

Three Directors Are Elected At Fair Stockholders' Meeting

Three directors were elected at the annual stockholders' meeting of the Kent & Sussex Fair Monday night in the auditorium of Harrington School. The meeting followed a dinner in the cafeteria.

The new directors were A. B. Carroll Jr., of Dover, Senator Harry Mayhew, of Milford, and Irving Armstrong, of Middletown.

The new men replace directors who died in the past year. They were Asa Bennett, Frank Graham, and C. Fred Wilson.

The Resolutions Committee, comprising Fulton J. Downing, chairman, A. B. Parsons, and J. Gordon Smith, presented resolutions of respect for the deceased directors and also for Horace E. Quillen, first treasurer of the fair, who died in December. Mrs. Bonnie Carlyle, of Philadelphia, sang "The Lord's Prayer" after the resolutions were presented.

At the start of the meeting, J. Gordon Smith, president of the fair, thanked the stockholders and the fair committees.

Of the 731 shares of stock, 630 shares were represented at the meeting.

The directors will meet this evening (Thurs., Jan. 7) at the Firehouse to elect officers. The normal meeting date, the first Friday in each month, conflicted with the annual citizens' meeting to be held Fri., Jan. 8.

T. Brinton Holloway, secretary and general manager of the fair, who presided at the meeting, cited the improvements to the fairgrounds, in the past year, and added more were contemplated. After the meeting, there was an excellent stage show from Philadelphia.

218 More Firms In Kent County Than 9 Years Ago

"There are 218 more business concerns in Kent County today than there were nine years ago," says M. M. Haworth, district manager of the Philadelphia office of Dun & Bradstreet. Basing his facts upon the figures in the current January, 1960 Reference Book, Haworth points out that in 1950, 542 businesses were listed by Dun & Bradstreet; today there are 760 enterprises - a 40.2 per cent increase.

The Reference Book, incidentally, lists only manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and some service companies, such as laundries and gasoline service stations. Haworth stated that during the past year 410 changes were made in the Reference Book listings of Kent County business, including new names added, names deleted, and changes in ratings of continuing firms. Haworth pointed out that for the entire book, covering over 50,000 communities and containing 3,002,658 listings in the U.S. and Canada, there were 1,628,572 changes during the year.

Using the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings as a guide, it is interesting to review what has happened in the two principal Kent County communities during the past nine years:

Dover listings in November 1950, 361; November 1950, 276; percentage increase 30.8.

Smyrna (1956) listings in November 1950, 110; November 1950, 123; percentage increase, decrease.

In discussing these figures, Haworth pointed out that more than 95% of all commercial transactions in the U.S. are made on credit terms. The purpose of credit reports and the huge Reference Book is to assist businessmen in arriving at credit decisions on customer's orders.

Two Persons Slightly Hurt In Two-Car Crash North of Felton

Two persons were slightly injured in a crash of two cars at Plymouth, along Route 13, about two miles north of Felton, at 9:10 a. m. Saturday.

A car operated by James Sapp Raughley, 65, was proceeding west on the Plymouth road, stopped at the stop sign for the northbound lane of the dual highway, then pulled across the intersection to the southbound lane, without stopping on the crossover.

As the Raughley car moved through the southbound lane of the intersection it struck a car operated by Warren Stewart Wamsley, 34, of Baltimore, which was proceeding south along the

State Song Entries Sought to Praise All Delaware

The committee appointed by Governor Boggs to select a fourth stanza for the state song, "Our Delaware," is now ready to accept entries for consideration, according to Floyd T. Hart, chairman of the committee.

The State Song Committee was appointed by Governor Boggs to carry out the provisions of House Joint Resolution No. 5. This resolution directed the committee to "publicize the need for an additional stanza to the state song, to invite persons to write and submit such a stanza for consideration by the committee, and to examine and elect a stanza from those submitted which best meets the requirements for this additional stanza."

The present three stanzas of the state song shall extoll the virtues and beauties of each of the three counties. A fourth stanza is needed that would pertain to the whole state.

The rules established by the committee governing the submission of a fourth stanza to the state song are as follows: 1. Stanzas are to be typewritten on standard (8 1/2" x 11") paper; 2. No name or other identifying mark shall appear on the entry submitted, but the name, address and telephone number of the entrant shall be included on a separate card or sheet which shall be attached to the sheet containing the stanza; 3. Entries from Delaware residents only will be considered; 4. Entries should be postmarked no later than April 30, 1960, to be considered; 5. Entries not accepted will be returned if accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope; 6. The entry selected as the fourth stanza will become the property of the State of Delaware, and then entrant agrees to waive any copyright claim.

Delaware residents who have the interest and ability are requested to submit their entries to Mr. Hart, Department of Public Instruction, Dover. Those (Continued on back page)

See First State First in '60

Public interest in the "See the First State-First in '60" tourism promotion campaign is mounting according to David S. Hugg, state information officer.

The Delaware State Development Department, a co-sponsor of the campaign, has reported a noticeable increase in the number of requests from out-of-state for Delaware information. According to this state information agency, quite a few of those writing for information have indicated that they plan to vacation in the state or tour Delaware this year. It is understood that other tourist information sources are also experiencing increases in requests for information concerning Delaware's many attractions.

In his annual New Year's message, Governor J. Caleb Boggs, referring to the promotion campaign, called attention to the fact that "in 1960, Delaware and Delawareans will be hosts to the greatest influx of visitors in the long, proud history of the 'First State'"; and urged that "the warm welcome that is traditionally extended to these guests." Earlier, Gov. Boggs had proclaimed 1960 as "See the First State-First Year" as Delaware's part in the nationwide "See the U.S. in '60" campaign.

The slogan, "See the First State-First in '60," is "catching on" according to Mr. Hugg and (Continued on Back Page)

ELECTION TUESDAY, ONE CONTEST

A contest, in the municipal elections, appeared imminent this week when it was learned a petition had been signed for the candidacy of Bill Smith for councilman from the Fifth Ward. Smith, high-school instructor and football coach, is scheduled to be opposed by the incumbent, Norman Oliver. However, no assurances of candidacies are absolute, pending the presentation of the petitions at the annual citizens' meeting tonight in the Firehouse. In other words, last-minute petitions could be presented.

In the Sixth Ward, Councilman Charles Hopkins is favored to run for re-election. He is serving out of the unexpired term of Jack Apt, who moved from the community.

Councilmen serve three years. Election will take place Tuesday from noon to 7 p.m. The evening after election the annual reorganization meeting will take place at City Hall. At this time, new officers will be sworn in and city employees will be hired. Applications are being received, for all city posts, until 4 p.m., Wednesday. Employees are required to submit their applications, in writing annually.

At the citizens' meeting tonight, Mayor Charles L. Peck Sr., will tell of city improvements, in the past week, and of contemplated improvements.

