

Selbyville Girl Winner Of Miss Delmarva Crown

Harrington Entry Second in Nip and Tuck Beauty Race

Delaware scored a clean-sweep double for beautiful girls Thursday night, June 25.

Nina Lou Ringle, 16-year-old, brown-eyed brunette from Selbyville, was crowned Miss Delmarva XII and reigning queen of the 12th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival, which opened at Dover Thursday.

Second to Nina was blue-eyed Linda E. Humes, 18, amateur actress and aspiring stage star, from Harrington.

The girls were chosen in a nip-and-tuck race against 10 other Delaware and Maryland girls in the festival's annual Miss Delmarva beauty pageant, staged before a capacity crowd at the new Dover High School auditorium.

Earlier Thursday night, the well-known Wilmington artist, Frank Delle Donne was awarded first prize for best-in-show in the festival art exhibition.

The annual Distinguished Citizen Award went to William R. Murray, Delaware broker industry pioneer, in opening ceremonies Thursday evening at the Dover High School.

And in the Little Miss Delmarva pageant which preceded Thursday's beauty contest, four-year-old Donna Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Hope, of Pocomoke, Md., was declared the winner over 18 little girls.

Miss Ringle (37-24-37) is the only child of William Ringle, Jr. She stands a trim 5-foot, 7 inches and weighs 125 pounds, and has brown eyes.

In high school, she has played basketball, was a cheerleader, a member of the glee club and of the Future Teachers of America—the latter preparatory to her ambition to be a home economics teacher.

The victory crown was perched on her brown hair by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs.

Earlier in the pageant program, the First State made a bow in the direction of the new state of Hawaii with a musical and dance presentation by five performers, the girls swaying the hula, dressed in skirts of traditional ti leaves.

There were no additional place winners selected in the beauty pageant. The other contestants, all of whom received gifts, were: Sandra Lee Holland, Berlin, Md.; Connie Wiley, Laurel; Beverly Baker, Talbot; Mary Alice Sherwood, Denton, Md.; Linda Wheatley, Bridgeville; Joyce Rehbein, Pocomoke City, Md.; Patricia Lee Jones, Georgetown; Carmen Ann Collins, Centreville, Md.; Patricia A. Malone, Dover; and Janice Elliott, Delmar.

Long Poultry Career

Mr. Murray is a grower, hatcheryman, and feed man of Ocean View. In awarding the citation, C. Ed McCauley of Seaford, president of the Delaware Poultry Industry Association, noted that Murray had built his first poultry house in the middle nineties, that he had designed the first bulk feed bin used on the Delmarva Peninsula, was responsible for designing automatic window ventilators for poultry houses and had shown the way to the industry in many cost-cutting improvements.

The oldest of seven children, Murray was born near Ocean View in 1907. He left home at 13 and worked on ships for four years. Then he launched himself in the poultry business selling day-old chicks to the King Street Farmer's Market in Wilmington. In 1927 he came back to Ocean View and launched his present business. It has grown from the first 300-bird poultry house to a large industrial complex including a 300-ton-a-day feed mill, a hatchery that turns out 60,000 chicks a week, and a contract growing operation that turns out 3,000,000 broilers every 12 weeks.

One of the founders of the Eastern Shore Poultry Growers' Exchange, Delmarva's nationally-known poultry auction at Selbyville, Murray was president of the Exchange during its second year. He is also a member of several hospital boards and the Delaware State Poultry Commission.

An abstraction of a chicken done in wax and titled "Challenger" was the over-all winner for Mr. Delle Donne. It was one of 200 professional and amateur entries in eight classes by artists from six states and the District of Columbia.

St. Bernadette's To Erect Building; Groundbreaking Ceremonies Tomorrow

Another important step is about to be taken by the parishioners of St. Bernadette's parish in Harrington. On Saturday morning ground will be broken on which a parish hall will be erected.

The program on Saturday will begin with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass being offered at 9:30. Immediately after the Mass a plot of ground will be blessed next to the parking lot on the northern side of the church. As soon as the ground has been blessed, the first spadefull of earth will be dug by the pastor, the Rev. John A. Corrigan, to signify the beginning of building operations. The two trustees, Emil Gallo and Daniel McSweeney, will turn the next two spadefulls of earth to represent all the parishioners.

The spade that will be used will be the one that was first used almost seven years ago when the ground-breaking ceremonies were held for the church building program. Since then the spade has been fittingly decorated with gold leaf and appropriately inscribed with the information: "Ground breaking dates: St. Bernadette's (Harrington)—Nov. 23, 1952; St. John's (Milford)—Jan. 24, 1954."

The hall that will be used for all the social functions of the parish will be 32 feet wide and 78 feet long. Along each side of the hall will be three classrooms approximately 13 by 22. These rooms will be used for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes held each week during the school year. In the front part of the building space will be devoted to a kitchen, a cloak room, storage room, and rest rooms. The entire building will be constructed of concrete blocks and faced with perma-stone to blend with the appearance of the church.

Once the new building is finished the parish house on Liberty Street will no longer be needed. Plans are being considered for the removal of this building from the church property.

Coast Guard Auxiliary News

The Milford-Harrington Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 16 will join some 600 other auxiliary flotillas and hundreds of outboard boating clubs throughout the country in a special observance of National Safe Boating Week, proclaimed by President Eisenhower to be June 27 through July 5.

The local Flotilla will conduct such activities as courtesy examinations of small boats. Make arrangements today to have your boat checked for proper safety equipment by contacting one of the Flotilla courtesy motorboat examiners Norman "Jiggs" Cordrey, GA 2-4688; Herschel Poore, GA 2-4180 or Hildrey Banning at EX 8-3887. The objective of these free examinations by qualified personnel of the Flotilla is to focus the attention of pleasure boatmen on the need for knowing and observing safe boating rules and regulations and for seeing to it that their boats are maintained and equipped properly.

During the 4th of July holiday weekend boats of the Milford-Harrington Flotilla will conduct evening patrols from approximately 6 p.m. until dusk on the 4th and 5th. The Flotilla Search area for Delaware Bay will be from Kitts Hummock to a point south of Fowlers Beach which will overlap the bay area patrolled by the Rehoboth Flotilla. Other members of the Milford-Harrington Flotilla will assist the Rehoboth Flotilla by making sweeps from Indian River Inlet Bridge up Indian River to Oak Orchard and also the Fenwick Island Bay area. The purpose of these safety patrols is, of course, to assist any aircraft which might get into difficulties and to prevent, if humanly possible, loss of life and property. The holidays are for play, but play it safe and don't get in a jam. We would much rather make an uneventful patrol than search for people from "an overloaded, overcrowded boat, last seen in the vicinity of . . . ."

Enjoy a safe boating weekend, and remember, when in a boat, the safe way is the best way home.

Enjoys a safe boating weekend, and remember, when in a boat, the safe way is the best way home.

Softball News

Wednesday, June 24, two season-long losing streaks were broken. In the first game the improving Lincoln team, which had lost some tough ones finally broke the ice to defeat the Moose combine 10-5. Lincoln had lost 11 straight.

The Felton girls won their first game in a seasonal competition with the Harrington lassies prevailing by 23-12. This Wednesday night the local girls returned to their winning ways by triumphing over their Felton opposition 16-10.

With the inauguration of play under the lights and the addition of outside teams from Greenwood, Felton and Lincoln, the Harrington Softball League continues to draw larger crowds. Almost any week night there is action on the diamond at the Moose Home. Play starts at 7 p.m.

City Manager Warns of Excessive Use of Water During Drought

City Manager Norris C. Adams this week warned of the excessive use of water, during the drought, and referred to the penalties therefor in the City water code.

The city manager, particularly concerned over citizens using water on their lawns and gardens pointed to Section 14, of the code, which gave the City the right to restrict the use of water whenever it may be found necessary.

He also referred to Section 9, of the code, which reads, "The abuse of water privileges will not be permitted, such as the continual flow of water from a hydrant, faucet, spigot, or the running of a lawn sprinkler, nor the sprinkling of a neighbor's premises, pavement or street."

