U. S. Frigate Constellation To Be Restored

By Earl Yoder

The Loyal Order of Moose, nationwide, is now distributing commemorative coins for the sole purpose of restoring the U.S.F. (for Frigate) Constellation to its original condition, as a national shrine.

These commemorative coins are being distributed on the basis of one coin for each dollar donated. All of the money collected will be sent to the Constellation Commission which is having and has started on the job of restoring the ship.

The U.S.F. Constellation is the oldest ship in the United States Navy and in fact is two days older than the Navy Department and is the oldest ship today.

This enormous wooden ship, 170 feet long and 40 feet wide was launched September 7, 1779.

Two hundred and twenty seamen and forty Marines under the command of Captain Thomas Truxton made up her crew. Her armament consisted of 36 guns.

On June 24, 1798 the Constellation put to sea and saw her first action against French Privateers.

The Constellation saw action in the war of 1812; against the Barbary Pirates in the Mediterranean Sea in 1815; was active during the Civil War; took relief supplies to Ireland during the famine of 1880; and served as a training ship at Newport and the U. S. Naval Academy; and ended her active service as the Flagship of the Atlantic Fleet during World War II. This ship has been in commission longer than any other ship of the U. S. Navy and displays more service ribbons than any other warship.

The afore mentioned brief history of this ship is one of which the American people can be very proud. Made of wood and put together with copper spikes and still after 163 years can and will be restored to its original condition with the help of your one dollar contribution. Congress has given no money for restoration of this ship.

These commemorative coins were struck from copper spikes used in the original construction of the ship and entitles each person who receives one for the donation of one dollar a lifetime pass to visit the Constellation free of charge at Baltimore, Md.

These coins are on display at Wooters Sunoco Service Station in Harrington and may be obtained there.

FIRE COMPANY HAS NEW TRUCK

A new fire truck was delivered to Harrington Volunteer Fire Company last week.

It is a Ford C-600 cab-over-engine. The equipment includes a 300-gallon-per-minute pump, a 750-gallon booster tank, and a 1500-watt lighting plant. It was built by the Oran Roanoke Fire Equipment Company, of Roanoke, Va.

This new equipment gives Harrington three pieces of modern fire fighting apparatus, the other two being a 1953 Ford, capable of carrying 1000 gallons of water and a 500-gallon-per-minute pump, and a 1958 Ford carrying 1000 gallons of water and a 500-gallon-per-minute pump.

All trucks are equipped with lighting plants and one carries an auxiliary ditch pump for refilling in rural areas.

This new truck makes the fourth major expenditure in as many years. In 1957, a new Cadillac ambulance was purchased for $10,400; in 1958, a new truck was purchased for $15,300; in 1959, an addition to the firehouse was built for $15,000, and now, in 1960, a new truck has been purchased for $11,700.

Thanks to the citizens of Harrington and vicinity and the City Council, the fire company has been able to maintain a first class fire company with the latest in modern equipment.

The water wagon, of 1942 vintage, will be given to the City of Harrington for use in water and sewer maintenance work.

The fire company will hold its annual benefit stock car races at the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds Aug. 6, with a rain date of Aug. 10.

Six More "Fresh Airs" Arrive For Visit

A special bus delivered six children from underprivileged families in New York City to Harrington Wednesday afternoon. The little guests were met by the following hosts—Mrs. Richard Shultie, Mrs. William Masten, Mrs. Roland Postles and Mrs. Paul Callahan of this town, and Mrs. James Weller of Milford, who had invited two sisters to spend a vacation with her.

Eight of the ten children who arrived in town June 29 returned to their homes Thursday, July 14. The guests of Mrs. Burton Satterfield, Harrington, and Mrs. Howard O'Neal, Milford, will remain for an additional two-week period.

July 27 is the third and last arrival date, and children have been invited then by Mrs. Howard Krouse, Harrington, Mrs. John Foreman, Greenwood and Mrs. Donald Stevenson, Milford.

This will make a total of 20 needy children who have been given the opportunity to leave the uncomfortable conditions of poverty in the hot city and visit with 17 warm-hearted and selfless families in this area, and Mrs. F. C. O'Neal Jr., chairman, is indeed grateful.

Stone's Win First After 18 Losses In Softball

Stone's Hotel, which has suffered through an 18 game losing streak, won their first game in the Harrington Softball League last week by noosing out the Harrington Athletic Club 4-3. The Hotelmen couldn't stand prosperity, however, as in their next outing they did not have enough men to play and lost to Felton 7-0 by forfeit.

Greenwood at long last managed to open up a little daylight between themselves and the hotly pursuing Bridgeville outfit as the Greenies edged the Moose 4-3 while H. A. C. was outlasting Bridgeville by the same score.

Teen Canteen Hopes For Fall Revival

The Teen Canteen, which has been operating for some time in the Century Club on Dorman Street seems to be suffering from a lack of interest on the part of the youngsters involved and their parents. It appears at this time that there will not be many if any dances this summer.

In the fall with everyone back in town for the school term it is hoped that new interest will develop. What is needed is five or six adult couples to act as chaperones and several teenagers in the sophomore, junior and senior classes to act as officers in the Teen Club. The chaperones could be secured if the parents of the club members would help.

