

Bill Asks Added 20 Days
For Racing at Harrington

The number of days harness racing is permitted at Harrington would be doubled—from 20 to 40—under the one bill introduced in the House of Representatives Monday.

The new measure is HB-403, presented by Rep. George W. Cain (D-Harrington) and nine co-sponsors of both parties and all three counties. The bill would increase the total number of harness racing days permissible from 60 to 80, per-would permit Kent County to have 40, Cain said the current plan is to have 30 days of racing at Harrington instead of 20, and to keep the larger authorization as leeway for the future.

The bill would not change the arrangement under which Sussex County's harness racing days are used in New Castle County at Brandywine Raceway.

The House Monday received a report from State Insurance Commissioner Harry S. Smith on HR-29, which called for an investigation of the claim practices of Allstate Insurance Company. Smith said he interviewed an official of the firm, visited its Wilmington claims office and "found their claim procedures and practices to be in order. They apparently are complying with the Statutes of Delaware, and, up to this time, have not been a problem claimwise."

"In reviewing their files," Smith continued, "I very carefully examined a claim of Frank X. Adams, an Allstate insured. Since Mr. Shoemaker had told me personally that he was having a resolution passed because of his disagreement on the amount of damages done to his car, I would assume House Resolution No. 29 centered around his case."

"However, on careful examination, I find that his case was handled in an orderly manner and that final settlement was effected by letter dated April 20, 1959 to Mr. John Baden, who apparently was acting as attorney for Mr. Shoemaker." Shoemaker is assistant chief clerk of the House.

Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Mill Creek Hundred) complained Monday in a statement that she has been unable to get HB-296, a charter bill for the town of Newport, reported out of the Corporation Municipal Committee headed by Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington). She said she "strongly suspects that the delay is, due to the fact that Newport is in the district of Rep. Earl McGinness, Jr. (D-Christiana Hundred) and that McGinness is blocking the measure."

The House, back from the July recess, had two brief meetings Monday. Democratic members spent a large part of the afternoon in a joint caucus. The House adjourned until Thursday at 1 p. m.

Softball News

The Harrington Softball League All-Stars handicapped by having only two pitchers available for duty, bowed to the Milford League All-Stars 7-6 in an exhibition contest on the local Moose field Wednesday night.

Milford scored two runs in each of the last three innings, as play was halted several times to dispute the umpire's rulings. The officiating was done by members of each league. Such an arrangement can easily lead to discord. A return engagement will be played at the Milford Ball Park, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 16, at 2 p. m.

The Harrington Girls Softball nine scored six runs in the last inning to defeat the Diamond State Telephone Co. team of the Dover Girls Softball League, 12-11.

Greenwood's chances for the league pennant got a shot in the arm as Felton defeated the Harrington Athletic Club 9-5 Tuesday night, thereby adding another game to the Sussex County team's lead.

Lincoln upset the Moose 8-6 on Monday night in another surprise.

Local Vol. Fire Co.
Ready for Stock
Car Program

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company now has everything in readiness for its seventh annual benefit stock car racing program scheduled for this Saturday night at the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds. A field of over fifty drivers will be taking to the raceway at 7:30 p. m. for warm-ups previous to the first event, which is clocked for the green signal at 8:30 p. m. The main event, over a 25-lap distance, will start the best and fastest twenty cars, which qualify in the four preliminary heat and consolation races. The entire program will bear a sanction from NASCAR and will carry a rain date of Sat., Aug. 15.

With the stock cars absent from the fairgrounds oval since last year's record-breaking contest, racing fans are preparing for what promises to be an all time record shattering arc light race. Racing can be viewed in comfort by the fans, thanks to the recent all new, all steel 5,000 seat grandstand which affords a clear and unobstructed view of the half-mile raceway, which always provides plenty of fast and furious action due to the flat construction.

Headlining the high entry list received this week by the firm is Bud Olsen, Paulsboro, N. J., last year's National Modified Champion. Also coming from the "Garden State" will be Al Tansy, Vineland; Jackie McLaughlin, Thorofare; Bill Wark, Barrington; Jack Burgstesser, Philadelphia; and Bob Hall, Flemington.

In the line-up from Maryland there will be Ed Lindsay, of Randallstown, who is presently leading the National Modified standings; Reds Kagle, Baltimore; Dean Pelton, Silver Spring; Pee Wee Pobelts, Randallstown; and Glen Guthrie, Silver Spring.

From Pennsylvania there will be Vince Conrad of Kutztown plus all of the old favorites from the Eastern shore.

The fairgrounds will open and general admission tickets will go on sale Saturday night at 7 p. m. A few reserved seat tickets still remain, but will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Anyone wishing to have reserved seats should call Outten's Insurance Agency in Harrington, phone EX-8-8586.

No Detours on Main Highways

No detours exist along the main traveled highways in this state, to interfere with mid-summer travel, according to a report issued by the Planning Division of the State Highway Department.

This report, which was issued for travel conditions during August, lists 14 major construction projects as being in operation by the Highway Department at the present time.

On one location, the Farnhurst Interchange on the Freeway system, the report advises that extreme caution be used in passing through the area where there is some bridge construction.

On another project, the improvement of East Fourth Street in Wilmington, from the Third Street Bridge to Spruce Street, the report states that the Third Street Bridge will be closed at times during some major construction on this project and that when this bridge is closed, traffic will be detoured by way of the Walnut Street Bridge and Walnut Street to Fourth Street.

