

POLICE SALARIES RAISED; COUNCIL EYES DELINQUENT WATER ACC'TS

The salaries of the police force were raised and the city manager was instructed to exercise his right to turn off the water of persons delinquent in paying water rentals at the October meeting of the City Council Thursday of last week.

The police officers were given an increase of $5 per week. The new schedule of salaries is as follows: Chief of Police Ernest Kohnland, $70; Patrolman Louis O. Bowden, $62.50, and Patrolman Donald Black, $55. The Council voted the increase after it was revealed the local department had been working longer hours and at less wages than police did in some nearby communities.

The police report revealed 41 arrests, for September, with $677.50 in fines after costs had been deducted.

On the recommendation of the police chief, the Council turned over to the Police Commission the consideration of the installation of a blinker light at Mechanic and Fleming Streets.

Delinquencies in water accounts amount to $94, for the first quarter of this year; $484.75, for the second quarter. The delinquents have received first and second notices. The Council requested City Manager Norris C. Adams to use his authority and turn off the water.

Other business: The Council motioned to request the State Board of Health to inspect the general area of Thorpe Street. It was mentioned that, in one place, sewage from a house was running on the ground.

Motion to pay Tri-State Concrete Company, Seaford, for curbing on Grant Street and to bill residents for one-half of the bill.

Motion to place streetlight in front of St. Bernadette's R. C. Church on Dixon Street.

Considered petition of residents of Smith Avenue, Harrington Manor, to curb and blacktop street. Petitioners said they would pay half the cost of curb. The petition will be considered for 1940.

Motioned to pay the current for ornamental lighting of streets, during the Christmas season, and to give proceeds of parking meters, the two weeks preceding Christmas, to the Chamber of Commerce for the Yuletide fund.

Professor Talks in Kent

Dr. Ray E. Keesey, professor of speech and dramatic arts at the University of Delaware, emphasized six essential points basic to effective communication at a general meeting of the Kent County Education Association here Monday night.

Approximately 125 members and guests heard the talk in the Harrington Special School.

Necessary for effective communication, said Dr. Keesey, are: 1. Identity with the situation at hand; 2. Democratic leadership; 3. Maximum participation of all concerned; 4. Security of the group; 5. Prevalence of open communication; and 6. Better or more intelligent listening on the part of all concerned.

Alan Rutledge, president of the Kent County Education Association, presided. The meeting was preceded by a reception in the school cafeteria where music was provided by the Harrington Music Department under the direction of Melvin Brobst.

J. C. Messner, superintendent of the Harrington Special School District, extended greetings and introduced the guest speaker.

The New Look At Trinity Methodist Church

Trinity Methodist Protestant Church of Harrington, was organized in 1880, with a membership of fifty. Services were held in what was then called "the old school house", located on the South East corner of Dorman and Mechanic Streets.

The first church building was dedicated on August 19, 1881, by the Rev. T. H. Lewis, the Rev. R. S. Rowe, and the Rev. John E. Nicholson of Wilmington. The church, which was built on the site of the present City Hall, was a neat frame building and cost two thousand, two hundred dollars.

In 1883, the need for a parsonage was expressed by the members and a committee was appointed to buy a lot. The committee was made up of the following members: E. T. Booth, William H. Knox, Thomas J. Smith, Andrew Allen, and W. J. Barwick. The lot, located on Mechanic St., was bought for $325, and the late Joseph Ward surveyed it and executed the deed free of charge. The building committee for the parsonage was as follows: E. T. Booth, Henry Knox, W. C. Wright, W. C. Quillen, and W. H. Morris. The parsonage was built that same year and was used until 1917. It is now owned by Mrs. Fred B. Greenly.

On July 2, 1900, the Methodist Protestant Church was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware.

In April, 1903, the trustees called a special membership meeting for the purpose of considering church improvements and repairs. After some discussion it was decided to build a new church rather than spend a lot of money on the old one. By May 13, $2800 had been contributed toward the new church and a Building Committee was named as follows: William J. Potter, William T. Smith, Alfred Raughley, Benjamin Knox, and Arlington (Arlie) L. Wix. Two lots on Commerce Street were purchased from Sapp and Raughley and plans for the new church went ahead rapidly under the leadership of the Rev. N. O. Gibson.

