

Mrs. Margaret Satterfield Found Shot to Death

Mrs. Margaret Gladys Satterfield, 51, widow of Ralph Satterfield, ended her life with a shotgun, according to police, Monday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Hopkins, on Front Street, Frederica.

The body was found lying across a bed in a second floor room by her parents when they returned from Rehoboth Beach. She had been shot in the heart. The gun was near the bed, police said.

Police said apparently Mrs. Satterfield had made two previous attempts to take her life before deciding on a shotgun. They said that first the woman slashed her wrists with a knife in the kitchen and then placed a chair in front of the gas stove, turned on all the burners, and placed a blanket over her head.

However, this proved too slow, police said, and she then went to the second floor, obtained a shotgun, and shot herself through the heart. The parents said that the woman had been despondent for some time. She was pronounced dead by Edward Dennis, deputy medical examiner.

Besides her parents, Mrs. Satterfield is survived by two sons, Ralph G. of Frederica, and Pvt. Frederick L. Satterfield, of Ft. Jackson, S. C., and a brother, Homer T. Hopkins, Jr., of Beltsville, Md.

Private services will be held at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, at the convenience of the family. Mrs. Satterfield attended Harrington High School and also Caesar Rodney High School.

She sold advertising for The Harrington Journal until a few years ago when she went to Silver Spring, Md., and worked in a large department store.

Until she went to Silver Spring, she had lived many years in Harrington.

Her husband, Ralph Satterfield had an egg route in Philadelphia and was interested in harness horses, at one time owning Bonnie's Junior. He took his life several years ago.

Family of Senator Will Hold Reunion

The tenth annual reunion of the family of ex-Senator and Mrs. William O. Cabbage, of Wyoming, will be held Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. Wesley Reynolds, Wickwire Farms, Earleville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Cabbage celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary in March. They have four children, Mrs. Virginia Seamans, Willow Grove; Mrs. Reynolds, Earleville; Mr. James Cabbage, and Mrs. Joanetta Austin, Harrington; 14 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Family and friends are invited. The farm is on the Chesapeake Bay one mile south of White Crystal Beach, Md.

Yoders' Hold Family Picnic

A picnic was held at the home of Mrs. Abraham Yoder, of Harrington on Saturday afternoon, July 4th.

Members of the family who attended were Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee Yoder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Wirick and family, all of Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. William Dill and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Yoder and family, of near Andrewville, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lindall, of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mills, of Milford, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith and family of Ellendale, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Motter and family and Kenneth Wirick, of Harrington.

William H. Jackson

William Harry Jackson, 35, died unexpectedly at the home of his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ashton, near Rising Sun, Monday.

Services were held from the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, at 1 p.m. Thursday. Burial was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, near Frederica.

There was a viewing at the funeral home Wednesday from 7 to 9.

Besides his parents, Mrs. Jackson is survived by his wife, Jeanette; a son, William H., Jr.; three daughters, Wanda May, Judy and Ellen Irene at home, and a brother, Lenwood D. Jackson, of Bowers Beach.

Mr. Jackson was born and raised in Bowers Beach and was a Navy veteran of World War II.

Jordan's first brewery, at Zarga, makes beer under a Dutch label.

Parties Planned Prior to Wedding Of Felton Girl

A number of parties will precede the wedding of Miss Nancy Lynn Torbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Torbert of Felton, and Pfc. John Charles Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Davidson, 3203 Van Buren Street, Wilmington, on Saturday, Aug. 1, in the Felton Methodist Church.

Miss Ruth Ann Johnson of Felton, who will be a bridesmaid, entertained at a shower recently for the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn F. Torbert of Felton, uncle and aunt of the bride, will give a dinner on Tuesday evening, July 28, and Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, parents of the bridegroom, will entertain at the rehearsal dinner, Friday evening, July 31, at the Dinner Bell in Dover.

The wedding, to take place at 2 p. m. Aug. 1, will be followed by a reception at the Dover Hotel.

The Rev. Hugh Johnson, pastor of the Felton Church, will officiate and Mrs. Reed Hughes of that town will play the wedding music. The vocal soloist will be Mrs. Robert O. Young of Ocean City, N. J., cousin of the bride. Mr. Torbert will give his daughter in marriage and her attendants will be Miss Dorothy E. Warren of Frederica, maid of honor; Miss Ruth Ann Johnson, Felton, and Miss Kay Rogers, Windyush, Wilmington, bridesmaids, and Miss Susan Roland of Viola, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaid. Little Miss Jane Roland, of Viola, another cousin of the bride, will act as flower girl.

Best man will be Mr. Franklin H. Davidson, brother of the bridegroom. Miss Torbert graduated from Felton High School and received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Delaware. She taught at Caesar Rodney School, Camden, during the past year.

Private Davidson graduated from the Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J., and received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Delaware. He is a past president of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. He is now with the Third Army Medical Laboratory at Fort McPherson, Atlanta, Ga.

The couple will reside in Atlanta after a wedding trip to the Poconos.

Doris Ella Black Wedded to Leroy M. Calhoun

The double ring ceremony of Doris Ella Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Minner, Harrington, to Leroy M. Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Medford Calhoun, of Greenwood, took place Sunday, June 28, at 2:30 P. M. at Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington.

The Rev. Milton R. Elliott, of Seaford, officiated at the candle-light ceremony and was assisted by the Rev. Nelson Benjamin.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Harrington New Century Club.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a waltz length gown of chantilly lace over slipper satin. The fitted bodice featured a picture neckline encrusted with pearls and sequins and long tapering pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a clip cap of the matching ace pearl trimmed.

Mrs. Virginia Black Maloney, of Harrington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown of white lace over aqua was styled with a scoop neckline, short sleeves, and the fitted bodice featured a matching color satin front bow and streamers over the full gored skirt. With this she wore a matching color horsehair head band pearl trimmed and circular veil.

She carried a colonial banquet of multi color, aqua, maize and orchid carnations which were bordered with white carnations. Bridesmaids were Barbara Minner and Louise Minner, of Harrington, step-sisters of the bride. Their gowns, head bands and bouquets were identical to the honor attendant in the maize and orchid tones.

The flower girl, Linda Kay Minner, cousin of the bride, wore a short length dress of white lace over taffeta, a V shaped neckline, short sleeves with satin bows. She carried a basket of mixed flowers with matching headpiece.

Millard Calhoun, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, Ushers were Wm. Davis, Jr., and Bruce Maloney.

Wedding music was played by Melvin Brobst and Mrs. Jeanne Warner was soloist. Church decorations were white gladiolas, snapdragons and pom-poms.

The mother of the bride wore a blue lace over taffeta with a trim of slipper satin, matching lace hat with white accessories. She carried a corsage of blue carnations on her purse.

The bridegroom's mother wore pink lace over taffeta with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

After a wedding trip they will reside in Tampa, Florida, where the bridegroom is serving in the Air Force.

McDowell Busy "Selling" People On Delaware

One of the busiest salesmen in Washington, D. C., these days is Delaware's Congressman, Harris B. McDowell, Jr.

He swears he has been busier than the proverbial Fuller brush sales representative these hot summer days, and from what we have seen of his mail we are inclined to agree.

He has been spending all of the members of the House and Senate "sales literature" on the glories of Delaware. His "pitch" is that "There are restful, relaxing hours at the beach, and delightful hours for visiting historic and cultural sites."

His sales kit includes a calendar occurring in Delaware which was prepared by the Delaware State Development Department at Dover. A second brochure is "A Historical Guide to Delaware". Delaware's famed beaches are extolled in a travel folder prepared by the Delaware Travel Council.

Congressman McDowell also sends along the 1959-1960 Official Highway Map of Delaware.

He tells everyone who will listen that —

"Delaware beckons you to enjoy its cool, ocean breezes and its warm, personal hospitality — just two hours from Washington by way of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge on a safe, modern highway passing through the scenic countryside of the Eastern Shore.

"Delaware is well known for its seashore resort at Rehoboth Beach. There are many other family beaches, fresh water lakes with an abundance of fish, sites for camping, and many lovely,

Brandywine Raceway Readies Track for Opening on July 27

When Brandywine Raceway opens its seventh season of harness racing on Monday, July 27 the Wilmington track, generally regarded as America's third leading night pari-mutuel trotting oval, will present many innovations designed to make evenings better for fans and horsemen alike.

Track officials, headed by President Howard A. Miller, announced Wednesday that "Operation '59 for Brandywine" includes improved parking and traffic facilities, better lighting, a more effective sound system, and many other major changes devised to make the upcoming 40-night meet a memorable season.