The penalties, for any violation of rules and regulations of the Water Department, are $3, for the first offense. For the second offense, penalty is $5 and the Council may authorize the city manager to turn off water until all fines have been paid, and other violations rectified.

Rehoboth Beach Expects Its Biggest Season in 1959

Indications are 1959 is to be Rehoboth Beach's greatest season to date with expansion of facilities keeping pace with the increase in tourist travel to the popular Atlantic Coast resort, according to the Delaware State Development Department.

Within recent weeks, two new facilities—a 30-room motor court and a 17-room motel—have opened.

A new ocean front facility, the Henlopen Motor Lodge, offering 30 rooms plus a penthouse site, was opened recently and is being operated as an annex to the New D. Cannon, lb. The motor lodge will remain open for year-round occupancy after the larger (193-room) hostelry closes in the fall.

Also completed is the two-story Dinner Bell Motel at Christian Street and Scarborough Avenue. This 180-foot L-shaped building has 17 rooms plus two shops.

While the Atlantic Sands Motel on the ocean-front block between Maryland Avenue and Baltimore is still under construction, one portion of this $500,000 structure is completed and houses Rehoboth Beach's newest dining facility, the Mikado Room, which opened its doors last week. On the ground floor, facing the Boardwalk, this newest of many Rehoboth Beach eating places has a Japanese motif.

Business is reported as being "good" at the Rehoboth Skating rink, downtown; the Rehoboth Bowling Lanes, on the Boardwalk; the Rehoboth Golf Driving Range on the Lewes-Rehoboth High (Del. 14); and at all four of the area's theatres.

The Lewes Yacht Club has opened its 27th season with 40 or more racing sailboats competing on a triangular course within the historic Delaware Breakwater, off Lewes Beach, each Sunday-weather permitting throughout the summer season.

The popular members exhibition of the Rehoboth Art League, now underway in the league's studios in Henlopen Acres, will remain open until July 13 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Art classes for both adults and junior began there Tuesday.

Announcement has been made that the Howard Devron Orchestra of Washington, D. C., has been secured to play for the Charity Ball, held annually at the Rehoboth Country Club as a benefit for the Beebe Hospital, on Friday, July 17.

HARRINGTON ONCE ATTRACTED CITY BUYERS OF PRODUCE AT RETAIL

We met a Mrs. Maroney in Wilmington the other night and she reminded us of the days when Harrington merchants dispensed a variety of home-grown produce, of such quality, that it attracted numerous city buyers.

These buyers were, as in the case of Mrs. Maroney, the wives of railroad employees. They could travel here on the many trains without charge.

Many of these women came here for years. Mrs. Maroney remembers that she came here every Wednesday and Thursday.

These buyers, with their market baskets, were familiar sights on Harrington streets along in the 20's.

But the trip was worth it. Much produce was raised here in those times before the day of the debilitating welfare state. Young and old took to the woods, in July, to pick huckleberries. They braved the chiggers, wood ticks, and mosquitoes to pick the succulent berry to sell to local merchants who, in turn, placed them on the sidewalk for sale.

It has been a long time since we have seen huckleberries for sale. A famous author, the late Gelett Burgess, visited Harrington and, after eating a piece of huckleberry pie, was so enthused he took some back to New York City. The nearest thing we get to huckleberry pie nowadays is a few cultivated blueberries entombed in a mass of jelly.

Besides huckleberries, strawberries, raspberries, and blackberries were on sale. Some of these fruits were grown on a large scale, while others came from the gardens. A delicacy, seen by the city shoppers, was the shelled, green butterbean. This gastronomic delight, as large as a half-dollar, grew on a pole or trellis. Sold by local merchants, they came entirely from local gardens. It has, however, been years since we have seen any for sale.

There were five grocery stores in the business district of Harrington in the 20's. They included three chain stores—American Stores, A & P, and Crooks, and two independent groceries—operated by Clyde VanGesel and Wilbur E. Jacobs. There were also a couple butcher shops operated by Norris C. Adams, present city manager, and Tom Curtis. Of these establishments we still have the American Store, or Acme Market, and Jacobs Store. The latter, operated by the widow of Mr. Jacobs, now deals largely in drygoods.

There are several reasons for the demise of the Wilmington and Chester shoppers here, the main one being the reduction of passenger service to one train a day, north and south. The coming of the hard roads, in this area, in the 20's, hurt the railroads and local retail grocery business. At one time Harrington had 28 passenger trains per day.

With the automobile, some Harringtonians buy their groceries out of town. As a consequence, the downtown business district has but one grocery.

Another reason for the loss of city shoppers was the curtailment of production of small fruits and berries. Still a third reason was the improved economic conditions.

Fewer persons have gardens nowadays and when they do, they have them for their own use and pleasure. The improved economic conditions and, ironically, the existence of the welfare state, have taken most local garden produce off the market.

If the loss of passenger trains, then, had not eliminated the city shopper, the absence of local produce would have,

General Assembly Hums With Activity; Prepares For Recess

The House of Representatives, operating on its part of the path toward a 30-day recess, Monday night suspended rules and passed SB 228, Senator Calvin R. McCullough's education appropriations bill, only a few minutes after that bill was received from the Senate.

After taking its dinner recess Monday night, the House waited until the Senate completed the overriding of Gov. J. Caleb Bogg's line-veto of four items in HB 271, the budget bill, before going back to work.

The decision to pass the Senate bill to provide money for the schools apparently came as a surprise to Rep. Harvey Opydyke, (D-Dover), who was absent Monday afternoon during the negotiations among the leaders. He pointed out the bill almost the same as HB 381 passed last week under suspension of rules.

Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt explained that while the total amounts appropriated are identical in the two bills, the items are different.

In other action Monday night, House members expressed opposition to HB 371, a measure to provide special license plates bearing their initials for members of the State Highway Department.

There was confusion as to whether the wording referred only to members of the commission—as intended—or whether it would apply to all employees of the department. Action on the bill was deferred.

Judges Raises Approved The House in its final action of the day passed SB 17, the judges' pay bill. The vote was 18 yeas, seven nays, one not voting and nine absent.

Under the terms of the bill, the salaries will be: Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, $2,500, up from $1,750; Supreme Court justices, $2,000, up from $1,700; the Chancellor, $20,500, up from $15,500; the Vice-chancellor, $20,000, up from $15,000; The President Judge of Superior Court, $20,500, up from $15,500, and each associate judge, $20,000, up from $15,000.

Rep. Paul E. Shockey (D-Wilmington), chairman of the House judiciary committee, to which several of the so-called attorney general's bills from the Senate have been assigned, said Monday night that he will report out these bills immediately after the recess.

Senator McCullough Monday night won his holdout battle for restoration of education funds to the budget.

McCullough emerged victorious after a long caucus with other senators, attorneys, and Garrett E. Lyons, Democratic state chairman.

The Holloway Terrace veteran, piqued at getting none of his bills through—chairman of the education committee he has long been a champion of aid to education—balked at overriding any vetoes until the other Democrats joined in getting educational bills through.

The hot and hungry senators tumbled out of the Finance Committee room at 6:30 p.m., rushed back into session. Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), chairman of the Finance Committee, reported out Senate Bill 228, McCullough's bill to restore $274,740 to the State Board of Education for salaries of supervisors, a number of special education features, and $96,220 to the Wilmington board.

Senator McCullough himself asked for suspension of the rules to permit the bill to be voted on the same day it came out of committee.

The Republicans were off at dinner, but the Democrats had the necessary votes, and the bill got 10 yeas with only Senator Jesse F. Watson (D-Townsend) missing from the majority side.

Vetoes Overridden The Senate overrode the vetoes of the appropriations items after minority leader James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), criticized the move as political patronage deal.

Said Senator Snowden: "It is well known that the State Highway Department is the official Democratic patronage agency in Delaware. The Democrats have merely taken $1,800,000 from budgets of other agencies to keep the Democratic political faithful in jobs."

"The scramble to restore educational items cut from the budget shows the Democrats realize there is a voting block of 150,000 parents of school children to be met head-on at the polls next year—not the kind of odds the Democrats like to face."