The cornerstone of the new church was laid December 4, 1904, by Dr. F. T. Little, president of the Maryland Annual Conference assisted by the Rev. G. W. Haddaway, pastor of Star Methodist Protestant Church, Baltimore and the Rev. N. O. Gibson, pastor of the Harrington M. P. Church.

On October 15, 1905, the last services were held in the old church.

On October 2, 1905 the new church was dedicated free of debt. Dr. F. T. Tagg, the Rev. J. M. Gill, the Rev. W. S. Phillips, and the Rev. E. K. Jones visited with us that day. The Rev. J. H. Beauchamp of the Harrington Methodist Episcopal Church was also present and assisted in the dedicatory service. The trustees at the time of the building were as follows: S. L. Shaw, W. J. Potter, C. A. Smith, Ora C. Sapp, A. L. Wix, W. B. Turner, W. A. Smith, A. C. Creadick, A. J. Kenney, J. A. Smith, B. Tharp, Sr., and J. H. Outten.

The old church and its furnishings were sold in 1906 and the building was used by the Fire Company until it was torn down and the present City Hall built on the site.

In 1916, during the pastorate of the Rev. N. C. Clough, the members decided that there should be a parsonage next to the church, and a building committee was named: W. A. Smith, O. C. Sapp, A. C. Creadick, and the Rev. N. C. Clough. The parsonage was completed in 1917 and the Rev. Chauncey E. Day was the first minister to live in it.

In 1924, when the Rev. George A. Morris was the pastor, new carpeting was laid and the pipe organ was installed.

On March 14, 1926, fire, caused by an over-heated furnace, broke out in the basement of the church. The floors above and the wainscoting were burned and the windows, furniture, organ, and carpet were badly damaged by smoke and water. Sunday school and church services were held on the second floor of Passmore's Hall for about a month.

That same year, Mrs. Elvia Smith Sapp generously gave to the Rev. N. C. Clough. The parsonage was completed in 1917 and the Rev. Chauncey E. Day was the first minister to live in it.

Vernon Thefts Suspect Found Guilty By Jury

Jess Clyde Draper, 53, of near Harrington, was found guilty of a charge of third-degree burglary by a jury of six men and six women before Judge Andrew D. Christie in Superior Court Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Christie deferred imposition of sentence, continuing Draper under his present bond in the meantime.

Draper was accused of forcing an entry into the home of William Lofland in the settlement of Vernon, about five miles west of Harrington, on Feb. 1 and taking an electric clock, a radio and canned goods.

His defense was that he did not commit a breaking and entering but that the door of the Lofland home, where he was a frequent visitor, was open while the Loflands were away.

Draper's arrest followed interrogation by investigating state police of the Bridgeville Troop. The jury deliberated only 14 minutes before returning to the court room with its verdict.

Jack P. White was attorney for Draper. Deputy Atty. Gen. George R. Wright prosecuted the case.

Harrington High Eleven Downs Lord Baltimore, 19-6

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Bill Smith's Harrington High football Lions upset Lord Baltimore High 19-6 on the losers Ocean View gridiron Saturday afternoon.

The victory gives the locals a 2-1 overall record and a 1-1 log in the Blue Hen Conference play. Lord Baltimore with a seasoned team had ruled the favorite but the Lions led by their will-o'-the-wisp quarterback Jim Temple, were in control from the middle of the first quarter. Incidentally, 125 pounds is plenty wisp for the pigskin sport.

The Sussex Countians started off as if they intended to turn the contest into a rout by taking the opening kick-off and marching down the field to score. Phillips and Megee, who have been hard for the Lions to handle for three years, did most of the work. Megee swept end for a long gain and Phillips hit the line for the score.

Harrington's backfield proved to have an ace at each position. Balderson and Collision were consistent up the middle. Pfeiffer on reverses and Temple with end sweeps and passes also gave the Lords plenty of trouble.