The Lions Club has assisted this program in the past and might possibly do so again but they cannot be expected to do it all.

Auto Stunt Drivers To Perform Here

One of the nation's top auto "daredevils" acts, Jack Kochman Hell Drivers, will be a featured attraction at Kent-Sussex Fair on Monday night only, it was announced today.

The 28-stunt hour and forty-five minute performance will include such classic, high-speed thrill maneuvers as the bone-crushing "t-bone" crash, the two-wheel drive and the famed reverse spin.

High spot of the program will be a ramp-to-ramp "flight" of a standard model 1960 convertible, which will hurtle more than 70 feet through the air.

The Kochman coterie of 22 persons includes five of the nation's top stunt drivers, a team of acrobats, mechanics, clown and ramp assistants.

The program features nine 1960 stock model cars, old automobiles used in crash and rollover maneuvers, three trucks and a giant flatbed trailer. Equipment used in the performances is valued at over $100,000.

Kochman's stunt driving program, seen by over one million persons at close to 200 shows annually, was originated in 1942 when Jack Kochman took over management of the driving display from the late "Lucky" Teeter.

Teeter was killed that year at Indianapolis while attempting a ramp-to-ramp jump, similar to that which Kochman's drivers now do.

Stunt driving programs such as Kochman's had their origin back in the 1920's with the development of the steel top on vehicles and the growth of road testing of cars by automotive firms.

The auto test drivers took up the stunt driving as a sideline. The "sideline," however, soon

What's On the Food Bill?

Unhappy about your food bills? Don't overlook the non-food items on your grocery bill, George Vapaa Kent County agent says.

Sure it's convenient to buy soap, tobacco, tooth paste, magazines, and other items as you buy groceries. On the other hand, it's hardly fair to blame the high bill on the food budget.

Research studies give some clues about the extent of non-food sales in grocery stores. A study by a mid-western grocery company showed that the average customer in their stores spent 15 cents of every food dollar for non-food items.

Cigarettes and tobacco alone took five cents of the average grocery store dollar. Paper products took over two cents. Soaps and detergents took another two cents. Health and beauty aids took almost two cents. The meat department got 22 cents of the grocery store dollar, dairy products about 12 cents, and produce nine cents.

The county agent points out that there has been a big increase in number and variety of non food items in grocery stores.

Things like tobacco, soaps, and laundry supplies have been on grocery shelves so long they seem to be a natural part of the grocery bill. However, now there are greeting cards, clothing, electrical appliances, hardware, garden hoses, photographic supplies, cookout supplies, magazines and records.

Keep this in mind before you get excited over your high food bill.

Coin Beach Famous As Treasure Beach

Not everyone who goes to the beaches along Delaware's Atlantic coast go there just to swim, sunbathe or fish. Some, according to the Delaware State Development Department, go to the beaches of southeastern Sussex County in search of the antique coins that are still occasionally washed ashore from the long-sunken wrecks that rest on the ocean bottom off these once preilous shores.

The state information agency advises that the most popular of the Delaware "treasure beaches" is the area known as Coin Beach, where, down through the years, "finds" of coins, mostly from the 1780-90 period, have been made.

This stretch of beach, about six miles south of Rehoboth, still occasionally yields Irish and English copper coins, particularly after what is locally known as a "nor'easter". While this particular type of storm occurs very infrequently, it does have the effect of churning up the offshore ocean bottom and casting ashore bottom debris which sometimes includes coins and other relics from old wrecks.

While an occasional gold coin is found in the vicinity of Coin Beach, most "finds" of this nature are copper pennies lending credence to the theory that they come from the wreck of the Faithful Steward, a sailing vessel that foundered in this vicinity in 1785.

However, there are those who contend that the coins more likely come from the sunken wreck of another ship, "The Three Brothers", which is assumed to have foundered near the present day Coin Beach approximately 200 years ago. This later ship was supposedly headed for Indian River Inlet with a cargo believed to have included quantities of copper coins intended to help offset the shortage of "hard cash" then existent in the American Colonies.

The Faithful Steward and the Three Brothers are but two of the many ships whose remains rest on the Atlantic bottom off the Delaware Coast. Many of these, like The Faithful Steward and The Three Brothers, were sailing ships driven against submerged reefs or shoals or overturned during storms that occurred in either Colonial times or in the early days of a then new Nation.

Perhaps the most famous submerged wreck off the Delaware Coast is that of the DeBraak, a British sloop-of-war that sank off Cape Henlopen on May 25, 1798. Down through the years repeated efforts have been made to salvage the DeBraak's cargo reputed to be worth millions of dollars (Reports, unsubstantiated by the vessel's recorded history, had it that the DeBraak had captured two well-laden Spanish galleons just a short time before approaching the American coast).

The body of James Drew, the DeBraak's captain, was recovered and today rests in St. Peter's Churchyard, Lewes. Captain Drew's trunk was also recovered and, together with other relics from the DeBraak and other wrecked ships, may be seen at the Zwaanendael Museum at Lewes, advises the Development Department.

