

Expansion Program Approved For Harrington Schools

The Harrington Special School District faces a serious problem in its educational future.

The Pierre S. duPont school is overcrowded and the classrooms are serving 32 pupils in the primary room, 47 in the intermediate room, and 39 in grades 7 and 8.

The high school is filled to capacity and the Junior High School carry some classes of 35 pupils. The facilities are crowded to the limit.

A program for expansion was presented to the State Board of Education for its approval. At the recent meeting of the State Board, it approved the request and included $500,000 for a new Pierre S. duPont.

Prior procedure has been that monies for negro schools are legislated on the 100 per cent basis. $1,200,000 was included for a high school for 300 pupils. These monies are normally appropriated on a 40-60 per cent basis.

The local board is proceeding to and shall, upon proper verification by the Legislature, present for the approval or disapproval a referendum for the bonding privilege to erect a new high school.

Within the next few months the arrangements for ballots should be available to the district.

Stole Clothing, Later Arrested, Sent to Jail

Charles Wesley Carroll, 45, of Greenwood, was shopping at the Poplar Tailors, New and Division Streets, Dover, about 7 p.m. Saturday when he left the place with some unpaid clothing.

Carroll was seeking a suit, coat, underwear and socks. He picked out the underwear and socks and then tried on the suit and coat which met with his approval but when Sidney Jacobs, the proprietor, would not accept Carroll's check in payment for the items there was quite an argument.

Finally Carroll removed the suit and coat and left the store, taking the underwear with him. Jacobs quickly notified city police and later issued a warrant for Carroll's arrest.

The information was broadcast to police patrolmen and later Saturday evening a police officer observed Carroll about to enter a building on Looeckerman Street and took him into custody.

At a trial before Magistrate George K. Shockley Carroll was found guilty of petty larceny and a fine of $25, plus costs, was imposed. In default of payment he was sent to jail for ten days.

State Jobs Cut 1,400 in Month

Non-farm employment in Delaware was off 1400 jobs last month, mainly because of the steel strike, seasonal layoffs in food processing and the end of the racing season at Brandywine Park.

At the same time, to total of 151,200 employed in non-farm jobs in Delaware in October was 5800 more than in the same month last year.

The figures were reported Monday by Albert Stetser, chairman-executive director of the Delaware Unemployment Compensation Commission, who said that in the month from mid-September to mid-October, manufacturing employment dropped 600 jobs while non-manufacturing jobs declined by 800.

Among the non-manufacturing classes of employment the biggest change was in the service group, where jobs dropped 1000 because of the closing of the race track. Seasonal inactivity in construction caused loss of another 100 jobs, but jobs in wholesale and retail trade were up 300.

Among the manufacturing firms there was a decline in the month of 1600 jobs in non-durable goods industries, because of seasonal layoffs in food processing. This, moreover, balanced a gain of 1000 in the durable goods.

Son Born to Mr. And Mrs. Robert Jester

A son was born early Wednesday evening, Nov. 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jester in Milford Memorial Hospital. The youngster has been named Darrell Tracy Jester. Mrs. Jester is the former Mary Hill.

SCHOOL BOARD CITES MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Earlier orientation and re-furnishing procedures were continued at the meeting of the Harrington Special School District Board of Education Thursday evening, Nov. 19.

The superintendent, J. C. Messner, reported the following improvements:

1. Television purchased for use in the auditorium to be paid for by picture money receipts.
2. Pierre S. duPont school parking lot in process of completion.
3. Glass globe replacements received for field house entrance lights.
4. Flag poles restrung and painted at both schools.
5. Grates on basement windows changed to open from inside for fire protection.

E. A. Rutledge, Student Council sponsor and James McDonald, State Student Council president, and president of the local Student Council, discussed aims and duties of the Council.

The Board agreed that individual cases would be brought before it in the case of students marrying during the school year.

The Kent & Sussex County Fair was given permission to use the school facilities for its banquet Jan. 4. School will run one session that day.

The Board decided to submit a bill to the current Assembly to reimburse the district for monies spent fulfilling fire marshal's recommendations.

Charge for school facilities was reviewed and compared with other surrounding schools. A new rate sheet will be submitted to the Board for its approval at the next meeting.

Because of the crowded condition at P. S. duPont School, a teacher's aide will be sought.

The Board agreed to the faculty request to hold one session the day before Thanksgiving and the day before Christmas Eve—8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the Board will be Thursday evening, Dec. 17.

State Tourist Seekers Meet

Some 65 persons interested in promoting Delaware's tourist trade met Tuesday at Dover Hotel to exchange ideas.

Harry B. Bissell, Jr., president of the Delaware Travel Council, said it was the first meeting of its kind ever held in the state. Davis S. Hugg, Delaware State Development Department, arranged the session.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs spoke and backed the state's travel slogan, "See the First State—First—in 1960."

Speakers boosted historical spots, beaches, hunting and fishing, boating, the state forests, and even cypress bogs and sand dunes as among Delaware attractions.

The key to outdoor attraction of visitors, said Norman G. Wilder, director of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, is "good water and access to it."

Spokesmen for public camping grounds in lower Delaware and for wildlife areas said their facilities are already overcrowded and they need money to build more.

Delaware's beaches were termed the state's chief attraction to visitors by Vohnie Pearson, in charge of public lands the State Highway Department.

He said he was not anxious to see the state's public lands advertised, however, because "we can't handle any more visitors."

Comments were also offered by: Miss Dorothy Greer, associate director of Wintertur Museum; Clayton M. Hoff, executive vice president of the Brandywine Valley Association; William A. McWilliams, city manager of Rehoboth Beach; Frank J. Horty, general manager of the Delaware Memorial Bridge, and Bryan Field, general manager of Delaware Park.

Judge at Dover Hears 2 Suits

Judge Ernest V. Keith reserved decision in Court of Common Pleas Thurs. Nov. 19, in two damage suits growing out of an automobile collision on a narrow bridge in October 1958.

The plaintiff in one action is George Vincent and the defendant is Donald Dickerson. In the other action, Dickerson is the plaintiff and James P. Messick is the defendant. Dickerson and Messick were the drivers of the automobiles which figured in the accident and Vincent was a passenger in Messick's car.

Before the hearing of testimony, Judge Keith dismissed a counter suit brought by Messick against Dickerson because Messick had failed to appear in court the previous Thursday, the day originally fixed for the trial, and then failed to take advantage of an opportunity to file a motion for a reopening of his suit within the time allotted by the court.

The accident occurred on the old Marshyhope bridge in southeast Kent County, replaced by a new span. The suits raise the issue of whether Messick or Dickerson was responsible for the accident through negligence or contributory negligence.

Vincent asks $250 plus $50 for medical and other expenses incurred for treatment of his injuries. Dickerson asks about $170.

Sewer Installations Begins in Manor

Installation of sewers in Harrington Manor, and improvements of two streets elsewhere, started this week but work was held up by rain Tuesday and the Thanksgiving holiday.

The Tri-State Concrete Company, Seaford, started Monday installing lateral sewers from a trunkline on Dixon Street in the manor. The installation, the second and final phase in which the manor was to have sanitary sewers, would end with all the subdivision having access to the mains except the north side of Smith Avenue.

The entire project, part of which was completed some time ago, is to cost about $17,000, as far as the concrete company is concerned. The first phase of the project cost about $12,000. The second phase will cost about $7500, but this includes costs incidental to the sewer installation, such as surveying, etc.

The Delmarva Asphalt Company, Seaford, started scarifying Harrington Avenue, preparatory to blacktopping this week, but was stopped by the weather.

Brown Street which, with Harrington Avenue, was recently curbed, was also scheduled to be blacktopped. Whether or not the streets will be treated this fall will depend on the weather.

Harvey J. Camper Dies in Hospital

Funeral services for Harvey J. Camper, age 80, who died early Tuesday morning in the Milford Memorial Hospital, will be held at the Boyer Funeral Home, Harrington, Friday afternoon, Nov. 27, at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. Richard S. Gibson, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington.

Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

Mr. Camper was born near Harrington son of Philemon and Margaret Jane Hickman Camper and had lived here all his life.

He was a member of the firm of Camper and Wyatt, dealers in Oil and Coal and which is now operated by the Harrington Oil and Coal Company. He was at present engaged in the retail grocery business here on Commerce Street.

He was a member of Asbury Methodist Church and its Booster Sunday School Class. Also a member of the Harrington Fire Company.

He married Miss Anna Cooper.

Ted Angus, formerly master carpenter for the Pennsylvania Railroad here, died at his home in Buffalo, N. Y., Tuesday after suffering a stroke Saturday.

Funeral arrangements had not been made as The Journal went to press.

Century Club Notes

Dr. Edward Kuhlmann, of Milford was the guest speaker at the Harrington New Century Club on Tuesday when Mrs. Arnold Gilstad presented the program on "Fine Arts". Dr. Kuhlmann has become quite well known in the three years he has lived in Milford, for his landscape paintings of local scenes. He is a most pleasing painter and a very interesting speaker.

He told the group that there are several things to look for in a painting of the landscape type. One of the things that is most difficult for an artist to portray is atmosphere or air. This in effect is the recording of distance and, of course, affects the objects in the background. Another consideration is the structural simplicity of a painting. "True painting is more subtraction than addition." According to the artist,

ENGAGED

Miss Mary Lou Coverdale

Mr. and Mrs. Lindale Coverdale of Harrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lou, to William Leroy Betts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Betts, Felton. Mr. Betts, a graduate of Harrington High School, is employed by James Julian, contractor. An early January wedding is planned.

ASSEMBLY TO RETURN DEC. 2 TO ISSUE WRIT FOR ELECTION

The General Assembly will reconvene at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 2, according to an announcement by Senator Allen J. Cook (D-Kenton), president pro tem, and Speaker of the House Sherman W. Tribbitt (D-Odessa).

According to Mr. Tribbitt, the Legislature is being recalled for the purpose of issuing a writ for a special election in the Third Representative District of New Castle County.

Whether there will be any attempt to conduct other legislative business will be decided by majority caucuses.