He accused the majority party of favoring the highway department at the cost of assistance to the blind, retarded, infirm, aged, and other agencies dealing with "human needs."

Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), chairman of the finance committee, said the Governor's veto was aimed at the highway department "and he picked out a few others (cuts in elections not voting, five absent. HB-223: To appropriate $10,000 for each of the next two fiscal years to the Soil Conservation Commission for drainage in Kent County. 28 yeas, seven absent. HB-356: To appropriate $2,500 to the State Highway Department to repair a dike at Delaware City. 30 yeas, five absent. HB-372: To eliminate certain sections of law setting procedure in the Court of Common Pleas of New Castle County to permit the judges to specify the procedure. 30 yeas, five absent. HB-383: To allow trucks of excessive weight to be moved on Delaware highways under a permit system. 28 yeas, seven absent. HB-384: A companion to HB-383, setting fees for the permits. 28 yeas, six absent. HB-374: To permit the city of Rehoboth to set its fiscal year to end June 30, 28 yeas, seven absent. New House Bills HB-390: To extend to state agencies, including school districts, the coverage of the law on hours of employment of women. By McGinnis. Davidson. HB-394: To amend the law on a corporation's powers to own shares of its own stock. By Davidson. HB-85: Authorizing payment of a bill for photographs. Adopted voice. HB-1 for HB-121: A change in the corporation income tax law. HB-296: To appropriate $1,750 to every fire company in Wilmington, payable to the Mayor and Council of Wilmington, for the next fiscal year. Senate Bills Passed SB-171: Relating to payroll deductions of state employees. SB-215: As amended, relating to credit insurance. HB-12: Making appropriations to fire companies which maintain ambulance services. SB-8: Relating to the salaries of appointees of the State Tax Commission. SB-211: Making a supplementary appropriation to the Youth Services Commission of Delaware for the Wood Haven School. New Senate Bills SB-235: Appropriating $6,222 for completion of an athletic field at the Belvidere Grade School. SB-236: Concerning limitations of expenditures. SB-237: Appropriating $60,000 for construction of a dam at Portsville Pond. SB-238: Appropriating $80,000 to the State Highway Department for construction of a dam on Vines Creek. SB-239: Appropriating money to the Belvidere Fire Company. SB-240: Authorizing a $3,000,000 bond issue for dirt road surfacing. SB-241: Appropriating a total of $4,610,500 to State Highway Department for highway maintenance and construction. (This fund is covered by the veto override of house bill 271, and will probably not be acted on.) SB-242: Relating to workman's compensation. SB-243: Relating to salary schedules for school custodians.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

"Curiouser and curiouser," said Alice on one of her adventures in Wonderland. Alice, as we know, gave us the all important key for appealing to a child's imagination. She taught us that the delightful way around, more often, is the shortest route to follow, when teaching a very young child.

A CLOWN LAUNDRY BAG

This clown laundry bag is of a child's world. He's made from the fun in Wonderland. But, while your youngster is enjoying his clown's playful company, he'll be developing good habits in neatness. I think he'll love stuffing soiled clothes through the opening along the clown's side. All through the week, he'll watch the clown's polka dotted tummy becoming bigger and bigger until one day, laundry day, when soiled clothes become clean and new again.

THE FAMILIAR PARTS OF THE CLOWN

His suit is made of chintz, just like your kitchen curtains, or the curtains your child has seen at a friend's home. The pink broadcloth that you use for his head is like the pink cotton dresses you might wear in summer. His cherry red nose looks the way every child's nose becomes when it's very cold out-of-doors in the winter. His white button eyes are exactly like the buttons on any child's suits or dresses. His green fringe hair is very like the cotton yarn that's used in your own bathroom rug. And the scraps of orange or red cotton for his hands and his feet, are simply left overs in your sewing basket. I think it will be a wonderful treat for your youngster to have this personalized pouch, hanging on a hook in the bathroom. To receive the free instructions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper, and ask for CLOWN LAUNDRY BAG, Leaflet No. PPE-515.

Baseball Tryout Camp at Salisbury July 9 and 10

Salisbury, Md., will be the hub of intensive baseball activity on July 9 and 10 when Cardinal scouts Eddie Lyons and Gene Corbett will stage a baseball tryout camp at New Wicomico High School Field. It was announced by Farm Director Walter Shannon.

"Changing times have made us more selective in our scouting endeavors, and we are holding these camps only in certain key places chosen by our scouts," Shannon remarked. "Certainly there are a lot of players living in areas that are not scouted as frequently as others, who deserve a chance to find out whether or not they're ready for professional baseball. Tryout camps give them that break. Besides, it is physically impossible for our scouts to see all of the players in their territories, and camps make it possible for them to look at a group of players at one time."

Workouts will get underway promptly at 10 a.m. To be eligible a player must be in the 17 to 23 year age bracket. No equipment is needed other than a glove, shoes and a uniform if the player has one. The Cardinals will supply the balls, bats, and catching equipment.

"We want to point out, too," continued Shannon, "that all of us are dedicated to the job of helping baseball newcomers realize their ambition to get to the big time. In other words, it is a matter of personal interest in the player from the very beginning, and nothing will be left undone in the way of developing his ability and showing him that he wisely chose the Cardinals for his baseball career."

A player signed to a contract will be refunded any expense incurred as a result of attending the camps. To participate in tryouts an American Legion player must have a letter of approval from either his Legion coach or Post Commander.

Mrs. Charles Larimore

West; Mrs. Charles Lare, Wesley Larimore, Mrs. Herman Zeitler, and Everett Larimore, all of here; Mrs. George Harrington, Felton; Mrs. Charlotte Dettula, Wilmington; Russell Larimore, in Kansas, and Harry Larimore, Bethlehem, Pa. She also leaves 19 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Delaware Park's Handicap Draws International Field

The champion grass racer of the Delaware Park meeting will be crowned this Saturday (July 4) with the 2nd running of the $25,000 added Sussex Turf Handicap, a test of a mile and three-eighths on the velvety infield course.

An international extravaganza is in prospect for the Independence Day feature, one which should truly provide fireworks competition-wise. Invading horizons representing several foreign nations are slated to compete against the top American "grass-cutters" in the east.

Delaware Park created a new turf course in 1956 with a view to attracting imported stars accustomed to grass racing on the flat, and also providing more variety for its programs. It has proved a most successful move on both counts.

It is significant to note that foreign-bred thoroughbreds have made a clean sweep of both the Brandywine and Sussex Turf Handicaps since those stakes were converted from dirt to the grass. The Sussex, in its three renewals on grass beginning with 1956, has been won by Australia's Prince Morvi, France's Rafty and Ireland's Hindu Festival. The Brandywine, which became a turf course event in 1957, went to England's Akbar Khan and Tudor Era the first two times, and at the current meeting was captured by France's Pantene, who equalled the course record set the year before by Tudor Era.

Pantene is expected to be back in Saturday's longer and richer Sussex, in which he'll probably have to tackle, among many others, the Australian route-running ace, Monte Carlo, who was imported to this country by Baltimore's Mrs. Henry H. Hecht after finishing second in the Melbourne Cup last year. Monte Carlo was a fast-closing fourth in a mile and a sixteenth grass race at Monmouth Park in his recent U.S. debut. With many other highly regarded grass specialists aiming at the event, this could equal any past Sussex for thrills.

Mrs. Helen Franklin Taylor, 74, wife of Arthur M. Taylor, died at her home on the Harrington-Frederica Road Saturday after a long illness.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Harrington, the daughter of William H. and Annie Franklin, and lived in this vicinity all of her life. She was a charter member and past matron of Kent Chapter No. 11, Eastern Star, and a member of Asbury Methodist Church and its W.S.C.S. She was also a member of the Harrington Home Demonstration Club.

