

KENT, SUSSEX POST OFFICES GET FAST METRO SYSTEM

The extension of the Philadelphia Metro System to the postal service in the Delaware counties of Kent and Sussex, was announced Wednesday night by Postmaster General Summerfield through LeRoy V. Greene, Regional Operations Director for Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

This will mean that the existing system of next-day mail delivery now enjoyed within the metropolitan complex of Philadelphia will be extended to an additional 109,000 persons, served by 46 post offices, covering an area of 1541 square miles, Greene said.

The formal inauguration of the program was made by Greene at a meeting Wednesday night of the Delaware Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters, attended by all the postmasters involved, at the Seaford Country Club, Seaford, Delaware.

This extension of the plan, in effect in the Philadelphia metropolitan area since October 27, 1953, brings the total benefits of the program to 650 post offices in 20 counties of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, covering about 8700 square miles, and serving a population of 5,670,000.

Postal patrons in the area are now assured that, barring occasional human failures in distribution, first class letters deposited before 5 p.m. on a business day will be delivered to the destination within the area on the first delivery trip of the following business day, Greene added.

The new extended program has been in test operation since February 29, 1960. The results have exceeded the expectations of postal officials. It has also been noted by them that improvement in service beyond the large area described has resulted from implementation of this plan.

Due to the distances involved, intensive study and planning were necessary to accomplish the desired improvements. Personnel from the Philadelphia region and post offices in the area have worked as a team to develop this program and put it into effect.

The improved service hinges primarily upon an express vehicle service from Seaford and Dover to Wilmington and Philadelphia. The vehicles connect with express vehicle service from Wilmington to Upper Darby, Pa.; Jenkintown, Pa., and Camden, New Jersey Terminal Concentration Centers. Connection is also made with express vehicle service to Lehigh and Northampton Counties in Pennsylvania. This results in overnight service to points where there formerly was a two-day time lapse.

Short's Song Hits Record Album

Sam Short has had a song recorded in a "Music of America" album by the Star Crest Recording Company, of Hollywood, Calif.

Sam says he is very happy to have his number included with those of Foster, with "Oh Susannah"; Splitt, with "Have I a Chance"; Emmett, with "Dixie Land"; and Curtis, with "Endless Love."

The title of Short's song is "Always in Love," one he wrote five years ago. It was published by Zinn-Harp Music Publishers, of Abbotstown, Pa.

There are ten songs on each side of the long-playing album, Short says, with Singers Linda Collins and Tony Rogers doing the numbers with a full-keyed orchestra.

Short says he will be glad to secure albums, at a small cost, for anyone interested.

Milton J. Kennard Jr.

Services for Milton Joseph Kennard Jr., 29, of Felton, who was electrocuted Monday when the boom of a crane he was operating came in contact with a 12,000-volt high tension line at a new service station at Manor Park near Wilmington, will be held from the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, at 2 p.m. today.

He was a Korean veteran. Burial will be in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

3 KILLED WHEN PLANE HITS DENTON HOUSE

A grandmother and her two small grandchildren were killed Monday when an unmanned disabled military B-57 jet crashed into their Denton home and narrowly missed a nearby school.

A score of the students at the Lockerman Consolidated School for Negroes suffered minor cuts from flying glass when parts of the plane soared upward after impact and shattered the school windows. Drawn venetian blinds formed a shield and protected several hundred students in the school from the glass. The damaged school addition had been dedicated Sunday.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Jesse Brown, 50, an her grandchildren, Laverne Brown, 6, and Karen Brown, 4. There was no one else in the house at the time. Mrs. Brown was the wife of Wilford Brown, a Denton policeman.

The pilot, Air Force Capt. William F. Smith, 32, of Los Angeles, Calif., ejected himself when the jet got into trouble. He parachuted down in a field a half mile from the home in which the woman and children died.

Smith was in serious condition in Memorial Hospital at Easton. He suffered fractured legs, multiple contusions, and possible internal injuries.

Cancer Crusade Ready to Open

The Cancer Crusade in Kent County will open with a pre-drive luncheon meeting on Thursday, at the Dover Hotel, 1 p.m., George Ehinger, county crusade chairman, announced. The actual solicitation will start April 1 for the entire month.

William H. Cantwell, national director of the American Cancer Society, will be the speaker. His topic will be "The Role of the Volunteer in the American Cancer Society."

Cantwell has been a director of the national society since 1956. Active in the Delaware Division for many years, he was the State Crusade Chairman in 1950, and chairman of the Board in 1953. Much of his energy has been directed in the field of cancer education, and he is currently a member of the public education and information committee of the national society.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, Mayor Edward C. Haman, members of the State Crusade Committee and chairmen representing each town and community of the county are expected to participate in Thursday's kickoff. The goal for Kent County is $14,000. Last year, $11,301.08 was raised. Funds collected in the April drive are used in the Society's programs of Research, Education and Service. Last year, patients received assistance through the Kent County Unit with hospital expenses, loan of sickroom equipment, provision of drugs and homemaker service, transportation for outpatients, and dressings.

NO LAW COVERS RIGHT-OF-WAY WARNING SIGNS

There is no law to enforce observance of yield-right-of-way signs on the highways but Deputy Atty Gen. George R. Wright advised Wednesday afternoon that the wise and careful driver will heed them just the same to avoid possible accidents.

John F. Abbott, Jr., Harrington, was arraigned before Judge Ernest V. Keith in Court of Common Pleas Wednesday morning on a charge of failing to yield the right of way in passing one of the signs and allegedly causing a near-serious collision on U. S. 13 on the northeast outskirts of Dover.

The defendant, represented by Herman C. Brown, entered a plea of innocent and Mr. Wright thereupon entered a nolle prosequi in the case because, he explained, there is no law, in the opinion of his office, by which a violator can be prosecuted.

The law used by state police and in the formal information on which Abbott was arraigned, is one that requires the following of indicated directions, such as shown by signs or highway markings.

Mr. Wright went on to explain that a state officer had witnessed the defendant's alleged passing of a yield-right-of-way sign and arrested him but that now it has developed that the law used in the proposed prosecution is not applicable nor is there any other provision in the state laws by which the regulation intended by the signs can be enforced.

