

Assembly Fix-It Plan Snags In Row Over Bridge Bonds

The General Assembly, called into session Monday to try to untangle some of the state's financial problems, quit Monday evening without acting on any of them, after the Senate Democrats tried to get passage of the $6,000,000 bridge bond bill before acting on a fiscal measure.

The Republicans blocked the bridge bill (HB-282) and the two branches adjourned until Thursday at 1 p.m.

Garrett E. Lyons, Democratic state chairman, and chairman of the Interstate Highway Division which runs the Delaware Memorial Bridge, spoke on the Senate floor in favor of the bridge bond bill. He said that if it were passed the bridge division could pay some $2,500,000 to the state within 72 hours, as reimbursement for work done by the state on approaches to the bridge.

Republicans have protested that the other $3,500,000 was an authorization for unitemized spending.

The bond bill, which required a three-quarters majority, failed of passage on a straight party vote.

Also defeated on a party vote was a Republican motion to defer the vote on the bill until the Highway Department reported on when it could bill the Interstate Highway Division and when that division could pay the $2,500,000.

The bridge bond bill had passed the House with 30 votes, on Aug. 12. Bringing it up for action in the Senate Monday came as a surprise to the Republicans who expected Monday's action would center on the agreements reached in the conferences among legislative leaders and the Governor on how to raise money to pay bills due road contractors. A measure to accomplish that, SB-287, was introduced. Before the Democratic caucus it was assumed this measure would be rushed through under suspension of rules.

Instead, after House and Senate Democrats held their long caucus with Lyons, Senator Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) called for a vote on the bridge bond bill.

Mr. Lyons was invited to address the Senate on the measure. He said that by blocking passage of the bond issue bill the Republicans would prevent the State of Delaware from getting back $2,500,000 spent by the State Highway Department for the bridge's approaches. He said that this could be gotten back almost at once. He further explained that the remaining bonds could not be sold without permission of the consulting engineers and the trustees for the bondholders, the Bank of Delaware.

Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) countered that there was still no explanation of what they wanted the $3,500,000 for and there was no assurance that the state would get the money in three or four days as Lyons predicted. He said that according to reports of representatives of the State Highway Department it would probably be more like three or four months before the money could be received.

After the discussion, the Republicans called for a caucus. They returned and defeated the surprise measure.

Following the vote Senator Harry E. Mayhew (D-Milford) called for a vote on HB-403, which would extend the number of racing days at Harrington by 20. The bill was passed with only two dissenting votes from Senator Harvey B. Spicer (R-Georgetown) and Senator Steen. Senator Lemuel H. Hickman (D-Frankford) was recorded as not voting.

The House of Representatives met for a total of about 15 minutes Monday, in two brief sessions, and the only actions were adoption of one resolution and receipt of seven veto messages from the Governor and four reports from House committees.

The lone resolution (HR-96) replaces Robert Allen Wilson with Frank Breeding as a file clerk for the House. The veto messages concerned the seven House bills which the Governor rejected, along with eight Senate bills, because of the ruling (by the attorney general) that the state had already appropriated more than its estimated revenue and that further appropriations are illegal.

The House did not get under way until 2:41 p.m. It worked for 12 minutes before recessing. Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt warned that the recess might be (continued on back page)

H.H.S. Cross-Country Team Starts Practice; First Meet Sept. 30

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High cross-country squad is practicing for its season-opening meet with Centerville (Md) High School to be held on the local course near Killen's Pond on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 30. Last year's unit was the first downstate representative in the barrier sport. They were undefeated until the final meet of the season when two key men were ill with a virus.

All of last year's lettermen are back, a fact which may explain why three of last year's reserves have elected to pass up the hill and dale sport. Dwight Hackett, last year's number 2 man, may be unavailable due to reasons of health. With Hackett in the lineup the locals could handle anything on the Delmarva Peninsula except the state champion Howard High powerhouse from Wilmington. His brother, Clarence Hackett, may take up some of the slack as he was a promising miler on the track team this spring as an eighth grader.

Heading the returnees is Harry Knotts number 1 man on the squad and winner of the 55 man Harrington Invitational Championship run last November in which seven downstate and Maryland schools participated. Harry holds the record for the local 2.4 miles course of 12 minutes and 53 seconds.

Bob Bonniwell, George Pfeiffer, Dennis Bradley, Walt Leakes and David Hitchens are the other letter winners returning. Bill Pike also returns along with newcomers Dave Voss, Bill Thompson and Allen Wix. Martin Bard, a freshman transfer from Connecticut, may be an asset because he comes from a hot-bed of distance running.