She is survived by her husband; three children, Franklin Taylor of Baltimore, William A. Taylor, Harrington, and Sara A. Taylor, of Wilmington; two sisters, Mrs. Hester Reed and Mrs. Pauline Newton, both of Dover; one brother, Leslie Franklin, of Akron, O.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the J. Millard Cooper Fun-

200 Food Retailers Receive Their Certificates

More than 200 food industry representatives from a dozen states "graduated" after successfully completing Delaware's second annual Food Retailers Short Course at the University of Delaware.

The program of merchandising and store management workshops, featuring industry leaders as workshop and general session speakers, was sponsored by the University's Agricultural Extension Service.

Keynote speaker Sunday afternoon was Louis P. Shannon, director of the duPont Company's extension division. Mr. Shannon told the group that one's success in his profession depends as much or more on his ability to work well with people than on his technical knowledge and skill. "Friendliness is the key to good working relations", he told the group.

Another speaker, Ray Bailey, director of food marketing of This Week magazine, discussed important challenges facing the nation's food marketers.

Other Sunday afternoon speakers were Dr. Rudolph L. Treuenfels, executive vice president, National-American Wholesale Grocers Association, New York, and Dr. John A. Perkins, University of Delaware President.

Dr. Treuenfels who has served as co-ordinator of the food industry training center at CCNY (College of the City of New York) offered the food industry representatives this five-point program for retailing success. The program is based on his study of case histories of the successful careers of individual retailers:

1) Don't resist change. Welcome change as wider opportunity.

2) Be determined and life-long students.

3) Be actively conscious of what is happening in your industry, your trade, your own business.

4) Develop a sense of the 'essential'. Learn to measure the profitability of one measure against the other.

5) Use every means to lessen the burden of monotonous chores.

Dr. Perkins welcomed the retailers to the campus and challenged them to be concerned with the welfare of institutions of higher education. He described universities and their staffs as the chief resources for economic and scientific competition with the communist nations.

"Because meeting the problems of higher education will cost money and it may mean digging into one's own pocket or paying more taxes, most people in their race to 'keep up with the Jones' take a 'let George do it' attitude toward financing higher education," Dr. Perkins said.

He pointed out that while the University of Delaware is endeavoring to better the standard of living through the extension of knowledge and its applications, the people who are being served too often do not show any reciprocal concern for the universities.

"As a consequence," Dr. Perkins said, "higher education, which perhaps represents the greatest opportunity for venture capital in our national life, is without funds for capital expansion. It is also without adequate operating budgets to hold its best faculty."

Sunday evening, the participants were treated to a Delmarvalous chicken dinner, with Mr. C. Ed McCauley, president of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., as host. Banquet speaker was Leonard H. Kanter, president of Staff Supermarket Associates, Inc.

Mr. Kanter told the group that the brain power which is the key to retailing success must be reinforced by a new, up-coming generation of well-educated, well-instructed, well-adjusted youngsters trained in retail food distribution.

David Eastburn, vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia told food industry representatives attending Monday morning's early bird session, that business activity will continue to increase during the remainder of the year. It will be slowed down by a steel strike if one should develop. But there is a good likelihood of a substantial spurt in the fourth quarter of the year. "In fact, a gross national product of 500 billion dollars is possible by the end of 1959, with a total output of 8 percent above 1958," he declared.

Food marketing research at the University of Delaware is conducted by the department of agricultural economics, headed by Dr. William E. McDaniel. Robert L. Bull, agent in marketing and consumer education with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, served as short course general chairman.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I have a $10,000 World War II GI insurance policy. I am thinking of adding VA's total disability rider to the policy, which would pay me $100 a month if I became disabled for six months or more so I could not work. Would I have to go on paying the policy premiums to ensure my family would be protected?

A—No. As long as you qualify for the disability payments, your payment of premiums would be waived, and there would be no reduction of the protection your family now has under the policy. Q—I have a nonservice-connected disability for which my doctor recommends hospitalization and treatment. Under what conditions may I be admitted to a VA hospital?

A—The law provide that veterans of any war with nonservice-connected disabilities for which hospitalization is necessary may be admitted only if they state under oath they are financially unable to pay hospital charges elsewhere, and if beds are available.

Q—I need to sell my GI house and move to another city. Does the buyer of the house have to be a veteran?

A—No. So far as VA is concerned, the new buyer may be either a veteran or a non-veteran. However, if you, the seller, are to be released from liability to the VA, the new buyer must be willing to assume liability for your loan. If there is an unpaid balance, and satisfy VA he is a good credit risk.

Q—I plan to start school this fall, under the Korean GI Bill. How soon after the school year begins can I expect my first allowance check from VA?

A—There is a waiting period of approximately two months before the first school allowance check arrives. VA is not permitted to mail you a check until after it has received proof that you have completed the month of school for which you are to be paid. Then, VA is allowed 20 days after that to process your school attendance certificate and get the first check into the mail. After the initial necessary delay checks will arrive regularly for each month of certified school attendance.

Rehoboth Art League News

With the start of art classes of the Rehoboth Art League on Mon., June 29, the league's summer season is in full swing. Students of all ages will be taught both painting and drawing in the spacious Corkran Studio near Henlopen Acres Yacht Basin. Classes for adults taught by Howard S. Schroeder of Lewes. League president, will be held Mondays through Fridays throughout the season, 9:30 to 12:30 p.m.

Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1 to 4 p.m. classes for adult beginners and amateurs will be taught by Jon Smith of Pottstown, Pa. He will also conduct the Artist Sketch Group Thursday evenings, starting June 4 at the Corkran Studio.

The young adults and intermediate classes will have Mr. Smith as instructor. There will be four classes in this group: Young Adults Drawing and Painting, 14 to 16 yrs.; Intermediate, 12 and 13 years; Juniors, 10 and 12 years, and Young Junior students, 8 to 9.

Mrs. W. Herold Brittingham, Jr., of Lewes Beach will teach children 5 to 7, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to noon.

Registered students are eligible for the Junior Costume Party on July 16, and besides may bring a friend. Mrs. Hartley Newman, secretary-hostess, will act as registrar.

About 500 visitors have viewed the Members' Exhibition which will remain until Monday, July 13.

Poultry Parasites

Have you checked your poultry flock for parasites lately? If you haven't it should be done immediately.

George Vapaa, Kent county agricultural agent says Delaware poultrymen cannot afford to have any parasites in their flocks during the present period of low prices or any other time.

External parasites such as mites and lice like warm weather. They are often carried into your poultry house on migrating birds and will multiply overnight. This means you will have to carry on a frequent inspection program to prevent these pests from decreasing the egg production of your flock.

If you do find parasites in your poultry house or on your birds, treat them immediately with one of the recommended pesticides.

For detailed information contact your local agricultural agent. Check your flock for parasites now, and keep checking it all during the hot weather ahead. A few mites or lice today can mean thousands by next week.

Kent and Sussex Fair Sponsors Foot Race

The Kent and Sussex County Fair will sponsor a 3 mile foot race consisting of six laps around the half-mile track in front of the grandstand at their 40th annual fair which begins July 27 at Harrington. This is an added attraction of the fair and is presented for the first time this year.

In order to be eligible participants must reside on the Delmarva Peninsula and must be strictly amateur. The test will be held at 8 p.m. Probably on Tuesday night of Fair Week.

Trophies will be awarded to the first three finishers and to the first finisher from New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties for a total of six awards. No competitor may win more than one trophy.

There are quite a few long-distance runners in the Delmarva area who could make this an interesting, closely contested event if they choose to enter.

Entry blanks may be secured by writing to: The Kent & Sussex County Fair, Harrington, Delaware.

Making Preserves

With modern recipes, a home-maker can make strawberry jam and preserves and other jellies, jams, and preserves quickly and easily, home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith says.

For example: To make strawberry jam, combine four cups of crushed ripe strawberries (two quart boxes) and seven cups of sugar in a pan. Boil the mixture hard for one minute stirring constantly. Remove from heat, and stir in one-half bottle of liquid pectin. Skim off any foam that forms. Let stand five minutes, then pour the mixture into clean jelly glasses, and cover with hot paraffin. Recipe makes about 10 six-ounce glasses.