Of the 4 projects listed on the report, 7 are in New Castle County, 4 in Kent County and the remaining 3 are in Sussex County.

Local Runners Enter Slaughter Beach
"Big Thursday" 3 Mile Race

By Keith S. Burgess Harry Knotts and Alvin Smith of Harrington, trophy winners at the recent successful 3-mile run held at the Kent & Sussex Fair, have entered a 3-mile race to be held at Slaughter Beach on Sat., Aug. 22 in connection with that area's week-long "Big Thursday" celebration. The race will start at 6 p. m. in front of the fire house and will be open to any amateur residing on the Delmarva Peninsula. Entries should be sent to the race chairman: Keith S. Burgess, Harrington, Del.

Other entries for the bay resort's footrace are West Stack of Seaford, and George "The Runner" Reyhan of Felton. Stack, last year, was a standout on freshman track and cross-country teams at the University of Delaware. He holds the university freshman record for the two-mile run. Wes was also the winner in 16:40 in the fairgrounds race.

Reyhan adds color to the upcoming test. At 67 he doesn't figure to win the race but he is still active enough to show the youngsters a thing or two. A road-racer in Europe 50 years ago, he has continued to run ever since. Felton area residents, many of whom know him only as "George Runner" or simply "The Runner", have long been accustomed to seeing him come chugging along at a steady, ground-eating rate.

Other top-flight Delaware distance runners are expected to compete as some of them are already in good physical condition, as a result of training for the aforementioned Kent & Sussex race.

Teen Script

with Barb Payne How much is "your word" worth? Maybe a better question would be—"How much is your word worth to everybody?"

Paraphrasing Shakespeare, I suppose a good statement to the latter question would be, "To Thine ownself be true. Then it must follow, as the day the night, thou canst not then be false to any man."

In a few simple words that statement means if you're only true to yourself then to no one you will be untruthful or false.

Friends are hard to find—you can't buy, borrow, or lend them! You must earn them. And the first and best way of doing that is to be truthful with them—have faith in their word and hope for the faith in return.

You may find this a difficult task to master but in due time, as the situation becomes a part of you, you'll find that there will be no need to try—you will have mastered the problem.

Do not make promises with a loose tongue, but keep them faithfully, no matter at what cost!

Robbery Suspect
Held Under Bail

Robbery with violence resulted in the arrest of one of two men being held under $2000 bail after an appearance before Magistrate Maurice W. Carrow at Camden Sunday. The second man has not been apprehended.

Roy W. Dennis, Harrington, is accused of taking $85 from Airman Arnold M. Gallant Saturday night in front of the Caravan Motel, Dover.

Gallant, who had been visiting some friends at the motel, had gone out to investigate a noise in front of the motel. He told State Police of the Dover Troop two men set upon him, pulled him into the car, and then pushed him outside to the ground when he tried to attract attention by blowing the car horn.

Gallant, who suffered a fractured jaw, saw the license number of the car as it sped away. Police located the car, with Dennis and a second person asleep, near Greenwood.

Gallant identified Dennis but not the second individual, who denied he had taken part. Dennis told police he went from the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds to the motel with a stranger.

98 Handicapped
Given Jobs

Approximately 90 handicapped Delawareans were placed in jobs during the first six months of this year, according to the semi-annual report released this week by James H. Sears, chairman of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Sears reported that 58 handicapped persons were interviewed by the Employer's Advisory Committee and employment was found for 47 of these. In addition, 40 others were placed in jobs through the efforts of the Delaware State Employment Service.

"This is the first year that the committee has extended its program to include active participation and coverage of Kent and Sussex Counties, and this has proved highly successful," Sears said.

A total of 88 companies, located in all three counties of the state, interviewed those seeking employment during the first half of the year. The best single month was May when employment was found for 25 handicapped persons. April was second highest.

Sears also stated that two new members were added to the Governor's Committee, bringing total membership to 35. They are John J. Petras, state supervisor of Apprenticeship and Training, U. S. Labor Department, and Carlyle J. Simmons of Goodwill Industries.

In addition to the job interviews and other activities, members of the state committee attended a large number of meetings and addressed many groups on the necessity and advantages of hiring handicapped personnel.

The committee also sponsored its first state-wide essay contest during the period, which was a great success, the report said.

It was reported that the DuPont Country Club, Wilmington, will be the site of the national meeting of the Employers' Committee of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped Sept. 11. The Delaware group will hold its annual awards luncheon in connection with this meeting.

Between 300 and 400 persons are expected to represent the country's leading business and industrial companies at this national conference. The meeting will be conducted by Walter D. Fuller, national committee chairman and former chairman of the board of the Curtis Publishing Company.

Other activities of the Governor's Committee for the past six months which have just been announced included shortening the name of the handicapped employment group, giving assistance in obtaining an electric typewriter for a polio victim, and continuing an educational program for handicapped workers. The word "physical" was dropped from the committee's name so that it would indicate work is also done for those with mental and other disabilities.

The Governor's Committee, which has as its slogan "Hire the Handicapped—It's Good Business!", plans to sponsor an essay contest for 1960 with the topic "Jobs for the Handicapped—Passport to Dignity."

This will be the second year in which high school students will compete for awards in this contest. Miss Lisa Cronin, Tower Hill School, was the winner of the 1959 state contest and received a presidential citation in national competition.