Penny increases are found on cabbage, beets, snap beans, potatoes and squash. Butter beans, lettuce, tomatoes, and corn are all up 3 to 5 cents. Steady in price are carrots, dry onions, green peppers, baking potatoes, celery, cucumbers and green onions. Weekend sales offer the best opportunity to save when buying vegetables since many are on specials.

Fruits as well as vegetables cost more this week. Locally grown cantaloupes are gone and prices are 2 to 3 cents higher for the Western grown melons. Watermelon supplies are short, prices are up 4 to 10 cents on the melon. As the ice-cold lemonade season wanes, lemons have gone up 2 cents on the dozen. Peaches, plums and pears are also 1 to 3 cents a pound higher. To off-set this increase found on many fruits, apples are a bit cheaper this week. There are plenty of bananas which continue to sell for 15 cents a pound, except when they are on specials at 12 cents a pound. Seedless grapes are also steady to cheaper in price. Both of the fruits are ideal for the school lunch box and for after school snacks.

The "luxury" melons are coming into their own now, with supply increasing and prices ranging from 69 cents for a honeydew melon to 89 cents for a Persian melon. Other melons on local markets are Ambrosias and Cranshaws—all of these are in the 69 to 89 cent each price range. Most meats remain as they were last week — little change in prices or quality. Pork chops and pork products wear "best buys" labels this week. Check the meat counter for buys on bacon, pork roast, pork chops and sausage.

NEW STUDENT NURSES—Fourteen new students this month entered Beebe Hospital's School of Nursing at Lewes. This is twice the number enrolled in last year's entering class. The number of new students created a problem and underscored a need.

The problem was where to house the upperclass student nurses crowded out of the present nurses' home. They have been placed in private homes in Lewes. Receiving emphasis was Beebe Hospital's serious need for a new nurses' residence and school building. Plans for such a building are included in the hospital's present campaign to raise $850,000—of which slightly over $600,000 has been contributed or pledged.

You Say You Had Beetles?

You say you had Japanese beetles pretty bad this year? You say they're gone now? We got news! They are out there under the window right now chewing the bottom off your lawn.

Dr. Dale Bray, chairman of the entomology department at the University of Delaware, said the beetles have just shifted gears, so to speak, and what they did to your roses is nothing to what they are going to do to your lawn!

All those survivors from your spray gun have been going underground and laying eggs, Bray said. Those eggs either have, or soon will, develop into exceedingly hungry little grubs who will set out to separate your grass from its roots. And they have all the tools to get the job done.

After fattening up to hibernation size the grubs will move down in the soil to get away from the cold and come back up next spring to finish off any grass roots they missed in the fall.

They will come out into the sunshine about the middle of June, as beetles, and start on the new roses you will be babying along to replace the ones the beetles got last year.

Now if you enjoy the beetle-battle during June and July you can keep your spray gun greased and kiss your lawn goodbye. On the other hand, if you would just as soon stoop to bacteriological and chemical warfare, Dr. Bray has in mind some infernal devices that will do a devilishly complete job.

He described one called milky disease as "bacterial spores which cause a disease in the grub which is fatal, and fatal diseases of the beetle are the best."

If you favor chemical warfare you can use a number of materials such as chlordane, dieldrin, heptachlor or aldrin. Chlordane is the most common but all of them will do the job if directions are followed, he said.

Insecticides are not as discriminating as milky disease spores however, and are just as likely to knock off your cats and dogs as the grubs if you don't soak the insecticide thoroughly into the lawn. In fact you should keep your children, dogs, cats, etc. from playing on the lawn until you have washed the materials in, Bray said.

The outbreak of the Japanese beetles may be due to the many new housing developments, Dr. Bray said. The beetles seem to be worse in new lawns.

The wet summers of the last two years have also helped the beetles by providing soft soil, enabling the grub form of the pest to move easily from one grass root to another as well as up and down in the soil.

Dr. Bray said the entomology department made a mass attack on the beetles in the late 1930's by spreading milky disease spores in several spots in the state. The spores lived in the soil and spread out controlling beetles fairly well. The spores were checked shortly after World War II and were doing well.

Another check is going to be made this fall, Bray said, to see if it is still effective.

Dr. Bray had a parting thought for those who prefer to spend their fall weekends watching baseball and football on TV and reading the Sunday paper while complaining bitterly about those blankety blank Japanese grubs out there in the lawn. The fight will go on without you, he said.

The skunks, robins, sparrows and especially the starlings, will continue in their relentless battle against Japanese beetles.

