

CITY EYES STREET IMPROVEMENTS

The City Council, meeting Thursday night, Aug. 6, voted for the resurfacing of several streets and for the securing of bids for the resurfacing of others.

The group motioned to permit Delmarva Asphalt Company to blacktop Dickerson and North Streets and authorized Mayor Charles L. Peck Sr., to instigate the work as he sees fit. The company had installed curb on both sides of Dickerson and on one side of North St., and had done some grading.

The Council also voted to ask the asphalt company to give prices on resurfacing Harrington Avenue, Reese Avenue, Misspillion Street, Brown Street, Simpson Street, and Grant Street. The motion was amended to request prices for curbing on Harrington Avenue and Simpson and Grant Streets. Petitions had been presented by property owners on these streets for curbs.

On a motion by Councilman Alan Rutledge, seconded by Councilman Clarence Collins, a vote was taken on finishing sewer installation in Harrington Manor. The motion lost, 3-2.

However, all councilmen expressed themselves as being in favor of the completion of the sewer in the fall.

The amount of street work to be done will depend on how far Harrington's municipal aid appropriation of some $22,000 from the state will go.

In other business the Council voted:

To pay $7,000 on the addition to the fire company building, providing the company pays the balance due on a loan on the structure which had been demolished to make way for the addition now under construction. The $7,000 is to be paid in ten years at $74.25 per month.

Alfred Mann asked for extension of sewer to his home on Dorman Street. A survey is to be made first. Tiles will be repaired at Reese Avenue and Hanley Street. Tile will be put across an alley adjacent to the Thomas property on Clark Street.

Board Told Courts Might Get Road Bond Plan Fight

The State Highway Commission was advised Wednesday by its attorney, Samuel Arshat, that if the General Assembly tacked onto a highway bond issue bill the specific roads that were to be built, the whole matter might be taken to the State Supreme Court to determine the constitutionality of such a practice.

State highway commissions of Delaware—in the past and present, regardless of political control—have never had to specify in highway bond issue bills just what roads were to be built or improved by the money thus obtained.

However, the Republicans in the State Senate in recent months have been demanding that the road bond issue bills spell out what road projects would benefit from the money.

And they have said that until this is done, they will continue to block the passage of any such road bond bills.

So far they have been able to block the passage of this kind of a bill because it requires a three-fourths vote and the Democratic majority in the Senate can't muster enough to complete a three-fourths vote.

It has always been assumed that the state Constitution, written in 1897, prohibited the specification of road projects in bond issue bills, except under certain circumstances.

And Mr. Arshat explained that the reason this was written into the state Constitution was to discourage log rolling among members of the General Assembly.

Prior to the 1897 Constitution, he said, representatives and senators from various districts were demanding certain special attention for their areas.

He also said of a bond issue bill now were to have highway projects tacked on conservative minded bond house attorneys would question the constitutionality of such a bill and he said he was sure the bill would end up in court.

And it might take months before the issue was settled, he added.

All this—plus an exchange of letters between Chief Engineer Richard A. Haber and Republiof Wilmington—consumed just about an hour of Wednesday's meeting of the Highway Commission in the administration building of Brandywine Raceway.

Mr. Haber explained that at not time had the Highway Department tried to conceal from anyone the major list of projects from which the department would select highways for construction or reconstruction.

He even distributed among the press, lengthy copies of reports on all kinds of road projects that had been mailed out to Governor Boggs and the General Assembly throughout June.

In answer to almost rhetorical questions from Benjamin Ableman of Wilmington, a highway commissioner, Mr. Haber said he has nothing to hide.

Mr. Haber, however, stressed the importance of flexibility in carrying out a highway construction or improvement program.

Oddly enough, none of the three Republican highway commissioners at the meeting was ready to disagree with Mr. Haber and none of them went to the defense of Senator Snowden's article. (Continued on back page)

Selbyville Driver Injured In Station Wagon Crackup

A 31-year-old Selbyville man was injured seriously Tuesday night when his speeding station wagon ran off the road, rolled over several times and landed in a cornfield.

In Middletown two persons were injured when the car in which they were riding ran off the side of Main Street, struck a parked car, drove into a tree, then went on and struck another tree, early Wednesday.

George Fleetwood, 31, Selbyville, received a possible fractured skull concussion and other injuries when the station wagon he was driving ran off the road, overturned several times, and stopped in a cornfield at 10:30 Tuesday night five and a half miles east of Laurel.

Fleetwood was thrown from the car. He was found about 40 feet from the smashed vehicle. He was taken to the Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, in the Laurel Fire Company ambulance. His condition Wednesday was critical.

Speed Indicated
State police said Fleetwood was riding alone in the new 1959 vehicle, traveling east on Route 24, the Millsboro-Laurel Highway.

At a point near the Trap Pond Road intersection, the vehicle, going at a high rate of speed, according to troopers, ran off the left side of the road. It skidded and rolled over several times for a distance of 430 feet until it came to a stop. Fleetwood, unconscious when found, remained unconscious at the hospital Wednesday.

Middletown police said Lois Gero, 21, East Hartford, Conn.,

and Sandra L. Bayley, 20, New Canaan, Conn., driver of the car, were injured in the accident in that town. Miss Gero was taken to Delaware Hospital in the Wilmington Manor Fire Company ambulance, treated and released.

The driver declined medical treatment.

Police said Miss Bayley was driving east on East Main Street, 60 feet west of Catherine Street, and apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Her car swerved to the side, struck the car of Earl B. Bowman, East Main Street, and drove into a tree.

The Bayley car then continued and struck another tree. Damage to Bowman's car was estimated at about $700 and to the Bayley car about $1,500.

Miss Bayley, arrested on a charge of reckless driving, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate H. Kirk Schminkey, Middletown. Phyllis Sienda, Manchester, Conn., another occupant of the Bayley car, was uninjured.

Boys' Eye Injury Brings $60,000 Camp Barnes Suit

The Delaware Association of Police is named defendant in an accident suit asking damages of $60,000 which has been filed in Superior Court, Wilmington.

According to the complaint filed by David Sneltenburg II of Killoran and Van Brunt, attorney for the plaintiff, Walter Koronik, Jr., of Church Lane, sustained an injury to his left eye on June 15 while attending Camp Barnes, a summer recreation place run by the DAP at Frankford.

The boy's father alleges that before June 15 the defendant had negligently represented to him that the defendant would provide skilled, adequate and proper medical services to the son during his stay at Camp Barnes. Instead, Mr. Koronik alleges, the defendant furnished unskilled, inadequate and improper medical attention with the result that the boy's left eye had to be removed. Damages sought include $50,000 for the son and $10,000 for his father.

In another new action in Superior Court, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Barr, of RD 3, Lake Road, Pottstown, Pa., seek damages totaling $102,570.56 from Earl Sylvester, of Harrington, for injuries and damages allegedly sustained when he drove his car into theirs on Aug. 10 last year.

The complaint filed by Raymond L. Becker, attorney for the Barrs, says that they were driving northward on the D. Pont Parkway about five miles north of St. Georges at 8:45 p. m. when Mr. Sylvester drove (Continued on back page)

"Big Thursday" and Delmar Centennial Hold 3-Mile Races

By Keith S. Burgess

Following the recent successful 3-mile race at the Kent and Sussex Fair, the promoters of "Big Thursday" at Slaughter Beach announced last week that they will hold a foot race over the same distance on Saturday evening, August 22nd at 6 o'clock. Prizes will be given to the winners. Starting point is the resort area's firehouse. Ten entries have been received thus far including: Harry Knotts and Alvin Smith of Harrington, Wes Stack and John Hollis of Seaford, George "Runner Reyahvs of Felton, Richard Green of Middletown, John Murphy of Bishops Head, Md. and John Creighton, John Preston and Dave Williams, all of Wilmington.