"The signs are there but there is no statute to enforce the directions on them," he said. The only way to correct the situation, Mr. Wright said after hearing, is enactment of a law giving the signs a status legally requiring their observance by drivers with penalty provided for violations.

He then went on to caution that, despite the situation, drivers, for their own safety and the safety of others, carefully heed the signs and not set up potential accident conditions.

House Passes School Board Voting Rules

The House of Representatives Wednesday passed the bill to change the rules on holding a referendum to decide whether a school board should remain elective or return to its former appointing system.

The measure, HB-522, would limit the right to hold such a referendum to those districts where boards were formerly appointive; would limit the opportunity to hold a referendum to the 1960 election; and would permit the voting to be done by paper ballots or by voting machines.

It would also require referendum petitions be filed 120 days before election day, and that costs of the referendum be paid by the districts requesting it.

Four Republicans were "not voting" on the bill. Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Brandywine Hundred) needed the Democrats by reminding them "this was a very well thought out bill when it was put in a year ago." He was referring to the law making all the appointive school boards elective and providing for referendum in districts that wish to decide the question of how the board should be selected.

Some of the Republicans felt it was a Democratic tangle that needed unraveling with HB-522, and that the Democrats should be left to solve their own problem. The bill got 26 yeas, with five not voting and four absent.

A companion measure, HB-523, applying only to the Conrad High School District, went through with 24 yeas, one not voting and 10 absent.

The House also passed Wednesday HB-508, which would give the State Highway Department authority to enter privately owned lands and control the water level by, and make repairs to, sluice gates built with public funds. Like HB-522, this measure seeks to improve on earlier legislation. In this case it was a law enacted in 1953 providing state funds for construction of sluice gates without requiring purchase of right of way.

Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt, who changed places with Rep. Norman Eskridge to explain the bill, said that after the sluice gates were built the state lacked the authority to maintain water levels and to maintain the structures. The result is that the owner of the land on which the sluice gate was put controls the water level whether other affected land owners like it or not.

Asked for an example of a publicly financed water control structure on private land, Mr. Tribbitt said that in 1953 $250,000 was appropriated for construction of a seawall at Port Penn. Permission to build was obtained from the land owner, but right of way was not purchased. Now the individual land owner controls the water level. There are other cases, he added.

The measure passed with 23 yeas, one nay, one answering present and five absent.

The most lively debate in the House Wednesday was on the merits of a resolution (HR-141) proposed by Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred) in which the members of the House urged Delaware's congressional delegation to support the Forand Bill to add hospital care to the social security system.

Rep. Margaret R. Manning (R-Mil Creek Hundred) protested "it is ridiculous for this House (Continued on back page)"

Ron Collison and Jim Temple Win New Basketball Honors

by Keith S. Burgess
Ron Collison and Jim Temple, who last fall were chosen on the Henlopen Conference all-star football team, proved their versatility by each being named on two all-star basketball fives.

The Harrington High stalwarts were picked by the Delaware Interscholastic Coaches Association as first team performers on the All-Kent County unit. In view of the fact that large schools such as Milford, Dover, Caesar Rodney and Smyrna, plus Felton and Harrington, much smaller schools, were competing for this recognition, it appears that the local Lions can be extremely proud to place two players on this stellar team. Milford, Dover and Caesar Rodney were each awarded one position.

Temple and Collison were selected later for second and third team positions respectively on the All-Henlopen squads. Since Temple was the second leading scorer in the loop many felt that he was a shoo-in for the first team. The writer feels that two things prevented this. First, he played on a fifth place team and tradition seems to dictate that the leading teams score heavily in all-league picks. Second, nine of the 11 Henlopen Conference teams are in Sussex County. The lower county coaches apparently stuck together in the voting perhaps unconsciously. In the final analysis the first team was picked using the first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth leading league scorers while ignoring the local lad in second place.

It appears that Bonnie Satterfield, the H.H.S. girl's team ace, also falls into the same category. When the girls All-Henlopen choices were announced she, too, was ignored although she was third high scorer in conference play. Nine forwards were chosen of whom seven placed worse than third in the scoring race.

But there still remains a number of instances where the right of way has not been procured and the improvement of the road cannot proceed. If and when these right of way difficulties are overcome along these roads, the Highway Department will proceed with plans to improve them.

DRAMATIC LIFESAVING DEVELOPMENT!

The Seven steps of the mouth-to-mouth method

- 1 Clear Victim's Throat of water, mucus, food.
- 2 Tilt Head back to open the air passage.
- 3 Hold Jaw in jutting-out position.
- 4 Pinch Nostrils to prevent air leakage, unless victim is a child.
- 5 Blow into mouth (and nose, if victim is a small child) until you see the chest lift.

- 6 Remove your mouth; listen for air return from victim's lungs.
- 7 Repeat about 12 times a minute for an adult, about 20 times a minute for a child.

Centennial to Focus Attention on Mason-Dixon Line

Approach of the Civil War Centennial observance has served to once again focus public attention upon the Mason-Dixon Line that serves as Delaware's Western boundary, advises the Delaware State Development Department.

Many Americans, including some prominent writers, mistakenly identify the Mason-Dixon Line as the boundary between the Confederate States and the Union. Actually, it was run nearly a century before the Civil War to end a colonial land dispute. It separates Maryland from Pennsylvania and Delaware. All three States were loyal to the Union.

In one sense, part of the line does divide North and South. Pennsylvania abolished slavery early, while Maryland and Delaware did not. To fleeing slaves, entering Pennsylvania meant safety. In this way the Mason and Dixon Line came into the fierce quarrels preceding the Civil War. But its name was used so only because it was already famous as a technical achievement.

The Mason-Dixon Line, points out the Development Department, was named for Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, English mathematicians and astronomers, who were invited to the American Colonies in 1763 to mark a boundary finally agreed upon by long-feuding proprietors and heirs of Maryland and Pennsylvania land grants.

The dispute had complex roots. While Lord Baltimore claimed all the northern part of the big peninsula between Chesapeake and Delaware Bays, other actually settled and ruled the Delaware region. When William Penn acquired it in the 1680's, controversy flared at once and continued for nearly ninety years.