Mr. Tribbitt said there is some doubt in the minds of a number of legislators whether the General Assembly can legally take legislative action as long as a vacancy exists.

No opinion has yet been asked of the attorney general, but a sampling of opinion among lawyers brought the unanimous view that the vacancy would be no bar to action.

Mr. Tribbitt said the writ for the special election would be issued, probably as the first order of business, and delivered the same day to the New Castle County Department of Elections, so that the election can be held Saturday, Dec. 12, as now planned. This would mean the County Board of Elections would have to meet the same day upon receipt of the writ to formally set the election on the prescribed date.

It was learned also that the General Assembly, faced in January with the necessity of drawing up a budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year, may dispense with the practice of holding detailed hearings into the requests of each agency.

Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), chairman of the 10-member Joint Finance Committee of the House and Senate, said

Two Nabbed For Stealing Shotgun

The two men who prepared for the hunting season by smashing a window in Buchanan's Firestone Store in Milford and taking a shotgun aren't going to get much use of it after all.

Tracy Butler, 27, of Lincoln and Samuel Williams, 23, of Milford, were arrested by city police over the weekend and charged with the burglary.

They were arraigned before Alderman Milton Dill who held them under $1000 bond for an appearance in the Superior Court in Kent County. In default of bond they were committed to the Kent Correctional Institution.

Police said Smith went to the Harrington police car, stole its keys, then jumped in his own car and sped away. On hearing the car leaving the office, Harrington police ran to their car, found the keys missing, then used Magistrate Callaway's car with the magistrate at the wheel.

An 80-mile-an-hour chase led toward Milford on State Route 14. Outside Harrington the speeding vehicles passed a state police car and it joined the pursuit.

The state police trooper reported that he caught up to Smith and pulled alongside him, but Smith kept trying to push the patrol car off the road.

State police said Smith stopped at the intersection of Route 14 and Route 113, and fled on foot. Police gave chase on foot. They finally flushed Smith from under a parked car.

Smith was accompanied throughout the chase by his wife and three children, the oldest of whom was 2, the youngest about two months.

When the party of officers got Smith back to court, Magistrate Callaway found him guilty and fined him on the following charges brought by Harrington police: Operating a motor vehicle without a license, $15 and costs

Cooke Admits U. S. Charge

Samuel George Cooke, 35-year-old Harrington trainer and driver of harness race horses, pleaded guilty Monday in U. S. District Court in Wilmington to a charge of passing bad checks in interstate commerce.

Judge Caleb M. Wright ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Cooke, who is currently serving a six-month term imposed by the Court of Common Pleas on worthless check charges. That sentence, pronounced Nov. 11, involved three checks for $45 each which were cashed by another man in Brandywine Hundred package liquor stores. Cooke gave them in payment of a $350 debt, according to testimony.

The federal charge against Cooke was lodged in Michigan. He consented to be prosecuted in Wilmington.

Robert P. Graham Dies in Salisbury

11 Charges Bring Term Of 410 Days

Milton man, Louis William Smith, 25, was sent to the Kent County Correctional Institution for 410 days in default of $718.50 in fines and court costs after his conviction early Sunday on 11 traffic charges. Six of the charges were placed against him by state police, and the other five were filed by Harrington town police.

Smith first ran afoul of the law, when he turned into the wrong lane of U. S. Route 13 at Harrington early Sunday morning. Harrington town police stopped him to give him a warning.

However, according to police, on being asked for a license, Smith gave a license made out to Robert Billy Cantrell, whose age is only 21. Police became suspicious and arrested Smith, taking him before Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway, Harrington, on the false license charge. They intended to hold him under bond for the night to "check him out."

Police said Smith asked to leave the court for a minute to speak to his wife sitting in his parked car outside. The permission was granted.

Police said Smith went to the Harrington police car, stole its keys, then jumped in his own car and sped away. On hearing the car leaving the office, Harrington police ran to their car, found the keys missing, then used Magistrate Callaway's car with the magistrate at the wheel.

An 80-mile-an-hour chase led toward Milford on State Route 14. Outside Harrington the speeding vehicles passed a state police car and it joined the pursuit.

'Carbon 14' Field Study Explained to Sussex Group

A new field of study for the Sussex Society of Archaeology and History, technically known as "Carbon 14", in which the age of archaeological objects may be determined by the amount of C-14 they still possess, was introduced to the members at their November meeting in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Georgetown.

Presenting the subject was Miss Elizabeth K. Ralph of the Department of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania. As guest speaker Miss Ralph illustrated her talk with slide pictures of the C-14 apparatus. She explained it is being used to reduce the objects being counted to a gaseous state of pure carbon 14.

Gives Off Electrons
This carbon 14 gas, she said gives off electrons which are counted in another set of apparatus. "All living things absorb C-14, which process stops with the death of the object, and the age of archaeological objects may be determined by the amount still remaining," she explained, adding: "the recent atomic bomb explosions have upset the normal chemical composition of the atmosphere to the extent that this factor must be taken into account when dating by this method."

Miss Ralph reported that a section of a very old Sequoia tree, two to three thousand years old,

Methodist Country House Due to Open Next Fall

Progress on construction of the Methodist Country House on the Kennett Pike, near Wilmington, is on schedule and opening of the building next September appears likely.

The Danby Memorial Chapel and the Woodcock Memorial Library, together with rooms for resident in the large structure are taking shape now, the W. D. Haddock Construction Company, general contractors, reported Monday.

The Rev. George H. Piguerson, Jr., executive director, is interviewing prospective guests at his office, 1213 Delaware Avenue.

W. Albert Haddock, president of the W. D. Haddock Construction Company, said sufficient steel is on hand, and there are no delays so far because of shortages.

The colonial structure on a 38-acre site will be able to house 170 guests, either single persons or retired couples.

Each living unit will have bathing facilities and closets. There will be a gift shop, soda fountain, game and hobby rooms, laundry facilities, beauty salon and lounges.

The infirmary, which the trustees hope will be another memorial gift, is planned to offer the services of a small hospital.

Medford Keyser Dies From Carbon Monoxide

Medford Keyser, an employee of the International Latex Company, Dover, was found dead Saturday morning at his home on the Houston-Killen's Pond Road.

Keyser, 25, whose address was Route 1, Harrington, was found in his car in a shed at the rear of his residence. A hose ran from the exhaust pipe into the car.

Discovery was made by his wife and brother-in-law, Keith Ludwig, of Mechanic Street, Harrington, after Mrs. Keyser had failed to note her husband's return from Harrington Friday evening.

Death was attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning. Keyser was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. W. T. Chipman.

State Medical Examiner Dr. E. S. Dennis, of Dover, pronounced the death a suicide.

Funeral arrangements were made by the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, with the J. Willis Wells Funeral Home, of Chestertown, Md., conducting the burial there Wednesday afternoon.

Besides his wife, Keyser is survived by a child, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Medford P. Keyser, of Chestertown.

Norris Graham Dies Suddenly

Norris Graham, 72, 201 Commerce Street, died at his home, Thurs., Nov. 19. He was a native of Harrington, son of Jacob and Eliza Graham. He was a retired businessman.

A prominent Democrat, Mr. Graham served on the Kent County Board of Elections and was committeeman at large. He was a member of Chosen Friends Lodge, 35, IOOF and an honorary member of the Harrington Fire Company and a member of Trinity Methodist Church.

Services were held from the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home Sunday afternoon.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, a son, Francis Graham, and two grandchildren of Woodcrest, near Wilmington.

Dover Electric to Build on U.S. 13

Dover Electric Supply Company has obtained a Kent County permit to erect a $40,000-building on U.S. 13, Dover. Completion date, of the cinder-block structure, is set for February.

The building will be one-story and will be 75 feet by 175 feet.

Santa Claus will arrive in Harrington Sat., Dec. 5, at 1 p.m., in a sleigh driven by Walter Messick and pulled by a burro.

A parade, led by the Harrington High School band, will start at the Quillen Shopping Center and march thru the business district to the firehouse where Santa will greet the children and give them a treat. The treats will also be given each Saturday afternoon until Christmas, and also on Christmas Eve.

Plans are being made for Cub Scouts, Brownies, and children from the elementary school to participate in the parade. They will be dressed as tin soldiers, Christmas candles, Christmas trees, angels, a sugar plum, candy sticks, brownies, and Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

Also invited, in the line of march, are the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company apparatus, the 40 & 8 locomotive, commercial vehicles, appropriate floats, and ponies.

The ornamental Christmas lighting, with the newly added tin foil, will be lighted today. The Christmas Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has received many compliments on the new feature.

The Harrington merchants will again hold drawings for merchandise, under the leadership of the Chamber. Winners need not be present.

The drawings, to be held at 8 p.m., at the Christmas tree near the Postoffice on Commerce Street, will award the following merchandise: Dec. 12, Unico $72.50 power lawnmower and boy's or girl's 26-in. bicycle; Dec. 19, full-size Beautyrest mattress and boy's or girl's 26-inch bicycle, and Dec. 23, Zenith portable T-V set and Yardster "Go Cart" Car. Other prizes will also be awarded.

Mrs. H. L. Bonham, Famington Native, Dies in Wilmington

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie Sheldrake Bonham, widow of Harry L. Bonham, were held Monday at 2 p.m. at her home, 111 Tanglewood Lane, Newark. She died Thurs., Nov. 19, in the Delaware Hospital, where she had been a patient since Oct. 25.

Interment was in Head of Christiansa Cemetery.

Mrs. Bonham, whose husband died in 1954, made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Scott.

Born in Farmington, Mrs. Bonham, the former Miss Nellie S. Murphy, had lived in the Newark area for over 50 years. She was a sister of Sen. Charles Murphy, Harrington, who died in 1928.

She was a member of First Presbyterian Church, Newark, the New Century Club of Newark, and the Newark chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Scott, she is survived by three grandchildren, Sandra, Frank, Jr., and Carol Scott, all at home.

Blue Cross Offices To Close Thurs., Fri.

The offices of Group Hospital Service at Wilmington, Milford and Seaford will be closed on both Thursday and Friday of this week for the Thanksgiving Holiday, it was announced today by Robert C. Denzler, assistant managing director.