Knotts, last year won the mile, run at the Seaford Invitational and Henlopen Conference track meets and also won the first Harrington Invitational cross-country run.

Stack, winner of the fair 3-mile, holds the freshman 2-mile record at the University of Delaware.

Murphy is class C mile champion of Maryland, while Creighton is a two-time Delaware high school mile champion. Preston was a second-place finisher in last fall's state open cross-country championship run.

Williams, at 41 is still a remarkable runner as he demonstrated just two months ago. At Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, he was the victor in the two-mile run in the state open championship meet. Several of the vanquished were young enough to have been his sons. Dave is a teacher and has been working under Herbert Nichols, a former Harrington resident.

Centennial headquarters at Delmar announced Wednesday that they are planning to hold a 3-mile race, with trophies as prizes, to be held over a rectangular area 1 mile around with both start and finish on State Street. The test to be known as "The Delmar Centennial Invitational 3-Mile Race" will follow approximately the parade route and should be viewed by a large crowd as it will start at 3:30 p.m. prior to parade time. 20 top flight Delmarva distance runners will be invited in an effort to produce a good, close race. Harry Knotts of Harrington along with Wes Stack and John Hollis of Seaford have already accepted invitations to compete.

Feltonians Figure In Auto Crash

A Dover man is in fair condition in Kent General Hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a two-car collision which occurred shortly before 6 p.m., Monday on Rt. 10, four miles west of Willow Grove.

Three other passengers in the two vehicles were injured in the accident but after treatment at the hospital were released.

William E. Swiggett, 36, Bank Lane, Dover, is in the hospital under treatment for fractured ribs and clavicle he sustained when the car he was driving west on Rt. 10 was struck in the rear by another vehicle and catapulted off the road, skidding 75 feet, turning over and striking a power pole.

State Police at Troop 3, report that Swiggett was driving his vehicle at a safe speed, while Robert Cohee, 21, Felton, traveling at an excessive rate of speed failed to realize how slow the car he was approaching was moving.

In an attempt to avoid crashing into the back of the Swiggett auto, Cohee swerved left, hitting the other vehicle on the left side.

Cohee's car traveled 123 feet before coming to a stop, undamaged although a passenger, Willard Cahall, 23, Felton, suffered lacerations of the wrist.

Passengers in the Swiggett auto, who were injured were Alice Scotten, 26, Felton, who was treated for back and leg injuries and Paul Harvey, 28, Dover, multiple lacerations of the right arm.

All injured were taken to the Kent General in the Cheswold ambulance.

Rotary Club to Welcome Dist. Gov.

The Rotary Club of Harrington Tuesday will be host to J. Reynolds Pratt, governor of the 764th district of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to the 56 Rotary Clubs in New Jersey and Delaware. He will address the local club and confer with President Richard S. Gibson, Secretary Allen B. Parsons and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Pratt is a partner in the firm of Wroten-Pratt Insurance Agency in Smyrna, and is a member and past president of the Rotary Club of Smyrna. He was born near Smyrna and attended Goldey Business College in Wilmington. He is a past president of Kent-Sussex Insurance Association and the Delaware Association of Insurance Agents.

He was elected district governor of Rotary International for the 1959-60 fiscal year at Rotary's 50th annual convention in New York City last June.

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, President Gibson asserted in discussing the governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Harrington because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the people of the world.

Senator Snowden called it an "abandonment of the responsibility of Government" pointing out that a Legislature has a "tremendous amount of work still to do."

The Senate appeared ready to adjourn at 7 p.m., but with the House in a supertime recess, decided to come back at 8 and adjourn at that time.

The adjournment resolution came up in the middle of the Senate's session which started about 4:30 and lasted until 7 before the supper recess.

After Snowden's blast, Senator John E. Reilly, Sr., (D-Wilmington), the majority leader, remarked that the Democrats can't get Republican co-operation on two-thirds and three-quarters majority and "we won't bring the situation any closer by sitting around here."

After the session, the Senate Republicans issued the following statement:

"The Republican Senators oppose the adjournment to Jan. 4, 1960, because much important legislation remains untouched. The Democratic adjournment ignores such bills as appropriations for the Board of Corrections, the State Tax Commissioner, the Youth Services Commission for juveniles held at the First Offenders Building, and other important welfare agencies.

"Also unfinished are provisions for bond money for public schools beach erosion, dirt roads, suburban roads and general highway construction. It appears as though the Democratic leaders are saying that unless they receive a "blank check" appropriation for the Highway Department, they will not consider any other business, no matter how vital or important it may be.

"We do not subscribe to so selfish an outlook. Our obligations is to pass beneficial legislation, to defeat or resist improper legislation. The Governor and the individual members of the Republican party in the General Assembly have presented a concrete, specific program for implementing Delaware's services for its citizens and for improving the governmental structure. We see no reason why that program should not be considered on its merits, and we will not approve abandoning our efforts to pass these bills. The Democratic adjournment is another de-

The General Assembly agreed Wednesday to adjourn until Jan. 4, 1960—with the provision, however, that the Senate may be reconvened at any time by its president pro tempore to act on confirmations, and both the House and Senate may be reconvened by the speaker and president pro tempore.

The Senate adjourned at 11:10 p.m. after a night session which had started at 10:20. The House adjourned at 11:20 p.m.

The decision to adjourn temporarily represents a change in tactics by the Democratic leadership. Earlier, the Democrats planned to introduce three separate bond bills to replace the omnibus bond bill the Republicans blocked.

Wednesday Democrats changed their minds on what to do about the Republican refusal to go along with the bond bills which require a three quarters majority vote. They introduced no new bond bills.

They believe that pressure will build up because of the lack of highway bond authorizations which they think will soon have contractors yelling for money that is due them and will also produce a show down with consequent unemployment in the road construction field.

After pressure builds up, the legislation is likely to be reconvened in the fall—probably in October.

Before adjourning the House passed the first of Atty. Gen. January Boye's bill providing for arrests for sales of alcoholic liquor to intoxicated persons and approved a bill to appropriate $302,000 to the State Hospital.

The Senate defeated the bill to permit fishing in reservoirs after considerable debate.

Receipt of the House Concurrent Resolution touched off a brief but vitriolic exchange in the Senate, with Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) the minority leader, accusing the Democrats of saying in effect that they would not do any more business if the Republicans do not support bond bills.

(The GOP in the House Monday defeated the Democrats' omnibus bond bill, which led many Democrats to say, in effect, "to hell with it, let's go home and think this over.")

Senator Snowden called it an "abandonment of the responsibility of Government" pointing out that a Legislature has a "tremendous amount of work still to do."