Mildew Control And Removal

A common discovery in many Delaware homes during this wet, warm weather is mildew. It will grow on just about anything. Clothing is particularly susceptible to mildew and will weaken and even fall apart if not treated in time.

To successfully remove and control mildew, Miss Patricia A. Middleton, home management specialist with the Extension Service, University of Delaware, offers these tips.

For clothing, remove mildew spots as soon as you discover them. Brush the cloth outdoors so you will not spread the mold spores in the house, she warned.

Sun and air the fabric and treat the spots with soap and water if the garment is washable, otherwise have it cleaned. If soap and water does not take out the stain, moisten with a lemon juice and salt mixture and dry in the sun. Then rinse thoroughly with water. Test colored materials in an inconspicuous area for color fastness before using this treatment, Miss Middleton warned.

On leather, a cloth moistened in diluted alcohol (one cup denatured alcohol to one cup water) will wipe away the mildew. Polishing shoes and luggage with a good wax will help keep mildew from starting.

In general, air, sun, and soap suds will control mildew on leather, rugs, and upholstered furniture she said.

Homemakers can do several things to keep mildew from starting. Air and dry rooms, closets and clothing as well as possible. During hot, wet periods it may be necessary to heat the house for a short time, then open doors and windows and force the warmed air with a fan.

A small electric light kept burning in a closet will stop mildew if the space is not too large, Miss Middleton said.

Silica gel, a chemical that takes up moisture, can be used in closets or storage spaces. It can be renewed by drying in the oven when it turns from blue to pink. Silica gel will soak up half its own weight in water.

At the house only when outside air is cooler than inside air. Warm air will condense leaving more moisture in than it will take out. Cool air will absorb moistures as it is warmed inside the house.

Honorary Degrees To Be Awarded At University of Del. Convocation

Two distinguished Delaware residents, Mrs. Christopher L. Ward and Dr. Alfred R. Shands Jr., will receive honorary degrees at the University of Delaware convocation, Mon., Sept. 21, at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Ward, who resides in Greenville, will receive the honorary degree of master of arts.

Dr. Shands, whose home is on Rockland Road, Wilmington, will be awarded the degree of doctor of science.

Mrs. Ward has engaged in many civic and educational activities in Delaware and elsewhere. She has served as president of the Children's Bureau of Delaware, as president of the Colonial Dames in Delaware, and as a member of the Board of Regents of Gunston Hall, Virginia.

She is recognized as one of the nation's leading authorities on Horace Walpole and her collection of Walpole's mementos and publications is the second largest in the country. She also has a rare collection of eighteenth and nineteenth century fore-edge books, volumes with miniature paintings on the edge of the pages.

A longtime supporter of the University of Delaware, Mrs. Ward contributed the Christopher Ward Room in the Memorial Library in memory of her husband. It included a fine collection of volumes on American, and particularly Delaware, history which the late Mr. Ward used in researching his own historical writings.

Mrs. Ward maintains her interest in the University as a life member of the Library Associates and has served on the board of directors of that organization.

Dr. Shands, a native of Washington, D. C., but a resident of Delaware since 1937, is medical director of the Nemours Foundation and the Alfred I. duPont Institute.

A graduate of the University of Virginia, Dr. Shands also received his M. D. degree at that institution in 1922. He was associate professor of surgery and head of the department of orthopedic surgery at Duke from 1930 to 1937 prior to accepting his present position.

As medical director of the Alfred I. duPont Institute he has been largely responsible for the development of its excellent program for the treatment of crippled children which has become nationally known. He also has assisted in the development of similar programs in Florida and other states.

Dr. Shands has personally served as surgeon-in-chief at the Institute and has made significant contributions in research. Especially noteworthy is his discovery of a new method for measuring torsion of the femur. He has provided for fundamental research in biochemistry and bacteriology at the Institute and has extended its educational aspects by inviting advanced students from other institutions to attend clinics in the field of orthopedics.

For several years Dr. Shands has served as a member of the Civilian Advisory Council to the Secretary of Defense on health and medical matters. He also has been a member of the research committee of the Delaware Academy of Medicine and president of the American Orthopedic Association. He is a member of the University of Delaware, Research Foundation.

Local School Board Meets

The athletic department staff and custodians were present at the meeting of the Harrington Special School District Board of Education Thursday evening, Sept. 10.

Custodial hours and duties were discussed with an eye to improving conditions at school. The school athletic budget was reviewed and approved by the Board, who also authorized the purchase of boys basketball uniforms to conform to Henlopen League requirements.