"One very important step in our progress," Miller stated, "is the addition of 10 acres of parking which conveniently can handle 2,000 more cars. This raises our total accommodations to 7,000 autos, very adequate, indeed, for the time being."

The Brandywine president pointed out that preferred parking also has taken on what he described as a "new look." This was accomplished, he said, by tearing down the A and B barns, moving them elsewhere in the stable area and creating 150 parking spaces by the clubhouse entrance. In this respect, fans merely pay, park and pick up their own cars from choice spots after the races.

Grandstand patrols were not overlooked in the preferred department. In the area where buses formerly parked, 100 cars now can be accommodated for quick entry to the track.

Traffic, too, will be looking up this season, as an improved entrance from and exit to Route 202 (Concord Pike) for Philadelphia and Maryland patrons will speed up the flow of traffic. Broader roads into the parking area will greet fans on opening night.

Improved admission facilities include an entirely new entrance to the clubhouse and grandstand area.

Better track lighting, with new reflectors added, is expected to increase illumination by some 300 per cent, according to track and plant superintendent William Davis. In addition, Brandywine has ample auxiliary lighting units in the event of an emergency.

Brandywine will have an entirely new sound system, its own for the first time. This was set up by George Bumpass, Wilmington, after months of study of many of the leading tracks in the nation. Bumpass says he has developed a sound system to cover every angle of the track.

The race track itself, groomed under Davis' supervision, promises to be faster than ever. It is "more all-weather than ever," Davis stated.

A blue and white canopy running the width of the front of the clubhouse has been added to protect fans in the event of inclement weather.

Fresh coats of paint cover the entire plant at Brandywine.

For off-track hours, horsemen can enjoy a landscaped picnic grove in natural rustic setting, especially designed for their use and that of their families.

Summit Bridge Endangered By Heavy Trucks

The use of the existing Summit Bridge, over the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, by trucks heavier than the permitted weight, is endangering the stability of the northerly timber trestle support of the bridge.

The speed of motor vehicle crossing the bridge has also been a factor in creating the difficult situation confronting the structure.

The matter has been brought to the attention of the State Highway Department and U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and steps are being taken to improve the situation.

About two years ago signs were erected on approach roads to the bridge indicating a gross load limit of 15 tons and stop signs were installed at each end of the bridge in an effort to control speed. Also State Police assisted by checking weights on trucks and routing the heavier vehicles over the St. Georges or Chesapeake City bridges.

The new Summit Bridge over the Canal is scheduled for completion in October of this year, and then the present structure will be removed. In the meantime, efforts are being made to maintain normal traffic, within the prescribed load and speed limits, over the present bridge until the completion of the new bridge. But, it is not believed such traffic can be maintained unless additional control is exercised over the heavy and faster moving vehicles using the bridge.

Additional signs have been erected by the Highway Department at a number of intersections, and at the bridge, setting forth the weight limitation of 15 gross tons for use of the bridge. Also, at the structure, motorists will be told to "Stop" and "then accelerate slowly" to maximum speeds of 25 miles per hour for cars and 15 miles per hour for trucks. Due to the nature of the problem, it may be necessary to automatically check speeds electrically to enable the State Police to maintain positive control at all times.

Both the State Police and the State Highway Department are anxious to bring this matter to the attention of all motorists and point out that no exceptions can be made to existing regulations, even for local contractors and residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Stayton, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stayton visited Niagara Falls, N. Y., and also spent some time in Canada, this week.

City to Extend Water Main; Patrolman Is Hired

Shirley Kates Weds S. D. Mackert, Jr.

The wedding of Shirley Anne Kates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reynolds Kates, to Samuel D. Mackert, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Mackert, Sr., of Federalsburg, Md., took place on Saturday afternoon, June 27th, at 2 o'clock in Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederick Truitt, of Sharptown, Md.

Wedding music was played by Melvin Brobst and Mrs. Jeanne Warner was soloist.

The church was decorated with palms, candelabrams, white gladiolas, snapdragons and pom-poms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a four length gown of white chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The sculptured lace bodice featured a portrait neckline with lace applique embroidered in iridescents, and long tapering sleeves of lace. The bouffant skirt featured banded lace and lace appliques with the back panels of the gown having alternate tiers of lace and tulle. Her finger-tip veil of nylon tulle fell from a pearl and rhinestone tiara. She carried a white orchid and white daisy pompons, with streamers of ivy attached to a white lace bible.

Miss Sandra Kates, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina - length gown of embossed sheer over aqua taffeta, styled with a scoop neckline, and molded bodice, and an aqua taffeta cummerbund with back bow and streamers over the bouffant skirt. With this she wore an aqua horsehair head piece with pearl trim. She carried a cascade bouquet of aqua and white carnations with streamers of ivy.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert A. Schwartz and Mrs. Edward Burke of Dover. Their gowns and head pieces were identical to the maid of honor. They carried cascade bouquets of pink and aqua carnations with streamers of ivy.

The flower girls were Miss Connie Sue Kates, of Felton, and Miss Gail Everett, of Wilmington Manor Gardens, both cousins of the bride. They wore white nylon dresses with aqua taffeta cummerbunds with a back bow and streamers. They carried baskets of aqua and white flowers with matching head pieces.

The ringbearer was Roger Everett, of Wilmington Manor Gardens, cousin of the bride. Richard Holleger, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Donald Everett, of Wilmington Manor Gardens, Robert Mackert, brother of the bridegroom, of Federalsburg, Md., and Robert Messick and Ralph Davis, Jr., both of Milford.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of pink embroidered nylon organza over taffeta with pink accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue pure silk dress with white accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

After the wedding trip to Canada, the couple will live in Milford.

Bingo Receipts Dip Downward

Gross receipts and profits to sponsors as a result of bingo play in May were sharply down, according to records of the Bingo Control Commission, marking the first time the steady climb to new heights in gross, receipts and profits has dipped downward since play began on a legalized basis last Dec. 16.

May gross receipts to sponsors were $58,294.57 as against the all-time high April figure of $67,201.51. Profit to the sponsors for May was $12,160.07 and in April $16,063.38.

In April there was a single sponsor showing a loss, reported at $133.63. However, in May three sponsors, all of whose game sites are in Wilmington, showed losses. Their total was $341.38.

Games played were substantially less in May than in April, also a reversal of a continuing upward trend since the legalized play started. There were only 118 games played in the entire state against 132 in April. Attendance also dropped in May to 14,956 as against 19,289 for April.

In April the highest sponsor gross was reported by a Wilmington sponsor who turned in a gross figure of $9,334.65 and a profit of $3,544.60 for sponsor.

The City Council, in a busy session Monday evening, voted to hire a policeman and to extend the water mains.

A 4-inch main, on Liberty Street, will be extended about 300 feet from the armory to the home of Dale Dean and a fire-pipe installed at the end of the line.

Donald Black, who lives near Houston, was appointed patrolman on six months' probation. His salary will be $45 per week for the probationary period. He replaces Patrolman Nelson Carey, who resigned to accept another position.

Other applicants for the post were Franklin Morgan, Charles Bradley, William Pike, William Palmatory, Watson Wessell, Gene Davidson, James Ewins, David Earl Peterson, Mervin Hughes and Richard Medding.

Black began his duties Monday morning.

Other Council Business

Authorized C. D. Mills to repair sewer relay station on Delaware Avenue to his satisfaction.

Reported $230 in fines for June from Alderman L. Gooden Callaway.

Authorized payment of $357.75 for water bonds and interest.

Approved final payment of $506.72 for sewer in Harrington Manor.

Councilmen Oliver, Brown, Dean, and Hopkins were present; Councilmen Collins and Rutledge were absent.

A feminine blouse is a favorite in every woman's wardrobe. That's why I picked this pattern for you today. It's so good to know throughout the spring and summer time that you have a lovely companion for all of your light weight suits and skirts. This is one I know you'll rely on for a long time to come, because with every turn that fashion takes, femininity always is the style.

A TRULY FEMININE COMPANION

Made in the simplest crochet stitches, this scoop neck blouse is designed for a comfortable way of life. You'll have plenty of room to stretch and move about. Yet, the gentle fit across the bodice and through the neckline give your evening blouse a sculptured-to-your-figure look.