The Senate appeared ready to adjourn at 7 p.m., but with the House in a supertime recess, decided to come back at 8 and adjourn at that time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Q—I am nineteen years old, the son of a veteran who died as a result of injuries received in World War Two. I am thinking of taking War Orphans training under the War Orphans Education Act, but am wondering if my mother still being alive would mean I am not eligible. Will you please tell me?
 A—The fact that your mother is living has no bearing on your eligibility for War Orphans training. You would be considered a War Orphan for purposes of this act, since your veteran-father died as a result of war service.
 Q—I named the beneficiaries of my GI insurance policy some time ago, but never did specify the method of payment. If I should die while the method of payment is still undesignated, how would the insurance money be paid out?
 A—It would be paid in 36 equal installments. However, your first beneficiary would have the right to choose payments under any other installment plan available.
 Q—Can a World War One veteran with less than 90 days' service ever be eligible for a VA pension?
 A—If the veteran had been discharged sooner, for a service-connected disability, that would be possible, yes. He could be eligible for pension.
 Q—I am a War Orphan, eligible for training under the VA War Orphan's program. Is this only a college program, or could I take a vocational course? I quit high school of my own accord in my senior year.
 A—You would be eligible for specialized vocational or trade school training, if you prefer. College training is only one type of training provided.

The receipts for June, which were received during July, were $29,453.16 in excess of the amount of these taxes received for June of last year, an increase of $60,173.74 over the amount received for June of 1957 and $20,390.63 more than was received during June of 1956.

 with Barb Payne

Do you share your good fortune, or do you keep it to yourself? Do you give thanks where it is due or do you take all the credit?

God gave us all the ability to share with each other—to give thanks—to give and take credit—and many, many more important blessings. The art was given us—we must only capture it and hold it down within our own bodies.

Then on the other hand maybe you just plain think you do not have your share of good fortune or pleasures or blessings.

Listen—there's good fortune in every human beings life. You must work for it—you can't expect someone to hand theirs to you or drop yours in your lap!

Upon graduation, I would say, is one of the most important turning points in a person's life. There are lots of roads to enter but only one is the right one—only one that will lead you to success and happiness.

So, for the sake of yourself and everyone else, make a good choice and live by it—and for heaven's sake give a little thanks along the way!

SHD Halts Issuance of Construction Contracts

Delaware, and all other states have now halted the issuance of contracts for highway construction, involving Federal-Aid funds, according to an announcement by officials of the State Highway Department.

The apparent differences between the President and Congress concerning increased funds for Federal-Aid highway construction has resulted in a slow-up in the remittance of payments by federal authorities on previously approved highway projects.

Consequently, all states, including Delaware, now have to depend upon their state funds to pay the federal share of some highway improvements, resulting in the available state funds becoming exhausted and halting construction work.

This slow-up of Federal-Aid funds for highway construction purposes will also have some effect on the completion of the Interstate Highway program planned for this state. Instead of being completed between 1969 and 1972, it is now thought that it will possibly extend into 1975 and 1976 before being finished.

"We must look through others' eyes as well as our own," said Sir Winston Churchill in London.

Felton Woman To Take Part in Club Conference

The Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs Fall Conference to be held on the campus of the University of Delaware at Newark Sept. 10, will feature, among the several simultaneous workshops, one entitled "Making the Most of Maturity" under the leadership of Mrs. Nelson Hammond of Felton.

Interest engendered at the three county institutes on this subject held last spring under the auspices of the Department of Adult Education will develop during the 1959-1960 club year because of the many projects to be proposed Sept. 10, Mrs. Hammond has been active in many of the departments of the Avon Club of Felton and in Kent County. As a former teacher, she feels that the public is beginning to realize that education must be "from the cradle to the grave" in order to make the most of maturity.

Assisting Mrs. Hammond in presenting these projects to the local club chairman, will be Mrs. Albert S. Priestley of Newark. Mrs. Priestley was graduated from Pembroke College in Brown University and the Katherine Gibbs School for Secretaries. Her interests extend from the A.A.U. W. League of Women Voters, Woman's Society of Christian Service, and the Newark New Century Club to the gerontology work of the Soroptimist Club of Newark.

During her term as president of the Soroptimist Club, Mrs. Priestley and her workers organized the Senior Citizens Club of Newark. Because of her experiences in initiating this group, members of the state federation will gain much information enabling them to start similar groups in their own communities.

There will be an exhibit of craft work representative of existing senior citizens groups. Discussion of ways and means of increasing participation will be included, as well as a listing of possible interests hitherto unused by local groups.

Rain Hurts Tomato Crop, 10 Pct. of Fields Unpicked

HURLOCK, Md.—Since the torrential rains last week, the already seriously damaged tomato crop has worsened, and many farmers have ceased picking.

At least 10 per cent of the fields are not being harvested. While figures are obscure, it has been estimated that at least 40 per cent of the processing tomatoes have been picked. But even those that are being harvested are badly cracked, and often have to be discarded from the baskets, or refused at the canneries.

All this affects the migratory labor employment, with about 1300 migrants still trying to work in the wet fields. This is 300 less than normal, according to Fred Pritchett, of the Maryland Employment Service office at Cambridge.

Also, according to Mr. Pritchett, summer unemployment is at its highest peak since the end of World War II. For the week ending July 29, Pritchett's office paid unemployment checks to 1,000 jobless.

Pritchett adds that possible layoffs from pickle plants and the short duration of the tomato canning season could send un-

Delaware Visitors Roughing It

Although Delaware's seashore communities are currently enjoying their greatest season with a record-breaking influx of vacationists, not all the summertime visitors to Delaware's coastal area are using the fine accommodations to be found in or near the resorts, notes the Delaware State Development Department. Some visitors, advises the state information agency, prefer to "rough it" on the state-owned and maintained "Delaware Dunes. These beach and camp lands, flanking Delaware Route 14 between Rehoboth and Indian River Bays and the Atlantic Ocean, are currently attracting large numbers of campers, including many family groups. Nearby bays offer them excellent fishing, crabbing, clamming and boating. Surf fishing, sun-bathing and swimming is available along the entire ocean front.

While the "Delaware dunes" and adjacent areas have increased in popularity each year, much of the present increase in public use has undoubtedly resulted from a marked improvement in facilities, plus the fact that, despite these favorable changes, a moderate fee schedule has been retained.

The "season," which opened May 23, will continue to September 13, according to the State Highway Department, which administers the areas.

The Key Box Road Tenting area, south of Dewey Beach and between Delaware Route 14 and the ocean, was increased in size last spring to double that of previous years. Inasmuch as camping at the nearby Indian River Inlet tenting area is now restricted to rentals of one month or longer, the Key Box Road area remains as the only state-owned beach area where weekend or single day camping is permitted.

Prevailing rates for camping on state-owned land are: $2 per day; $12 per week; $40 per month and $100 per season. Otto Zacharias of Lewes is again serving as manager for the state-owned beach and camp areas, and maintains an office, for rentals and the providing of information, on Key Box Road.

Sanitary facilities at the two tenting areas and at the Indian River Inlet Trailer park include daily-serviced chemical toilets.

Concessions, offering food, soft drinks, ice and bait, are being operated in the various areas under lease from the Highway Department. Concession stands on public lands at Dewey Beach are operated by the Dewey Beach Lions Club as a civic project and under a special arrangement between the service group and the Highway Department.

The Development Department also advises that a new ocean front recreation area has been developed on Cape Henlopen, between Rehoboth and Lewes Beach for use of Dover Air Force Base personnel and their families. A group of eight single-story masonry buildings, formerly part of the Fort Miles Military Reservation, has been made available for use of Air Force families.

Also available are two open-bay dormitories that accommodate up to seventy airmen and a dining hall sufficiently large to provide for airmen and dependents. Qualified lifeguards are in attendance on the beach. Picnic tables, barbecue grills, fishing equipment and athletic equipment are also available as well as transportation to and from the Base some forty miles north near the state capital.