A cheerleading sponsor was authorized and Mrs. Doris Fry has been appointed. New uniforms have been requested.

It was requested that the superintendent contact Fulton Downing of the Harrington Lumber and Supply Co. to see when the work recommended by the fire marshal would be completed.

In other business, the superintendent was requested to contact town hall asking if the ditch by P. S. duPont School would be cleaned, to get the cost of having a pay telephone installed in the Field House foyer, to request federal aid for military and civilian employees' children attending school, and to ask the State Department to be included in the next building program.

William Kramedas was approved as third football coach at the rate of $200.

SHD Faced With Directive for Dirt Road Improvement

The State Highway Department is faced with a directive for the improvement of dirt roads, despite the absence at present, of any funds to defray the cost of this work, in accordance with the terms of the dirt road improvements Act of 1955.

Under the terms of this law the Highway Department is directed to improve one-tenth of the dirt road mileage in each county each year, with the additional provision that they all be improved within ten years, which would make the program completed by 1965.

The provisions of Chapter 503, Volume 50, Laws of Delaware reads as follows:

"Section 1. The State Highway Department of the State of Delaware is directed to hard surface or surface treat with bituminous material a minimum of eighteen feet in width with adequate drainage, all the dirt roads in the State of Delaware under its jurisdiction within the time limit and according to the schedule outlined in Section 2 of this act.

"Section 2. In carrying out the purposes of Section 1 of this act the State Highway Department of the State of Delaware shall in each year hard surface in each County one-tenth of the dirt roads now existing in each County under its jurisdiction to the intent and purpose that all the dirt highways under its jurisdiction shall be hard surfaced at the end of ten years from the effective date of this Act. The most traveled roads shall be given priority. Any roads which the State Highway Department considers obsolete shall not be hard surfaced under the provision of this act."

In compliance with the above provision the Highway Department has completed the equivalent of ten per cent of the dirt road mileage in each county in their annual improvement program, except for the present year.

Innovations in the dirt road improvement program, introduced by the present administration of the Highway Department, has resulted in the cost of these improvements averaging in the vicinity of $13,500 per mile with the total cost per year being slightly more than $3,000,000 in order to comply with the ten per cent improvement of the roads as provided for in the law.

No funds were available to the Highway Department for dirt road improvement work this year, although a provision for $3,000,000 to be used for this purpose is contained in the omnibus bond measure that was defeated in the House of Representatives in the Legislature.

However, in event any funds for construction purposes are made available for the Highway Department this year, the dirt road improvement program will have to be provided for because of the directive contained in this law.

Since the dirt road improvement law became effective in 1955, the Highway Department has improved more than 585 miles of these roads throughout the state, with more than 150 miles being under construction during the previous fiscal year.

In compliance with the provisions of the dirt road improvement law, these roads have been graded, provided with drainage and then surfaced with bituminous materials, usually 20 feet in width.

100th Anniversary Garden Party

The Baby Home Auxiliary of the Lutheran Home for Orphans and Aged at Germantown will sponsor a 100th Anniversary Garden Party Sat., Sept. 19. The Home expects several thousand people to attend the party, and hopes to raise $8,000 to $9,000 in funds. The new wing, though not yet completed, will be open for tours to show progress thus far.

There will be many attractive booths featuring refreshments, surprise gift packages, linens, jewelry, books and flowers. An oyster supper will be served from 1 to 7 p.m., and everyone is welcome.

The Baby Home Auxiliary itself has nearly 600 members.

The Lutheran Home serves 542 congregations in Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware, and is one of the oldest and largest institutions of its kind in the area.

Three Champs "Show" At the Georgetown Races

Last Friday's race date at the 1/2 mile Georgetown Speedway proved to be an evening of NASCAR Champions with the appearance of Ed. Lindsay in 141, Glen Guthrie in 118 and Bob Gemenden in 404. They stack up this way in the National Modified ranks—1, 2 and 3. Not to be outdone in the National Sportsman race, Vince Conrad in 57 (4th), Bill Wark in 88 (8th) and Jim Smith in 39 (9th) were also on hand to take their crack at Delmarva's finest hard-top pilots on the lightning-fast banks. All in all, it was an evening of speed to be long remembered.

Pee Wee Pobletts, Baltimore, was not much impressed by the array of talent and proceeded to jump his 46 into an early and fast lead as the 22-car, 25-lap feature event got underway and was never headed or seriously challenged. He built up a 3/4 track lead from 8th starting spot and could have done better had there been danger of a threat to his berth.

The red flag went out on the field in the 15th lap as Johnny Martin spun his 191 to the top of the 4th turn, partially blocking the track.