THE IMPORTANCE OF DETAIL

This season, especially, ribbon trimmings will be very popular. There's an endless variety of the prettiest ribbons available in solid colors as well as prints—to carry out the colors in your outfits. I so enjoy working with trimmings. They're quick and easy to put right on, and I think you'll enjoy this, too. A few seasons later you can change your trimmings so that your evening sweater always will be right in fashion. The little bands for pockets also can be kept up to date. This year I used small white pearl buttons. Next year, rhinestone buttons might make a pretty change. You'll have lots of fun with jewelry when you see how well this metallic knit-crochet pattern goes with all different kinds of metals and stones.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—The television station in my town in cooperation with our local college, is telecasting a college course for which credit will be given by the college. I am eligible for War Orphans schooling. Could I take this televised course under the War Orphans Education Program?

A—No. The law does not authorize War Orphans trainees to take courses given over radio or television.

Q—I have a 10-percent service-connected disability for which I receive compensation from VA. I have recently married. Can I get extra compensation now that I am married, since my wife is a dependent?

A—No. The law does not authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50 percent in degree.

Q—I will be going back to school this fall, under the GI Bill. I want to change my course. Would I be eligible for VA vocational counseling to help me choose a new course better suited to my aptitudes. I have never changed courses.

A—Yes. In filling out your application for a change of course, indicate that you want vocational counseling. VA will schedule an appointment for you.

Q—I am considering paying my GI insurance premiums once a year in advance. What if my death were to occur shortly after making my yearly advance payment. Would the money not used for premiums go to my beneficiaries?

A—Yes. VA would refund to your beneficiaries any money not applied to premium payments actually due.

Mrs. Benjamin T. Melvin

Mrs. Rebecca Sarah Melvin, 85, widow of Benjamin T. Melvin, died in a Milford nursing home Monday night after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Melvin made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Olen T. Perry, in Harrington, for several years.

Services were held from the J. Millard Coper Fuenral Home yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Richard S. Gibson, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, officiated. Burial was in Pocomoke Presbyterian Cemetery.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Melvin is survived by two sons, Robert Q., Jersey City, N. J.; and William S. Melvin of Wilmington, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Thomas I. Conner of Snow Hill, Md.

TIMBERLAND DESTROYED IN FIRE NEAR HARRINGTON

Valuable timberland was destroyed in a blaze which kept down-state volunteers from four fire companies busy for several hours Saturday.

The fire, which firemen said apparently was caused by sparks from a hot box on a southbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train, leveled a three-mile stretch of brush and woodland along the railroad right-of-way between Harrington and Houston.

Milford, Farmington, Houston, and Harrington volunteers combined their efforts in fighting the blaze and were joined by State Forester William S. Taber of Dover, who used a bulldozer to cut a path through the woods and backfired in an effort to halt the spreading flames. Men from the Dover Air Base also assisted in fighting the flames.

Many farm buildings were endangered by the spreading fire, but volunteers placed their attention at protecting them. At one point the flames ignited a pole supporting a high voltage line of the Delaware Power and Light Company. They were extinguished before any serious damage could result.

Fire Chief C. Douglas Mills of Harrington reported that valuable pine and oak trees lost in the 75 acre forest fire might result in a loss of more than $20,000.

Six acres were burned in a brush fire near Andrewville and a three-acre plot of woods between Dover and Harrington was destroyed in a fire attributed to a dump blaze.

Excessively dry weather contributed to the trouble, fire officials said. Woodland and fields are showing the need of rainfall, the firemen said.

Judge Hears Crime Cases

A number of criminal cases were heard in Superior Court, Dover, Friday, with pleas entered in nine and sentences imposed in three by Judge James B. Carey. Others were continued for investigation.

Alton Thomas Gibbs, Sr., of Felton, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and battery, in the shooting of George Edward Baker, of Felton, with a .22 caliber rifle during an argument on May 23.

Warned on Liquor
The court was informed that the man's difficulties were the result of excessive drinking and Judge Carey imposed a three-year sentence, suspended it, and placed Gibbs on parole, on the condition that if he indulged in alcoholic liquors, the prison sentence would become effective.

Douglas Allen and James Voegel of Dover Air Force Base entered a plea of guilty to the larceny June 16, of a motorcycle belonging to Charles Kreck. Allen was given a year's imprisonment and Voegel was held for pre-sentence investigation.

Richard William Thomas, formerly of Milford, pleaded guilty to breaking into the Milford Motor Company, May 18. He was placed on probation for one year, with orders to report to Delaware State Hospital for treatment.

Cases Continued
Howard Nix, Payment Simmons, and Willie Friend, all of the Smyrna area, admitted breaking into the Boyd Service Station, at Smyrna, June 1. Their cases were continued.

Woodrow Wilson Butler, Jr., pleaded guilty to breaking into the home of Delmar Dudasik, near Hartly, June 3. His case was continued.

John Wesley Wiggins was charged with escape from the custody of Magistrate W. Frank Fleming, of Clayton, on April 22. His case was continued.

Earl H. Beulah of Milford, who had pleaded guilty to breaking into the hunting cabin of Walter Morris, near Big Stone Beach, on Jan. 14, was placed on a year's probation.

Grants 3 Divorces
Judge Carey granted a decree nisi in divorce in three cases: Carnelia H. Marvel v. George W. Marvel, Jr., Beulah Elizabeth Thomason v. Kenneth O. Thomason, and Clinton DeLong v. Meta M. DeLong.

Rehoboth Art League News
By coincidence with something happening in Europe two weeks ago, the Rehoboth Art League's Junior Costume Party theme for Thursday, July 16, is "A Trip to the Moon." In Holland's Festival, at the Hague, they were presenting Franz Joseph Hayden's opera "The World of the Moon" in which one of three joyful lines is "Its a wonderful life on the Moon."

Mrs. J. B. Shelnut III's committee evidently thinks life on, or toward moon may be wonderful, for they are planning fantastic things for the young art students and their friends to celebrate this tip to the moon. "A Trip to the Moon," of course, will require rockets, spacemen, launching pads, tracking-station antennae, satellites, meteorites, and as yet unknown life forms.

Mrs. Shelnut will be assisted by Mrs. Alexis duPont Bayard, Mrs. Thomas P. Bayard, III, Mrs. Montgomery R. Budd, and Mrs. Thomas H. Baker, and others.

For the benefit of art students and the visiting public, a new exhibition at the Rehoboth Art League of paintings and drawings will be hung by Wednesday, July 15, using both studios, and replacing the annual Members' Show that closes Sun., July 12. The artists featured in the new show are all of Wilmington and vicinity: Irene Lenher, Julia Andrews and Walt Stan. On the following Sunday afternoon, July 19, Mrs. W. Phillip Short, Sr. of Bethany Beach and Wilmington will receive and serve tea.

Miss Andrews has been for a number of years on the faculty of the Delaware Art Center while Mrs. Lenher was a charter member of the studio group. Mr. Stan has won many honors in his home city and abroad. An especially interesting exhibition is anticipated.

Senator Frear Prepares For Hearing in House

United State Senator J. Allen Frear—sponsor of the bill to relieve duPont shareholders of threatened tax penalties as a possible outgrowth of the government's antitrust suit—has announced that the legislation will be the subject of public hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee beginning July 20. The Senate Finance Committee's hearings were completed in late May.

In his weekly statement devoted to a further discussion of the legislation, Senator Frear said that the House bill to be considered by the Ways and Means Committee was offered by Congressman Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania and is identical to Senator Frear's own bill, S. 200. As he did in the Senate, Mr. Frear will appear as a witness before the Ways and Means Committee. In this connection the Delaware lawmaker again encouraged the interest of Delawareans and other persons who favor the legislation. He suggested that they communicate their views to the members of the Ways and Means Committee between now and the opening of hearings July 20.

The Senator said he hoped that the Treasury and Justice Departments will be able to give affirmative support to the bill when they appear before the House Committee. He pointed out that both agencies recognize the threatened inequities to innocent shareholders. However, he emphasized that Treasury and Justice Department spokesmen have indicated that some changes in the original bill may be necessary and desirable in the interests of what these departments feel is "overriding public policy."

Mr. Frear who has spent many months in preparation for the Senate and House hearings, said with regard to the approaching house hearings: "I hope that all of the interested persons who have communicated with me and with other members of the Senate Finance Committee will address themselves similarly to the members of the House Ways and Means Committee between now and July 20th. While I am reluctant to burden my colleagues with correspondence in these busy days, I feel that many of them may wish to be better informed about the legislation and to know of the desire, which so many persons have, to see it enacted into law at this session of Congress."

"Sometimes the process of legislating is difficult and frustrating. This is as true with small matters as with bills of such major importance and of such tremendous impact on the public at large as S. 200. Thus, the support and encouragement of persons who share the sponsor's conviction are of paramount importance."