Picnic and fishing areas at the Assawoman Wildlife Area southwest of Bethany Beach have also been renovated and facilities now include wading and swimming beaches, crabbing piers, picnic facilities, disposal containers and sanitary facilities. The Delaware Dunes, the Inlet and the Assawoman Wildlife Area are all easily accessible, over good roads, from any part of the Delmarva Peninsula, according to the Development Department.

Control Scours, Use Chlortetracycline

Feeding chlortetracycline reduces scours and temporarily increases growth rate, county agricultural agent George Vapaa reports.

He said tests at the U. S. Department of agricultural research station at Beltsville, Md., proved that calves fed chlortetracycline (an antibiotic sold by several commercial firms under various trade names) had fewer cases of scours than calves not receiving antibiotics.

Calves also showed faster gains as long as the antibiotics was in the ration. Stimulation of the animals' appetite caused the rapid growth, scientists said.

Results indicated that older calves, after two months of age, do not respond efficiently to chlortetracycline, Mr. Vapaa said. So there is little to be gained by feeding chlortetracycline after calves reach two months.

Stock Car Program Tomorrow Night

Eagerly awaited as one of the biggest stock car racing classics of the year is the NASCAR sanctioned slate of modified and sportsman races scheduled at the Kent and Sussex Fairgrounds for this Saturday night. Due to weather conditions prevailing over the Harrington area last weekend the program, originally scheduled for last Saturday evening, had to be carried over another week. The fairgrounds oval, located a half-mile south of Harrington on U. S. Route 13, will be the only raceway in Delaware and Maryland in operation this Saturday night. Because of this, the promoters, the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company, expect the largest field of cars seen at any northeastern speedway this season. Drivers are expected from all over the two state area plus New Jersey and Pennsylvania as the green signal is given at 8:30 p.m.

The firemen have been assured by NASCAR officials that all of the entries received for last week's rained-out card will be on hand this Saturday evening. Included in the latest revised entry list are Al Tasnady, Vineland, N. J.; George Harrison, Georgetown; Bud Olsen, Paulsboro, N. J.; Ed Lindsay, Randallstown, Md.; Dean Pelton, Silver Spring, Md.; Glen Guthrie, Washington, D. C.; Johnny Martin, Lewes; Vince Conrad, Kutz-Thorofare, N. J.; Reds Kagle, town, Pa.; Jackie McLaughlin, Thorofare, N. J.; Reds Kagle, Baltimore, Md.; Russ Warrington, Georgetown; Ray Hendricks, Richmond, Va.; Paul Walker, Milton; Gene Lovelace, Hampton, Va.; Bob Gemenden, Franklinville, N. J.; Jack Burgstreser, Phillipsburg, N. J.; Bill Wark, Barrington, N. J.; and George Smith, Milton, among others.

This annual stock car program is one of the chief means the Harrington Firemen have of raising much needed operating funds. A very few reserved box seat tickets still remain, but will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Anyone wishing to have reserved seats should call Outten's Insurance Agency in Harrington, phone EX 8-8586. No more mail orders will be filled. The fairgrounds will open and general admission tickets will go on sale Saturday night at 7:00 p.m. (DST).

Hand Feed Sows

When it comes to feeding bred sows, a little hand work is still in order, even in this day of mechanization, county agricultural agent George Vapaa says. Sows should gain 75 to 85 pounds during gestation. Mr. Vapaa says over feeding has always been a common tendency. This produces weaker pigs resulting in greater losses.

Hand feeding is the most practical way to do the job. You can get a high bulk ration mixed but it will cost about as much per pound as a highly concentrated mix and the sows will eat about twice as much of it—so where are you?

Hand feeding seems the best way to control that gestation period gain.

Silage is a good feed for bred sows, Mr. Vapaa says. According to research reports, gilts will eat about eight to ten pounds of corn or alfalfa grass silage. And sows will eat ten to twelve pounds.

About a pound and a half of 35-38 per cent protein supplement should be fed with corn silage and about half a pound with grass silage, Mr. Vapaa said. A pound or two of shelled corn will probably be required to get the desired gains however, since it may be difficult to get sows to eat a full feed of silage.

10,000 Expected To Attend All-Star Game

A crowd of 10,000 is expected to fill the University of Delaware Stadium Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22, for the fourth annual All-Star High School Football Game.

The Blue team won the first three encounters, but the Southern Golds will be all out this year to snap the streak.

Twenty-two players will be on the gridiron that day, and although touchdowns will create the heroes, behind the scenes other touchdowns will be shared by Delaware men and women. The only difference in the offenses is these scores were made before the kickoff.

In recent weeks, more than 165 Gold team volunteers under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. Allen Frear, Jr., wife of Delaware's junior senator, have devoted leisure hours to talents usually accredited Madison Avenue—selling advertising space in the souvenir program which will be sold at the game.

The aggregation of lower Delaware workers has been joined by a group of northern Delaware Blue Team volunteers, under the leadership of Mrs. Willard B. McConnell of Wilmington.

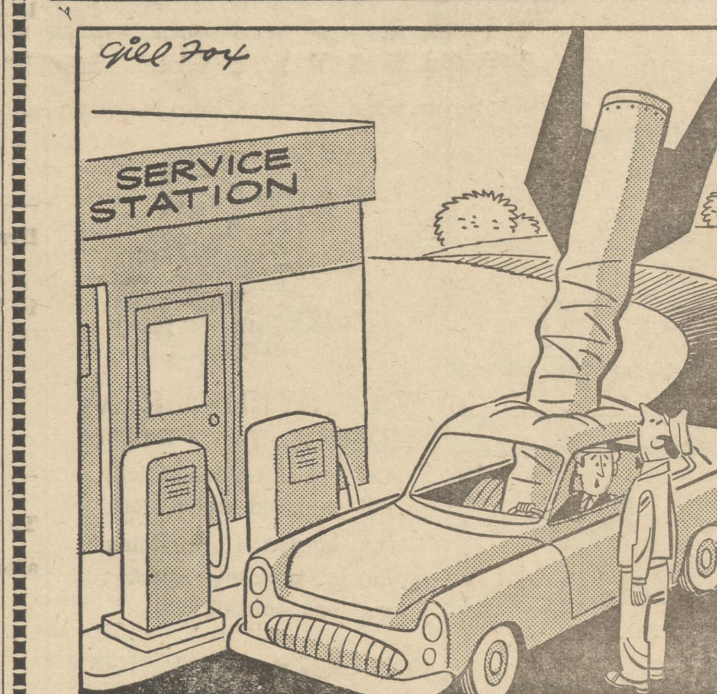

The interest of both groups concerns the more than 800 mentally retarded children born in Delaware each year.

Mrs. Frear, in directing the Gold workers, announced that a goal of $10,000 has been reached by her team, which zooms above the record of $8000 obtained in 1958.

"The results of this year's drive are the most encouraging yet," said Mrs. Frear, a trustee for the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

"The co-operation of the Dover Air Force Base was excellent. Mrs. Wayne Beumeler, wife of Col. Beumeler, and president of the Officers' Wives Club, headed a group of women who sponsored a bridge benefit and assumed responsibility for the sale of tickets for the game at the base," added Mrs. Frear.

Mrs. Frear also pointed out that during the 1959 campaign 806 concerns bought advertising space in the program, with 542 patrons signing up, for a total of 1348 donors, and increase of 285 over last year.