Reese Theatre Notes

Family entertainment seems to be the order of the day according to the Movie Center program to be found in this newspaper.

The much heralded Walt Disney hit, "KIDNAPPED", by Robert Louis Stevenson heads the all family program Friday and Saturday, July 15-16 along with Mel Torme and Jack Lord in "WALK LIKE A DRAGON" as the co-feature.

Startling is the word. The different is always expected when Brigitte Bardot appears in a new picture. Critics say you will see a different Brigitte in "BABETTE GOES TO WAR" listed for presentation at the Reese Sunday and Monday, July 17-18. In cinemascop and color, Brigitte's comedy talent reaches unexpected heights in "Babette Goes to War" with a top cast of movie favorites taking equal honors.

The Reese Theatre program may be found weekly in the Milford Chronicle, Harrington Journal, and the County Record.

HARRINGTON SISTERS MARRIED IN DOUBLE CEREMONY

The marriage of Miss Elvira Rae Smith, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Frankhouser Smith, of Harrington, to David McClelland Phillips, son of Mr. William E. Phillips and the late Sarah R. Phillips of Bessemer, Pa., took place in a double-wedding ceremony of sister brides at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church on June 11 at half-past two in the afternoon. The Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. officiated at the simultaneous four-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. William F. Smith, of Winter Park, Fla., wore a gown of white silk mist peau de soie and re-embroidered lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and short cape sleeves applied with pearl-encrusted lace motifs. The applied lace motifs were scattered over the skirt, and from the flat front panel the skirt flared into fullness and ended in a chapel sweep train. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a clip card of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She wore a full-length gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies, lemon leaves, and English ivy.

Miss Linda Linda Price of Pittsburgh, Pa., was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of deep lavender chiffon belted with purple satin. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Humes and Miss Mary Ann Montague, both of Harrington. They wore floor-length lavender chiffon gowns belted with lavender satin. All attendants carried white Majestic daisies and yellow, lavender, and white pom-pom mums.

The bridegroom's mother chose a white lace gown over blue taffeta. She wore a corsage of pink tea roses and blue accessories. Robert Fountain, of Bridgeville, was best man and ushers were Jack Evans, cousin of the bridegroom, of Magnolia, Russell O'Bier of Bridgeville and David Jones of Harrington.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Louise Smith, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Frankhouser Smith of Harrington, to Jackson Pickering Esham, son of Mrs. Cecil Mac-Lauchlin of Bridgeville and the late Vaughn Esham, took place June 11 at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Harrington. The Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr. officiated at the double-wedding ceremony.

The bride was escorted by her uncle, Dr. Robert H. Smith, but was given in marriage by her father, Mr. William F. Smith, of Winter Park, Fla. She wore a princess-line gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace over slipper satin, fashioned with lace forming the yoke, Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Pearls and sequins enhanced the neckline. Lace motifs were applied on the bouffant skirt and the full chapel-sweep train flared from under a doubleback taffeta bustle at the waistline. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a nose-gay of white gardenias, lily-of-the-valley, and English ivy with streamers of love-knot ribbons.

Miss Carol Smith, cousin of the brides, of Harrington, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of deep lavender chiffon belted with purple satin. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Humes and Miss Mary Ann Montague, both of Harrington. They wore floor-length lavender chiffon gowns belted with lavender satin. All attendants carried white Majestic daisies and yellow, lavender, and white pom-pom mums.

The bridegroom's mother chose a white lace gown over blue taffeta. She wore a corsage of pink tea roses and blue accessories. Robert Fountain, of Bridgeville, was best man and ushers were Jack Evans, cousin of the bridegroom, of Magnolia, Russell O'Bier of Bridgeville and David Jones of Harrington.

The bride is a graduate of Harrington High School. Mr. Esham attended Washington College and the University of Delaware and is presently a member of the Delaware State Police, Troop 5 of Bridgeville. The couple, recently returned from their New Orleans wedding trip, now reside in Bridgeville.

GRACE ELLIOTT

Delaware 4-H'er In Israel

Miss Grace E. Elliott, Delmar, an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, is on her way to Israel, according to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, assistant director, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware.

Miss Elliott will be in Israel for six months. She received her degree in home economics from Hood College, Frederick, Maryland, last month.

She has been a 4-H member for 10 years and attended Club Congree at Chicago in 1954 as state room improvement winner. She was also a delegate to National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C. in 1956 and attended Club Congress again in 1957 as state achievement winner.

Miss Elliott has served as a leader at the state 4-H camp several years and has made many talks before community organizations, church groups and at various meetings.

In 1958 she was selected as chairman of the American Institute of Co-operation Conference for young people at Pennsylvania State University. This was a national meeting of several thousand people from all the states.

She has been a county and state winner in Dairy Foods projects and in Bread Demonstration contests; and has accumulated many awards for her exhibits and judging activities at the Kent-Sussex Fair and in other 4-H activities.

"In order to earn the right to represent 4-H and the United States as a foreign exchange delegate she had to exemplify the highest qualities of citizenship and leadership over the years," Dr. Gwinn said. "She has made an outstanding 4-H record in her project work as well as in community life."

She was Salutatorian of her graduating class in high school and was student council president.