Both Houses Start Slowly; 7 Bills Pass

Both chambers opened the 1960 legislative session cautiously Monday.

Members of both houses spent Monday in caucus and conversation. The House approved five bills and adjourned about 5 p.m. The Senate lapsed into adjournment a half-hour later having passed two bills affecting certain schools.

It was a slow start for what promises to be a rough session. In the office are the Governor's reform program and the inevitability of a revenue crisis, with the general election looming in November.

One of the decisions reached in caucus apparently was to meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until the Governor's proposals are complete and public hearings can be scheduled. The legislators have asked the Governor to place the entire package program before them within three weeks.

The House passed two election bills, two Middletown bills, and one routine appropriation bill over a veto the Governor has to issue at a time the state was technically unable to make further appropriations.

That item, HB-21, appropriates money to every volunteer fire company having a rescue truck. The cost to the state is about $16,000 a year. As matters stood Monday, the legislature had just $788,352 to spend this fiscal year. If the Senate completes the over-riding of the veto the amount will be about $772,352. Since the veto was a technical one and the funds are available, the Republicans joined the Democrats in voting to override.

The election bills passed included HB-419, which would require court clerks to supply the departments of elections with lists of persons convicted of felonies, so that their names may be removed from the registration lists in conformity with the constitutional requirement that they not be permitted to vote. It also instructs the attorney general's office to decide which name is to be crossed off when a death is reported and two persons of the same name are found to be registered. The bill also requires that the time and date be marked on absentee ballots when they are returned to the department.

The other election measure was HB-462, which corrects an (Continued on back page)

A June wedding is planned.

House Votes $229,885; Police, Welfare To Get Most

The House of Representatives Tuesday approved appropriations adding up to $229,885, with the largest chunks going to the State Welfare Home and the State Police.

If the Senate follows suit on the appropriations approved by the House Tuesday and Monday, the legislature will have just $542,467 left to spend out of this fiscal year's estimated income of $73,500,000.

The largest of the items approved in the House Tuesday would provide $130,000 to the State Welfare Home and Hospital for the Chronically Ill at Smyrna to operate the new building the institution is about ready to open.

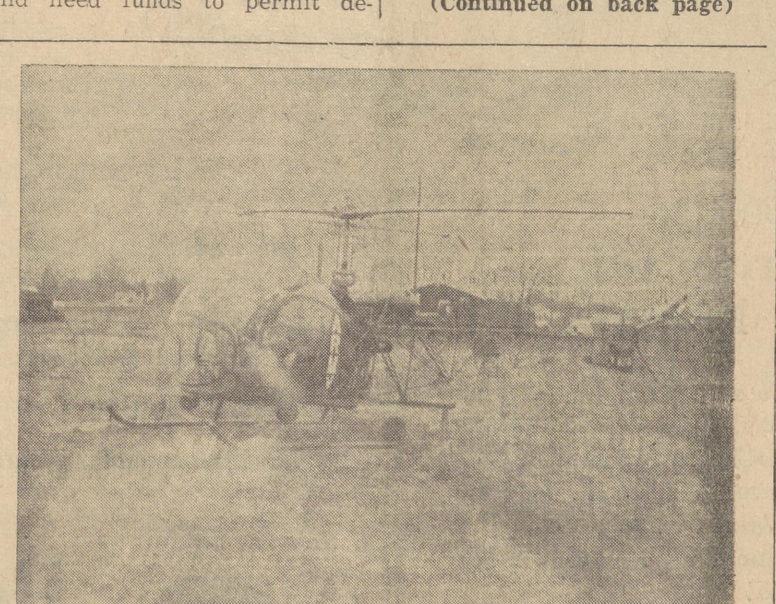

Rep. Charles C. King (D-Smyrna) pointed out the money was not included in the general appropriation bill because the building was not finished when that bill was enacted.

There was no objection. The measure, HB-442, went through with 32 yeas, three absent.

The State Police measure, HB-410, would provide a supplementary appropriation of $98,500. Of this total, $53,000 is for capital equipment, while $26,500 is for salaries and $19,000 for operations.

Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred) told the members: "Right now we have troopers patrolling with cars with more than 1000,000 miles on them. Some of the tires are almost as bare of tread as my head is of hair."

The members needed no money for convincing on the funding for equipment, but the other items were questioned briefly. Col. John P. Ferguson, superintendent, said the police are short a mechanic, need more clerks, and need funds to permit de-

Christmas Program Appears Favorable, C. of C. Hears

At the January meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held at The Wonder R Tuesday, the club's annual Christmas program was discussed and deemed favorable.

Reports were that sale of tickets, used in the annual drawings for merchandise, exceeded that of last year. Winners did not have to be present this year, as in previous years, and the thought was expressed that this innovation helped move merchandise more than usual.

Solicitation of funds, for the Christmas lighting program, it was heard, was favorable.

Thomas Clendening, vice president, said the Lions Club had expressed itself as willing to support Harrington as a site for the Delmarva Chicken Festival, this year or next. The Site Committee had written the Chamber inquiring if it was interested and had received a reply in the affirmative.

The Chamber voted to defray $5 of the cost of a $12.50 ticket to the 123rd annual meeting and dinner of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce Thurs., Jan. 28, at 7 p. m., at the DuPont Country Club, Wilmington.

Members desiring to go are asked to see the secretary, C. H. Burgess.

After the meeting, the Retail Merchants Committee met and talked over a proposed community-wide sale for the end of the month.

The total cost of the Christmas program was $1667.90, with electricity being donated by the City. Prizes, totaling $842.91, were given away by the 31 participating merchants.

Ft. Delaware Society Plans 10th Meeting

The Fort Delaware Society has completed plans for the 10th annual meeting to be held Sat., Jan. 16, at the Eagle Restaurant, 104 W. 9th Street, Wilmington, it was announced by William P. Frank, president.

The year 1960 will mark the 100th anniversary of completion of the Fort, Mr. Frank said, and this should help make the Pea Patch Island State Park a top tourist attraction during the coming 12 months.

Edmund Gass of Washington, D. C., a member of the National Civil War Centennial Commission, will be principal speaker at the January 16 luncheon. He will outline suggestions as to the role Fort Delaware can play in the 1961-64 Centennial of the War Between the States.

There will be a progress report with illustrated slides on work that has been done at the Fort during the past year. Also to be discussed is the huge model of Fort and Island which has been under construction for nearly a year.

Mr. Frank said that a new edition of Delaware Notes will be available for members and friends who attend the meeting. The election of officers for 1960 is also on the agenda.

Luncheon reservations at $2.50 each can be made by writing the Fort Delaware Society, Box 1251, Wilmington.

FREAR PREDICTS FARM AND LABOR TO INTEREST CONGRESS

H.H.S. Five Defeats St. Peters

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Dick Jeffers' Harrington High basketball Lions opened their scholastic schedule on a winning note as they handily triumphed over St. Peter's High of New Castle 53-40. They had previously beaten an alumni team before the holidays.