Phoenix Quartet To Present Third Artists Series

The Phoenix String Quartet, a chamber music ensemble will present the third Artists Series concert of the 1959-60 season at the University of Delaware on Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Tickets for the 8:15 performance in Mitchell Hall will be available at the box office prior to the performance or may be purchased during regular business hours at the university bookstore.

It was in 1952 that David Sackson, well known as soloist, conductor and chamber music player, formed the Phoenix Quartet, whose other members are Fred Manzella, violin; Ralph Hersh, viola; and Ray Schweitzer, cello.

In the intervening years the Quartet has played largely in recitals and concert series, presenting programs of unusual interest which include modern as well as standard works.

Dec. 20 the Quartet will give a concert in New York at Carnegie Recital Hall which will include quartets by Haydn and the American composer, the late Robert Kurka, the Concertino by Stravinsky, and the E flat quartet, Op. 127, by Beethoven.

In their concert at the University of Delaware, the Phoenix Quartet will be joined by the young American clarinetist, Herbert Tichman, for the performance of the Mozart and Brahms clarinet quintets.

Mr. Tichman, one of the best-known young American clarinetists, has played in solo and duo concerts in the United States and abroad and is heard frequently in programs of special chamber music with clarinet. Research abroad by Tichman and his pianist wife, Ruth Tichman, brought to light many works of unusual interest for clarinet solo or in ensemble which Mr. Tichman is preparing for performances in the near future. His association with the Phoenix Quartet to present the two great clarinet quintets promises a program of exceptional interest for the University of Delaware audience.

Kent Home Doings

Why Do I Have To Go To Bed? "I'm not sleepy" says Junior, and although this may be a try for just one more TV western, it is quite possible that he's right. He may not need the 15 hours sleep you think he should have.

Junior's bad temper will usually indicate how much sleep he needs, says county home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith. The first signs of tiredness or irritability, indicate a need of sleep and help you set up a schedule.

Once the needs are determined, a satisfactory schedule should be set and followed, Mrs. Smith said. Variations in time and procedures tend to confuse the young child. As the child grows the schedule can be changed when necessary.

If a child resist going to bed every night, it may be because he feels alone and left out of things. Or he may feel that the adults want to get rid of him so they send him off to bed.

Every child needs a little special attention at bedtime. By reading or telling a story, listening to his prayers and then tucking him in, we give him a sense of belonging and a feeling of security.

Often a soft toy or a doll, to keep him company, will help to break down his resistance. Soft music may help lull him to sleep too.

U. of D. Farm and Home Week Feb. 9, 10, 11

Feb. 9, 10, and 11 are dates to reserve for the annual Farm and Home Week program at the University of Delaware School of Agriculture. The dates were announced by dean of agriculture, George M. Worriolow.

"With features for both farm and city people, farm and home week has become one of the most attractive winter events in Delaware," the agriculture dean stated.

University of Delaware agricultural scientists will report research aimed at more effective plant disease and insect control, reduced losses and increased efficiency in poultry and egg production, improved crop, livestock and dairy production and better marketing practices. A number of out-of-state speakers also will be on the program. Agricultural topics will include soybeans, broilers, egg production, corn, dairy, fruit, potatoes, sheep, beef, vegetables and irrigation.

Homemakers will be interested in discussions on antique glass, home management practices, nutrition, flower arrangement, clothing and furniture. General interest topics include landscaping and horse management as a hobby.

Chairman of the event is Dr. Sam Gwinn, assistant director of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Program chairman is Dr. Dale Bray, chairman of the department of entomology.

Feed Wheat Program Still Available

A farmer whose 1960 wheat acreage allotment is less than 30 acres and who has excess acres planted at this time may want to consider participating in the feed wheat program next year, Lister V. Hall, Jr., office manager of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office points out. To do this, the farmer must apply at the county office at Dover, within 15 days after this notice of excess acreage is mailed to him.

Under the feed wheat program, Hall said, a farmer whose application is approved may produce up to 30 acres of wheat for use on the farm as seed, human food, or feed for livestock, including poultry. None of that wheat can be removed from the farm except to be processed for use as human food or livestock feed on the farm and none can be sold or exchanged for goods or services. If any of the conditions of the exemption is violated, the exemption becomes null and void, and the producers and the farm will be subject to acreage allotment and marketing quota regulations.

There's a timeless quality about tatting that I love. In every age, it lends a touch of charm and beauty that's always in style no matter what the prevalent decorating trends. Yet tatting is far from static, and needleworkers will want to explore the fascinating art by trying fresh new patterns such as the one shown today.

LACY LOOK

This is a truly unusual design with the exquisite look of Reticello lace. And because the pattern which is worked in motifs harmonizes so well with any decor, there's really no limit to the number of pieces that can be fashioned from the same design. You may want to start with just a single doily, then try your hand at this lovely three-piece cheval set, a distinctly feminine addition to bedroom or dressing room. When you discover how easy the pattern is, you may even be tempted to begin a real piece de resistance—a full size circular cloth for your dining room table.

CREATIVE ART

You'll enjoy tatting, I'm sure, for this is an art that offers the perfect opportunity for creative expression. As you see these lovely pieces gradually taking shape you'll know the thrill that comes from fashioning with your own hands lovely things for your home. To receive free instructions just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper. Request CHEVAL SET, Leaflet No. PT-1332.

SENIOR PERSONALITY

Betty Lee Hendricks

Betty Lee Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hendricks, was born December 29, 1942 at Harrington. She is taking the commercial course and her favorite subjects are English and Bookkeeping.

She has been in the press club for four years and holds the office of vice president. She has played on the Varsity Basketball team for four years. She received a trophy for being the most outstanding defensive player last year at the sports banquet.

Betty Lee was an attendant for the May Day in Tenth Grade and was chosen to represent the Senior class for the homecoming game this year.

When Betty Lee graduates she plans to become a secretary.

Mrs. Grant—Grade 1

We will have a Thanksgiving vacation this week.

Billy Glavin is going to Pittsburgh for the holidays.

Glady's Keny, Ruth Ann Moore and Frankie Hrupsa are absent today.

We had our pictures taken and they were very good.

Mrs. Marvel—Grade 1

John Gray brought a small can of salt which he said was fish salt but Henry Callaway called it ice cream salt. It was really rock salt. We found a story of salt in one of our new science books. It was interesting to learn that salt is a rock and it comes from under the ground.

Donna Newcomb explained to us how a block of salt is put on a stick so the cows at her farm can lick it.

Mrs. O'Neal—Grade 3

We are sorry Patty Anderson is still out sick. We hope she will be back with us after Thanksgiving.

Billy Keiser and John Glandin celebrated their ninth birthday Tuesday.

Miss Baker—Grade 3

Several visitors came to school Friday for our assembly program. We all took part and enjoyed doing it.

Aubrey Brown had his eighth birthday Saturday. We enjoyed his treat on Friday.

Terry McCready is having his tonsils out this week. We will miss him. Hope he will be back Monday.

Dorothy Schriber had the whooping cough and is back after missing 15 days.

We have put up Thanksgiving pictures. We are going to have a Thanksgiving vacation.

We have our room decorated with fall pictures, animal puzzles, and trolley cars.

Ray Dodenhoff and Larry Wirick Reporters.

Mrs. Mann—Grade 6

We are so glad that Kitty Lou Burgess won first prize for the Fire Prevention Essay in Kent County. The prize money was $15. We are starting six weeks tests in spelling English, social, and other subjects.

We chose a new room monitor in our club. He is Billy Knox.

This week we are celebrating Thanksgiving and we will not be in school Thursday or Friday. We will soon be drawing Christmas pictures.

Farm Census to Be Tabulated Soon

Who can predict what the 1959 farm census will reveal? It will take several months before the results are tabulated and published sometime in 1960 says George Vapaa, Kent County Agricultural Agent.

The 1954 census continued several trends that we can probably expect to see extended. Farm members in Kent County should be down slightly, as the inefficient operator is squeezed off due to high operating costs. Size of farms should continue up from the 1954 average of 139 acres, as operators expand because of improved machinery and labor saving equipment.

This does not mean that the small farmer will leave us entirely. In many cases, he has become a "moonlighter", with an 8 hour a day job in town. He farms in the evenings and on weekends, partly because he realizes that a farm is still one of the best places to raise a family.

Some of our farmers are extending themselves vertically, which is another way of saving they perform some of the processing or marketing functions as well as growing a crop. Roadside marketers, market egg producers and custom work operators are examples.

We may probably expect to see more dairy cows on fewer dairy farms because of the heavy investment costs in buildings and equipment. The same is true of broilers and laying hens. It is doubtful that market hogs will make any strong comeback in the immediate future for this area. Or perhaps with beef and sheep, we may find them increasing slightly in number to utilize surplus grazing land and forage crops. Meat animals do seem to have a definite place on small farms as efficient grazers.

Curiously enough, Kent County has a larger number of harness horses than most areas because of the winter training facilities for the fast rising sport. Many a farm is now boarding horses, especially around Harrington, "the harness horse capital," self styled.

Some local leaders expect to see about 8000 acres of land taken out of production in the next fifteen years to urban growth, new roads, and industry. This is less than four per cent of the total tillable land in the county. With more intensified and mechanized practices, farmers should be able to hold up and even increase yields on the reduced acreage for many years to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Butler have moved in their new home.

Fertilizer Conf. Date Announced

Dates for three area conferences for fertilizer and lime dealers and salesmen have been announced by Dr. James R. Miller, extension soils specialist of the University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

The meetings will be held from 9:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. as follows: Dec. 1 at the American Legion Home on Route 50 at Cambridge; Dec. 2 at the Baltimore Livestock Auction on Route 40 near West Friendship; and on Dec. 3 in the Episcopal Parish Hall at La Plata.

At these meetings, extension and research specialists will present information on types of fertilizers, methods of application, and the latest recommendations for field and horticultural crops. All persons interested in the sale and use of fertilizer and lime are urged to attend one of the meetings. This, of course, Dr. Miller explains, includes dealers and salesmen, chemical company representatives, county extension personnel, soil conservation service, Vo-Ag teachers and other interested farm leaders.