During much of that time the case was before various British courts. In 1750 the Court of Chancery formalized a compromise between the Penns and the Lord Baltimore, the boundary as it now stands. The longest segment runs due west between Pennsylvania and Maryland from a point on the curved line near Newark. A second runs west exactly halfway across the peninsula at an agreed point on the Atlantic Coast. The third, roughly north-south, connects the end of the trans-penninsula line with the beginning of the long west line. The agreement gave the Penns nearly all they had claimed.

On paper, the settlement was simple. On the ground, without perfect instruments, it proved a surveyor's nightmare. After the trans-penninsula line was run by local men in 1751, work lagged while Commissioners bickered. After 12 years the proprietors employed Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon to finish the survey. With them, these men brought the experience of working with the outstanding astronomers and mathematicians of England, and several exceptional pieces of scientific equipment.

The survey of the Pennsylvania and Maryland borders took four years. After checking and correcting the peninsula lines, Mason and Dixon took the westward trial in 1765 with a large party of assistant surveyors, axmen and guides. They covered some 230 miles of wild and beautiful country before hostile Indians stopped the work a few miles short of their destination.

Later observations have proven the Mason-Dixon survey remarkably accurate even by modern standards. A portion of the work was verified in 1850 to replace a lost marker where the three States meet; the base of the old stone was found in digging to place the new. A full resurvey of the Maryland-Pennsylvania line was undertaken in 1900. In 1950 the Maryland-Delaware markers were inspected. Only six were missing, although some had been moved and many needed repair.

The Development Department concludes by suggesting that the visitor seeking to trace the Mason-Dixon Line also include "side trips" to Delaware's and many other historic relics, sites and shrines. In fact, the state information and promotion agency urges those who are planning 1960 travel to "See the First State First - in '60."

Fact and Fallacy About Fat

Weight, surplus that is, is one of the hottest subjects nowadays. And it should be because it affects our vitality, poise, appearance, our personal and public relations, our emotions and our length of life.

Our normal or ideal weight depends on our age, height and body build. It is also dependent on the foods that we eat.

Many false statements about weight control pass themselves off as the truth.

Let's look at the facts: Fallacy: Obesity is due entirely to heredity—the truth is that obesity is caused primarily by overeating. More calories are taken into the body than are used, and as a result, fat is stored. Too many calories in the daily family meals may be responsible for all of the members of the family being overweight. While heredity may play a part in obesity, weight can be controlled by a limitation of calories.

Fallacy: In the experience of some people, all foods turn to fat—the truth is that fat is the body's way of storing excess foods. The source of this excess may be protein, fat or carbohydrate. Fat is formed only when total energy from these sources exceeds the amount needed for daily living.

Fallacy: Meal skipping is a good way to lose weight; the truth is that meal skipping is a poor way to lose weight. It actually may increase appetite for the next meal or for between meal snacks. Skipping of meals is likely to lead to the choice of unbalanced diets. Actually, several small and regular meals each day may provide greater satisfaction to the person on a reduced diet than the normal three-meal pattern.

Chemicals Mean Better Crops

"We cannot continue to produce adequate amounts of safe and wholesome foods without chemicals," said Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, in a statement issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Chemicals play an important and necessary role in food production, Mr. Benson said, and the government takes the responsibility for seeing that the chemicals used are carefully controlled and that better chemical and methods are developed. The responsibility includes pesticide and insecticide regulations, chemical tolerance levels, chemical control methods, and an extensive research program. The objectives of research are to develop safe and effective chemicals and to discover non-chemical means to insure better and safer foods.

Chemicals used in food production must be approved and tested. Then they must be used safely and carefully, he emphasized.

When proper precautions are taken, chemicals can help give us bigger and better crops.

"Abandoning their use on farms and in the food industry would result in an immediate decline in the quantity and overall quality of our food supply and cause a rapid rise in food prices paid by consumers," he said.

It is vital that the regulations and work of the federal government be understood so the public can be assured of safe, clean, and wholesome food.

Felton Worker, Father of 3, Is Electrocuted

A 33-year-old Felton man, father of three children, was electrocuted in a freak accident while working on a new service station just off the duPont Parkway at Manor Park Monday.

Milton Joseph Kennard, Jr., a crane operator, died instantly when he jumped to the ground while the boom of the vehicle was in contact with a 12,000-volt high tension line.

A fellow worker, Robert Tudor, an electrical contractor from Dover, saw the boom touch the overhead wires and yelled to Kennard not to get down. Kennard apparently didn't hear Tudor and was electrocuted when he stepped off the crane, still holding on to a metal part of the machine.

Tudor, who ran to the rescue, struck Kennard with such force he managed to break him free from his hold. He gave the man artificial respiration until the arrival of the Wilmington Manor Fire Company ambulance. Kennard was pronounced dead at the Wilmington General Hospital.

According to police, the crane operator was employed by the Earth Movers Corporation of Seaford and was installing storage tanks for a service station when the boom of the crane came in contact with the electric wires just as he had finished work for the day.

Witnesses said he had lowered the boom of the crane, putting it in travel position, when he jumped off. Some said it looked like he "exploded" as he made contact with the ground.

Impact of Farm Programs Great Bankers Told

Newark: Government farm programs, an "exploding population and dramatic advances in agricultural technology all have had tremendous impact on Delaware agriculture during the past few years. This was the consensus of three leading farm economists from Eastern universities who addressed more than 200 bank officials at the recent Delaware Bankers Agricultural Clinic at the University of Delaware.

Dr. George E. Brandow of the Pennsylvania State University declared that all things considered, Eastern agriculture has benefited from the existence of government farm programs, although the benefits here have been much less than for farmers in the wheat areas and the corn belt. "Eastern farmers, gaining less from the programs, have less to lose if they should be dropped," the economist told the bankers, who provide much of the credit and operating capital for Delaware agriculture.

Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware stressed that population growth is one of the most important factors in the changes that are taking place in the First State's agriculture. He pointed out that Delaware's population increased 42 per cent from 1950 to 1958 compared with only 15 per cent for the U. S. as a whole during the same period.