All net proceeds of the all-star game are annually turned over to the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

Much credit for this successful drive is due to the efforts and local co-operation of Mrs. Brinton C. Holloway who served as chairman of the Harrington solicitation. Mrs. Holloway had the following committee members serving with her: Mrs. Robert Baynard, Mrs. Sol Martin, Mrs. James O'Neal, Mrs. Blanche B. Cahall.

A total of $164.25 was added to the total of $10,000 from the Harrington area.

Delaware Choice Of Immigrants

Delaware—"The First State"—was the first choice of nearly 400 immigrants entering this country during 1958, reports the State Development Department.

Basing its findings on the annual report of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, the State information agency points out that 399 aliens arriving as immigrants in the United States last year gave Delaware as their intended state of residence.

Of these, the greatest number, 85, came from Great Britain; 69 came from Germany; 62 from Italy; 33 from Canada; 18 from Ireland; and 12 from Poland. China (including Formosa) sent seven persons to Delaware last year, just one more than sent by Japan. Two Mexicans and five Cubans also became Delaware residents during the year. The countries of origin of the remaining 100 new Delaware residents was not indicated in the report.

Farm Field Day

More than 800 people turned out for the annual Farm Field Day at the Georgetown Station of the University of Delaware, Aug. 5, to see a variety of demonstrations, exhibits and experimental plots.

The crowd was smaller than last year, probably because of threatening weather.

The main crowd pleaser was Dr. Carroll Voss, Gettysburg, Pa., and his helicopter. He gave a heart-shaking exhibition of craftsmanship with his machine.

Other crowd pleasers included chicken for lunch and free watermelons in the afternoon.

Many farmers were strictly on business at the Field Day, however, as they rode and walked around the muddy experimental plots tossing questions at research scientists about varieties of crops, what kind of chemical weed control treatments to use, and how much of what kind of fertilizer to put on particular crops.

One of the most popular questions asked agronomist Frank Springer was: "What's the best weed controlling chemical for corn?" Springer said 2, 4-D is still the cheapest and most practical chemical for broadleaf weed control. Of the eight other chemicals he is testing, he said a chemical called Atrazine looks good also.

Soybean farmers were also interested in Springer's castor bean plots. Castor beans are being tested as a possible replacement crop for soybeans.

The main problem is to develop a machine to harvest the crop Springer said.

Present machinery is too heavy and expensive. A harvester is being shipped in from Texas to harvest the castor beans being grown experimentally in Delaware this year.

In a test of Chemicals for weed control in soybeans, Springer said a chemical called Premerge showed the best results this year, of the nine chemicals tested so far.

Professor E. P. Brasher, chairman of the department of horticulture, told tomato farmers that variety trials on tomatoes show two new varieties, developed at the Substation, to look very good at this point in the season. The two leading varieties are Delaware 14-2 and Delaware 13-2. National tests are being made at 40 spots around the country and both varieties will be available to growers soon.

Variety tests on cantaloupes also show a variety developed at the Substation to be one of the best in the tests according to Robert Stevens, extension service horticulturist. He said Delaware 7A has several good points that rank it with the best of the varieties being tested.

Truck crop visitors were interested in some startling irrigation results which came from horticulturist Donald Fieldhouse. In tests with a tomato variety called KC 146, Fieldhouse said his irrigated plots yielded seven tons of tomatoes so far as compared to two and a half tons for the unirrigated plots. Blossom end rot was completely eliminated by irrigation the researcher said.

Another impressive plot was control of nutgrass in potatoes by a chemical called Eptam. Horticulturist E. M. Rahn said the roots of the weed grow right through potatoes which makes control important.

State Rate Set for 1960 Conservation

The basic rate of rental payment in Delaware under the 1960 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank will average $16 an acre, William H. Hopkins of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee announced Thursday. This is the same as the basic payment rate in the State under the 1959 program.

For individual farmers, a per-acre rate will be set for the particular land to be placed in the Conservation Reserve taking into consideration the productivity of the land and limited to the local fair rental value of the land based on crops harvested during the past five years.

The 1960 Conservation Reserve program contains special incentives for farmers to place all their eligible land in the program for at least five years and a priority system for accepting conservation reserve contract applications. Eligible land, in general, is cropland which is regularly used for cultivated crops and tame hay.

As in former years, there will be two types of payments under the program—a cost-share payment for carrying out a conservation practice on the reserved land and annual rental payments during the three to ten-year life of the contract.

Forms for farmers to use in requesting rate determinations for their land will be available from county ASC offices about the middle of August. The period for filing such requests will be Aug. 24 - Sept. 10.

Wool Growers to Vote in September

Sheep producers will have an opportunity to vote in September on a nationwide referendum on the question of continuing to finance a market development program for wool and lambs, according to William H. Hopkins of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The program of advertising, promotion, and related activities, is carried out under an agreement with the American Sheep Producers Council. It is financed by deductions from wool incentive payments earned by growers under the national wool program.

The agreement has been in effect since the 1955 marketing year and, if approved in the September referendum, will be continued for another three years, Hopkins said. Approval requires the favorable vote of producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum.

The new agreement would provide that deduction may not exceed the rates, of one cent per pound for shorn wool and five cents per hundredweight for lambs, that have been in effect under the original agreement.

The referendum will extend over the entire month of September to make it as easy as possible for all growers to participate. Ballots will be mailed to producers from the county ASC offices before September 1 and may be voted and returned through Sept. 30.

The referendum relates only to the wool and lamb market development program. It will not affect the continuation of the payment program under the three year extension of the wool act last summer.

"Big Thursday" at Slaughter Beach

Slaughter Beach, a small Delaware Bay resort approximately 8 miles east of Milford, is completing arrangements for hosting on August 20 what is expected to be the largest throng of visitors in its history. The occasion—a revival of "Big Thursday"—and highlights observance of "Homecoming Week," which begins this Sunday and continues through Aug. 23.

While quite a few of the visitors will possibly be visiting the seaside community for the first time, a larger number undoubtedly will be returning to Slaughter Beach to re-live the memories of other "Big Thursdays" when the then traditionally annual event was an occasion for family reunion and merrymaking.

"Big Thursday," which came into being in 1852 when residents of Delaware's two lower counties drove to Slaughter Beach and other nearby beaches to celebrate the lifting of a ban that had prohibited the taking of Delaware Bay oysters—and to eat their fill of the succulent mollusks—was observed for nearly a century and featured—besides eating—singing, dancing and even political oratory.

With the advent of automobiles, better roads, other forms of amusement and more effective means of communication, "Big Thursday" gradually lost its appeal and had virtually disappeared from the Delaware scene by World War II.

The August 20 event is, according to the Delaware State Development, Department, the first serious attempt at revival of "Big Thursday" in recent years. Spearheading the present movement is Edward C. Evans, former Mayor of Milford, who, for many years, has maintained a summer home at the Beach as a vacation site offering excellent fishing, boating and other aquatic sports.

"Homecoming Week" is being sponsored by the Slaughter Beach Memorial Fire Company, which will use the proceeds for purchase of needed equipment. A carnival, fireworks display and boat races are just a few of the many attractions scheduled for the week-long observance.

According to the Development Department, Slaughter Beach is easily accessible by two good roads: one, Delaware Route 202, branching off from Delaware Route 14 at Milford; and the other, Delaware Route 224, branching off of Route 14 at Argo's Corner, approximately 5 miles south of Milford.

