check your car for safety—don't gamble with your life."

This warning was given to motorists yesterday by Col. P. Ferguson, superintendent of the Delaware State Police, in cooperation with the Delaware Safety Council, of which he is a director.

"Many a person who figuratively wouldn't be caught dead in a gambling casino has literally been caught dead in an unsafe car," the colonel said.

"Many of the vehicles involved in fatal accidents last year were in need of mechanical repair at the time of the accident. The people who were killed in these accidents all gambled their lives—and lost!"

The only way you can be sure your car is in good mechanical condition, Col. Ferguson said, is by having it checked periodically by a competent mechanic, as a supplement to the annual state inspection.

He said this check should include the following 10 points:

- 1. Brakes should take hold evenly on all wheels. The hand brake should be able to hold the car on any hill. Brake fluid should be clean and at the proper level.
2. Headlights—driving and courtesy beams—should be at the proper level for maximum road illumination and minimum glare. Lenses should be clean and reflectors bright.
3. Rear and stop lights should operate properly. Directional signals should also be checked.
4. Tires should be checked for wear and proper inflation.
5. Wheel alignment should be checked.
6. Exhaust system should be completely checked by a qualified mechanic.
7. Windshield wipers should be operating with blades checked to see if they wipe clean.
8. Glass should be clear, free of cracks or discoloration.
9. Horn should be working properly.
10. Rear-view mirror should give clear view of the road behind.