Restarted with an ear-splitting roar, the checkered flag saw Pobletts the winner, followed in the next eleven spots by Bud Olsen (98A), Russ Warrington (97B), Jack McLaughlin (026), Moe Hardin (00), George Harrison (X), Horace Williams (3-D), Vince Conrad (58), Jim Smith (39), Dean Pelton (49), Bob Gemenden (404), Windy Bailey (11).

Bill Wark was running a fast 2nd in the 23rd lap but his engine (a new one, we hear) gave up, but bad, and he was forced out in the backstretch.

1st 10-lap heat—Moe Hardin (00), Windy Bailey (11), Bill Priestly (99). Time, 4:45.7.

2nd 10-lap heat—Dean Pelton (49), George Smith (5), Glen Guthrie (72), Vince Conrad (57), Horace Williams (3-D), Wild Bill Cummings (3-D). The red flag went out on the field in the 3rd lap, 3rd turn, when Jim Smith's 39 apparently went out of control forcing Ed Lindsay's 71 off the bank. Will Cagle came barreling along in his 2, spun to the right into 39 and to the left into another car.

3rd 10-lap heat—Johnny Martin (191), Russ Warrington (97-B), Bill Wark (88). Time, 4:28.5.

4th event, 10-lap Consy—Bud Olsen (98-A), Jack McLaughlin (026), Glen Guthrie (118). Time, 4:29.8. Wild Bill Cummings lost his 3-D in a spin between the 3rd and 4th turns, 9th lap, but managed to make it to the edge of the infield.

As the feature finish indicates, even the Champs have their off days. We like their brand of racing, so keep coming back, boys.

Heart Fund and Hospitals Tackle Rheumatic Fever

Dr. Herman Rosenblum, chairman of the Rheumatic Fever Committee of the Delaware Heart Association reported that his committee had recently distributed medication for the prevention of recurrence of rheumatic fever to the clinics of four hospitals.

Clinic patients will receive the medication free of charge from the following hospitals, with the physician named acting as supervising physician for that institution's clinic: Beebe Hospital, Lewes, Dr. Arthur Torment; Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, Dr. David Levitsky; Wilmington General Hospital, Wilmington, Dr. Rosenblum; Kent General Hospital, Dover, Dr. John Lazzeri.

The Delaware Hospital in Wilmington has operated this service for their patients since October 1957, but this will be the first time that such service has been available at the other locations.

Rheumatic fever causes more children to spend more time in bed than any other childhood illness. It is usually preceded by a "strep throat" (An infection caused by the streptococcal germ.) This throat infection is frequently followed by a fever with pain and swelling in the joints. The pain and swelling are apt to move from one joint to another.

Rheumatic fever would be relatively unimportant if it were not for possible damage to the heart. Rheumatic fever commonly causes a scarring of the valves of the heart. This scar may prevent the valves from opening or closing properly and thus interfere with the normal blood flow through the heart. The other major problem is that the muscle of the heart might be attacked and weakened causing abnormal heart action.

According to Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 126A Rheumatic fever, by Dr. M. Tabenhaus, most children get by the first attack of rheumatic fever with very little or no damage. However, the disease has a tendency to strike again in the same victim and with every new attack there is an increasing chance of heart damage as well as a prolonged period of disability and discomfort.

"One of the most encouraging new discoveries in medicine is the method of preventing these recurrent attacks."

"Either penicillin or a sulfa drug can be taken routinely to keep the streptococcus from ever invading the body. This would prevent even the mild, undiagnosable "strep" infections. Doctors have been using these drugs for over fifteen years," according to Dr. Tabenhaus' brochure.

Realizing that the long range medication of the medically indigent of our state would put a great financial strain on their families, Dr. Rosenblum and his committee were commissioned by the Heart Association to investigate this problem and after their investigation, they were asked to develop a program to make it possible for the citizens of Delaware who need it but cannot afford it, to benefit from this scientific discovery.

Three types of medicine will be available, depending on the decision of the physician and the ability of the patient to benefit from the particular antibiotic. The medicines being offered are sulfadiazine tablets and benzathine penicillin G in either tablet or injectable form.

The medication will be dispensed only through the clinics of the co-operating hospitals to patients meeting the medical indigency criteria of those institutions and for whom such preventive medicine is recommended by a physician at that hospital.

Funds for this and other programs of the Delaware Heart Association are made possible by the annual Heart Fund Drive held each February to raise funds to combat our nation's number one health problem.