N. B. Downing,
Stricken, Dies

Norris B. Downing, 88, chairman of the board of N. B. Downing and president of the Harrington Lumber and Supply Company, died at Milford Tuesday afternoon.

One of Milford's leading citizens for many years, Mr. Downing was pronounced dead on arrival at the Milford Memorial Hospital where he was taken after he was observed sitting motionlessly in his car parked on Causey Avenue.

Mr. Downing was noticed by Mrs. Marion Shockley who called former Mayor Edward C. Evans. Mr. Evans notified police. The cause of death was listed as heart failure.

A native of Bivalve, Md., Mr. Downing and his late wife, Mrs. Emily P. Downing, came to Milford in 1912. In 1917 he established his own special millwork plant at Milford. Five years later the plant was destroyed by fire but was rebuilt. It was probably the first in this community to use electric power exclusively for operation.

Mr. Downing was a trustee of Calvary Methodist Church and was active in all phases of church life. He was a member and past officer of Crystal Font Lodge No. 10, IOOF, a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and a member and a former officer of the Milford Grange.

Until his retirement in 1946, Mr. Downing had been active in the management and pattern work department of N. B. Downing.

Mr. Downing leaves a daughter, Miss M. Catherine Downing, of Milford, who is state regent of the Delaware Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; two sons, former City Councilman Clarence B. Downing, who now directs the N. B. Downing Company and who resided with his father, and Fulton J. Downing, of this city, manager of the Harrington Lumber and Supply Company; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A funeral service for Mr. Downing is scheduled for Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Calvary Methodist Church, with the Rev. F. Douglas Milbury presiding. Burial will follow in the family plot in the Odd Fellows Cemetery at Milford.

There will be a viewing Friday night from 7 to 9 at the William A. Berry Funeral Home, Milford.

The 1959 Kent & Sussex Fair was the best, in all aspects—which includes attendance and quantity and quality of exhibits, that we've had in the past ten years," said T. Britton Holloway, secretary - general manager of the Fair, Tuesday.

A conservative estimate put the attendance of the Fair, which closed Saturday, at 100,000, up about 10 per cent over 1958. The big day was Saturday when there were 20,188 paid admissions.

The Fair had the greatest number of agricultural exhibits in its 40-year history. Holloway said, with those in the 4-H division, alone, increasing 500 over those of last year.

The harness racing also provided some excitement, with two records being established. In the 21-year-old pace Tuesday, Meadow Apache set the season's record for a two-year-old pacing gelding at 2:05. A local horseman Ted Wilcutts, was the driver. A Mr. Fritz, of Philadelphia, is the owner. The stake was for $10,000.

On Wednesday, Chancey Farvel set a track record for 3-year-old pacers at 2:03.5, for a stake of $7004. The pacer is owned by Cleo A. Young Sr., Timmonsville, S. C., and was driven by his son, Cleo A. Young, Jr., also of Timmonsville.

Stack, Creighton, Knotts, Shine In Kent & Sussex Fair Three Mile Race

by Keith S. Burgess

The Kent and Sussex Fair three mile race held Tuesday night apparently was a success from all angles. The contest attracted entries from Wilmington in the north to Pocomoke City, Md., and the Cambridge, Md., area in the south.

Wes Stack of Seaford, who set a new freshman two-mile record at the University of Delaware last year, was the winner in the excellent time of 16 minutes and 40 seconds.

John Creighton of Mt. Pleasant High, Wilmington, who is the state high school champion miler for 1958 and 1959 was a close second.

Harry Knotts of Harrington, who at 15, is three years younger than the top two, parlayed six workouts and a lot of determination into a fine 16:50 third place finish. Knotts was champion of the first Harrington Invitational cross-country meet last fall and also was the winner of the mile in last spring's large Seaford Invitational track meet.

John Murphy, another high school lad with an impressive set of credentials, was a close fourth. Murphy attends a small school known as South Dorchester High located 15 miles south of Cambridge, Md. He was the winner of the mile run in record time in the Milford Invitational, winner of the Class C mile in #46 in the Maryland State Championships, No. 1 runner on South Dorchester's Class C State champion cross-country squad and was a close second to Knotts in the Harrington Invitational cross-country run.

John Preston of Wilmington, a former pro footballer was fifth, with John Pretzman, a teammate of Creighton's at Mt. Pleasant just behind.

Herb Jervis of Conrad High, John Hollis of Seaford High and Alvin Smith of Harrington were next to finish. Smith is a 1959 graduate of Wm. Henry High in Dover where he was a trackman in 1958. He hopes to enter Delaware State College in the fall. Alvin received the Kent County trophy for being the first middle county competitor to finish after Knotts.

Hollis was the recipient of the Sussex County trophy. He was the first from the lower county to score after Stack.

Preston, who at 31 and 190 pounds, was the oldest and largest performer in the race, took home the New Castle trophy, which should encourage others no longer in their teens or twenties to enter in the future.

From an entry list of 21, 14 toed the mark to await the crack of starter Dick Jeffers' pistol. As they raced for the first turn the band broke into an appropriate tune called "Running Wild." Ken Smith, 17, of Pocomoke City, Md., the only unknown quantity in the field, made some of the other runners and their coaches uneasy by taking the lead with an easy, effortless, stride. Murphy, Knotts, and Creighton stayed close with Preston and Stack not too far behind. Smith led for 2 miles before Murphy took over with Creighton, Knotts and Stack all in contention as Smith faded farther back, lost a shoe and dropped out of the contest.