Miss Elliott is one of 108 young Americans scheduled for visits to other countries in 1960. About 130 people from other countries will come to the U. S.

during this same period. Some 50 foreign countries are participating in the program.

The IFYE exchange program between the United States and other countries gives young people between 20 and 30 years of age an opportunity to live and work with farm families to learn about another way of life by actually living it. This people-to-people project is the oldest of the educational programs conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Agricultural Extension Service, Dr. Gwinn said.

The program began in 1947 when 17 U. S. young people went to Europe and six Danish and French exchanges came to this country.

Contributions by 4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs and 4-H Links (the adult 4-H honorary organization) will provide the funds needed for Delaware's participation in the program.

Farm Field Day August 3

Extremes in old and new will highlight this year's Farm Field Day at the University of Delaware Substation near Georgetown, August 3.

According to Professor Eugene P. Brasher, chairman of the department of horticulture at the University and chairman of the Farm Field Day program, old farm equipment and new research results will share attention during the annual day-long open house.

The old will be an antique farm equipment contest which is being planned. Farmers will be invited to enter any old piece of farm equipment they have. There will be several divisions for different types such as hand equipment, tractors, wagons and trucks, and field equipment.

However, the program is stacked on the side of new ideas. There will be a special exhibit on pelleting, a new form steadily gaining in popularity. Both hay and poultry manure pellets will be available for inspection. Several brood mares which are on a straight pelleted hay diet, will also be exhibited. There will also be a sheep and beef exhibit. As always there will be tours of all the research plots and discussion on the latest developments in weed, insect, and disease control; new varieties; fertilization and irrigation. This will include fruit, vegetable, forage and field crops, Brasher said.

There will be fried chicken for lunch and free watermelon later in the afternoon.

Rehoboth Art League News

Wed., July 13, the Junior Costume Party will have taken place, the future prize-winners at the Artists' Costume Ball will have made one step closer to that goal. By the same token, the winners of the Popular Vote balloting in the member's show will have been declared eligible to awards in the various classes.

Wed., July 20, at 10:30 a.m., Mrs. Henry L. Heineman of Peach Blossom Creek, Easton, will lecture and demonstrate on the subject of "Conversation Centerpieces."

At one of the most beautiful and entertaining parties held recently there blossomed out the delightful and decorative little crystal brooches to be worn by the "Christmas Angels" to denote them as sponsors at the Artists' Costume Ball on Aug. 12 at the Country Club. Both men and women. Aren't angels supposed to be men? They prove up that if they wear these little jeweled pins.

Next Sunday, July 17th a tea will be held in the Corkran Studio to celebrate the opening of the Exhibition (in both Studios) of the work of Francis C. Peters, Katherine Hobbs, William F. Walter, all of Washington, and William Lee Freeland of West Chester. Mrs. T. M. Whiteman and a friend will be hostesses. The work of these four artists will remain on view over the active days of the tour, and in part, through the following exhibition of four pictures at the studios (until Aug. 17.) Two of these artists are cited in "Who's Who in American Art" and have won many honors. Miss Hobbs is notable for her ceramic sculpture, as well as for her paintings.

Explorer May Accompany Arctic Expedition in Fall

An Explorer may have the opportunity to go on an expedition to the Arctic, it was announced by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The announcement came as a result of a new arrangement with the Boy Scouts of America with the government to send a Scout with a scientific expedition, as Dr. Paul Siple and Richard Chappell have represented Scouting in past expeditions.

According to Clarence Pyle, Explorer chairman of the Del-Mar-Va Council, a local Scout between the ages of 17 and 19 may be nominated to serve as a junior scientific aid at Camp Century in Greenland next fall and winter. The young man selected must be physically qualified to live in Arctic conditions where temperatures will range as low as 60 degrees below zero. He must also be a high school graduate.

Pyle said that the Council must forward its application and supporting material of its best candidate to the Boy Scout Regional office by August 10th.

In a message to the Del-Mar-Va Council, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Sea Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America said: "Our representative would become a member of the contingent working under the direct supervision of the camp commander with assigned duties as an assistant to scientists and engineers. These duties would be rotated from time to time to give the young man a wide range of experience and provide him a more interesting tour of duty and he would, of course, be required to share in routine duties of maintaining the camp."

The winter research program at Camp Century consists of projects in civil engineering, geology, glaciology, meteorology, and polar medical problems. The camp will be operated by a military contingent of about 65 commissioned officers and enlisted men under the command of a U. S. Army Corps of engineers captain. In addition, there will be about fifty scientists, engineers, and technicians engaged in research work.

The expedition will leave the United States about Oct. 15, and return around April 15, 1961.

The Scout representative will be selected on August 30 from among those recommended by each of the twelve Boy Scout Regions.

Dr. Schuck said that the Scout Movement will recommend someone "who because of his Scout training, character, and ability, would make a contribution to the happiness and success of the expedition, and who would make the best use of this opportunity to increase his own training and preparation for life."