To make strawberry preserves without commercial pectin, arrange six cups of clean, chilled, ripe berries (about two quart boxes) and four-and-one-half cups of sugar in layers in a pan. Let stand about eight hours or overnight in the refrigerator or other cool place. Then, heat the mixture to boiling, stirring gently. Boil rapidly, stirring as necessary until sirup is somewhat thick and reaches a temperature of 220 degrees F. This will take 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from heat, skim off foam, and pour into clean jelly glasses. Cover with hot paraffin. Recipe makes about four half pint jars.

For other jelly, jam, and preserve recipes, call or write Mrs. Smith at the Agricultural Extension Service, P. O. Building, Dover Delaware.

Dairy Month Over

June Dairy Month is over for this year but you shouldn't stop drinking milk and using other dairy products county agent George Vapaa says.

The cows are still giving lots of milk and it is still full of vitamins just as it was in June. Milk does more for the body than any other food, he said. It provides protein, calcium, vitamin B1 and several other nutrients. And at the most economical price too.

Milk is not new to man by any means. Cows were being milked as early as 9,000 B. C. They first arrived in America with Christopher Columbus in 1495.

Christopher started a sort of fad over here because cows arrived in Jamestown in 1611 and at Plymouth Colony in 1624 and they have been going strong ever since.

Drink milk and use other dairy products for your own good.

Dairy Heifers Grow Best on Alfalfa Hay

Dairy heifers seem to grow better on alfalfa hay than on alfalfa silage, according to research at U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md.

County agricultural agent George Vapaa said experimental heifers were successfully raised to calving time on 370 pounds of whole milk, 400 to 500 pounds of grain and all the good alfalfa hay they wanted to eat.

Substituting alfalfa silage for the hay caused lower feed consumption, lower rate of gain, lower weight at calving and calving and slightly lower milk and butterfat production during the first lactation, he reported.

Production and body weight evened up as the cows became older and production was the same during the second lactation

Caesar Rodney School News

Summer Program
One week after commencement the summer program at Caesar Rodney School got underway with Thomas Shaffer of the faculty serving as chairman of all recreational activities.

Baseball practice started Monday, June 22, for nine through 12 year-old boys. The 153 boys who signed up were divided into seven teams by a committee. The teams and coaches are as follows: Camden-Wyoming Lions, Charles and Nick Rodriguez, Camden-Wyoming Rotary, Carlton Fifer and Clayton McLeod; Caesar Rodney Alumni Association, Al Ford and Wallace Price; Amity Lodge No. 20, Charles Witt, Simpson Lumber Company, Pat Dyer; Camden-Wyoming Fire Company, Nolan Cooper; and Caesar Rodney Ruritans, Jake Crouse.

The first game of the season was played June 26 at 6 o'clock, Amity vs. Ruritans.

In addition to baseball several other activities are included in the program. The Teenage Canteen, sponsored by the Student Council, is open from 7:30-10:30 Tuesday and Thursday evening until August 13 in the large gym.

Recreational reading is encouraged by a magazine table in the lobby of the gymnasium and by having the high school library under the supervision of Mrs. Mary W. Cool, open each Tuesday evening in conjunction with the canteen.

Both the string and band instrument program began June 22 and will continue August 14, with Mrs. Gladys Blaner instructing string instrument students and Edwin F. Englehart, director, in charge of the band. Richard Blaner, newly appointed music instructor at the Air Force School has classes at the Base for band students.

The usual summer swimming instruction classes will start July 6 with Mrs. Dorothy B. Townsend and Mr. Snaffer as senior instructors. Peggy and Judy Holland will serve as junior instructors. Town children will take swimming instruction Monday and Wednesday and out-of-town pupils are scheduled Tuesday and Thursday.

Crafts classes for pupils eligible to enter the first grade in September and all elementary school pupils will also get underway July 6 with Mrs. Virginia Foresman in charge. She will be assisted by Marilyn Bickling, Sandra Wooleyhan, and Carolyn Gibe.

The classes will alternate with swimming classes with all groups roller skating Fridays.

Mrs. Anna G. Bell will operate a similar program at Star Hill School.

Charles Smith will again be in charge of the Rodney Village Civic Association and the Caesar Rodney District.

In the academic area, Richard W. MacFaddin, high school principal, is organizing classes for high school students who failed to earn passing grades. These classes will start July 6.

Mrs. Edna S. Roe will teach corrective reading to pupils needing special help. These classes will operate during the month of July. Bonnie Bennett will assist Mrs. Roe.

In a report to the Board of Education John C. Branner, head of the Science Department of Caesar Rodney School, stated that most of the 100 exhibitors in the end of the year Science Fair were ninth and tenth grade students.

All science classes in the school viewed the exhibition held in the old cafeteria as did all the students in grades three to six.

Other Science teachers assisting in the fair were Mrs. Sandra Horn and Mrs. Sarah Webb.

Science Fair winners are as follows:

Junior High Biological, 1st Laureen Wilson; 2nd, tie, John Kershaw and Kelly Plaswirth; 3rd, Mary Ellen Short.

Senior High Biological, 1st, Klaus Reichelt and Charles Shipley; 2nd, tie, Marie Gibe, Karen Wild and Linda Brandt; 3rd, Alice Krafft.

Senior High Physical, 1st, Klaus Reichelt; 2nd, Bonnie Shahan and Marianne Seminovich; 3rd, Paul Flyzik and Charles Beebe.

Junior High Physical, 1st, Donna Compton, Marilyn Compton, and Cindy Caldeugh; 2nd, Joann Stokes; 3rd, Ed Short.

Insect Collection, 1st, Tom Parker; 2nd, Mary Parker, 3rd, Carol Cool.

"World, Flesh, and The Devil" at Reese July 5-7

A glance at the regular Reese Theatre program to be found in this newspaper will show why so many Delaware and Maryland folks attend Movie Center regularly. Great and well-balanced hits are the order of the day amidst comfortable surroundings.

Naturally a great holiday program is listed for Friday and Saturday, July 3 and 4. The latest MGM hit, in color, "The Mysterians" tops this holiday offering with Victor Mature and a great cast in Columbia's "Band of Zhoobie", also in color. Cartoon and extra added treats complete this all-family bill.

To further enhance the festive inclined, MGM presents Harry Belfonte, Inger Stevens, and Mel Ferrer in "The World, the Flesh, and the Devil" on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 5-6-7. The most unusual story ever told. Imagine only three living people in a city the size of New York. This is one of the must see hits of the year.

As is the custom, the Reese Theatre will be closed Wednesday and Thursday during July and August.

Ask the County Agent About Your Gardening Problem

"I don't know who to ask about my landscaping and gardening problems." This is an often heard comment in the spring and summer.

Well, the answer for gardeners is the walking reference book, the county agricultural agent. In Kent county, he is George Vapaa. Most farmers and many gardeners have heard about him, but others are pleasantly surprised to learn about a man they can tell their troubles to and get advice, as well as help in the form of free leaflets and circulars.

The county agricultural agent represents the University of Delaware and is a member of the University Staff. He is located in the county extension office in the post office building.

Education is the business of the Extension Service Office, but not in the classroom style of the University. You can just call him on the phone or write him a letter if there's something you want to know about farming or gardening.

If there's a special garden problem troubling you, and you'd like to get in touch with your agent, visit him or call RE 6-1448.

Congratulations to another one of our Greenwood boys who is now Dr. Vincent George J. Lobo Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lobo, of Greenwood, who was graduated from the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry in Philadelphia June 4.

Dr. Lobo, a graduate from Greenwood High School, completed his pre-professional curriculum at the University of Delaware and was the recipient of the Bachelors of Science Degree from the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry.

He has just completed serving as vice president of the Optometric Fraternity Phi Theta Epsilon.

Mrs. A. Stanley Cahall attended the 78th annual Conference of the American Library Association in Washington, D. C., last week. The conference was held at the Shoreham and Sheraton-Park Hotels with over 280 professional and commercial exhibits. They presented the newest ideas and trends in the field of librarianship. They provided librarians with what may be termed a look into the future. The exhibits revealed publishers' plans for the coming months. Suppliers exhibited their latest models of equipment to be used in libraries. The exhibits were meant to keep librarians abreast of the mechanics of the library.