County agents, who have made arrangements for the conferences, report that a limited amount of space will be available at all of the meetings for exhibits on fer-finishing training? A—Your deadline is eight years from the date of your discharge. But no GI training may be taken after January 31, 1965.

Q—I am interested in photography, and am eligible for training under the War Orphans program?

A—Yes. It is possible to make any of several types of training below the college level. You could take War Orphans training in a school specializing in photography.

Q—I am moving to another State and want to be sure my benefit check keeps coming to me on time. Is it enough for me to tell the Post Office about my change of address, or should I tell VA also?

A—You should tell both the Post Office and VA. Mail addressed to you at your old address can then be forwarded, and VA will have your new address for speedier delivery of future checks.

Frank T. Tucker

Frank Theodore Tucker, 83, of near Greenwood, a farmer in that area for many years and a native of this state, died Thursday, Nov. 19. He was the son of William and Ann Scott Tucker and husband of the last Maggie Reynolds Tucker.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George Lare, Absecon, N. J., Mrs. Joshua Willey, Lincoln, and Mrs. Earl Thompson, Greenwood; one son, Frank Wilson Tucker, San Diego, Calif., three brothers, Thomas and Elmer, Greenwood and Harvey Tucker, Bridgeville, and two sisters, Mrs. Blanche LeKates, and Mrs. Amanda Brown, both of Wilmington and 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services were held Sunday afternoon in the Hardesty Funeral Home, Bridgeville.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—A friend of ours, a veteran with a service-connected condition, needs treatment for it, but the nearest VA hospital is some distance away. Will the Government pay his necessary travel expenses, to and from the hospital?

A—Yes, that is possible. However, travel authorization must be obtained from the admitting VA hospital beforehand. If it is a medical emergency, the private physician who telephones the hospital to request emergency admission may secure the travel authorization at the same time.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran, at school part-time under the GI Bill. What is the deadline for

WE NEED A TRAFFIC LIGHT

For some years The Journal has been campaigning for a traffic light at a dangerous intersection in the heart of the business district.

The safety measure is needed at the intersection of Commerce, Clark, and Fleming Streets where a number of accidents have taken place.

Since our newspaper plant is in the vicinity, we have heard the sound of colliding automobiles at the crossroads on three Sundays. This past Sunday, two out-of-state cars figured in a collision there. As we think back over it, most of the cars we have seen in the wrecks have been driven by strangers.

This is, possibly, because Delaware 14 comes north on Commerce Street and turns right on Clark Street. However, occasionally, strangers do not turn right but continue north on Commerce Street to Mechanic Street.

We would favor the installation, by the State Highway Department of a stop light. Opponents say, however, it might cause traffic to pile up on the nearby Clark Street railroad crossing. However, we do not have much sympathy for a driver who will park his car on a railroad crossing.

A caution light, with red in all directions, might do the trick and is worth a trial, even though we do not have much faith in them. Too many drivers do not stop for them.

IN TWELVE EASY LESSONS

The police department of Houston, Texas issued a leaflet called "Twelve Rules for Raising Delinquent Children."

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to put up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, and clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything for him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be likely to have it. — BREWTON (Ala.) STANDARD

SMELLY ADVERTISING

With the cooperation of the Better Business Bureau of which this newspaper is a member, an effort has been made by The Monett Times for a number of years to weed out smelly advertising.

Smelly advertising is sent to newspapers of all sizes. Usually it is accompanied with a check as a bait to a money-hungry publisher who thinks more of his pocketbook than he does the welfare of his subscribers.

In the Joplin daily newspaper one day this week we noticed an advertisement selling a jet engine training course which said eventually would offer an attractive salary. We sent this same advertisement back to the jet company with our form letter which says, "no, but thanks anyway." In a classified advertisement last week in the Springfield Newspapers we were surprised to see where they let slip by an advertisement that called for an investment of a sizeable amount of money for investing in toy racks. We sent this same advertisement back to the company along with their check.

Today we received a classified advertisement which started out "U.S. Civil Service Tests; Men-Women, 18-52. Start as high as $95 week. Thousands of jobs open. Experience usually unnecessary." This advertisement was accompanied by a check made payable to The Times for $5.98 and both were returned to the company.

One of the oldest and worst rackets is still being tried by the shysters who are offering the "learn to address mail at home." This week we received an advertisement from one of these firms. In it was a blank check. All that we had to do was fill in the amount that we thought would be desirable to charge to run the advertising. Both blank check and the advertisement went into the waste basket. The "learn to address mail racket" is usually operated from a postoffice box in a distant city. If you're sucker enough to inquire how you can make money by addressing mail at home, you'll be offered an instruction book that costs $2.00 telling you how to address mail. You get the book and the crook gets your $2.00 because that's the last you'll ever hear of him.

We turn down advertisements for telegraphs training schools, diesel training, and vending machine advertisements by the score much to the displeasure of the companies who would like to bilk the public.

We feel so sincerely about our attempt to police crooked advertising that if you read an advertisement in any newspaper, large or small, weekly or daily in Southwest Missouri and wish us to find out whether or not the proposition is respectable, we'll make inquiry through our St. Louis office of the Better Business Bureau. If the proposition is legitimate, the company being investigated will welcome a survey by the Better Business Bureau.

Mrs. Ethel Johnson returned home Tuesday after spending several days in Wilmington with her sisters, Mrs. Grace Daugherty and Miss Kathy McFaul.

Mr. and Mrs. Oley Sapp spent Saturday in Wilmington.

Use Your Leaves As Compost

A pile of burning leaves may smell good but it's dangerous and wasteful, says Kent county agent George Vapaa.

Fallen leaves, lawn clippings, weeds, vegetable refuse, and other plant residues are valuable sources of organic matter that you can add to your compost pile. In fact Mr. Vapaa suggests you start a compost pile during your regular fall cleanup. You can pile soil, plant refuse, and even manure in alternate layers, so that it will rot faster.

Dig a shallow pit six or eight inches deep, four feet wide, and long enough to accommodate all the waste material you'll be collecting. Then pile the leaves and other waste material in layers six or eight inches deep. Keep the pile moist and sprinkle handfuls of commercial fertilizer on each layer. Fertilizing adds plant food to the mixture and helps speed up the rotting process. Although animal manure is excellent material to add to your compost pile, you can get good results without it.

Keep adding layers of plant materials, manure and soil, or soil alone, to the pile until it's about four feet deep. You can use boards or poultry wire to hold the pile in place, he says.

When you're done making the pile, put a layer of soil a few inches thick on the top. Make the surface dish-like, or concave, to catch rainfall and keep the pile moist. You may even have to add some water occasionally.

Stirring the pile by shoveling every couple of months will speed up the rotting and improve the quality of your compost.

Use the compost on your garden next spring or in indoor flower pots for those plants you want to get started before spring. You'll be delighted with the results, Mr. Vapaa said.

Delaware Food Market Report

Eastern apples and Florida avocados, grapefruits, oranges and limes head the list of fruits heavy in supply and low in price. Bananas have dropped in price again this weekend and are selling for an average of 11 cents per pound. Pear prices are generally unchanged and quality is good to excellent. Other plentiful fruits include Emperor grapes, lemons, and tangerines.

Looking for a welcome change on the menu? Pork continues to be plentiful and the budget-wise shopper will find a roast fresh pork shoulder with savory stuffing just the thing for a hearty treat, both for the pocketbook as well as for the taste buds. Fresh pork shoulder dropped a penny a pound again this week. Other pork prices are easing downward, also. Loin roasts, rib and pork chops, sausage, spareribs and bacon all are low in price. Whole hams are cheap—a bargain you can hardly turn down.

There are many specials at the meat counter other than pork and turkeys. Look for good buys on leg-o-lamb, broilers and stewing chickens, steaks and a few beef roasts.

Be sure to check the fish counter for good buys since there are many to be had here. Fresh fish to check on are: bluefish, butterfish, flounder, porgies, cod, whiting and Spanish mackerel. Shellfish in good supply are: shrimp, scallops and hard clams. Oysters are in larger quantities now and prices are more reasonable.

There is a long list of vegetables which are abundant and low-priced. Quality is good to excellent for most which is a pleasant change. Check these vegetables when you shop: cauliflower, green, broccoli, Brussel sprouts, cress (kale, mustard and collards) yellow onions, potatoes and sweet potatoes. Beets, butter-nut squash, carrots, celery, endive and iceberg lettuce are also in good supply and prices are reasonable.

There are many sales on canned vegetables now so check your favorite grocery stores. This is also true of frozen foods. Now is the time to put a few extra things aside for those busy shopping days just ahead when time is at a premium.

73rd Hort. Meeting Dec. 8-9

Two days of information is planned for the 73rd annual meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society, Dec. 8-9 at Salisbury, in the Elks Hall, according to county agricultural agent, George Vapaa.

The Tuesday morning program will deal with marketing and variety test results. Extension Service marketing specialist Robert L. Bull will discuss the fresh market for lima beans and C. H. Reiser, sales manager of Niagara Fruit Shippers, Ltd., Vineland Station, Ontario, will speak on "Serving the Produce Industry Through Central Marketing."

The Tuesday afternoon session will deal with insect, disease and weed control problems.

Wednesday's program will be split up with two sessions, one on fruit and one on vegetables.

One topic of interest to pepper growers will be a panel discussion on corn borer control in peppers. The panel will report on the research work done this year. The project is a Co-operative effort by the University of Maryland, the University of Delaware and the Virginia Truck Experiment Station. Members of the panel include Dale F. Bray, P. P. Burbulis and D. F. Crossan, all from the University of Delaware; R. N. Hofmaster, Virginia Truck Experiment Station; and J. T. Whitlaw, Jr., University of Maryland.

First year studies indicate that spraying will control the corn borer on peppers if applied correctly. The panel will give the details of the results and offer solutions to the problems.