The Lion mentor said his squad was as hot in the first quarter as they have ever been in his three year tenure here. Featuring a crowd-pleasing fast break and Jim Temple's excellent shooting the locals romped to a 21-4 first stanza margin. The passing and rebounding of Ron Collison, Bob Gillette and George Pfeiffer were important factors in setting up the scoring opportunities. Bruce Smith, son of Jayvee coach Bill Smith, played a fine game. Jim McDonald also played an improved brand of ball.

The home team is comparatively inexperienced inasmuch, as practically all of last year's 15-4 squad was lost by graduation. Coach Jeffers will be forced to go all the way with five or six men unless some members of the second unit show a quick and miraculous improvement. It is not the writer's intention to seem to be critical of the reserves. The fact is that basketball is a more scientific game than many and it takes much longer to master its many facets.

United States Senator J. Allen Frear predicted Tuesday that the farm problem, labor-management disputes, especially in basic industries, and the status of the nation's financial condition will be subjects of major Congressional attention in the months ahead.

In his first weekly statement—issued as the lawmakers returned to the Capitol for the Second Session of the 86th Congress—Mr. Frear also expressed the view that foreign affairs will occupy a significant portion of the new Congressional year. He called attention to the President's recent journey and the fact-finding trips of many senate and house members as factors likely to influence consideration of legislation affecting military and economic aid to other countries of the world.

Mr. Frear—who is beginning his 12th year as a member of the United States Senate—also voiced the hope that despite the increasing political pressures in the election year of 1960, Congress will exercise the highest possible motives in reaching its legislative decisions during the months ahead.

He said it is probable that the lawmakers will tackle the most controversial matters early in the session in order to clear the way for adjournment in July.

In summarizing his first statement of the new year, Senator Frear added, "We face the dual obligation of promoting strong and effective policies in matters of both domestic and foreign interest. As in the past, I shall earnestly welcome the continued expressions of interest and guidance with which the people of Delaware during these last 11 years have so generously favored me, and I shall look forward with great anticipation to a continuation of our mutually pleasant association during 1960."

Congress Prepares For Election

The members of the Senate and House are back in Washington this week for the second half of the crucial Eighty-sixth Congress. As the lawmakers convene, speculation mounts as to the type and extent of legislative decisions likely to come out of the politically charged months ahead. One indication is already evident; Congress will probably tackle the most controversial matters early in the session in order to clear the way for adjournment in July in time for the National Conventions of the major parties and the Presidential and Congressional elections which follow in the fall.

But in advance of these events, the Senate and House membership is resuming its immediate deliberations against the background of new and increased emphasis in the field of foreign affairs. The recently concluded journey of the President especially in distant areas of Asia plus the upcoming summit meetings later in the year, are casting their shadows before them. The President's impressions and recommendations to the Congress which will undoubtedly be reflected in his annual message will be measured against those gained by Senators and Congressmen, many of whom also examined the status of our relations with other countries of the world in the months just passed. Consideration of all points of views—that is, those gained by the executive office of the Government as well as by the Legislative Branch—will, I believe, occupy a significant portion of the Congressional year.

Coach Joe Kerns settles down to the task of preparing for rival Greenwood Friday night, but he can do the job with a certain amount of joy.

Monday night the Green Devils, which were beaten in their season opener by Milford, had little trouble in turning back Middletown, 59-41, to balance the season.

Three Felton players hit for double figures, and after a close 12-10 first quarter, Middletown was never in the game. Felton outscored the home forces, 20-11, in the second period and held on to the margin of victory.

Bob Edwards led the scoring parade for Felton, hitting for seven field goals, foul shot and 15 points. On the heels of Edwards was Joe Sherwood, with 13, and Billy Stubbs, with 12.

Dick Myers and Bob Clark were high men for Middletown, with 12 and 10 points respectively.

Felton won the game from the field goal shooting, while Middletown held the edge in free throws, while Felton hit on only 11.

Felton tallied 24 field goals, while Middletown scored only 12. In a junior varsity prelim, Felton defeated Middletown, 52-25. The box score:

Highway Department to Submit Expenditures Report to Solons

The State Highway Department is planning to submit a complete report on the actual expenditures of the Department for the first half of the present fiscal year to the Joint Legislative Finance Committee when that body considers the budget allocations for the next fiscal year.

Through the IBM records, now maintained by the Department, an accurate report on these expenditures, together with existing balances for various operations, is constantly available. It is the records from this method of maintaining accounts that will enable the Department to disclose complete data concerning all of their operations thus far during the present fiscal year, under which the Department is operating on a reduced budget for maintenance in comparison with the previous fiscal year.

According to R. A. Haber, Chief Engineer of the Department, these records are always available for examination by any resident of this state who may be interested in seeing them.

Following a custom established by Mr. Haber, the Department is expected to inform the Legislature that they will operate on the funds that are made available to the department, but the extent of the operations will have to be governed by the funds that are made available.

Veterans News

Delaware disabled veterans and widows and children of deceased veterans who receive monthly non-service-connected pension payments from the Veterans Administration are urged by the VA Regional Office to return properly filled-in tabulating card which has been sent them for use in reporting their annual income.

Cards have been sent to 1466 veterans and 763 veterans dependents in Delaware, who are receiving pensions from the VA, Mr. Leon Fields, Manager VA Regional Office, said.

Pension recipients are allowed 30 days, or until the close of January, 1960 to return the card with the information. Those without dependents whose income is greater than $1400 a year or those with dependents whose income is greater than $2700 a year may not receive a pension under present law.

Failure to return the reporting card within 30 days will result in the stopping of the monthly pension payment.

The VA official also pointed out two important facts: Veterans and dependents receiving service-connected compensation payments will not receive cards and do not have to report incomes.

This income questionnaire has nothing to do with the new pension law which goes into effect July 1, 1960. All pension recipients will receive further information on the new law in the mail during March. The questionnaire being distributed now must be returned to insure that monthly payments will not be interrupted.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I'm a Korea veteran, holding GI term insurance. I understand, by a recent law, I now can convert it to a permanent plan. Is this so?

A—Yes. If your policy has the letters "RS" before the policy number, you may convert to any one of six VA permanent plans. You are also eligible to exchange your policy for a lower-priced term policy.

Q—Is it possible for a disabled "peacetime" veteran to draw VA compensation at wartime rates?

A—Yes—if the disability resulted from extra-hazardous service, as, for example, participation in simulated warfare, the veteran may be eligible for compensation at wartime rates.

Q—Is there a deadline for filing a claim for disability compensation with VA?

A—There is no deadline. A veteran may apply any time. However, an eligible veteran applying within a year from the date of his release from service may have his payments back-dated to the day following his release from service. A veteran who applies after he has been out of service one year may be paid only from the date his application was filed.