Stating that the Scout Movement will use great care in the selection of its representative, Dr. Schuck said:

"If the young man has the basic qualifications, this experience can mean much to him, as was demonstrated in the case of Dr. Paul A. Siple, selected in 1928 to go on the first Byrd Antarctic expedition, now a distinguished scientist whose Antarctic experience was one of the contributing factors to his success—also, Richard Chappell, now a student at Princeton University and completing a course of study closely related to his experiences in the Antarctic in 1957 as a scientific aide at Little America with the international geophysical year."

The Scout Executive said that the representative selected must have had at least two years membership in the movement, and attained the rank of Eagle Scout, Silver Explorer, or Quartermaster Sea Explorer. The candidates must have an interest and aptitude for the physical sciences, and his scholastic record will be a factor, as well as his physical fitness.

"That the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers wants one of our young men to participate in this expedition is a tribute to the quality of character and leadership that the Boy Scouts of America develops," said Dr. Schuck.

3-Mile Race to Be Held at Fair

The Kent and Sussex Fair in Harrington has announced that a three mile foot race will be held again this year. Last year a closely contested run was won by Wes Stack of Seaford. Trophies will be awarded to the first three finishers; and will also be awarded to the first runner to finish from New Castle county, from Kent County and from Sussex County. Race time is 7:45 p.m. sharp, Tues., July 26.

Any amateur on the Delmarva Peninsula may enter. Entries may be obtained by writing to the Kent and Sussex Fair, Harrington, Del. The closing date for entries is July 22.

Using Summer Squash

All during the summer food markets and gardens abound with many varieties of squash—the flat, white, disk-shaped type known as pattypan or cymling, the yellow crooked or straight necked type, the green or green striped varieties known as Italian or Zucchini and smooth-skinned, dull yellow, orange-fleshed type known as butternut.

Summer squash are usually picked before fully mature, when seed and skin are tender. The whole squash can be cooked with out peeling or other waste. So the skin should be clean and free from blemish, easily pierced with the nail. Overripe squash have a hard rind, hard seeds and fibrous flesh.

Squash should be steamed, never boiled. First wash the squash well, cut in slices or cubes and place in saucepan with just enough water to cover the bottom of the pan. Cover tightly and steam for 5-10 minutes.

Cooking squash in a pressure saucepan is ideal. Use a half cup water, and cook squash, sliced or diced, at 15 pounds pressure for two and a half minutes. Squash can be served as is with salt, pepper and butter or mashed with hot milk or cream and seasonings added.

There are many other ways to cook and serve squash—dipped in egg and crumbs and fried, stuffed and baked, brush with butter and broiled indoors or on the outdoor grill. For added flavor squash can be combined with cheese, onion, onion with sour cream, tomatoes, or other vegetables such as lima beans or green beans.

Whole baby pattypan are delicious when lined up on a long metal skewer and cooked over hot coals on an outdoor grill. Brush with butter or barbecue sauce and keep turning until golden brown on the outside and tender inside. Slices of any summer squash team up nicely with meatcubes and other vegetables when cooking kabobs on your grill.

You can use any kind of summer squash in these recipes: Baked Zucchini and Tomatoes: 2 medium-sized zucchini; 2 medium-sized tomatoes; 2 medium-sized mild onions; salt and pepper; butter or margarine; 1 cup butter crumbs.

Wash the zucchini; do not peel it unless the skin is hard. Peel the tomatoes and the onions. Slice the vegetables into very thin crosswise slices. In a greased baking dish make alternate layers of zucchini, tomatoes, and onions, sprinkling each layer with a little salt and pepper and dotting with butter or margarine. Spread the top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the vegetables are tender. (serves 4)

Squash Medley
Use little yellow, white and green squash and you'll have a charmer.

Stolen Car Is Recovered

A State Police patrol received a car, late Friday night, near Canterbury that had been stolen earlier Friday evening from Elsmere. They also apprehended a juvenile, at a spot near the car, who had stolen it and had the car keys in his possession.

An investigation revealed that the juvenile was an escapee from the Ferris School and was one of the youths engaged in a series of robberies in the northern part of Kent County a few weeks ago when the schools at Clayton and Kenton were ransacked and several business places robbed.

The car was returned to its owner and the youth was taken back to the Ferris School where he had been committed for committing the robberies in this County.

Distaff Big Three At Delaware Park

Delaware Park's famous Distaff Big Three series, a quarter-million dollar jackpot for fillies and mares to be run on successive weekends, will get underway Saturday with the 22nd running of the Delaware Oaks, which should gross at least $60,000 for its richest renewal. The event, restricted to 3-year-old fillies, is a mile and a furlong test of speed courage and stamina and will attract practically every outstanding sophomore lassie in the country.

A week later, the $40,000 New Castle Stakes at a mile and a sixteenth will be contested. Then, on closing day of the meeting, July 30, comes the richest race in the world for fillies and mares—the $150,000-plus Delaware Handicap at the classic mile and a quarter distance. That rich stake climaxes the Distaff Big Three sequence and the 55-day meeting, and another stake will be offered on the same Saturday the $20,000 added, 5 1/2 furlong Dover for both male and female 2-year-olds.

The Oaks should not only point out the probable 3-year-old filly champion of the year, but also afford a good line on the chances of any member of this division to compete successfully against older stars in New Castle and/or Delaware Handicap. In the past, the Delaware has been won by a 3-year-old five times, the last being Champion Grecian Queen in 1953.