Slaughter Beach is 7.62 miles from Milford by Route 202 and 8.31 miles from Milford, via Argo's Corner and Route 224. Route 202 takes the motorist near Misspillion Light, site of a small fishing village and harbor for a sizeable fleet of fishing boats that throughout the season take parties into Delaware Bay for the excellent fishing to be found there.

HOUSE KNOCKS DOWN OMNIBUS BOND BILL

The omnibus bond bill was knocked down Monday on a straight party vote in the House of Representatives, where the Republicans made good on their threat to defeat the bill if its highway bond authorizations did not contain an itemized list of projects to be financed.

In other action Monday the House defeated the first of the "attorney general's bills" to come up for a vote. This was SB-113, to permit arrests on "probable cause" in motor vehicle cases without a warrant.

The bond bill needed at least one Republican vote to attain the three-fourths majority of 27 votes out of 35. It got only 25 votes, all from Democrats, while all eight Republicans present voted no. One Democrat (Cannon) and one Republican (Johnson) were absent.

The controversial bond bill was not restored to the calendar, may well be as dead as a stack of last session's unpassed bills. But, like them, it may rise again by being reintroduced in a new form. The Legislature adjourned until Wednesday.

Before the roll call, which was witnessed by many Senate members sitting in the House gallery, there was a spirited debate on the bill late Monday afternoon. Action had been slated for the first order of business Monday, but was delayed for preparation of an amendment deleting a proposed bond authorization for the Alfred I. duPont School District. This $244,000 item in the bill seems to have been included in error.

Dr. Arthur T. Nelson, supervising principal of the district, told legislators Monday the district alone is not asking for such a project. There are plans afoot to build a $244,000 school for retainable retarded children somewhere in northern Delaware, with several school districts taking part. And it would be a 100 per cent state-financed project, not a 60-40 state and local district proposition as the bill suggested. House amendment No. 1 took that item out.

Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Mill Creek Hundred) was the first to speak against the bond bill (HB-409) when the session opened Monday afternoon. She was the first to express the Republican objection to "the blank check issued by HB-409 to one state agency, while all others must delineate carefully their proposed expenses. I cannot and will not vote a lump sum to the Highway Department because citizens have a right to know where their money will be spent."

She also argued that extensive road construction programs must be curtailed to reduce the state's bonded debt.

When the bill was called up, Rep. Charles F. Kleinbach (R-White Clay Creek Hundred) pointed out that the public school and University of Delaware construction projects are all listed with the amounts to be spent for each, but that the highway authorization, representing 58 per cent of the total, is not itemized. He asked: If the school and university construction projects can have "specific projects why can't the highway projects be similarly specific." He said taxpayers in his district want to know what the projects are.

Kleinbach also wanted to know why a request from the university for $2,277,000 for a new mathematics and physics building was left out.

Rep. Joseph S. Latina (D-Wilmington) said the Highway Department can't specify the costs of projects because it doesn't know what the costs of right of way, steel, and other factors will be.

At this point, Rep. Harry G. Lawson (R-Wilmington) said the legislature a few years ago voted a $10,000,000 bond issue for a 10-year dirt road improvement program and the money was used in three years. "Where did the money go?" he asked. He said he "learned the hard way" that such bills should be specific.

Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred) asked: "If the Republicans were in control of the Highway Department—and thank God they're not—would they question this bill?"

Rep. F. Earl McGinness (D-Christiana Hundred) said he has some doubts about the school construction, part of the bill because a House bill to put control of school building projects under a state school construction commission is "languishing in a Senate committee" and he is "reluctant to authorize school bond money before the bill is passed."

Rep. T. Lees Bartleson issued a statement noting that the highway part of the omnibus bond bill covers less than one of the 17 pages of the bill in authorizing $14,350,000 worth of bonds, with "no tie-in at all with Mr. (Richard A.) Haber's letters to all of us here listing the items being considered."

Like the bond bill, the attorney general's bill defeated Monday was not immediately restored, but three members changed their votes from yes to no to be in a position to have it restored.

Atty. Gen. Januar D. Bove, Jr., explained that the bill (SB-113) would permit police officers to make arrests in motor vehicle cases under certain conditions without getting warrants. At present, an officer must see the violation himself to make an arrest without a warrant. In hit-run cases, for example, the officer rarely sees the violation. By the time he gets the facts and obtains a warrant, the violator may be in another state, it was explained.

There was little discussion. On the roll call the bill, which requires a two-third majority of 24 votes, got only 19—from all nine Republicans and 10 Democrats. There were seven nays, (Clifton, Kenney, Long, Opdyke, Quigley, Shockley and Walls), seven not voting (Cain, Carmean, Dineen, English, Latina, Livingston and Wright), one absent (Cannon) and one answering present (Gove).

Questioned later, Democratic members who opposed the bill had three different reasons for its failure. One said he was afraid it would give the police power to "pick on people." Another said regardless of the merits of the bill, they are not going to help Bove make good on his campaign promises. A third said a recent speech by former Atty Gen. Joseph Donald Craven, backing the bill had hurt them.

The House Monday passed HB-369 to reimburse Paul Podolsky, who served as executive director of the Veterans Military Pay Commission, for money spent for secretarial help in cleaning up the commission's affairs.

New Measures

HB-413: To grant up to four years retirement credit to professional education employees of Delaware for previous experience in another state, city, the federal government or a private school. By Carmean, McGinness, Robbins and Dineen.

EC-51: Commending the Delaware State Police for the "efficient and prompt results attained" in the Collins Park case. By Latina.

Kent Home Doings

Camping and Cooking

For a camping trip, a picnic, or a meal in the backyard, food cooked in aluminum foil is delicious and easy, says Florence Y. Smith, county home demonstration agent. Besides, if you bake and serve in foil, there's no dishwashing!

Vegetables, meats and fruits can be "pressure cooked" in their own juices this way, with only a bit of seasoning, shortening, butter or bacon added for flavor and moisture.

For best results, Mrs. Smith says, follow these suggestions. Wrap carefully—piece of foil should be large enough to allow for drug store wrap. Place food in center. Add butter or fat and seasonings. Fold edges until tight on food. Double the layer around the food by repeating the process with another piece of foil. Place package directly on a bed of hot coals. Never use a flaming fire.

Cooking time will vary with type of firewood, wind strength and other factors. Recipes can give only approximate time. Turn food package at approximately half its cooking time.

Serve directly from the wrap. No dishes, remember! It's great, Mrs. Smith says.

Camp Todd Units Prepares An International Supper

In keeping with the emphasis on International Friendship, Girl Scouts at Camp Todd have been planning and serving international suppers. The latest supper held was a progressive party and featured the following menu:

The Brownies served Birchermuesli—"Swiss Fruit Soup"—made by mixing uncooked oatmeal, water, fresh fruits, nuts and raisins. This recipe was brought to Camp Todd by last summer's Swiss counselor.

The Point Unit prepared barbecued ham and Hawaiian pineapple. The Tall Timbers made the National Salad of Lebanon—moistened ground raw corn, oil, lemon, salt and pepper, tomatoes, onion, parsley and green mint. And for dessert the Pioneer

Unit made "Koesisters of South Africa"—a small doughnut dipped in cinnamon flavored sugar syrup.

After dinner each unit put on a skit around the great campfire. The Hawaiian hula girls danced and gave flowers to everyone, the Lebanese girls sang a Lebanese work song, there were several South African songs, and to conclude a happy evening, the Brownies did a skit on "Our Chalet" the Girl Scout guest house in Switzerland.