Many other topics of interest will be covered at the meeting, Mr. Vapaa said. Sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. and the last meeting finishes about 3:30 p.m.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Howard Blades, who passed away November 25, 1958. Deep in my heart you will always stay. Loved and remembered every day. Gone, but not forgotten.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Charles G. Sharp, who passed away 7 years ago, Nov. 30, 1952. When evening shadows are falling and I am sitting all alone in my heart comes a longing for you could only come home. It's loneliness here without you and David M. Cirwhithan are. Life has not been the same to me since you were called away.

Mrs. Edward Jaep of Ocean City, N. J., was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Torbert and son, Jimmy.

Jehovah Sect To Meet At Georgetown

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Delmarva peninsula will convene in the National Guard Armory, Georgetown, this weekend for a three-day training program. This assembly is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Brooklyn, N. Y., and more than 700 delegates are expected. According to Bernal Dean, president minister of the Dover congregation, 22 congregations will participate in this semi-annual assembly. Mr. Dean also said that the purpose of this assembly is to train Jehovah's Witnesses in doing the divine will as Jesus instructed "Go therefore and make disciples of people of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all the things I have commanded you." (Matthew 28: 19-20) Appropriately, the theme of the assembly is "Do The Divine Will."

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church News

On the Sunday before Advent baby Mary Ann Donohan, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Alvin C. Donohan, was baptized at St. Stephen's by the Reverend John R. Symonds, Jr. This was the first baptism in the new church. Mary Ann was born August 22, 1959, in Landstuhl Germany. Her parents were confirmed by the Rt. Rev. Otto Heinwacks of the Old Catholic Church in Germany, a part of the Anglican Communion. They were prepared and presented by Lt. Col. Emmett G. Jones, chaplain, U. S. Army. Mr. and Mrs. Donohan are communicants of St. Stephen's.

The congregation participated in the event by following the service "The Ministration of Holy Baptism" in the "Book of Common Prayer" and by making responses and repeating several prayers in unison with the vicar, parents, and godparents. Sponsors for Mary Ann were Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Brown Sr. and Miss Maxine Phillippi, all of Harrington.

The Donohans are now stationed at Ft. Meade, Md. The Festival Thanksgiving service will be held Wednesday evening, 8 p.m. Members of the congregation will offer gifts of food as well as money. The food will be distributed to the needy and the money sent to St. Michael's Day Nursery, Wilmington. A corporate communion for men and boys will be held Sunday, Nov. 29, at 8 p.m. Following the service a committee of the Women of St. Stephen's will serve breakfast in the parish house.

Flowers on the altar last Sunday were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of Mary Jane Keith by her daughter, Mrs. John R. Symonds. Acolytes who served on the Sunday before Advent were William Thompson, 8 a.m., Holy Communion; Franklin Fowler, Church School; Roy Porter, Charles McNally, Billy Porter, Franklin Fowler, John Creasy, Morning Prayer Service; Bobby Greer, Robert Eastman, William Thompson, Evening Prayer.

Coffee hour hostesses last Sunday were Mrs. A. S. Raughley, Jr. and Miss Anne Perry. Ushers scheduled on the Sunday before Advent were Messrs. Ernest Killen, Robert Quillen, Archie Feagan, and William Glavin. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hynson of Newark were weekend visitors of Mrs. Hynson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pizzadilli. Mrs. J. Barton Wilson and daughter, Barbara, of Wilmington were Saturday visitors of the former's father, Fred Outten.

A number of relatives and friends attended the wedding of Miss Shelia Ann Fetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Letton Fetter of Haddonfield, N. J., and Morris L. For the first time in the Dover area, arrangements have been made to conduct a school for Engineer Reserve Officers. The school will be held at the US Army Reserve Armory on Wednesday evenings through the winter. Officers who attend will receive constructive credit for attendance, and at the same time, fulfill their military reserve obligations. Applications for enrollment are now being taken, and will be available until Dec. 10. Interested officers are invited to call the Dover U. S. Army Reserve Armory, N. New Street, Dover, RE 4-7531, and talk to M/Sgt. Philpot for more details.

From this report the club feels a sewerage disposal plant would indeed improve the town. The Avon Club hopes the town council will seriously study the project. The president, Mrs. Harold Schabinger, had a meeting of the officers last Friday at her home. The state president of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. William Storey, presented the state and national project for 1959-60 to the group. Attending the Kent County presidents meeting on "Work on Community Projects" at Milford last Tuesday were Mrs. Harold Schabinger, president; Mrs. Richard Hardy, director and chairman of community projects, and Mrs. John Gortwin, representing the Fine Arts Committee.

Hobbs
Miss Ellen Butler, Washington, D. C., spent last weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Butler, and sister Ann. Mrs. Redmond Long visited her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Wiloughby, and family, last Monday. Jimmy Robinson, a student in a school in Frederick, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Robinson. Mrs. W. G. Holbrook spent last Wednesday in Washington, D. C. Candy and Janie Chaffinch have been on the sick list. Ervin Pippin Jr., a senior at the North Carolina High School, Denton, and other members of his class, visited the High School at Saveria Park, last Saturday. The Elmer Butler family visited Greensboro relatives Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Orville Morgan, Federalsburg, was a last Thursday evening guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Towers and family. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Thomas were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Alice Anderson, rural Greenwood. Mrs. B. B. Allen spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ricards, Denton.

Felton Avon Club Notes
Dr. Mark Kenyon of the State Board of Health will be the guest speaker at the Avon Club, Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 1:30 o'clock in the Felton Fire Hall. Dr. Kenyon's subject will be "Poisons and Home Safety." Mrs. Lowder Harrington Safety Chairman and her committee, Mrs. Russell Torbert, Miss Corthe Heyd, Mrs. Charles Cohee and Herman Woikoski are in charge of the program and hostesses for the afternoon. The Avon Club had the privilege of having Dr. Maynard Mire, of the State Board of Health and Richard Howell, sanitation engineers, on Nov. 11, report on the sanitary survey of Felton which was made last summer, June 8-12, 1958 homes and places of business were visited.

Fertilizer is Short Course Topic

Fertilizer will be the main subject of this year's Crops and Soils Short Course at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover, Nov. 24.

The program will open at 10 a.m. with Professor L. J. Cotnoir, agronomist at the University of Delaware. He will discuss cover crops and the part that weeds play in maintaining organic matter and in control of fertilizer leaching.

James R. Miller, extension agronomist with the University of Maryland, will talk about nitrogen topdressing of small grain. Dr. Miller is in charge of the state-wide soil testing laboratory at College Park.

Dr. W. V. Bartholomew, nationally known authority on urea, will explain some of the advantages and disadvantages of using it as a source of nitrogen. Bartholomew is an agronomist at North Carolina State University.

Anyone using very much nitrogen will be interested in this steadily increasing form of dry nitrogen, William Mitchell, extension agronomist, University of Delaware, said.

There will be three more speakers after lunch starting with Dr. S. E. Younits of the American Potash Institute who will discuss the possibilities of higher crop yields in Delaware. Professor J. D. Burns, University of Tennessee and James Turner, United States Potash Company, will team up to explain the values of field testing and demonstrations in presenting crop production practices.

The last Short Course speaker will be Dr. J. O. Rowell, Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He will discuss alfalfa weevil control and the possibilities of mixing insecticide with fertilizer for effective and easy application.

The Short Course is only one part of the annual Delaware Crop Improvement Association's November affair which includes the Farm-City banquet Monday, Nov. 23, the Crops Awards Banquet the following evening, and the Crops Show Monday.

Dr. William McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware, is the speaker at the Farm-City banquet and Louis H. Wilson, National Plant Food Institute, will be the speaker at the crop awards banquet Tuesday. Both banquets will be in the Capital Grange Hall.

Winners of the corn, soybean and alfalfa programs will be crowned at the awards banquet. Tickets are available from the ticket committee of the Association and at the County Agents' office.

Tranquilizer and Alcohol Combined Is Dangerous

If a person is taking the tranquilizer chlorpromazine, he must be very careful about drinking alcoholic beverages, a group of Indiana researchers warned today.

A study at Madison State Hospital, Madison, Ind., indicates that chlorpromazine increases the physiological effect of alcohol, and the two, in combination, affect co-ordination and judgment even more than alcohol alone.

Chlorpromazine, one of the first tranquilizers to be developed, is most commonly used in mental institutions and by discharged mental patients.

U. of D. Concerned With Mental Health

Increased expenditures of federal, state and private funds for mental health education and research have brought this important topic to the attention of enlightened citizens everywhere.

Although the University of Delaware is not a hospital or sanitarium, the problems of mental health, as they relate to undergraduates or to the seriously ill, are matters of concern to its faculty and student body.

To assist its students the university employs a psychiatric consultant, Dr. James A. Flaherty, who meets with professional counselors, with dormitory counselors and house directors, and with student junior counselors in an effort to provide insights on their relationships with undergraduates. He also is available for personal conferences with individual students.

The three professionally trained counselors, employed in the office of the dean of students, consult with students on career plans, educational and personal problems. Each year about one-fifth of the total undergraduate student body seeks conference with these counselors, on their own initiative or by referral from other persons on the campus.

In teaching, the university offers a number of courses related to the mental health field. Mental hygiene, psychological measurement, developmental psychology, abnormal psychology, learning and motivation, and clinical psychology have a definite bearing on mental health. Courses such as advanced human development and education for the exceptional child also are related and a master's degree program in education is especially designed to prepare the student for guidance and counseling. While these courses and the degree program do not specifically prepare the student for clinical work, they do provide a better understanding of mental health issues.

Delaware's professors are not therapists, but many of them are able to recognize difficulties and recommend proper help. Students who have an incapacitating illness, mental or physical, are urged to withdraw from the university, seek appropriate treatment, and return when they are able to perform with optimum success. When this action is necessary advice is frequently offered with respect to proper treatment and the university has enjoyed excellent relationships with health agencies throughout the state.

Delaware's faculty has long been interested in research related to the mental health field. The U. S. Army, the U. S. Department of Public Health and the Mental Health Research Commission of the State of Delaware have sponsored research projects in this area. Dr. Hatsey MacPhee, chairman of the psychology department, has been a member of the steering committee of the psychological division of the Southern Regional Education Board which has conducted a number of significant projects in mental health research. Delaware's Psychology Club and Psi Chi have sponsored programs on mental health during statewide mental health week.