Q—Can a disabled Korea veteran getting military retired pay receive vocational rehabilitation training from VA?

A—Yes. Receipt of military retired pay does not affect the eligibility of a Korea veteran to a service-connected disability to take vocational rehabilitation training. He must, however, need the training to overcome his handicap; his discharge must have been under conditions other than dishonorable; and his disability must be such as would entitle him to VA compensation if he were not receiving military retired pay.

Q—I borrowed on my GI insurance and want to start paying off the loan with monthly payments. How do I do this?

A—Make your check or money order payable to the Veterans Administration and mail it to the VA office which has your insurance records. Be sure to give your insurance number and specify that the payment is to be applied to your loan.

Q—Is it possible to take college extension courses by correspondence under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. Correspondence courses are prohibited by the aWR Orphans Education law.

Q—I was in military service both in World War II and in the Korean conflict. I have never used my GI loan benefit. Which deadline am I bound by—the one for World War II veterans or the one for Korea veterans?

A—The deadline for Korea veterans applies in your case. You have until January 31, 1965, to obtain your GI loan.

Q—I am on the VA pension rolls for a non-service-connected disability and have just got VA's annual income questionnaire through the mails. I received a money gift during 1959 from relatives. Do I have to report that as income?

A—Yes, money gifts are considered as income for pension purposes and should be reported as income on the questionnaire.

Delaware Food Market Report

Despite the season, there are quite a number of fresh fruits and vegetables available at most local markets this week. Bringing sun-drenched fresh fruits and vegetables to the cold areas of the country is one of the agricultural and transportation marvels of our century.

As for vegetables check your favorite market for fresh carrots, celery, iceberg lettuce, yellow onions of medium size, Long Island and Maine potatoes, radishes, green Italian squash and broccoli. The nation's winter lettuce crop is above average, however, quality and price vary greatly. This is one vegetable that needs to be watched, so shop carefully. Broccoli is a good buy this time of year. This delicious green vegetable fits into almost any menu. Serve it hot or chilled, in casseroles or soups or any of the many other ways this vegetable can be prepared. Peppers, cucumbers and eggplants are all rather expensive since all are scarce now because of bad weather in their growing area.

Fresh fruits for this week's shopping list include medium to large size avocados, oranges, tangerines, grapefruit and many Eastern apples. Raisins continue to be in heavy supply and many stores will feature this fruit on special sales. Grapes, pears and bananas are a bit higher in price this week but by shopping around you will find some good buys on these fruits also. Right now cranberry supplies are heavy. This fruit can perk up most any meal. Have you ever tried jellied cranberry sauce served "long side" your scrambled eggs? Delicious is the word for it. Get a supply of fresh or canned cranberries when you market this week.

Here's a good buy—eggs. Lots of fresh eggs are available now at very attractive prices. Supplies are on the increase now and that means bargain prices.

Thrifty buys for the main dish include pork. Check pork loin roast, chops, smoked ham, sausage and bacon for good buys this week. Other economy meat buys are roast beef, a few steaks and broiler-fryers. Most of the beef coming to market now is from high quality fattened or grain fed animals. High grade beef has a smooth covering of firm, creamy white fat. The lean of high quality beef is uniform and bright in color ranging from pale to deep red. The lean is well marbled with creamy white fat. The texture of the lean is firm, velvety in appearance and fine in grain. The bones are reddish and porous. These few pointers will help you select high quality beef when you shop.

Gifts by large corporations have been a new source of support for higher education in recent years, Dr. Perkins observes, but most of them have benefited private rather than public institutions.

"This discrimination is not completely justified," he says. "The public universities have been most significantly meeting the needs of industry for the type of personnel that has resulted in new products and greater efficiency, both of which have proved for greater profits."

"Fortunately, corporations which have conscientiously in-

Treated Fence Posts Last Longer

Fence posts will last 15-20 years if treated with pentachloropentol, County Agent George Vapaa, reported. But you should only treat posts that take treatment well. Pine from your own woodlot make ideal posts, he said.

"Penta or creosote are good materials for the job, but it must penetrate one-half inch or more to be effective," he said. Applying preservative with a brush is a waste of time and money.

Mr. Vapaa advised this three-step treatment:

1. Remove all bark.
 2. Let the posts dry out completely before treating.
 3. Immerse them full length in the preservative for 24-48 hours.
- Several species resist decay and do not need treatment. Those include black locust, white oak, osage orange, and red cedar.

Pine takes treatment best. Other woods that respond well to treatment are sweet gum, red oak, black oak, and hickory.

Lumber yards usually carry pressure-treated posts. These will last 30-years or more and will prove to be the best investment for permanent fences.

"The Flying Fontaines" At Reese Jan. 7-8-9

The management of Movie Center has been showered with requests for the top all-family show of the season. So now, we are calling all Moms and Dads and Kids to see "The Flying Fontaines" and Mister Magoo's "101 Arabian Nights" listed for showing at the Reese Theatre, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 7-8-9. It is regarded as the all family must see show of all times, especially good times.

The ever popular Robert Taylor is the star of MGM's "The House of the 7 Hawks", the unusual suspense hit listed for showing at Movie Center Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 10-11-12. Filmed in Holland where the action takes place, this unusual drama affords a picturesque background seldom seen in the movies for something different. This should also be on your 'must see' list.

Higher Education Financing, Major Issue of U. of D.

Public appropriations, gifts from business, alumni and friends, and higher student fees will all be required for the adequate financing of higher education in the next decade, according to Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware.

"We must realize that we are rich enough to educate ourselves as we need to be educated in order to survive and flourish," Dr. Perkins advises. "Time and opportunity lost in the education of college-age youth can never be reclaimed."

Rapidly swelling college enrollments in the sixties foretell the need for greatly increased funds, Dr. Perkins states in his annual report for the 1958-59 academic year.

"The income of colleges and universities is generally too small to attract the needed quality of people to their faculties," he observes. "There are ever more books and scientific journals to be purchased, and they are more costly. Both laboratory supplies and equipment are more complex, more varied and more expensive. Research, indispensable to teaching of collegiate calibre, consumes space in a lava-like fashion. Fuller utilization of plant increases operational costs for utilities and maintenance services. Added students will require more qualified faculty, more laboratories, more equipment and more library books."

To properly finance higher education, it is the responsibility of enlightened citizens to demand self-sacrifice to the extent needed, Dr. Perkins declares. In Delaware, a State rather than Federal approach to financing is of decided advantage, he says.

"In the present decade," Dr. Perkins notes, "State grants to the university for general operations have more than doubled; nevertheless, higher education now receives a smaller proportion of the state's total appropriation than it did six years ago. Yet the Delaware Legislature has made a remarkable record in satisfying the University's conservative requests for operating funds in each biennium. Delaware, however, has about kept abreast of what the other states have done for higher education. In spite of its higher-than-average per capita income, the State of Delaware still ranks in the lowest quartile in its expenditures per student in state-supported institutions of higher learning."