Temple passed to end Leonard Masten, who eluded two tacklers and carried a third into the end zone with him. The quarterback then hit Ken Konesey all alone in the end zone, for the extra point to make the score 7-6 Harrington.

In the second quarter the Lions were set back by penalties three times in one drive but kept it alive until fruition. Temple with excellent timing and at least three gears in his change of pace swept end for 35 yards and a T. D. for a 13-6 halftime score. He also completed two passes in this surge, while Balderson and Collision were pounding the L.B.H. line.

The locals opened the second half with a full head of steam gaining almost at will. Pfeiffer on a reverse appeared to be down several times but spinning like a whirling dervish added several more yards before finally being brought to earth. A pair of 15-yard penalties halted H.H.S. but Collision surprised Lord Baltimore with a 55 yard kick that put them deep in their own territory. The speedy Megee then attempted his patented, ground-gaining sweep but was hit by Bill Porter and then Balderson behind the line for a loss. The husky Collision then jarred the quarterback into a fumble which was recovered by Walt Lekites. Temple passed to end Konesey, who made a circus catch on the enemy 31 for a first down.

The elusive Temple swept end a little later for 20 yards and the final tally. Lekites helped end the last host threat by lassoing a passer before he could get rid of the leather.

Harrington entertains Millsboro Saturday afternoon in a Henlopen Conference clash. Millsboro defeated Lord Baltimore 26-0. On the basis of comparative scores they must rule the favorite over H.H.S. However, Harrington will have a chance if they can stop the speedy visitor's backs, three of whom can break 10.9 in the 100 yd. dash.

TAYLOR HARDWARE BEGINS WORK ON NEW STORE AT PRESENT SITE

Taylor Hardware store has begun an improvement program which will see the replacement of its frame structure, at Commerce and Dorman Streets, by one of concrete blocks.

The work calls for the demolition of the wooden building, long a landmark housing hardware businesses operated by various owners.

Business will continue as usual, since only a section of the building will be demolished and rebuilt at a time.

A section of the firm formerly housed Wheeler's TV and Radio Shop. Years previously, this portion housed Johnson's Jewelry Shop. The proprietor was the late Luther Johnson, husband of Mrs. Beatrice Johnson.

It is anticipated that the first section of the new building, a distinct improvement to the downtown business area, will be ready for occupancy by Christmas. It is believed that the final part of the building program will begin next spring.

In 1916, during the pastorate of the Rev. N. C. Clough, the members decided that there should be a parsonage next to the church, and a building committee was named: W. A. Smith, O. C. Sapp, A. C. Creadick, and

1960 White House Conference To Get Underway Nov. 7 at Dover

(Editor's note: The growing needs of this state's increasing numbers of young people and how these needs can be met now and in the future is the concern of the forthcoming White House Conference on Children and Youth. This article is the first of three describing the relationship of Delawareans to this "greatest single undertaking of our time in behalf of our young people." This series has been prepared by Mrs. Edwin L. Wiederrecht, a member of the communications committee for the conference.)

On Sat., Nov. 7, an estimated 1000 Delawareans—representing a nearly equal number of the state's many private organizations and public agencies—will meet in Dover to ponder the problems of preparing today's children for life in tomorrow's world.

It is not a school conference and it is not a conference about juvenile delinquency, although both are among the subjects that will come up for thoughtful consideration. This conference concerns instead the urgent across-the-board needs of all our children—from infancy through the school years and wherever and wherever they may be in Delaware.

however, is a complete project in mind.

Since last April, over 200 men, women, and young people from throughout the state—representing schools, health services, welfare agencies, religious groups, youth groups, and many civic and service organizations interested in young people—have been working on conference preparations.

This task force, divided into six survey teams, has concentrated its studies on various aspects of two basic questions concerning children and youth: What has happened in the 10 years since Delaware participated in the 1950 White House Conference—in progress, changing needs, and needs still unmet? And what are the urgent actions to be taken in behalf of children and youth in the next 10 years?