On the final circuit of the half mile track, Stack and Creighton were dwelling for the lead with Murphy and Knotts, running together a little further back. With 1/4 mile to go the leaders started pouring it on and battled the rest of the way to the wire with Stack getting the nod in the last few yards. The crowd did not have time to settle back in their seats as Knotts and Murphy then came roaring up the home stretch fighting for third place. To put the frosting on the cake, Preston and Pretzman added still another home stretch duel, which was the closest of the three.

Since the contestants had to circumnavigate the stage on each lap the distance covered was somewhat more than three miles. They were away from the rail for most of the grandstand straight-away.

Ken Smith, the early leader, by setting a fast pace was partly responsible for the good clocking. He should be a good prospect if he keeps competing.

The fair association has given amateur sport in this area a tremendous boost by sponsoring this event. The trophies were beautiful and will undoubtedly be treasured by the winners. The announcer, George A. Hamid, Jr., proved to have an extensive fund of knowledge about distance racing and added greatly to the enjoyment of the audience by giving them a running commentary throughout the race complete with lap times and background information. The peninsula boy, however, in clocking 16:40, shattered his pre-race prediction of 20 minutes flat.

Next year's race should be interesting as everyone involved will have a year to prepare for it. A much larger entry list can be expected.

Low Cost Record Plan for Dairymen

Dairymen who have never looked into the cost of keeping records may be surprised to learn that one record system cost only about five cents per cow per month. This is WADAM, or Weight-a-Day-a-Month plan, and it's considered especially useful for dairymen who milk 14 or fewer cows, says county agent George Vapaa.

It is a pretty simple system he explained.

"The dairymen weighs the milk of each cow, morning and night, one day a month and enters the figures on a form supplied him," Mr. Vapaa said.

He makes a record of the dates each cow freshens and goes dry, as well as purchases, sales and deaths of cows. He may also include feed records.

Then the dairymen mails the forms to a central computing service where records are calculated and returned every month.

Mr. Vapaa said no butterfat samples are taken. The average butterfat production of the herd is on the milk check.

This system gives the dairymen the information he needs to cull low producing animals and select the best brood cows as well as helping him to do a better job of feeding each cow according to her ability to produce.

Contact the county Extension Service for complete details about WADAM at the Dover Post Office. The telephone number is REDfield 6-1448.

Keep Cool Birds

Are your chickens as hot and uncomfortable as you are in this warm, humid, summer weather? Probably they are says county agricultural agent, George Vapaa.

Here are a few suggestions that may help:

1. Sweep dirt from window screens to permit free circulation of air.
2. Remove windows and doors for greater air movement.
3. Clean out the wet spots that produce ammonia fumes and make it uncomfortable for both you and the birds.
4. Be sure you have enough waterers.
5. White wash or aluminum paint on the roof will lower the inside temperature as much as eight degrees.

Rotisserie Cooking

By Mrs. Judith A. Pheil
Extension Nutrition Specialist

Barbecuing on a rotisserie or spit is easy to do and gives your meat a delicious flavor. Why let the neighbors have all the fun of outdoor cooking and leave you only the savory smell. A rotisserie will do the work for you.

It's important to have meat properly balanced so the spit turns freely and easily. Rolled roasts balance easier than bone-in cuts. Carefully tie roast before placing on spit to keep pieces of meat from falling during cooking period.

Insert spit through roast center and place a foil drip pan underneath to catch drippings. It's best to keep charcoal fire between hood and spit so fat drippings will not fall directly on hot coals and cause a flare.

A meat thermometer is the only sure test for doneness in a roast. For best results, place it where it may be easily read and in the thickest part of the roast. The thermometer tip should not touch bone or rest in a seam of fat. Make an occasional check to see that it does not fall out as the spit rotates. Your cookbook directions and thermometer will help you decide when the roast is cooked to please your family's taste.

Chickens are also a favorite for rotisserie cooking. Use whole broiler fryers that weigh 2 to 3 pounds each.

Season inside of chicken with salt and pepper. Run spit rod through chicken breast parallel to backbone and bring it out through body opening. Center forks in breast and tail areas. chicken on rod, attach holding it's best to tie or skewer wings to body, then tie tail to spit rod. Cross legs and tie to tail.

Be sure that chicken is balanced on the rod and securely fastened. If barbecuing more than one chicken, place birds close together on spit and fasten securely.

Tighten spit fork screws with a pair of pliers.

If you use a thermometer, insert in breast of chicken. The meat is done when the thermometer registers 190 degrees F.

Broil about 6 to 7 inches from coals and remember to place drip pan under chicken to keep "fat out of the fire." Brush with oil or melted butter, season with salt and pepper.

Start the motor and cook 1½ to 2 hours for three and one half pound birds, 1 to 1½ hours for smaller ones. Chicken is done when the meat pulls away from bones at ends of legs. Baste with drippings or butter during the last 10 minutes of cooking.

Barbecue Spareribs

Allow ¾-1 pound for each person. Laze ribs on spit, accordion style— or place in spit basket. When ribs are almost done, baste constantly for the last 5 minutes with this basting sauce.

Basting Sauce for Ribs

½ cup catsup, ½ cup Chili sauce, 2 or 3 dashes Tabasco sauce, 1 cup water, ¼ cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon celery seed.