The University of Delaware's faculty and students are aware of the problems of mental health in our society. While attention is primarily focused on the education and training of the healthy individual, the problems of those with mental disorders are not ignored. It is the conviction of the faculty that adjustment to the stresses of modern living require not only accurate knowledge of one self and of our society, but experience gained from handling one's own problems. The university is a friendly place, offering help when necessary. Overprotection and oversolicitude would, it is believed, deprive students of the opportunity to develop character and maturity through self-initiated and self-sustained activity.

Wool Growers Urged to Keep Records

Wool growers who marketed lambs this fall should keep adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment next spring under the wool incentive program, Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee chairman, R. Harry Wilson urged today at Dover.

The sales record for lambs sold must include the name of the buyer, his original signature, and the number of liveweight lambs sold, plus the edescription "unshorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn to encourage the customary practice of selling lambs with the wool on.

"I cannot urge too strongly," Mr. Wilson said, "that growers get these fall sales records together now and either keep them in a safe place at home or file them at the county ASC office. The final date to apply for payments on 1959-60 marketings is next April 30, but an application may be submitted anytime between now and then."

The chairman warned again that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records of the length of time they have owned a specific lot of lambs. Lamb payments are made only to producers who have owned lambs 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lamb during the sellers' ownership.

Memorial Bridge Traffic Shows Increase in October

Delaware Memorial Bridge traffic was hiked another 5.6 percent in October over the same period a year ago, when it was announced that 755,536 vehicles crossed the span last month.

This was 40,292 more vehicles than were registered in October, 1958, when crossings totaled 715,244.

The figures were announced by Frank J. Horty, general manager, in his monthly report to the Delaware Interstate Highway Division and released yesterday.

Mr. Horty also reported that with the redemption of a group of bridge revenue bonds, the outstanding debt on the world's seventh longest single suspension bridge is only $16,016,000.

In October, a drawing for the redemption of 1840 bonds was held at the Bank of Delaware, Mr. Horty reported. In addition, the trustee also purchased 38 bonds in the open market. This now makes a total of 30,534 bonds that have been set up for redemption either by direct purchase or calling by lot. The $16,016,000 outstanding bonds are the balance of $46,550,000 worth which were sold to build and operate the span.

There were 40,298 more vehicles over the bridge in October than during the same period in 1958. Of that number, 38,076 were passenger cars, 2,174 were trucks, and there were more non-revenue vehicles during the month of October.

Revenue received from bridge tolls for the month of October, 1959 was $469,995.90 compared to $450,623.05 for October, 1958—an increase of $19,372.75 or 4.3 percent.

From June 1, 1959, the beginning of the fiscal year, to October 31, 1959, a period of five months, 4,871,540 vehicles crossed the big span compared to 4,559,872 vehicles in the same period last year—an increase of 311,668 or 6.8 percent.

Revenue for the five month period, June 1, 1959 to October 31, 1959, was $2,907,729.25 compared to $2,707,676 received for the same period last year—an increase of $200,053.25 or 7.4 percent.

Mr. Horty announced that Louis Ferrier was first among the toll collectors and received a $25 U. S. Savings Bond, Emory Postles was second, and Howard Wilson was third.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Many women, I'm sure, think of needlework as a rewarding hobby, but one that is far too time-consuming to fit into their already busy schedules. Today's pattern, however, is just one example of the many kinds of modern crochet patterns that can be fashioned quickly, yet retain all the customary charm and beauty of this traditional art. Any homemaker can crochet pieces like this easily in the few spare minutes she has, and still have lovely handmade pieces to add grace and elegance to her home.

DOUBLE DIVIDEND
There's another reason why I especially recommend this design for the busy homemaker. For needlework has a soothing effect that will give her the complete relaxation she needs in the middle of the end-of-a hectic day. Easy patterns like the one shown today require little concentration and can actually be fashioned while watching television, chatting with the family. At the same time, the industrious housewife will have the satisfaction of knowing that she's using her free time profitably. And, in no time at all, she'll have this crocheted pillow cover to inject a welcome "new look" into some room in her home.

FILET PATTERN

Made in one piece, this cover is designed in a filet pattern using trebles for extra speed. The large diamond motif is interrupted, occasionally, by clusters of popcorn stitch which lend an interesting texture to the cover. You'll be amazed at the transformation that will take place in your home by such an easy-to-make addition. For free instructions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper. Request OBLONG PILLOW, Leaflet No. PC-1307.

12 U. of D. Students Awarded TB Scholarships

Twelve University of Delaware students have been awarded scholarships for undergraduate work in the field of nursing leading to the bachelor of science degree, it was announced by John E. Hocutt, dean of students at the university, and Dr. Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Awards for nursing students, supported by the Society, have been made each year since 1955.

"The annual Christmas Seal sale by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society supports many activities which benefit every Delawarean," Dean Hocutt said. "As one of its numerous projects, the Society provides scholarships for qualified students enrolled in the University of Delaware nursing program. This is aimed at alleviating the nursing shortage in Delaware. I earnestly urge every citizen to make a generous purchase of 1959 Anti-Tuberculosis Seals."

Dean Hocutt noted that since the initiation of the Society's scholarship program, grants have been made to about 35 students in amounts totaling more than $20,000.

Recipients of this year's scholarships are: Maureen Denney, Margaret L. MacInnes, Sally L. Pyle, Arlene C. Shockley, Phyllis D. Stanley, Eleanor G. Tornroth and Priscilla Wightman, all from Wilmington; Lois A. Herold, Trappe, Md.; Mary L. Hutson, Northeast, Md.; Lillie M. Mast, Hartly; Eileen K. Todd, Chester, Pa.; and Barbara S. Tomlin, Claymont.

Originally limited to residents of Delaware, the scholarship program of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society has been expanded since its inception in 1955 to include students from adjacent counties in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The University of Delaware offers a four-year program in nursing leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. The program requires three years of academic work at the university, two intervening summers at the Delaware Hospital and a final fifteen months of professional training and experience, also at the hospital.

Students who enroll in the nursing program must be high school graduates who have attained the certifying grade of their high school and are recommended by their school. A personal interview and good health record are required. Desirable age limits for applicants are 17 to 35. Out-of-state students must take the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board and this test should be completed, at the latest, in January of the senior year.

Applications for admission should be made in duplicate to Dr. William G. Fletcher, director of admissions and records, University of Delaware, and to Mrs. Alberta M. Trunch, director of nurses and principal of the Delaware Hospital School of Nursing, Wilmington.

Smoking Has No Effect on Cholesterol Level

Smoking appears to have no effect on blood cholesterol levels, according to a study conducted by Dr. Irvine H. Page, Cleveland, heart specialist, and two associates.

If smoking does play a role in causing heart attacks, it is not through any effect on cholesterol, the fat-like substance in the blood that has been implicated as a cause of heart attacks, they concluded on the basis of their study.

Writing in the current Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Page said it has been suggested that cigarette smoking is in some way related to heart attacks and hardening of the arteries, but this is difficult to prove.

Many investigators believe the evidence is good for an association between high cholesterol levels and hardening of the arteries. So if it could be shown that cigarette smoking is followed by a rise in cholesterol levels, this could be interpreted as evidence for a relationship between smoking and hardening of the arteries.

However, the new study failed to show an rise in cholesterol levels after smoking.

Twenty laboratory personnel, including 15 regular smokers and five nonsmokers, participated in the study. They smoked two non-filtered cigarettes within a 10-minute period, inhaling deeply. Blood cholesterol levels were measured before they smoked and at 10- and 30-minute intervals afterwards.

The levels remained "essentially unchanged" in most subjects. There seemed to be no greater variations in the habitual smokers than in the nonsmokers.

The lack of effect of smoking on the cholesterol levels in the nonsmoking persons was striking, the authors said. They had smoked two cigarettes with inhaling, and this could be considered to be "a not inconsiderable stress." At the end of the smoking they felt dizzy and chilly, but showed no cholesterol level change.

The study showed the relative stability of serum cholesterol levels, at least for short periods. The slight stress of blood drawing or smoking was not sufficient to modify them, the authors noted. The long-time effect of smoking on serum cholesterol is not known, but it is possible that varying cholesterol concentrations may result from changes in eating habits caused by smoking, they said in conclusion.

Dr. Page's associates are Lena A. Lewis, Ph. D., and Mohammed Moimuddin, Ph. D., of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation.

Romans Square On Mushrooms

Mushrooms are no longer "food for the Gods" as the ancient Romans believed. Especially in this plentiful season, we humans can enjoy these inexpensive "luxuries" which add excitement and flavor to nearly any dish.

For that extra special flavor in stew or casserole, or as a main dish in themselves, mushrooms challenge the imagination, according to Mrs. Anne Holberton, consumer information specialist at the University of Delaware. They're good for you too. Mushrooms contain valuable quantities of vitamins, minerals and proteins and there are only 66 calories to the pound.

Sliced fresh or canned mushrooms complement green vegetables, such as peas or beans. Or they may be sauteed with chicken livers and served on rice for a main dish. Sliced mushrooms add interest to other main dishes such as beef stroganoff, meat sauce for spaghetti and Spanish rice. Don't overcook them, Mrs. Holberton warns, or they'll turn leathery.

Raw mushrooms, quartered through the stem, and chilled, make a novel and delightful snack treat for parties, buffets, and nibbling. Dunk into favorite dips such as that made of a pint of commercial sour cream and a package of onion soup mix, or one made of an unpeeled cucumber and an onion grated into 6 ounces of cream cheese and seasoned. You can slice mushrooms into green salads, too.

The time honored appetizer for any meal is mushroom soup, but have you ever tried it Continental style, Mrs. Holberton asks. The ingredients are simple: 2 1/2 cups milk, 1 medium-size onion, finely chopped; 1 cup cooked mushrooms, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika.

Scald milk and onion in top of 1 1/2 quart double boiler. Add mushrooms and seasonings; cook about 20 minutes or until the onion is tender and the mushrooms heated through. Serve piping hot; with a garnish of chopped parsley.