It will be the prerogative of those attending the Dover conference to discuss and evaluate these preliminary reports, to make recommendations for future activity, and to help translate these recommendations into action during the months and years to come.

It Takes Leadership

George Ehinger, Dover, chairman of the Delaware Commission on Children and Youth, is chairman of the conference. Mrs. Thomas Herlihy, Jr., Wilmington, is co-chairman. Co-ordinating all conference activities as executive secretary is Miss Margarite H. Burnett, director of adult education, State Department of Public Instruction.

Among those working with these three is a 100-member state committee, serving on invitation from Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, honorary chairman, plus at least 100 others on subcommittees. Represented are leaders from both professional and voluntary groups.

National Participation

Delaware has a part in planning the Washington conference also. Mrs. Herlihy and Dr. Alfred R. Shands, Jr., director of the Alfred I. duPont Institute, are members of a 93-member national committee named by the President. Since members are not chosen on a strict state basis, more than one representative from Delaware is a tribute to the ability of these two as well as to the vigor with which the First State has participated in past White House Conferences.

An estimated 6000 delegates from 54 states and territories and the District of Columbia will take part in the Washington meeting. At least 24 of those delegates will be from Delaware, including a minimum of three in the 16 to 21 age bracket. Allotment of state representation is according to population. Others from the state, however, may be designated as delegates from national organizations. Also, Delaware's governor and congressional representatives are expected to attend—just as state legislators are especially invited to the Dover conference.

How Delaware Benefits

So, as Delaware moves ahead in preparation for two White House Conferences—one state and one national, progress is anticipated on four fronts:

Sharper insight into the needs of today's children and youth.

A "new day in Delaware" in services to children and youth.

Pinpointing of over-all youth needs in the nation.

And learning how other states meet their problems.

Objective of the conference is to find new, better, and more ways to improve the opportunities for each child to reach his full potential for a satisfying and creative life.

The name of this earnest undertaking is the 1960 Delaware White House Conference on Children and Youth, usually shortened to "The Delaware Conference" or "The White House Conference."

Behind the name is a story that goes back 50 years.

The early part of this century saw an awakening among people everywhere to the problems of other people—and a feeling of responsibility to do something about those problems. One instance of this was a 1908 magazine defunct for 20 years but then at the height of its readership. Subject of the articles was the plight of orphaned children, and the magazine editor and author was Theodore Dreiser—better known among today's adults for his two-volume novel "An American Tragedy" (movie version).

The article series in problems of homeless children provoked much discussion and many letters to the editor. About such things, however, a magazine is limited in what it can do. People can do anything.

Mr. Dreiser called on Theodore Roosevelt, then the White House incumbent, to plead the children's case. So impressed was the President that on Christmas Day he personally addressed 200 invitations requesting people from all over the nation to a White House Conference in January of 1909.

That first conference led to the establishment of the United States Children's Bureau in 1912, enactment of child labor laws, and organization of the first national voluntary agency concerned with the welfare of children.

Each decade since, a White House Conference on Children and Youth has been called by Presidents, Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover, Frank D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, and now by Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Each conference has focused on needs affecting the well-being of the next generation, and each has brought some measure of progress—both nationally and locally—in meeting these changing needs.

How Delaware Participates

Delaware's conference is preliminary to the week-long Sixth White House Conference which begins next March 27 in Washington. The state conference,

Soybeans Might Be Stored At a Profit

This may be a good winter to store soybeans for sale next spring or summer, according to W. T. McAllister, extension agricultural economist with the University of Delaware.

A 1959 production cutback in national production should help to keep prices above the $1.80-per-bushel support level in the next crop year, McAllister said.

"Supply and demand conditions indicate a larger price increase this winter than we have had during the last three years," he said.

McAllister thinks prices should go up more than enough to pay storage costs between harvest and next May or June.

Recent research shows that farm soybean storage for nine months costs about 12 to 15 cents per bushel. This charge includes handling costs, interest on the soybeans while in storage, taxes, insurance and quality loss in storage.