L. O. O. M. News
The delegates have returned from the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Moose Association State Convention, held at Hagerstown, Md.

A full report of the events at the convention were given at the regular meeting on Tuesday night by Junior Past-Governor William Boyd.

The Sports' Committee chairman, Paul Stubbs, announced that the new bleachers on the ball field will be completed by Saturday, July 11th.

To Understand People in Small Towns You Have to Know Them

Occasionally, on hears lamentations to the effect that people in small towns are unfriendly and that their acquaintance is difficult to make. We have heard these complaints on Harrington, and other small towns, and have come to the conclusion the plaintiff is at fault.

We base our conclusions on observations made from having lived in a number of small towns, in several states, and in different sections of the nation.

True, friendliness and neighborliness varied according to the section of the country. However, the final analysis was: If a newcomer conducts himself with decorum and makes an honest attempt to understand the townsmen and their viewpoints, he will be accepted as a fellow citizen.

"Decorum," however, covers considerable territory. The newcomer should consider that "silence is golden," and steer away from loquaciousness. For the time being, he should mind his own business and should make no attempt to join local organizations unless they are members of a national group to which he previously belonged.

The jovial, backslapping sycophant from the city may be viewed with suspicion in the hinterlands. The villagers usually like to take their time in sizing up a newcomer and they are good judges. Consequently, a cautious approach is the best for a newcomer in a community.

But if we are not greeted, we make an excuse for the person we meet by saying, "It's just his way."

In small towns, such as Harrington, when the chips are down and a citizen is in distress, he can depend on the community to help him out. In the metropolitan areas, he has to look to organized welfare for help. His neighbor usually doesn't know him and doesn't want to know him.

The best way for a newcomer to become a part of the community is to go to church. We recall, during World War II, being based at an airfield in Mississippi. Loud and long were the complaints of the soldiers about their lack of preferential treatment by the community. We started going to church and after that came the invitations to chicken dinners.

A final bit of warning to the newcomer: While you are looking over the townspeople, you can be sure they are sizing you up. Do not tell them how important you are. If you are important, they will find it out."

One hundred and thirty 4-H'ers from all over Delaware attended this year's 4-H Short Course on the University of Delaware campus June 28-July 1.

The youngsters came to attend classes, recreational activities and compete in talent, public speaking, and dress revue contests.

"There are no losers in this kind of affair," Dr. Sam Gwinn, state 4-H Club leader said, "every youngster that attends gains experience and self confidence as well as an opportunity to learn from the classes."

Project classes were held in livestock, sewing, dairy, soil conservation, electricity, woodworking, entomology, horticulture, foods, and clothing.

Other classes dealt with teenage dating, swimming, photography and square dancing.

In the contests: Two glib Sussex county youngsters talked their way to the state Public Speaking championships.

Sharon Hilt, Milford, and Wayne Elliott, Delmar, made Sussex county 4-H agent Jim Baker a happy man by taking both the public speaking titles back to Sussex county.

Sharon's topic was "Why I Belong to 4-H."

"I believe in what 4-H stands for," she said. "It is an inspiration to the youth of today."

Wayne Elliott talked about "Joe" Johannes, the International Foreign Youth Exchangee from West Berlin, Germany, that stayed with the Joseph Elliott family last summer. He described the problems and experiences the visit provided and the educational values of learning more about other countries, both for Americans and for other peoples.

Sharon won a silver set and Wayne, a watch.

Other public speaking contestants, all winners of their county contests, were: Phoebe Fassig and Alan Beldy, both of Newark; and Jean Martin, Harrington, and Fred Wiebel, Hartly.

Tuesday night, June 30, was another contest event with a dress revue and talent show.

It turned out to be a big day in the life of Jeanette Seely, Bridgeville. She was selected state 4-H Dress Revue Queen and will represent the state in the national contest in Chicago next fall.

Doris Jarmon, Newark, took first place in the talent contest. All contestants were winners of their county contests.

In the group contest, the "Dancing Dolls" made of Dennis Bailey, Donald Givens, Sandra Ilian, and Beverly Houston, all of Collins Pond, Sussex County, were winners.

Miss Jarmon played "Clair De

Lune" on the piano and the "Dancing Dolls" did an affair that used two heads and several pairs of hands stuck through a curtain.

Other dress revue contestants winning "excellent" ratings were: Nancy Pearson, Dover; Jean Martin, Harrington; Joyce Bennett, Milford; Joyce Wright, Delmar; Edith Anderson, Newark; and Kay Isaacs, Milford.

More than 60 girls took part in the Dress Revue contest. Judges of the talent show were: Les Coleman, radio station WJWL, Georgetown, who also was master of ceremonies; Mrs. John Murray, Chambers Rock Rd., Pa., and Allen Hedgecock, WDOV, Dover.

Attending this, the 38th, 4-H Short Course were the following young Delawareans:

New Castle County—Eleanor Robinson, Townsend; Edith Anderson, Newark; Barbara Berry, Newark; Hazel Carey, Townsend; Jan Darsie, Newark; May Louise Davis, Bear; Phoebe Fassig, Newark; Marianne Fike, New Castle; Mary Gauger, Newark; Jane Govatos, Wilmington; Betty Lou Hagerty, Townsend; Carol Harris, Newark; Alice Jane Huddle, Townsend; Doris M. Caesar Rodney School News

James R. Bennett and C. Fred Fifer exchanged places on the Caesar Rodney Special School District Board of Education during a recent reorganization meeting when Mr. Bennett became president of the board and Mr. Fifer took Mr. Bennett's position as vice-chairman of the Building Commission.

Mr. Bennett is a graduate of St. John's College in Annapolis with graduate work at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia. He served as an instructor in chemistry at the University of Delaware for three years and taught science at Caesar Rodney for a year.

Mr. Bennett has about twenty years of industrial experience, including five years with the Dupont Company and eight years as transportation manager for the International Latex Corporation. Currently, Mr. Bennett is vice president and manager of Dover Leasing, Inc.

Mr. Bennett is a native of Maryland and his wife, the former Miss Margaret Trotter, is from Kentucky. They have one daughter, who is a member of the junior class of Caesar Rodney. Mr. Bennett is a past president of the Camden-Wyoming Lions Club, belongs to the A. F. and A. M. Lodge, and attends the Camden Methodist Church.

Mr. Fifer is beginning his third four-year term as a member of the Caesar Rodney Board of Education, being unopposed in the May election. He has served as president of the Board for three years and suggested to the other Board members that he would be happy to have someone else assume the presidency of the Board.

Other members of the Board were re-elected to their respective positions as follows: Dr. Harry G. Neese, Jr., vice president; H. Kline Lingo chairman of the Building Commission. Summer School - July 6

Richard W. MacFaddin, high school principal, has set Mon., July 6, at 7:30 p.m. for a meeting of students who plans to do make-up work in the summer school and their parents. The group will meet in the visual education room.

The Caesar Rodney Alumni Association recently honored Miss M. Frances Evans with the gift of a wrist watch in token of appreciation of her many years of service to the association and to the school.

Miss Evans, better known as "Jack" to her friends, has advised the Board of Education that she plans to retire next fall after the 1959-60 school year gets underway.

Miss Evans, a graduate of Caesar Rodney and the now Wesley College, joined the Caesar Rodney staff in 1929 as the school secretary succeeding Mrs. Mary Lafferty, during the superintendency of Wilbur H. Jump.

As senior secretary of the district, Miss Evans now heads a staff of eight secretaries, serving a total of over 2500 students and 125 staff members.

She is a past president of the Alumni Association and for many years was responsible for the dining room arrangement for the many banquets served by the association.

Miss Evans is also a past president of the school secretaries section of the Delaware State Education Association and has been active in promoting professional status for school secretaries. She has attended several national institutes and conventions for secretarial training.

She is a member of Whatcoat Methodist Church, the Adult Fellowship, and has for many years been secretary of the Community Building and Loan Association.

Worse Than Bugs

Sometimes it seems that most of the garden is about to be eaten by bugs and anything that's left will be smitten by a disease that most of us can't even pronounce, philosopher and county agent George Vapaa said the other day.

Often as not there is some simple, less frightening reason why things seem to be going to pot, however.

"Take, for example, lawns", he said.

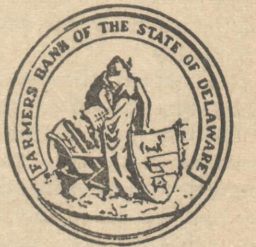

One home owner recently sent in a sample of grass that seemed to be on its last stem. "It looked as if someone had been torturing it—and somebody had."