Staff members of the School of Agriculture, University of Delaware are making several reports at the annual Northeastern Weed Control Conference in New York City Jan. 6-8.

Professor E. M. Rahn, horticultural department, University of Delaware, vice president of the organization, said he was impressed by the large number of reports on the program dealing with crabgrass control. There will be eight papers presented on crabgrass.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Planning's an important part of any task. And the clever needlecrafter will, once in a while, devote some time to organizing her work. She'll check her calendar carefully to note family birthdays, holidays and other special occasions and then allow herself plenty of time to fashion a beautiful handmade gift for each red letter day. In this way the busy homemaker will be spared last minute rushing and anxiety and will constantly have pleasant and creative projects to add happiness and variety to her daily routine.

IF WINTER COMES . . . the poet said, "can spring be far behind?" The needleworker who plans will agree and realize it's not a bit too soon to crochet this charming blouse for the young lady of the family who associates springtime with prom time. For every teen-ager wants something new, something special, to wear to a school dance. This youthful blouse, trimmed with a pretty band of posies, was designed for the belle of the ball, yet is easy and economical to make. Clusters and V-stitches form the body while the motif trim is made separately and then sewn on. The simplicity of this crocheted design will please and flatter the cheerleader in your family who'll rate cheers herself when she wears it.

FUN TO MAKE

You'll enjoy fashioning this lovely design and enjoy even more being prepared for that inevitable question, "But what will I wear?" For your copy of free directions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Dept. of this newspaper. Request CROCHETED BLOUSE, Leaflet No. PC-1273.

Diamond State Telephone Company Files Revised Tariffs With Commission

The Diamond State Telephone Company Monday filed with the Delaware Public Service Commission revised tariffs to become effective Feb. 7 providing for the adoption of a new and more accurate method of mileage measurement for toll message telephone service, teletype-writer exchange service and inter-exchange channels within Delaware.

Rates for these services will remain unchanged and charges for regular exchange services in the state will not be affected by the revisions.

The new mileage measurement method, known as the V-H System because it uses vertical and horizontal co-ordinates developed mathematically from the latitude and longitude of rate centers, replaces the less accurate and less efficient method of using maps which are subject to distortion and are unsatisfactory from the viewpoints of maintenance and administration.

Adoption of the new V-H system is part of a rate decrease package for interstate service announced by the Federal Communications Commission last July after discussion with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

A reduction in interstate rates went into effect on Sept. 19 and, since that time, Delaware customers who call interstate points for which rates were reduced have been billed at the lower rates.

The Bell System companies also filed revised tariffs with the Federal Communications Commission Monday providing for the new mileage measurement method to be effective for interstate services on and after Feb. 7, 1960.

Mileages measured on the new V-H basis will in most cases be the same as before, but in some cases will be shorter and in other cases longer than previously.

The resulting alterations will cause some changes in the charges for services on certain routes. Most charges will remain the same, some will be lower and some will be higher. No change in message charge, however, will be more than five cents.

Attache Cost Up $20 Daily

The House and Senate juggled attaches Tuesday, finally winding up with one more than they had before. Additional cost to the state: $20 per legislative day.

The Senate lopped off seven attaches and put on six, including William Cook who went on the payroll as secretary to his brother, President Pro Tem Allen J. Cook (D-Kenton), at $25 a legislative day. He replaces Mrs. Jane Dunning, who resigned for personal reasons.

The House cut off three and took on five. The Senate cut its attaché roster by one sergeant-at-arms ($20 a day) and the House increased its roster by two sergeant-at-arms ($20 a day each) for a net gain of one sergeant-at-arms.

All the House positions juggled involved $20-a-day jobs. Off came Norman Baker, file clerk; John Robinson, page, and J. Milton Cleary, sergeant-at-arms. They were replaced by Virginia Maziarz, file clerk; John E. Loder, page; Allen Moffitt, John J. Smith and Pauline Holmes, sergeant-at-arms.

Among those removed from the Senate roster was G. Francis Downs of Kenton, head sergeant-at-arms who was guardian of the portal on the celebrated occasion last spring when Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson gave his unprecedented order that a messenger from Gov. J. Caleb Boggs should not be admitted to the Senate chamber.

His departure was universally lamented by the press crew who lobbied strenuously but vainly to have him kept on. Mr. Downs has often performed services to the correspondents above and beyond the call of duty—duty not necessarily calling for any press services at all.

Also removed from the Senate payroll were Oakley Banning Jr., sergeant-at-arms; Reese O. Gordy, page; William E. Clark, telephone messenger; Rodney Wilson, sergeant-at-arms and recent unsuccessful candidate for Democratic chairman of Sussex County, and Harry Boole, telephone messenger.

Also added to the payroll were Harry R. Ayers Jr., page; Gladys B. Anderson, clerk; Mildred Savage, clerk; and Richard Norwood, telephone messenger.

A bill to permit restaurants to serve liquor on Sundays was introduced Tuesday by Senator John E. Reilly, Sr. (D-Wilmington), the majority leader, at Dover.

This was the only Senate action of note in a 20-minute legislative day that saw the upper chamber meet at 1:50 p. m. and recess to the call of the chair at 1:55, having listened to the prayer by Chaplain Ray Kirwin. The chair (President Pro Tem Allen J. Cook, of Kenton) recalled the Senate at 4:50, when it received a few routine resolutions, including one calling for a joint session to hear the Governor Wednesday, and after Senator Reilly's bill was received, adjourned at 5:05 until 1 p. m. Wednesday.

One thing at least was accomplished during the afternoon. The legislators decided to take next week off. Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford), chairman of the Joint Finance Committee, wants some non-legislative time to start work on the 1961 budget. Since the senator has consistently refused to conduct committee business on days when the Legislature was in session, it was decided to adjourn after Wednesday's meeting at least until Monday, Jan. 18.

The Reilly bill (SB 315) was put in "by request." The bill would provide that any licensed hotel or restaurant deriving 60 per cent of its income from serving food, room rent, or both, may serve drinks in conjunction with meals on Sundays and holidays from 2 to 8 p. m.

The bill would specifically exclude "taverns or taprooms" from its privileges.

Senator Peter Nechay (D-Wilmington), introduced Senate Resolution 105, replacing Fred Bailey, of Harrington, with James Harrison, of Willow Grove, as sergeant-of-arms in the Senate. Mr. Bailey had resigned.

Highway Group Ask Study of Federal Aid

The Delaware State Highway Department has been advised that their invitation to the Congressional House sub-committee, to make an investigation of the record on Federal-Aid highway work in Delaware, has been handed to the committee.