A recent nation-wide report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Service, estimated this year's soybean crop at 532 million bushels—seven per cent below 1958. The support price in Delaware dropped from $2.04 to $1.80 per bushel this year. However, acreage of soybeans in Delaware is up.

The specialist mentioned several soybean trends:

"Production and use have gone up nearly 50 per cent in the last five years. Utilization has kept pace with production, even this year's record 50-million-bushel carryover is only 10 per cent of the expected annual production."

Processing plants are expanding and the trade expects to be able to crush the 500 million bushels by next year, a 10 per cent increase in capacity over 1959.

"The export market which takes a large part of Delaware's production is growing rapidly. Drought in Communist China—a leading exporter—may boost America's exports even higher."

The government holds 70-80 per cent of the nation's soybeans carryover from last year. The Commodity Credit Corporation's sales policy—likely to be announced around Oct. 1—should influence fall and winter prices.

Social Security Notes

Beginning in October 1959 farmers will have social security disability protection for the first time. That date can be an important one for any farmer who becomes severely disabled in October or later months.

Although many severely disabled people in the Kent-Sussex County area are now receiving disability insurance benefits under social security, farmers have not been able to qualify up until this time, according to Edward F. Sullivan, manager of the local social security office.

A disabled person has to have social security credit for 5 years in the 10 years immediately before he became disabled. Because farmers were not covered under the law until January, 1955, they could not meet this test.

By now, however, most farmers will have earned 5 years or 20 quarters of coverage under social security beginning with the month of October.

This does not mean that farmers can be paid disability benefits for the month of October because the law still requires that a person be disabled for six months or more before payments can be made. But it does mean that the farmer who becomes disabled in October or later can meet the work requirements of the law and become eligible for benefits after six months.

Homecoming at St. Johnstown

St. Johnstown Methodist Church, one mile east of Greenwood, will hold its annual homecoming service Oct. 25, at 2:30 p.m. The speaker of the afternoon will be the Rev. Tomas J. Turkington, pastor of Grace Church, Denton. The Rev. Turkington has been minister at Grace Church since 1931. Outstanding music will also be offered by the speaker as well as other talented musicians.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran who died of an injury received during his wartime service. I receive a check each month from VA. Will this check in any way be affected by the new pension law?

A—No. The new law applies only to pensions, based on non-service-connected disabilities and deaths. It does not in any way affect compensation payments made to veterans and others on account of service-connected disabilities and deaths.

Q—For personal reasons I could not enter school this fall under the Korean GI Bill, but plan to begin with the spring semester. My three-year deadline for starting training will be up before then, however. Is it all right to apply before my deadline and actually start my studies with the spring semester, as I plan?

A—No. This would not be possible, under the law. The law requires veterans to begin actual training within three years from date of discharge.

Q—I've got to sell my house because of a move outside the city, and I have a buyer who will assume the balance of my GI loan. In applying to VA for a release of liability, will there be any charges involved, and if so, who must pay them?

A—Either you or the prospective purchaser must pay for a credit report on the purchaser, and the costs of recording of the Assumption Agreement and Release, if recording is necessary.

This is a good time to apply 2, 4-D because many ornamental plants that might be injured by accidental drift of the spray are going into the dormant stage now and are less likely to be damaged.

Five teaspoons of 2, 4-D per gallon of water applied on each 1000 square feet of lawn will do the job. The same treatment can be made in March if you want an excuse for not doing it now, but "now" is always a better time.

Three consecutive years of this treatment will eradicate wild garlic and onion from your lawn Mr. Vapaa said.

PRESENTING AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

THE IMPERIAL OF 1960

Today, at showrooms across America, we introduce the totally new... totally wonderful Imperial.

It is built more carefully, tested more thoroughly, than any other car which has been or will be introduced this year. It requires more individual handcrafting than other cars. It takes longer to build... because the skills which build it are the kind that can't be hurried. It has brought automotive craftsmanship back to America.

The new instrument panel has bold, readable calibrations... logically placed controls... and a remarkable new Panelescent lighting which aids vision and depth perception at night by eliminating glare and reflection.