A mower that isn't working right just pinches and shreds the blades of grass, Vapaa says. This hurts the grass and mars the appearance of the lawn.

Grass is getting tougher at this season and a dull mower chews where it should chop. It pays to keep garden tools sharp, especially if you get pressed into using them yourself.

Surprising, isn't it, how many services Reddy Kilowatt performs. A few years back he took care of your lights, refrigerator, iron, cleaner and maybe a little cooking. Today he does 15 to 45 different jobs. And he still gives you a terrific money's worth.

Divide your monthly bill by 30; this gives you the daily cost. Ask yourself what other servant would put in such long hours, doing everything under the sun, for such low wages.

Greenwood Man Wins Award

(AHTNC)—Army Sgt. Joseph E. Kelley (right) of Greenwood, Del., receives a Commendation Ribbon from Brig. General George T. Powers III, deputy commander of the U. S. Army Ryuku Islands IX Corps, on Okinawa. Sergeant Kelley was commended for meritorious service as marksmanship instructor with the corps. He entered the Army in 1940. The sergeant has been on Okinawa since December 1956. His mother, Mrs. Ada C. Williams, lives on Route 2.

Fishing Good In Early Season

Fishing is currently competing strongly with bathing and other forms of water sport for the affection and patronage of visitors to Delaware's "Riviera Coast," reports the Delaware State Development Department. The combination of good weather and good fishing has resulted in party boat operators from Misspillion Light, on the Delaware Bay near Milford, south to Fenwick Island, at the Delaware-Maryland Line, enjoying an unusually good early season business.

One of the largest runs of Blue Fish in recent history has for the past several weeks been located about 25 miles off Indian River Inlet, and catches of 200 to 300 fish, ranging in weight from two to four pounds, have been reported. The blues are apparently near the so-called New York ship lane and finding good feeding, possibly sand eels.

Smaller catches of Porgies, sea bass and bonita are being taken; and marlin are expected to appear in the Atlantic waters soon.

According to usually reliable sources, surf fishermen have been doing rather well along the Delaware coast with good catches of trout, perch and king fish, and some flounder. Anglers, fishing the inlet and the inland bays, have been reported as catching snapper blues and small flounders.

Visitors to the resort area are amazed to learn that Lewes, where Delaware Bay meets the mighty Atlantic, is one of the nation's greatest fishing ports, on a tonnage basis, and that, in at least two seasons—1953 and 1957 Lewes handled the greatest tonnage of any American port.

A lowly fish, ranging in size from 10 to 12 inches in length and in weight from one-half to three-quarter pounds each—and non-edible to boot—gives Lewes its chief claim to fame. The fishmenhaden have value as a source of fertilizer and commercial oils. A fleet of 20 boats operates out of Lewes and returns the catch—averaging 2,300 tons per day—to two plants. Fish and Products Company and the Seacoast Products Company. According to the State Development Department, 270,000,000 pounds of fish, having value of $3,800,000 were docked at Lewes in 1958.

Plan Pasture Water Supply

It is a generally accepted fact that cows will often go without water rather than take a long hot walk to get some, George Vapaa, county agricultural agent reports.

When a supply of clean cool water is not handy then the dairy cow is uncomfortable and as a result produces less milk which directly affects her owner's income.

At the beginning of each grazing season it is always difficult to anticipate summer rainfall conditions. A dairyman can't always be sure that natural watering places will supply enough water for animal needs.

Now is the time to consider possible alternatives such as using plastic pipes to convey water to grazing lots particularly in rotation pastures, he says. This plastic pipe can be taken up in winter to prevent freezing damage.

In some instances dairymen have used a tractor-drawn water wagon equipped with automatic drinking cups. This equipment, carrying cool clean water can be moved from pasture to pasture with the herd.

It should never be forgotten that water is the cheapest of all feeds, Mr. Vapaa says. An average cow will drink an average of 15 gallons a day—more as the weather gets hotter.

Remember, water is necessary for life, milk production and cow comfort.

Cool Livestock Better Producers

Livestock producers of tomorrow may find cooling equipment a profitable investment for livestock production, says county agent George Vapaa. Research on the effect of temperature on livestock production is bringing some interesting facts to light.

The county agent pointed out these research studies:

Poultry: Tests at Maryland on laying hens revealed some striking results: At 83 degrees F. and 81 percent humidity, the hens laid at a 36 per cent rate and the eggs weighed 16.8 ounces a dozen. This compared with a frigid 36 degrees F. and 75 percent relative humidity with a 70 percent production of 24 ounce eggs.

Dairy Cattle: The "climate laboratory", University of Missouri, has found dairy cows produce best at 50 to 60 degrees F. temperatures. They also found a pronounced production slump at temperatures over 80 to 85 degrees F.

Beef Cattle: The California Experiment Station increased beef gain .22 pounds per day on the same ration by using a water spray to provide evaporative cooling.

Swine: The California Experiment Station also found hogs weighing between 166 and 260 pounds gain most rapidly at 60 degrees F. temperatures while lighter animals gained most at 75 degrees F.

Bulls: A North Carolina artificial insemination association found air conditioning extended the usefulness of the bulls.

Sheep: At a Kentucky Experiment Station the percentage of Southdown ewes settled was increased from 26 percent to 64 percent by keeping rams in air conditioned stalls between 45 and 48 degrees F.

Air conditioned livestock may be a coming thing Mr. Vapaa said.

JUST ONE OF 7 Big Bests Chevrolet OFFERS you over any other car in its field!

Take a tip from the experts . . . in their own words . . . and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR†-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: " . . . surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

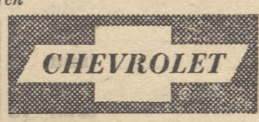

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy " . . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

Inspiration claims the larger portion of today's very successful design, for the needlework involved is little more than a simple weaving stitch. From the needleworker's point of view, you could say it's almost all fun with a tiny bit of detail work—if you put hemming and sewing in that classification.

SUMMER STOLE
Regardless of whether hemlines go up or down, there are many items in the accessory field which remain fashionable and practical for many years. Outstanding among these is the stole, which women have taken to their hearts for quite a few years now. Indeed, stoles seem to become more popular each year. They are gracefully becoming, and decorative as well as useful. Of all fashion accessories, the stole is the easiest to make and whether you are a hombody or a party goer, you will find styles to enhance your wardrobe.

INSPIRATIONAL STOLE DESIGN
Rayon curtain material (rayon scrim) serves as the "loom" for making this inspired fashion. Scrim is a lightweight, open mesh fabric usually sold in white, cream and ecru. One piece 24 x 54 inches is placed on a curtain stretcher or over a flat surface, with the ends weighted down. A very lightweight yarn of nylon and wool (named Turbo-Knit) is used and it is cut into 95 inch lengths, and is then woven through the mesh with a long tapestry needle. The colors in this yarn are all beautiful pastel tones—and when one stole has been finished you might care to try your hand at two or three—for your summer wardrobe. To obtain your copy of the instructions for making the ELOISE STOLE, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. C-363.

Janice Harrington Weds Ridgely Man

The marriage of Miss Janice Harrington, daughter of Elmer Harrington, of Harrington, and Mrs. Hazel Harrell, Phoebeus, Virginia, to Lewis Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Mitchell of Ridgely. The wedding took place Saturday, June 13, at the Ridgely Methodist Church.

The Rev. Vintoso D. Shufelt performed the double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Methodist Church hall. Aides at the reception were Mrs. Woodie Dill, Mrs. James Pippin, Mrs. William Minner, Mrs. Edward Walls and Mrs. John Baulais.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in blue lace over taffeta, featuring an empire waistline. Her headband was blue with a short veil. Matron of honor was Mrs. Nancy Schiff, who wore blue nylon over taffeta. Both the bride and matron of honor wore white carnation corsages. Edward Schiff was best man.

Mrs. Clifton Mitchell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of powder blue linen, and Mrs. Harrell, mother of the bride, wore a mauve rose linen dress. They also wore white corsages of carnations.

The bride is employed at International Latex Co., Dover, and the bridegroom works for Baltimore Life Insurance Company, Easton, Md.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Greensboro, Md.

Delaware Park's Oaks Launches Distaff Big Three

The American 3-year-old filly championship could well be at stake this Saturday (July 11) when the foremost candidates for that title are slated to clash at Delaware Park in the $50,000 Oaks, first of the quarter-million dollar Distaff Big Three series.