Dr. Bernard F. Stanton, Cornell University farm economist, cited improved technology, enabling one man to do the work of several, using older methods, as a reason for the growth in size of individual farm and capital required to operate it. Declaring that large corporation farms will be the exception here rather than the rule in the next 10 years, he emphasized that real opportunities exist for those who operate family farms efficiently and use capital wisely.

Referring to the results of national farm programs and their effects on Eastern agriculture, Dr. Brandow said he believes the programs have held net farm income at least one-fourth higher in the past few years than it would have been in free markets. "But this has been achieved only by large government expenditures and the accumulation of large stocks of commodities," he declared.

Commenting on possible future adjustments in national farm policy, Dr. Brandow stated that if farmers' net income is to be maintained at present levels, while reducing treasury costs and accumulated stocks, some means of effective production control will be necessary.

Dr. McDaniel, discussing factors influencing the increased value of Delaware farm land, cited: 1) the demand for farm land for residential and industrial construction and other non-farm use; 2) increasing size of commercial farms; and 3) inflation. He said that Delaware farmers are farming more intensively today, pointing to a 50 per cent increase in total physical agricultural production in 1958, compared with the 1945-49 average.

Dr. Stanton stressed that most of the new labor-saving equipment being introduced on farms requires relatively heavy regular use to make it pay over the older methods. "Farmers with only a limited acreage should think in terms of either expanding their businesses or taking full-time jobs off the farm," he said.

Mr. William R. Brown, cashier of the First National Bank of Wyoming and president of the Delaware Bankers Association, presided at a special luncheon in Agricultural Hall at the start of the conference. Dean George M. Worriow of the School of Agriculture welcomed the bankers to the campus and presided during the afternoon program.

The conference was sponsored by the Delaware Bankers Association, in co-operation with the School of Agriculture of the University of Delaware.

New Directions In Food Merchandising

"What's New" is a standard American greeting. It is also one of the reasons the Conference on Food Distribution was organized at the University of Delaware. Popularly known as the Retailer's Short Course, it is an annual answer to "What's new in food distribution?" for retailers, wholesalers and others in the food industry.

According to U. of D. Professor Robert Bull, chairman of this year's Conference, to be held on April 3 and 4, the short course will bring together one of "the most illustrious group of food retailing authorities ever assembled in the Middle Atlantic states."

This year the program, with the theme "New Directions for the New Decade," will report specifically on the new innovations in merchandising, food handling, and management practices, Bull said.

Feature speakers will include Max Buck of the National Broadcasting Company speaking on "The Power of Promotions"; Lawrence C. Murdock, Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia discussing "Business Conditions Forecast"; Russell Maintain, Maintain Store Engineering Co. speaking on "New Concepts in Store Layout"; Buckley C. Robbins, duPont Co., Wilmington, discussing "Today's Consumer: How She Shops and What it Takes to

Conservation Reserve Accounts for Large Acreage of Trees

One-third of the record planting of trees in 1959 was on cropland in the Conservation Reserve, R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reported today, at Dover. Mr. Wilson based his report on an analysis of tree planting on publicly and privately owned land, recently completed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department reported that 2,118,471 acres of trees were planted last year and that 700,000 acres were Conservation Reserve land.

Through 1959, a total of 1.8 million acres of Conservation Reserve land had been contracted for tree planting. This conservation use has been most popular in the Southeastern states and in the states bordering the Great Lakes.

Under the Conservation Reserve program, farmers voluntarily take land out of crop production by placing it under contract for a period of years. The contracts call for the land to be devoted to an approved conservation use such as trees, grass, water storage, or cover especially beneficial to wildlife. When trees are to be planted on the land, the contract must be for a period of 10 years. Farmers receive cost-sharing to help plant the trees and also annual payments for the life of the contract.

Delaware Food Market Report

Pork, long on the bargain list, is now showing a definite up- ward trend, with increases from 1 to 6 cents a pound on various cuts. Bacon, all grades, costs two cents more. Whole hams are up in cost also, and are averaging 65 cents a pound. These higher prices are due to light receipts of hogs in the major livestock mar- kets in the Midwest, due to sever- al weeks of bad weather.

Beef supplies still remain near- ly 10 per cent above last year's supply. Prices are a bit higher. The best buys can be found in rib roasts, stewing beef and a few steaks.

The weather has disrupted egg supplies also since it has been difficult to get eggs to market. Prices are a little higher because of this. Supplies are in- creasing seasonally and this ad- vance in price is only temporary. In this area the advance is only one or two pennies.

More fruits from the tropics are arriving each day at local markets. For the past few weeks honey dew has been very reason- able and they will continue so for the next week or so. Nectar- ines, seedless grapes, cantal- oupes are also available. Fresh strawberries from Florida are on local fruit counters and more are expected as soon as the weather continues to improve.

Oranges are still plentiful and are very reasonable. There is no change since last week in the price of grapefruit. Apples re- main plentiful, but quality needs to be watched. Other fruits to check this weekend are avocados, pears, bananas, lemons, limes and pineapples.

There are a number of new canned foods in the news now. Cherry juice and cherry com- bined with apple are two of the newest canned fruit juices. Two new convenience food items in cans are stuffed peppers and stuffed cabbage. The stuffing in each is meat and the sauce is tomato.

Pressure containers for foods set a new high last year. Already this year a new orange drink concentrate has been added to the long list of pressure canned foods available.

Complete international menus can be planned and prepared simply by using the many varie- ties of canned and packaged for- eign foods now on the market. Among the Mexican, French, Italian and Oriental foods there is a particularly wide selection.

1960 Crop Soybean Price Support Told

The price of the 1960 crop of soybeans will be supported at a national average of $1.85 per bushel. Lister V. Hall, Jr., Office Manager of the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office, at Dover, said to- day. This is the same dollars- and -cents level in effect for the 1959 crop. The support represent 64 per cent of the February parity price, also the same as the 1959 support when announced.

As in the past, price support on 1960 crop soybeans will be carried out through farm and ware- house stored loans and through purchase agreements, available from harvest through Jan. 31, 1961. Soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and contain not more than 14 per cent moisture to be eligible for support.

The county support rate, with premiums and discounts for class- es and differences in quality, will be announced later.