Combine all ingredients; heat to boiling. Simmer 30 minutes. Enough sauce for basting 4 pounds of ribs.

Saturday night's Micro Midget races were full of many thrills and spins. During the second heat race Pat Fry in the Jim Cain car No. 101 spun out on the fourth turn, and then Howard Brown in car No. 88, unable to steer around Pat, made a high jump on the hood of No. 101.

Never before has a feature race had as many mishaps as the Saturday night event. Cars No. 3B, 11, 13, and 88 banged together in the third lap, and then along came car No. 7 driven by Gene Jarrell, he just had to get into the excitement, so he tried to climb the fence. No one was hurt and the race was restarted several times before the boys could decide who could get out on top around the first turn.

Gil had his car No. 22 running smoothly but bad luck was riding with his driver, Dicky Sapp, when in the 23rd lap he spun out and of course on went "Lover Boy Billings" in his car 3 B to win the main event of the evening. Better luck next time Gil and Dickie.

Of course, we cannot forget to mention the ¼ midget feature of the night. Car No. 88 piloted by Buddy Matthews Jr., won top honors of the evening and was presented with two trophies by the Blue Hen Micro Midget Club. One for the fastest time trial and one for the ¼ Midget Feature 20 lap race.

For the benefit of our fans who were not with us Saturday night we will not race Saturday night, Aug. 8, due to the stock car races being held at the Kent and Sussex Fairgrounds, sponsored by the Harrington Fire Company. We will race at the Blue Hen Speedway, Sunday night, Aug. 9. We will then resume our regular Saturday night schedule until further notice.

Nosegay... by Fostoria

As its name suggests, Nosegay is a lighthearted floral pattern, as delightfully feminine as a bride's bouquet. It is a polished cutting on graceful handblown stemware. It was designed to complement floral patterns in china, but you'll find it goes equally well with many plain and geometric designs. Come see it in our open-stock Fostoria collection.

Sometimes nature is too bountiful.

For instance, sometimes fruit sets on so thick that it breaks the limbs. And then the tree is crippled.

If this is happening to your trees, you'd better thin out some of the crowded fruits rather than run the risk of breaking your tree.

It's too late now to affect peach size by thinning, except where there are clumps of fruit. But you will help both tree and fruit.

Clean Up After Harvest
A clean-up after harvest is a good idea, whether it's fruit trees, berries or vegetables. It will even help in the flower beds.

In the first place, it looks better. But there are two other good reasons. Clean-up will reduce: (1) insects and (2) plant disease troubles next year.

After peach harvest, rake up fallen fruits and pick any remaining fruit. Use the good ones. Bury the rest. It'll help prevent brown rot next year. Cut out and burn dead raspberry and blackberry canes, after they have fruited and dried up.

You might try renovating the strawberry patch. Cut back the row edges and clean out between rows. Narrower rows will do better and are easier to care for.

Pull up and destroy beans and other vegetables after harvest. It will help keep insects from building up and attacking later plantings.

Annual flowers can be destroyed after blooming. But cut off old flowers and seed pods. Always leave some foliage present to build strength for overwintering and to retain some decorative effect.

Bigger, Better Blooms
Disbudding perennials like dahlia and chrysanthemum will produce bigger, better blooms. It's just another form of thinning.

Earlier in the season, you'll remember that we told you how you could increase the number of blooms by pinching back the stems. This forced some more of side branches to develop. This in turn produced more buds.

If you let them go, you'll have lots of flowers. But they'll be small.

If you disbud them (all you need to do is pinch off the bud after it has formed) you'll have fewer blooms. But since the strength of the plant goes into fewer flowers, they'll be bigger.

Take It Easy

One of the consolations of mid-summer is that we don't have to mow the yard so often. Maybe junior is getting big enough to handle the job. In either case, check these lawn mowing hazards. How do you rate?

Do you police the yard of toys, tools, sticks and stones before you start? A rotary mower can make a mess of most any object it hits. What's worse, a broken piece of blade is dangerous as shrapnel.

Do you mow in your bare feet? You're asking for trouble if you do. Keep your shoes on. You can take them off after you're done.

Do you have control of your mower at all times? Don't let it pull you, if it's self-propelled. And if you have to leave it stand for even a few seconds, shut it off. If you're teaching Junior to mow, make sure he knows how to stop the mower as well as start it.

Do you mow with people around? It's not only impolite—it's dangerous! That's worse yet! There'll be plenty of time to visit after you're done.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I understand the GI interest rate has been raised by law to 5 1/4 per cent. Am I correct in thinking the higher rate applies only to new loans, and does not affect loans made before the new law?

A—That is correct. Loans closed before July 2, 1959 are in no way affected by the new law. Only loans made on or after this date can be charged the new 5 1/4 per cent interest rate.

Q—My three-year-from-discharge deadline for starting school under the Korean GI Bill will come in August. Can I make application then, and start classes when school opens in September?

A—No. You must actually be in school by your deadline. You may not make application before the deadline, with the idea of starting after it has passed.

Q—I just got married, and can now claim more GI allowance money this fall as a GI student. What kind of evidence will VA need, so it can raise my school allowance?

A—To claim an increased allowance, you should send VA a certified copy of either the public record of your marriage. It must bear the seal and signature of whoever keeps the records, in the church or court.

Q—A veteran of my acquaintance is drawing extra pension payments because he requires constant nursing care. Would his extra payments be stopped if a member of his family provided this care, other than someone outside his family hired for the purpose?