The Oaks, a mile and a furlong test restricted to sophomore members of the distaff division, has among its eligibles the leading candidates from east and west. Heading the hopefuls are C. V. Whitney's "Tomboy" Silver Spoon, who has beaten topnotch colts and fillies alike in the west, and the eastern stars Quill, 1958 juvenile filly queen, and Resaca, who edged Quill in Belmont Park's Coaching Club American Oaks. Numerous other good ones will try to prevail over this terrific threesome.

Following the Oaks on successive Saturdays will be the $40,000 New Castle at a mile and a sixteenth, and the $150,000-plus Delaware Handicap, the world's richest stake for fillies and mares, run at the classic mile and a quarter distance.

Not only has Silver Spoon, conqueror of Kentucky Derby victor Tomy Lee among others, been hailed as the finest filly to develop in years; she also has been mentioned by many experts as a strong candidate for Horse of the Year honors. A victory in the weekend Oak would prove a big stepping stone toward such honors, and should she go on to beat older fillies and mares in the Delaware Handicap, that would just about cinch it. However, she must first hurdle other outstanding fillies Saturday. After that, a better indication as to her Delaware Handicap status will be available.

A Delaware Handicap triumph for a 3-year-old would by no means establish a precedent. It has happened five times before, the most recent being in 1953 when the champion Grecian Queen prevailed.

1960 Wheat Referendum Nears

Wheat growers of Delaware will soon be making their annual decision on marketing quotas, Chairman Wm. N. Hopkins, of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said this week.

On July 2, they will join with wheat farmers in 8 other States in a referendum to decide the type of marketing control program they will have for the 1960 wheat crop. The referendum is held at this time so that farmers will know at winter wheat planting time whether marketing restrictions will be in effect at harvest time in 1960.

The wheat program on which farmers will vote, Mr. Hopkins said, is the same as has been in effect for several years. Marketing quotas have been proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture as required by the law when supplies are excessive. They will remain in effect only if approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum.

When wheat marketing quotas are in effect, farmers who comply with their individual farm acreage allotments may market their entire wheat crop without penalty and are eligible for price support at least 75 per cent of parity. A grower who exceeds his allotment will be subject to marketing quotas penalties on his excess wheat. An exception is that any grower may produce up to 15 acres for harvest as grain without penalty.

If more than one-third of the voters vote for no quota controls, they do not take effect and there are no restrictions on wheat marketings. Price support is available at 50 percent of parity to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

The marketing quota penalty rate will be announced later, Mr. Hopkins said. It is $1.07 per bushel for 1959-crop wheat. Any farmer is eligible to vote who expects to produce more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1960, except a grower who participated in the feed wheat program in 1959.

HARRINGTON M. CASE

Harrington M. Case, 52, well known harness race trainer and driver, died Saturday in Kent General Hospital from the effects of a heart attack.

Mr. Case trained and drove his own stable of horses on the harness race circuit in Delaware and Maryland.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Della Case, two daughters, Mrs. Marion Methany, Miss Della Ann Case, and a son, William H. Case, all of Dover; also a sister, Mrs. Harriett Willis, Harrington; and three brothers, Charles L. Case, Coatesville, Pa.; J. Taylor Case, and John M. Case, both of Dover.

Services were held from the Connor Funeral Home, Dover, Tuesday at 2 p. m. with interment in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

Soybean Support Price Set at $1.80

The price of 1959-crop soybeans will be supported at $1.80 per bushel in Delaware, Paul W. Mitchell of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office announced this week. The basic rate is for No. 2 soybeans with 1.8 to 14 percent moisture.

As in previous years, soybean prices will be supported through farm and warehouse stored loans and through purchase agreements. These will be available from harvest until Jan. 1, 1960. Loans will mature May 1, 1960.

To be eligible for support, soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and contains not more than 14 percent moisture. There will be premiums and discounts based on such factors as foreign material, moisture content, test weight, splits, damaged kernels and black, brown, and mixed classes of soybeans.

"Sound and The Fury" at Reese July 12-13-14

Cool is the word. All Movie Center patrons have the privilege of seeing the world's greatest hits in comfortable cool surroundings.

Concentrating every effort on super all family entertainment, if one should judge by the listings for this Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11, perhaps the management of this popular rendezvous has hit the top of the totem pole. David Selznick's "The Adventure of Tom Sawyer," in color, is the topper on this giant all-family bill with Columbia's "Juke Box Rhythm" with a galaxy of musical stars including Jo Morrow filling in the second spot. An all-family Cartoon Circus completes a show that will appeal to mother and dad as well as every member of the family.

Speaking of pictures, "The Sound and The Fury," with Yul Brynner, Joanne Woodward, and the international star Margaret Leighton, is acknowledged by critics and newspapers alike to be the ultimate in superb entertainment. Scheduled to play the Reese Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 12-13-14, one should not miss this "must see" hit adapted from William Faulkner's novel of the same name.

Micro-Midget News

The Memorial Race for Joe Gray proved to be a spectacular on the 4th of July. The Blue Hen Speedway was filled to the brim with spectators and also racing cars and drivers. We had with us for this special night, the Greensboro Micro-Midget Club, the Accomack, Virginia Race Club and the Dover Optimist Quarter Midgets. We want to thank them all for helping us to make this night, one of the biggest in memory of our late president. The collection taken will go to further the Gray children's education in the future.

During the evening races a halt was called and at this time Bob Murry, vice president of the Blue Hen Micro Midget Club, presented a plaque to Audrey Gray in memory of her husband. Jesse Trotta, Jr., our announcer, spoke in memory of Joe Gray, as to how he was the originator of the first Micro Midget car built in Harrington, and also how the first eight or ten cars were built in Joe's shop with his help, until the early morning hours. The Blue Hen Micro Midget Club has traveled a far way since the beginning, and we are hoping for bigger and better things in the future.

After the Feature Race of the evening trophies were presented. The first place trophy was presented by Audrey Gray to Dicky Sapp, in car No. 22; second place trophy was presented by Doreen Gray to Clarence Billings in car No. 3B, and third place trophy was presented by Joseph Gray II to Spanky Vincent in Car No. 13.

Delaware Food Market Report

Locally grown vegetables are increasing in supply as harvesting continues. Sweet corn and tomatoes are just beginning to be picked and it is expected these two favorites will reach volume proportions in early part of the month. Iceburg lettuce from nearby producing areas is very low in price, with quality good to excellent. Romaine and Boston lettuce, endive, escarole and other salad and cooking greens remain in good supply this week and prices are low. Other reasonably priced vegetables are summer squash, snap beans, cucumbers and onions.

Summer fruits continue to arrive at local markets and supplies of most are plentiful. Blueberry shipments have been and are heavy and prices reflect this—Look for this fruit on special sales this week. (25c a pint) Tree ripened peaches are rolling into markets and we are beginning to see evidence of the large crop which was predicted for this fruit as prices begin to fall. Plums are definitely wearing attractive price tags. Do you have trouble selecting juicy, ripe plums? Well, here's a hint from the United State Department of Agriculture. Don't let color be your plum guide. If the plum is soft at the tip, the plum is ripe. In purchasing plums be sure to note whether or not the flesh is shriveled. This usually indicates a leathery texture and poor flavor. Overripe or over-mature fruit is insipid in flavor. Its characteristics are soft (usually), easily bruised, and often leaky. Serve plums often since they are so plentiful, but do choose wisely. Raspberries, blackberries, currants and strawberries are available at moderate prices. Cantaloupe and watermelon supplies are on the seasonal upswing.

The meat picture generally remains unchanged, with broiler-fryers, turkeys (both large and small) and ham being the best buys at the meat counter. It is predicted that more pork will start coming to market soon, since the spring pig crop was up 12%. This increase will provide ample supplies of pork during the rest of the year and retail prices of most pork cuts will remain below last year.

Now is a good time to check the canned and frozen food sections of the markets as many values can be found there.

Research Grants Awarded to Delaware Professors

National Science Foundation grants totaling $38,000 have been awarded to two University of Delaware professors for basic studies in marine biology and chemistry.

The grants of $20,000 for two years to Dr. Donald P. de Sylva, and $18,000 for a similar period to Dr. John C. Wriston, Jr., assistant professor of chemistry, were announced by Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation.

Dr. de Sylva's project is entitled "Systematics and Ecology of Eggs and Larvae of Delaware Bay Fishes." Much of his work will be conducted at the Bayside Laboratory at Lewes.

The title of Dr. Wriston's project is "Metabolism of One-Carbon Compounds." His investigation began in June.

Dr. de Sylva, a graduate of Cornell University, has worked for the New York State Conservation Department, Cornell and the University of Miami. He joined the faculty of the University of Delaware last year. He is the author of some 20 technical publications.