As required by controlling leg- islation, a producer will be exempt from the $50,000 limita- tion on non-recourse price sup- port only if his 1960 average of soybeans is reduced 20 per cent below his 1959 acreage. Loans will continue to be made on a re- course basis in excess of $50,000 provided the borrower agrees to pay all amounts over $50,000 within 12 months or such later date as may be determined.

Veterans News

Old pension rates for widows versus new? Here's a quick com- parison supplied by the Veterans Administration:

Under the present pension law an eligible widow receives $50.40 if she has no children and if her income is not over $100 a year.

A widow with a child will re- ceive $63.00 and is allowed to earn as much as $2700 a year be- fore becoming ineligible. This $2700 figure is not changed but the sum of $7.56 a month may be added to the basic $63 for each additional child.

Under the new law, the amount of pension a widow will receive is tied in more closely with her annual income. A widow without dependents may receive $60 a month if her income is not great- er than $600. She can have in- come as high as $1200 and still receive $45 a month or as high as $1800 and still receive $25. But at the $1800 figure, the pension payments cease.

A widow with one child will receive a pension payment of $75 a month if her annual income is not over $1000. She will receive $60 a month if her income is $2000 or under and $40 a month if her income is $3000 or under. Income above $3000 puts an end to pension payments.

For each additional child, this widow in the paragraph above may receive $15 more per month. Widows may receive full infor- mation at any VA office.

Attention MYAF members, remember the dinner meeting at the Magnolia Fire Hall Saturday evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth
Queen of England (1533-1603). The long reign (1553 to 1603) of the "Virgin Queen" proved to be one of the most important in the annals of English history. Elizabeth established England as a Protestant kingdom, she saw the country well on the way to becoming mistress for the seas, and in that period occurred the greatest burst of literary activity the world has ever seen since the days of ancient Greece.

Mrs. Elizabeth
Elizabeth, the daughter of Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn, was born in 1533. She was brought up under the cloud of her mother's execution and her father's dislike. She was finally recognized in his will as heir to the throne after her half-brother, Edward, and her half-sister, Mary. During the Catholic reaction under the latter, Elizabeth's known friendship for Protestants caused her to be thrown into the Tower and she was charged with a plot against the unpopular Mary. She survived this danger, however, and at the age of 25, on the death of Mary, was summoned to the throne amidst the rejoicings of the Protestants and of many moderate Catholics.

Peat (A fuel of Ireland)

Peat, partly decomposed of vegetable matter, produced under various conditions of climate and topography, and of considerable importance in certain regions as fuel. Peat occurs in many countries and in different latitudes, but always either in swampy localities or in damp and foggy regions. It is formed of vegetable matter undergoing decay and in some respects it is the modern representative of the coal of the earlier geological epochs, and its formation illustrates the conditions under which coal has originated. Peat is abundant in northern Europe, and particularly so in Ireland where it is perhaps of greater importance as fuel than in any other country.

Mrs. Elizabeth
Queen of England (1533-1603). The long reign (1553 to 1603) of the "Virgin Queen" proved to be one of the most important in the annals of English history. Elizabeth established England as a Protestant kingdom, she saw the country well on the way to becoming mistress for the seas, and in that period occurred the greatest burst of literary activity the world has ever seen since the days of ancient Greece.

Mrs. Elizabeth
Elizabeth, the daughter of Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn, was born in 1533. She was brought up under the cloud of her mother's execution and her father's dislike. She was finally recognized in his will as heir to the throne after her half-brother, Edward, and her half-sister, Mary. During the Catholic reaction under the latter, Elizabeth's known friendship for Protestants caused her to be thrown into the Tower and she was charged with a plot against the unpopular Mary. She survived this danger, however, and at the age of 25, on the death of Mary, was summoned to the throne amidst the rejoicings of the Protestants and of many moderate Catholics.

Soviet Agriculture On Film

A color film of the Russian people, their farms, and their technology, is now in the film library of Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, says Kent county agent George Vapaa.

In July, 1958, as part of a cultural exchange between the United States and the Soviet Union, a group of USDA agricultural economists visited key agricultural areas of the USSR. This film is the story of their tour, he says. The USDA camera visits the Ukraine, with its wheat, corn, livestock and sunflowers; the Crimea, with its special fruit crops; and West Siberia. Then goes on to poultry and cattle farms in the northwest region near Leningrad, and finally to central Asiatic areas of Uzbekistan, land of irrigated cotton, where most of Russia's five-million acres of cotton is grown.

Mr. Vapaa says the film is available to interested clubs, schools, and other organizations. Requests for loan should be made to the Film Library, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

The Right Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, D.D., S.T.D., Bishop of Delaware, administered the order of confirmation to a group of candidates at St. Stephen's Sunday, March 20, 11 a.m.

Twelve young persons and adults, already baptized and "come to years of discretion," received the laying on of hands and renewed the solemn promise and vow that was made for them by their sponsors at baptism.

The following persons were confirmed: Charles Norman McNally, Robert Franklin Eastman, Elizabeth Jean Fowler, Gloria Jean Donoham, Harry Franklin Fowler Jr., Donald Forest Butler, Emily Charlotte Bland, Constance Ann Biddle, Marian Lee Liska, Margaret Rosella Rosengren, Catherine Beauchamp Fowler, Harry Franklin Fowler, Sr.

Preceding the Order of Confirmation, the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr., vicar of St. Stephen's, baptized Miss Constance Ann Biddle. Sponsors were Mrs. Franklin Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNally.

It was an impressive ceremony with the administration of Holy baptism followed immediately by the Order of Confirmation, a procedure most common in the early days of the Christian church.

After the service, members of the congregation greeted the Bishop and the newly confirmed at coffee hour in the parish hall. Mrs. Thomas Clendenning and Mrs. Robert Creadick were coffee hour hostesses.

The Episcopal Young Churchmen of St. Stephen's elected Miss Lois Keim and Robert Eastman delegates to the youth conference to be held at St. Andrew's School, Middletown, Sat., April 2.

"The Episcopal Hour," produced, distributed and promoted by the Episcopal Radio-TV Foundation, Atlanta, is currently being broadcast over 375 coast to coast radio stations.

In the Harrington area, the program can be heard over a local station at 10 a.m. each Sunday. It will also be broadcast from a Wilmington station at 1 p.m., from Maryland stations at 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m.