The Heart Association will be happy to provide literature or to arrange for films and speakers to any person or groups interested in this problem. Dr. Tabenhaus' pamphlet is among the many that are available free from the heart office.

Delaware Day Commission

Governor Boggs has appointed the following persons to serve on the Delaware Day Commission for a term of four years: Dr. Paul Dolan of the University of Delaware for New Castle County; Dr. H. V. Holloway, Dover, for Kent County, and Edmund F. Steiner of Milford for Sussex County.

The Commission is requesting all public service organizations having program committees to keep in mind Dec. 7, or the nearest of their meeting days to that date, for their annual celebrations, and promises to furnish appropriate material shortly to assist in the preparation of programs for this important event that recalls the action that makes Delaware the First State.

Sen. J. F. Kennedy To Visit Delaware

United State Senator John F. Kennedy will make another visit to Delaware this fall. The Democratic lawmaker from New England has accepted an invitation from the Democratic Committee of Brandywine Hundred to address a state-wide banquet on Tuesday, Nov. 17, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Lee Boulevard in Wilmington.

Kennedy is no stranger to Delaware. His last visit to the state occurred during the 1958 campaign. The year previous he addressed the Democratic Party's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner and made a similar appearance in the same capacity several years before.

His forthcoming address will be delivered as part of an extensive speaking tour which is being undertaken shortly after Congress adjourns.

Brandywine Hundred chairman James Harkins, in announcing the Senator's acceptance, said he expects an audience of approximately 800 people to attend the banquet. Although sponsored by the Brandywine Hundred Democratic Committee, it is expected that Democrats and other Delawareans will be present from all parts of the state.

According to Thomas Lewis, publicity chairman for the affair, extensive plans are being made to make the banquet one of the largest and most successful ever staged in Democratic circles outside of the Jefferson-Jackson Day program.

At the present time Senator Kennedy is considered the front runner among potential candidates for the Democratic nomination for President. He has served in the United States Senate since 1952, having been re-elected last year by a margin of more than 870,000 votes.

Prior to his service in the Senate, Mr. Kennedy completed three successive terms as a member of the House of Representatives. In the 1958 campaign, Senator Kennedy became the first candidate in the history of Massachusetts to carry every city and county in the Bay State.

At the Democratic National Convention in 1956 in Chicago, Senator Kennedy came within 20½ votes of capturing his party's nomination for Vice President of the United States.

The Senator is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Labor and Public Welfare Committee, the Joint Economic Committee, the Select Committee to investigate improper activities in the labor or Management Field, and is chairman of the subcommittee on labor. He was a prominent member of the McClellan Committee during its exposure of abuses in the labor-management field.

Many additional legislative accomplishments have been credited to the Massachusetts lawmaker. In May 1958, he piloted through the Senate the Kennedy-Douglas-Ives Bill requiring full disclosure and accounting of all employee pension and welfare funds.

In the same Congress Senator Kennedy led a battle to utilize American economic aid to drive a wedge between Moscow and her European satellites, including Poland, Finland, and other captive nations. The Providence, Rhode Island, Bulletin said: "Mr. Kennedy speaks, in this instance, not only with courage but with good sense."

Senator Kennedy in the same Congress obtained Senate approval of a resolution urging U. S. support of India's efforts to stabilize its own economy. The Boston Herald, applauding this action, said: "Here is an investment opportunity which can bring not only great financial returns, but also great political and human ones. We dare not pass it up."

A major step in the 85th Congress toward saving taxpayers millions of dollars annually was enactment by Congress of the Kennedy-Byrd-Payne Bill which will revise the nation's budget and accounting system. The Hearst Newspapers said: "The kind of good news that doesn't make big headlines but affects everyone's pocket is the Senate passage of the Kennedy Bill for budgeting on a basis of accrued annual expenditure — that will be a break for the taxpayer."

Senator Kennedy made a major speech on the Senate floor in which he warned that Soviet Missile gains are shifting the world balance of power toward Russia. This speech won national acclaim. Columnist Joseph Alsop termed it "one of the most remarkable speeches on American defense and national strategy that this country has heard since the end of the last war."

Fall Lawn Seeding Suggested

Fall lawn seedings have been suggested by George K. Vapaa, county agricultural agent. Fall lawn seedings have less competition than in spring from annual weeds.

Fall seeding allows the grass to get established before hot summer weather, and it will probably have more moisture too.

The agent recommended a firm compact seeded with clods broken up. If the area has just been filled, be sure a good rain has fallen or the soil is watered down and has settled. Otherwise the land may settle unevenly, causing a poor-looking lawn. On established lawns, use a rake or similar tool to rough up at least a one-half inch of loose soil. Then sow and rake in seed, and roll or wet down to firm the soil.