Probable favorite for the Oaks is the brilliant Berlo, who sports the famed Foxcatcher Farm silks of William duPont Jr., a founder of Delaware Park. Berlo has won her last five starts, including all four this year. She already has captured two important stakes—the Coaching Club American Oaks and the Mother Goose.

Flown from California for the weekend special was Howard B. Keck's west coast champion, Paris Pike, heroine of the Hollywood Oaks, along with Stablemate Nascania. Still other topnotchers among the eligibles include Irish Jay, Sarcastic, Rash Statement, Refute, Chealvedele, Monarchy, Confuse, Lady's Maid, Make Sail, Undulation and My Dear Girl. The last named, champion juvenile filly last year, may not be ready for such a test. She injured an ankle in May and has raced only twice this season.

Nosegay... by Fostoria

As its name suggests, Nosegay is a lighthearted floral pattern, as delightfully feminine as a bride's bouquet. It is a polished cutting on graceful handblown stemware. It was designed to complement floral patterns in china, but you'll find it goes equally well with many plain and geometric designs. Come see it in our open-stock Fostoria collection.

Veterans News QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—What is the first thing a World War Two veteran like myself must do to apply for a pension? I have a nonservice-connected disability and I have been unable to work because of it.

A—You should file an application with VA. This can be done in person or by mail, on a special form furnished by the VA. Get in touch with your nearest VA office.

Q—I have a dividend on my GI insurance coming up soon. Can I leave this with the VA as a credit form which premiums could be deducted to keep my insurance from lapsing, in case I should forget a payment?

A—Yes. Dividends left with VA as a credit draw interest and will be used by VA to pay one monthly premium at a time in case you should fail to make your premium payment before the end of the grace period.

Q—I am the guardian of a minor child receiving death pension from the VA and have been told that the new pension law will be more advantageous to my ward. Please explain some of the new law's provisions for children entitled to pension.

A—The new law raises the income limit for children from $1,400 to $1800 a year, earned income of the child is not included in this limit as it is under the old law, and pension rates are higher.

Q—I want to go to college this fall under the Korean GI Bill, but will not be going for an academic degree. On my application form, what should I put down as my course of study?

A—You must list all the subjects you plan to take which make up the program of education you will be following.

1959 Wool Incentive Payments Rate Set

Growers will receive wool incentive payments of $43.20 for every $100 they received from the sale of shorn wool during the 1959 marketing year, according to William H. Reynolds, Middleton, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The rate of 43.2 per cent, just announced by the Department of Agriculture represents the amount needed to bring average wool prices up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the National Wool Act.

The payment rate on sales on lambs that have never been shorn, to compensate for the wool on them, will be 75 cents per hundredweight of live animals sold. This payment is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing.

County ASC offices will begin making payments soon. Applications for the payments had to be filed by April 30, and covered marketings from April 1, 1959, through March 31, 1960.

To determine the wool incentive payment for an individual producer, the rate of 43.2 per cent is applied to the dollar return the producer received for wool after paying marketing charges.

This method of payment is designed to encourage producers to do a good job of marketing their wool, because the producer who gets the highest price for his wool also gets a higher incentive payment.

As approved by producers in a referendum last September, deductions of one cent per pound from shorn wool payments and five cents per 100 pounds of live-weight from lamb payments will continue to be made for advertising, promotion, and related market development activities on wool and lamb.

Fishing Lines

Large Tuna
The majority of tuna caught thus far at Indian River Inlet have ranged from 15 to 25 pounds, however, several schools of large fish were sighted, and many charter boats returned to port with tuna weighing over 80 pounds. Landing an 80 pound tuna is quite a thrill for trolling enthusiasts, for these "tackle busters" will strike a lure with tremendous force, take out hundreds of feet of line from the large game fish reel, and eventually work their way toward the bottom. Once the catch is brought to the surface it must be gaffed and then taken into the boat. After a half hour's fight landing one of these large fish the angler is quite tired but very happy.

Sighting a School of Tuna

Tuna are located in the same manner as bluefish or other fish caught by means of trolling. From his position on the flying bridge of the charter boat the captain can see for miles in any direction. The usual procedure is to look for the tuna splashing on the surface of the water, or locate gulls or little water birds commonly known as "chickens". These birds can sense the presence of the tuna and will linger in an area where the fish are near the surface. Often when tuna are near the surface they will leave an unusual ripple on the water, and many experienced captains use this ripple as an aid in making their catches.

Marlin and Drum Sighted

Marlin usually are located well offshore, however, a white marlin was sighted approximately eight miles from shore by Captain Frank Badur, Jr. on his charter boat the Fish Hawk. As yet no marlin have been landed by Delaware boats and very few by the Ocean City, Md. boats. The marlin season should be well under way by the end of July, and everyone is hoping that Delaware has a banner season.

While drum fish are seldom seen on the surface of the water, a large school was recently observed moving up the Delaware Bay. When seen, the fish were located approximately eight miles off Bowers, moving in a northerly direction. Unlike tuna, the drum as long as they are on the surface will not take a bait of any type.