Churchmen in Alaska, Hawaii, Korea, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, will also have the opportunity to listen to "The Episcopal Hour."

The Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, Rector of Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, will be speaker on nine of the ten-week series. He was The Episcopal Hour speaker in 1958, and radio listeners requested 48,000 printed copies of his sermons.

March 27, the subject will be "Fellowship of Christian Athletes"; April 3, "Broken by Choice"; April 10, "What Shall I Do With Him?"; April 17, Easter, "Thanks Be to God"; April 24, "Jesus Christ and Mental Health"; May 1, "Your God, Dogmatic or Dynamic?"; May 8, "How Can We Implement Our World Concerns"; May 15, "The World and the Church Today."

Representatives from ten churches in the Harrington area conducted the 74th observance of the World Day of Prayer at St. Stephen's Fri., March 18, 8 p.m.

The service was originally scheduled for the first Friday in Lent, but had been postponed because of the weather. One hundred-thirty persons attended the observance last Friday and gave an offering of $660.40 to help missionary work at home and abroad. This amount was sent to the national office of the United Church Women, where it will be channeled into use through the divisions of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches.

The theme was 'Labourers Together With God,' and the program included the following: Call to worship, Mrs. Robert Creadick, St. Stephen's; Confession and Penitence, Mrs. Roy Judy Sr., Church of the Brethren, Farmington; Dedication, Mrs. William R. Scott, Houston Methodist; Intercession, Miss Ardis Sherwood, Pilgrim Holiness; The Offering, Mr. Grace Howard, Harrington Christian Baptist; A Friend from the Fiji Islands, Mrs. Fred B. Thirty-nine new embroidered altar linens with plastic containers and linen covered tubes on which to roll the cloths were dedicated at the March meeting of the Women of St. Stephen's by the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. The new pieces will be used on the altar and credence table and will be cared for by members of the altar guild. Mrs. James Coady and Mrs. Gilbert Keim made the linens by hand.

After the dedication and celebration of Holy Communion the vicar gave members of the women of St. Stephen's a talk on the duties and significance of the altar guild. Messrs. Earl McColey and Clyde Perry made two new coat racks and hat shelves for the vestibule at St. Stephen's.

Farm Accidents Cost Blood And Money

"There's no profit in farm accidents," says George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

He says it's hard to figure the dollar value on a farm accident because there are many indirect as well as direct costs which must be taken into account.

The costs of farm work accidents, like an iceberg, are largely hidden. The small portion of the iceberg above the water line can represent the direct costs which are largely visible.

The large portion of the iceberg below the water line represents the indirect or hidden costs. Some of these indirect costs are: time lost by the injured worker; cost of hired help to do the necessary farm work, possible loss of farm crops due to delay in harvest, and damage to farm equipment.

In addition, there is the physical suffering, discomfort and inconvenience associated with every major accident.

Mr. Vapaa, hastens to remind the farm family that farm and home accidents are preventable. Farm profits can be increased by reducing the number of accidents on the farm.

County Wheat Growers Without Allotment Should Notify ASC

Any Kent County farmer who has seeded wheat for harvest as grain next summer but who does not have a wheat allotment or a feed wheat exemption should notify the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office, at Dover, of his estimated acreage, Lister V. Hall, Jr., of the county office said today. In this way, county records can be established and steps can be taken to make such a farmer eligible for a wheat marketing card if he decides to sell any of his grain.

Under the wheat marketing quota program, any grower who produces more than 15 acres of wheat is subject to a penalty on any "excess" wheat harvested. The penalty must be paid before the wheat is eligible for marketing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—In the last few years VA has been paying me my GI insurance dividends in cash. I have one coming up soon, and understand I can leave it with VA as a credit, to pay premiums in case I should miss one. Will you explain how this works?

A—Dividends left with VA as a credit draw interest and will be used by VA to pay one monthly premium at a time in case you should fail to make your premium payment before the end of the 31-day grace period. You must, of course, have earned dividend money in your account before this can be done.

Q—I have a service-connected disability. Can my family doctor treat my disability and send his bill to the VA?

A—If he has prior approval from the VA, yes. Under law, that is necessary before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

Q—I am now receiving pension from the VA, and have a right to switch to the new system of payments which start July 1. If I decide I want to switch over, do I have to make the change before July 1?

A—No. You may make the change at any time. However, once you make it, your decision is final. You can't change back. So be sure you're right. See your nearest VA office if you need help.

Q—I understand that there have been some changes in the income limitations for veterans eligible for pension. Will you explain the changes to me, please?

A—Under present law a veteran who has more than $1400 annual income and no dependents cannot qualify for pension. If he is married or has a minor child, his income cannot be more than $2700. The new pension law, effective July 1, increases the amount of income a veteran can have, and still collect pension. A veteran with no dependents is allowed up to $1800 income, and up to $3000 if he has dependents.

Wilmington Lass To Represent State At Cherry Festival

When the Nation's Capital traditionally marks the blossoming of its cherry trees with its Cherry Blossom Festival, April 5 through April 10, the State of Delaware will be officially represented by one of its fair daughters, Miss Elaine Mary McCloskey of Wilmington.

Selected as Delaware's 1960 Cherry Blossom Princess by the Delaware State Society of Washington, D. C., the 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. McCloskey, of 430 Marsh Road, North Hills, Wilmington, will participate in all of the events comprising the six day festival, including the Parade of Princesses, the traditional pageant and the crowning ceremony. Her many friends in the "First State" naturally hope that Elaine will be the center figure when the last-named event occurs.

The 1960 Delaware Cherry Blossom Princess is no stranger to Washington, where she is a junior year student at the Georgetown University School of Nursing there.

The brown eyed, brown haired Delaware Princess is a 1957 graduate of Ursuline Academy, Wilmington, where she was president of the Camrea Club, sang in Glee Club and was an active Sodalist.

Since her enrollment at Georgetown she has participated actively in campus life and had one honor bestowed on her that no other female has ever had. Miss McCloskey was named stage manager of the production of "Mad Woman of Chaillot" presented by the Mask and Bauble Club—Georgetown's dramatic organization which has been active since 1897. All former stage managers have been males.