Mushrooms are fresh and at their best when they are firm and white; have smooth, rounded tops or caps; and undersides which are smooth and closed around the stems. Mushroom size is not an indication of quality or maturity as mushroom of one-inch and three-inch diameters may be equally mature and tender. However, the cap of the mushroom is more tender than the stem, and no mushrooms with short stems are the choice selection. Mushrooms need only be rinsed well under cold water and snipped at the stem end before they are ready to use. Peeling and soaking mushrooms are unnecessary.

Buy enough for several meals, Mrs. Holberton suggests, as you can keep fresh ones in the refrigerator for several days.

October Traffic Was On Increase

Traffic increases were recorded at all of the permanent traffic counting stations maintained throughout the state in October, as compared with the same month of last year, according to a report prepared by the Planning Division of the State Highway Department.

An increase was recorded along Route 13, at a point north of Smyrna, it being 0.71 per cent with the daily average of vehicles counted being 11,559, an increase of 112 over October of last year and the largest single day was October 11, when 14,710 vehicles were counted.

An increase of 7.92 per cent was recorded along Route 40, at a point west of Bear, with the daily average of vehicles counted being 22,727, an increase of 1,667, and the largest single day was October 9, when 28,211 vehicles were counted.

The Concord Pike, Route 202, at a point north of Talleyville, had an increase of 10.78 per cent with the daily average of vehicles counted being 12,512, an increase of 1,218, and the largest single day was October 18, when 14,858 vehicles were counted.

The increase along the Kirkwood Highway, Route 2 at a point east of Newark, was 24.39 per cent with the daily average of vehicles counted being 14,158, an increase of 2776 and the largest single day was October 16, when 16,000 vehicles were counted.

Due to highway construction, the counting station along Route 113, at a point north of Milford, has been out of service and no record is available for that point.

Along Route 13, at a point south of Greenwood, the increase was 13.28 per cent with the daily average of vehicles counted being 6,945, an increase of 814 and the largest single day was October 16, when 8788 vehicles were counted.

Extension Poultry Appointment Is Announced

Raymond W. Lloyd has been promoted to the position of Association Poultryman with the Agricultural Extension Service, according to an announcement from dean of agriculture, George M. Worrirow, University of Delaware.

The staff member has been located on the Newark campus in the past but Mr. Lloyd will remain at the Georgetown Substation because of the proximity to the state's poultry industry.

He has been associate county agent in Sussex County for six years. He was a vocational agricultural instructor and area supervisor of vocational agriculture in Eastern Pennsylvania for 15 years before coming to Delaware.

He received his degree in poultry from Rutgers University in 1935 and recently earned his master's degree in poultry at the University of Delaware.

Mr. Lloyd is past president of the Georgetown Lions Club, and is superintendent of the Georgetown Presbyterian Sunday School. He has served as Deacon for three years.

While associate county agent he worked very closely with the poultry industry and also helped organize the Delaware Swine Producers Association and the 4-H Feeder Pig Project.

He fills the position left vacant by Ralph P. Barwick, who was recently appointed professor of agricultural education at the University.

Armed Forces Notes

Army Specialist Five Paul E. Thomas, 22, son of Mrs. Myrtle Thomas, 357 N. New Street, Dover, recently qualified as expert in firing the carbine while assigned to the 24th Infantry Division in Germany.

Specialist Thomas, a survey computer in Battery D of the division's 13th Artillery, entered the Army in 1955 was last stationed at Fort George G. Meade, Md. He arrived overseas in October 1958.

Thomas is a 1955 graduate of Caesar Rodney High School. His wife, Janet, is with him in Germany.

Army Sgt. James H. Faulkner, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Faulkner, Market Street, Fredonia, recently arrived in Stuttgart, Germany, and is now an ordnance-supply specialist in the 509th Ordnance Company.

Sergeant Faulkner, who was last stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., entered the Army in November 1955.

He is a 1954 graduate of Caesar Rodney High School in Camden and a former student at Wesley College.

Fried Chicken No Longer "Special"

The famous "Good Old Days" when chicken was a Sunday treat or even a once or twice a year affair are over. Now homemakers serve chicken once or twice a week, researcher report.

The development and improvement of poultry farming has increased the supply and decreased the price of chicken so much that many housewives now consider it one of their best meat buys.

A recent survey of 576 Wilmington and suburban homes, conducted by University of Delaware agricultural economists, showed that 44 per cent of the Wilmington homemakers and the one third of the suburban housewives serve chicken one or more times per week. Also, the level of family income did not appear to influence the frequency of serving chicken.

Freshness was given as the reason for buying their chicken from a particular source by more than a third of the homemakers.

Seventy-five per cent wanted packages dated. A number of homemakers mistakenly thought chicken offered in weekend specials in retail stores was old chicken that had to be moved fast before it spoiled. Putting a date on packages would help assure them that these chickens are fresh, the researchers believe. Many people do not realize how quickly broilers move through the marketing channels or that often these sales are run at a loss in order to attract customers.

Characteristics most preferred in broilers were meatiness and plumpness. In both Wilmington and suburban areas approximately one out of four housewives indicated a preference for yellow skinned birds. Hardly any of the Homemakers rely on a brand name and none mentioned grade as a characteristic they look for when buying.

A complete summary of the survey information is available in the new bulletin "City and Suburban Families Preferences and Buying Habits for Frying Chicken." It is free on request from the School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark.

Bids Submitted For SHD Contract

Ten contracting concerns submitted bids to the State Highway Department recently for constructing an additional and making alteration, to the Department's testing laboratory building.

A. Fortunato & Sons, Inc., of Wilmington, submitted low bid of $140,000 for the proposed work on the structure, which is located just east of the Highway Department administration building.

The project will consist of erecting an addition to the northern side of the structure as well as making some alterations to the rear of the east side and the interior of the structure.

The bidders, and the amount of their bids, were A. Fortunato & Sons, Inc., Wilmington, $140,000; Reese W. Smith, Georgetown, $151,379; Hallock Construction, Inc., Easton, Md., $154,400; Clute Brothers, Wyoming, $158,000.

John L. Briggs & Co., Georgetown, $159,950; J. A. Bader & Co., Inc., Wilmington, $164,900; H. Clay Phillips' Sons, Middletown, $165,444; Rosaio Construction Co., Wilmington, $168,946; W. B. Mitten & Sons, Dover, $170,000; James H. Wood, Dover, $172,000.

Felton School News

STUDENT COUNCIL

On Tuesday, Nov. 17, a delegation of Student Council members attended a meeting of the State Student Council at Harrington High School.

The program consisted of a business meeting, a general meeting, and an individual group discussion.

On November 30, the Felton High School Student Council will be host to the monthly meeting of the Kent County Student Council Association.

At a special meeting of the Student Council, it was decided to use some of the proceeds from the magazine campaign to purchase playground equipment and record players for the elementary class rooms.

Felton School will be host to the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade teachers of Kent County for a Professional Growth Conference sponsored by the Delaware State Education Association on Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, from 4:45 to 9.

The theme of the program is "Human Relations in Education." The general program format will consist of registration, dinner, a speech by a national consultant, discussion groups, and summary.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grade teachers of Felton School will serve as a welcoming committee, and the Alumni Association will serve the dinner.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT The Felton School Music Department is making final preparations for its annual Christmas Concert which will be held in the school auditorium on Thursday evening, Dec. 10, at 8 p. m.

The concert will feature the 56 voice Mixed Chorus, the School Dance Band and the High School Concert Band.

A program preview of the concert will appear in this paper next week.

DANCE The sophomore class of Felton High School is giving a sock hop, Dec. 4, in the school cafeteria.

MENU—Nov. 30-Dec. 4 Monday—Macaroni and cheese, stewed tomatoes, milk, bread and butter, peaches.

Tuesday—Turkey pie, buttered peas, milk, fruit jello, bread and butter.

Wednesday—Combination sandwich, green string beans, milk, cherry cobbler.

Thursday—Barbecue hamburger on roll, cole slaw, milk, fruit or pie.

Friday—Baked fish fillets, baked beans, milk, fruit cup, corn meal muffins, butter.

Zwaanendael Museum Notes

The Zwaanendael Museum will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26.

On special exhibit now for Delaware Day, Dec. 7, is a display prepared by Phillip Snyder, eighth grade student in the Lewes Special School District for his recent history project.

Our church congregation received a real spiritual blessing when the Dover Air Base Commander brought us the morning message, Col. John L. Parker is a living testimony of what Christ can do for a lost person.

he personally favored holding limited hearings. The committee will have the recommendations of Governor Boggs and the State Budget Commission for fiscal '61 as embodied in HB 1, the budget request for the biennium.

Because of the state's revenue difficulties, the General Assembly approved only the budget for the current fiscal year, and the Joint Finance Committee restricted its hearings to the one-year request.

Governor Boggs said last week he intends to submit no new budget recommendations for fiscal '61.

Director of USIA To Speak at U. of D.

George V. Allen, director of the U. S. Information Agency, will visit the campus of the University of Delaware as the guest of the department of political science on Nov. 30.

Mr. Allen will present a public lecture on "The Cultural Activities of the United States Government in Foreign Affairs," at 8 p.m. in Room 220, Hulihan Hall.

Prior to his appointment to his present post by President Eisenhower in November, 1957, Mr. Allen, one of this country's senior career diplomats, had been a member of the Foreign Service of the U. S. for 28 years. He has served, during his career, as U. S. Ambassador to Greece, Yugoslavia, to India and to Iran. He has also held the position of assistant secretary of State on two occasions.

When he was first appointed assistant secretary ten years ago, Mr. Allen was placed in charge of the overseas information and cultural activities of the U. S., including the Voice of America radio broadcasts and the press, library and cultural relations work abroad. At that time, this activity was a part of the State Department. After two years in this capacity, Mr. Allen received his appointment as Ambassador to Yugoslavia, in 1950.

In keeping with America's efforts for world peace, the information and cultural work of the State Department continued to expand. Following the inauguration of the Eisenhower administration in 1953, a special government department, the U. S. Information Agency, was established. Mr. Allen's present assignment to head that Agency is therefore something of a "return engagement."