Mr. Vapaa said that seeding over an old lawn without preparation is a waste of time and money, because little of the new seed will be covered. Seed should be put in not more than one-half inch deep on both new and old lawns.

Kentucky bluegrass and creeping red or Chewing's fescue make a good mixture on Delaware lawns, Mr. Vapaa said. On sunny ground, sow 75 per cent bluegrass and 25 per cent fescue. A 50-50 mixture will do well on shady spots. Apply the seed at the rate of three to four pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn.

Since both grasses are fairly slow starting add 10 per cent of red top to the mixture for more rapid growth.

No time interval is needed between seeding, fertilizing and liming lawns, the agricultural agent said. Spread 5-10-10 fertilizer before seeding at the rate of 20 pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn.

Mr. Vapaa said the lawn should be kept moist until seedlings get established. Then usual watering practices can be put into operation.

Milk is an Economical Food
Milk supplies 15 per cent of the protein in the American diet for only 11 per cent of the food dollar, according to home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith. "This is significant because protein is the most costly element in our diet," Mrs. Smith said.

Besides providing inexpensive protein, milk also supplies about 75 per cent of the calcium and 45 per cent of the riboflavin in the U. S. diet for only 15 per cent of the food bill.

Many people fail to realize that these nutrients would cost much more if milk were not available. For example, you would have to eat about 30 servings of vegetables and fruits a day—besides the usual egg, meat, bread and butter—to get the adult needs for calcium alone.

"When milk costs the consumer 25 cents a quart, it's an economical food buy," Mrs. Smith said.

Half of the protein, all of the calcium and nearly all of the riboflavin needed daily by an average adult, come with that one quart.

It was decided that the September meeting would be held in the second district, and hostesses would be Mrs. Jack Carson and Mrs. Hazel Hancock. Mrs. Concilio informed the group of the coming New Castle Republican Women's Charter Member Dinner Sept. 29th at 7 p.m. in the Hotel duPont, and also of the State Convention and Regional Conference Luncheon on October 27 in the Hotel duPont.

Southern States Co-op. Has Meeting

One way for farmers to control agriculture is through general farm organizations and cooperatives. This solution to the problem of "Will farmers control agriculture in the future?" was offered by Everett Wolfe, of Southern States Co-operative, at the Peck Bros. Farm Supply area annual membership meeting at Harrington Sept. 9.

In order to accomplish this, Mr. Wolfe said, it would be necessary for farmers to do several things:

1. Build a strong and diversified co-operative, capable of sitting at the bargaining table with big business, big labor and big government.
2. Produce what the consumer public demands, process to meet the standards set by the housewife, and control enough of the production to bargain effectively with large scale buyers.
3. Farmers must be willing to finance their co-operative to the extent to render the services they demand of it.
4. Farmers will have to equip their co-operative to serve all farmers, large or small.

Another highlight of the meeting was the elections of local board and farm home advisory committees.

Elected to the local Southern States Board were: Harry W. Minner and D. Reynolds Robbins. Elected to the local Southern State Farm Home Advisory committee: Mrs. Fred D. Martin and Mrs. Francis Winkler.

There was also the election of a delegate and 1st and 2nd alternates to a District Election Meeting to be held in Baltimore in late fall.

George W. Cain of Harrington was named as delegate while Alvin Brown of Harrington was named as alternate.

Hurry! Hurry!

With Labor Day's heavy traffic toll still fresh in our minds, it's a good time to apply some lessons of the road to the corn field, says county agricultural agent George K. Vapaa.

You often hear the sad joke about some speeding driver being "on his way to an accident." Well, the same thing applies to the farmer trying to hurry his corn picker by wrestling jammed cornstalks through it. "He's on his way to an accident."

Thousands of American farmers take the trip to an accident each year, right through the corn picker! Stop the machine before attempting to unclog it, Mr. Vapaa says. It will take you longer but you will be around longer too. Just as with automobiles, take a little more time being careful and live a lot longer, and in one piece.

"North by Northwest" at Reese Theatre Sept 18-22

In July, the management of the Reese Theatre promised Delaware and Maryland theatre fans a grand paraded of super hits during August and September. Each week outstanding hits were presented at Movie center to the enjoyment of those who desired the best in entertainment.

And now, according to the management the degree has been reached, both in keeping a promise, as well as reaching the highest point on the top-most rung of superior entertainment.