A—No. The extra payments would still continue if the nursing care is provided by a member of his family. The law does not specify who shall provide the regular aid and attendance necessary.

Are the Fish Cleaned?

When a downstater is offered a gift, without any apparent strings attached, he may sometimes inquire: "Are the fish cleaned?" This may be interpreted in various manners. For example, "Are there any gimmicks attached?" or, "Is there any work to be done?" In other words, "Will I receive the gift in fee simple?"

The idiomatic question, "Are the fish cleaned?", is a natural on the Delmarva Peninsula with its access to the waters of numerous lakes, Delaware Bay, and the Atlantic. Whereas, inland fishermen have to be content with a few bass, perch, crappie, and even carp, buffalo, and grinnell, the downstater can catch the more desirable freshwater and saltwater fish.

Fishing in the bay or ocean, the downstater frequently catches the finny tribe by the hundreds. The sport is in catching the fish; not in cleaning them. Consequently, the disciple of Izaak Walton offers some to the neighbors. With prosperous times, the neighborly ask: "Are the fish cleaned?"

A Harringtonian caught nearly 100 trout off Mispillion Light a few years ago. He didn't want to clean them. His wife wouldn't clean them. The neighbors wanted them cleaned. He dumped them in a ditch in back of the canery.

Another Harringtonian, with a large family, will take all the fish he can get and he will clean them. Many others buy and clean their fish, for the peddlers seem to have a living.

Skeeter, Skeeter, Pumpkin Eater

We have been rather nonchalant about the question of mosquitos in Harrington. Living and working in the downtown area, we have not been bothered with them. However, we understand they are plentiful in the hinterlands.

We have been bemused with the furor and howling of the denizens of Rehoboth and Dover and the protests to Charles Murphy, director of the Mosquito Control Commission.

When we were in Dover Monday, outside Legislative Hall, we encountered the pests in droves, at high noon, in sun and shade. Now carrying bundles of printing and fighting skeeters is not fun.

For once, we realized how thick the pests were. Then we remembered the statement of Mr. Murphy that he could not be everywhere at once and could readily see his side of the case, for the skeeters are everywhere. Mr. Murphy has our sympathy and we will side with him. We believe he is doing the best job he can. If anyone else can do a better job, let him speak up. In the meantime, let each of us fight the pests the way we did for years before anyone ever heard of a control commission.

Courtesy for Krushev

We have accused some of our congressmen of issuing releases condemning, for the most part, communism and sin. Where controversial local issues are involved, the Washington politician is rather cagey.

Lots of newspapers are the same way. However, this one time we will bring up communism indirectly by mentioning the impending visit of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Krushev.

We agree wholeheartedly with Senator John Sparkman (D.-Ala.) on a campaign for public understanding to insure a safe and courteous reception for the Soviet premier.

When one entertains a guest in one's home, it is good manners to extend every courtesy to the visitor, regardless of what one thinks of him. It is also good manners to be courteous to foreign visitors. Some advancement for prospects for world peace might come out of Krushev's visit.

4-H Club Members Combine Work With Play

Older club members will attend classes concerning leadership and personality development. Club members may select from subjects like Exploring New Horizons, No One Can Be You—But You, Twixt Twelve and Twenty, Youth on Wheels, When You Step Out, and Ideas are Silent Salesmen. Special interest groups for older youth will be taught in forestry and soil conservation.

Boys and girls under 16 years of age will attend classes taught by specialists in areas of clothing, home furnishings, home management, landscaping, family life, foods and nutrition, dairying, entomology, engineering, poultry and livestock. These classes are designed to help club members with their 4-H projects.

Pre-registration indicates that 840 4-H girls and 350 4-H boys will attend the weeks conference.

The theme of this year 4-H Club Week is Happy New Trails in keeping with Indian lore that is traditionally used throughout the week in group competition, organization and programming.

Program features include a pageant written and directed by Mrs. Billie Marie Howes, selecting the state public speaking and dress revue winners, and a concert by the United States Navy Band and The Sea Chanters.

Kent Home Doings

Homemakers should try to save all the vitamins in their beef roasts if they are to get full value for the money they spend for meat, says Florence Y. Smith, home demonstration agent.

Over-cooking destroys the B vitamins, the agent explains. Roasting evenly to the medium-done stage saves most of the B-vitamins—thiamine, niacin and riboflavin. Vitamins which drip out can be saved by using the drippings in gravy.

Thiamine, commonly known as vitamin B-1, is the vitamin most likely to be destroyed by heat. Most of the destruction take place when beef is cooked to the well-done stage. Recent tests at the University of Tennessee showed that more vitamins are retained when beef roasts are oven roasted to the medium-well-done stage than when they reach the well-done stages.

Thiamine helps maintain normal appetite, promotes growth, helps maintain steady nerves, therefore aids in overcoming back aches and headaches, aid digestion and helps the body to make use of the energy value of foods, Mrs. Smith explained.

Beef also contains niacin which helps prevent skin eruptions and soreness of the mouth and tongue. It aids the body in utilizing protein.

Riboflavin preserves a healthy condition of the skin and hair and helps children grow. It promotes proper operation of the digestive and nervous systems and helps the body use protein in building new cells.

New Soybean Announced

A new variety of soybean has been released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and will probably be available to growers by 1961, Frank Springer, Jr., agronomist at the University of Delaware, announced Thursday.