This Congressional Committee is making a study of the use of federal funds in connection with the interstate highway system and the Delaware highway officials believe that an investigation of the activities in connection with the use of these funds in this state could form a pattern for use of this committee in conducting their investigation.

Some weeks ago the Commissioners of the Delaware Highway Department adopted a resolution inviting this Congressional Committee to conduct an investigation in this state and the invitation was transmitted to the Committee through the American Association of State Highway Officials. It is believed that Delaware was the first state to extend such an invitation.

R. A. Haber, chief engineer of the Highway Department, said his department would welcome a visit by the committee anytime since the records are easily available on the projects, for which the federal funds were used in this state, can be easily studied.

Public Hearings Slated on Boggs' Proposals

Full-scale public hearings on the Boggs Administration's series of re-organization proposals are definitely slated for the 120th General Assembly, which convened this week. Shortly before the Legislature met, Speaker of the House Sherman W. Tribbitt (D-Odessa) and Senate President Pro Tem Allen J. Cook (D-Dover) delivered a letter to Governor J. Caleb Boggs making a number of requests of the Governor in connection with his reform proposals. Contents of the letter indicate that the Democrats, with sizable majorities in both houses of the General Assembly, are taking a new and serious approach to the controversial bills, which would completely overhaul the Delaware state government.

Principal points made in the letter are these:

1. The entire reform program should be considered as a package, rather than piecemeal.
 2. Because of Governor Boggs' position that "a sweeping re-organization of the executive branch" must precede any new revenue bills, consideration by the General Assembly should be prompt.

3. To accomplish these points, the Governor is being asked to present his complete program, along with any revisions of bills already introduced, within the first three weeks of January.
 4. Further, because of the emphasis placed on economics to be achieved in the reform program, the Governor is requested to spell out the details of these savings—the amounts to be saved, and how.

5. Extensive public hearings will begin as soon as possible after the bills are introduced.

PRR Station At Dover Becomes State Property

The former Pennsylvania Railroad passenger station at the west end of Dover's main business artery, Lookerman Street, became State of Delaware property during simple ceremonies held there last week.

The two-story brick building, whose facilities were used for nearly 50 years by the traveling public, was received by the state in exchange for 5200 shares of non-dividend bearing Delaware Railroad Company capital stock acquired by the state in the 1850's, when, with state assistance, rail lines were first extended from Wilmington south through Dover to the Maryland line at what is now Delmar. The building is to become the future home of the State Library Commission.

Transfer of deed was accomplished in the presence of approximately 30 persons, consisting principally of state officials and representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and its Delaware Railroad subsidiary. Governor J. Caleb Boggs accepted, on behalf of the state, deed to the former railroad property, and, in turn, presented the shares of Delaware Railroad Company stock, formerly owned by the State of Delaware, to John D. Morris, Chesapeake Region manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and a vice president of the Delaware Railroad Company.

In addition to Governor Boggs and Mr. Morris, the following were active participants in the ceremonies; Captain Herman H. Hanson, chairman of the State Library Commission; Fulton Downing, of Harrington, who is a member of the State Library Commission and a director of the Delaware Railroad Company, was instrumental in bringing about the exchange and Mrs. Virginia F. K. Messick, state librarian. The newly acquired State Library Building was built in 1911, replacing an earlier station built on the same site in 1860. Facing out on Lookerman Street, which terminates in a shrub-filled circle before its main entrance, the building presents an imposing appearance with large white wooden columns extending to the second story.

From 1911 to the end of World War II, the building was a beehive of activity with trains arriving or departing on regular schedule around the clock. In recent years as automobiles and buses have supplanted railroads as the principal means of transportation to Delaware communities and nearby areas, passenger service has been reduced to just one north-bound and one south-bound train daily; passenger service for these trains will now be provided through use of the facilities of the nearby Pennsylvania Railroad freight station.

What's New in 4-H Projects

Keeping up with the times is an important part of 4-H work, and the new automotive project now available does just that. The new project is being tested this year and will be limited to ten fifteen-year-olds in Kent County. The project will cover care and safety of the automobiles. County 4-H agent Marion MacDonald says the first unit is the car and highway; the second, maintenance and operation, and the third, operating the car efficiently.

The main purpose of the project is to help young people become conscious of the importance, value and sound use of the motor vehicle, and to accept the responsibility of driving. This pilot project is being conducted in only a few counties in a few states, but the importance and popularity of the idea indicates eventual wide participation.

Other projects which have been successful this past 4-H Club year have been the handicraft and the saddle horse projects. Handicraft covers the art of wood-working and how to make items ranging from flower boxes to barbecue pits. The saddle horse projects teaches care of the horse and equipment, riding and keeping feed and cost records.

Two hundred and forty-eight county 4-Hers completed projects last year. There are many projects to choose from and you can join by contacting the local 4-H Club leader in your area. If you don't know who he or she is, call Mrs. MacDonald at Redfield 6-1448, and she will be glad to help you get started.

Make Meetings Mean More

Make your meetings mean more will be the theme for the Kent county officers training session to be held at the Caesar Rodney School Mon., Jan. 11, starting at 7:30 p.m. Everyone with problems involving leadership is invited says George Vapaa, the agricultural extension agent.

Plans for this year's program include the following small group sessions!

1. Here's how for better meetings.
2. Arranging for a public function.
3. Parliamentary procedure simplified.

Mrs. Marion MacDonald, 4-H club agent, and Mrs. Florence Smith, home demonstration agent will help Mr. Vapaa to clarify questions for those attending. Good meetings must be well-planned, the agents say. There must be a clear purpose, and to successful, each person should feel regarded for his presence. Oddly enough, the best small meetings are those in which each person feels he has made a contribution to the group.

There will be free literature to take home, and of course there is no charge to attend. The program is part of the activities of the agricultural extension service of the University of Delaware.

Swift & Company Foundation to Give Scholarships

The Swift & Company Foundation will provide 10 four-year merit scholarships to talented sons and daughters of Swift employees, John Hill, manager of the company's Poultry Plant said at Felton.

Mr. Hill said it is planned that the Swift Merit Scholarship program will be on a continuing basis. First scholarships will go to students entering U. S. colleges next fall.

The action is in co-operation with the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. This agency chooses the scholarship finalists on the basis of a series of tests given each year to high school juniors and seniors.

Selection for various company scholarships are made by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation according to rules and qualifications laid down by the organizations participating.

The Swift manager said the scholarships may be as high as $1500 per year for a four-year period. The exact amount is based on financial need, and is determined from information furnished by the student's parents.

In addition, the college in which the Swift Merit Scholar enrolls will receive an annual grant up to $500, depending upon the tuition—the lower the tuition, the higher the payment.

Natural born or legally adopted children of Swift employee or pensioners will be eligible, as will children of deceased pensioners or employees.