Through the years, Mr. Allen has been a familiar figure at top-level international conferences. In 1943, he went to the Moscow Conference with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Later that year he attended the war-time conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Cairo. He was at the conference which wrote the U. N. Charter in San Francisco in the spring of 1945, and later attended the Truman-Churchill-Stalin Conference at Potsdam. He was chairman of the U. S. Delegations at the UNESCO Conference at Beirut in 1948 and at Paris in 1949.

After entering the State Department on April 15, 1930, Mr. Allen served as Vice Consul at Kingston, Jamaica and at Shanghai, China. In 1934, while in Washington for reassignment, he met Katharine Martin, daughter of an Army officer, and married her a few months later, Oct. 2. The day after the wedding, the Allens sailed for Patras, Greece, where Mr. Allen served as Vice Consul until 1936. He was Consul at Cairo before returning for Departmental service in Washington in 1938.

After serving in various capacities in the office of Near Eastern and African Affairs, he was appointed Ambassador to Iran in 1946. Other key posts followed. He was Ambassador to Greece for more than a year immediately prior to his present appointment as USIA Director.

During his visit Mr. Allen will be entertained by the political science faculty at a tea in the faculty lounge of the Student Center.

Two Drouths, Long Rainy Period Make Farming Difficult

The 1959 cropping season was difficult for most Kent County farmers because of two extended drouths and long rainy period, says George Vapaa, Kent County Agricultural Agent. The celebration of Farm-City Week, now underway, seems to be a good time to sum up or review conditions, he adds.

Ideally, a farmer would like to get about an inch of rain per week for best crop development. 1956 was such a year, but we get this kind of a season only about one year in ten.

The spring season started off with a dry period that extended almost to the middle of July. This meant that corn germinated slowly, small grains such as wheat, rye, oats, and barley did not size up properly, and pastureage was short. Asparagus harvest was short, and many potato growers irrigated four or five times. The first and second cutting of alfalfa were put into the barn in excellent condition because of good weather, however.

The rains came about the middle of July and continued on and off for about six weeks. Some farmers got as much as 12 inches of rain in a one week period. Wet fields could not be cultivated, and this accounted for the bush weed growth observed this year. Then too, tomato fields could not be sprayed, so that the crop was a lost due to unchecked blights. The potato harvest suffered for much the same reason, and farmers could not dig the clean, bright crop we usually get. But lets admit, the rains arrived just in time to save 90% of the corn crop which was just beginning to tasse and form ears.

Came September, hot drying winds, and not rain. The farmer seeds pasture land and small grains in the fall. Our ground dries out quickly because it is light and contains but little humus or organic matter. Much fall seeding has been delayed, but farmers are now making a final drive to get the ground worked up and planted. The corn crop turned out better than most people expected but it is cheap in price due to a bumper crop nationally. Precipwise, the soybeans picture appears much better, though yields are down because the seed size is small due to the dry maturing weather.

What's the point of this review? It is to show that natural influences do much to determine a farmer's fate. Some farmers work around their misfortunes. Others simply try to endure them. Farmers with livestock generally find it easier to adapt to changing weather conditions. Most farmers find that two or three different crops in prospect is better than relying on one. And if there need be any consolation, weather extremes are becoming easier to deal with.

'59 Broiler Output Some Higher Than In 1958

Broiler production for the year 1959 in the United States will be from 3 to 4 per cent above the 1958 level. This estimate is based on egg and chick placement data already available. For the Delaware area the 1959 production of broilers will be below 1958. Due to low market prices and in many cases negative returns, broiler numbers may be lower for the first half of 1960. The apparent tightening of credit tends to further verify a lower production prospect for the coming year, according to Dr. Harold D. Smith, Agricultural Economist of the University of Maryland, College of Agriculture.

Sunday School—10 a.m. Our average for the month of November is right on 200. We are working for 200 in attendance this week, thus completing the month with a substantial gain over last year. Classes for all ages, graded material, and competent teachers.

Morning worship 11 a.m. Songs by the Young People's Choir. Message by the pastor.

Pilgrim Youth service 7 p.m. The theme this week is "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Those taking part in the youth service are: Peggy Mervine, Marlene Forshee, Jack Carpenter, Lois Carpenter, Mary Melvin, Paul Mervine, Marlene Mervine, Dorothy Mae Melvin, Phyllis Sherwood, and John Mervine, leader.

Evening service—7:45 p.m. A singspiration always opens the evening service, and we use the hymns and gospel songs that everyone enjoys singing. A message from the Word of the Lord by the pastor.

The Thanksgiving offering for the building fund this past Sunday amounted to an even $1200 thus making a total building fund offering for the month of November $1670. While this did not equal the record offering of $1900 of last year, we are indeed happy and grateful for the fine response in this offering at this time.

The annual self-denial offering for the work of Foreign Missions will be received this Sunday, Nov. 29.

Our Junior Choir is growing each week with 30 in attendance Monday afternoon. The Junior Choir members are rehearsing diligently for the Christmas season that is just ahead of us. They meet each Monday at 3:45 until 4:45.

What is Phosphorus Fixation?

A question often asked by farmers at this time of year is the meaning of the term, phosphorus fixation, says county agent George K. Vapaa.

When soil is acid, the iron and aluminum in soil are very active. These elements react with phosphorus to form a compound that is unavailable to plants. So, even if phosphorus is applied as a fertilizer, some of it will be tied up and cannot be used by the plants.

This can be corrected by the application of lime. Lime will correct the soil acidity and decrease the activity of iron and aluminum. It may take six months to a year for this chemical action to take place. After the acidity has been corrected, phosphorus application will give better results.

Mr. Vapaa advised that before applying fertilizer, be sure the lime requirements of the soil has been determined by a soil test. Fall and winter is an ideal time to take soil samples so you can take care of next year's lime, phosphorus and potash needs.

Poorly planned lime and fertilizer programs can often be blamed on the rush of spring work. If soil samples are taken now, you will have plenty of time to order the correct fertilizers and to take advantage of early-order discounts. Also the Soil Testing Laboratory is better able to handle samples at this time of year, he said.

Lime, phosphorus and potash can be applied during the winter months when the ground is firm and suffers less from heavy spreading equipment.

Any fertilizer containing nitrogen should be applied in late winter or early spring. Nitrogen fertilizer applied too early can be leached out of sandy soils by winter rains.

Since plant nutrient levels in the soil are always low at the end of the crop season, the agent stresses, fall is ideal for taking lime and plant food inventory of next year's crop needs.

Send your sample to the Soil Testing Laboratory, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware.

For testing information, write or call Mr. Vapaa at the second floor of the Dover post office. Ask for the Extension Folder 56, "Have Your Soil Tested."

industries, which included re-employment of 1200 auto workers following the model change-over, and declines of 100 each in two other segments.

The report shows that employment in non-durable goods manufacturing is at about the same level as October, 1958. The rubber, leather, printing and apparel industries show more jobs, while textiles and food are a little lower.

Turning to wages and hours worked in Delaware manufacturing industries, the report shows that average weekly hours rose by seven-tenths of an hour from September to October, while average hourly earnings fell slightly to $2.28 an hour. Average weekly earnings came to $90.52, which is $1.21 higher than the month before.

As compared with the same month last year, October earnings are higher but hours worked have declined eight-tenths of an hour. Curtailment of the work week in automobile assembly strongly affected the decrease in average hours worked over the year.

only the essentials should be painted. One of the difficult things in painting is the absence of pure colors such as in nature. No paints have been manufactured that portray pure colors. Finally, Dr. Kuhlmann mentioned that composition and organization are important. The ability to do the actual painting is an ability that comes from within.

Other things that could be considered were values, refraction and brush techniques. Art is a hobby with most people and people in all walks of life enjoy this recreation.

The members were treated to a small exhibition of Dr. Kuhlmann's paintings and he noted that they were scenes from Blairs Pond, Leipsic, and Bowers Beach.

A social hour followed, with members of Mrs. Gilstad's committee, Mrs. L. R. Beauchamp, Mrs. Ernest Raughley, Mrs. Luster H. Rogers, assisting. Other members of the committee were Mrs. Nelson Benjamin, Mrs. Everett Warrington and Mrs. C. Fred Wilson.

At the regular business meeting Mrs. W. W. Shaw presided. Reports of the previous meeting, the executive committee meeting and treasurer's report were given.

On the recommendation of the executive committee the club will send a donation of $5 to the Anti-T. B. Association for Christmas Seals, and $5 to the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee American Legion Auxiliary Unit to be used in the Christmas gift shop at Brax-Ex Veteran's Hospital.

A letter of resignation from Mrs. A. C. Ford was regrettably accepted. An invitation was read from the Greensboro Baptist church members inviting the Harrington New Century Club to attend their Christian Layman's meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 24 at the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Harrington. Mrs. Charles Peck Jr. reported profit of $80 from the card party held last week. She thanked all the members for their assistance.

Cheer baskets of fruit and candy were assembled to be delivered before Thanksgiving to members who are ill or shut-in.

The next meeting to be held on Dec. 8 will be the annual Christmas program and will be on the topic "American Home" with Mrs. Allen Parsons chairman of the committee.

Girl Scout News

Mrs. William J. Walls, Reporter Plans are being formed for a round-up to be held in Dover, January 16. Brownies and Girl Scouts, consult your leaders for details. You have been invited to serve as hostess.

Brownie Troop 120 under the leadership of Mrs. Jesse Jones, helped the Century Club members prepare for their card party last Tuesday evening. The girls set up tables, placed chairs, distributed ash trays, talley cards, and counted cards. They were directed by Mrs. J. Millard Cooper and Mrs. Charles L. Peck Jr.

TROOP 131 Mrs. Norman Brown, Leader We opened the meeting at 3:45 p.m. Nov. 18. First we discussed the possibility of joining the 7th and 8th grade troops all together. Next we elected officers. They were: president, Linda Smith; secretary, Jacquelyn Russum; treasurer, Jacquelyn Russum; news reporter, Jacquelyn Russum.

We decided to meet each Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. The projects that we discussed were the making of aluminum trays.

Each girl would like to donate a piece of used clothing to give to Mrs. L. Farrow for some needy child.