Dover Base To Get Atlas Missile Plane

Some time next spring the first C-133B plane—the only air cargo transport in the world capable of carrying the Air Force Atlas IC BM missile—will be delivered to Dover Air Force Base.

This will be a second phase in the new era of modern air logistics which began Aug. 28, 1957, when Col. Claude W. Smith eased the first C-133A global transport plane onto a Dover AFB runway.

The C-133B Cargomaster, a new and improved version of the C-133A, is now in production at Douglas Aircraft Co., Long Beach, Calif. Recently, a fully assembled Atlas was loaded aboard the airplane in a demonstration for Douglas, Convair and Air Force officials.

The significance of this feat is that missiles of Atlas size may now be transported to their operational areas 20 to 30 times faster than by present surface transportation.

The C-133B can carry more than 26 tons for a distance of 4000 miles at an average speed of 323 miles per hour. Powered by four T34-9W turboprop engines, the mammoth sky giant features all loading clamshell doors which open in four directions to allow a huge object like the Atlas aboard.

The new plane will not only facilitate moving of missile systems and their supporting equipment anywhere in the world, but does it at a 5.4 per cent reduction in specific fuel consumption over the C-133A.

In a recent test the Cargomaster was compared with surface transportation for moving a missile across the continent with all security measures taken in both cases.

The test revealed that surface transportation would take seven to nine days, while airlift would require only seven hours. The time advantage is even more pronounced in the shipment of large weapon systems to overseas areas.

Dover Air Force Base, the world's largest air cargo terminal has already made a substantial contribution to the air world's hall of fame with the C-133A model Cargomaster.

"In 'Operation Big Lift' on Dec. 16, 1955, the aircraft established a new world's record by carrying 117,900 pounds of cargo to an altitude of 10,000 feet. This exceeded the previous record of 78,089 pounds air lifted in 1952 by an Air Force KC-135 Stratotanker.

The new mark is almost three times a former world's record held by a Soviet TU-104.

Conservation Contest Listed

The Caroline County Soil Conservation District has entered the national Soil Conservation Awards program sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, O., it was announced Wednesday by district chairman H. H. Rieck, Preston.

Members of the Caroline Soil Conservation District will compete against other conservation districts in the state. The state's outstanding district for the period May 1, 1959 to April 30, 1960, will be determined on a basis of total points scored in performances of regular district duties.

The top co-operating farmer of the winner district will get an expense-free vacation trip to Goodyear Farms in Litchfield Park, Ariz.

Members of the Caroline Soil Conservation District governing body who will compete for the Goodyear award are Mr. Rieck, Willie S. Carroll, William C. Engerman, Chris Nagel and H. K. Shults. Mr. Nagel, Federalsburg, is a past state winner.

Assateague Island Scanned As Maryland Park Location

A 10,000-acre island off the coast of Maryland, home of wild ponies and roaming cattle, contains the potential for a new state park.

A 10-member committee named to investigate the possibilities of Assateague, a spit of land that acts as barrier to the Ocean City Inlet, spent two days recently inspecting the area.

They found 23 homes, part of an unfinished development begun in 1950. They viewed the beach, one of the finest on the east coast. They noted the lack of roads and utilities.

Chief need, they agreed, is a bridge to connect with the mainland. The commission, headed by State Senator John L. Sanford (D-Worcester), was taken by boat to the island where a tour was made in jeeps.

Engineers, bankers, erosion experts, members of the legislature and Worcester County Commissioners, all members of the party, were in agreement that a careful study must be made of the costs, the type of bridge, sewers, lighting and recreational needs.

Erosion has damaged parts of the beach area near the Ocean City Inlet. A roadway, laid out in 1950 as part of the plan for the island development, has deteriorated.

Three thousand people who now own lots on the island are awaiting the final answer to the pressing question of a connecting bridge. The answer lies with the committee's final report and a decision by the legislature.

Clammers Clam Up On Strike

The Teamsters' Union lost out this week in an attempt to organize the soft shell clam industry on Kent Island, Md.

Some 200 clammers went back to work Tuesday after being idle two days in what was termed a "strike". It involved 120 clam boats in both Queen Anne's and Anne Arundel Counties.

The men are digging soft-shelled class for $4 a bushel, just about the price they had been receiving.

They attempted to get buyers and packers to agree to pay $5 per bushel, but no agreement could be reached and the diggers were advised such an agreement could be considered illegal price-fixing — an infraction of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Dredgers went on strike Friday after a meeting the previous night with a representative of Teamsters' Local 333 of Baltimore. The clammers failed to get the buyers and packers to recognize the teamsters as their bargaining agent.

Calvert Hoxter, who operates one of the largest of the seven clam-buysing houses in Queen Anne's County, said he had received a telegram Friday from the Baltimore local asking recognition of the union. He said he refused to recognize it.

He noted that at a meeting Friday night, a Baltimore attorney, H. Raymond McCluster, told the clammers the union was not being recognized because the men are not employees, since clamming is done by contract.

The individual diggers have mentioned becoming employees of the buyers and packers, working on a commission or piece-work basis. All of this appears illegal in the eyes of the buyers and packers, who claim the dredgers are individual contractors and employers themselves.

It has been suggested that one solution might be to form a co-operative. Such a move would empower the clam diggers to select one person as an agent to handle sales of all clams.

It is understood that a representative of the Queen Anne's County Soft Shell Clam Association spent Monday in Washington and was in New Jersey Tuesday looking over possibilities of setting up such a co-operative.

The soft shell clam industry on Kent Island has only existed a few years and is already a $1,000,000-plus business per year. The big market for clams is in New England. They are trucked from Kent Island daily in refrigerated trailers.

House Approves First Of Attorney General Bills

The first of the attorney-general's bills to pass the House got through with just the 24 it needed Wednesday.

This was SB-113, which changes the wording of the law making it illegal to sell alcoholic beverages to an intoxicated person. The present law prohibits a person in charge of a place licensed to sell such beverages from selling to an intoxicated person. Atty. Gen. Januar D. Bove, Jr., explained it has frequently been difficult for police and Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission personnel to establish who is in charge. The bill would add the owner or an employee to the persons prohibited from selling to an intoxicated person. There were 24 yeas on the roll call. There were also two nays (Opdyke and Shockley) three not voting, (Cain, English and Long), two answering present (Gove and Quigley), and four absent (Cannon, Davidson, Latina and Livingston).

Another of the attorney general's bills was deferred. This was SB-119, to require reports of nomination and election expenses by political parties and candidates. The requirement existed in the 1935 Code and was omitted from the 1953 Code. The House seemed to change its mind quickly about acting on the bill Wednesday. First, at the request of Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) it agreed to suspend rules to act on the bill the same date the Elections Committee reported on it. Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Mill Creek Hundred) pointed out, as the session were on close to 6 p.m., that since there is no election before January, action could be deferred until then. The House readily agreed to that.

The House voted two supplementary appropriations totalling $302,000 to the trustees of the Delaware State Hospital Wednesday, but defeated a proposed appropriation of $8,575 to the State Geological Survey. The latter came in under Republican sponsorship.

Passed were HB-350, appropriating $107,000 for a new steam boiler and allied equipment for the State Hospital, and HB-373 to provide $195,000—($100,000 for salaries and wages at the State Hospital, $80,000 for salaries at Stockley, and $15,000 for salaries for the trainable children program at Stockley). HB-373 got 32 yeas, one nay (McGinness) while two were absent (Cannon and Latina). HB-350, on the other hand got only 21 yeas. There were two nays (McGinness and Opdyke), with nine not voting (Betts, Cain, Carmean, English, Kenney, Long, Paskey, Robbins and Tribbitt) and three absent (Cannon, Graves and Latina).