New swivel seats turn automatically as the door is opened. An exclusive, improved Auto-Pilot tends the accelerator on long trips (two very practical options)...

When you drive our Imperial of 1960, we think you will agree it proves one satisfying point... that a fine car can be almost awesomely impressive, and still be a vivid, engaging personality... a good companion as well as an obedient servant.

Compare Imperial's riding quality, space and comfort... ease of entry and exit, front and rear... driving liveliness... and learn that it is, in luxurious fact, the finest car America has yet produced.

Rally day to be observed on Sunday.

Arrangements are being completed for the annual rally day service to be held in the church this Sunday at 10 a.m. The service will conclude at 11:15. Due to the Rally Day there will be no regular morning worship service this Sunday. However, a regular schedule of evening services will be conducted, according to an announcement by the Rev. Miller.

Among other things, the Rally Day service will include selections by the choir, and an address by Dr. William H. Neff, general superintendent, Western Area of the Pilgrim Holiness Church. Rally Day souvenirs will be distributed to all who attend.

Members and friends of the church are busy this week working on a plan to fill the church. Hopes are running high that our attendance will reach the 350 mark, thus setting a new record. Last year the Rally Day attendance reached the 313 mark.

Those participating in the program that begins at 7 o'clock are: Mrs. Thelma Miller, Shirley Eilers, Roger Eilers, Owain Gruwell, Kay Moore, Raymond Brown, Regenia Brown, Patsy Bonniwell and Robert Bonniwell.

Lectures on personal evangelism and house to house visitation will be presented in the local Pilgrim Holiness Church Thurs., Oct. 15, by Leonard Whipple and William Marino, lay speakers from Battle Creek, Mich. These men will be on a speaking tour in the Eastern District for a two week period, and the Harrington Church will be host to the Dover, Milford, Greenwood and Pearson's Corner Churches for this service. The service will begin at 7:30. Mr. Whipple is a cost ana-

Delaware Food Market Report

Large displays of apples and grapes (emphasize fall is here). Harvesting of Delaware apples has already started and from the look of things there are, and will be, plenty of apples to buy this fall. The peak of supply for Delaware apples will be within the next week. Supplies of locally-grown apples will continue good until January, however. The varieties that the particularly abundant are Golden Delicious, Red Delicious, Stayman and later on, Rome. There are other apples on the market now also, such as: McIntosh, Jonathans, and Greenings. All are good. The quality of most apples is good to excellent, and prices are reasonable.

Grapes to check this weekend are Tokay, Thompson Seedless, and Concord. There are plentiful now, quality is good, prices low.

Other fruits that are on the good buy list this weekend are: grapefruit, as low as 6 for 35 cents in some stores; Valencia Oranges, 3 dozen for $1; lemons, 39 cents a dozen; melons particularly honeydew averaging 59 cents each, and western cantaloupes 3 for $1.

More fall and winter vegetables are arriving at local markets each day. Sweet potatoes are plentiful now and deserve special attention. Quality is good to excellent and prices low—averaging three pounds for 22 cents. These potatoes not only contribute color and distinctive flavor to meals, but also supply vitamins. For instance, the soft-fleshed, orange-yellow sweet potatoes have an exceptionally high Vitamin A value—one average sized potato supplies more than twice the amount of vitamin A an adult needs daily. They are high in vitamin C also—so use sweet potatoes often, not only for delicious eating, but for health sake also.

White potatoes, winter squash, carrots, yellow onions and green beans are vegetables to check since all are good buys this week. Tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers and lettuce have all gone up a bit in price.

The meat picture is very much as it was last week, with a fairly wide variety of meats to choose from. Weekend special remain the best opportunity to save money. Many beef cuts are featured again this weekend.

Lamb is also a good buy—remember the lamb is not made up of leg-of-lamb and rib chops—try some of the less known cuts. They are equally as good and cost a great deal less. Pork and Poultry continue to be good buys.