The new variety, named Hill, will be a replacement for the Dorman variety. Hill will team up with Hood and Lee as a late variety for Delaware.

It is intended for use in the area from Harrington, South. It is also adapted to the central Mississippi River area and the Panhandle of Texas.

Hill is two to five days earlier than Dorman and is more resistant to major leaf diseases and to lodging, Springer said. It also has out-yielded Dorman six to eight percent in field tests.

It has exhibited resistance to common root knot nematode, Phytophthora rot and has been free from purple seed stain under conditions where some varieties suffered over 50 percent from seed stain, Springer said.

Springer said the Hill has been tested at about 30 spots in the several states during the past four years. It is similar to the Lee variety in appearance and performance. It is 21 to 28 days earlier in maturity than Lee however.

It is comparable to Lee in shatter resistance and in resistance to the major foliar diseases, bacterial pustule, wildfire, and frogeye.

Seed will be available to seed producers next year and should be generally available for planting in 1961, the agronomist said.

The seed was developed by research workers at the U. S. Regional Soybean Laboratory and co-operating Experiment stations. It is a selection from across between two experimental lines made in 1949 by Edgar E. Hartwig, research agronomist at the Delta Branch Experiment Station, Stoneville, Miss.

Maryland Feed Service Conference Set for Sept. 9-10

The annual Maryland Poultry Service Conference will be expanded this year to include topics on dairy, beef and swine. The conference will be now known as the Maryland Feed Service Conference. The move to expand the successful conference was made at the request of the Conference Advisory Board, composed of service personnel of the feed and poultry producing industries. More than 300 registered for the conference in 1958 and an increase in attendance is expected for this year's conference September 9-10, on the University of Maryland College Park campus.

Factual topics for the conference are: First Week Brooding Management, Processing Plant Contamination, Coccidiosis, Newcastle Vaccine Breaks, Drug Toxicities, Hatching and Market Egg Sources, and the popular "Stump the Experts" question panel. Tours of research projects in Poultry, Dairy and Animal Husbandry, and Animal Diseases will be conducted. Ken V. Naden, Agricultural Counsel, National Association of Food Chains of Washington, D. C., will point out current problems of merchandising meats in chain stores at the evening banquet of Sept. 9.

Feeding and management problems in dairy, beef and swine from the feed service men's standpoint will be sifted on the second day followed by a "Stump the Experts" question panel covering these topics.

Guest speakers scheduled for the conference, in addition to Naden, include Joe H. Bethards, Laurel; Dr. G. A. Marsh, Ohio State University; Dr. O. L. Osborn, U.S.D.A., Beltsville, Md.; Dr. George P. Faddoul, Waltham, Mass.; Dr. R. L. Baker, Penn State University; William A. Hafert, Poultry Digest, Sea Isle City, N. J.; and Hon. Louis L. Goldstein, Maryland Comptroller. These, supported by University of Maryland personnel, offer a program of real interest to all poultry, dairy and animal husbandry service men.

In addition to a University Committee of representatives of the Poultry, Dairy and Animal Husbandry, and Livestock Sanitary Departments, an Advisory Board of nine industry members sponsors and conducts the conference. This board consists of F. G. Schmidt, Baltimore Feed and Grain Co., Baltimore, chairman; Harland D. Bowman, turkey producer and feed dealer, Oakland, vice chairman; and Edward A. Covell, Willis and Covell, Denton; K. C. Furnish, Schluderberg-Kurdie Co., Cordova; Phil J. Haslinger, J. W. Eshelman Co., Frederick; Willis W. Hudson, Berlin Milling Co., Berlin; John P. Martinuk, Elk Neck Farms, Elkton; Charles F. Schuck, Southern State Cooperative, Easton; and Robert C. Street, Cohn and Bock Co., Princess Anne.

Wade H. Rice of the University of Maryland Poultry Department is secretary of the conference. For further information on the conference, write to Mr. Rice at the College of Agriculture, College Park, Md.

Records Win Camp Trip For Maryland 4-H'ers

Outstanding leadership in 4-H, church and school activities over a six year period has won for Louise Bromley of Washington County and Elizabeth Boston, Howard County, a trip to Camp Miniwanca, Michigan, Aug. 3-16. The girls have served as 4-H junior leaders, given demonstrations, carried a wide variety of projects, participated in local, county and state events, according to Charlotte Conaway, University of Maryland's assistant 4-H leader.

Calvert Stewart of Baltimore County and Richard Coale, Harford County, are 4-H delegates to attend Camp Miniwanca Aug. 17-30.

Stewart has an outstanding record of leadership in county and state events. He has assumed many responsible roles of leadership during State 4-H Club Week. Stewart is a former state winner in the garden project, has attended National Conference on Citizenship and Inter-State Leadership Camp. He is now a senior in the University of Maryland's College of Agriculture.

Coale is a farm boy with outstanding records in livestock and field crop projects. He has attended State 4-H Club Week for three years and holds offices in his local club.

Roy Cassell, University of Maryland's assistant 4-H leader says, "These 4-H members are scholarship winners because of their leadership records. The camping experience is designed to assist young people in life planning, leadership training and balanced four-fold living."

Co-op. Nursing Program Expands

About 30 young women interested in nursing careers will be enrolled this year in the co-operative program in nursing education offered by the Delaware Hospital School of Nursing and the University of Delaware.