Miss McCloskey has also appeared in roles on the stage. She was cast in "Murder in the Cathedral." Currently she is publicity chairman for the play "A Detective Story" which will be presented this spring.

She has also continued her interest in Sodaloty work; sang with the University Nursing School Glee Club during her freshman and sophomore years; and also served as a Junior Hostess for the American Red Cross in Washington.

An avid camera clicker, Miss McCloskey's hobbies also include playing the accordion, horseback riding and canoeing.

Her father is a well known Wilmington Insurance Broker and also serves as president of the Blood Bank of Delaware, Inc., which he organized nearly five years ago.

She has a sister Dolores, a graduate of Trinity College, Washington, in 1958 and a brother, James F. McCloskey Jr., a student of the University of Delaware.

Present and rooting for Delaware's Princess on April 9-10 will be the hundreds of transplanted Delawareans currently employed in the Washington area plus many visitors from the "First State." All in all, the 1960 National Cherry Blossom Festival will be something long remembered by the thousands who annually witness this outstanding event and particularly will be remembered by a pretty little princess from Wilmington.

Cub Scouts Learning About First State

While Delaware's Cub Scouts undoubtedly already know considerable about their State they are currently adding to this knowledge advises the Delaware State Development Department.

During March, Cub Scouts all over the Nation have as their monthly theme "Your Home State," and Delaware's Cubs, like their counterparts elsewhere, are currently becoming better acquainted with their "Home State".

Until snow and adverse traveling conditions intervened, many Cubs were visiting the many historic sites and buildings with which the "First State" abounds, and all Delaware Cubs were apparently doing research on their state.

As the official information agency of the State Government, the Development Department naturally has been repeatedly called upon by Den Mothers and other adult scouters to supply Delaware information for Cubs and up to the present has managed, despite a very limited budget, to comply with all such requests.

According to state information officer David S. Hugg, the most popular Delaware pamphlets with the 8-to-11 year old group are the "Historical Guide to Delaware" and "Delaware's Official Insignia," two well illustrated folders produced by the Development Department.

Incidentally, Cubs, like their parents, are being urged to "See the First State - First - in '60."

Tomorrow's Refrigerator
What directions will home refrigeration take in the future? Atomic coolers? Thermoelectric freezers? A special refrigerator in every room?

Home demonstration agent Florence Y. Smith, looked into her atomic powered crystal ball and reports that atomic power has not been developed in small enough units to be practical for refrigeration. (Her atomic powered crystal ball is an exception to this trend, she said).

On the other hand, the thermoelectric principle has not been developed in large enough power units to be practical for home refrigeration. However, the thermoelectric method is well adopted to precise temperature regulation. Perhaps this system will come into use with small units scattered about the living area, especially for fruits, vegetables, meats, ice cubes, ice cream, etc.

If the standard of living reaches a high enough level, so that demand will enable manufacturers to mass produce small refrigerator units, Mrs. Smith thinks we may have ice water in the bedroom and a special cooler for drinks and barbecue products out in the patio.

For the time being we are going to stick with the standard compressor-absorption type refrigerator, the home demonstration agent said.

Citrus for Colds and Figure Cutting

When you use oranges or grapefruit as a substitute for high calorie snacks and desserts, you are building up your resistance against infections such as colds as well as cutting some calories out of your diet.

According to Florence Y. Smith, county yhome demonstration agent, an orange contains about half as many calories as most cookies and has more food value.

Oranges and grapefruit are rich in vitamin C. This vitamin promotes resistance to infection which helps fight off colds, Mrs. Smith says. It also is needed for healthy gums, for healing, and it prevents easy bruising.

One orange or half a grapefruit provides the daily requirement of vitamin C. The body doesn't store it up so it should be on the daily menu.

An orange instead of cake or cookies will help in the battle of the bulge many of us are always carrying on.

Minimum 1960 National Corn Support to be $1.06

The price of the 1960 corn crop will be supported at a minimum national average rate of $1.06 per bushel, Lister V. Hall Jr., office manager of the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office, at Dover, said today.

The national support rate on corn harvested next fall may not be lower than the announced minimum but may be increased if information at the beginning of the corn marketing year (Oct. 1, 1960) indicated a higher support price.

Under the law, Mr. Hall said, corn is supported at 90 per cent of the average price of corn received by farmers during the preceding three years, but not less than 65 per cent of parity. The announced minimum for 1960 is on the 65 per cent of parity basis, since 90 per cent of the three year average would be two cents lower at $1.04.

As in past years, corn will be supported through loans and purchase agreements on farm and warehouse stored corn. As in

SHOP AND SWAP IN THE WANT ADS

Letter to the Editor

March 23, 1960

Mr. Carrington Burgess Editor, Harrington Journal Dear Sir:

I thought your article concerning the Appeal Night session of the City Council was fine.

There were two points, however, I think should be brought out.

(1) The original assessments turned in to the Council for Harrington Manor were increases of $1000.00 to $1700.00 on a house and lot. The Council reduced these to $750.00 per house and lot on all properties in the Manor. Then, as reported, on Appeal Night the Council made the adjustments mentioned in your item, namely, 1/3 reduction.

(2) Technically adjustments in assessments are made only to those persons appearing on Appeal Night and making a complaint. Therefore, the people living in the Manor who did not appeal their assessment of $750.00 per house and lot should for all interest and purposes, still have the assessment as listed in the book. ($750.00 per house and lot.)

However, the Council wishing to be fair, did make a uniform reduction in the assessment for all persons living in the Manor whether they showed enough interest to appear on Appeal Night or not.

Thank you for printing this letter. I thought it might be of interest to some of our citizens, especially those in the Manor.

Veterans News

What is considered "income" in applying for pension under the new law which goes into effect July 1, 1960 Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Regional Office of the Veterans Administration gave the following guide Wednesday since the amount of annual income determines the size of the pension payment or whether or not there will be any pension payment at all.

All wages, salaries, profits, interest, dividends are considered income. So are retirement pensions, annuities and Social Security payments.