It is with great pride and pleasure that the Reese Theatre has the privilege to present the two top hits on the Parade of hits—Cary Grant, Eva Marie Saint, and James Mason in Alfred Hitchcock's, "North by Northwest", Fri., Sept. 18 thru Sept. 22, for five glorious days and James Stewart and Lee Remick in the sensational "Anatomy of a Murder" Sept. 24 thru Sept. 29. Auto Accident Severs Pole

Bridgeville state police said that a car driven by Carl L. Moore, 24, of 408 South New Street, Dover, went off the road a half mile south of Felton and rammed a telephone pole with such force that the pole was severed. The accident occurred about 12:45 a. m. Sunday.

A passenger in the car, Elsie M. Everett, 18, of Felton, was admitted to the Milford Memorial Hospital with cuts of the forehead and injuries to the left knee.

Moore, a soldier stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., was fined $200 and costs by Magistrate Elmer R. Poynter of Felton on a drunk driving charge.

4 Men Indicted By Kent Jury

Four men were indicted by the Kent County Grand Jury Monday at the start of the September term of Superior Court at Dover.

Because of a large backlog of cases it appears that this term will be one of the busiest in years. Judge Andrew D. Christie Monday morning listed 23 civil cases and 13 criminal cases for trial and will review the trial list today when more cases may be added.

Indicted by the grand jury were:

Roy W. Dennis, 22, of Harrington, on a charge involving the robbery of a watch and $85 from Sgt. Arnold Gallant last Aug. 2 at the Caravan Motel, Dover.

Miles M. Edge, 22, of Dover, on a charge of manslaughter by automobile in the death of Roger L. Kinnamon, 24, of Goldsboro, Md., last July 12 near Harrington.

Robert L. Smith, 19, of Dover, on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Smith allegedly cut Pfc. William L. Spence of the Dover Police Department with a knife, the wound required nine stitches.

Paul K. Kircher, 20, now in jail in Rensselaer, N. Y., after conviction of burglary, on a charge of burglary last March at a Dover service station.

Civil trials are to begin Monday while George R. Wright, deputy attorney general, indicated that criminal trials will begin Oct. 5.

Monday morning John Wesley Wiggins, 35, who on July 19 was sentenced to three years in jail on a charge of escaping, had his sentence reduced to two years on orders of Judge James B. Carey, associate judge of Superior Court for Sussex County, who sentenced him.

The reduction was announced by Judge Christie, who mentioned that Monday was the last day such a cut in the sentence could be made.

He quoted Judge Carey as saying it was the first time in his 13 years as a judge that he had changed a sentence. No reason was given.

Wiggins walked out of a magistrate's office while awaiting trial on a criminal charge and was later caught.

Vandalism is a Problem for SHD

Vandalism is presenting a problem for the State Highway Department in the maintenance of the recreation areas along the water front in Sussex county, according to reports being received by the department.

While many thousands of the visitors to these areas have followed the regulations, as posted on signs throughout the areas, it has been evident that some others have not done so.

Likewise there have been numerous instances of, vandalism taking place at some of the picnic areas constructed along the main highways for the benefit of the traveling public.

In order to have fires for outdoor "cook-outs", legs have been broken off of picnic tables and about 1500 feet of snow fence has been destroyed for this purpose.

Persons using charcoal burners have dumped the still burning hot coals on the sand, placing a light covering of sand over them and then left them still burning. There have been instances of persons burning their feet while walking over the area where this burning charcoal has been placed in the sand.

To overcome this difficulty the Highway Department is installing partially buried drums, at various points, for persons using these charcoal burners to place their hot coals when they are finished using their fires.

Likewise there have been instances of fires located on picnic tables and burning into the wood on the tables, at times making them useless for other purposes.

Granges have placed a number of these picnic tables at points throughout the state and others have been erected by the Highway Department along the highways and at the recreation areas.

When this equipment is damaged by one party it becomes difficult for other groups, desiring to use these facilities to have the benefit of them.

Embers from a fire blowing along the sand dunes could start a fire that would be very difficult to stop and for that reason the Highway Department is requesting that all persons who have a fire on these public recreation areas, be sure that the fire is completely extinguished before leaving the scene.

Judging from the comment being received by the Highway Department, through letters and other messages, a large number of persons are receiving much enjoyment from the use of these recreation areas.

A spokesman for the Highway Department said that the creation of these areas was for the benefit of the public and the thoughtless action on a part of a few persons will have to stop before it is necessary to take serious action in the matter.

Look at your hands. Like the artist's brushes, they are precious, indeed, for they, too, have given expression to many creative ideas.