Dr. Wriston came to the University of Delaware in 1955 after serving as instructor at the University of Colorado Medical School from 1953 to 1955. A native of Boston, he attended Middlebury College, received his B. S. from the University of Vermont in 1948 and his Ph. D. from Columbia in 1953.

He was a Life Insurance Medical Research pre-doctoral fellow from 1951-1953, a National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis post-doctoral fellow from 1953-1955, and received a previous National Science Foundation three-year grant in 1956.

By following two simple rules, you can have good lighting in every room of your home. These rules are cited by Joanne Reitz, University of Maryland Extension home management specialist.

First, have enough light. Remember that various eye tasks require varying amounts of light. Higher levels of light are required for more difficult eye tasks.

Second, have comfortable light. A certain amount of room-wide lighting is needed for comfort and this can seldom be done with only one lighting unit. The eye sees the dark part of the room as well as the light and the result of the pupil dilation to compensate for darkness and lightness may cause eye strain.

The color and finish of the walls are important, too. It is more economical and fairly simple if walls, ceiling and floors are finished in light colors. Since ceilings have a high reflection factor, choose a dull finish rather than a shiny one.

Bare bulbs also cause unnecessary eye strain; therefore shield all bulbs with glass, plastic or paper shades.

The foot candle is an important illumination here. A foot candle is the illumination on a surface a distance of one foot from the light source of one candle.

For kitchen activities 70 foot candles are needed at the sink and 50 foot candles at the range and other work areas. Your county extension agent or your utility supplier can help you to measure footcandles with a light meter.

As you plan your lighting, plan for general room lighting and local lighting at the range, sink work surfaces and eating areas.

Milk Drinks

Good drinks made with milk fit into meals and into between-meal snacks. The cold, flavored beverages include egg-nogs and milkshakes flavored with molasses, banana, strawberry or other fruit puree as well as the familiar chocolate, vanilla, spices, or maple, according to Mrs. Judith Pheil, nutrition specialist, University of Maryland College of Agriculture.

For those hungry, active growing youngsters, add an extra scoop of ice cream to the milk beverage. If there's need to keep calories low, make flavored beverages with skim milk—fresh, dry or evaporated, suggests Mrs. Pheil.

For something hot, most people think of cocoa with milk. Adults in the family may like coffee European style, pouring hot milk and hot coffee together into one cup.

The double milk drinks are made by adding dry milk to fluid milk and thus stepping up the milk value. Ingredients for one serving of molasses milk, for example, are: 4 tablespoons dry milk; pinch of salt; 1 cup fluid milk; 1 tablespoon molasses. Mix dry milk and salt; mix fluid milk and molasses. Add dry ingredients to liquid and beat, stir, or shake until smooth.

U. S. Congressman To Speak at Univ. of Del.

U. S. Representative Carl Elliott of Alabama will speak at the University of Delaware on Saturday evening, July 11, at 8:15 in Wolf Hall auditorium. His subject will be the National Defense Education Act.

Attendance is by invitation only. Mr. Elliott, a Democrat, is the representative of the 7th Alabama District and a resident of Jasper, Ala. He holds A. B. and LL. B. degrees from the University of Alabama where he was president of the student body and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa honorary leadership fraternity and the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. He practiced law in Russellville and Jasper until his election to the 81st Congress in 1948. He has been re-elected each year since that time.

As a member of the 81st and 82nd Congresses, Mr. Elliott was a member of the Committee on Veterans Affairs. Subsequently he has served on the Committee on Education and Labor and presently he is chairman of a subcommittee on special education.

Mr. Elliott is a past president of the Walker County Bar Association and a member of the American Legion, the 40 and 8, AMVETS, the Order of Eastern Star, the Masons, and Woodmen of the World.

Demonstrations On Marketing Pigs To Be Held Monthly

Feeder Pig Marketing Demonstrations have been so well received and supported by Maryland swine producers that the demonstrations will now be held every month, announces Dr. James R. Ferguson. The next demonstration has been scheduled for Monday, July 20, in Caroline County at Denton. Dr. Ferguson, who conducts these events, is extension livestock specialist at the University of Maryland College of Agriculture.

The marketing of feeder pigs is growing in Maryland, emphasizing a partial change over in the swine economy, where one man may specialize in the raising of feeder pigs, while another takes over for feeding them out to market weights.

These marketing demonstrations have been held since 1957. They are not held primarily to encourage swine production, but to encourage the raising of better swine, Dr. Ferguson said. The demonstrations are held in connection with sales of feeder pigs, because it is the most convenient way to meet producers when they are all together and to answer their questions and point out the requirements of the "swine of tomorrow." Growers are urged to raise, in an efficient and profitable manner, the type of pork more acceptable to the housewife.

Separate grading demonstrations are held to point out to raisers what it takes to make a "choice" or "good" feeder pig. Here, a farmer gets a chance to ask "Why do my pigs grade as they do?" and "What can I do to produce a better pig?" The answer, Dr. Ferguson, points out, is to do a good job of both management and selection of breeding stock for his swine program.

Morals Case Is Tried By Juvenile Court

One case on a charge of toy-ing with a female child was disposed in the Juvenile Court in Dover Tuesday while three other cases on the same charge are still pending before the Court.

William Lee Callaway, 22, of Harrington, was found guilty on this charge involving a 14-year-old Harrington girl, with the offense allegedly taking place on Sunday.

After hearing the evidence in the case, Judge W. Marion Stevenson imposed a fine of $100, plus costs, in Callaway's case.

Other cases on the same charge still pending in the Court are Stephen John Wallace and Ed-winn Jefferson, both scheduled to go on trial on Friday, and Vin-son Astor Bobo, whose trial is scheduled for next Tuesday.

old towns and cities. No state has more facilities for good food or better hotels. I am enclosing some folders which describe some of the things for which Delaware is justly famous."

With the Nation's Capitol getting hotter and hotter, the "line" about the relaxing hours possible at Delaware's fine beaches was enthusiastically hailed, especially since Congressman McDowell followed his glowing description with the following warm, personal invitation—

"I cordially invite you and your family to spend your weekends or vacation in historic Delaware where relaxing is an art, and the citizens are second to none as hosts."

Clearly, Congressman McDowell's description of Delaware's hospitality had a strong factual basis because several members of Congress in replying spoke of the pleasure they had on previous trips to Delaware.

Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska, which has its own fabled vacation land said: "Mrs. Gruening and I have been through Delaware on a number of occasions, and do indeed look forward to our next visit."

Apparently Delaware's generous hospitality is no less delightful than that of the 49th State. It is good to have this evidence that our cordial welcome was appreciated.

Rep. Hale Boggs, of Louisiana, has been to Delaware and plans to return. He wrote: "I read them (the brochures) with great interest and know that the maps and other materials will be quite helpful when I next visit your State."

Senator Kenneth B. Keating, who won a Senate seat after serving many years in the House from New York, wrote—

"As one who has had the privilege on several occasions of visiting this lovely state, I appreciate your sending me this further material about it. I can assure you I look forward to many more pleasant hours in Delaware in days ahead."

Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado's 3rd District made the point that Delaware's scenic beauties had their own appeal but that he'd like some reciprocity. He enclosed a Colorado travel brochure with his reply which read:

"As you will note from the enclosed brochure, we have a different type of scenery in Colorado and I hope that you will come out to see us. I assure you a real Colorado welcome awaits you whenever you come our way."

Senator Ralph Yarborough of the great State of Texas refrained from talking about his own State, which is hard for any dyed-in-the-wool Texan to do. He wrote:

"The folders certainly serve to intensify my desire to revisit your fair state, and I shall be looking forward to doing so in the very near future."

Altogether it was a very successful "sales campaign" and, as a result, Congressman McDowell who will be visiting our State in the near future. He won many friends for Delaware.

Food Guide For Older People

How older people can meet their special nutrition needs is described in a guide for people over 50, just issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The publication—an up-to-date revision of an earlier USDA publication—tells how much and what kinds of food to include in a week's fare.

Three different food plans especially suited to the needs of an older couple are described in the bulletin, prepared by home economists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. The plans can be used either as a buying guide or as a nutritional check for a week's menus. They range from a low cost plan ($13 to $15 weekly) to a liberal one ($21 to $23 weekly).

A daily nutrition guide, also given, recommends choices from the following four food groups: (1) milk, cheese, or ice cream; (2) meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dry beans, peas, or nuts; (3) grain products; and (4) vegetables and fruit.