The Geological Survey item, SB-248, proposed to appropriate $8,575 for stream gauging—measuring the flow of water in the state's streams. State Geologist Johan Groot said this is important in irrigation, municipal water supplies, and designing bridges and culverts. The bill was sponsored by Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), and members explained later that was the objection to it. The measure got only 10 yeas, with 14 nays, seven not voting and four absent. Groot hastened to have a new bill drawn, to be introduced with Democratic sponsorship.

The harness racing bill which would permit an extra 20 days of racing at Harrington got by Wednesday. This is HB-403. The final tally was 22 yeas, five nays, six not voting and two absent.

Another harness racing bill was among the new measures handed up Wednesday. This one is HB-428, sponsored by Rep. Joseph S. Latina (D-Wilmington). It would add 20 days for New Castle County, giving that county 40 days of racing, while the other two each retain their present 20 days. A Sussex licensee would retain the right to assign its 20 to a New Castle County licensee, as presently occurs.

Other Bills Passed HB-240 with SA 1 & 2: The House concurred in Senate amendments clarifying the bill re-establishing Wilmington's power to sell bonds without the former Sinking Fund Commission. 25 yeas, three nays, one absent.

HB-1 for HB-333: Extending by one year the deadline for use of state funds to construct a vocational school in Sussex County. 34 yeas, one absent.

HB-398 with HA-1: The Joint Revenue Committee's bill to plug loopholes in the business license laws by setting fees for licensing of businesses not otherwise covered. 29 yeas, two nays, one not voting, three absent.

HB-416: A new charter for Oak Orchard, introduced Wednesday and passed in both House and Senate under suspension of the rules. House vote: 34 yeas, one absent.

HB-421: To extend by one year the deadline for use of state funds to build vocational facilities for Kent County. Introduced Wednesday. 32 yeas, three absent.

Other New Bills HB-418: A new Labor Department bill by Latina and McGinness. HB-415: To appropriate $82,107.15 to the New Castle County Levy Court to pave roads in Marshallton Heights. By Manning.

HB-417: Directing the counties to adopt a safety code on trenches and other excavation work. By Latina.

HB-419: Amendments to the election laws. By Dineen and Manning.

HB-420: To appropriate $24,258 to the New Castle County Department of Elections. By Dineen and King.

HB-422: To provide that legislative bills may be amended with stenciled copies as well as typed or printed ones. By McGinness.

HB-423: A Joint Revenue Committee bill to boost certain fees collected by the insurance commissioner.

HB-424: To appropriate $35,000 to the Milford Special School District to acquire land adjacent to the Banneker School. By Robbins.

HB-425: To increase the salary of the judge of the Sussex Court of Common Pleas to $17,500, effective Sept. 1. By Johnson.

HB-426: On the powers and duties of the Budget Commission and the auditor of accounts. By Gove and Pryor.

HB-427: To authorize a $548,000 bond issue for school construction in Slaughter Neck School District No. 193. By Clifton and Best.

ROAD BOND

gument that he didn't want to vote the Highway Department "a blank check."

Instead, Hugh R. Sharp, of Greenville, regarded as the spokesman for the Republicans on the Highway Commission, said there might be an intermediate ground.

He admitted that there must be flexibility in planning and carrying out a highway construction program and added, however: "If I were a legislator, of course, I'd want to know where the roads were going to be built."

And his plan was that the Highway Commission send to the General Assembly a letter of intent stating just how the Highway Commission intended to use the money from the proposed bond issues.

Such a letter, he added, would be a pledge that the construction program would be carried out as specified but that there might have to be some changes, depending upon circumstances.

And at the end of the year, Mr. Sharp added, the General Assembly would have the right to ask the Highway Department just how it spent the money and what percentage of the list in the letter of intent was actually followed out.

Mr. Haber said he had no objection to such a letter of intent but he added that his office has already sent to the legislators full details on the program.

In a way, the whole discussion was somewhat academic because during the meeting, the Highway Commission learned that the General Assembly had agreed on a recess, probably for the rest of the year.

So far, no highway bond issue bill has been passed.

Senate Beats Bill to Use Reservoirs For Fishing

The Senate Wednesday beat the bill which would have permitted what its opponents termed unlimited and unrestricted fishing in "raw water" ponds and reservoirs throughout the state.

Most of the prolonged debate on the bill centered specifically around Hoopes Reservoir which Maurice duPont Lee, president of the Wilmington Board of Park Commissioners would like to see opened up for public fishing. The Wilmington Board of Water Commissioners opposes the plan.

The bill (SB-141) was called up by Senator Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace), who obtained the privilege of the floor for Mr. Lee.

Lee described the reservoir west of Wilmington as containing 2,000,000 gallons of untreated raw water pumped from the Brandywine and held as an emergency supply of city water.

He said it is virtually never used for the purpose, and would have to be chemically treated before it could be used for drinking anyway. He contended that men fishing in boats could not "contaminate 2,000,000 gallons of already-dirty water", and that policing would be no problem.

He said he was interested in the welfare of the lower income people, and added that most of the opposition comes from people residing near the reservoir "who can go to Europe to do their fishing."

He said there would be no parking problem because fishermen could use the parking lot at the pumping station, and envisaged construction of an anchored float from which fishermen would take off in rented boats, never being allowed to set foot on the shorelines.

Senator Reynolds duPont (R-Greenville) objected "violently," saying roads could not stand the increased traffic, and that the one motor boat patrolman currently patrolling the reservoir could not "control hundreds of people."

He said the reservoir is surrounded by pine trees, many old and dead, and said a fire could ruin the watershed and cause damage to nearby properties, on one of which he resides.

There was some questioning back and forth over who would control the fishing, and Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) the minority leader, said the bill provided that the fishing would be under the control of the Game and Fish Commissioners.

On the roll-call, Hickman, Hoey, Mayhew, McCullough, Reilly, Steen, Watson, and Williams voted yes. Corell, duPont, Price, Simpson, Snowden, Spicer, and Cook voted no, and Nechay was absent. McCullough changed his vote to no and had the bill restored.

A bill of Senator Jesse F. Watson (D-Townsend) to appropriate $785,000 for salary increments to low-paid highway department workers ran into strong Republican criticism before passing on a party-line vote.

Senator Harvey P. Spicer (R-Georgetown) said it was "nice to think of the low-salaried people, but suggested examination of the Highway Department payrolls for padding first." He accused Senator Watson of a sort of popularity move.

A bill to throw a roadblock in the path of the proposed West Wilmington freeway (SB-236) was introduced by Senator Reilly, an outspoken foe of the proposed Adams-Jackson Street route.

The bill would prevent the State Highway Department from acquiring any land or letting any contract for road construction involving matching federal funds until the federal money was in hand.

Inasmuch as the federal program works on a repayment-of-the-state basis, this would apparently mean that the State Highway Department could not contract for any more work involving federal matching funds.

The Senate also received a bill co-sponsored by Senators Reilly and James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), the minority leader, which would raise the salaries of certain elected state officials.

Under the terms of SB-281, the secretary of state would get $12,000 a year, the attorney general $12,000, and state tax commissioner $12,000, the treasurer $10,000, and the auditor $10,000.