"If fewer than 10 children of Swift people qualify in any year," John Hill said, "additional scholarship recipients will be selected from other qualified finalists who intend to study in areas such as animal science, agronomy, chemistry, engineering, dairy manufacturing, marketing and poultry husbandry. If possible, these will be chosen from cities in which Swift has units."

Summit Bridge to Open Saturday

When dedication exercises and opening of the new Summit Bridge are held this Saturday, Jan. 9 at 11 a.m., it will mark the fourth time in the 130 year history of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal that a new span has been erected at Summit.

This was made known Monday by John E. Quaille, of the Philadelphia Division, U. S. Army Engineers.

At Saturday's dedication, ceremonies will be brief but appropriate. The principal address will be delivered by U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr. Mr. Frear initiated legislation in Congress ten years ago which led to the Engineers' program to improve the canal and build the new four-lane, high fixed level bridge at the Summit crossing, it was announced.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs will extend greetings to Lt. Gen. E. C. Itchner, Chief, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Washington, D. C., who will be among federal officials attending the opening. U. S. Senator John J. Williams will unveil a plaque at the north end of the bridge, and U. S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr. will offer remarks.

Senator Frear will cut the ribbon which will allow traffic to flow over the span for the first time.

With the co-operation of Delaware State Police, the four lanes will be utilized for south-bound traffic until the ceremonies are over. This will permit officials and the public to park on the approaches to witness the dedication. Following the exercises, the official party will continue to the south side of old Summit draw bridge, where General Itchner will apply a torch to a girder, signifying that it is permanently closed and demolished.

The new high level span will carry U. S. Routes 71, 301, and Delaware Route 896, it was pointed out.

The opening prayer at the dedication will be said by the Rev. Herbert Rimlinger, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Middletown, while the benediction will be given by the Rev. E. Ray Carlson, pastor of Summit Bridge Methodist Church. After the ceremony, the official party will proceed to Kent Manor Inn, Wilmington, for lunch. The public is invited to the ceremony at the bridge proper.

Mr. Quaille said this week that the first span over the C and D Canal was a wooden covered bridge, built during the 1820's. At that time, he said, the canal was 10 feet deep and 36 feet wide. Coal and lumber carrying barges accounted for the majority of traffic in those days. The canal had three locks and six bridges, including the railroad span.

The second was a swing bridge built about 1867 to replace the covered bridge.

The third was a lift bridge built in 1926—the one currently in use. August 13, 1919, the federal government purchased the waterway and launched a project that transformed the canal into a sea level toll-free waterway. When the job was finished in 1927, it had cost $10,000,000. The old C and D Canal had been deepened to twelve feet and widened to ninety feet on the bottom and the swing bridges at St. George's, Chesapeake City, Summit and the railroad crossing had been replaced by vertical lift bridges.

The new Summit Bridge extends over a channel that was deepened to 27 feet and widened to 250 feet during the early part of the 1930's.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church News

The Feast of the Epiphany was observed on Wed., Jan. 6, with three celebrations of Holy Communion, at various hours, to suit everyone. This day terminated the Christmas season, a 12-day period.

Ushers for the Sunday Communion service at 11 a.m. were Messrs. Thomas Clendenning, Earl McColley, Walter Winkler, and Elwood Wooters.

On the second Sunday after Christmas, the Episcopal Young Churchmen met at 5 p.m. The program included a talk on alcoholism by the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. Many members of the group commented on this excellent presentation of the subject, and the summary of its real meaning.

The luncheon and dance held for the Episcopal Young churchmen on St. Stephen's Day was a successful venture—the first one of its kind held at the new church. Guests from Smyrna, Dover, and Milford, joined the local group in the festivities.

Coffee hour hostesses for the second Sunday after Christmas were Mesdames Ernest Killen and Hewitt Smith.

St. Stephen's Church School pupils are studying the significance of the Feast of the Epiphany. They are aware of the fact that the liturgical color of the Epiphany is white, white green is the color for the remainder of the season, and that the main symbols are gold, frankincense and myrrh. The gold denotes faith triumphant over adversity; frankincense denotes divinity, nobility, adoration; myrrh denotes humanity, charity, bitter sorrow.

Many friends will be interested to know that the Rev. Paul A. Kellogg, former rector of Christ Church, Dover, and now canon-in-residence at the Cathedral Church of St. John the Baptist, in San Juan, Puerto Rico, has accepted the election as first missionary Bishop of the Dominican Republic.

At the first Christmas Eve candlelight service held in St. Stephen's on Raughley-Hill Road, besides the familiar carols, the senior choir sang the offertory "What Child Is This?" (Green-sleeves) and in place of the "Gloria," the hymn "To All the Earth." The sermon hymn was the French carol "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Mrs. Walter W. Winkler and Miss M. Brent Schneider were organists for the service. Members of the brass choir were Messrs. Dwight Hackett, David Hill, Philip Holson, and David Shugard.

Acolytes on Dec. 6 were Franklin Fowler, Roy Porter, Charles McNally, Bobby Greer, Bill Thompson, Clyde Perry, Gary Porter.

Fri., Jan. 1, after Junior Choir rehearsal, there was entertainment for the young folks and their families. Following election of officers, the group enjoyed games and refreshments.

Miss Betty Jean Fowler was elected president; Roy Porter, vice president; Miss Patsy Bradley, secretary; Gary Porter, Treasurer.

Home Gardeners Program Feature

There will be a special evening session for home gardeners on this year's Farm and Home Week program at the University of Delaware. It will feature lawn seeding, pruning and shade tree selection.

When the home owner seeds a new lawn or reseeds an old one, he usually selects seed according to price and gives little consideration to how the lawn is going to be used and cared for.

Prof. Claude E. Phillips, chairman of the department of agronomy, University of Delaware, will open the session with a discussion on how to choose a lawn seed mixture suited for particular situations or uses.

The second section of the program will be a demonstration on pruning trees and shrubs covering the why, when and how of pruning. Taking part will be University of Delaware staff members: Dr. Charles W. Dunham, Extension Horticulturist, Robert F. Stevens and New Castle County urban agent Richard W. Harris.

M. M. Macleod, Atlantic States Tree Expert Co., Wilmington, will be the last sepper. He will

Social Security Notes

Every farmer with net earnings of $400 or more is required to file a Federal income tax return and report his earnings for social security credit even if no income tax is due; Lister V. Hall Jr., office manager of the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County office, in Dover, said today in a reminder issued in co-operation with the Social Security Administration.

Self-employed farmers may report their earnings and pay the social security tax if their gross income from farming is a much as $600 in a year. Benefit payments to the farmer and his family are figured from the amount of earnings he reports. If he fails to report or reports incorrectly, the amount of monthly benefit payments may be affected later on.