The programs were informative in nature and the main speakers were of national prominence. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis attended the recent Air Show at the Easton, Maryland Airport, put on by the Easton Lions Club. After the show they motored over to Georgetown, Md., and had dinner at the famous "The Granary".

Mrs. Allison Davis and Mrs. Joe Dennis Jr. attended the Martin-Miller wedding Saturday at the Church of God in Seaford. Dickie Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis, was best man. The bride, Miss Joyce Ann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Martin, of Baltimore, was married in a double-ring ceremony to Paul Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller, of Seaford.

The Rev. Bruce McCane, pastor of the local church, performed the ceremony. Miss Joyce Miller, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. James Horn and Gene Miller were the ushers. Miss Charlotte Miller, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Because". Donald Burris sang "The Lord's Prayer". As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, the bridegroom sang "I Love You Truly."

A reception followed in the church hall, after which the happy couple left on a wedding trip. They will soon be at home in their new residence on the Seaford-Laurel Highway.

Mrs. Allison Davis spent Saturday evening with Mrs. Lester Hatfield, who is ill at this writing.

Among those attending the Black-Calhoun wedding Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Workman, Mrs. Nora Marvel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swain, Mrs. Allison Davis and son, Dickie, who was an usher, Mrs. Joe Dennis Jr., and son, the Rev. Miss Muriel C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schulze, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Cahall and son, Mrs. Anna Isaacs, the Rev. and Mrs. Everett Isaacs of Kentucky, Mrs. Gardiner Rogers, Mrs. Hazel Zych and daughters, Mrs. Louise Pittman, and of course, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Medford Calhoun, his grandmother, Mrs. Howard Calhoun, and the Calhoun's house guest, Mrs. Hulda Messick, of New Jersey.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Trinity Methodist Church in Harrington, a beautiful wedding took place, at which time Miss Doris Ella Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Minner, of Harrington, became the bride of Leroy M. Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Medford Calhoun, of Greenwood. A reception was held after the ceremony in the Century Club, after which the couple left on a wedding trip. They will live in Florida this next year, where the bridegroom is in service.

Alfred Cahall attended the wedding of friends in Philadelphia Saturday.

Wool Payment for '58 to be 70.3 Pct.

Wool growers of Delaware will receive a payment of 70.3 cents for each dollar's worth of shorn wool marketed during the 1958 marketing year, Chairman Wm. N. Hopkins of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

The payment rate represents the percentage necessary to bring the national average price wool growers got for their wool during the year ending last March up to the established national incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

The payment rate on unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them will be $1.02 per hundred weight of live animals sold. This payment is designed to maintain the normal practice of marketing lambs with the wool on, rather than shearing them to obtain the shorn wool payment.

The 1958 wool payment rate is the highest in the four years the program has been in operation, chairman Hopkins said. This is the result of relatively low prices received for wool in the marketing year. For 1955, the first wool incentive payment rate was 44.9 percent; for 1956, it was 40 percent; and for 1957, 15.5 percent.

County ASC offices expect to begin making the 1958 wool payments soon to growers who filed applications by April 30, 1959. The payments are for wool and unshorn lambs marketed between April 1, 1958 and March 31, 1959.

Government Increases Taxes Instead of Curtailing Expenses

United State Senator J. Allen Frear said Tuesday that "there is too much of a tendency in government at all levels to seek sources of new revenue through added taxes rather than to hold down the level of local, state and national expenditures."

Mr. Frear's comments were made in connection with the report of the President's special cabinet committee whose findings have just been released. He noted that the committee while recommending that the Government hold the line on expenditures also favors debt reduction from what it calls "improved tax revenues from prosperous business conditions." To this recommendation Senator Frear commented, "Personally, while I heartily favor greater prudence in the field of government spending, I believe that a concurrent effort should be undertaken by both the Administration and Congress toward reducing some excessive tax burdens."

In this connection the Delaware lawmaker called attention to his successful sponsorship with Senator Kerr of an amendment fixing a termination date on the telephone excise tax. The levy is scheduled to expire on June 30, 1960. Another amendment to reduce from ten to five per cent the transportation tax was also favored strongly by Mr. Frear and was subsequently approved by the Senate. It too will become effective next year.

But the Delaware lawmaker emphasized that a realistic review of our over-all tax structure is needed not only in the field of personal income levies but for the sake of small business which he said particularly requires assistance.

On still another aspect of taxation, Senator Frear pointed out that hearings before the Ways and Means Committee on a companion bill to S. 200 will take place July 20th and 21st. This is the legislation offered by the Senator to relieve Dupont shareholders of the tax on the proposed distribution of General Motors stock which is being sought by the Government under the Dupont-General Motors anti-trust case.

Safety Education Being Offered to U. of D. Teachers

The Delaware Safety Council announced that a special course in Safety Education is being offered to teachers and others at the University of Delaware this summer session. The course under joint sponsorship of the University of Delaware and the Delaware Safety Council is designed to help teachers develop attitudes of safety in their pupils in regular classroom instruction and is entitled Education 463 "Problems in Safety Education" and offers graduate credit. Dr. D. Kenneth Steers, Associate Professor of Physical Education is the instructor.

The course is being conducted in Robinson Hall beginning at 9:35 a.m. from June 22, to July 31, inclusive.

The Safety Council said that the course will serve a three-fold purpose in preparing teachers in safety education. First, it will give the prospective teacher up-to-date information on the safety needs of students, parents, and the community. Second, it will suggest the teaching principles and procedures that can be used to meet these needs. And, finally, it will furnish concrete material that can be used in the classroom.

Primarily, emphasis will be given not to strict rules of conduct for pupils to follow but rather to procedures that will help them develop safe behavior patterns. Throughout the sessions methods will be recommended for guiding pupils in forming their own safety codes, and for providing opportunities for student participation in planning and conducting school safety programs.

The course will also include local and national experts lecturing on specific phases of safety education, films, demonstrations, exhibits, and projects. The list of speakers will include:

Samuel McKay, Safety Director of the Bell Telephone Company, Philadelphia; Francis J. Jamison, assistant manager of the Delaware Safety Council; M. E. Englehardt, associate in Safety Education for the National Education Association, Washington, D. C.; Charles French, staff representative of the Safety Education Supervisors' Section, School & College Division, National Safety Council, Chicago; Captain Leon Daney, director of the Traffic Division, Delaware State Police; George C. Lowe, assistant director of Public Relations, Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia; Dr. Zenas R. Clark, administrative assistant for the Wilmington Board of Education; and David P. Buckson, Lieutenant Governor.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

St. Stephen's annual church picnic will be held at Trappe Pond, July 12. The group will meet at the Parish House at 1 p.m. for transportation arrangements. Each family will provide its own box lunch and cold drinks. There will be swimming, games for all, and prizes for the winners. July 19 has been set as a rain date.

Mrs. Earl McColey, Educational Secretary of the Women of St. Stephen's, attended a meeting of the Episcopal Women of Delaware at St. Paul's, Camden, June 24.

Flowers on the altar the fourth Sunday after Trinity were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of Sadie R. Mack by the Gilbert Keims and the Edward Browns.

Acolytes who served on June 21 were Frank Welch, Ronnie Porter, Kenneth Correll, William McColey, Robert Greer, William Thompson, Charles McNally.

Messrs. Robert Nelson and Robert McNally were lay readers at the service of evening prayer on the fourth Sunday after Trinity.

Philip Holson assisted at the service of Holy Communion Tuesday, June 23.

Mrs. William Hearn served as one of the Bible School instructors for the two-weeks vacation Bible School held at Asbury Methodist Church. Miss Betty Jean Fowler was one of the young ladies who assisted the teachers in this program of study, worship and recreation.

The following out-of-town guests registered at St. Stephen's recently: Mrs. E. Sue Smith of Stanton; Mrs. Jean A. Hulliger of St. Mary's Bridgeville; Mrs. E. Hodgson, Dover; Mrs. Mary C. Derriksion, Denton; Fred Monroe, Greensboro; the Rev. Walter Agnor, Greensboro, Md.