General Fishing Information

1) Perch are plentiful in the tidal streams. Recently a party fishing in the Murderkill River landed over 100. Blood worms, live bait shrimp and squid were the most successful baits.

2) Crabs are increasing in number in Delaware Bay. Catches have been very good from Woodland Beach to Mispillion Creek.

3) Flounder fishing is getting better in both Indian River and Delaware Bays. Small boats fishing from Masseys Landing have landed flounder weighing over six pounds. Catches of more than 100 flounder have been reported by charter boats operating in the Delaware Bay.

4) Surf fishermen fishing between Rehoboth and Fenwick Island have been catching kingfish, blues and some trout.

Bethel M. E. Church Antique Show Starts Fri.

A visit to historic Lewes, Delaware, on the Delaware Bay, this Thursday, Friday or Saturday will be particularly rewarding to students of history and tradition for on these dates the annual Antique Show of Bethel Methodist Church will be held in the Bethel Fellowship Building, 4th and Market Streets, there.

Choice pieces will be displayed by twenty-four dealers, some of whom are exhibiting for the first time in lower Delaware. Old jewelry, silver, china, glass, small and period furniture, lamps and guns will be featured, along with such unusual items as old prints and maps, ivory, fans and dolls.

There will be two educational exhibits, one of which will be a collection of items from Lewes, Sussex, England, and the other an exhibit showing the evolution of the telephone from the old wall-box to the glamorous pastel phone for the boudoir. The former will be arranged by one of the exhibitors, Sewell P. Moore, who recently visited England in search of antiques for this show, and the latter will be provided through the courtesy of the Diamond State Telephone Company.

The hours of display will be between 11 a.m. and 10 p.m. the first two days and between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday. The W. S.C.S. of Bethel Methodist Church will serve luncheons each day between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

The Zwannendael Museum at Lewes is featuring special arrangements of old treasures during the show dates and special displays are also appearing in several Lewes store windows during the period.

Eligible Voter in Wheat Vote Explained

Just who is eligible to vote in the July 21 referendum on 1961 wheat marketing quotas was today explained by R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at Dover.

According to Mr. Wilson, any grower in a commercial wheat State who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast a ballot in the quota vote.

Growers who will have smaller wheat acreages in 1961 and those who are taking part in the feed wheat program are not eligible to vote, since the wheat from such farms would not be subject to marketing penalties under a quota program.

The chairman reminded farmers that those who vote in the July 21 referendum will be the ones who decide what kind of program will be in effect for the next wheat crop. He urges that every eligible voter cast his ballot, so that the result may truly reflect the desires of growers themselves.

At least two-thirds of the total votes cast must be favorable if the 1961 wheat marketing quota is to remain in effect.

CCC Storage Facility Loan Available

The Commodity Credit Corporation storage facility loan is available again this year for farmers who need additional storage capacity on their farms, according to Lister V. Hall Jr., manager of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, at Dover.

The loans are available to provide new farm storage facilities for most storable crops. County ASC committees are authorized to approve applications for loans up to 80 per cent of the cost of storage structures. The loans are payable in four annual installments beginning one year after the loan is made. The rate of interest is four percent. Applications may be filed at the county ASC office, at Dover.

Since the inauguration of the storage facility loan in 1949 more than 126,000 loans had been made to farmers as of April 30, 1960. The loans helped finance storage structures with an aggregate capacity of about 498.5 million bushels.

Delaware Food Market Report

Colorful fresh fruits and vegetables are in much bigger supply now as weather conditions are more ideal for good growth. This plentiful supply will make food shopping a pleasure this week-end.

Leading choices in the fresh vegetable line include snap beans, new potatoes, yellow and green squash and many greens such as spinach, kale, collards and mustard greens. The salad bowl again profits from a plentiful supply. Check these items when you shop: - radishes, green onions, some tomatoes (there are more vine ripened tomatoes on the market now as near-by areas begin to ship this vegetable in). Cabbage has dropped a penny or so, making it more reasonable than it has been. Corn and cucumbers, from New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia and other near producing areas, are now on the market. Prices are much lower because of the increase in supply. Other vegetables in fairly good supply are broccoli, eggplant, peppers and endive. Lettuce has definitely improved, however, quality still needs to be watched.

Watermelon, blueberries and peaches lead the list of summer fruit in good supply. Peaches are being harvested as near-by as Virginia and it will not be long before closer areas will be picking also. This increase in supply will bring prices down even further this week and the weeks to come. Quality for the most part is very good this year and the flavor is excellent. Watermelon supplies are heavier this year and prices are declining, both because of the season and of heavy supplies. Blueberries from New Jersey are in excellent supply now and prices are averaging between 25 cents to 29 cents in a pint box. Quality is good to excellent. This fruit is very simple to freeze and is one which freezes nicely. Simply clean and wash - drain and freeze. Sugar may be added or not, just as you prefer. Nothing could be more simple, and how good these berries taste in a fruit cup when snow has covered the ground.

Other fruits to check this week are: limes, California orange, plums, cantaloupes and Thompson seedless grapes. You will find some markets that will have raspberries, blackberries and gooseberries. All are now available, but supplies and demands are not great enough to make them available in all markets.