Persons attaining a qualifying score will be given the Navy's rigid midshipman physical examination next February. From the pool of qualified candidates remaining in competition, approximately 1600 young men will be selected for appointment as midshipmen and will enroll in one of the 52 colleges of their choice where a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit is located.

The regular NROTC is maintained for one purpose—to train and educate young men for ultimate commissioning as career officers in the Navy and Marine Corps. Successful candidates will start their Naval careers in colleges and universities across the nation in 1960. After a normal college education and substantial Navy training, graduates will be commissioned as regular officers in the Navy or Marine Corps.

For those who apply and qualify, assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

Features of the program include: Payment of tuition, fees, and books for four years. Payment of fifty dollars per month for four years. Midshipmen uniforms. Three interesting and educational cruises with units of the Navy's fleets. Draft deferment. Commission in the regular Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

Applications for this program leading to a career in the naval service are available from Ernest Minka, guidance counselor of Caesar Rodney High School.

Burns High in Kitchen Accidents

Scalds and burns rank high among kitchen accidents, reports Miss Patricia A. Middleton, home management specialist at the University of Delaware. Here are a few precautions that can help you prevent household tragedies.

Try to keep children out of the line of traffic while you are working in the kitchen. A gate at the kitchen door will keep small children out and reduce risks while you're using hot water or fat for cooking, Miss Middleton said.

Make it a habit to turn handles of all pots and pans toward the back of the range or table; never let them extend over the edge for children to pull off.

Be careful where you put electrical equipment. A cord dangling from a percolator or toaster invites inspection by youngsters. Keep it well out of reach.

Avoid the possibility, too, of tripping over cords that may upset mixers, heaters, or other electrical equipment.

Use only safety matches if there are children in your family and provide a non-flammable receptacle for burned matches. It may save a life.

Kent Home Doings

You Can Save Your Husband's Life!

You've heard the old saying, "Clothes make the man." Well, it could also say, "clothes kill the man."

"If your husband is working with corn pickers or around any machinery with belts, chains, spinning shafts and the like, see to it that he doesn't go to work with floppy torn pants legs or with loose threads dangling," warns county home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith.

Even what appears to be a smooth shaft can gobble up a thread, then the rest of the pants leg that contains friend husband.

"A man running a corn picker should wear snug-fitting clothes that won't catch. Watch your husband to see that he doesn't wear double-thumb gloves," Mrs. Smith said.

They are made to order for corn pickers to grab. No gloves at all are safest but if bad weather makes them necessary he should wear cloth ones without floppy gauntlets. Leather gloves are not so good either, they are too hard to get off if they should get caught.

"Don't put off mending those flopping shirt-sleeves and pants legs another day or the doctor may have to do the mending," Mrs. Smith added.

Prepare Garden For Frost

Are you and your garden ready for winter? The average date of the first killing frost in northern Delaware varies from October 15 to October 28, according to the exact location.

It's time to expect a killing frost most any night, Mrs. Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist with the University of Delaware warns.

There are many jobs to be completed in the flower and vegetable garden before this first frost.

For example: sweet potatoes should be dug just before frost. If they are nipped by frost, dig them right away to prevent rotting of the tubers. Dig carefully to avoid bruising.

Broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower and brussels sprouts will continue growing even after a frost. Broccoli will withstand temperatures as low as 24 degrees or 25 degrees F, Stevens said. These crops should continue to produce until Thanksgiving.

Spinach and kale are winter hardy and will live over the winter. Harvest what is needed this fall and leave the rest in the ground to pick this winter and early spring.

Turms and rutabagas need not be harvested until after Thanksgiving.

Carrots and beets will withstand considerable frost too. They can usually be left in the ground until Christmas.

Tender crops such as tomatoes, peppers, lima beans and snap beans are susceptible to even a slight frost. Harvest all the remaining crop immediately. It is possible to store tomatoes for a period of two to five weeks, Stevens said.

Select perfect green tomatoes with no disease spots, cracks, or other imperfection. Wrap each tomato separately in wax paper and place in a box not over two layers deep. The box should be stored in a cool, dry place of 40 degrees to 50 degrees F. Remove tomatoes a few days before they are needed and ripen in a sunny window.