Originally a temporary program to fill the needs of registered nurses within the State of Delaware who wished to complete the requirements for a degree, the program has been expanded to include students from adjacent counties in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Since 1955, nine students have received the degree of bachelor of science in nursing.

Students who enroll in the program today must be high school graduates who have attained the certifying grade of their high school and are recommended by their principal or guidance counselor. Desirable age limits for applicants are 17 to 35 and a personal interview and good health record are required. Out-of-state students must take the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The four-year degree program requires three years of academic work at the university, two intervening summers at the Delaware Hospital and fifteen months of professional training and experience, also at the hospital.

When the program was initiated, a fund of $50,000 was established by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society to provide scholarships for qualified students in amounts varying from $250 to $750. These scholarships, offered on the basis of academic merit and financial need, are renewable. Applications for these awards should be submitted to Donald P. Hardy, assistant dean of students, University of Delaware, Newark.

Caesar Rodney School News

New high school students in the Caesar Rodney School District are urged to register promptly and returning students with outstanding schedules are urged to do likewise by Ernest A. Minka, new guidance counselor, who is now on duty at the school. Students should preferably register between nine and noon but may make appointments for afternoon or evening.

New Dover Air Force Base students above the eighth grade should register at Caesar Rodney and those in the first eight grades at the Base School.

Caesar Rodney Elementary School pupils, not residing on the base, should register at the Caesar Rodney Elementary School Office with George D. Benner, principal.

Just as crystal beads or turquoise jewelry make your spring and summer outfits sparkle, so you can rely on accessories for a touch of brilliant color in your home. A chair back and arm piece set is the kind of accent that picks up the color tones in your decorative scheme. They're the practical way to protect your chairs or couch from wearing out too soon in the more sensitive places.

A TIMELESS MODERN IDEA

This geometric motif in today's pattern has a timeless modern quality. The vertical stripes are as enduring as a straight column (and the Greeks first taught us geometry). When your project is completed, you'll have handsome protective coverings worked out in speed-croshen mercerized cotton—a strong hearty crochet. I chose a panorama of colors to bring an energetic feeling to my room—canary yellow, spice, fudge brown, aqua, flamingo, chartreuse green and hunter's green. The colors on your crocheted pillow will come, of course, from the color theme you're using in your room. I'd suggest you keep your shades bright, because vivid tones are so pleasing to the eye.

THAT FLIES THROUGH YOUR FINGERS

The thick texture of speed-croshen works as rapidly as can be. The straight lined simplicity of these pieces is still another speed factor for making the easiest project imaginable. You'll enjoy the extra comfort when you want to rest your head back and watch TV. Or, when you serve in the living room, you'll always be confident that your guests can't soil the arms of your covered furniture. Every hostess likes to know that the arms of her chairs are protected. And, if the arm pieces are stained, they wash in a jiffy, then come back fresh and new again. FALLOUT SHELTERS are the best way for rural Americans to protect themselves from a massive nuclear attack which could unleash dangerous radioactive fallout throughout the country. Some of the shelters recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization are not as elaborate as this one, which includes an auxiliary generator and an electric air filtering and ventilating system. However, all recommended shelters should include the basic features shown here—a place to sleep; food, water and medical supplies, and at least eight inches of concrete or an equal weight of other materials for shielding the shelter against fallout. Laurel Mayor Explains Duties

Mayor Marvel J. Lynch, speaking at a meeting of the Rotary Club in the Rigbie Hotel Monday evening, told of the duties and problems of his office. He appoints members of the police force, the town clerk, superintendent of streets and sewers, and acts in an advisory capacity to the local fire department.

At the present time, the chief problem is that of marketing the bonds for the proposed sewage disposal system, he said. Under the terms of the referendum recently voted upon, the interest limitation was four per cent. At this time there is a possible difficulty in marketing such bonds under that limit. Mayor Lynch hopes that local financial institutions and individuals will be interested in buying part of the proposed bonds, which would assist in getting the project underway. Engineering studies for construction have not yet been completed.

The mayor urged that members of the club and interested citizens attend the meetings of the Town Council to present their views on the problems confronting the town and to offer suggestions for improving its services.

A contribution was voted for the Del-Mar-Va Council of Boy

Scouts of America. William Hopkins pointed out that last year's drive provided less than half of the required funds needed for the organization in Sussex County.

Salisbury Gets New Zoning Law

City Council has passed a new zoning code, replacing one enacted about 20 years ago.

It was begun about two years ago by a zoning expert, Jefferson Grinnalls of Ruxton. City Council has been going over it almost a year.

City Engineer Philip C. Cooper had objected to some parts of the code, contending it was stodgy and hard to follow. Subsequent hearings brought fourth additional objections and these seem to have been overcome in a series of amendments.

James G. Gilman, Salisbury-Wicomico County planning director, said the amendments will make it easier to interpret the new code. City Solicitor Harry H. Cropper has advised that the code will stand any court tests that may be presented.

Withholding Tax Dodgers State Crackdown Target

Employers who fail to turn withholding taxes over to the State Tax Department in time are the subject of State Tax Commissioner Alexander R. Abraham's latest crack-down.

Mr. Abrahams says money withheld from employees' pay checks is the property of the state and he will tolerate no delay in getting the quarterly payments into the State Treasury. He pointed out that the penalty for not paying is a $100 fine or a six-month jail sentence, or both. The commissioner said a few firms have held back on quarterly payments because the funds have been used for other purposes. He is letting employers know that cash withheld from