An unusually large number of requests for articles on Delaware and its attractions are currently being received from editors of some of the nation's largest magazines and trade publications according to Mr. Hugg. One such request was compiled with on New Year's Day when material on Delaware's springtime attractions was made available to the editors of Travel for inclusion in a forthcoming "Springtime U. S. A." feature. Other Delaware travel articles are currently being prepared and distributed.

Plans for Delaware Travel Council participation in the promotion campaign will be further discussed at a luncheon meeting of officers and committee chairmen to be held at the Pompeii Restaurant, New Castle, Tues., Jan. 12, according to Harry B. Bissell Jr., Council president. Plans for the third annual dinner meeting of the Travel Council, Jan. 28, will also be completed at the New Castle luncheon. CONGRESS members of Congress or not, is the status of our own country as we begin the decade of the 60's. Economic development and expansion consistent with the requirements of our dynamic free enterprise system must be vigorously encouraged. In this connection it is to be hoped that labor-management disputes and especially those which affect our basic industries will be avoided or settled promptly when they do arise. Certainly the impact of work stoppages on both labor and management and their long-range effects create difficulties and adversity seldom if ever completely removed. It is likely that Congress will examine this issue in the months ahead just as it will such other problems as agriculture and the nation's financial status.

Predictions at the start of a new year are an old tradition, but I am not sure a wise one to follow. Rather, it seems more sensible and prudent to express the hope that both the legislative and executive branches of our Federal Government, despite the increasing political pressures sure to arise as the weeks go by, will exercise the highest possible motives in reaching decisions which affect the interests of the nation as a whole. And so as we look to our own people and our responsibilities to them as their elected representatives, we must also keep in mind that leadership of the free world clearly invested in our hands cannot be allowed to vacillate nor weaken for should that occur grave consequences may quickly result. We face the dual obligations of promoting strong and effective policies in matters of both domestic and foreign concern.

As in the past, I shall earnestly welcome the continued expressions of interest and guidance with which the people of Delaware during these last eleven years have so generously favored me, and I shall look forward with great anticipation to a continuation of our mutually pleasant association during 1960.

Trinity W.S.C.S. News

A movie entitled "None Goes His Way Alone" was shown Tuesday night, Jan. 5, at the meeting of Trinity Church Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Earl Sylvester was program leader, and the film was planned to precede the study course, "The Church's Mission in Town and Country." Mrs. Sylvester will be the instructor, and the first session is to be held Monday evening, Jan. 11, at 7:30 in Trinity Church Chapel. Mrs. Fulton Downing, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Mrs. Richard Gibson and Mrs. Mark Willey from Asbury, who also plan to take the study course, were guests. Any other member of either Society who is interested will please notify Mrs. Sylvester. The film was shown by Archie Faegan.

Devotions for the meeting were given by Mrs. John Walls. Mrs. Ernest Raughley, treasurer, gave a final report on the bazaar held in November.

Mrs. Harry Adkins, assistant sunshine chairman, reported that Christmas fruit baskets were arranged and delivered by Mrs. Baynard Smith to seven honorary members. A motion was adopted by the Society to increase its annual pledges to missions to $900. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Daniel Hitchens and members of her circle.

HOUSE

farmers market on the westerly side of King and Madison Streets, Wilmington — instead of having them move from one side to the other. Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) and Keenan introduced the measure, which is to be effective only until Wilmington builds the proposed building in which to house the farmers markets.

The present law on the farmers market puts it on the west side of the streets all the time except on Wednesday and Saturdays from May 1 to Nov. 1, when the farmers must use the east side. On Tuesday and Friday during that period, however, the west side is used. Wilmington's administration wants the farmers on one side in connection with a plan for a downtown traffic loop, with traffic to be made one way south on Market Street. King Street would continue to carry northbound traffic, with the farmers market always on the same side.

The House Tuesday received what Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt labeled an "extraordinary communication." It was the previously reported resolution adopted by the Delaware Association of Insurance Agents, recommending passage of a bill which would boost taxes on the insurance industry to help meet the state's need for more revenue.

Other Measure:

HB-469: To grant tax exemption to the Westview Maintenance Corporation and the Suburban Century Club. By McGinnes. HR-117: Expressing birthday greetings to Irving H. Brinton, parliamentarian. By English.

LEGISLATURE

omission in a previously enacted bill on the return of absentee ballots (HB-315).

One of the two Middletown bills, SB-274, would make property owners responsible in certain conditions for injuries sustained on footways fronting on their properties. Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) pointed out that Wilmington and many other communities have similar ordinances, designed primarily to get property owners to shovel snow off the sidewalks.

Some of the legislators had doubts about this one, and it at first failed to get the majority it needed. Shockley and two others changed their votes from yes to no to ask for reconsideration of the bill. Then several legislators changed their votes and the bill passed 26-to-8 with one absent.

(This bill was the source of a brief bit of laughter and confusion when it was later returned to the Senate and laid before President Pro Tem Allen J. Cook (D-Kenton). Senator Cook absent-mindedly picked it up and had it read in by the reading clerk, whereupon its sponsor, Senator Jacob A. Correll (R-Newark) informed him, "I think we've already passed that bill." Cook, with a grin of chagrin, returned the measure to the bill clerk.

The other Middletown item was SB-274, which gives the town power to pay its mayor and council members. There was no objection.

The only new measure received was a substitute for HB-295, handed up by Rep. Charles S. Kleinbach (R-Coch's Bridge). Like its predecessor, the substitute would limit the business of the campus store at the University of Delaware to students, faculty members and employees of the university. The bill would accomplish that by prohibiting the university from purchasing merchandise for resale to any other groups, with certain exceptions, including souvenirs and publications of the university.

The Senate passed two school measures, suspending Rule 9 to allow them to be voted the same day they came out of committee. These are HB-453, to extend the deadline of Dec. 31, 1959 for one year for use of $75,000 appropriated for construction to the Laurel Special School district in 1957, and SB-314, which would permit transfer of $7,000 in the accounts of the Millsboro School from salaries to permit emergency repairs to the school sewerage system.

This drew an acid comment from Senator Reynolds du Pont, the minority leader, that if it hadn't been for HB-271, the general appropriation bill, removing this right of transfer from the State Budget Commission, the bill would not be necessary. He said it would set a bad precedent, that the General Assembly would be flooded with transfer items, and then cast the lone vote against it.

Kent County businessman in the Reference Book. In this way, the local concern is known far afield and order can be approved and shipped promptly.

The credit rating is one of the key factors in approving orders to ship or sell. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of alphabet, indicates financial strength or tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol, a numeral, reflects a composite appraisal of the background, operations, financial stability, and payment record.

Each Reference Book listing (which includes the rating), is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business (who owns it, and who runs it, and how long it has been operating), a description of what the business does and how it operates, a financial section (which usually includes the latest financial statement), and a record of how the concern pays its bills.

Credit reports are also used by insurance underwriters to review risks, rates, and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.