If you have enough snap beans and lima beans that have dried on the vines you can save them. First shell out the beans, and then heat in the oven at 130 degrees for 30 minutes. This heating process is necessary to destroy weevils, Stevens said. Store in fruit jars or other containers in a cool, dry place.

Winter squash and pumpkins should be picked soon, too. Be sure to leave about two inches of stem attached when removing the fruit from the vines. Store on shelves in a warm, dry place.

Apple Crop Above Average

Homemakers will be able to pack lots of apples in school lunches and bake plenty of apple pies this fall, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. He said there will be plenty of apples to buy this fall, as the national apple crop will be above average.

The harvest has already started in Delaware. The height of the harvest season will be within the next 10 days. Supplies of Delaware-grown apples will continue good until the first of January.

Predictions are for excellent quality apples, Stevens said. Early-harvested Delaware apples are lighter colored than usual. This lightness is due to the heat of the past few weeks and does not affect eating quality. With the approach of cool nights, the red varieties will turn to more normal coloring.

Fall apple varieties that will be abundant are Golden Delicious, Red Delicious, Stayman, and later on, Rome.

Dig Gladiolus Corms Now

You can start digging your gladiolus corms late this month, according to county agent George K. Vapaa. Begin with varieties whose foliage has started to turn yellow. Regardless of foliage color however, dig all corms before the ground freezes.

First, gently loosen the ground under the corms with a spading fork. The corms will then lift out easily. Cut the tops off at the top of the corm. Store these bulbs in a warm, dry room for several weeks before cleaning them.

To clean, remove the old corm and roots from the bottom. They should snap off cleanly, Mr. Vapaa said.

Save the little "cormlets" attached, for they can be planted next year to produce new corms of the same variety. Store corms and cormlets in paper bags or a tray in a cool, dry room.

Fire Safety Check

If fire strikes your property, where will it start? What will likely cause it?

These aren't just idle questions, points out county extension agent, George K. Vapaa in a special fire prevention week message.

More than a half million American homes are destroyed or damaged by fire each year, National Fire Protection Association figures show. On the basis of the national average, some home in your general neighborhood will be involved in a fire this very year. If you want to keep fire away from your home, check what you know of fire safety.

In farm homes, faulty heating and cooking equipment start more fires than any other single cause. Actually, defective stoves and heaters, along with defective chimneys and sparks from chimneys, are responsible for almost half of all fires in farm dwellings. The problem is especially critical in the early fall season.

Careless use of gasoline and kerosene, electrical faults in wiring and appliances and light are high on the list. Careless smoking habits and children playing with matches are other important causes.

In barns and outbuildings, the major fire hazard is spontaneous ignition in hay, corn and fertilizer. Other most frequent causes are electrical faults, lightning, defective heating equipment, and careless handling of gasoline and oil.

Do these facts suggest a check up of conditions that could cause a fire in your home or the buildings?

During Fire Prevention Week make a new start towards complete fire safety on your property, and keep headed that way throughout the year, urges Mr. Vapaa.

Wool Payments in County Reach $2331.72

Payments to wool producers in Kent County Delaware under the wool incentive program for the 1958 marketing year had reached a total of $2,331.72 as of the end of August, according to Lister V. Hall Jr., of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office at Dover.

This represents substantially the total amount of incentive payments to be received by local growers for wool and unshorn lambs marketed between April 1, 1958 and March 31, 1959. About 21 applications for wool payments and 13 applications for lamb payments were filed before the deadline last spring.

Shorn wool payments for the 1958 marketing year amount to 70.3 per cent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them is $1.02 per hundredweight of live animals sold.

The national wool program is designed to increase production of shorn wool through incentive payments to producers. The program is now in its fifth year.

Fertilize Lawn Now Says Agent

Now is a good time to fertilize your lawn according to George K. Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Use about 15 to 20 pounds of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 ratio fertilizer on each 100 square feet of lawn, he suggested. Apply the fertilizer when the grass is dry and keep it off the leaves of shrubs and flowers.