In fact, all money received must be counted as income except these eight classifications:

- 1. The compensation or pension payments received from the VA.
2. Donations from private or public relief or welfare sources.
3. Government life insurance payments and payments of servicemen's indemnity.
4. Payments by the Armed Forces of the sixth months death gratuity.
5. Social Security lump sum death payments.
6. Payments from public or private retirement, annuity or endowment plans up to the amount equal to the money contributed or paid in by the veteran or dependent in order to become eligible for the plan.
7. Proceeds of fire insurance policies.

There is an additional exception for the widow or children of a deceased veteran:

- 8. The money expended for the burial of the veteran as well as any money expended to pay off his just debts may be deducted from income reports. to make a decision in four minutes that takes the Congress weeks or months." She and others said they have not seen the For and Bill.

Mr. Quigley said they have read about it. Rep. William T. Best (R-Nassau) declared he is willing to leave the decision to Delaware's two senators.

There was a roll call—unusual on a simple resolution. It produced 18 yeas, three nays, 10 not voting, one answering present and three absent.

Among the new bills Wednesday was one (HB-530) to authorize continued use of the former Detention Home as "Half-way House," a temporary residence for persons released from correctional institutions. It is operated by the Prisoners Aid Society. Present law permits such use for three years; the bill would extend that to six years. It was introduced by Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington).

The House passed, by voice vote, the routine resolutions to pay the 52 attaches and to pay the mileage allowances of the members.

Essay Contest on Handicapped Won By Ann Casey

Ann Marie Casey, an eleventh grade student at Padua Academy, Wilmington, was first place winner in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee to Employ the Handicapped it was announced yesterday.

Miss Casey, who is seventeen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Casey, 1111 Coyne Place, Wilmington will receive a $100 U. S. Savings Bond and the opportunity to compete for $2000 in additional prizes at the national level.

Miss Casey's essay entitled "Jobs for the Handicapped—Passport to Dignity" has been forwarded to the President's Committee in Washington, and Miss Casey will be present to see the national winners crowned on May 5.

For the first time, all state contestants will be brought to the nation's capital by the AFL-CIO on the national level. Each will receive transportation and a $100 check from the labor organization as a reward for winning the state honors, according to James H. Sears, chairman of the Governor's Committee.

The $275 in Savings Bonds awards on the state level were made possible by the departments of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mr. Sears said.

Three of the five prizes offered on the state level went to Padua students, according to Mr. Sears. This was despite the fact that judges had no names of individuals or schools when they read the essays. The entire contest was conducted on a numbered system.

Padua tied with Mt. Pleasant School in the number of entries. Each school submitted 28, while the remainder of the state's public and private schools sent in 45 essays. There were 99 entries to be considered Mr. Sears said.

The other winners and their awards were as follows: Second, $75 bond, Kathleen Ambrose, 4 Alvir Road, Elsmere, a Corpus Christi student; third, $50 bond, Bonita J. Snyder, 714 Grove St., Delmar, a senior at Delmar High School, and the only public school winner; fourth, Janet Ischia, 323 Hermitage Drive, Elkton, and Emily M. Weber, Odesa, both students at Padua.

Serving as judges this year were: John G. Leach, vice-president Goldley-Beacom School of Business; Dr. Arthur J. Heather, medical director, Eugene duPont Convalescent Memorial Hospital; David D. Preston, staff writer, Journal-Every Evening and H. Eugene Savery, Wilmington attorney.

Mr. Sears said that each state contestants will receive a certificate of merit from the national organization and the top winners will also be honored by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs at a luncheon in Dover soon. The state awards will be made by Gov. Boggs following the luncheon, according to Mr. Sears.

Former Selbyville Miss Wins Legion Essay Contest

Branden S. Shoupe, American Legion Department chairman of the State Oratorical Committee has announced that Miss Barbara Jane Clinch has won the Delaware contest and will compete April 5 in Regional Three competition at Harrisburg, Pa.

Last year Barbara then a student at Selbyville High School won the State Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the Department of Delaware, American Legion, but lost out in the semi-finals at Washington, D. C.

Each year the American Legion nationally sponsors a nationwide contest among high school students on some phase of the United States Constitution. Each contestant must prepare and deliver an oration in competition in each local high school and also give an impromptu, five minute talk, on the Bill of Rights.

The nation is divided into 12 regions each composed of a certain number of states. The regional winners compete in a sectional contest and the four sectional winners compete in the finals, which will be held this year at Penn Yan, N. Y., on April 11. The national winner is awarded a four year scholarship at the college of his or her choice.

Miss Clinch is a senior at the Brandywine Senior High School and lives with her parents at 209 N. Pembrey Drive and ranks ninth in her senior class of 115 members.

Barbara was a delegate last June to Girl's State at Dover sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Delaware, and she is planning to enter college next fall, majoring in liberal arts and with the legal profession in mind.

Caesar Rodney Boosts School Tax Legislation

The State Board of Education has been asked to co-operate with the Caesar Rodney Board in promoting the prompt enactment of a school tax equalization bill by the General Assembly. A revised and refined proposal has been submitted to the State Board after Dr. William B. Simpson, superintendent of the district, corrected an error in his original calculations.

The new proposals submitted to Dr. George R. Miller are based on the proposal that the state pay equalization funds to each district which has or approves by referendum a real estate tax rate for current expenses of fifteen cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation (or equivalent capitation taxes) not producing $500 or more in tax revenue per teacher unit.

The equalization amount to be paid each co-operating district, under the plan, is the amount necessary to bring the district's equalization fund to the $500 per teacher level. Calculations indicate that all districts will less than $16,000 a real estate assessment per pupil would benefit.

Other provisions are: 1. The exclusion from the calculations of all out-of-state tuition pupils and those residing on Federal military property. 2. The automatic inclusion of schools having no real estate tax base at $500 per teacher unit, when the area in which the schoolhouse is located qualifies for equalization. 3. Participation by eligible districts is optional. 4. The equalization money is intended primarily for salary purposes but may be used by the local board for any current expense item of the budget.

The Caesar Rodney Board is still of the opinion that the State salary schedule should be high enough to keep local supplements within reason. Until a better plan is found, the Board stands back of its proposal that payments in excess of $1000 for any school employee should require a contribution to the State for equalization purposes of one dollar for every two paid over the thousand dollar level.