Miss Vicki Higgins of New York City is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Perry and family on Grant Street. Miss Catherine Nutter of New York City is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Thompson and family. Both young ladies are having a summer vacation under the sponsorship of the Herald-Tribune "Fresh Air-Fund".

Joseph F. Steward

Joseph F. Steward, 81, a retired farmer, died Thurs., June 25, at the Jarvis Nursing Home in Felton, following a lingering illness.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie; two sons, C. Johnson Steward, Felton, and Raymond of Harrington; three daughters, Mrs. Helen S. Wright, Milford; Mrs. Ruth Woodall, Wilmington, and Mrs. Elizabeth Gamble, Hedgeville, Va., and four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

A native of Pennsylvania, the deceased was a member of the Canterbury Methodist Church and the Junior Order United American Mechanics. He served one term in the state senate.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, in charge of the Rev. C. H. Adkins, retired Methodist pastor. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

July 4 Weekend Included in Safe Boating Week

As a tide of millions of American families flowed to rivers and lakes June 27 to enjoy the weekend in small boats and canoes, the Delaware American Red Cross, joining with other organizations to observe Safe Boating Week which opened Saturday, issued advice for preventing tragic accidents on the water.

According to William R. McKinley, water safety chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, small pleasure craft cause some 1,400 water fatalities a year—more than one-fifth of the total number of drownings. These figures were disclosed in a report received from A. W. Cantwell, national director of Red Cross Safety Services, he said.

Concerned by the rising number of accidents, the Coast Guard, Coast Guard Auxiliary, and other organizations asked President Eisenhower to proclaim the nine-day period beginning last Saturday as Safe Boating Week. The "week" was extended to embrace the Fourth of July weekend.

With small craft rapidly increasing and outboard motor boats greatly in the majority, the hazards of boating increase also, Mr. Cantwell said. This year nearly 8,000,000 small craft are on American inland and coastal waters, with an estimated 40,000,000 followers of the sport.

Suggestions for preventing accidents in small craft were listed as follows:

1. Stay ashore in bad or threatening weather. Learn to recognize signs of storms so that, when out in a boat, you can return in time when bad weather threatens.
2. Don't "over-power" your boat. Many boats carry the Outboard Boating Club of American plate telling the maximum horsepower the boat's outboard motor should have. If your boat does not have such a plate consult a reliable marine dealer for the information before buying or renting your outboard motor.
3. Don't overload your boat. One adult passenger to a seat is considered a good rule of thumb.
4. Avoid sudden or excessive bursts of speed.
5. When in trouble, think—don't panic.

To save your life if an accident occurs, Mr. Cantwell listed the following measures:

1. Know how to swim.
2. Before leaving shore, tell someone where you're going, and then stick to this cruise plan.
3. Provide a life preserver for every passenger. Insist that non-swimmers wear a life preserver when in your boat.
4. Equip your boat also with oars, an anchor and a line, a fire extinguisher, a first aid kit, a whistle for signaling and, if you go out at night, flares for signaling too.
5. Most boats will float when swamped or capsized. Look to your boat as a safety device, and if it is floating after an accident, stay with it.

It's also a good idea to put a first aid kit in with your picnic supplies. Include materials for cuts, burns, insect bites, and poisonous plants.

Before you leave the picnic area, be sure your camp fire is out, and clean up all the garbage, leaving the picnic grounds clean. With these safety measures, you will insure family outings that will be happy times to enjoy and remember.

Broiler-fryer chickens and the "teen-age turkeys" are the best buys at the meat counter this weekend. The prices of these 4 to 5 pound turkeys are ranging around 49 cents a pound, making them much cheaper than most meats. Even hamburger has gone up a penny this week, making it 10 cents a pound higher than the "teen-age" turkey.

The continued hot dry weather is beginning to cut the supply of a few vegetables. Snap beans, green peas and green onions are all a little higher in price and supplies are smaller due to the weather. Some tomatoes show signs of the dry weather, especially those shipped in from Virginia and further south. They are a little under sized and the tops are cracked in some cases, however, the flavor is certainly there.

New potatoes, beets and summer squash, apparently do not mind the heat, since they are in good supply and prices have dropped a bit on all three.

Fruits are a bit cheaper this week. Eggs are on the seasonal price escalator. Grade A large eggs increased about 4 cents a dozen this week; Grade A medium are up 5 cents; Grade B large, up 3 cents.

W. O. Dawson Camden-Wyoming Rotary Club Pres.

W. Oscar Dawson was installed as president of the Camden-Wyoming Rotary Club Wed., June 24, 1959, by "Pop" Hanson, former district governor and veteran Rotarian, during the club meeting in the Caesar Rodney cafeteria. Mr. Dawson succeeds C. Fred Fifer as club president.

Other officers installed were: R. Sudler Emerson, vice president; William W. Lawrence, secretary; Edward H. Nelson, treasurer; James S. Richard, sergeant-at-arms; Virgil Bork, director; William B. Simpson, director; and C. Fred Fifer, director.

Prior to the installation ceremony the club heard the annual report of activities by outgoing president C. Fred Fifer, sang happy birthday to organizer Kenneth G. Faulkner, and heard a brief address by Pop Hanson entitled "Landmarks of Rotary."

Visiting Rotarians included H. A. Johnson of the Isle of Pines; Walter Warrington, Russell E. Wilson, and J. Smithers Harrington, all of Dover. Other guests were: David Harman of California, guest of his brother-in-law, Herbert D. Cluley and Dr. Donald C. DeHart of New York City, guest of W. B. Simpson.

Delaware Food Market Report

The Fourth of July is here and to many people that means picnic time. Do you know the simple precautions to follow to insure safety when you are having fun picnicking?

Here are a few do and don't—Don't prepare food that spoils easily, such as cream pies, fish and egg salads, mayonnaise dishes, sauces, gravies and creamed dishes. Such foods must be kept cold until they are eaten. If you prepare a food of this type, pack it in ice so that it will keep cold until you get to the picnic area and are ready to eat. If you are in doubt about being able to keep it cold, don't plan to take it.

Sometimes there is no safe drinking water near the picnic spot, so remember to take your own water and don't take any chances.

It's also a good idea to put a first aid kit in with your picnic supplies. Include materials for cuts, burns, insect bites, and poisonous plants.

Before you leave the picnic area, be sure your camp fire is out, and clean up all the garbage, leaving the picnic grounds clean.

FIREMEN ASSIST IN WOODS FIRE

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Talented ladies are fastidious people. That's why they're do-it-yourself fans...

GO TO THE HEAD Active living leaves little room for encumbrance. So, an approach to fashion favored by this age group is consolidation of color and style into small items.

together by single crochet, chain and slip stitching. The border (mid-rose, again) was crocheted separately and then sewn on.

A HIT FOR A MISS

We predict a rousing success. One peek in the mirror and she'll be back in minutes for seconds in as many hues as her wardrobe can handle.

FIRE

Chief Donovan complained Sunday of still feeling poorly.

The young woman auxiliary member who was hurt was Miss Naomi Rentz, who cut her foot while passing out coffee and sandwiches to the firemen.

Among the fire companies involved in battling the flames were: Frederica, Harrington, Dover, Seaford, Clayton, Maryland, Lewes, Georgetown, Magnolia, Bowers Beach, Houston, Ellendale, Camden-Wyoming, and Berlin, Md.

Most of the companies remained at the scene until 11:30 p. m. or midnight.

The Dover Fire Company heard the call for help from Frederica while it was engaged in putting out a woodland fire, about a mile and half west of Dover.

Spectators expressed the belief that very little of the grain could be salvaged.

CHICKEN FESTIVAL

Thomas P. Baird, Museum Curator for the National Art Gallery in Washington, D. C.; Leonard Bahr of the Maryland Institute of Art in Baltimore, Md.; and artist Antonio Martino of Philadelphia.

"An exhibit with many outstanding pieces of work," the judges called it. In particular, they were high in praise of the children's entries.