The bulletin also gives hints for adapting meal plans and preparation to one or two persons, gives shortcuts for cooking, tells how to manage with limited equipment, and suggests ways of solving special problems as poor appetite and difficulty in chewing.

The importance of good diets for older people has been shown by USDA studies and those at State Experiment stations, colleges and universities, and public health and welfare agencies.

One study showed that the diets of older people often lack certain food essentials, and that well-being is directly affected by what they eat. Calcium and ascorbic acid are often short in these diets. Those persons who had higher totals of ascorbic acid in their diets were found to have healthier teeth and gums. Those with higher protein and iron intakes had higher levels of blood hemoglobin. Early studies showed that increasing the calcium intake of test animals made for a longer life. Department scientists think that this may also apply to humans.

The problem of excess weight has also been investigated. Studies indicate that women in their fifties are more likely to be overweight than those in any other decade of life. Women who were overweight seemed to complain of more physical ailments at an earlier age than women of normal weight.

To control excessive weight gain, mainly the result of decreased activity, older people can gradually reduce calorie intake to a point where they can maintain their normal weight. It means cutting down on sweets and fats without sacrificing foods that are good sources of proteins, mineral, and vitamins.

Single copies "Food Guide for Older Folks" (HG 17) are free on request to your county home demonstration agent.

Saratoga Raceway News

The successive Saturday world record performances by Victory Lind and Corsican at Saratoga Raceway increased to 12 the number of current world marks established over the Spa half-mile track.

Corsican's 1:59 2/5 mile also topped to four the track's share of additional current world standards. Corsican's clocking not only set a world mark for four-year-old pacing geldings, but tied a world record for all four-year-old pacers.

Victory Lind, week-before victor over Corsican by a head in 2:01—a world record for three-year-old pacing geldings—was resting from racing while Corsican burned up the course last week. However, Mrs. Dorothy Corbin's crack Charlton sophomore may race against Robert Metzner's Albany ace here this Saturday night in the $5,000 Whitehall.

Corsican's 1:59 2/5 tied him with four others, Chief Rainbow, Adios Harry, Gold Worthy and W. D. Direct, for the third fastest pacing mile victory over a half-mile track in history. Only Hi Lo's Forbes, with his 1:58 3/5 at Roosevelt Raceway in 1953, and Speedy Pick, with his 1:58 4/5 at Yonkers last year, have won in faster time for the distance.

The Spa Raceway is giving Ralph Baldwin a $1,000 check for driving Corsican to his world record effort, just as it did Howard Parker for piloting Victory Lind to his.

A pair of $10,000 features will be the national attractions at Saratoga Raceway next week as the Spa plays host to the Grand Circuit.

One ten-grander will be the Bostwick Two-Year-Old Trot Tuesday night. The other will be the Runnymede Three-Year-Old Trot Thursday night. Two bright performers that have done some overnight racing at the Spa recently are among the nominees for these events. One is Carlene Hanover, a candidate for the Bostwick, and the other is Diller Hanover, a nominee for the Runnymede.

Miss New York State, Bonnie Jo Marquis of Huntington, L. I., is scheduled to appear at Saratoga Raceway tonight (Thursday). Before the first race, she is to ride around the track in one of the floats that will appear in many communities in conjunction with the Hudson River-Lake Champlain 350th anniversary celebration. She also is to present a trophy to the winner of the second race, named The Spirit of Progress, in recognition of the anniversary celebration.

Food Guide For Older People

How older people can meet their special nutrition needs is described in a guide for people over 50, just issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The publication—an up-to-date revision of an earlier USDA publication—tells how much and what kinds of food to include in a week's fare.

Three different food plans especially suited to the needs of an older couple are described in the bulletin, prepared by home economists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. The plans can be used either as a buying guide or as a nutritional check for a week's menus. They range from a low cost plan ($13 to $15 weekly) to a liberal one ($21 to $23 weekly).

A daily nutrition guide, also given, recommends choices from the following four food groups: (1) milk, cheese, or ice cream; (2) meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dry beans, peas, or nuts; (3) grain products; and (4) vegetables and fruit.

The bulletin also gives hints for adapting meal plans and preparation to one or two persons, gives shortcuts for cooking, tells how to manage with limited equipment, and suggests ways of solving special problems as poor appetite and difficulty in chewing.

The importance of good diets for older people has been shown by USDA studies and those at State Experiment stations, colleges and universities, and public health and welfare agencies.

One study showed that the diets of older people often lack certain food essentials, and that well-being is directly affected by what they eat. Calcium and ascorbic acid are often short in these diets. Those persons who had higher totals of ascorbic acid in their diets were found to have healthier teeth and gums. Those with higher protein and iron intakes had higher levels of blood hemoglobin. Early studies showed that increasing the calcium intake of test animals made for a longer life. Department scientists think that this may also apply to humans.

The problem of excess weight has also been investigated. Studies indicate that women in their fifties are more likely to be overweight than those in any other decade of life. Women who were overweight seemed to complain of more physical ailments at an earlier age than women of normal weight.

To control excessive weight gain, mainly the result of decreased activity, older people can gradually reduce calorie intake to a point where they can maintain their normal weight. It means cutting down on sweets and fats without sacrificing foods that are good sources of proteins, mineral, and vitamins.

Research Grants Awarded to Delaware Professors

National Science Foundation grants totaling $38,000 have been awarded to two University of Delaware professors for basic studies in marine biology and chemistry.

The grants of $20,000 for two years to Dr. Donald P. de Sylva, and $18,000 for a similar period to Dr. John C. Wriston, Jr., assistant professor of chemistry, were announced by Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation.

Dr. de Sylva's project is entitled "Systematics and Ecology of Eggs and Larvae of Delaware Bay Fishes." Much of his work will be conducted at the Bayside Laboratory at Lewes.

The title of Dr. Wriston's project is "Metabolism of One-Carbon Compounds." His investigation began in June.

Dr. de Sylva, a graduate of Cornell University, has worked for the New York State Conservation Department, Cornell and the University of Miami. He joined the faculty of the University of Delaware last year. He is the author of some 20 technical publications.

Dr. Wriston came to the University of Delaware in 1955 after serving as instructor at the University of Colorado Medical School from 1953 to 1955. A native of Boston, he attended Middlebury College, received his B. S. from the University of Vermont in 1948 and his Ph. D. from Columbia in 1953.

He was a Life Insurance Medical Research pre-doctoral fellow from 1951-1953, a National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis post-doctoral fellow from 1953-1955, and received a previous National Science Foundation three-year grant in 1956.

By following two simple rules, you can have good lighting in every room of your home. These rules are cited by Joanne Reitz, University of Maryland Extension home management specialist.

First, have enough light. Remember that various eye tasks require varying amounts of light. Higher levels of light are required for more difficult eye tasks.

Second, have comfortable light. A certain amount of room-wide lighting is needed for comfort and this can seldom be done with only one lighting unit. The eye sees the dark part of the room as well as the light and the result of the pupil dilation to compensate for darkness and lightness may cause eye strain.

The color and finish of the walls are important, too. It is more economical and fairly simple if walls, ceiling and floors are finished in light colors. Since ceilings have a high reflection factor, choose a dull finish rather than a shiny one.

Bare bulbs also cause unnecessary eye strain; therefore shield all bulbs with glass, plastic or paper shades.

The foot candle is an important illumination here. A foot candle is the illumination on a surface a distance of one foot from the light source of one candle.

For kitchen activities 70 foot candles are needed at the sink and 50 foot candles at the range and other work areas. Your county extension agent or your utility supplier can help you to measure footcandles with a light meter.

As you plan your lighting, plan for general room lighting and local lighting at the range, sink work surfaces and eating areas.

Milk Drinks

Good drinks made with milk fit into meals and into between-meal snacks. The cold, flavored beverages include egg-nogs and milkshakes flavored with molasses, banana, strawberry or other fruit puree as well as the familiar chocolate, vanilla, spices, or maple, according to Mrs. Judith Pheil, nutrition specialist, University of Maryland College of Agriculture.

For those hungry, active growing youngsters, add an extra scoop of ice cream to the milk beverage. If there's need to keep calories low, make flavored beverages with skim milk—fresh, dry or evaporated, suggests Mrs. Pheil.

For something hot, most people think of cocoa with milk. Adults in the family may like coffee European style, pouring hot milk and hot coffee together into one cup.

The double milk drinks are made by adding dry milk to fluid milk and thus stepping up the milk value. Ingredients for one serving of molasses milk, for example, are: 4 tablespoons dry milk; pinch of salt; 1 cup fluid milk; 1 tablespoon molasses