This weekend there are a number of good buys at the fish counter. Supplies are quite adequate on the following: butterfish, bluefish, whiting, porgies, mackerel and cod. Among the shell fish, check on lobster, shrimp and crab meat. Prices are not low, but they are more reasonable than they have been.

Chicken continues to be one of the most outstanding buys at the meat counter.

McDowell Says Rules Committee Challenges Congress

The Congress will soon have to deal with the challenge laid down by the Rules Committee which has often delayed major legislation until it faced certain defeat, according to Congressman Harris B. McDowell Jr. (D-Del.).

Cong. McDowell declared that: "Every major bill of this Congress has been delayed by the Rules Committee, which has held up the entire legislative process."

The Delaware Democrat is active in the Democratic Study Group, a block of 130 House Democrats who have come together because of a mutual desire to advance legislation which they have sponsored. The Rules Committee is a major stumbling block to many of the bills in which the block's members are interested.

An example of the tactics of the Rules Committee is the stalling on the school construction bill, according to Congressman McDowell.

This bill has been before the Congress since 1956. President Eisenhower has sent three major messages to the Congress asking for school construction legislation. Only last week Vice President Nixon and Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, said after a seventy-five minute meeting that they were "optimistic" the bill would be passed when Congress returns in August.

Congressman McDowell declared today that—

"This bill passed both the Senate and House, and now it is stuck in the Rules Committee."

While the Delaware Democrat hasn't sponsored a school construction bill himself, he has indicated he would vote for such a bill if it reached the floor.

The delaying tactics of the Rules Committee created a large backlog of legislation and "this made the post-convention session inevitable," according to Congressman McDowell.

While Congressman McDowell is a member of the liberal block group he is not a "spender" he pointed out. In fact, he maintains, the "spenders" label, which many Republicans apply to the Democrats, is "unjust and unwarranted."

He then referred to Wendell Willkie's well-known phrase about some of his anti-Roosevelt speeches being "Campaign oratory," saying that the "spenders" label was obviously just so much "campaign oratory."

Congressman McDowell pointed out that—

"President Eisenhower, at his news conference last week said the Democratic-controlled Congress had reduced five of the eight budgets he had submitted, and he ought to know."

Congressman McDowell quoted Congressman Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and one of the nation's leading fiscal experts, as telling the House of Representatives just before it recessed that—

"The present administration has taken more taxes from the people—it has raised the public debt to the highest point in history—they have increased the debt by $18,400,000,000 in 7 years, and that in a period of record-breaking tax takes. Spending more than income, the President has asked Congress, on seven successive occasions to raise the debt ceiling."

Vice President Nixon is clearly a "spender," according to Congressman McDowell, because the Vice President recently called for continued investment of public funds in education, roads, urban renewal, natural resources, and research and development.

Vice President Nixon said that "timidity in these areas would be as detrimental to the national interest as timidity in private investment."

Congressman McDowell declared today that—

"If the Democrats who agree with Mr. Nixon are 'spenders' then the Vice President is a 'spender' too." The Delaware Representative pointed out that he had introduced legislation to reduce oil depletion allowances and to end entertainment expense write-offs for tax purposes. The money his bill would save by closing these and other tax loopholes, estimated at $1 billion yearly, would be applied to reducing the national debt which he said, "costs about $9 billion a year in interest charges."

Congressman McDowell said he had also introduced legislation to reduce by 25 per cent subsidies to big business and big farmers.

This legislation proved, Congressman McDowell said, that he "wasn't a spender like Vice President Nixon and many Democrats."

Article On Huge Horseshoe Crab Catches

Horseshoe crabs, at one time caught by the millions in the shallow waters of the Delaware Bay and used for food for livestock and poultry or for fertilizer, are subject of an article in the Estuarine Bulletin of the Department of Biological Sciences.

Dr. Carl N. Shuster, Jr., director of the department, states in the June issue of the well illustrated bulletin that horseshoe crab, distant relative of skates, are animals which Delaware fishermen dislike to catch because they put a strain on nets and the shells become entangled in the meshes.

In 1855 on the Cape May shore of Delaware Bay, some 750,000 horseshoe crabs were reported caught on about half a mile of beach, and in the late spring and early summer of 1856, 1200 of the crabs were caught in a mile of shoreline. The highest catches were caught in the late 1920's and early 1930's when up to 5,000,000 of the crabs were caught annually, Dr. Shuster writes.

Formerly, the crabs were stacked on the shore, allowed to decay, and then ground up into meal for use as garden fertilizer. This process is less frequently used today, Dr. Shuster said. A new process of steaming, drying, and grinding the freshly caught crabs yields the highest grade of meal, used for poultry food, food for trout fry in fish hatcheries, and fertilizer. The industry of catching and processing the horseshoe crabs is less general today because of decrease in numbers.

The current issue of the Estuarine Bulletin also contains an article on the mangrove swamps of the tropics, written by Dr. Franklin C. Daiber, who was a member of the six-week 1960 Smithsonian-Bredin expedition to Yucatan, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bredin of Wilmington.