Second place in the Little Miss Delmarva contest went to Claudia Ballard, Northampton, Va.

Little four-year-old Donna won a large gold trophy, a $25 savings bond, and a 16 by 20 inch portrait.

Governor Boggs and last year's Little Miss Delmarva, Sarah Phillips, Berlin, Md., cooperated on the crowning and trophy presentation ceremony.

The girls were judged for personality, charm, poise, posture, grooming, speech, as well as beauty.

Judges were Earl Willey, Mrs. Edmond Ross, Mrs. Robert Bennett, all of Bridgeville; Mrs. Jerry John and Mrs. Charles Raynor, Centreville.

Other finalists included: Linda Hughes, Dover; Lynn Marcus, Selbyville; Marion Cox, Lewes; Shelly Campbell, Georgetown; Darlene Lankford, Denton; Sherry Merleider, Bridgeville; Claudia Furnish, Talbot County, Easton, Md.; Sally Pritchett, Greensboro; Elizabeth Minner, Harrington; Donna Williams, Nanticoke, Del.; Denise Mead, Federalsburg; Dean Records, Laurel; Mary Hitchens, Greenwood; Mary Cherrick, Chincoteague, Va.; Owen Layfield, Delmar.

Following is a list of the class winners in the art show:

Professional Oil: 1st—Nance Hall Asher, Denton, Md.; 2nd—May Sutherland, Newark; 3rd—Howard Shroeder, Lewes. Professional Watercolor: 1st—Jones Fendell, Baltimore 17, Md.; 2nd—Teddie Tubbs, Rehoboth; 3rd—John Gnatek, East Hampton, Mass. often paying the transportation. Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred) objected, suggesting the bill "would be practically bringing back slave days."

The bill got 19 yeas, 11 nays, two not voting and three absent. An effort to trim down the dirt road program from $6,000,000 to $1,500,000 was temporarily successful Wednesday, but ended in defeat.

The House defeated an effort to pass the bill (HB-160) to raise the salaries of the two Family Court judges to $17,500 a year. The bill got 14 yeas, 14 nays, 11 absent.

HB-43—To give the Selbyville Post, American Legion, $750 a year for operation of an ambulance, 31 yeas, four absent.

HB-78 with HA-1—To appropriate $50,000 to the State Tax Department for corporation income tax refunds, 32 yeas, one not voting, two absent.

HS 1 for HB-99—To appropriate $9,600 to the Selbyville School District to enable it to purchase 434 acres adjoining the school property, with the district to appropriate "a sum equal to 40 per cent of the state money used," 30 yeas, five absent.

SB 221—To give the Seaford School District $1,165.58 which reverted to the general fund, 30 yeas, one nay, four absent.

HB-331—To appropriate $60,000 to the John M. Clayton School District for completion of a building program, 31 yeas, one not voting, three absent.

Farmers Study WCA Insurance

State Insurance Commissioner, Harry S. Smith, realized that the farmers of Delaware had been encountering a problem with their present Workmen's Compensation rates plus the fact that they do not come under the present law for administering the Act.

The rating problem was discussed with Mr. George B. Elliott, General Manager of the Delaware Compensation Rating Bureau with whom Commissioner Smith had made previous arrangements to attend the Farmers Conference.

The rating problem was discussed with Mr. George B. Elliott, General Manager of the Delaware Compensation Rating Bureau with whom Commissioner Smith had made previous arrangements to attend the Farmers Conference.

Those attending the Special Farm Insurance Meeting arranged by the Delaware Insurance Commissioner in addition to himself, Senator Tull and Mr. Elliott, were Roland E. Garrison, President, Kent County Farm Bureau; Paris C. Kirby, Master of the State Grange; Earl Emerson, President, New Castle County Farm Bureau; Paul P. Bickford, Executive Secretary, State Farm Bureau; James E. Goslee, Jr., Delaware Association of Insurance Agents; Dorsey B. Kinamon, Vice President of Delaware Safety Council; George M. Worriow, Dean of Agriculture, University of Delaware; James H. Baxter, Jr., President of the State Farm Bureau; C. Fred Fifer, Chairman of the State Board of Agriculture; John R. Mauk, Regional Manager of the Selected Risks Insurance Company; Miss Kanny Burke, Girls' State Insurance Commissioner, was present as an observer.

Peninsula Girl Scouts Attend National Round-Up

Eight Girl Scouts from the Peninsula Girl Scout Council left Baltimore Wednesday for Colorado Springs, to attend the Girl Scout National Round-Up. The only stop en route will be in Chicago when the special Round-up train will be met by chartered buses and the girls will be taken on a sight seeing tour of the city.

The importance of the Round-up project is demonstrated by the fact that it is required three years of pre-planning by the National Organization, that Congress passed special legislation to permit Armed Forces personnel to cooperate in preparing the encampment area, and that 8000 girls and 1200 adults from all over the United States and many foreign countries will work and play together for two weeks in a veritable tent city.

Eastern Shore girls, Jeanne Mathews and Brenda Johnson, Salisbury; Gaf Gould, Cambridge; Pat Kelly, Berlin; Emilie Morris, Lewes; Patricia Swiderski, Oxford; Gerry Wall, Dover and Phyllis Wilkerson, Pocomoke, in keeping with the Round-up slogan "Swap A Token With A Tale Well Spoken" will bring back many articles characteristic of the various regions as well as much interesting information on how other people live in other parts of the world.

Girl Scouts Go Ocean Camping

This week eight Girl Scouts, with their unit leader, will leave Camp Todd to set up camp near the Indian River Inlet. They will sleep in tents pitched among the sand dunes and do all their cooking out of doors.

In salt air and sea spray, they will play and work, their primary interest to earn their salt water life badges. This involves detailed study of shells, sea weed, fish and laws protecting salt water animals, as well as many other phases of Marine life.

Drought Causing Farmers and Processors Concern

Torrid heat, scorching sun, and continuing drought are causing farmers and processors serious concern. The canner pea and asparagus harvests are completed and snap beans are at the peak but are not producing the expected harvest due to weather condition.

Vine crops, cucumber and melons, are drying up and sweet corn is showing signs of wilting and not putting out normal growth. Corn will be severely damaged if rain does not come soon.

Early apples being picked with price low and market weak. At the present time there is excess labor in the area as potato crews are on hand waiting to start work.

Wells are able to meet the demands for water but growers using ponds and streams are viewing the lowering water apprehensively. Comparative figures on rainfall for the March 1st through June 19 period for 1958 and 1959 show the contrast between last year and the current one.

Bay Span Posts Hike In Traffic Traffic across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge showed a 12.9 per cent increase for the first five months of this year over last year.

The Blue Star Memorial Highway has been designated U.S. 301, following approval by the American Society of State Highway Officials. The new route, which joins U. S. 50 at Queenstown, carries both Route 301 and Route 50 across the Bay Bridge and on southward.

Chief effects of the change may be felt along the portion of 301 between the new turn-off west of Annapolis and Baltimore city limits, which was formerly the northern terminus of 301.

No figures are available to indicate how the Route 301 traffic dispersed after reaching the Baltimore city line, and it is therefore difficult to estimate the effects of the re-routing may have on traffic flow on city streets.

However, any reduction in through traffic within Baltimore will be welcomed by all who use its thoroughfares.

For the first five months of the year, a total of 868,639 vehicles used the Bay Bridge, compared with 769,517 for the same period of 1958.

The decline on the Blue Star Highway was counted at the marker just east of Centreville. It showed a total of 380,686 vehicles passing where 386,417 passed the same five month of last year.

However, for May there was a 3 per cent increase at this same spot, indicating that bad weather early in the year caused the traffic to drop.

Russian explorers in the Antarctic have grown tomatoes and cucumbers in window boxes warmed by electric lamps. Moscow learns.

A great fossil bed uncovered in Argentina contains many remains of creatures that roamed the earth 170,000,000 years ago, Buenos Aires reports.

New Zealanders were so hospitable to the British sailors aboard the carrier Albion, that 16 jumped ship to stay behind when the vessel left Auckland recently.
